NOTE TO NINTH EDITION.

Constant and numerous changes in statutes relative to the powers, duties and liabilities of boards of supervisors, county and town officers, and concerning the affairs of counties and towns and the districts therein, make it absolutely essential that this manual should be revised at least once in each period of two years. The modification of existing laws and the enactment of new provisions are so numerous, extensive and important that county and town officers and others interested in county and town matters may not safely rely for guidance on the former edition of this manual.

The legislatures of 1917 and 1918 were confronted with many new problems, arising from existing abnormal political and economic conditions due to the war, and have enacted laws materially affecting the transaction of county and town business. These laws have to do with the legislative and administrative powers of boards of supervisors, the construction of public improvements, the financing of all public enterprises, the granting of public aid to the poor and defectives and the raising of money for state, county and town purposes. These laws have naturally been made as amendments of the county, town and general municipal laws, the poor, insanity and state charities laws, the tax law, the highway law, and all other general laws relating to counties and towns. The subjects, scopes and purposes of these laws are so numerous and varied that it would be impracticable to enumerate them. It is enough to assert that they are of such vital importance and of such wide effect as to make a new edition of this manual indispensable at this time.

NOTE TO EIGHTH EDITION.

Since the last edition of this manual was published in 1914 many important changes in the laws relating to the powers and duties of county and town officers and boards of supervisors have been made by amendment of existing laws and the enactment of new laws. The Tax Law and the Highway Law have been materially amended; modifying the procedure and changing or increasing the duties of county and town officers in respect to tax assessments and highway construction and maintenance. There has been a substantial modification of the laws relating to public health, conduct of elections and town meetings, support of the poor and relief of dependent children and widowed mothers, and many other subjects.

These changes are of sufficient importance and extent to render it unsafe for public officers and others interested in county and town affairs to depend upon the former edition of this manual as a guide. It has been the policy of the publishers, justified by an experience extending over a period of nearly twenty years, to revise the manual as often as once in two years, so that there may be available for the practical use of those engaged actively in municipal transactions a complete and reasonably up-to-date collection of statutes, with references, decisions and explanatory notes, pertaining to the administration of county and town governments.

This edition is published in accordance with this establshed policy. It is entirely new in some respects, retaining the arrangement and method of treatment of former editions. It is anticipated with confidence that it will be received with favor by those entrusted with official duties in our towns and counties and others interested in municipal matters.

NOTE TO FIFTH EDITION.

Since the last edition of this manual the legislature has enacted a complete consolidation of the general laws of the state, known as the Consolidated Laws of New York. The effect of this consolidation was to change the numerical order of all sections of the chapters of the General Laws, and to add thereto all general statutes pertaining to the same subject matter. The result is that the Town Law, County Law, Highway Law, Tax Law, Poor Law, and other laws relating to town and county business and affairs are entirely different in form from those laws as they existed when the former edition of this manual was published. This is in itself sufficient to justify the publication of a new edition. But since the last revised edition was published in 1908 many important changes in these laws have been made. New methods of county and town administration have been adopted. Many duties and powers have been added to those already possessed by county and town officers. On this account the publication of a new edition has become an absolute necessity.

We have inserted in this edition a great many laws which were not included in the former editions. We have referred to all the recent decisions of the court in their proper places. Many new forms have been adopted. We have endeavored by many cross references to aid the officer in his search for all the law on the subject which interests him.

The explanatory notes at the beginning of all the important chapters will indicate concisely the important duties of county and town officers. They are for the purpose of explaining in simple language the scope and extent of the powers and duties of town and county officers. This is a new feature, which it is hoped will prove valuable.

Albany, N. Y., November 1, 1910.

NOTE TO THIRD EDITION.

The second edition of this manual was published in the summer of 1903. Since that time many important amendments to the laws relating to the rights, powers, duties and liabilities of town and county officers have been enacted, and a number of controlling judicial decisions have been rendered bearing upon those laws. A glance at the table of the laws of 1904, 1905 and 1906 which have been included in this edition will indicate the constant changes affecting the administrative laws of towns and counties. This new edition is published in pursuance of the purpose to prepare and publish a revised edition of this manual at least once in three years.

It is believed that town and county officers will find this revised edition of the manual useful if not absolutely essential.

PREFACE.

The purpose of this manual is to present in a logical manner all the laws of the state pertaining to the transactions of county and town business, and the rights, powers, duties and liabilities of boards of supervisors and county and town officers. As is indicated by the table of contents, the manual is divided into parts, and each part again subdivided into chapters. This arrangement permits of a careful and scientific classification of the laws relating to the topics under consideration.

In the chapters devoted to the exclusive powers and duties of the several county and town officers, cross references are made in their proper connection to other parts of the manual, where other duties are prescribed in connection with those of other officers. These references join together the several laws, and parts of laws, so that all the powers and duties of the several officers may be readily ascertained.

The editorial notes and citations of authorities, containing frequent extracts from judicial opinions, are included in foot notes, so that the law as enacted by the state legislature may be clearly distinguished. The manual is based upon statute law, for the reason that county and town rights and obligations, and the powers and duties of county and town officers, are of statutory origin. The notes are to aid in the interpretation and application of these statutes and are, therefore, properly subordinated to them.

A large number of appropriate forms are appended, with references to them by number in connection with the statutes under which they are to be used.

A schedule of the general laws and other statutes contained in the manual is inserted immediately after the table of contents, for the purpose of showing readily the pages where the several sections of such laws and statutes can be found.

This manual contains all the general laws and statutes pertaining to counties and towns, the administration of their affairs and the powers and duties of their officers. Statutes relating to any one county or town officer cannot be considered without reference to other officers, because their powers and duties are interlaced and dependent, the one upon the other. For instance, a county board of supervisors cannot act intelligently upon a matter pertaining to the highway system without a knowledge of the duties of highway commissioners. It may safely be said that a county or town officer who is familiar with the requirements of his office, must also know, to a certain extent, the rights and duties of other officers. It follows that a complete guide for the use of any one or more county or town officers must contain all the statute law of the state generally applicable to all of such officers.

The chief aim has been to make this manual easy for use by county and town officers, who may be business men but not lawyers, and, therefore, not learned in the law. In accomplishing this purpose it would be strange if its value to lawyers has been lessened. The statute law is included as it is; the explanatory notes and comments may be taken at their actual worth; they are the result of the careful and conscientious labor of the editor, who has had a somewhat extended experience in the consideration of the state statutes.

PART I.

COUNTIES; BOARDS OF SUPERVISORS.

CHAPTER I.

COUNTIES AS CORPORATIONS.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

Powers of Counties as Corporations.

A county is a corporation. It is described as a municipal corporation (Gen. Munic. L. § 2), but its liabilities for the negligent acts of its officers are not thereby extended. The main object of declaring a county to be a municipal corporation was to permit it to sue and be sued as a county, rather than as formerly in the name of the board of supervisors. Section 4 of the county law expressly requires actions and special proceedings by and against a county to be in the name of the county, and further provides that all contracts by or in behalf of the county, shall be deemed to be in the name of the county. This section does not do away with the necessity of presenting claims against the county, to the board of supervisors for audit, although this question may not be considered as settled, in view of some of the authorities to the contrary. Prior to the enactment of the section referred to it was settled law that there must be a presentation of the claim to the board of supervisors for audit before an action would lie against the county. This section was evidently not intended to change the rule.

SECTION 1. County a municipal corporation.
2. Actions and contracts in corporate name.
3. Disposition of property, apportionment of debts and collection of judgments on alteration of boundary.
4. County liable for injuries caused by defective highways and bridges.

§ 1. COUNTY A MUNICIPAL CORPORATION.

A county is a municipal corporation,[1] comprising the inhabitants within its boundaries, and formed for the purpose of exercising the powers and discharging the duties of local government, and the administration of public affairs conferred upon it by law. [County Law, § 3; B. C. & G. Cons. L. p. 696.]

1. A municipal corporation is defined in the General Municipal Law, sec. 2, as including a county, town, city and village, and in sec. 3 of the General Corporation Law it is provided that "a municipal corporation includes a county,

§ 2. ACTIONS AND CONTRACTS IN CORPORATE NAME.

An action or special proceeding for or against a county, or for its benefit, and upon a contract lawfully made with it, or with any of its officers or agents authorized to contract in its behalf, or to enforce any liability created, or duty enjoined upon it, or upon any of its officers or town, school district, village, city and any other territorial division of the state established by law with powers of local government."

Effect of declaring county a municipal corporation. The above section of the County Law, making a county a municipal corporation, has not changed the rule as to the liability of counties for the neglect of county officers to perform their official duties. Albrecht v. County of Queens, 84 Hun, 399; 32 N. Y. Supp. 473. In this case it was held that the county was not liable for the negligent construction of a bridge, because of which an injury was occasioned to the plaintiff. The court said: "The theory on which cities and villages are held to a liability different from that of a town or county is not merely that they are corporations, but that they obtain upon the request of their citizens valuable franchises, and that in consideration therefor they undertake to perform with fidelity their charter obligations. This may be a fiction, as the legislature can incorporate a city without the consent of the inhabitants, but nevertheless, the principle is too well settled in the law to be ignored. This principle is not applicable to counties, which, while the statute may make them municipal corporations, are something more than such. They are political divisions of the state so recognized in the constitution, and beyond the power of the legislature to abrogate. The state doubtless can impose upon counties liability for the neglect of county officers to perform local duties. But we think no such intent should be inferred from the mere fact that in the general revision of the law relating to counties they are declared to be municipal corporations." See, also, Godfrey v. County of Queens, 89 Hun, 18; 34 N. Y. Supp. 1052; Ahern v. County of Kings, 89 Hun, 148; 34 N. Y. Supp. 1023; New York Catholic Protectory v. Rockland County, 159 App. Div. 455, 144 N. Y. Supp. 552, aff'd 212 N. Y. 311.

The Court of Appeals, in the case of Markey v. County of Queens, 154 N. Y. 675, 686; 49 N. E. 71, holds a similar view as to the effect of the above section. Judge Gray, in writing the opinion of the court, says: "I think that the principle of our decision must necessarily be this; that as the counties of this state were bodies corporate for certain specific purposes, before the enactment of the County Law of 1892, now that they are declared thereby to be municipal corporations, their liability for corporate acts is no further enlarged than what may be clearly read in or implied from the statute. Their becoming municipal corporations in name imports no greater liability, because, by the third section of the law, their liability for injuries is confined by the language to that which was existing. The liability remains as it was, neither greater nor less. No new duty or burden has been imposed upon counties, in respect to the maintenance of bridges over navigable boundary streams; the duty, which always existed for public purposes and for the public benefit, is continued. The work of maintaining the bridge in question was properly charged upon the county; because it could be more advantageously performed by them than by the towns. Towns themselves were not liable for damages arising from defective highways and bridges until by an act of the legislature in 1881, the liability which formerly rested upon the commissioners of highways was transferred to them. If it was necessary, in order that towns might be made liable in private actions, that there should be such legislation, it is necessary, I think, that there agents for which it is liable, or to recover damages for any injury to any property or rights for which it is liable, shall be in the name of the county.[2] All contracts or conveyances, by or in behalf of, or to a county, shall be deemed to be in the name of the county, whether so stated or not in the contract or conveyance. [County Law, § 4; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 697.]

should be some express legislation, in order to impose the liability upon a county which did not previously exist. The object of the County Law of 1892, in my judgment, in declaring the county a municipal corporation, was in order that it might be sued as a legal entity in such cases where, previously, actions were maintainable only in the name of the board of supervisors."

In the case of Hughes v. County of Monroe, 147 N. Y. 49; 41 N. E. 407, it was held that the doctrine that where power is granted to a municipal corporation as one of the political divisions of the state, not for the immediate benefit of the municipality, but as a means to the exercise of the sovereign power for the benefit of all citizens, the corporation is not liable for non-user, nor for mis-user, by the public agents, is applicable to counties, which prior to the County Law were not municipal corporations, but were political divisions of the state, and at most only quasi corporations. It will be seen by an examination of the case of Markey v. County of Queens above cited, that this doctrine has not been changed by the enactment of the above section declaring a county to be a municipal corporation.

Municipal corporations engaged in a public duty as instrumentalities of the state are not liable for neglect or misfeasance; the one exception is where it is doing the act for its own benefit; hence county is not liable for acts of officers of penitentiary. Alamango v. Supervisors of Albany Co., 25 Hun, 551. For same rule applied to cities, see Smith v. City of Brooklyn, 76 N. Y. 506, city not liable for acts of firemen; Ham v. Mayor, 70 N. Y. 459, city not liable for acts of officers of department of public instruction.

Liability for defects in bridges.—A county is not liable for damages sustained by reason of defects in a bridge required to be maintained by the county; distinction between liability of municipal corporation vested with power for own benefit and that of counties and towns as political divisions organized for exercise of power of state considered. Ensign v. Supervisors of Livingston Co., 25 Hun, 20.

Damages caused by mob.—An action does not lie at common law against a municipal corporation for damages caused by a mob; but the legislature may impose such liability. Davidson v. Mayor, 27 How. Pr. 342, 25 Super Ct. 230.

2. Action by and against a county. The object of the above section is to permit actions to be brought by or against a county as a legal entity in such cases where, previously, actions were maintainable only in the name of the board of supervisors. Markey v. County of Queens, 154 N. Y. 675; 49 N. E. 71; New York Catholic Protectory v. Rockland County, 159 App. Div. 455, 144 N. Y. Supp. 552, aff'd 212 N. Y. 311.

Corporate capacity is conferred upon each county in the state to sue and be sued, to purchase and hold lands within its limits for the use of its inhabitants; to make contracts and possess personal property, and to dispose of and regulate the use of its corporate property; and all suits and proceedings by and against a county in its corporate capacity are directed by the above section to be in the name of the county. In the case of People v. Ingersoll, 58 N. Y. 1, the right of counties to protect their property and to enforce their rights has been exhaustively discussed. In view of the importance of this case it may be well to

§ 3. DISPOSITION OF PROPERTY, APPOINTMENT OF DEBTS AND COLLECTION OF JUDGMENTS ON ALTERATION OF BOUNDARY.

When a county is divided or its boundary changed, its real property shall become the property of the county, within whose limits it lies after the change. The personal property and debts of such county, shall quote the following language from the opinion of Judge Allen (p. 28): "Counties are public, as distinguished from private corporations, and they are political as auxiliaries to the government of the state, and they are trustees of the people, the inhabitants within their boundaries. . . . They are trustees only of the property held for public use. They are not the guardians and protectors of private and individual interests or property of the citizen. They may not intervene by action to protect or redress the individual citizen in respect to wrongs or injury to his person or property. Their power as well as duty is restricted to the protection and preservation of property possessed by them in their corporate capacity. This trusteeship and corporate power has a pecuniary and fiduciary relation, extends to and embraces not only the tangible property of the corporation, but the franchises and powers conferred for raising moneys and other means for the support of the local government and the use of the inhabitants of the county, and the means realized from the franchises and powers conferred. . . . In political and governmental matters the municipalities are the representatives of the sovereignty of the state and auxiliary to it; in other matters relating to property rights and pecuniary obligations, they have the attributes and the distinctive legal rights of private corporations and may acquire property, create debts, and sue and be sued, as other corporations; and in borrowing money and incurring pecuniary obligations in any form, as well as in the buying and selling of property within the limits of the corporate powers conferred, they neither represent nor bind the state." In this case it was attempted to maintain an action brought by the people of the state for the recovery of money realized from the sale of county bonds in excess of the amount authorized by statute, and fraudulently diverted from the county treasury. It was held that the legislature has the power to direct by what agency claims against a county shall be ascertained and adjusted, and by what officials the bonds of a county authorized to be issued to provide means of payment therefor, shall be attested and issued; but the bonds, when issued, are the bonds of the county for which its credit and revenue are pledged. The debt is a debt of the county and not of the state, and the moneys realized upon the bonds are the moneys of the county and not of the state; and when stolen or procured by fraud from the county treasury the county alone can maintain an action to recover the same, subject, however, like other municipal rights, to the control of the legislature.

Where no discretion is vested in the supervisors, but they refuse to perform a clear duty, mandamus not an action will lie; the latter may be maintained only where the duty is that of the county, not of the board. Boyce v. Supervisors, 20 Barb. 294. See also People v. Supervisors, 3 How. Pr. (N. S.) 241. When the county treasurer misapplies taxes collected from a town for a special purpose, an action for money had and received is maintainable by the town against the county. Pierson v. Supervisors, 155 N. Y. 105. See also Hill v. Supervisors, 12 N. Y. 52; Strough v. Supervisors 119 N. Y. 212; Crowninshield v.

be apportioned between the counties interested, by the supervisors thereof, or by the committees of their respective boards appointed for that purpose, subject to the approval of such boards; and the debts shall be charged on each county, according to such apportionment.

Any judgment recovered previous to such division, or after such division in proceedings instituted previous thereto, in the County Court or before Supervisors, 124 N. Y. 583; People v. Supervisors, 136 N. Y. 281; Woods v. Supervisors, 136 N. Y. 403; Kilbourne v. Supervisors, 137 N. Y. 170.

Maintenance of a farm in connection with an almshouse held to be for the use and benefit of county; and an action will lie against the county for pollution of a stream caused by fertilization of lands of such farm. Lefrois v. County of Monroe, 24 App. Div. 421, 48 N. Y. Supp. 519.

Where an illegal tax is collected an action for money had and received will lie against the county; no demand is necessary when it is done with knowledge of its officers; nor need the claim be submitted for audit. Newman v. Supervisors, 45 N. Y. 676.

Where a claim against a county is based upon a wrong committed by or attributable to it, the claimant is not bound to submit it to the board of supervisors for audit, but he may bring an action thereon direct against the county. Kilbourne v. Supervisors, 137 N. Y. 170.

It is intended to provide a remedy against the county for such cause of action, and no other, as could not be presented to and allowed by board of supervisors as a county charge. Brady v. Supervisors, 10 N. Y. 260.

Supervisors may maintain action for moneys fraudulently drawn from county treasury by a public officer. Supervisors of New York v. Tweed, 13 Abb. (N. S.) 152. But they cannot audit accounts not legally chargeable to their county; the payment of an account so audited is not a voluntary payment and county may maintain an action for the recovery of the moneys paid. Supervisors v. Ellis, 59 N. Y. 620.

Where money was deposited by the decedent with a county treasurer in lieu of bail unlawfully required by a justice of the peace, an action will lie in behalf of the decedent's administrator against the county to recover such amount. This is so although the justice of the peace who fixed the bail was without authority to bind the county, upon the theory that the money can be traced to the county and the county has appropriated and received it for its benefit, thereby creating a liability to respond to the true owner. Sutherland v. St. Lawrence County, 42 Misc. 38, 85 N. Y. Supp. 696, revd. on other grounds, 101 App. Div. 299, 91 N. Y. Supp. 962.

Property of county.—The board of supervisors possess no corporate powers and therefore the property of the county is vested in the county and not in the board. People v. Bennett, 37 N. Y. 117. See also Newman v. Supervisors, 45 N. Y. 676.

Effect of section upon audit.—It has been held that this section is not intended to do away with the necessity of submitting claims for audit to the board of supervisors, and is only intended to change the law in respect to actions for or against the county which were formerly commenced in the name of the board of supervisors. Erhard v. Kings County, 36 N. Y. Supp. 656. But this case seems to have been overruled by the case of Kennedy v. County of Queens, 47 App. Div. 250; 62 N. Y. Supp. 276, in which the court holds in effect, any justice of the peace may be collected by execution to be issued to the sheriff of the county where such judgment shall have been rendered, or to a constable thereof, as the case may require, who shall execute the same as if such division had not been made; and such judgments may be revived and the like proceedings had thereon, as if such county had not been divided. [County Law, § 5; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 699.]

§ 4. COUNTY LIABLE FOR INJURIES CAUSED BY DEFECTIVE HIGHWAYS AND BRIDGES.

When, by law, a county has charge of the repair or maintenance of a road, highway, bridge or culvert, the county shall be liable for injuries to person or property sustained in consequence of such road, highway, bridge or culvert being defective, out of repair, unsafe, dangerous or obstructed existing because of the negligence of the county, its officers, that the failure of the legislature to re-enact in the County Law, sec. 4 of tit. 4, ch. 12, pt. 1 of the Revised Statutes, which provided that "accounts for county charges of every description shall be presented to the board of supervisors of the county to be audited by them," and declaring counties to be municipal corporations, and authorizing actions to be brought by and against them in the names of such counties, was for the express purpose of permitting the maintenance of an action against a county without first presenting the claim upon which the action is based to the board of supervisors for audit. The court said: "While it is true that sections 12 and 24 of the County Law, together with the other provisions thereof relating to the audit of accounts by the board of supervisors are not free from confusion, and a consistent system has not clearly been worked out, nevertheless it is reasonably clear that the revisers and the legislature intended to abolish the absolute requirement that accounts for county charges of every description must be presented to the board of supervisors to be audited by it, and to leave it optional with claimants on such accounts either to present them for audit to the board of supervisors and obtain voluntary payment by the county of the amounts allowed on such audit, or, without such preliminary presentation for audit to bring an action against the county in the name of the county 'in like cases as natural persons.' By this construction of all the provisions of the County Law relating to the subject before us, an orderly system for the judicial determination and enforcement of claims by and against counties is established. The claimant may present his account for audit and voluntary payment, and may still compel audit by mandamus or have the proceedings reviewed by certiorari, or, at his option, he may at once bring action and have the amount of his claim originally determined by the courts, and, if successful, have payment thereof enforced by judgment and the remedies thereon." The court in this case deemed the case of Freel v. County of Queens, 9 App. Div. 186; 41 N. Y. Supp. 68, modified and affirmed in 154 N. Y. 661, as a conclusive authority on the question. In this case a judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiff upon a contract made by him with the supervisors for the improvement of highways. The Appellate Division on appeal reversed the judgment. The Court of Appeals modified the judgment of the trial term as to the amount and affirmed the judgment as modified. The question as to the right to maintain the action against the county was not raised by the defendant, but it is difficult to believe that the case is not impliedly, at least, an authority in favor of the right of the claimant to sue the county as a corporation.

The question whether a claim must be presented to the board of supervisors for audit before an action will lie thereon against the county, seems to have been settled by the Court of Appeals in the case of New York Catholic Protectory v. Rockland County, 212 N. Y. 311, affg. 159 App. Div. 455. In this case the Court of Appeals held that a person having a claim against a county may either sue directly upon it or present it to the board of supervisors for audit. If the latter course is pursued and the board of supervisors refuse to audit it, two courses are still open, one to compel an audit by mandamus, the other to bring an action directly against the county. But if the board of supervisors pass upon a claim and disallow it, either in whole or in part, the sole remedy is to review the determination, if erroneous, by certiorari.

In the case of Albrecht v. County of Queens, 84 Hun 399; 32 N. Y. Supp. 473, which arose subsequent to the enactment of the County Law, the court said:

agents or servants. A civil action may be maintained against the county to recover damages for any such injury; but the county shall not be liable in such action unless a written claim for such damages, verified by the oath of the claimant, containing a statement of the place of residence with reasonable certainty, and describing the time when, the particular place where and the circumstances under which the injuries were sustained, the cause thereof and, so far as then practicable, the nature and extent thereof, shall within three months after the happening of the accident or injury or the occurrence of the act, omission, fault or neglect out of which or on account of which the claim arose, be served upon the county clerk or chairman of the board of supervisors. No action shall be commenced upon such claim until the expiration of three months after the service of such notice. [County Law, § 6, as added by L. 1917, ch. 578.]

"From the earliest period in the history of the state to the present it has been necessary to present claims against the county to the board of supervisors for audit. With some unimportant exceptions dependent on special statutes, or where the claim was liquidated by the existence of a county obligation for a specific sum, suits could not be maintained against the county for claim or county charges. The remedy was by mandamus to the board of supervisors. If the claim was fixed by law so as to involve no discretion, a mandamus would lie to audit it at a specific amount. If the claim required the exercise of discretion or judgment, the audit was conclusive unless reversed on review, and could be attached collaterally. By sec. 12, sub. 2, of the County Law, the same power is vested in the board of supervisors to annually audit all accounts against the county. If the plaintiff has a claim against the county it must be submitted to the board of supervisors." But in the case of New York Catholic Protectory v. Rockland County, 159 App. Div. 455, aff'd. 212 N. Y. 311, it was held that there is no peremptory statute requiring a contract obligation of a county to be submitted to the board of supervisors for audit. A claimant has an option either to submit his claim to the board, or to sue directly. If he once exercises his option and presents his claim for audit, he may not thereafter sue direct, but his remedy is by mandamus or certiorari.

In Taylor v. Mayor, etc., 82 N. Y. 10, it seems to be held that a presentation of the claim to the board of supervisors is a condition precedent to any proceedings against the county.

Former cases were unanimously to the effect that where the claim is one that should be presented to the board of supervisors for audit, no action will lie against the county thereon. Taylor v. Mayor, etc., of New York, 82 N. Y. 10; Huff v. Knapp, 5 N. Y. 65; People ex rel. Sutliff v. Supervisors, 74 Hun 251, 26 N. Y. Supp. 610; People ex rel. Bevins v. Supervisors, 82 Hun 298, 31 N. Y. Supp. 248; Adams v. Supervisors of Oswego Co., 66 Barb. 368; McClure v. Supervisors of Niagara Co., 50 Barb. 594; People v. Barnes, 114 N. Y. 317; People v. Supervisors, 2 Abb. (N. S.) 78; People v. Supervisors of Delaware, 45 N. Y. 196.

A complaint, in an action against a county, which alleges that the plaintiff presented its claim to the board of supervisors of the defendant, and that the latter "did as plaintiff is informed and believes . . . wholly disallow said claim," states no cause of action, for the reason that the determination of the board of supervisors is conclusive in the action. New York Catholic Protectory v. Rockland County (1914), 212 N. Y. 311, distinguishing Kennedy v. County of Queens, 47 App. Div. 250.

Compromise and settlement of claims, People ex rel. Benedict v. Supervisors, 24 Hun 413. The board of supervisors having power to settle and allow a claim, can, incidentally to such powers, waive the statute of limitations. Woods v. Supervisors, 136 N. Y. 403. Board of supervisors may compromise and settle a judgment recovered by them as incidental to their power to sue. Supervisors v. Bowen, 4 Lans. 24.

Borrow money, the power to, is not inherent in a board of supervisors. Parker v. Supervisors, 106 N. Y. 392.

Explanatory note.

CHAPTER II.

ORGANIZATION, MEETINGS AND PROCEEDINGS OF BOARDS OF SUPERVISORS.

Board a Constitutional Body.

The county board of supervisors is created by the constitution. It cannot therefore be abolished by act of the legislature. The legislature may determine by law as to the election and terms of members of the board and may confer powers upon it.

Board, how Constituted.

The board of supervisors is composed of the supervisors of the several towns and wards of cities in the county. Each supervisor must be elected, except where in the case of a vacancy the office may be filled by appointment; in towns by the town board and in cities as provided by charter. Although elected by towns and cities, supervisors are for some purposes deemed county officers.

Meetings of Board.

Each board is required to hold at least one meeting each year. It may hold special meetings from time to time, on the call of the clerk, when requested by a majority of its members. All meetings are to be public. Meetings may be adjourned to specified times in the same manner as meetings of other parliamentary bodies. A majority of all the members of the board constitutes a quorum. This is a statutory requirement and cannot be changed by a rule of the board. The number required to constitute a quorum is not changed because of vacancies in the board.

Organization of Board.

The board should organize at its annual meeting, although there is nothing in the law which prevents the organization holding over for the terms of the members of the board. The law requires the election of a clerk, but says nothing about a chairman. The organization of the board consists of the election of a chairman, a clerk, and the adoption of necessary rules regulating the conduct of the business of the board. The duties of the chairman should be prescribed by the rules. The board may provide for the appointment and fix the compensation of such officers and employes as may be necessary.

The rules usually determine the number and membership of standing committees. Special committees may be created as necessity requires. It is usual to provide that committees shall be appointed by the chairman.

Compensation and Mileage.

Supervisors are entitled to compensation at the rate of four dollars for each calendar day's attendance at the sessions of the board, except in those counties where special acts have been passed fixing a different rate. They may receive the same compensation for services on committees or other business, performed at a time when the board is not in session. Such services must be performed under some lawful direction of the board. Voluntary services or unauthorized services should not be paid for. Mileage at the rate of eight cents per mile for once going and coming from each session will be paid. If the services are special and performed while the board is not in session, at a distance of five miles or more from his residence, the supervisor must be paid his actual expenses.

Acts and Resolutions.

The law is specific as to the form of acts and resolutions of the board. Each act or resolution should have a title expressing briefly the contents thereof, followed by a reference to the statute giving authority to pass such act or resolution. A failure to correctly specify the statute will not nullify the act or resolution, but care should be taken to conform with the requiremenets of the law. Each act or resolution, which is legislative in its nature, should be published "within six weeks after the close of the session." See County Law, § 17, post. This does not mean that every resolution must be certified and published; it does not apply to ordinary proceedings of the board.

SECTION 1. Constitutional provisions respecting supervisors.
2. Boards of supervisors; meetings and organization.
3. Penalty for failure of supervisor to perform official duties.

SECTION 4. Compensation of supervisors as members of the board of supervisors; copying assessment-roll.
4a. Compensation of supervisors in certain counties.
4b. Compensation of supervisors and assessors in attending tax meetings.
5. Acts and resolutions of boards of supervisors; form and contents; adoption; publication.
6. Publication of acts of board.
7. Proceedings of board of supervisors to be printed and distributed; contents.
8. County records, boards of supervisors to have general charge of; copies may be made for public use; cost of copies.
9. Witnesses and county and town officers may be examined by board; books and papers may be inspected.
10. Powers of committee of board of supervisors as to hearings and examinations.
11. Adjournment of hearing or examination by board or committee; discharge of persons arrested for failure to appear.
12. Filing and enforcement of undertaking given under preceding section.

§ 1. CONSTITUTIONAL PROVISIONS RESPECTING SUPERVISORS.

Section 26 of article 3 of the Constitution provides that: "There shall be in each county, except in a county wholly included in a city, a board of supervisors, to be composed of such members and elected in such manner and for such period as is or may be provided by law. In a city which includes an entire county, or two or more entire counties, the powers and duties of a board of supervisors may be devolved upon the municipal assembly, common council, board of aldermen or other legislative body of the city." [1]

Section 27 of article 3 of the Constitution provides that: "The legislature shall, by general laws, confer upon the boards of supervisors of the several counties of the state such further powers of local legislation and administration as the legislature may, from time to time, deem expedient." [2]

1. Special act relating to Nassau county. The provisions of sec. 5 of L. 1898, ch. 588, that "the supervisors of the said towns of Oyster Bay, North Hempstead and Hempstead, elected at the annual town meetings held in 1898, shall constitute and are hereby declared to constitute the board of supervisors of the said county of Nassau," is not in contravention of the above section of the constitution, in that it undertakes to appoint a board which the constitution says must be elected. It merely prescribes what town supervisors shall constitute the county board of supervisors, all of them being officers elected in their respective towns to act, not only in town affairs, but as members of the board of supervisors of the county to which the town belongs. Matter of Noble, 34 App. Div. 55; 54 N. Y. Supp. 42.

2. Powers conferred upon supervisors by legislature. The legislature may in its discretion interpose any check or limitation upon the powers of supervisors which it may deem reasonable, and where under their delegated powers a board of supervisors adopts a resolution removing a county seat from one town to another a tax payer's action will not lie to restrain such removal. Stanton v. Board of Supervisors, 48 Misc. 415, 96 N. Y. Supp. 840.

The board of supervisors of a county is vested with such powers of local legislation and administration as are conferred upon it by the legislature. Its power is co-extensive with the power expressly granted to it or which is necessarily or reasonably implied from the powers so expressly conferred. Wadsworth v. Board of Supervisors (1916), 217 N. Y. 484.

§ 2. BOARDS OF SUPERVISORS; MEETINGS AND ORGANIZATION. The supervisors of the cities and towns in each county, when lawfully convened, shall be the board of supervisors of the county.[3] They shall

An act authorizing boards of supervisors to make local laws for the protection of shell fish is constitutional, Smith v. Levinus, 8 N. Y. 472; Hallock v. Dominy, 7 Hun, 52; as is an act authorizing a board of supervisors to fix the salary of a county treasurer. Board of Supervisors of Seneca County v. Allen, 99 N. Y. 532; 2 N. E. 459.

Limitation of powers. Supervisors derive their powers from the State legislature, and the exercise of such powers must in all things be confined to those which are conferred by law and enumerated in the statute conferring them. Thus, a board of supervisors, cannot create the office of county attorney for a prescribed term. Vincent v. County of Nassau, 45 Misc., 247, 92 N. Y. Supp. 32.

The legislature may, by special act deprive a board of supervisors of the right to build a court house. People ex rel. Commissioners v. Supervisors, 170 N. Y. 105, affid. 68 App. Div. 650.

Statutes, conferring powers of local legislation upon boards of supervisors, do not authorize the supervisors of Cattaraugus County to alter the salary of the surrogate of that county. Spring v. Wait, 22 Hun, 441.

Power to lay out highways. While the legislature is prohibited from passing a local bill laying out, opening, etc., highways, it may confer such power on boards of supervisors, Town of Kirkwood v. Newbury, 122 N. Y. 571, 576; 26 N. E. 10; People ex rel. Morrill v. Supervisors, 112 N. Y. 585; 20 N. E. 549. Legislature may authorize boards of supervisors to lay out highways. Matter of Church, 92 N. Y. 1; see Roberts v. Supervisors of Kings, 3 App. Div. 366, affd. 158 N. Y. 673; Hubbard v. Saddler, 104 N. Y. 223. And build bridges. Town of Kinderhook v. Newbury, 122 N. Y. 571, affg. 45 Hun, 323. And borrow money to erect such bridges. Barker v. Town of Oswegatchie, 41 St. Rep. 821.

Certiorari will not lie to review acts of boards of supervisors under power conferred by the legislature for such acts are legislative in their character. People ex rel. O'Connor v. Supervisors, 153 N. Y. 370; People ex rel. Trustees v. Supervisors of Queens, 131 N. Y. 468; People ex rel. Morrill v. Supervisors of Queens, 112 N. Y. 585, affg. 48 Hun, 324; People ex rel. Wakely v. McIntyre, 154 N. Y. 628.

3. Office of supervisor is elective and legislature cannot appoint. Williams v. Boynton, 147 N. Y. 426, affg. 71 Hun 309, 25 N. Y. Supp. 60. Provision of Constitution, Article 3, § 18, prohibiting legislature from passing local bill providing for election of supervisors, does not apply to city supervisors. People ex rel. Clancy v. Supervisors, 139 N. Y. 524.

Supervisors though elected by the towns are for some purposes deemed county officers. Godfrey v. County of Queens, 89 Hun, 18, 34 N. Y. Supp. 1052.

Supervisors of new county.—It is proper for the legislature to provide that the board of supervisors of a new county be composed of the duly elected supervisors of the towns that make up such county; though the board is a county organization, its members are chosen by the several towns respectively, and individually they are classed as town officers. Matter of Noble, 34 App. Div. 55, 54 N. Y. Supp. 42 (1898).

3. Power of board as to qualification of its members. When the question which settles the right of the claimant to the office of supervisor of a town meet annually, at such time and place as they may fix, and may hold special meetings at the call of the clerk, on the written request of a majority of the board, and whenever required by law.[4] A majority of the board shall constitute a quorum.[5] They may adjourn from time to time, and their meetings shall be public. At the annual meeting they shall choose one of their number chairman for the ensuing year. In the event of a vacancy occurring in the office of chairman by reason of death or expiration of term of a supervisor, they may at a special meeting of the board called for such purpose, choose one of their number chairman to serve until the next annual meeting. In a county in which the biennial town meet-has been substantially passed upon in his favor by the Court of Appeals, and he has received the certificate of election and has qualified, and has been awarded by the court, as acting supervisor, the custody of the books in the possession of his predecessor, the county board of supervisors has no power to determine a contest as to his seat and exclude him therefrom, and its illegal action in so doing will be set aside. People ex rel. Bradley v. Board of Supervisors, 69 Hun, 406; 23 N. Y. Supp. 654.

Where, after a supervisor had been declared elected and a certificate was given to him, a right of mandamus was granted directing the board of canvassers to make a re-canvass and count certain paster ballots for his opponent, which was done, and the latter declared elected, it was held that the board of supervisors had no authority to determine that the former was entitled to his seat in the board. Williams v. Boynton, 71 Hun, 309; 25 N. Y. Supp. 60; affd., 147 N. Y. 426, in which case the Court of Appeals held that the supervisor who was seated by the board had no authority whatever to act as a member thereof. He had no right to vote, and a resolution which required his vote for its passage was never legally passed.

4. Meetings of board. The supervisors are required to meet annually, and may hold special meetings from time to time; their neglect to perform a duty required to be performed at the annual meeting, cannot nullify the statute; they or their successors are bound to do what was required, and may be compelled to do so by mandamus. People v. Supervisors of Chenango, 8 N. Y. 317, 330. Supervisors are required to meet annually, but they may hold special meetings, and adjourn from time to time People v. Stocking, 50 Barb. 573.

Resolutions. The board acts for the county by resolution, as an organized body, and the action of the individual supervisors, although unanimous, would not bind the county. Hill v. Supervisors of Livingston Co., 12 N. Y. 52, 63.

5. Quorum of board. Whenever three or more public officers are given any power or authority, or three or more persons are charged with any public duty to be performed or exercised by them jointly or as a board or similar body, a majority of all such persons or officers at a meeting duly held at a time fixed by law, or by any by-law duly adopted by such board or body, or at any duly adjourned meeting of such meeting, or at any meeting duly held upon reasonable notice to all of them, may perform and exercise such power, authority or duty, and if one or more of such persons or officers shall have died or have become mentally incapable of acting, or shall refuse or neglect to attend any such meeting, a majority of the whole number of such persons or officers shall be a quorum of such board or body, and a majority of the quorum, if not less than a majority of the whole number of such persons or officers may perform and exercise any such power, authority or duty. Any such meeting may be adjourned by a less number than a quorum. All questions may be determined by a majority of those present. People ex rel. Hawes v. Walker, 23 Barb. 304. The provision of the statute declaring that a majority of the supervisors of any county shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business cannot be altered by a rule of the board. People ex rel. Burrows v. Brinkerhoff, 68 N. Y. 259.

The number necessary to constitute a quorum remains the same even though there be vacancies in the board. Erie R. Co. v. City of Buffalo, 180 N. Y. 192, 197.

6. Clerk of board. The powers and duties of the clerk of the board of supervisors are prescribed by art. 3 of the County Law. See post, p. 94. It is customary for the clerk of the previous board of supervisors to call the board to order for the purpose of organization, and to hold office until his successor is elected.

7. The rules of board. By the above section a board of supervisors is authorized to pass rules regulating the business of the board. When it adopts a rule by which it intends to reserve the right to review and reconsider its action at any time before final adjournment, a reconsideration of its action upon the Sheriff's claim, before issue of a certificate allowing it, is valid; and when, upon such reconsideration, the board indicates the specific items which it has disallowed or reduced, the error, if any, resulting from the fact that the previous audit indicated no such items but only the whole amount at which the bill was audited, is cured. People ex rel. Caldwell v. Supervisors, 45 App. Div. 42; 60 N. Y. Supp. 1122.

Appointment of committees. It is customary for boards of supervisors, and bodies of like character, to divide their membership into committees, to whom is given the special charge of the various matters brought before them for examination, and to report to the full board. These committees are the hands and eyes of the board itself. It would be utterly impossible for each and every member to make a special examination for himself of all the matters that are brought before the board, and of each item in bills presented to it. It is not only the customary way, but it is a legal way of discharging their duties. See People ex rel. Caldwell v. Supervisors, 45 App. Div. 42; 60 N. Y. Supp. 1122.

Each board of supervisors should appoint its committees for the transaction of its own business. A committee has no authority to act after the expiration of the term of office of its members. Rept. of Atty.-Genl., Feb. 14, 1912. One who continues to act as chairman of the board of supervisors after his successor has qualified and entered upon the discharge of his duties is not entitled to the per diem compensation provided to supervisors by statute for attendance upon sessions of the board or for committee work. Rept. of Atty.-Genl. (1911), Vol. 2, p. 693.

Rules and order of business. The rules as adopted in the several counties vary somewhat in their form and in the language used. The following rules are in force by adoption of the board of supervisors of the county of Chemung, and will be found complete and effective:

1. The annual meeting of the board of supervisors shall be held on the Monday after general election, at 10 a. m.

2. The clerk of the last board shall call the members to order, and they by a majority of their number, shall select a chairman, who shall preside at such meeting, and at all other meetings during the year. In case of the absence of the chairman at any meeting, or in case of a special meeting of such board before the annual meeting, the members present shall choose one of their members as a temporary chairman; and in all cases of the absence of a quorum, the members present shall take such measures as shall be necessary to procure the attendance of absent members.

The following standing committees shall be appointed by the chairman at the commencement of each annual session.

First.— On Equalization.— Eleven members whose duty it shall be to report on equalization of assessments.

Second.—On Poor House and Superintendent's Report.— Five members who shall consider all claims arising from the support of the poor house or the poor of the county.

Third.— On County Officers' Accounts.— Three members who shall consider and examine the accounts of the county judge, surrogate and sheriff.

Fourth.—On County Clerk and District Attorney's Accounts.— Three members who shall consider and examine the accounts of the county clerk and district attorney.

Fifth.— On County Treasurer and Coroners' Accounts.— Three members who shall consider and examine the accounts of the county treasurer and coroners. Also the condition of the U. S. deposit fund and the accounts of the commissioners.

Sixth.— On Coroners' Jury Script and Physicians' Accounts.— Three members who shall examine and consider the accounts of the psysicians' and coroners' jury script.

Seventh.— On County Claims.— Three members who shall examine and report on all claims against the county, from any source, not properly brought before either of the preceding committees.

Eighth.— On Town Accounts.— Three members who shall examine all town accounts, and recommend the appropriations required for highway purposes, poor accounts and town audits.

Ninth.— On Justices' and Constables' Accounts.— Three members who shall examine and report all claims of justices and constables against the county.

Tenth.— On Special Legislation and Erroneous Assessments.— Three members to whom shall be referred all matters relating to erroneous assessments and taxation.

Eleventh.— On Miscellaneous Accounts.— Five members who shall consider and recommend the appropriations required for the payment of the state tax, and other town and county charges. They shall also make a report of the assessments of corporations as found in the several assessment rolls.

Twelfth.— Grand Jury.— Three members to whom shall be referred all matters relating to grand jury.

Thirteenth.— On Military Affairs.— Three members to whom shall be referred all claims against the county, arising under the military code of the State of New York.

Fourteenth.—Assessment Rolls and Footings.— Three members who shall verify the footings of assessment rolls.

Fifteenth.—Supervisors' Accounts.— Three members to whom shall be referred the accounts of the supervisors.

Sixteenth.— On County Officer's Bonds.— Three members to whom shall be referred all matters pertaining to the bonds of county officers.

County Law, § 10-a.

Quarterly meetings. The board of supervisors in any county may, by resolution, determine to hold, in addition to the annual meeting, four regular quarterly meetings on the second Monday of the months of February, May, August and November. If such resolution be adopted the board of supervisors may transact at any such meeting all

3. Such special committees may be appointed as the board may consider necessary, all of which shall be appointed by the chairman, and consist of three members, unless otherwise specially ordered by the board.

4. Upon the members being called to order, the minutes of the preceding day shall be read, to the end that any mistake shall be corrected, unless such reading shall be waived by the board.

5. At each session the order of business shall be:

1. Reading of the minutes.
2. Presentation of petitions and communications.
3. Resolutions, motions and notices.
4. Report of select committees.
5. Report of standing committees.
6. Unfinished business.
7. Special order of the day.

6. The chairman shall preserve order and decorum, and shall decide all questions of order, subject to an appeal by the board. He shall have the right to name any member to perform the duties of the chair, but such substitution shall not extend beyond the next adjournment.

7. The chairman shall, in all cases, have the right to vote, and when the vote is equally divided, including his vote, the question shall be lost.

8. Every member, previous to his speaking, shall arise from his seat and address himself to the chair.

9. When two or more members arise at once, the chairman shall name the member who is first to speak.

10. No member shall speak more than once on any question, or in any case, until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken; nor more than twice without the leave of the board.

11. A member called to order shall immediately sit down, unless permitted to explain. If an appeal is taken from the decision of the chair, the board shall decide the case without debate, and the question shall be stated by the chair to be: "Shall the decision of the chair stand as the judgment of the board?"

12. Persons not members of the board may, by consent, be permitted to speak in regard to matters pending before the board.

13. Every person present when a vote is stated from the chair shall vote thereon, unless excused by the board, or unless he is directly interested in the question, in which case, if he choose, he shall be excused from voting.

14. No motion shall be stated, debated or put unless it is seconded. When a motion is seconded it shall be stated by the chairman before debate, and any motion shall be reduced to writing if the chairman or any member desire it.

15. After a motion is stated it shall be in possession of the board, but may be withdrawn at any time before the decision or amendment.

16. If the question in debate contains several distinct propositions, any member may have the same divided.

business that may come before it, including the audit of accounts and charges against the county which have been presented to the board and which shall have then accrued. Whenever a board of supervisors of any county shall have audited any account, claim or demand against the county at a meeting other than the annual meeting of the board, it shall certify the aggregate of all sums so audited and allowed to the county treasurer of the county. Any such board of supervisors may, concurrently with such certification or any time thereafter, authorize the county treasurer to borrow upon the faith and credit of the county a sum of money sufficient to pay the aggregate amount of the accounts so audited and allowed at any one or more of the meetings so held. No such loan shall be negotiated for a longer period than twelve months. [County Law, § 10-a, as added by L. 1917, ch. 119.]

A motion for the previous question, to lay the question on the table, to commit it until it is decided, shall preclude all amendments and debate of the main question, and the motion to postpone a question indefinitely, to adjourn to a certain day, until it is decided, precludes all amendments to the main question.

19. The previous question shall be as follows: "Shall the main question be put?"

20. A motion to adjourn the board shall always be in order, and be decided without debate.

21. The name of the member offering resolutions shall be entered on the minutes.

22. The ayes and nayes upon the question shall be taken and entered upon the minutes, if required by any member.

23. Select committees, to whom references are made, shall, in all cases, report a state of facts, with their opinion thereon, if required by the board.

24. No motion for reconsideration shall be in order, unless on the same day or the day following that on which the decision proposed to be reconsidered took place, nor unless one of the majority shall move such reconsideration. A motion to reconsider being put and lost, shall not be renewed, ncr shall any subject be a second time reconsidered without unanimous consent.

25. No standing rule or order shall be rescinded, suspended or changed, or any additional rule or order added thereto, unless by unanimous consent without one day's notice being given of the motion thereof, and no motion to that effect shall be in order without such notice.

26. The board shall hold two regular sessions daily — the morning session and the afternoon session — and all of the general business of the board shall be transacted at these sessions when first convened, and all the members shall be present unless excused. When the general business before the board of that session shall be disposed of the chairman shall announce the board adjourned for committee labor, and no further business shall thereafter be done until next session.

annual meeting such regular meetings not exceeding one in each month as they may determine. If such resolution be adopted such board of supervisors may transact at any such meeting all business that may come before it, including the audit of accounts and charges against the county which have been presented to the board, and which shall have then accrued, and whenever such board shall have audited any account, claim or demand against the county at any such regular meeting, it may direct payment thereof by order drawn by the clerk of said board upon the county treasurer of the county, and may authorize the county treasurer to borrow upon the faith and credit of the county a sum of money sufficient to pay the aggregate amount of the accounts so audited and allowed at any one or more of the meetings so held. No such loan shall be negotiated for a longer period than twelve months. [County Law, § 10-b, as added by L. 1918, ch. 389.]

§ 3. PENALTY FOR FAILURE OF SUPERVISOR TO PERFORM OFFICIAL DUTIES.

If any supervisor shall refuse or neglect to perform any of the duties which are or shall be required of him by law, as a member of the board of supervisors, he shall for every such offense forfeit the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars to the county. For a refusal or neglect to perform any other duty required of him by law, he shall for every such offense forfeit a like sum to the town.[8] [County Law, § 11; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 703.]

27. Every motion or resolution before the board shall lie over until the next day, if so demanded by any member, and any member necessarily absent may, at the first session after he shall learn of the adoption of any motion or resolution, have a right to move a reconsideration of the same.

28. At each annual session the chairman of the board shall, before the close of the said session appoint four members of the board who, together with himself as chairman, shall constitute a committee on all buildings and grounds belonging to the county. Said committee shall have charge and supervision of all the county buildings for the ensuing year, with power to make repairs which may become necessary during the adjournment of the board.

8. Penal provision. Section 1841 of the Penal Law provides that, "A public officer, or person holding a public trust or employment, upon whom any duty is enjoined by law, who wilfully neglects to perform the duty, is guilty of a misdemeanor. This and the preceding section do not apply to cases of official acts or omissions, the prevention of punishment of which is otherwise specially provided for by statute." The penalty imposed by the above section may, therefore, be exclusive of any punishment for a misdemeanor under this section of the Penal Law.

Liability for Neglect. The supervisor, by voting against allowing a claim which

§ 4. COMPENSATION OF SUPERVIORS AS MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS; COPYING ASSESSMENT-ROLL.

1. For services of supervisors, except in the counties of Albany, Allegany, Broome, Cattaraugus, Cayuga, Clinton, Columbia, Dutchess, Orange, Erie, Essex, Franklin, Hamilton, Herkimer, Montgomery, Niagara, Oneida, Onondaga, Otsego, Rensselaer, Rockland, Saratoga, Schenectady, Steuben, Suffolk, Ulster, Warren, Wyoming and Westchester, each supervisor shall receive from the county compensation at the rate of four dollars per day, in Broome county at the rate of five dollars per day, in Essex county at the rate of eight dollars per day, in Cayuga county at the rate of six dollars per day and in Warren county at the rate of six dollars per day, for each calendar day's actual attendance at the sessions of their respective boards, and mileage at the rate of eight cents per mile for once going and returning from his residence to the place where the sessions of the board shall be held, by the most usual route, for each regular and special session. [Subd. 1 amended by L. 1918, ch. 285.]

the statute imperatively requires the board to allow, subjects himself to the above penalty; so any supervisor who shall neglect or refuse to perform any duties which are or shall be required of him by law, as a member of the board, whatever may have been the motive which influenced him, is liable to the penalty. Morris v. People, 3 Denio, 381. And where a board neglected to raise money for the erection of public buildings, which money they were required by law to raise, the supervisors were held liable, although previous boards had been guilty of the same neglect. Caswell v. Allen, 7 Johns. 63.

Where a supervisor is charged by statute with an absolute and certain duty, in the performance of which an individual has a special interest, he is liable to an action if he refuses to perform it, and he is not relieved from the consequences of his disobedience because it is prompted by an honest belief upon his part that the statute is unconstitutional. Clark v. Miller, 54 N. Y. 528; Hoover v. Burkhoof, 44 N. Y. 113.

Removal from office for wilful misconduct or neglect of duty. See Matter of Hoag, 145 App. Div. 889, 129 N. Y. Supp. 775.

9. Compensation of supervisors as town officers. See Town Law, sec. 85.

The constitution provides that the board of supervisors shall not grant any extra compensation to any public officer, servant, agent or contractor. See Constitution, art. 3, sec. 28.

Compensation for services on committees. A custom of the board to allow its members five dollars per diem for services of its members on committees cannot be shown; nor can it be proved that the services were worth that much; the statute is conclusive and does not allow supervisors to pay themselves out of the county funds as upon a quantum meruit. Supervisors of Richmond v. Van Clief, 1 Hun 454.

Mileage.— Supervisors are not entitled to mileage for each day's actual attendance at regular or special meetings, but only for once going and returning. Wallace v. Jones, 122 App. Div. 497, 500, 107 N. Y. Supp. 288.

A supervisor is not entitled to charge for services or mileage while serving upon a committee of the board of supervisors during the session of the board, because the statute provides that unless the compensation is specially provided he is pro-

In the county of Allegany each supervisor shall receive from the county compensation at the rate of five dollars per day for each calendar day's actual attendance at the sessions of the board of supervisors and mileage at the rate of eight cents per mile for once going and returning every week during any regular or special session of such board from his place of residence to the place where any such session of the board is held.

2-a. In the counties of Cattaraugus, Wyoming and Otsego each supervisor shall receive from the county compensation at the rate of six dollars per day for each calendar day's actual attendance at the sessions of the board of supervisors and mileage at the rate of eight cents per mile for once going and returning every week during any regular or special session of such board from his place of residence to the place where any such session of the board is held. [Subd. 2-a, added by L. 1918, ch. 285.]

3. In the county of Franklin each supervisor shall receive the mileage above provided and a per diem compensation for attending sessions of the board, and for committee work when the board is not in session, to be fixed by the board of supervisors at not to exceed eight dollars per day. [Subd. 3, added by L. 1917, ch. 527.]

3-a. In the county of St. Lawrence each supervisor shall receive from the county the mileage above provided, an annual salary of three hundred and fifty dollars, six dollars per day while actually engaged in any investigation or other duty which may be lawfully committed to him by the board except for services rendered while the board is in session, and, if such investigation or duty require his attendance at a place away from his residence, his actual expenses incurred therein. Such per diem compensation and expense allowance shall be in lieu of the per diem compensation and expense allowance provided for by subdivision eight. [Subd. 3-a, added by L. 1918, ch. 285.]

4. In the counties of Hamilton, Herkimer, Niagara, Rockland, Saratoga, Schenectady and Steuben each supervisor shall receive an annual salary, in the county of Herkimer of two hundred and twenty dollars and the mileage hereinbefore prescribed, in the county of Hamilton of one hundred and twenty dollars and his reasonable traveling expenses actually and necessarily incurred in once going and returning from his residence to the place where the sessions of the board shall be held, by the most usual route, for each regular and special session, in the county of Niagara of four hundred dollars, in the county of Rockland of four hundred dollars, in the county of Saratoga of five hundred dollars, in the county of Schenectady of five hundred dollars and in the county of Steuben of one hundred and fifty dollars, in lieu of any per diem compensation. [Subd. 4, amended by L. 1918, ch. 285.]

5. In the counties of Dutchess and Orange each supervisor shall receive an annual salary from the county of one hundred and fifty dollars and also mileage at the rate of ten cents per mile for going and returning, once in each week during the annual session of the board of supervisors and when the board is sitting as a board of county canvassers, by the most usually traveled route, from his residence to the place where the sessions of the board shall be held, and in addition thereto compensation at the rate of four dollars per day and mileage as hereinabove provided for each special session of the board which he attends; such compensation and mileage to be paid by the county treasurer on the last day of the annual session in each year.

6. In the county of Suffolk each supervisor shall receive an annual salary of one thousand dollars for all services to the county for board meetings and committee work, in lieu of any per diem compensation. He shall be reimbursed by the county for actual expenses to and from board and committee meetings.

7. In the county of Ulster each supervisor shall receive an annual salary from the county of three hundred and fifty dollars, and also mileage at the rate of eight cents per mile for going and returning once in each week during the annual session of the board of supervisors, and when the board is sitting as a board of county canvassers, and once in going and returning to and from each special session by the most usually traveled route from his residence to the place where the session of the board shall be held, and in addition thereto he shall receive from the county while actually engaged in any investigation or other duty which may legally be committed to him his actual expenses, and such salary, mileage and expenses shall be audited and paid as other county charges; and such compensation shall be for any and all services which such supervisor shall render to the county and in lieu of all per diem compensation, except that each supervisor may be allowed for his services in making a copy of the assessment-roll and extending taxes as hereinafter provided.

8. Each supervisor, except in the counties of Albany, Allegany, Broome, Clinton, Columbia, Dutchess, Orange, Erie, Franklin, Montgomery, Niagara, Oneida, Onondaga, Rensselaer, Saratoga, Schenectady, Suffolk, Ulster, Warren, Wyoming and Westchester may also receive compensation from the county at the rate of four dollars per day, and in Broome county at the rate of five dollars per day, and in the county of Franklin at a rate not exceeding eight dollars per day to be fixed by the board of supervisors, and in Clinton county at the rate of six dollars per day, and in Warren county at the rate of six dollars per day, and in Wyoming county at the rate of six dollars per day, while actually engaged in any investigation or other duty which may be lawfully committed to him by the board, except for services rendered when the board is in session and, if such investigation or duty requires his attendance at a place away from his residence, and five miles or more distant from the place where the board shall hold its sessions, his actual expenses incurred therein. [Subd. amended by L. 1918, chs. 49, 285.]

9. Each supervisor in the counties of Dutchess, Orange and Allegany shall also be entitled to receive in addition to the compensation hereinabove provided, to be paid in the same time and manner, compensation at the rate of four dollars per day while actually engaged in any investigation or other duty which may be lawfully committed to him by the board of supervisors of his county, together with his actual expenses incurred therein.

10. No other compensation or allowance shall be made to any supervisor for his services, except such as shall be by law a town charge, except that in the counties of Niagara, Hamilton, Herkimer, Saint Lawrence, Schenectady and Saratoga each supervisor, while heretofore or hereafter actually engaged in any investigation, or in the performance of any other duty, which shall have been legally delegated to him by the board of supervisors, except when the board is in session, shall be entitled to receive in addition to the compensation hereinbefore provided, his actual expenses incurred therein.

11. The board of supervisors of any county, except Saratoga and Suffolk counties, may also allow to each member of the board for his services in making a copy of the assessment-roll, three cents for each written line for the first one hundred lines, two cents per line for the second hundred written lines, and one cent per line for all written lines in excess of two hundred, and one cent for each tax actually extended by him on the tax-roll, and, if there be more than one item of tax on a line of the tax-roll, one cent for computing and extending the total of such items.

12. The board of supervisors of any county may also allow to each member of the board for his services in making a copy of the tax-roll for delivery to the collector compensation at the rate of one-half the compensation authorized for making a copy of the assessment and tax-rolls.[10]

13. In the county ofSuffolk the extension and copying of the tax-rolls shall be performed by clerks and be a town charge.

14. In the county of Ontario each supervisor shall receive from the county compensation at the rate of five dollars per day for each calendar day's actual attendance at the sessions of the board of supervisors, and mileage at the rate of eight cents per mile for once going and returning every week during any regular or special session of such board, from his place of residence to the place where any such session of the board is held, by the most usual route. [Subd. 14, added by L. 1918, ch. 307.] [County Law, § 23, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 279, L. 1911, ch. 554, and L. 1912, ch. 34, L. 1913, chs. 254, 355, L. 1914, ch. 357, L. 195, ch. 332, L. 1916, ch. 426, L. 1917, ch. 527, and L. 1918, chs. 49, 285, and 307; B. § 4a. COMPENSATION OF SUPERVISORS IN CERTAIN COUNTIES.

In any county of the state having not more than four towns each supervisor, including any now in office or hereafter elected, shall receive from the county for all services in any official capacity, except services

10. Extending assessment rolls.—The process of ascertaining the amount of the tax by multiplying the assessed value by the rate and setting it down in the column as provided by section 58 of the Tax Law, is the extending of the line. Where a supervisor extends special taxes on the same line with the general tax, each extension of a special tax constitutes a new line for the purpose of ascertaining his compensation. Pearsall v. Brower, 120 App. Div. 584, 105 N. Y. Supp. 207.

A line on an assessment-roll is one straight row of words and figures between the margins of the page, necessarily and properly a part of the roll. Smith v. Hedges (1918), 223 N. Y. 176.

A taxpayer's action to recover, on behalf of a county, money allowed by its board of supervisors under this section to a supervisor for copying written lines of the assessment roll of his town, and extending certain lines of the tax rolls, based on the claim that defendant was allowed and paid for more lines than he had in fact copied and extended, is maintainable, and the audit of the board of supervisors is not conclusive. Smith v. Hedges (1914), 87 Misc. 439, 150 N. Y. Supp. 899, affd. 169 App. Div. 115; rev'd on other grounds (1918), 223 N. Y. 176.

exclusively for the town in which he is elected or a district or subdivision thereof, an annual salary of three thousand dollars, and his actual and necessary expenses while performing services for the county, in lieu of all per diem or other compensation, fees, allowances, percentages and mileage. Any such supervisor shall receive from the town in which he shall have been elected, for all services performed for the town or any district or subdivision thereof, an annual salary of two thousand dollars, and his actual and necessary expenses while performing services for the town, in lieu of all other per diem or other compensation, fees, allowances, percentages and mileage. In any such county, the foregoing provisions shall be controlling, notwithstanding section twenty-three or any other provision of this chapter or any provision of the town law or any other statute. Percentages and fees payable by law to such supervisor on account of duties relating to the affairs of the county shall belong to the county. Percentages and fees payable by law to such supervisor on account of duties relating to the affairs of the town or of any district or subdivision thereof shall belong to the town. [County Law, § 23a, as added by L. 1917, ch. 586.]

Supervisors, in addition to the compensation provided by section twenty-three of this chapter, and town assessors, shall be entitled to receive compensation at the rate of four dollars per day for each calendar day actually and necessarily spent in attending a meeting within the county held for the purpose of conference with the state board of tax-commissioners or a member of such board, and mileage at the rate of eight cents per mile by the most direct route from his residence, in going and returning from the place within the county where such meeting is held. Such compensation and mileage shall be a county charge. [County Law, § 241a, as added by L. 1911, ch. 51.]

Every act or resolution of the board shall require for its passage the assent of a majority of the supervisors elected, unless otherwise required by law.[11] Every act or resolution of such board in the exercise of its 11. As to power of majority. See Note, ante p. 12.

In a county in which there were eighteen supervisors the board, by a vote of those present at a meeting, passed a resolution for the removal of the county seat, ten voting in favor of the resolution and eight against it. One of the ten had no authority to act as supervisor, not even de facto; it was held that there was not a majority of those elected voting in favor of the resolution and that it was not carried, and further, that the purpose of such resolution could not be effected notwithstanding an attempted ratification by the legislature. Williams v. Boynton, 71 Hun 309; 25 N. Y. Supp. 60.

legislative powers shall have a title prefixed, concisely expressing its contents, followed by a reference to the law or laws conferring the authority to pass the act or resolution, the number of votes, both for and against its passage, and when the assent of any supervisor is required that such assent was given; [12] and all acts or resolutions so passed shall be numbered in the order of their passage and certified by the chairman and clerk, and within six weeks after the close of each session, such resolution shall be published in the newspapers in the county

Resolution changing location of county buildings in conformity with the vote of the electors of the county is not within the meaning of this section. This section applies only to resolutions which become final and complete solely by the action of the board. Stanton v. Supervisors of Essex County, 112 App. Div. 877, 98 N. Y. Supp. 159 (1906).

Validity of resolution. A board of supervisors has no power except such as is vested in it by legislative enactment. Whenever power is so vested in a board and the legislature prescribes the manner in which such power shall be exercised, every substantial requirement or condition in regard to such exercise, beneficial to any citizen, must be observed and carefully complied with, or the action of the board cannot be sustained. Barker v. Town of Oswegatchie, 10 N. Y. Supp. 834. If the board of supervisors has full power to do an act, its performance of such act is not rendered illegal by a mistake in a recital in its resolution as to the source of its power even if the alleged source of its power to do such an act is a repealed statute. Matter of Rockaway Park Improvement Co., 83 Hun 263; 31 N. Y. Supp. 386. The resolution in question in this case was for the purpose of creating a fire district outside of an incorporated village under sec. 38 of the County Law, post, p. 74. The resolution referred to an act authorizing the board to create such a district which was repealed by the County Law and its provisions re-enacted with modification in such sec. 38 of the County Law. As to effect of failure to elect a commissioner of elections by a majority vote, see People ex rel. Woods v. Flynn, 81 Misc. 279.

If the board of supervisors has no seal, the lack of a seal which the statute appointed to publish the session laws of the legislature.[13] [County Law, § 17, B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 720.]

§ 6. PUBLICATION OF ACTS OF BOARD.

All acts passed by the boards of supervisors of the several counties of this state, shall be published in two newspapers representing respectively the two principal political parties into which the people of the counties are divided, after such manner, and at such compensation as the several boards of supervisors may provide, the same to be a county charge, payable in the manner provided in section forty-eight of the legislative law for the publication of local laws enacted by the legislature, provided that the rate of compensation shall not be less than the rate fixed by said section for the publication of laws of a local nature, enacted by the legislature. [County Law, § 18; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 721.]

§ 7. PROCEEDINGS OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS TO BE PRINTED AND DISTRIBUTED; CONTENTS.

Each board of supervisors shall cause as many copies of the proceedings of its sessions as it may deem necessary, certified by its chairman and clerk, to be printed as a county charge, in a pamphlet volume, as soon as may be after each session, for exchange with other boards, for the members of the board and other town and county officers and for public distribution. At least three copies of such printed volume shall be forwarded to and filed in each town clerk's office and in the county clerk's office. In counties containing cities of the first class, and in

Even though a resolution to acquire a bridge pursuant to a special act should have complied with this section, requiring a title and enacting clause and a publication, the county, after having become seized of the bridge property, must pay the purchase price. Matter of Saratoga Lake Bridge Co. v. Walbridge, 140 App. Div. 817, 126 N. Y. Supp. 468.

13. Publication of resolutions.— The provision of this section, which directs all acts as resolutions passed by the board of supervisors to be published, has counties containing three cities of the third class, the publication of the proceedings of the board of supervisors may be ordered to be made in a daily newspaper, the work to be done by contract, let to the lowest bidder, after an opportunity to bid therefor has been given to the proprietors of all the daily newspapers printed in the English language in said county; such bid may include the printing and binding in pamphlet volumes of such number of copies of the proceedings of such board as may be required, and also the printing of pamphlet copies thereof for the use of the members of said board at its sessions. Such printed proceedings shall contain a summary statement of all bills against the county, presented to the board and audited and allowed or disallowed, indicating the amount allowed or disallowed. The board of supervisors may as often as it shall deem necessary, cause to be printed and distributed in like manner, in the same volume or otherwise, its county laws, combined with suitable forms and instructions thereunder, and reports of committees and county officers filed with it.[14] no reference to the ordinary proceedings of the board, but only to such as are legislative in their character, and within the scope and authority of section 27 of article 3 of the State Constitution. Kingsley v. Bowman, 33 App. Div. 1, 53 N. Y. Supp. 426. The words, "such resolution shall be," in the last sentence were added by the consolidation of 1909.

Resolution as evidence. Section 941 of the Code of Civil Procedure provides that: "An act, ordinance, resolution, by-law, rule or proceeding of the common council of a city, or the board of trustees of an incorporated village, or of a local board of health of a city, town or incorporated village, or of a board of supervisors, within the state, may be read in evidence, either from a copy thereof, certified by the city clerk, village clerk, clerk of the common council, clerk or secretary of the local board of health, or a clerk of the board of supervisors; or from a volume printed by authority of the common council of the city, or the board of trustees of the village, or the local board of health of the city, town or village, or the board of supervisors."

14. Daily publications not authorized prior to amendment of former law by act of 1899. Kingsley v. Bowman, 33 App. Div. 1, 53 N. Y. Supp. 426.

Whenever the proceedings of the board of supervisors of any county are printed in a volume by authority of the board of supervisors, the volume so printed, and duly certified by the chairman and clerk of the said board of supervisors to be a true record of such proceedings, shall be and constitute the book of records of the said board. [County Law, § 19, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 256, and L. 1916, ch. 606; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 721.]

Such boards shall have the general charge of the books and records of the county, subject to the legal rights of the officers using or having custody of the same, and shall provide for their safe-keeping.[15] They may authorize county officers having the official custody or control of any such books and records, or of maps and papers, to cause copies thereof to be made and certified for the public use; and it shall be their duty to cause the same to be made and certified whenever by reason of age or exposure, or any casualty, the same shall be necessary. Any officers making such transcripts or copies shall be paid such sum therefor as may be just; but such payment shall not exceed a sum to be certified by the county judge, or a justice of the supreme court of the judicial district, as reasonable therefor. Such board of supervisors shall not accept and pay for any such services, until the work shall be examined and approved as to its manner and form of execution, by such judge or justice; nor shall any board of supervisors order any such work to be done until such judge or justice, after an examination, shall certify that such work is necessary for the security and safety of the public records.[15] [County Law, § 26; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 727.]

Use of union label.— The requirement by a board of supervisors advertising for bids for the printing of its journal that a union label be used by the printer is unlawful and against public policy as tending to create a monopoly by restricting competition to a special class of printers. People ex rel. Single Paper Co. Co. Limited v. Edgecomb, 112 App. Div. 604, 98 N. Y. Supp. 965.

15. Manual custody unnecessary.— The officer charged with the care of books and records need not have manual custody of the same, and the court will take judicial notice that he acts through subordinates. People ex rel. McGinnis v. Palmer, 6 App. Div. 19, 39 N. Y. Supp. 631.

Indexing county records; compensation.— The board of supervisors has no authority in the absence of a special statute authorizing them to do so, to authorize the county clerk to make new indexes of the county records for additional compensation, or to compromise a claim for payment under a contract to make such indxes. Wadsworth v. Board of Supervisors, 217 N. Y. 484, rev'g 139 App. Div. 832, 124 N. Y. Supp. 334.

§ 9. WITNESSES AND COUNTY OFFICERS MAY BE EXAMINED BY BOARD; BOOKS AND PAPERS MAY BE INSPECTED.

Any such board may require the attendance of witnesses and may examine any person as a witness upon any subject or matter within its jurisdiction, or examine any officer of the county, or a town therein, in relation to the discharge of his official duties, or to the receipt or disbursement by him of any moneys, or concerning the possession or disposition by him of any property belonging to the county, or to use, inspect or examine, any book, account, voucher or document in his possession or under his control relating to the affairs or interest of such county or town.[16] [County Law, § 27; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 728.]

16. Subpoena and examination of witnesses. For form of subpœna, see Form No. 3, post. By the above section and section 28 of the County Law immediately following power is conferred upon the board of supervisors or a committee thereof to require the attendance of witnesses upon subjects within the jurisdiction of the board and to send for persons and papers. In the case of Matter of Superintendent of the Poor, 6 App. Div. 144; 39 N. Y. Supp. 878, it was held that neither the Supreme Court nor a judge of that court can punish as for a contempt a disobedience of the command of the subpoena. The court said: "A person who fails to obey a subpoena is made liable for the damages sustained by the party aggrieved, and $50 in addition thereto, which may be recovered by action. (Code Civ. Proc., secs. 853, 855.) By section 855 of the code it is provided that in case a person is duly subpoenaed by a board of committee, and fails to attend in obedience thereto, any judge of the court, upon proof by affidavit of the failure to attend, must issue a warrant to the sheriff commanding him to apprehend the defaulting witness and bring him before the body before whom his attendance was required, and by section 856, if the person subpoenaed by such a body refuses, without reasonable cause, to be examined or to answer any legal or pertinent question or to produce a paper or book he may be committed to jail by a judge upon proof of such facts, there to remain until he submits to do the act which he was required to do, or is discharged according to law. But no provision of the code authorizes the punishment of such

When any such board shall have appointed any member or members thereof, a committee upon any subject or matter of which the board has jurisdiction, and shall have conferred upon such committee power to send for persons and papers, the chairman of such committee shall possess all the powers herein given to, and imposed upon the chairman of the board of supervisors.

The chairman of any committee appointed by a board of supervisors is authorized to administer an oath to any person presenting an account or claim before such committee to be audited, as to services rendered and the correctness of such claim. [County Law, § 28; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 728.]

Such board or committee may adjourn from time to time, and such committee may hold meetings in pursuance of such adjournments, or on call of the chairman thereof, during the recess, or after the final adjournment of the board of supervisors; but where a warrant shall have been issued as provided by section eight hundred and fifty-five of the code of civil procedure and not returned such adjournment of the board or committee at whose instance it was issued, shall be to a time and place certain, of which notice shall be given by the chairman, to the judge before whom the warrant shall be returnable; and if the person against whom it was issued shall be arrested, he may, in the discretion of the judge who issued the warrant, be discharged from custody, upon entering into an undertaking to the county, with two sureties to be approved by such judge, to the effect that he will appear and submit to an examination before such board or committee, as required, at the time and place to which it shall have been adjourned, or pay to the county treasurer such sum of money as such judge may direct. [County Law, § 29; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 728.]

Such undertaking shall be filed in the clerk's office of the county, and if default shall be made in the condition thereof, the district attorney of the county may sue and collect the sum therein mentioned, and the money when received, and all moneys received for fines and penalties before such board or committees, shall be paid into the treasury of the county. [County Law, § 30; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 729.]

a witness for a contempt. These provisions of the code establish the present practice, whereby a person may be compelled to attend before an inferior legislative body and give his testimony upon matters within its jurisdiction."

CHAPTER III.

AUDIT BY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS; COUNTY CHARGES.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

Audit by Board.

One of the most important functions of the board of supervisors is the audit of claims against the county. "Audit" means to hear and examine; it includes both the allowance and rejection of a claim. In auditing a claim the board exercises a judicial discretion. In making an audit the board must ascertain if the claim is properly chargeable against the county, settle the amount of the claim, and allow it as thus settled. If a claim is not a county charge the board has no power to pay it. The audit of a claim not properly chargeable against the county, is null and void, and its payment may not be compelled.

In auditing a claim the board may, either itself, or by a committee of its members, take evidence, examine witnesses and books and papers. The board should act fairly and should allow the claim if there is sufficient evidence to justify it. If the claim is based upon a statute which fixes the amount, the board has no discretion. If no price is so fixed, or such price is not based upon a contract, the board may exercise its discretion as to the amount to be paid.

The final audit must be made by the full board, although the examination of accounts may be referred to a committee.

Where possible all accounts must be itemized. In such cases the various items must be either allowed or disallowed. The courts have held that a person who presents a bill for audit consisting of several items is entitled to the judgment of the board on each item. (83 App. Div. 51, 82 N. Y. Supp. 504). It will not do for the board to merely cut down the gross amount of an itemized claim, without determining the particular items disallowed or reduced.

The rule is that the acts of a board of supervisors in auditing bills which are proper county charges, in the absence of fraud and collusion, are final and conclusive. There may be no review by the courts, if the board acts within its jurisdiction and in good faith.

Where an account has been rejected by one board it cannot be allowed by a subsequent board. Where a claim has been reduced and then allowed by one board, a subsequent board has no power to audit the claim anew at the full amount. The acts of one board pertaining to the allowance, reduction or rejection of claims presented to it are binding upon all subsequent boards.

Forms of Accounts.

Accounts must be made out in items and verified by the claimant. The statute requires this; without compliance with the statute the account may not be audited. Form No. 4 gives the proper form of an itemized and verified account against a county. If the account is not in proper form it should be returned by the clerk to the claimant.

Each account should be numbered by the clerk at the time and in the order of its presentation. A memorandum, showing time of presentation, name of claimant, and if assigned, the name of assignor and assignee, should be entered in the proceedings of the board.

The clerk must designate upon each account audited, the amount allowed, the item or amount disallowed, and deliver to any person on demand a certified copy of any account filed in his office.

The board may by rule make additional regulations as to the keeping and rendering of accounts of county and town officers, and the presentation and audit of bills presented to the board.

County Charges.

The statutes prescribe the claims which are chargeable against a county. The county cannot be made liable for any claim unless the act upon which the claim was based was authorized by express provision of statute.

Any expense necessarily incurred by the board in protecting the interests of the county, may be chargeable to the county; but the act of the board must be based upon statutory authority.

Services rendered by an officer which are beneficial to the county may be paid for, even if no provision be made by statute for such payment; but probably not, if such services were gratuitous and without authority of law. If a county is required to provide property for the use of its officers, the expense attached to the furnishing and maintenance of such property is a proper county charge.

The moneys necessary to pay county charges are to be raised by tax levied by the board upon the taxable property in the several towns and cities in the county. Taxes are levied as provided in § 58 of the Tax Law. See chapter XXXI, "Duties of supervisors as to taxation." Where necessary the board may authorize the borrowing of money to meet the payment of county charges. See County Law, § 12, subd. 6, post, p. 55.

SECTION 1. Power of board of supervisors to audit accounts and charges against the county.
2. Accounts to be itemized; verification; may be disallowed in part; accounts to be numbered.
3. Board may make additional requirements as to accounts.
4. Penal provisions respecting the unlawful audit and presentation of accounts against municipalities.
5. County charges.
6. County charges, how raised.

§ 1. POWER OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS TO AUDIT ACCOUNTS AND CHARGES AGAINST THE COUNTY.

The board of supervisors shall "Audit all accounts and charges against the county, and direct annually the raising of sums necessary to defray them in full." [1] [County Law, § 12, sub. 2; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 704.]

1. Audit defined. The term "audit" means to hear and examine; it includes both the adjustment or allowance, and the disallowance or rejection of an account. People ex rel. Myers v. Barnes, 114 N. Y. 317; 20 N. E. 609; Morris v. People, 3 Den. 381, 391; Matter of Murphy, 24 Hun, 592, affd., 86 N. Y. 627; People ex rel. Read v. Town Auditors, 85 Hun, 114, 32 N. Y. Supp. 688. The verb "audit" as here used, means simply to examine, to adjust, and it clearly implies the exercise of judicial discretion. People ex rel. Hamilton v. Supervisors, 35 App. Div. 239, 54 N. Y. Supp. 782.

The term includes both the allowance and rejection of a claim, and also the allowance of a claim in part and its rejection in part. People ex rel. Andrus v. Supervisors, 106 App. Div. 381, 94 N. Y. Supp. 1012.

What constitutes an audit. The duty of a board of supervisors in auditing and allowing accounts is: (1) To examine and determine whether an account is properly verified; (2) to see if it is properly chargeable against the county; (3) to settle or fix its amount; (4) to allow it as thus settled; (5) to provide means for its payment. People ex rel. Sherman v. Supervisors, 30 How. Pr. 173.

Jurisdiction of board. Boards of supervisors, in auditing and allowing accounts, are limited to the powers conferred upon them by statute. People ex rel. Merritt v. Lawrence, 6. Hill, 244; Chemung Canal Bank v. Supervisors, 5 Denio, 517. And when they transgress these limitations, their acts are void. If, for example, a board should audit a claim which was plainly not a county charge, its determination would be void for the reason that county charges only are within its jurisdiction. Osterhoudt v. Rigney, 98 N. Y. 222, 233. As was said in the case of Board of Supervisors v. Ellis, 59 N. Y. 620, 624: "A board of supervisors has no power to audit and allow accounts not legally

§ 2. ACCOUNTS TO BE ITEMIZED; VERIFICATION; MAY BE DISALLOWED IN PART; ACCOUNTS TO BE NUMBERED.

No account shall be audited by a board of supervisors or by a committee thereof, or by superintendents of the poor, unless it shall be made out in chargeable to their county; and if it attempts to do so, it is an act in excess of jurisdiction, done without power to make it valid, and is null and void. It may be disregarded by other officers of the county, and is not binding and conclusive upon another board."

Claims which need not be audited.—A claim for money illegally collected as taxes and paid into the county treasury is not a county charge which the statute intended should be audited. Newman v. Supervisors of Livingston Co., 45 N. Y. 676. See also Ross v. Supervisors of Cayuga Co., 38 Hun, 20. Claims which have their origin in torts need not be presented to the board for audit. McClure v. Supervisors of Niagara, 50 Barb. 594. See also Howell v. City of Buffalo, 15 N. Y. 512. The bonds and notes of a county, issued for loans authorized by law, are not open accounts for county charges which must be presented for audit. Parker v. Supervisors of Saratoga Co., 106 N. Y. 392.

Effect of legislative enactments.—Legislature may direct the board to assess the costs and expenses of a suit brought by direction of the voters of a town by the highway commissioners on the town. Town of Guilford v. Supervisors, 13 N. Y. 143. See also People ex rel. Morrill v. Supervisors, 112 N. Y. 585; People ex rel. Outwater v. Green, 56 N. Y. 466.

Local act (1900, ch. 277, § 6) providing for the payment of the proceeds of bonds, issued for the acquisition of certain property within a county, upon the order of the board of supervisors, is entirely in accord with provisions of this subdivision. People v. Neff, 191 N. Y. 210, affg. 122 App. Div. 135, 106 N. Y. Supp. 747.

Rules of the board cannot operate to change the provisions of the statute as to auditing. People v. Supervisors, 22 How. Pr. 71, affg. 21 How. Pr. 322.

Board acts judicially. In the settlement of disputed claims, or in the audit and allowance of county charges, a board of supervisors acts judicially where the subject of the claim is within its jurisdiction. People ex rel. Canajoharie Nat. Bank v. Supervisors, 67 N. Y. 109, 114. In this case the court said: "The acts which can in any aspect be regarded as judicial, and therefore final and conclusive until reversed, had respect solely to the amounts at which claims under an act should be audited and allowed. Had they been left to determine also whether these claims were or were not county charges, their decision of that question might have been claimed to be judicial and in the nature of a judgment; but the functions of the supervisors, judicial in their character, being limited to ascertaining and determining the amount or amounts, which, when ascertained and determined, the legislature had directed to be raised by tax and paid as other county charges are provided for and paid, a repeal of the acts making the claims a county charge, does not reverse any judgment or judicial determination of the board of supervisors in respect to any matter referred to them." In other words, the board does not act judicially in determining whether or not a claim which is clearly declared by statute to be a county charge is binding upon the county. See, also, People v. Supervisors of Livingston, 26 Barb. 118; Supervisors of Onondaga v. Briggs, 2 Denio, 26; Supervisors of Chenango v. Birdsall, 4 Wend. 453; Bank of Staten Island v. City of New York, 68 App. Div. 231, 74 N. Y. Supp. 284. In exercising the power to audit, the board acts judicially and its action may be reviewed by certiorari. New York Catholic Protectory v. Rockland County, 159 App. Div. 455.

Where it is doubtful and rests upon disputed evidence, whether a claim is a proper county charge the determination is committed to the discretion of the board. Osterhoudt v. Rigney, 98 N. Y. 222, 232.

Power to audit is a judicial act, and the board is not liable for an erroneous determination. Chase v. Saratoga Co., 33 Barb. 603; Osterhoudt v. Rigney, 98 N. Y. 222; People v. Stocking, 50 Barb. 573; Weaver v. Davendorf, 3 Den. 117; People ex rel. Brown v. Supervisors, 3 How. Pr. (N. S.) 241; People ex rel. Kelly v. Haws, 21 How. Pr. 117; Supervisors of Onondaga v. Briggs, 2 Denio 26.

While in a very largely qualified sense the action of the board is quasi-judicial, it is not so in the sense that an erroneous and improper audit is incapable of correction by the board. People ex rel. Hotchkiss v. Supervisors, 65 N. Y. 222.

Where the amount of services is undisputed and where the rate of compensation is established by law or undisputed contract so that an unquestionable duty exists that the board pay the claim, then the board cannot evade this duty by saying that the board is a quasi-judicial tribunal. People ex rel. Morrison v. Supervisors, 56 Hun, 459, 10 N. Y. Supp. 88, affd. 27 N. Y. 654. See also Matter of Murphy, 24 Hun, 592, affd. 86 N. Y. 627; People v. Supervisors of Cortland, 58 Barb. 139.

When board may exercise discretion. Such boards have no discretion where the salary of an officer is fixed by law and made a county charge. The amount as so fixed concludes the board in its action. Morris v. People, 3 Denio, 381; People v. Stout, 23 Barb, 338; People v. Supervisors of Cortland, 58 Barb, 139; 40 How. Pr. 53.

In passing upon claims where no price has been agreed upon, and in auditing claims for legal and other services where no price is fixed by statute, and no sum has been fixed upon by contract as compensation for such services, the board may exercise its discretion in fixing the amount; and where it acts in good faith in auditing and allowing the claim, its action will not be reviewed. People ex rel. Johnson v. Supervisors of Delaware Co., 45 N. Y. 196; People v. Supervisors of Albany Co., 12 Wend. 257; People v. Supervisors of Otsego Co., 51 N. Y. 407; People v. Supervisors of Dutchess Co., 9 Wend. 508; People v. Supervisors of Cortland Co., 58 Barb. 139; 40 How. Pr. 53.

When the law has declared that certain claims shall be a debt of the county, then the supervisors cannot reject the claims upon the idea that they are not valid and legal claims against the county; but if they admit all the facts upon which the claims are legally founded, they must audit and allow them. But where any of the facts material to the existence of the claim are disputed, then the point arises at which their judicial discretion is called into exercise, and they cannot be compelled by mandamus to decide this question in any particular manner. People ex rel. Benedict v. Supervisors of Oneida, 24 Hun, 413.

Power of audit cannot be delegated. The final audit should be by the board as a whole. The examination of accounts may be made by a committee of the board, but the determination as to the allowance or disallowance of any part thereof rests exclusively with the board itself. People v. Supervisors, 25 Hun, 131. The power of audit is judicial and cannot be delegated. People v. Hagadorn, 104 N. Y. 516; 10 N. E. 891; Bellinger v. Gray, 51 N. Y. 610; Town of Salamanca v. Cattaraugus Co., 81 Hun, 282, 30 N. Y. Supp. 790.

been in fact made or rendered, or are necessary to be made or rendered

It seems that where the board exercises governmental functions, the whole body must act; but, when it acts as a mere business corporation, it may delegate the mechanical and physical work to its agents. People ex rel. Vaugh v. Supervisors, 52 Hun, 446, 5 N. Y. Supp. 600.

Manner of auditing. A legal and proper auditing of an account requires an examination of the items of which it is composed, and the allowance or disallowance of them accordingly as they shall be found correctly or incorrectly, charged both in law and in fact. The board must examine each bill in detail and allow or disallow the various items. It would be no proper or just audit of an account made up of numerous items to allow a gross sum instead of considering and passing upon the items. People ex rel. Johnson v. Supervisors of Delaware Co., 45 N. Y. 196; People ex rel. Thurston v. Board of Auditors, 20 Hun, 150, affd. 82 N. Y. 80; People ex rel. Drummond v. Supervisors of Westchester Co., 82 N. Y. Supp. 504 (App. Div., 2d Dept., May 28, 1903). A person who presents a bill for audit consisting of several items is entitled to the judgment of the board on each item. People ex rel. Drummond v. Supervisors, 83 App. Div. 51, 82 N. Y. Supp. 504.

For instance, where a claim is presented by a county officer for services performed by him for which he is entitled by statute to a certain per diem compensation, specifying the number of days employed by date, and the particular duty or service performed on each day, and charging for each day so employed the compensation allowed by law, the board would not be justified in allowing a gross sum without specifying the particular items in the account which are disallowed. See People ex rel, Thurston v. Board of Auditors, 82 N. Y. 80, in which case the Court of Appeals says: "If (in allowing such a claim at a gross sum), they rejected no specific day or days, but allowed them all to stand, then they violated the statute rate of compensation. But if, as they claim, they reduced the number of days as a whole without disallowing any specific one, they did not audit the account at all; they merely guessed at the result and offered a compromise. Within the range of their discretion they are sufficiently powerful. The courts may not dictate their conclusion, but may justly require that they arrive at one in a just and intelligent way, and with some reasonable respect for the possible rights of the creditors. In this case the board of auditors, instead of passing on the relator's bill, and allowing or disallowing the items according to the facts and the law, assumed the right to allow what they pleased, without disputing the facts on the one hand or the law on the other. In other words, acting on the theory that the commissioners were costing the town too much, the auditors cut down the gross amount of the bill to their own arbitrary standard, without regard to the right or wrong of a single item presented for their judgment. It is well to regard economy, but it is better to do fair and complete justice. . . . The amount to be allowed has in no manner been dictated by the courts. That is the duty of the auditors. But they must perform that duty by passing specifically upon the separate charges, so that both claimants and the people may know what has been done. Their conclusion must be, not an arbitrary guess at a gross sum, but an actual audit of the several charges presented."

In the case of People ex rel. Sutliff v. Supervisors of Fulton, 74 Hun, 251; 26 N. Y. Supp. 610, a sheriff's bill contained numerous items for board of prisoners at the county jail, and for various fees for services performed by at that session of the board, and stating that no part of the amount

the sheriff and his agents in respect to such prisoners. The board passed a resolution auditing and allowing the bill at a greatly reduced gross sum without specifying the items rejected. The court said: "They must pass upon the items, and should so discharge their duties in that regard that the relator will be able to know which items were allowed and which were disallowed. It may not be necessary for the board in their decision to pass upon each item of relator's bill separately. For instance, if they should disallow all "turnkey's" fees and all "tub" fees, it would be sufficient to so declare without specifying each item. If they should allow the number of weeks' board claimed, but should reduce the price it would be sufficient to merely state the price per week allowed. But in some way the board should pass on and allow or disallow the items of the relator's bill, and in such a way that it may be known what the determination in fact was as to each item. This may cause much trouble, but it seems necessary under the statute and decisions."

Audit of claim for services.—In reference to charges for services for which no fixed or definite sum is prescribed as a compensation the board is vested with a discretion, and may allow such sum as they deem just. In auditing and allowing this class of accounts they act judicially, and no proceedings can be had against them, or against the county, for an erroneous determination in relation to their acts. Chase v. County of Saratoga, 33 Barb. 603; People v. Stocking, 50 Barb. 573; 32 How. Pr. 48; People ex rel. Sherman v. Supervisors of St. Lawrence Co., 30 How. Pr. 173.

A board of supervisors in passing on a claim for services may act upon information acquired apart from any formal hearing. Thus, they may consider letters received from clerks of other counties stating the rates paid by them for similar services. People ex rel. McHenry v. Board of Supervisors, 140 App. Div. 759, 126 N. Y. Supp. 153.

Where a board of supervisors has received a claim against a county based on quantum meruit for services of a physician in making post-mortem examinations, and has acted upon it by allowing it in part and reducing the amount, the claimant cannot disregard the audit and sue the county eo nomine for the entire amount of his claim. Such an audit is final and reviewable only by certiorari. Foy v. County of Westchester, 60 App. Div. 412, 69 N. Y. Supp. 887, affd. 168 N. Y. 180.

The audit by a board of supervisors, having jurisdiction over the matter of a claim for services rendered the county, at a reduced amount, is, in the absence of fraud or collusion, final and conclusive, and cannot be attacked collaterally in an action brought by an assignee of the claimant, even though the board of supervisors erroneously allowed on plausible grounds items which were not a proper county charge. The rule of res adjudicata applies to such an audit. Bank of Staten Island v. City of New York, 68 App. Div. 231, 74 N. Y. Supp. 284, affd. 174 N. Y. 519.

Supervisors must audit salary of an officer as fixed by law. People v. Stout, 23 Barb. 388 (1856). See People v. Haws, 21 How. Pr. 178. But see People v. Supervisors, 12 How. Pr. 204.

Attorney's services.—Claim for services by an attorney assigned to defend a prisoner is not a charge on the county, and in the absence of statutory authority the board is powerless to audit same. People v. Supervisors of Albany, 28 How. Pr. 22. A claim for attorney's services rendered to the board is a county charge and must first be presented for audit. Brady v. Supervisors of N. Y., 10 N. Y. 260.

Charges for legal services to county excise board were required to be presented to supervisors for audit; and mandamus will lie if board refuse to audit such claim if legally chargeable to county. People v. Supervisors of Delaware, 45 N. Y. 196. See also People v. Supervisors, 14 Barb. 52.

A claim by an attorney, assigned to defend a poor person, indicted for murder in the first degree, for the services of an interpreter, apparently rendered prior to the trial, should not be allowed by the county, where it appears that a similar item has been paid for the services of an interpreter at the trial in the interest of the defense, and the papers do not show that the additional item claimed was necessary and proper. Although an order has been granted in such an action requiring the stenographer to furnish from day to day a transcript of his minutes to the attorney assigned for the defense, the expense incurred is not chargeable to the county. Matter of Kenney v. Prendergast (1912), 153 App. Div. 325.

Affidavit as to value of services. Where a claim for services rendered, presented to a board of supervisors for audit, which board has authority to exercise its judgment in reference to the amount to be allowed, is sustained only by the affidavit of the claimant, the board is not compelled to accept his statement, although it is uncontradicted, but may award such sum as in its judgment seems proper compensation for the services. Matter of Lanehart, 32 App. Div. 4; 52 N. Y. Supp. 671.

Hearing evidence as to claims. In all cases where auditing officers are vested with the right to exercise their discretion in determining the amount to be paid, it is a matter of fair dealing that the claimant should be given an opportunity to be heard in his own behalf, and to furnish evidence if he so desires. People v. Supervisors of St. Lawrence Co., 30 How. Pr. 173. But the board cannot be compelled to receive evidence in regard to an account where such evidence could not affect its decision. People ex rel. White v. Supervisors of Clinton Co., 20 N. Y. Supp. 273; 48 N. Y. St. Rep. 457. And the hearing of counsel in favor of a claim presented for audit, and the writing out of the stenographer's minutes taken at a hearing before a committee, is within the discretion of the board and cannot be compelled. People ex rel. Sutliff v. Supervisors of Fulton Co., 74 Hun, 251; 26 N. Y. Supp. 610.

Examination of claims. In investigation of a claim the board of supervisors are not the protectors of the county, but are bound to stand impartial between claimant and county; they are made by statute the judges of what is justly due. The claimant may claim opportunity to be heard, to produce witnesses and cross-examine witnesses; the county likewise should have a right to be represented. A record of all evidence should be kept so that it may be prepared to return its proceedings for review on certiorari. People ex rel. Bliss v. Supervisors, 39 St. Rep. 313, 15 N. Y. Supp. 748. See also People ex rel. White v. Supervisors, 48 St. Rep. 3, 20 N. Y. Supp. 273, holding that board has reasonable discretion as to reception of evidence.

Where the claimant has failed to observe the statutory requirement as to proof, the board can either reject the bill altogether or allow what they consider fair compensation. People v. Webb, 21 N. Y. Supp. 298.

The board cannot audit a claim barred by the statute of limitations. Woods v. Supervisors of Madison Co., 136 N. Y. 403.

Audit, how far conclusive. In the case of Martin v. Supervisors of Greene Co., 29 N. Y. 645, it was held that after a claim against a county has been presented to the board of supervisors for allowance, and has been examined and passed upon by that board, the amount determined to be actually and justly due declared, and its payment provided for in the mode prescribed by law, no action will lie against the county, to recover the same claim, upon the ground that the decision of the board was erroneous in respect to the amount actually and legally due to the plaintiff. The rule is that the acts of a board of audit, within its jurisdiction, in the absence of fraud and collusion, are final and conclusive, and cannot be questioned in a collateral proceeding. Whether a claim is a proper county charge, in a case where it is doubtful and rests upon disputed evidence, and what amount shall be allowed, when not fixed by statute, are questions which the statute commits to the board, and however much it may err in judgment on the facts, so long as it keeps within its jurisdiction and acts in good faith, its audit cannot be overhauled, but is final both to the claimant and all taxpayers. Osterhoudt v. Rigney, 98 N. Y.

222, 232. And see People v. Supervisors of Livingston, 26 Barb. 118; People ex rel. Vaughn v. Supervisors, 52 Hun, 446; 5 N. Y. Supp. 600. The audit of the board is in the nature of a judgment. People ex rel. McDonough v. Supervisors of Queens, 33 Hun, 305, 307.

When the question whether a charge made by a county clerk is a valid county charge is dependent upon a question of fact to be determined by the board of supervisors, the audit and allowance of the claim by the board, in the absence of fraud or collusion, is conclusive in the claimant's favor. Where the lawfulness of a charge made by a county clerk does not depend upon any such question of fact, but the charge is unlawful on its face, it is not aided in any respect by the audit thereof; and the association of such illegal claims with claims which are lawful in an audited bill does not serve to protect the former from attack notwithstanding the audit. People v. Sutherland (1912), 207 N. Y. 22.

Certificate of audit is conclusive against the county. People ex rel. Central Nat. Bank v. Fitzgerald, 54 How. Pr. 1. If claimant accepts payment of claim as audited, he is estopped. People ex rel. O'Mara v. Supervisors, 40 N. Y. St. Rep. 238, 16 N. Y. Supp. 254. The audit and allowance of an account by the board is conclusive of the right of the claimant to recover it. Brown v. Green, 46 How. Pr. 302, affd. 56 N. Y. 476. See also People ex rel. Kelly v. Haws, 21 How. Pr. 117. The prior audit by the town board of an account against the town is conclusive, and cannot be reversed or reviewed by the board of supervisors. McCrea v. Chahoon, 8 N. Y. Supp. 88. But a claim against a county is not made legal by its audit by the board of supervisors. People ex rel. Tracy v. Green, 47 How. Pr. 382.

As to conclusiveness of audit, see, also, Supervisors of Onondaga v. Briggs, 2 Denio 26; People v. Stout, 23 Barb. 338.

The fact that a sheriff's account has been illegally audited by a board of supervisors does not prevent the recovery of the amount paid in an action against the sheriff. Franklin County v. Henry, 148 N. Y. Supp. 627. The validity of the claim, notwithstanding audit by a board of supervisors may be attacked in a taxpayer's action if it appears that the board exceeded its jurisdiction. Smith v. Hedges, 169 App. Div. 115, 154 N. Y. Supp. 867. In this case it was held that the fact that some part of the claim was within the jurisdiction of the board did not make conclusive the audit of another part of the claim which was without the jurisdiction of the board. But where the charges audited and allowed are in their legal nature proper charges, then the audit and allowance is conclusive as to the performance and extent of the work on which the charges are based. This case was reversed on appeal by the Court of Appeals, 223 N. Y. 176, on the ground that the audit was illegal.

The reasonableness of the amount of a bill for costs and expenses in a proceeding before the governor for the removal of a sheriff is a question purely for the board of supervisors to determine when they make their audit. Gavin v. Supervisors of Rensselaer (1916), 93 Misc. 264, 157 N. Y. Supp. 973.

Reconsideration of audited claims.— Where a claim has been considered, audited and allowed by a board of supervisors, but not actually paid, said board may reconsider its action and reaudit the account. The fact that the claim as audited was assigned prior to the reconsideration thereof by the board of supervisors does not change the situation, as the assignee acquired no greater right than the assignor had and must be presumed to have known that the board had power to reconsider its action and reaudit the claim. Matter of Equitable Trust Co. v. Hamilton (1917), 177 App. Div. 390.

Audit of rejected accounts. An account rejected by a board upon its merits cannot be audited by a subsequent board. Osterhoudt v. Rigney, 98 N. Y. 222; Board of Supervisors v. Ellis, 59 N. Y. 620. If a claim is disallowed for any reason not affecting the merits thereof, it may be audited by a subsequent board. People ex rel. Mason v. Board of Supervisors, 45 Hun 62. The board may properly reject a claim which has been audited and rejected by the board of a previous year. People ex rel. Andrus v. Supervisors, 106 App. Div. 381, 94 N. Y. Supp. 1012.

After alleged erroneous audit by board of supervisors, an action will not lie for the recovery of a larger sum. Martin v. Supervisors, 29 N. Y. 645. See also Chase v. County of Saratoga, 33 Barb. 603, 3 How. Pr. (N. S.) 241.

Review by certiorari. Where a claim presented to the board is of such a character that the board is vested with authority to exercise its judgment in respect thereto, and requires a determination based upon conflicting testimony and inferences arising therefrom, whatever right of review exists must be by certiorari, and mandamus is improper. Matter of Lanehart, 32 App. Div. 4; 52 N. Y. Supp. 671. In the case of People ex rel. Myers v. Barnes, 114 N. Y. 317; 20 N. E. 609, it was held that not only does an auditing board possess discretionary and judicial power, but its jurisdiction over claims which are properly submitted to it is original, and its decision thereon is conclusive until modified or reversed by another court in the manner prescribed by law, that is, in proceedings by certiorari. See, also, People ex rel. Hamilton v. Supervisors of Jefferson Co., 35 App. Div. 239; 54 N. Y. Supp. 782.

Where services have been rendered by a physician in making post-mortem examinations, the compensation for which is a county charge, and the claim has been presented to and audited by the board of supervisors, the audit is final; and while the amount of the audit may not be the value of the services, and may present a case for review by certiorari, no cause of action therefor arises against the county. Foy v. County of Westchester, 168 N. Y. 180; 61 N. E. 174, affg. 60 App. Div. 412; 69 N. Y. Supp. 887.

Certiorari will lie to review an erroneous determination of the board of supervisors as to a claim declared by the legislature to be just; after such review, if board still refuse to allow the claim, further remedy by mandamus will be given. People v. Supervisors, 51 N. Y. 442.

Mandamus to compel audit. If audit is refused or amount is arbitrarily reduced, remedy is by mandamus. Matter of Lanehart, 32 App. Div. 4, 52 N. Y. Supp. 671; but if claim requires exercise of discretion and a determination based upon conflicting evidence, remedy is by certiorari. Id. And see also People ex rel. Hamilton v. Supervisors of Jefferson, 35 App. Div. 239, 54 N. Y. Supp. 782; People ex rel. Plumb v. Supervisors of Cortland, 24 How. Pr. 119; People ex rel. Martin v. Earl, 47 How. Pr. 458; People ex rel. McAleer v. French, 119 N. Y. 502; Vedder v. Superintendent, 5 Den. 564; Albrecht v. County of Queens, 84 Hun 399, 32 N. Y. Supp. 473; New York Catholic Protectory v. Rockland County, 159 App. Div. 455.

Where a board have once considered a claim and audited and allowed it at a certain sum, the claim being one where they have the right to exercise a discretion in determining the amount, a mandamus cannot issue to compel them to audit the claim anew and allow it at a greater amount. People ex rel. Johnson v. Supervisors of Delaware Co., 45 N. Y. 196.

The action of a board of supervisors in rejecting or alleging a claim presented to it is judicial, and to some extent discretionary; it cannot be reversed for any cause by a subsequent board; it is conclusive as to the proper form and details of the claim presented; and although a peremptory mandamus may issue, compelling the board to act, it cannot direct it how to decide. People ex rel. Brown v. Supervisors of Herkimer, 3 How. Pr., N. S., 241.

The board of supervisors being vested with jurisdiction to audit all claims legally chargeable to the county, the law imposes upon them the duty of acting on all such claims legally presented to them; and if they refuse to act upon a valid claim, they may be compelled to act by mandamus. People ex rel. Johnson v. Supervisors of Delaware Co., 45 N. Y. 196; People ex rel. Hall v. Supervisors of New York, 32 N. Y. 473. A claim presented to a board of supervisors, who permitted their session to expire without taking any action upon it, is to be regarded as rejected, for the purpose of mandamus to compel the board to act thereon. People ex rel. Aspinwall v. Supervisors of Richmond Co., 20 N. Y. 252. Where the supervisors of a county have neglected to perform any duty required of them at their annual meeting they may be compelled by mandamus to meet again and perform it. They cannot by their neglect nullify a statute imposing duties upon them. People ex rel. Scott v. Supervisors of Chenango Co., 8 N. Y. 317. The rejection of a claim by a board of supervisors on the ground that the county is not liable therefor, may be reviewed by mandamus as well as by writ of certiorari. People ex rel. Smart v. Supervisors, 66 App. Div. 66, 72 N. Y. Supp. 568.

Where a question of fact is to be determined by the board of supervisors, the board has the right to decide, and mandamus will not lie; but where no such question exists and the amount of the claim is undisputed, so that on the facts a clear, unquestionable duty exists that the board pay the claim, then the board may be compelled by mandamus to perform its duty. People ex rel. Morrison v.

Where the supervisors refuse to allow a legal charge, the court may instruct and guide them in the execution of their duty by mandamus and compel them to admit the claim as a county charge without controlling the exercise of their judgment and discretion as to the amount to be allowed. Hull v. Supervisors of Oneida, 19 Johns. 259. See also People ex rel. Bliss v. Supervisors of Cortland, 39 N. Y. St. Rep. 313, 15 N. Y. Supp. 748; People v. Supervisors of Otsego Co., 51 N. Y. 401.

If a board of supervisors refuses to act upon or allow or disallow a claim, the remedy of the claimant is by writ of mandamus. If a valid claim against a county is not allowed at a proper amount, the remedy of the claimant is by writ of certiorari to review the audit. Matter of Equitable Trust Co. v. Hamilton (1917), 177 App. Div. 390.

When the board refuses to examine the accounts, for some cause other than errors or want of proof as to the items, it may be compelled to proceed with the examination and audit. People v. Supervisors of N. Y., 21 How. Pr. 322.

To entitle creditor to mandamus to compel board of supervisors to assess against a town a judgment recovered against its highway commissioners, it must be established that the judgment is one the town is precluded from disputing. People ex rel. Everett v. Supervisors, 93 N. Y. 397, affg. 26 Hun 185.

If the board has acted on the subject matter and exercised its discretion by allowing but part of an account, though it be less than that certified by a justice of the supreme court, mandamus will not lie. People ex rel. Ayres v. Supervisors, 14 Barb. 52.

Where the board has passed upon the whole claim on its merits and has exercised its judgment in good faith, mandamus will not lie to compel board to allow a greater amount; where the board has not acted upon each item of the claim and arrived at its decision in a systematic way it may be required to do so by mandamus. People ex rel. O'Mara v. Supervisors, 40 N. Y. St. Rep. 238, 16 N. Y. Supp. 254.

2. For form of accounts against county, see Form No. 4, post.

The form and verification of accounts against towns and counties is also prescribed by sec. 175 of the Town Law, post.

3. Presentation of accounts in other counties. In Albany County the presentation and audit of accounts against the county by the board of supervisors would seem to be controlled by L. 1881, ch. 283.

In Rensselaer county it is provided by L. 1901, ch. 124, as amended by L. 1904, ch. 217, that the board of supervisors shall meet annually between general election day and the fifteenth day of December following for the purpose of examining and auditing accounts against the county, and transacting other business. This act also provides for the presentation of claims and regulates their audit by the board.

Sufficiency of presentation. The board of supervisors may insist upon a compliance with the provisions of the above section. It is not the duty of the board to audit accounts not made out in items and verified as required by the statute. People v. Supervisors of Monroe County, 18 Barb. 567. And the refusal of the board to audit a claim which was not presented in the form prescribed by statute will not be reviewed by the court. People ex rel. Johnson v. Supervisors of Delaware County, 9 Abb. Pr. N. S. 416. And in this case it was also held that neither the report of a committee of the supervisors, setting forth the itemized claim nor a similar report made by the claimant as a public officer, can be regarded as a presentation of the claim for the purpose of audit.

If an account is not properly verified it should be returned to the claimant with notice, so that he may appear and correct it. People ex rel. Sherman v. Supervisors of St. Lawrence County, 30 How. Pr. 173. An affidavit stating that the services claimed for were performed (but not stating that they were rendered for the county), and that no part of the claim had been paid by the board upwards in the order of presentation, and a memorandum of the time of presentation and the name of the claimant, and if assigned, the name of each assignor or assignee shall be entered in the proceedings of the board. No such account, after being so presented, shall be withdrawn without the unanimous consent of the board except to be used as evidence in an action or proceeding, and after being so used it shall be forthwith returned.[4] [County Law, § 24; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 726.]

§ 3. BOARD MAY MAKE ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS AS TO ACCOUNTS.

Boards of supervisors may make such additional regulations and requirements, not in conflict with law, concerning the keeping and rendering of official accounts and reports of its county and town officers, and the presentation and auditing of bills presented to their board or to the town boards of their county, as they may deem necessary for the efficiency of the service and the protection of the interests of the public. [County Law, § 25; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 727.]

or any one on their behalf, is not a sufficient verification. People ex rel. Cagger v. Supervisors of Schuyler County, 2 Abb. Pr. N. S. 78. All claims against the county must be itemized before they can be audited, and a charge for "traveling expenses," and "incidentals," is not sufficiently specific to comply with the requirements of the statute. Matter of Pinney, 17 Misc. 24; 40 N. Y. Supp. 716. And where a claim is presented to the board of supervisors for expenses and disbursements by the board of health of a city, but the accounts presented are in gross sums, being the total amounts paid to various persons, without any items whatever, it was held that the accounts are not sufficiently itemized to entitle them to be audited by the board. People ex rel. Board of Health v. Supervisors of Monroe County, 18 Barb. 567.

The fact that the claimant has presented informal bills to the board for audit is not a reason for absolutely rejecting the claim and thus deprive him of that which may be honestly and fairly due him. In a disposition to be just the right to amend will readily be suggested. By permitting an amendment the claimant could present his claim in the form and manner prescribed by the statute, and then the board of supervisors could examine and pass upon the various items embraced therein, doing justice to all parties. People ex rel. Mason v. Board of Supervisors of Wayne County, 45 Hun, 62.

Account must state that the services were necessarily rendered. People ex rel. Toohey v. Webb, 50 St. Rep. 46, 21 N. Y. Supp. 298. As to criminal offense of fraudulent presentation of claim, see People v. Bragie, 88 N. Y. 585, affg. 10 Abb. N. C. 300.

4. The clerk of the board of supervisors is required to designate upon each account audited the amount allowed, and the items or amount disallowed, and to deliver to any person on demand a certified copy of any account on file in his office. County Law, § 50, sub. 5, post, p. 96.

The withdrawal of an account is not necessary for the purpose of correcting informalities and defects contained therein. Notwithstanding the above provision of the statute a claimant should be given leave to amend such an account. People ex rel. Mason v. Board of Supervisors, 45 Hun, 62.

Penal Law, §§ 1863, 1864.

Unlawfully auditing and paying claims. A public officer, or person holding or discharging the duties of any office or place of trust under the state, or in any county, town, city or village, a part of whose duties it is to audit, allow or pay, or take part in auditing, allowing or paying claims or demands upon the state, or such county, town, city or village who knowingly audits, allows or pays, directly or indirectly consents to, or in any way connives at the auditing, allowance or payment of any claim or demand against the state or such county, town, city or village, which is false or fraudulent, or contains charges, items or claims, which are false or fraudulent, is guilty of felony, punishable by imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years, or by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or by both.[5] [Penal Law, § 1863; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4050.]

A person who, being or acting as a public officer or otherwise, by wilfully auditing or paying, or consenting to, or conniving at the auditing or payment of a false or fraudulent claim or demand, or by any other means, wrongfully obtains, receives, converts, disposes of or pays out or aids, or abets another in obtaining, receiving, converting, disposing of, or paying out any money or property held, owned or in the possession of the state, or of any city, county or village, or other public corporation, or any board, department, agency, trustee, agent or officer thereof, is guilty of a felony, punishable by imprisonment for not less than three nor more than five years, or by a fine not exceeding five times the amount or value of the money or the property converted paid out, lost or disposed of by means of the act done or abetted by such person, or by both such imprisonment and fine. The amount of any such fine when paid or collected, shall be paid to the treasury of the corporation or body injured. A conviction under this section forfeits any office held by the offender, and renders him incapable thereafter of holding any office or place of trust.

5. Fraud cannot be based upon an excessive charge. People v. King, 19 Misc., 98, 100, 43 N. Y. Supp. 975.

Indictment charging official with presenting a fraudulent claim to an auditing board for allowance and also with corruptly auditing a claim is void for duplicity. People v. Stock, 21 Misc. 147, 47 N. Y. Supp. 94. But an indictment of one count describing both crimes is not invalid. People v. Klipfel, 160 N. Y. 371, affg. 37 App. Div. 224, 55 N. Y. Supp. 789. Indictment of a deputy commissioner of city works for certifying fraudulent bills. People v. Fielding, 36 App. Div. 401, 55 N. Y. Supp. 530, revd. 158 N. Y. 542. As to sufficiency of indictment, see People v. Coombs, 158 N. Y. 532, affg. 36 App. Div. 284, 55 N. Y. Supp. 276; People v. Miles, 123 App. Div. 862, 108 N. Y. Supp. 510.

pository, or of any credit, claim or demand upon such depositary, whereby the right, title or possession of the owner or holder of such deposit, or of any custodian thereof, is impaired or affected, is a conversion thereof under this section [Penal Law, § 1864; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4050.]

Fraudulently presenting bills or claims top ublic officers for payment. A person who, knowingly, with intent to defraud, presents, for audit, or allowance, or for payment, to any officer or board of officers of the state, or of any county, town, city or village, authorized to audit or allow, or to pay bills, claims or charges, any false or fraudulent claim, bill account, writing or voucher, or any bill, account or demand, containing false or fraudulent charges, items or claims, is guilty of a felony. [Penal Law § 1872; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4053.]

§ 5. COUNTY CHARGES.

The following are county charges:

1. Charges incurred against the county by the provisions of this chapter;[6]

2. All expenses necessarily incurred by the district attorney in criminal actions or proceedings arising in his county;[7]

6. The chapter here referred to is the County Law, and the intent of the above subdivision is to make all charges incurred pursuant to the provisions of the County Law county charges.

County charges generally. To determine what are county charges reference must be made in each case to the statute authorizing the incurring of the charge. The county cannot be made liable for any claim unless the act upon which the claim was based was authorized by express provision of statute. As was held in the case of People ex rel. Hadley v. Supervisors of Albany County, 28 How. Pr. 22, to charge a county with a claim for services or expenses incurred, there must be some statutory authority authorizing them to be rendered or incurred, or directing their payment. Without this the board of supervisors cannot be compelled by mandamus to audit the claim.

As to audit of claims against the county, see County Law, § 12, subd. 2, ante.

7. What are "necessary expenses" must inevitably depend upon circumstances, and it is a flexible term. The district attorney is invested with much latitude and discretion in determining what expenses are necessary. In the performance of the responsibility with which he is charged in the prosecutions of crimes within his county, he is required to exercise his judgment as to the wisdom of employing experts and as to other expenses to be incurred in any given case. The expense of employing a civil engineer, to make an expert investigation as to whether a contractor building State and county roads was properly performing his contract, is a proper charge against the county. People ex rel. Koetteritz v. Board of Supervisors (1911), 148 App. Div. 392.

The district attorney may employ private detectives to aid him in his duties without authority of the board of supervisors, and the expense thereof is a proper charge against the county. People ex rel. Watts v. Niagara County, 170 App. Div. 334, 156 N. Y. Supp. 148.

Expenses in criminal actions. The duty of prosecution for criminal offenses committed in a county devolves upon its district attorney, and as incidental thereto, he has the power to do that which is essential to such prosecution. All expenses necessarily incurred by such officer in the performance of such duty, or the exercise of the power, are a county charge. The duty embraces whatever is essential to bring a criminal to trial as well as the proceedings on trial: and so, if he is in a foreign jurisdiction, it includes efforts to effect his arrest and custody for the purpose of extradition, in order that he may be brought within the jurisdiction of the court. People ex rel. Gardinier v. Supervisors of Columbia County, 134 N. Y. 1; 31 N. C. 322; see, also, Matter of Pinney, 17 Misc. 24; 40 N. Y. Supp. 716.

3. The compensation of the county officers, their subordinates and assistants, which are payable by the county; [8]

Accounts of district attorney for expenses. A district attorney, who incurs expenses in connection with criminal actions or proceedings arising in his county, should, when presenting his bill to the board of supervisors, specifically state therein the nature of such expenses so that the board may determine whether they were expenses necessarily incurred by him within the meaning of the above subdivision. A board of supervisors may properly refuse to allow a bill containing items for "expenses" to and at different places within the county on certain dates, where none of the items states the nature of the expenses and only a portion of them specify the matter in connection with which the expenses were incurred. Matter of White, 51 App. Div. 175; 64 N. Y. Supp. 726.

Expense of prosecution for illicit traffic in intoxicating liquors by the district attorney, under the metropolitan police act, is a county charge. People v. Supervisors of New York, 32 N. Y. 473. But see People ex rel. Kelly v. Haws, 21 How. Pr. 117. Expense of prosecutions under the Liquor Tax Law. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1902) 342.

Expert witnesses. The above subdivision has been held to embrace within its terms the expenses necessarily incurred by a district attorney in procuring the attendance of medical experts at the trial of an indictment for murder. People ex rel. Tripp v. Supervisors, 22 Misc. 616, 50 N. Y. Supp. 16. Although a charge for the employment of an expert in making tests and giving evidence upon the trial of an indictment for murder is authorized, without the consent of the board of supervisors first obtained, a claim for services so rendered is subject to the adjudication of such board, and that body is not concluded by a contract entered into between the district attorney and the expert, by which the compensation of the latter is fixed. People ex rel. Hamilton v. Supervisors, of Jefferson County, 35 App. Div. 239, 54 N. Y. Supp. 782. See, also, People ex rel. Sherman v. Supervisors of St. Lawrence County, 31 How. Pr. 173; People ex rel. Bliss v. Supervisors, 39 St. Rep. 313, 15 N. Y. Supp. 748. The district attorney may and if necessary should employ expert testimony in behalf of the people before a commissioner appointed by the governor to conduct a hearing on an application for executive clemency, and the expense of same is a county charge. Tompkins v. Mayor, 41 App. Div. 536, 43 N. Y. Supp. 878. It is the duty of the district attorney to procure the services of expert witnesses where necessary, and the amount paid them will not affect the regularity of the trial. People v. Montgomery, 13 Abb. (N. S.) 207.

A district attorney has power under this section to obligate his county to pay a reasonable sum for the services of an expert witness in a criminal trial. Although the witness' bill is subject to review and audit by the board of supervisors and although the board is not bound by any specific sum which the district attorney had agreed to pay, it must audit a reasonable sum. People ex rel. Manley v. Board of Supervisors (1911), 148 App. Div. 584, 132 N. Y. Supp. 868.

The costs of a commission in lunacy, pursuant to the provisions of the chapter of the Code of Criminal Procedure, relating to an inquiry into the insanity of the defendant, before or during trial or after conviction, are a charge upon the county in which the commission shall have been executed. The commissioners are entitled to such compensation for their services as the court may direct. Code Crim. Proc., § 662a, as added by L. 1903, ch. 129.

8. Compensation of county officers. Unless otherwise provided by statute the compensation of county treasurers, district attorneys and superintendents of the poor is fixed by the board of supervisors, and the board also fixes the number, grade and pay of the clerks, assistants and employees in such offices. See County Law, § 12, sub. 5, post, p. 54.

Board of supervisors cannot provide compensation for a clerk in a county office. People v. Gallup, 30 Hun, 501, affd. in 96 N. Y. 628. Salary of stenographer in surrogate's office in New York a county charge. Munson v. Mayor, etc., of New York, 57 How. Pr. 497.

4. The compensation of the criers of the courts of record within the county for attendance thereat, and also traveling fees, at the rate of five cents per mile, for going to and returning from the place of attendance.[9] [Thus amended by L. 1910, ch. 34.]

5. The compensation of the sheriff for the commitment and discharge of his prisoners on criminal process within the county, and for summoning constables to attend court;[10]

Supervisors may employ person to take charge of county offices, and the expense incurred thereby is a legal county charge. Conway v. Mayor, etc., of New York, 6 Daly, 515. Salaries of police justices of city of New York are county charges and payable by county as contingencies. People v. Edmonds, 19 Barb. 468.

Where no provision has been made for payment of a person entitled to monthly payments for services rendered the county, discounts by a bank on his bills issued to raise the money cannot be made a county charge. People ex rel. Johnston v. Supervisors, 43 Hun, 385.

9. Court Criers. The crier appointed by the county judge of each county, except Kings and Erie, to be crier for the courts of record held in his county is entitled to a compensation to be fixed by the board of supervisors and to be paid as prescribed by law, except in the county of Westchester where the compensation of such crier shall be fixed by the county judge, not to exceed the sum of one thousand two hundred dollars a year to be paid in equal monthly payments by the treasurer of Westchester county in full compensation for all services rendered by him, and except in the county of Queens where the compensation of such crier shall be the sum of one thousand eight hundred dollars a year, to be paid in equal monthly payments and to be a county charge. Judiciary Law, § 365, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 34, and L. 1911, ch. 566.

The salary of the criers appointed for Erie county by the justices of the supreme court residing in Erie county together with the county judge, of Erie county, in pursuance of section one hundred and sixty-nine of this chapter, shall be fixed by the justices of the supreme court residing in Erie county, or a majority of them; and when so fixed shall be paid in equal monthly payments by the treasurer of Erie County in full compensation for all services rendered by said criers. (Judiciary Law, § 366, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 15.

Except as provided in the preceding sections of the Judiciary Law, the compensation of court criers is fixed by the above subdivision.

10. Compensation of sheriff. In all counties except those where by statute the office of sheriff is made salaried, the fees which the sheriff is authorized to charge for his services belong to him. For list of statutes making office of sheriff salaried, see post, p. 155. For list of fees chargeable by sheriff for services performed by him, see ch. 71, post.

The accounts of the sheriff for receiving prisoners into and discharging them from jail, and for their board while confined therein, are properly county charges. The liability of the county extends not only to such official services in cases strictly criminal, but includes also quasi criminal offenses, such as violations of city ordinances, the only distinction being that in the latter case instead of the statutory fee, the board of supervisors have power to fix the compensation. People ex rel. Van Tassel v. Supervisors of Columbia County, 67 N. Y. 330; Ross v. Supervisors of Cayuga County, 38 Hun, 20.

6. Compensation allowed by law to constables for attending courts of record, and the compensation allowed by law to constables and other officers, for executing process on persons charged with a felony; for services and expenses in conveying such persons to jail; and for the service of subpœnas issued by the district attorney and for other services in relation to criminal proceedings and support of prisoners in transit, for which no specific compensation is prescribed by law, and which are not a town charge, as prescribed by article eight of the town law; but no charge for issuing or serving any subpœna in any criminal action or proceedings issued or served on behalf of a defendant shall be allowed, unless otherwise ordered by the court in which the action or proceeding was pending;[11]

Where prisoners are confined in a county jail, under authority of a village charter providing that persons arrested in the village by the local police may be detained therein until a police justice be found, not exceeding twenty-four hours, the expense of their support in the jail is a county charge which should be allowed the sheriff at a reasonable rate. People ex rel. Gray v. Board of Supervisors, 89 App. Div. 152, 85 N. Y. Supp. 284.

In the absence of a statute, the expense for stationery furnished to a sheriff is not a county charge. People ex rel. Brown v. Greene, 46 How. Pr. 302; 2 T. & C. 23.

Expenses of sheriffs in transporting convicts to State prison in compliance with the orders of the court, should be audited by the board of supervisors. Rept. of Atty.-Genl., Dec. 16, 1910.

11. Compensation of constables for attending courts. Section 3312 of the Code of Civil Procedure, provides as follows: "A constable or a deputy sheriff is entitled, for attending a sitting of a court of record, pursuant to a notice from the sheriff, to a fee for each day's actual attendance, in any county in the state, to be fixed by the board of supervisors thereof, and mileage as allowed by law to trial jurors in courts of record. Such fees must be paid by the county treasurer, upon the production of the certificate of the clerk, stating the number of days that the constable or deputy sheriff attended. If a constable or deputy sheriff attending a sitting of a court of record pursuant to a notice from the sheriff is unable to reach his home upon the day he is excused from attendance, he shall be entitled to compensation for an additional day, and the clerk shall certify accordingly upon satisfactory proof of such fact by affidavit. But the provisions of this section shall not be applicable to the counties of Kings, New York and Erie. All other acts or sections of acts conflicting herewith are hereby repealed."

For fees of constables for services rendered in criminal proceedings as prescribed by Code Crim. Pro., § 740b, see post, ch. 71.

When a town charge. The fees of a constable in criminal proceedings or actions tried before a magistrate of the town where the offence is charged to have been committed are a charge against such town. See Town Law, sec. 171, post.

Conveyance of prisoners. The provisions of the above subdivision relating to the compensation of constables for services and expenses in conveying criminals to jail and for other services in relation to criminal proceedings should be construed in connection with section 171 of the Town Law, post. In the case of People ex rel. McGrath v. Supervisors of Weschester County, 53 Hun 157; 6 N. Y. Supp. 153, it was held that the account of a constable for fees and expenses in conveying to the penitentiary prisoners convicted and sentenced in a court of special sessions in his town was a town and not a county charge, so that a refusal of the board of supervisors of the county to audit it as a county charge was proper. But see People ex rel. Bancroft v. Supervisors of Orange County, 18 Hun 90. Fees of constable for killing dogs a county charge. Matter of Town of Hempstead, 36 App. Div. 321, 335, 55 N. Y. Supp. 345. The fees of sheriffs and other officers for the transportation of convicts to state prisons and houses of refuge are fixed by statute and are to be paid by the state. Prison Law, §§ 12, 322.

8. The sums required by law to be paid to witnesses in criminal actions and proceedings;[13]

Compensation for conveying juvenile delinquents. It is provided by the County Law, § 12, subd. 20, that: "The board of supervisors shall annually fix and determine the compensation to be allowed and paid to officers for the conveyance of juvenile delinquents to the houses of refuge and state industrial schools, and no other or greater amount than that so fixed and determined shall be allowed and paid for such service."

12. Contracts with sheriffs. The board of supervisors is authorized by sec. 12, sub. 15, post, p. 59, to contract with the sheriff of the county for the board, maintenance and care and custody of prisoners committed to the county jail of his county. Prior to the insertion of this subdivision in section 12 it was held that the board of supervisors had no power to make a contract to pay to the sheriff a fixed weekly rate for the board of each prisoner, determined without regard to the expense incurred. People ex rel. Caldwell v. Supervisors of Saratoga County, 45 App. Div. 42; 60 N. Y. Supp. 1122. It would seem under the ruling in this case that where a contract had not been made with the sheriff for the board of the prisoner, that the sheriff would only be entitled to reimbursement for the moneys actually expended by him in boarding the prisoners. A civil prisoner confined in jail under an execution or for a contempt is to be supported at the expense of the county if he makes oath before the sheriff, jailer or deputy jailer that he is unable to support himself during his imprisonment. See Code Civ. Proc., sec. 111, and County Law § 240, subd. 19, post, p. 47. People ex rel. Tracey v. Green, 47 How. Pr. 382.

13. Fees of witnesses in criminal actions. The following sections of the Code of Criminal Procedure relate to fees of witnesses in criminal actions:

§ 616. A witness in behalf of the people in a criminal action in a court of record is entitled to the same fees and mileage as a witness in a civil action in the same court, payable by the treasurer of the county upon the certificate of the clerk of the court, stating the number of days the witness actually attended and the number of miles traveled by him in order to attend. Such certificate shall only be issued by the clerk upon the production of the affidavit of the witness, stating that he attended as such either on subpœna or request of the district attorney, the number of miles necessarily traveled and the duration of attendance. An officer in any state department who attends as a witness under this section in his official capacity, or in consequence of an official action taken by him, and who receives a fixed sum in lieu of expenses, or who is entitled to receive the actual expenses incurred by him in the discharge of his official duties, is not entitled to the compensation herein provided.

§ 617. In any such action, the court may also, in its discretion, by order, direct the county treasurer to pay a reasonable sum, to be specified in the order, to any witness attending in behalf of the defendant, not exceeding the amount payable to a witness in a civil action in the same court. Upon the production of the order or a certified copy thereof, the county treasurer must pay the witness the sum specified therein, out of the county treasury.

14. Moneys necessarily expended by county officers. By this subdivision the necessary expenditures of a county officer in the discharge of his official duties, not otherwise specifically provided for, are made a legitimate county charge. In the case of People ex rel. Hall v. Supervisors of New York, 32 N. Y. 473, 475, the court said: "The import of the words 'necessarily expended' is sufficiently evident, when we consider the purpose for which they were inserted, and the nature of the subject to which they are applied. They relate not to the necessity of payment as between the officer and the party to whom it is made, —which would be satisfied, perhaps, by nothing short of the power of legal compulsion,—but to the necessity of the expenditures having reference to what is due to the public and the law, in the efficient and faithful discharge of official duty. . . . Expenditures are to be deemed necessary within the plain intent of the statute, when, as in the present case, they are not only needful and proper —as contra distinguished from such as are needless and improvident—but also reasonable, appropriate and customary in the discharge of the particular official duty." The expenditures which are made by the statute a charge against the county are not limited to those of which payment can be recovered by civil action against the officer. This proposition is the result of the reasoning of the court in the above case.

But the expenditures of the officer must have been made by the officer in the performance of duties which are for the benefit of the county alone. People ex rel. Kelley v. Hawes, 12 Abb. Pr. 192; 21 How. Pr. 117.

The expense incurred by a superintendent of the poor in the employment of counsel to conduct proceedings in bastardy, the direct object of which is to indemnify the county and protect it from loss, may be allowed to the superintendent as an expense necessarily incurred by him in the performance of his duties. Neary v. Robinson, 98 N. Y. 81, 85. See also People v. Supervisors of Delaware Co., 45 N. Y. 196.

The County Law does not make the personal expenses of a superintendent of the poor a county charge and they are not a proper charge unless the board of supervisors has expressly so provided in fixing the compensation of the superintendent. Strong v. Williams (1915), 167 App. Div. 714, 153 N. Y. Supp. 175.

Section 3 of L. 1898, ch. 588, establishing the county of Nassau, which provides that the sheriff of the county shall receive an annual salary of not more than $2,500, and that all fees for his services shall be paid into the county treasury, does not prevent the sheriff from receiving, under the above subdivision, traveling expenses necessarily incurred in the execution of process delivered to him. People ex rel. Wood v. Denton, 41 App. Div. 386; 58 N. Y. Supp. 722. And an expenditure by the county clerk of Kings county in arranging papers which were scattered and mixed by reason of the fall of a large number of cases in his office, without fault on his part, was held to be a proper county charge. Worth v. City of Brooklyn, 34 App. Div. 223; 54 N. Y. Supp. 484.

Services. In the discharge by a county officer of the duties of his office, it is evident that he will often be compelled to expend moneys for the performance of services which he is not required by law to personally perform. The above subdivision refers to disbursements necessarily expended for such services, and not money paid for work which it is his duty to himself perform. Matter of Walsh v. Supervisors of Albany Co., 20 App. Div. 489; 47 N. Y. Supp.

of the calendar for a term of the supreme court held within the county, or of the county court, and including in any county where the duties of county judge and surrogate are performed by the same officer, except in the county of Herkimer, the actual and necessary expenses of such officer and his clerk, incurred in holding court, by authority of the board of supervisors, at a place or places other than the county seat or place of residence of such office or clerk.

12. The sums required to pay the bounties authorized by resolution of the board of supervisors for the destruction of wild animals and noxious weeds, unless the supervisors, by resolution, direct that any such bounties shall be town charges.

35. In this case it was held that section 3280 of the Code of Civil Procedure providing that: "Each clerk of the court must perform all duties required of him, in the course and practice of the court, without fee or reward except as expressly prescribed by law," was not repealed by the subsequent enactment of the above subdivision, and that therefore a county clerk is not entitled to have allowed to him by the board of supervisors as a county charge moneys which he paid to his assistants for assorting and arranging jury slips.

Re-indexing county records.— Unless authorized by special statute, boards of supervisors have no power to make a contract to pay a county clerk for re-indexing deeds and mortgages recorded in the office of such clerk. Wadsworth v. Supervisors of Livingston County, 217 N. Y. 484, 112 N. E. 16.

15. Fees of coroners, generally. As to recovery of value of services from county, see People ex rel. Cosford v. Supervisors of Niagara Co., 15 N. Y. Supp. 680; 38 N. Y. St. Rep. 964. But coroners cannot employ an expert to make a chemical analysis of the remains of a deceased person, or of other substances in connection with the cause of his death. Doremus v. Mayor, etc., 6 Daly, 121. The expense incurred by the district attorney for such a purpose would be a proper county charge. See sub. 2 of the above section, ante p. 37. A board of supervisors cannot audit an account unless he presents a statement of property and money found on the body of a deceased person, as provided by Code Crim. Proc., sec. 788, post, p. 203.

16. Election expenses. The expense of printing and delivering official ballots, sample ballots and cards of instructions, poll books, tally sheets, return sheets for inspectors and ballot clerks, and distance markers, at an election where no town meeting or village election is held at the same time is a charge upon the county. If a town meeting or village election is held at the same time as a general election the expense is to be apportioned by the county clerk upon the county, town and village. See Election Law, § 318, as amended by L. 1918, ch. 323; § 319, as amended by L. 1915, ch. 678, and L. 1918, ch. 323; Jewett's Election Manual, 1918.

Cost of printing election ballots.—A claim presented by the county clerk for the printing of election ballots should be audited by the board of supervisors; but said board cannot be compelled by certiorari to audit such a bill at the same amount as they allowed on a prior audit. People ex rel. Newburg News P. & P. Co. v. Board of Supervisors, 140 App. Div. 227, 125 N. Y. Supp. 105.

peace in the examination of felons, and in other criminal proceedings as mentioned in section one hundred and seventy-one of the town law, when not otherwise provided for;[18]

15. The expenses necessarily incurred, and sums authorized by law, or by the board of supervisors, pursuant to law, to be raised for any county purpose;[19]

18. As to fees of justices in criminal actions and proceedings, see Town Law, sec. 171, post, and notes thereunder.

19. Expenses for any county purpose. This subdivision seems to authorize generally the charge against the county of any expense necessarily incurred by the board of supervisors in protecting the interests of the county. But no such charge will exist unless the act, in connection with which the expense was incurred, was authorized and done pursuant to statute. People ex rel. Hadley v. Supervisors of Albany Co., 28 How. Pr. 22. See also People v. Supervisors of Nisgara, 78 N. Y. 622.

Authorized by law. The legislature has power to fix a maximum amount to be paid for a county improvement as it has to fix an exact amount. People ex rel. McSpedon v. Haws, 21 How. Pr. 178. No court can audit a claim against a county, or order it paid, unless authorized by statute. Matter of Tinsley, 90 N. Y. 231.

Boards of supervisors cannot bind their counties by an act not within the limits of the express powers conferred upon them by statute; they cannot allow a claim on any notions of their own as to its equity. Chemung Canal Bank v. Supervisors of Chemung, 5 Den. 517.

Audit by the board of supervisors of a claim does not have the legal effect of making it a county charge; what are county charges are fixed by law, and when the board determines the amount thereof, their fiat is conclusive inasmuch as they act judicially. People ex rel. Tracy v. Green, 47 How. Pr. 382.

Expenditures for a survey of railroads and corporate property are not a county charge. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1902) 278.

Highway expenses. The common-law rule that the care and repairs of roads is a charge against the county does not obtain in this state. Unless authorized by statute highway expenses are not chargeable against the county. People ex. rel. Slosson v. Board of Supervisors, 116 App. Div. 844, 102 N. Y. Supp. 402.

Contingent expenses. Services rendered by an officer specially for the benefit of the county, if there is no specific provision of law for payment, constitute a part of the contingent charges of the county, to be audited by the board. Bright v. Supervisors of Chenango Co., 18 Johns 242; Doubleday v. Supervisors of Broome Co., 2 Cow. 533; Brady v. Supervisors of New York Co., 2 Sandf. (Super. Ct.) 460; affd., 10 N. Y. 260. But it would be otherwise where it appears to have been the intention of the legislature that no compensation should be made. Mallory v. Supervisors of Cortland Co, 2 Cow. 531.

Buildings and other county property. The expense of equipping and furnishing a county jail is a county charge. Schenck v. Mayor, etc., of New York, 67 N. Y. 44. The necessary expenses incurred in keeping in repair and in a condition for use, the court rooms which the county is required to provide, or any other property of the county, are county charges. People ex rel. McSpedon v. Stout, 23 Barb. 349; 13 How. Pr. 314.

Court rooms and furniture. It is provided by section 42 of the County Law, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 394, and L. 1915, ch. 443, that: "Except where other provision is made therefor by law, the board of supervisors of each county must provide each court of record, appointed to be held therein, with proper and convenient rooms and furniture, together with attendants, fuel, lights, telephone, postage and stationery suitable and sufficient for the transaction of its business. If the supervisors shall neglect so to do, the court may order the sheriff to make the requisite provision; and the expense incurred by him in carrying the order into effect, when certified by the court, is a county charge."

In the case of people ex rel. Westbrook v. Supervisors of Montgomery County, 34 Hun, 599, it appeared that the board of supervisors of Montgomery county had provided a proper and convenient room for the use of the surrogate in the county court house at Fonda, and refused to provide one at Amsterdam when requested so to do by the surrogate. Thereupon the surrogate made an order for his office at Amsterdam, and directed the sheriff to furnish a suitable office and furniture therefor at that place. Upon an application to compel the board of supervisors to pay the rent and expenses thereby incurred, it was held that as the board had provided a proper office and furniture, it could not be compelled to pay for any other.

Court expenses. As there are contingent expenses necessarily incurred in the holding of courts, for which there is no express statutory provision, and as the board of supervisors must provide a fund to be placed in the hands of its county treasurer "to pay such contingent expenses as may become payable fromtime to time," it necessarily follows that a court held in a county must determine what is a lawful and proper charge upon such fund. People ex rel. Cole v. Supervisors of Greene Co., 15 Abb N. C. 447; 2 How. Pr. N. S. 483; affd., 39 Hun, 299.

20. Removal of county offices. Section 1 of art. 10 of the constitution provides that the governor may remove a sheriff, county clerk, district attorney and register within the terms for which he shall have been elected, giving to such officer a copy of the charges against him, and an opportunity of being heard in his defense. Sections 33 and 34 of the Public Officers' Law, provide for the removal by the governor of a county treasurer, county superintendent of the poor, coroner or register of a county.

The costs and expenses of proceedings for the removal of county officers by the governor, are by the above subdivision made a county charge. Such costs and expenses include counsel fees in the prosecution of the charges. People ex rel. Benner v. Supervisors of Queens County, 39 Hun 442. And in this case it was also held that the attorney general may employ special counsel to prosecute the charges, and the expense of such employment is a county charge under the statute. Such costs are a county charge although the proceedings were instituted by the president of a taxpayers' association, who appeared as an individual complainant. People ex rel. Smart v. Board of Supervisors, 66 App. Div. 66, 72 N. Y. Supp. 568.

In auditing and allowing the costs and expenses incurred in proceedings for the removal of a county officer the board of supervisors may, when a claim is presented therefor, examine the items thereof and determine whether or not such costs and expenses were reasonable, and whether or not they were necessarily incurred. People ex rel. Benedict v. Supervisors of Oneida County, 24 Hun 413.

17. All judgments duly recorded against a county; [21]

18. All damages recovered against, or costs and expenses lawfully incurred by a county officer in prosecuting or defending an action or proceeding brought by or against the county, or such officer, for an official act done, when such act was done, or such action or proceeding was prosecuted or defended pursuant to law, or by authority of the board of supervisors; and any such damages so recovered, or costs and expenses incurred by any such officers, for any act done in good faith in his official capacity, without any such authority, may be made a county charge by a majority vote of all the members elected thereto.[22]

A district attorney who has successfully met the charges against him in a proceeding before the Governor for his removal from office is entitled to charge to the county his expenses for counsel fees and various disbursements incurred in the defense and the supervisors will be required to audit the claims. Said statute, being purely prospective and not retroactive, is constitutional and does not involve a grant of the public moneys of a municipality in the aid of a private individual. People ex rel. Gagan v. Purdy (1916), 173 App. Div. 350, 159 N. Y. Supp. 246.

Expense of prosecution resulting in removal of sheriff; when counsel fees are county charge. The reasonable expense of residents of a county in employing counsel to prosecute before the Governor a proceeding voluntarily brought by them, resulting in the removal of a sheriff from office upon the ground that he was unfit to discharge his duties, is an expense for a county or public purpose within the meaning of this section and the board of supervisors of the county will be required by mandamus to audit such claim as a county charge. It seems, that if the accusation against such officer were frivolous or not presented in good faith, the expense of the prosecution would not be a county charge, and that the audit thereof would be a gift and within the prohibition of section 10 of article 8 of the State Constitution. People ex rel. Nash v. Board of Supervisors (1914), 164 App. Div. 89, 149 N. Y. Supp. 572.

The reasonable costs and expenses incurred by a sheriff in the successful defense of charges made to the Governor against him in a proceeding for his removal from office are legal county charges, and when his claim therefor has been duly allowed and audited by the board of supervisors a taxpayer's action will not lie to recover the money paid pursuant to such audit. Gavin v. Supervisors of Rensselaer (1916), 93 Misc. 264, 157 N. Y. Supp. 973, affd. 157 App. Div. 973, 159 N. Y. Supp. 1114. There is no greater objection to the payment of the costs and expenses incurred by a public officer in defending himself against charges of misconduct than there is to the payment of costs and expenses incurred in the prosecution of such charges, and the board of supervisors may properly allow such charges. Gavin v. Board of Supervisors (1917), 221 N. Y. 222, affg. 174 App. Div. 900. But this rule only applies where the officer has made a successful defense against the charges. People ex rel. Moss v. Board of Supervisors (1917), 178 App. Div. 716.

21. Judgments against a county. Section 70 of the General Municipal Law, post, provides that where a final judgment has been recovered against a municipal corporation and the execution thereof is not stayed, the treasurer of such corporation shall pay such judgment upon the production of a certified copy of the docket thereof.

22. Payment of counsel fees. Since a board of supervisors has authority to institute proceedings in behalf of the county, the fair charges of the attorneys and counsel employed by them in such proceedings are a legal demand against the county, although the board may misjudge in regard to the county having a cause of action in a particular case. Gillespie v. Broas, 23 Barb. 370.

The district attorney of any county in which a capital or other criminal action is to be tried, may, with the approval of a county judge, employ counsel to assist him on such trial; and the costs and expenses thereof are a charge upon the county. See County Law, sec. 204, post, p. 143. Superintendents of the poor may employ counsel and their compensation is a county charge. Neary v. Robinson, 98 N. Y. 81.

Costs in equalization proceedings. The board of supervisors may employ counsel to defend its equalization, and the expense thereof is a contingent charge against the county. People v. City of Kingston, 101 N. Y. 82, 96.

Costs in action against county treasurer. The amount of a judgment for costs against a county treasurer, in a proceeding to review the action of such officer in refusing to issue a liquor tax certificate is a proper charge against the county. Report of Attorney-General, 1913, Vol. 2, p. 532.

Expense of town litigation not county charge. The expenses of a litigation, arising out of the action of a town in assessing a railroad at a rate fixed and directed by the Board of Supervisors, are not a county charge; an agreement by the Board of Supervisors to pay them is ultra vires and cannot be enforced by the town. People ex rel. Sweet v. Board of Supervisors of St. Lawrence Co., 101 App. Div. 327, 91 N. Y. Supp. 948.

Liability for injuries. Though a county have the duty of maintaining a bridge, it is not liable to a person sustaining an injury by reason of neglect of this duty; the right of action must have been given by statute. Ensign v. Supervisors of Livingston Co., 25 Hun 20.

Other county charges. Statutes imposing certain obligations upon county officers frequently expressly provide that the expenses incurred shall be a county charge. The above section of the County Law is general in its purpose and includes as charges against the county all claims which have been by such statutes declared to be county charges. Reference should be made to the various chapters and sections of this work relating to the powers and duties and liabilities of county officers for the purpose of determining what may be declared as proper county charges.

It may be well, however, in this connection to cite a few special statutes in which claims for services and expenses are specially prescribed to be county charges.

By L. 1899, ch. 700, it was provided that any county official who shall have been successfully defended in proceedings to remove him from office might present a claim for his expenses in such proceedings and have the same audited and allowed by the board of supervisors. But in the case of Matter of Strauss, 44 App. Div. 425; 61 N. Y. Supp. 37, and Matter of Jensen, 44 App. Div. 509; 60 N. Y. Supp. 933, this act was declared unconstitutional, since the county being under no legal or moral obligation to pay such a claim, it was in the nature of a gift to the claimant.

Special deputy attorney-general, assigned by attorney-general, when required by governor, to prosecute specified criminal charges, is to be paid by county. See Executive Law, § 62, subd. 2, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 14. Deputy so assigned may not compel payment of compensation until the amount thereof has been fixed by the attorney-general. People ex rel. Osborne v. Westchester Co., 168 App. Div. 765, 154 N. Y. Supp. 266.

County Detective. By L. 1897, ch. 62, as amended by L. 1900, ch. 62, and L. 1911, ch. 598, the county judge of a county containing a population of not less than one hundred and twenty-five thousand inhabitants, and adjoining a county containing a population of not less than one million inhabitants, may appoint a county detective for such county. This act would seem to apply only to the counties of Westchester and Queens. The compensation of a county detective appointed thereunder is made a county charge.

Costs and compensation of counsel in murder cases. Where services are rendered by counsel assigned to defend a person indicted for an offense which is punishable by death, the court in which the defendant is tried may allow such counsel his expenses, and also reasonable compensation for his services not exceeding the sum of $500, which allowance is a charge upon the county in which the indictment is found, to be paid out of the court fund. See Code Crim. Proc., sec. 308, as amended by L. 1918, ch. 242. Where the defendant is convicted of a crime the clerk of the court in which the conviction was had shall within two days after a notice of appeal shall be served upon him notify the stenographer that an appeal has been taken whereupon the stenographer shall within ten days after receiving such notice deliver to the clerk of the court a copy of the stenographic minutes of the entire proceedings of the trial certified by the stenographer as an accurate transcript of such proceedings. Such copy shall be filed by the clerk in his office and shall constitute the minutes of the court of the trial and be included in the judgment-roll as provided by section four hundred and eighty-five of this act. The expense of such copy shall be a county charge, payable to the stenographer out of the court fund upon the certificate of the judge presiding at the trial. See Code Crim. Proc., sec. 456.

Stenographers' fees. A court stenographer is entitled to his fees for minutes furnished to the district attorney or attorney-general in a criminal case, which fees are a county charge and must be paid by the county treasurer like other county charges. Judiciary Law, § 303, amended by L. 1912, ch. 202.

The board of supervisors of each county must provide for the payment of the sums chargeable upon the treasury of a county for the salary, fees, or expenses of the stenographer or assistant stenographer; and all laws relating to raising money in a county by the board of supervisors thereof, are applicable to those sums.

Supreme Court stenographers in second district. Judiciary Law, section 161, subdivisions 3 and 3a provide that: "Each justice of the supreme court for the second judicial district, who does not reside in the county of Kings, may appoint, and may at pleasure remove, a stenographer, and such justices, or a majority of them, may also appoint, and at pleasure remove, two additional stenographers. The justices of the supreme court residing in the county of Kings, or a majority of them, may appoint, and at pleasure remove, a typewriter operator for the purpose of copying their minutes, and doing any other confidential work which may be required by said justices or the clerk of the court. The salary or compensation to be paid to such typewriter operator shall be fixed by said justices, and the expense thereof shall be raised with the annual tax levy as a county charge."

Judiciary Law, section 309, subdivisions 1 and 2, provide that: "The stenographers appointed pursuant to section one hundred and sixty-one of this chapter, by the justices of the supreme court, residing in the county of Kings, shall severally attend, as directed by the respective justices appointing them, the terms of the appellate division and trial and special terms of the supreme court, in the county of Kings. Each of the stenographers appointed pursuant to said section one hundred and sixty-one, by the justices of the supreme court for the second judicial district, who do not reside in the county of Kings, must attend as directed by the justice appointing him the trial and special terms of the supreme court held in the counties of Suffolk, Queens, Nassau and Richmond, or either of them, and, when not thus officially engaged, the stated terms of the county court, in each of those counties."

Salary of stenographer. Section 316 of the Judiciary Law, subdivision 2, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 180, and L. 1913, ch. 491, provides that: "Each stenographer appointed as prescribed in section one hundred and sixty-one of this chapter, by the justices of the supreme court for the second judicial district who do not reside in the county of Kings, shall receive an annual salary to be fixed by such justices not exceeding three thousand six hundred dollars. To make up and pay the salaries specified in this subdivision, the board of supervisors of each of the counties in said district must annually levy, and cause to be collected, as a county charge, a proportionate part of the sum necessary to pay the same, to be fixed by the comptroller of the state, in accordance with the amount of the taxable real and personal property in each county, as shown by the last annual assessment-roll therein. The treasurer of each county must pay over the sum so raised, to the comptroller of the state, who must thereupon pay the salary of each stenographer, in equal quarterly payments, under the direction of the justice making the appointment."

Court stenographers in other districts. Section 161 of the Judiciary Law, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 60, and L. 1916, chs. 128, 344, provides that:

1. In addition to the stenographers appointed under special laws, the justices of the supreme court, or a majority of them, for each judicial district, excepting the first, second, third, fifth, seventh, eighth and ninth, shall appoint, and may at pleasure remove, three stenographers.

2. The justices of the supreme court, residing in the county of Kings, or a majority of them, may appoint and may at pleasure remove, sixteen stenographers.

3. Each justice of the supreme court for the second judicial district, who does not reside in the county of Kings, may appoint, and may at pleasure remove, a stenographer, and such justices, or a majority of them, may also appoint, and at pleasure remove, two additional stenographers.

3-a. The justices of the supreme court residing in the county of Kings, or a majority of them, may appoint, and at pleasure remove, a typewriter operator for the purpose of copying their minutes, and doing any other confidential work which may be required by said justices or the clerk of the court. The salary or compensation to be paid to such typewriter operator shall be fixed by said justices, and the expense thereof shall be raised with the annual tax levy as a county charge.

4. The justices of the supreme court, or a majority of them, for the third judicial district, shall appoint, and, may at pleasure remove, four stenographers of the supreme court for such district.

5. Each of the justices of the supreme court assigned to hold special terms in the third and fourth judicial districts for the hearing of contested motions, and the trial of issues of fact and law, may appoint and at pleasure remove a stenographer.

6. The justices of the supreme supreme court, or a majority of them, for the fifth and seventh judicial districts, respectively, shall appoint, and may at pleasure remove, five stenographers of the supreme court for each of such districts.

7. The justices of the supreme court for the eighth judicial district shall appoint, and may at pleasure remove, eleven stenographers of the supreme court for such district.

8. The justices of the supreme court for the ninth judicial district, or a majority of them, may appoint the stenographers of said court, the number of said stenographers not to exceed the number of all the justices in said district.

The present stenographers of the supreme court for such district, and those who may hereafter be appointed, shall hold office until removed by the said justices.

Judiciary Law, section 309, subdivisions 3 and 4, provide that: "Each of the stenographers appointed pursuant to said section one hundred and sixty-one by the justices of the supreme court, for the ninth judicial district, must attend, as directed by the justice appointing him, the trial and special terms of the supreme court held in the counties of Westchester, Putnam, Dutchess, Orange and Rockland, or either of them, and when not thus officially engaged, the stated terms of the county court in each of those counties. Each of the stenographers appointed pursuant to said section one hundred and sixty-one, by the justices of the supreme court for each judicial district except the first, second and ninth, shall attend such special and trial terms of the supreme court in his judicial district as he shall be assigned to attend by the justices of the supreme court, or a majority of them, for such district."

Salary of stenographers. Judiciary Law, section 313, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 180, and L. 1913, ch. 491, provides that: "Each of the stenographers appointed by the justices of the supreme court pursuant to subdivisions one, four, six, seven and eight of section one hundred and sixyt-one of this chapter shall receive an annual salary of three thousand six hundred dollars, to be paid by the comptroller of the state in equal quarterly payments, upon the certificate of a justice of the supreme court of the judicial district for which he shall have been appointed. To provide the means to pay such salary, the comptroller of the state shall, on or before the first day of November in each year, fix and transmit to the clerk of the board of supervisors in each of the counties in said district a statement of the sum to be raised by such board of supervisors, in accordance with the amount of taxable real and personal property subdivision shall also apply to the county of New York. [Sub. 19 added by L. 1909, ch. 16.]

20. The expense of the publication of notices of appointment of terms of the county court is a county charge. [Sub. 20 added by L. 1909, ch. 16.]

21. The fees of a county clerk or of the clerk of any court of record for making and certifying a copy or copies of any record, document or paper, when ordered so to do by the state comptroller, pursuant to section four of the state finance law, shall be a charge upon the county where such records, documents or papers are recorded or filed. This subdivision shall also apply to the county of New York. [Sub. 21 added by L. 1909, ch. 16. County Law, § 240; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 825.]

§ 6. COUNTY CHARGES, HOW RAISED.

The moneys necessary to defray the county charges of each county shall be levied on the taxable property in the several towns therein, in the manner prescribed in the general laws relating to taxes; and in order to enable the county treasurer to pay such expenses as may become payable from time to time, the board of supervisors shall annually cause such sum to be raised in advance in their county, as they may deem necessary for such purpose.[23] [County Law, § 242; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 830.]

in each of said counties as shown by the last annual assessment roll therein. The boards of supervisors in each of such counties shall annually levy and cause to be collected in such county and to be paid over to the county treasurer thereof, the sums fixed by the comptroller to be raised by such board of supervisors and such county treasurer shall pay such sum to the comptroller of the state for the payment of said salaries."

Expenses. Judiciary Law, section 314, as amended by L. 1910, ch 180, provides that: "Each of the stenographers specified in the last section is also entitled to payment of his actual and necessary expenses, while attending court, including stationery, and ten cents for each mile for his actual travel, between the place of holding each term and his residence, going and returning, or from term to term, as the case may be. The amount thereof must be paid upon the certificate of the judge holding or presiding at the term by the treasurer of the county where the term is held, from the court fund, or the fund from which jurors are paid. But mileage shall not be computed beyond the bounds of the judicial district, except where the usual line of travel, from one point to another within that district, passes partly through another judicial district.

Judiciary Law, section 164 provides that: "The amount to which the stenographers of the supreme court are entitled for expenses, as prescribed in section three hundred and fourteen of this chapter, must be certified by the judge holding or presiding at the term."

Levy for county charges must be made by the board of supervisors. Chemung Canal Bank v. Supervisors of Chemung, 5 Den. 517; People ex rel. Downing v. Stout, 23 Barb. 338.

CHAPTER IV.

GENERAL POWERS OF BOARDS OF SUPERVISORS; PUBLICATION OF SESSION LAWS; REMOVAL OF COUNTY BUILDINGS; OTHER POWERS.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

General Powers of Board.

Generally speaking boards of supervisors only have the powers conferred by the statute. Their powers are limited to those so conferred. If they act beyond statutory limitation their acts are void, the same as where the legislature exceeds the powers conferred by the constitution. There will be cases where the acts of boards do not come within the expressed language of a statute, but will nevertheless be sustained because within the implied powers conferred by such statute. In other words, as expressed by the court of appeals in the case of People ex rel. Wakely v. McIntyre, 154 N. Y. 628, 49 N. E. 70, boards of supervisors, in the exercise of the legislative powers conferred upon them by the constitution, are not confined in their action to the bare letter of the statute, but may in the exercise of a sound discretion, act under powers that are to be fairly implied. However this may be, some statute must be found either expressly or impliedly authorizing the act sought to be accomplished.

It will be noticed that many of the powers conferred upon boards of supervisors are specified and declared in § 12 of the County Law. Of course, this section is not inclusive of all powers to be exercised by such boards. References are made in many statutes, pertaining to many subjects, giving boards certain powers and duties. Many of these statutes are contained in this chapter, but many more of them will be found in chapters covering the subjects to which they relate. It will not be necessary in this preliminary note to explain the general powers conferred by § 12 of the County Law. The section itself must be considered, together with the cases construing the provisions of that section. It may be appropriately suggested that this section is the most comprehensive of those laws conferring powers upon boards of supervisors, and it will be found necessary to constantly refer to it.

Designation of Newspapers.

One of the duties of a board of supervisors, fruitful of much controversy and litigation, is the designation of newspapers for the publication of session laws and concurrent resolutions. All general laws, and all local laws affecting the county, are to be published in the newspapers designated. Two newspapers are to be designated, one by the members of the board representing the majority party, and one by the members representing the minority party. It is not the politics of the member which controls his right to vote for the newspaper. If he was elected on a prohibitionist or independent ticket he cannot vote on this question with the republicans because he believes in the principles of, and is affiliated with, the republican party. It is the party which he represents and by which he was elected which determines his right to vote for the designation of a newspaper for the publication of session laws.

The paper designated must be recognized throughout the county as representing the party for which it is designated. A paper which has not fairly and for a number of elections advocated the election of the ticket nominated by either one or the other of the parties is not entitled to designation. If there is only one party represented in the board, the paper last designated by the other party, is to continue to publish.

SECTION 1. General powers of boards of supervisors.
2. Legalization of informal acts of town meeting or village election.
3. Session laws, designation of newspapers for publication of.
4. Publication of session laws and concurrent resolutions; expense of publication.
5. Session law slips to be forwarded by county clerks to clerks of towns, villages and cities.
6. Newspapers designated to publish election notices and official notices.
7. County buildings, location of may be changed; petition for change beyond boundaries of village or city.
8. Action of board upon presentation of petition for change of location.
9. Submission of question of removal of county buildings to vote of people.
10. After destruction of poor-house, petition for change of site.
11. Board may establish fire district outside of an incorporated village; fire commissioners; levy of taxes for fire protection.
12. Effect of incorporator of village within limits of fire district.

13. Soldiers' monument, board of supervisors may appropriate moneys for the erection of.
14. Temporary loans; issue of obligations therefor.
15. Establishment of county laboratories.
16. County attorney.

§ 1. GENERAL POWERS OF BOARDS OF SUPERVISORS.

The board of supervisors shall:[1]

1. County property. Have the care and custody of the corporate property of the county.[2]

1. General powers of board. The constitution (art. III, sec. 27), empowers the legislature by general laws to confer upon boards of supervisors of the counties such further powers of local legislation and administration as it may from time to time deem expedient. Such boards are legislative bodies, in many respects of limited powers; but where they have jurisdiction, they may act for the county precisely as the legislature may act for the state. If they act without jurisdiction their acts are void, the same as is the action of the legislature when in violation of any provision of the constitution. People ex rel. Hotchkiss v. Supervisors of Broome Co., 65 N. Y. 222.

The board of supervisors of a county is vested with such powers of local legislation and administration as are conferred upon it by the legislature. Its power is co-extensive with the power expressly granted to it or which is necessarily or reasonably implied from the powers so expressly conferred. Wadsworth v. Supervisors of Livingston (1916), 217 N. Y. 484, 112 N. E. 161.

The acts of a board of supervisors within their statutory powers are legislative and not judicial, and they cannot be reviewed by certiorari. People ex rel. O'Connor v. Supervisors of Queens County, 153 N. Y. 370; 43 N. E. 790; People ex rel. Village of Jamaica v. Supervisors of Queens, 131 N. Y. 468; 30 N. E. 488.

Boards of supervisors, in the exercise of the legislative powers conferred upon them by the constitution, are not confined in their action to the bare letter of the statute enacted to carry out the constitutional provisions, but may, in the exercise of a sound discretion, act under powers that are to be fairly implied. Within the limits of the powers constitutionally delegated by the legislature, each board is clothed with the sovereignty of the state, and is authorized to legislate as to all details precisely as the legislature might have done in the premises. Woods v. Supervisors, 136 N. Y. 403; People ex rel. Wakely v. McIntyre, 154 N. Y. 628, 49 N. E. 70. In this case Bartlett, J., said: "The evident intent of the framers of the constitution in permitting the legislature to delegate certain of its powers to the local boards was to carry out a public policy which assumes that the interests of a particular locality are best subserved by those who are familiar with its affairs. It would be quite impossible for a board of supervisors to properly legislate in regard to local affairs, if it were not at liberty to resort to those implied powers, within the limits of its jurisdiction, vested in the legislature of the state." But, as was remarked by Parker, Ch. J., in the case of Weston v. City of Syracuse, 158 N. Y. 274, 287, while it is true that a board of supervisors is clothed with the sovereignty of the state to legislate as to all details, within the limits of its delegated powers, "there are many duties devolved upon boards of supervisors by the legislature which are not legislative in character, but are administrative, and in some cases quasi judicial in nature, and not at all impressed with the character of sovereignty."

2. County property. As to change in the location of county buildings, see County Law, sec. 31, post, p. 69. Records of conveyances in the office of the county clerk are not county property, and even if so regarded, the board is

2. Audit. Audit all accounts and charges against the county, and direct annually the raising of sums necessary to defray them in full.[3]

3. Town charges. Annually direct the raising of such sums in each town as shall be necessary to pay its town charges.[4]

4. Taxes. Cause to be assessed, levied and collected, such other assessments and taxes as shall be required of them by any law of the state.[5]

5. Have power to fix the amount and the time or manner of payment of the salary or compensation of any county officer or employee, except a judicial officer or an officer or employee of a county tuberculosis hospital and the term of office and mode of appointment, number and grade of any appointive county officer and of the clerks, assistants or employees in any county office, except an officer or employee of a county tuberculosis hospital, notwithstanding the provisions of any general or special law fixing the amount of such salary or compensation or the time or manner of payment thereof, or fixing the term of office or providing for the mode of appointment, number or grade of any such county officer or of the clerk, assistants or employees in any county office, or vesting in any other board, body, commission or officer authority to fix such term of office, or the amount of such salary or compensation or the time or manner of payment thereof or to provide for the mode of appointment, number or grade of such officers or of the clerks, assistants or employees in any county office; and the power hereby vested in the board of supervisors shall be exclusive of any other board, body, commission or officer, except the authorities of a county tuberculosis hospital, notwithstanding any general or special law. The salary not authorized by the above subdivision to purchase new indexes for such conveyances, as such subdivision does not apply to the acquisition of new property. People ex rel. Welch v. Nash, 3 Hun, 535; affd. 62 N. Y. 484. But in the case of Schenck v. Mayor, etc., of New York, 67 N. Y. 44, it was held that a board of supervisors has power to purchase, by virtue of its general and incidental powers, supplies to equip the county jail.

A county owning a farm is subject to the same care in its management as is imposed on other owners of real estate, and hence is liable for nuisance thereon. Lefrois v. County of Monroe, 24 App. Div. 421, 426, 48 N. Y. Supp. 519.

Board cannot lease premises for an armory except in compliance with state military code. Boller v. New York, 40 Super. Ct. 523.

3. Audit of claims against the county, see preceding chapter.

4. Town charges, what are. See Town Law, § 170 post. Audit of claims against the town, by the town board, see Town Law, sec. 133, post, and notes thereunder. Appeal from audit by town board of fees in criminal proceedings to board of supervisors, see Town Law, sec. 177, post; and as to fees of officers in criminal proceedings, see Town Law, secs. 107, 171, post. Accounts against towns to be itimized and verified, see Town Law, sec. 175, post. Abstracts to be made by town auditors of accounts audited against a town, and presented to board of supervisors. See Town Law, sec. 155, post. The supervisors are required to cause the amounts specified in the certificates of the auditors to be levied upon the towns, and they cannot review or reverse the action of the auditors. Osterhoudt v. Rigney, 98 N. Y. 222, 234.

Duty to levy. Supervisors are required to cause the amounts specified in the certificates of the town auditors to be levied upon the town, and they cannot reverse or review the action of the auditors. Osterhoudt v. Rigney, 98 N. Y. 222, 234. When towns are divided, board cannot be compelled to levy until debts are apportioned. People ex rel. McKenzie v. Supervisors, 30 Hun, 148.

Judgments against towns. Board cannot be compelled by mandamus to levy the amount of a judgment against a highway commissioner upon the property of the town. People ex rel. Everett v. Supervisors, 93 N. Y. 397, affg. 29 Hun, 185. It is the duty of the board of supervisors to provide for the payment of judgments against the town and mandamus will lie upon their neglect to do so. People ex rel. Crouse v. Supervisors, 70 Hun, 560, 564, 24 N. Y. Supp. 397.

5. Purpose of tax. The legislature may delegate to a county board of supervisors the power to erect a bridge and to assess a tax on particular towns for the payment thereof. Town of Kirkwood v. Newbury, 122 N. Y. 571, affg. 45 Hun, 323. As to building and maintenance of bridges, see Huggans v. Riley, 125 N. Y. 88.

A county is not bound to levy a tax for the default of a county treasurer, until all remedy against him personally has been exhausted. Nat. Bank of Ballston Spa v. Supervisors, 106 N. Y. 488.

or compensation of an officer or employee elected or appointed for a definite term shall not be increased or diminished during such term.[6] [Subd. amended by L. 1911, ch. 359, L. 1913, ch. 742, and L. 1914, ch. 358.]

5-a. Fix the amount of the undertakings required by law to be executed by the clerk, district attorney and the superintendent of the poor of the county. [Subd. added by L. 1914, ch. 63.]

6. May borrow money. Borrow money when they deem it necessary, for the erection or alteration of county buildings, and for the purchase of sites there-

6. Compensation of officers. The constitution (Art. III, sec. 28), provides that a board of supervisors shall not "grant any extra compensation to any public officer, servant, agent or contractor." In the case of People ex rel. Masterson v. Gallup, 65 How. Pr. 108; 12 Abb. N. C. 65, it was held that a resolution of the supervisors of Albany county giving a clerk to the coroners of such county did not violate this constitutional provision. But the Court of Appeals held in this case on appeal that the board was not authorized by the above subdivision of this section of the County Law to appoint such clerk, since such subdivision applies only to those officers which by pre-existing law were entitled to a clerk. See 96 N. Y. 628; affg. 30 Hun, 501, but reversing the case above cited.

When a district attorney is assigned a fixed salary, it is in lieu of all other compensation, and he is not entitled to more on account of a new duty imposed upon him. People v. Supervisors, 1 Hill, 362. A board of supervisors may not increase the compensation of its members for services performed by them. Report of Attorney-General (1912), Vol. 2, p. 584.

The county treasurer is himself entitled to the fees allowed by law for receiving and paying state taxes to the state comptroller, and the board has no power whatever over those fees. Supervisors of Monroe v. Otis, 62 N. Y. 88. Unless otherwise expressly provided by law the fees of a county treasurer on account of state taxes belong to him. Supervisors of Seneca v. Allen, 99 N. Y. 532. See, also, People ex rel. Lawrence v. Supervisors, 73 N. Y. 173.

It was intended by the revision of the statutes in the County Law that the county treasurers in those counties where, at the time of the enactment of such law, such treasurers were salaried officers, that they should be retained as such, and that the salary and compensation which the board of supervisors had fixed for them should be in full of all compensation allowed them for every official duty pertaining to their office, including their services for the collection and paying over of state, school and court moneys. People ex rel. Conine v. Steuben Co., 183 N. Y. 114.

A county treasurer whose salary and compensation has, pursuant to the provisions of this section, been fixed by the board of supervisors "at the sum of $1,500, and, in addition all fees allowed by law" is not entitled to retain the fees and commissions for collecting and paying out bank taxes and court and trust funds, as provided by section 24 of the Tax Law and section 3321 of the Code respectively, or for preparing conveyances of property sold for taxes, as provided by section 154 of the Tax Law, but must account therefor. Report of Attorney-General (1912), Vol. 2, p. 258.

An additional allowance for clerk hire during the term of any county treasurer necessarily increases his compensation and is unauthorized. Report of Attorney-General, March 7, 1912.

Court attendants.— Where a board of supervisors passed resolutions empowering the sheriff to appoint "three court officers" and authorizing the superintendent of the court house and annex to appoint "ten laborers" at three dollars per day, thereby providing an equivalent of thirteen court attendants which the sheriff of said county was entitled to appoint under Laws of 1910, chapter 243, it was proper to recognize only the court attendants selected by the sheriff, because the amendments to the County Law did not divest the sheriff of his power of appointment. Halligan v. Runkle (1916), 174 App. Div. 497, 160 N. Y. Supp. 42.

County superintendent of highways.—A board of supervisors has the absolute and exclusive right to appoint a county superintendent of highways and to fix his salary and provide for the payment of his necessary expenses, although said salary at the time of the appointment exceeds the salary stated in the notice published by the commission for the competitive examination of candidates. MacDonald v. Ordway (1916), 219 N. Y. 328, revg. 174 App. Div. 518.

Superintendent of poor.— Personal expenses of a superintendent of the poor are for, on the credit of the county, and for the funding of any debt of the county not represented by bonds, and issue county obligations therefor, and for other lawful county uses and purposes;[7] and authorize a town in their county to borrow money for town uses and purposes on its credit, and issue its obligations therefor, when and in the manner, authorized by law.[8] [Subd. amended by L. 1915, ch. 106.]

7. Animals and weeds, destruction of. Make such laws and regulations as they may deem necessary for the destruction of wild and noxious animals and weeds within the county.[9]

8. Fish and game. Provide for the protection and preservation, subject to the laws of the state, of wild animals, birds and game, and fish not a county charge unless the board of supervisors has expressly so provided in fixing his salary or compensation. Matter of Strong v. Williams (1915), 167 App. Div. 714, 153 N. Y. Supp. 175.

Clerks and deputies. Board can only fix the number, grades and pay of clerks in county offices required by statute to have such clerks and deputies. People ex rel. Masterson v. Gallup, 96 N. Y. 628. And see People ex rel. Bacon v. Supervisors of Kings Co., 105 N. Y. 180, affg. 33 Hun 373.

Amendment of 1911 authorizes boards of supervisors to prescribe or fix the mode or manner in which those authorized by law to appoint clerks, assistants and employees in county offices should exercise the power and does not confer upon boards of supervisors the power themselves to make such appointments. Sheldon v. MacArthur, 73 Misc. 575; 133 N. Y. Supp. 194, affd. 148 App. Div. 908.

Employment of attorney. A board of supervisors may employ an attorney and counsel as the necessity arises, but it cannot appoint an attorney to act for a term of one year at a yearly salary payable in quarterly installments, and thus prevent their successors from exercising the right to change counsel. Vincent v. County of Nassau, 45 Misc. 247, 92 N. Y. Supp. 32. But see County Law, § 210, post, p. 81, as to employment of county attorney.

7. County bonds. As to limitations of indebtedness of county, and resolutions authorizing the issue of obligations, see County Law, secs 13, 14, post. As to municipal bonds generally, see General Municipal Law, secs 3, 5, 12, post.

Highway and bridge bonds. Boards of supervisors to authorize issue of bonds by towns for highways and bridges, Highway Law, § 97, post. County or town may borrow money to pay for county's and town's share of cost of construction of county highway. Highway Law, § 142, post.

Funded debt includes all county indebtedness embraced within or evidenced by a bond, the principal of which is payable at a time beyond the current fiscal year of its issue, with periodical terms for the payment of interest, and where provision is made for payment by the raising of necessary funds by future taxation and the quasi pledging, in advance, of the county revenue. People ex rel. Peene v. Carpenter, 31 App. Div. 603, 52 N. Y. Supp. 781.

8. Town bonds. This subdivision vests generally in the board of supervisors the power to authorize a town to issue its bonds for the raising of money for a town purpose. If bonds are to be issued for the construction, repair or discontinuance of a highway, for the repair or rebuilding of a highway or bridge destroyed by the elements or otherwise, or for the repair or rebuilding of a bridge condemned by the State highway commission, or for the purchase of road machinery, application should be made as provided in section 97 of the Highway Law, as amended by L. 1914, ch. 202, and L. 1915, ch. 322. See also Highway Law, § 97a, as added by L. 1917, ch. 565.

The above subdivision is sufficiently broad to empower the board to authorize a town to raise, by the issue of bonds, funds necessary to acquire lands adjacent to a town hall. Jamaica Sav. Bank v. City of New York, 61 App. Div. 464, 70 N. Y. Supp. 967.

As to power of board to authorize a town to bond itself for the erection of a bridge, see Barker v. Town of Oswegatchie, 41 N. Y. St. Rep. 821, 16 N. Y. Supp. 727.

Action of board legislative. The action of the board in directing issue of bonds for the improvement of a highway is purely legislative, and cannot be reviewed on certiorari. People ex rel. Trustees of Jamaica v. Supervisors, 131 N. Y. 468 (1892).

As to resolution authorizing issuance of bonds by a town, see County Law, § 14, post.

9. Noxious weeds. Town meetings may also provide for the destruction of noxious weeds. Town Law, § 43, subd. 5, post. Removal of noxious weeds and brush within the highways, Highway Law, § 54, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 151.

and shell-fish, within the county; and prescribe and enforce the collection of penalties for the violation thereof.[10]

9. School commissioner districts. Divide any school commissioner's district within the county which contains more than two hundred school districts, and erect therefrom an additional school commissioner's district, and when such district shall have been formed, a school commissioner for the district shall be elected in the manner provided by law for the election of school commissioners.[11]

10. Opening and closing of county offices. Fix and regulate the time of opening and closing the county offices daily, except Sundays and holidays, where such time is not fixed by law.[12]

11. Contracts with penitentiaries. Contract, at such times and upon such terms as the board may by resolution determine, with the authorities of any other county for the reception into the penitentiary of such county, and the custody and emplowment at hard labor therein, of any person convicted within their county of any offense, other than a felony, and sentenced to imprisonment in a county jail, or penitentiary, for a term exceeding sixty days.[13]

10. Fish and game. The Forest, Fish and Game Law (now Conservation Law), has regulated the taking of fish and game within the several counties of the state. That act does not authorize boards of supervisors to adopt local laws for the protection and preservation of fish and game. The legislature having specially legislated on this subject, the board of supervisors cannot override such legislation. People v. Fish, 89 Hun, 163, 34 N. Y. Supp. 1013.

The boards of supervisors of Nassau and Suffolk may respectively pass laws regulating and controlling the taking of fish and shell-fish in arms of the sea and fish bait from public lands of such counties, and prescribe what violations thereof shall be punishable as misdemeanors and to impose penalties, the same to be enforced under the provisions of article three of this act. (Conservation Law, § 334, as added by L. 1912, ch. 318.)

11. School commissioner districts. By L. 1910, chap. 607, the office of school commissioner was abolished and a district superintendent of schools substituted therefor. This act takes effect January 1, 1912. The board of supervisors must divide the county into supervisory districts on the 3rd Tuesday of April, 1911. See Education Law, § 381, post.

12. Hours of closing county offices. As to business hours in office of county clerk, see County Law, sec. 165, post, p. 130; in office of sheriff, see County Law,, sec. 184, post, p. 155.

Holidays and half holidays shall be considered as Sunday for all purposes relating to the transaction of business in the public offices of the state, and of each county. Public Officers' Law, sec. 62.

13. Form of contract with a penitentiary of another county, see Form No. 5, post.

Contracts. Board of supervisors cannot contract with the authorities of a penitentiary for the support of felons. Commissioners of Charities v. Supervisors, 64 Hun, 195, 18 N. Y. Supp. 883.

12. Actions on undertakings. Cause an action to be brought upon the undertaking of any county officer, whenever a breach thereof shall occur.[14]

13. County buildings; acquisition of lands. Purchase, lease or otherwise acquire, for the use of the county, necessary real property for court houses, jails, alms-houses, asylums and other county buildings, and for other county uses and purposes;[15] and erect, alter, repair, construct, any necessary buildings or other improvements thereon for necessary county use, and cause to be levied, collected and paid, all such sums of money as they shall deem necessary therefor; to select such name as they may deem proper and appropriate for the alms-house of such county and thereafter to designate such alms-house by the name so selected; and

Contracts for keeping prisoners; notice to be published. It is provided by the Prison Law, § 320, as follows:

It shall be lawful for the several boards of supervisors in the several counties of this state to enter into an agreement with the board of supervisors of any county having a penitentiary therein, or with any person in their behalf by them appointed to receive and keep in the said penitentiary any person or persons who may be sentenced to confinement therein by any court or magistrate, in any of the said several counties in this state, for any term not less than sixty days. Whenever such agreement shall have been made, it shall be the duty of the said several boards of supervisors of the several counties aforesaid, to give public notice thereof, specifying in such notice the period of the continuance of such agreement, which said notice shall be published in such newspapers, printed in said several counties, not less than two, and for such period of time, not less than four weeks, as the several boards of supervisors of said several counties shall direct.

14. Actions on undertakings. The word "undertaking" includes an official bond, General Construction Law, sec. 27. As to the force and effect of an official undertaking of a county officer, see County Law, sec. 247, post. The sureties on the bond of a county treasurer are not exonerated by any neglect or malfeasance of the supervisors in passing upon his accounts. The bond is not conditioned for, and the law does not guarantee such an examination. Supervisors of Monroe v. Otis, 62 N. Y. 88. The condition of a treasurer's bond that he should faithfully discharge his duties, involves the obligation of making correct reports, conforming to the requirements of the statute, and the failure so to do is a breach of this condition. Supervisors of Tompkins Co. v. Bristol, 99 N. Y. 316.

15. Acquisition of real property. A county, if unable to agree with the owners, may acquire title to real property by condemnation. See General Municipal Law, sec. 74, post. Proceedings for the acquisition of real property by condemnation, see Condemnation Law, Code Civ. Proc., secs. 3357-3382.

The board of supervisors can take and hold a fee in lands for county buildings. And a town which conveys for this purpose, for a nominal consideration, cannot, on a subsequent removal of the county seat, maintain an action to sell, lease or apply to other county use, the sites and buildings, when a site is changed; to sell, and for a proper consideration to convey, all of the title and interest of the county in and to any land or property owned by the county but not in actual use by the county; and if sold, apply the proceeds to the payment for new sites, buildings and improvements.[16] [Subd. amended by L. 1917, ch. 304.]

14. Jury districts. To make one or more jury districts and to make such regulations in respect to the holding of the terms of courts as shall be necessary by reason of such change.

15. Contracts for board of prisoners.[17] [Subd. repealed by L. 1917, ch. 352.]

16. Tax to enforce Game Law. To raise by tax a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars in any year, except in the county of Erie and in said county a sum not to exceed four thousand dollars in any year to aid in carrying out the provisions of the forest, fish and game law. [Subd. amended by L. 1909, ch. 477.]

17. Sheriff salaried office in Chautauqua county. The board of supervisors of Chautauqua county shall have power to determine that a sheriff thereafter elected in such county shall receive a salary instead of fees, and may fix such salary, or if the sheriff of such county shall thereafter be made a salaried office to determine that a sheriff thereafter elected shall receive the fees prescribed by law, as compensation for his services, instead of his salary. In case the office of sheriff of such county is made a salaried office, in pursuance of this subdivision, the sheriff shall collect all fees and perquisites to which he is entitled, in pursuance of law, except such as are payable by the county, and shall at least once in each month pay enjoin a sale of the lands. Trustees of Havana v. Supervisors of Schuyler Co., 5 T. & C. 703.

16. Erection of buildings. As to removal of county buildings, see County Law, secs. 31–33, post, p. 69. Under the power conferred upon the board by the above subdivision it is not necessary that the board should purchase a site and then erect a building thereon. If the county owns real estate with an appropriate building thereon, it may appropriate a part of such building to be used as a jail. Roach v. O'Dell, 33 Hun, 320, affd., 99 N. Y. 635.

The supervisors of the county of Steuben have authority under this subdivision to erect a courthouse in the city of Hornellville and to appropriate money therefor. Special action by the supervisors does not change the county seat from its present location in Bath. Lyon v. Board of Supervisors, 115 App. Div. 193, 100 N. Y. Supp. 676.

Power to borrow money. Board is given power to borrow money for erection of county buildings and purchase of sites, and issue of obligations therefor. Ghiglione v. Marsh, 23 App. Div. 61, 48 N. Y. Supp. 604.

17. Existing contracts with sheriffs in office on May 3, 1917, providing for board of prisoners not affected by repeal; see L. 1917, ch. 352, § 4.

the same to the county treasurer, and such fees and perquisites shall become part of the general fund of the county.[18]

18. Other powers and duties of boards of supervisors.

1. Towns and town meetings. As to the erection of new towns and the alteration of boundaries of towns by the board of supervisors, see County Law, sec. 35, post. (For the pages of this Manual where sections of laws may be found, see Schedule of Laws, following table of contents.)

The board of supervisors may by resolution fix a time for holding biennial town meetings, see Town Law, sec. 40, post.

2. Registration of dogs; taxation. The board of supervisors may fix and impose a tax on dogs, see County Law, sec. 110, post.

The board of supervisors may regulate the registration of dogs within the county, see County Law, secs. 128–136, post.

3. Taxation. As to the duties of the board of supervisors in relation to the assessment of bank shares, see Tax Law, sec. 24, post.

The board of supervisors must add to the tax on a tract of land belonging to a non-resident the expense of making a survey of such tract as authorized by Tax Law, sec. 31, post.

As to the equalization of assessments by boards of supervisors, see Tax Law, sec. 50, post, and as to the appointment of commissioners of equalization by the boards of supervisors, see Tax Law, §§ 51–53, post.

As to the duties of the board in relation to the assessment of non-resident real property, see Tax Law, secs. 54, 55, post.

As to the correction of errors in assessment-rolls by boards of supervisors, and the reassessment of property illegally assessed, see Tax Law, secs. 56, 57, post, and the County Law, sec. 16, post.

As to the levy of taxes by the board of supervisors, see Tax Law, sec. 58, post.

As to appeals from the equalization of boards of supervisors by a town, to the state board of tax commissioners, see Tax Law, secs. 175–178, post.

The board of supervisors is required to annex to the tax roll of each town a warrant under the seal of the county, signed by the chairman and clerk of the board, commanding the collector to collect from the several persons named in such roll the several sums mentioned therein. As to the completion of such warrant, see Tax Law, sec. 59, post.

4. Relief of poor. The board of supervisors may determine the number of county superintendents of the poor and may oppoint superintendents when a vacancy shall occur in the office, see County Law, sec. 220. County hospital for tuberculosis, establishment and maintenance, see County Law, §§ 45–49e, post.

20. The board of supervisors shall annually fix and determine the compensation to be allowed and paid to officers for the conveyance of juvenile delinquents to the houses of refuge and state industrial schools, and no other or greater amount than that so fixed and determined shall be allowed and paid for such service.

21. The board of supervisors shall have power to direct the payment, by justices of the peace, of all fines and penalties imposed and received by them, to the supervisors of their respective towns, on the first Monday in each month, and to direct justices of the peace to make a verified report of all fines and penalties collected by them to the board of town auditors of their respective towns on the Tuesday preceding the annual town meeting. Upon such payment as herein prescribed to the supervisor of any town, he shall immediately pay over such part of such fines and penalties to any person or corporation who shall be entitled to receive the same by virtue of any statute, special or otherwise. The residue of such amount shall be applied to the support of the poor of such town. This subdivision shall not apply to the county of Kings.

22. The board of supervisors may contract with the sheriff of their county, or the jailer of the common jail therein, for the support and maintenance of such persons as may be confined in such jail upon any writ or process in any civil action or proceeding in the nature of a civil action. Such sheriff or jailer shall attach to all bills rendered for such support and maintenance, a list, under oath, of the number and names of the persons to whom such support and maintenance was furnished, and the length of time each person was so supported. This subdivision shall not be construed as repealing any present provisions of law relating to the care, custody, support or maintenance of such prisoners in the counties of Kings and Monroe.

23. The board of supervisors of a county in which a law library is maintained by the state shall, upon the request of a judge of the court of appeals who resides therein, provide and maintain for his use, suitable and commodious offices, approved by him. In case of the refusal or neglect of such board of supervisors to provide and maintain such offices the expense of the same pursuant to the judiciary law shall be a county charge.

23a. The board of supervisors of any county may appropriate and make available for the home defense committee of the county such amount as it may deem proper to defray the disbursements of the committee, to be paid out by the county treasurer on the order of the treasurer of such committee out of any moneys of the county available therefor; but this subdivision shall not be operative longer than the expiration of six months after the close of the present war. [Subd. added by L. 1917, ch. 525.]

24. The board of supervisors of any county, except Kings, Queens, Livingston, Monroe, Cortland, Westchester and Onondaga, may, in their discretion, provide for the employment of a stenographer for the county court thereof, and said board of supervisors must fix his compensation and provide for the payment thereof in the same manner as other county expenses are paid. [Subd. amended by L. 1915, ch. 91.]

25. The board of supervisors of each county must provide for the payment of the sums, chargeable upon the treasury of the county, for the salary, fees, or expenses of a stenographer or assistant stenographer; and all laws relating to raising money in a county, by the board of supervisors thereof, are applicable to those sums.

26. The board of supervisors of any county may, on the application of any city of the third class, village, town, school district, water district, lighting district or fire district in the county, authorize such municipality or district by referendum vote thereon, to raise moneys or issue the bonds or other obligations of such municipality or district, to run for such period of time not exceeding fifty years, as the board of supervisors may prescribe, for paving the streets, roads and highways and constructing sidewalks within such municipality, and any public municipal or district improvement, and to raise moneys by local taxation for the redemption of such bonds or obligations; to extend or diminish municipal or district boundary lines; to widen, extend, limit or diminish the area occupied by streets, roads and highways; and to establish, increase or lower stated salaries of local officials. Nothing in this subdivision, however, shall operate to abridge the right or power now possessed by any such municipality or district, under any general or special law, whether heretofore or hereafter enacted, to perform any of the acts which such municipality or district might perform without authority from such board; but the provisions of this subdivision shall be liberally construed to enable municipalities and districts, with the authority of the board of supervisors, to exercise their legitimate municipal or district functions without special recourse to the legislature. [Subd. 26, added by L. 1910, ch. 141, and amended by L. 1913, ch. 351.]

27. The board of supervisors of any county in which there is a society for the prevention of cruelty to children may from time to time appropriate and pay for the support and maintenance of such society from county funds available therefor, such sums as it may deem proper and may raise moneys for such purposes by tax on real and personal property within the county. The moneys thus applied shall be paid to the board of directors of such society and by it expended for corporate purposes, but the board of supervisors may, in its discretion, prescribe rules and regulations governing such expenditures and require the submission of reports of the disbursements of the corporation and the approval by the board of supervisors of accounts to be paid from moneys thus appropriated. [Subd. 27 added by L. 1911, ch. 545.]

28a. The board of supervisors of any county may from time to time appropriate and pay out for the general improvement of agricultural conditions and for the support and maintenance of county farm bureaus to conduct demonstration work in agriculture and home economics and for the employment by said bureaus of county agricultural agents and home demonstration agents, and for any other purpose which the board of supervisors shall deem proper and which, in its judgment, will encourage and promote the general improvement of agricultural conditions therein, such sums as it may deem proper, and may raise money for such purpose by a tax on real and personal property in the county. The board of supervisors may by resolution, duly passed, direct the county treasurer to pay out moneys from such appropriation upon the order of the treasurer of the county farm bureau association upon presentation to him, the said county treasurer, of an order drawn by the treasurer of the said county farm bureau association upon such fund, in payment of claims for which said organization is liable, approved by the president of said organization, such order to be accompanied by a statement of the items for which such charge or claim is made, and duly verified, and such order when paid shall be a sufficient voucher in the hands of said county treasurer for his authority to pay out such moneys, and the board of supervisors may from time to time by resolution make any further conditions or restrictions in the disbursements of such funds as it may deem proper; provided that this money shall be expended under an agreement to be entered into between the farm bureau county association of farmers supporting the work and the state leader of county agents, for the co-operative management of said farm bureau and the proper supervision of said county agricultural agent and home demonstration agent; and provided that the co-operative relations therein established shall continue until either party to the agreement shall notify the other party that it wishes to terminate the agreement. Such a notification shall be in writing and shall be served at least six months preceding any action taken to annul the agreement. After receiving such notice co-operative relationships between said parties shall cease at the expiration of the six months' period of notice providing reconsideration or request for continuance is not made by the party issuing notification of desire to continue work under the provisions of this agreement.

On or before the first day of October in each year and at any other time when requested by the board of supervisors the officers of such farm bureau association shall report in writing to the board of supervisors a detailed statement of its work and transactions for the year ending September thirtieth, and for any other period which the board of supervisors may request and in such form as said board may direct.

There shall be annually appropriated out of any moneys in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the purpose of assisting in the organization and contributing toward the support of county farm bureaus in the various counties of the state the sum of six hundred dollars ($600) per annum for each county in the state which shall qualify as required by this section, provided, however, that no such bureau shall be entitled to receive any money so appropriated unless the county in which the same is organized shall appropriate through its board of supervisors or otherwise raise and provide at least eighteen hundred dollars per annum for the support and maintenance thereof; and in addition there shall be annually appropriated such sums of money as may be necessary for the proper and necessary supervision thereof.

The general supervision of the co-operative agricultural extension and development work herein provided for shall be under the joint direction of the commissioner of agriculture and the dean of the New York state college of agriculture through a representative to be known as state leader of county agents, mutually agreed upon, and they are hereby authorized to make rules and regulations for the organization and conduct of such county farm bureaus, and the moneys appropriated pursuant to this subdivision shall be paid by the state treasurer on the warrant of the comptroller on vouchers and certificates approved by the commissioner of agriculture. [Subd. 28a added by L. 1917, ch. 281, and amended by L. 1918, ch. 301.]

29. The board of supervisors of any county may from time to time appropriate and pay out for the general improvement of agricultural conditions in said county such sums as it may deem proper, and may raise money for such purpose by a tax on real and personal property in the county. The moneys so raised may be used in the employment of a person or persons to give free agricultural advice in said county and for any other purpose which the board of supervisors shall deem proper and which, in its judgment, will encourage and promote the general improvement of agricultural conditions therein. [Sud. 28 added by L. 1912, ch. 35, and renumbered 29 by L. 1917, ch. 106.]

29. Where by statute a county is required to cause to be raised and paid moneys for the support and maintenance of any person or persons in any state charitable institution which otherwise would be a charge against and payable by the towns and cities of such county, or where a county officer, or board, is required to incur expenses for supplies or services, which are required to be apportioned to the towns and cities of such county, the board of supervisors of such county may audit and pay claims therefor and cause the amounts thereof to be raised by tax levy and collected in the same manner and at the same time as state and county taxes are levied, assessed and collected in said towns and cities. [Subd. 29 added by L. 1912, ch. 148.]

30. The board of supervisors of any county in which there is a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals may from time to time appropriate and pay for the support and maintenance of such society from county funds available therefor, such sums as it may deem proper and may raise moneys for such purpose by tax on real and personal property within the county. The moneys thus applied shall be paid to the board of directors of such society and by it expended for corporate purposes, but the board of supervisors may, in its discretion, prescribe rules and regulations governing such expenditures and requiring the submission of reports of the disbursements of the corporation and the approval by the board of supevisors of accounts to be paid from moneys thus appropriated. [Subd. 27 added by L. 1911, ch. 663, renumbered 28 by L. 1912, ch. 148, and renumbered 30 by L. 1917, ch. 106.]

32. The board of supervisors of any county in which there are moneys in the county treasury consisting of revenues received under the provisions of chapter six hundred and forty of the laws of nineteen hundred, repealed by chapter three hundred and thirty of the laws of nineteen hundred and eight, may provide by resolution that such moneys shall be expended for the repair and improvement of side-paths, in the various towns of the county, under the direction of the county superintendent of highways, so far as the same may be sufficient therefor, upon side-paths leading from each city or town, in an amount to be specified in the resolution, equal to the portion derived from the revenues collected under such chapter therein. The moneys to be thus applied shall be paid to the county superintendent of highways by the county treasurer in the same manner as other county funds which are ordered paid by the board of supervisors; but all orders or warrants therefor shall refer to such fund as the side-path fund. [Subd. added by L. 1912, ch. 194, and renumbered 32 by L. 1917, ch. 106.]

33. The board of supervisors shall have power to, and may, provide a fund for the payment in advance of audit of properly itemized and verified bills for the expenses of the district attorney lawfully and necessarily incurred in the prosecution of criminal actions or proceedings arising in his county, and, by resolution, authorize the county treasurer to apply said fund in payment of such bills on the approval of the district attorney endorsed thereon; said bills so paid to be transmitted to the clerk of the board of supervisors and audited by it at its next regular session held subsequent to their payment. The district attorney and any claimant receiving payment as aforesaid shall be jointly and severally liable for any item or items contained in a bill so paid in advance of audit which shall be disallowed and rejected by the board of supervisors upon final audit, to be recovered in an action brought by the board of supervisors in the name of the county. [Subd. 29 added by L. 1912, ch. 235, and renumbered 33 by L. 1917, ch. 106.]

34. The board of supervisors are authorized to contract for telephone service and for the lighting, heating and maintenance of county buildings, and to provide the method and time of payment for the same, or it may provide a fund for payment in advance of audit of such bills, and by resolution authorize the county treasurer to apply such fund to the payment of duly itemized and verified bills for such purposes, on the approval endorsed thereon of its proper committee of the proper county officer having charge thereof; such bills so paid to be transmitted to the clerk of the board of supervisors for final audit as provided in the next preceding subdivision of this section. The members of any committee, or any officer, approving said bills as aforesaid, and any claimant receiving payment, shall be jointly and severally liable for the amount of any bill or item or items contained in a bill so paid in advance of audit, which shall be rejected and disallowed by the board of supervisors upon final audit, to be recovered in an action brought by the board of supervisors in the name of the county. [Subd. 30 added by L. 1912, ch. 235, and renumbered 34 by L. 1917, ch. 106.]

34. The board of supervisors of the county of Erie shall have power exclusively, and it shall be its duty, to contract annually with one or more undertakers for the care, removal and burial of bodies of persons dying within said county, where there are no known relatives, friends or personal representatives of such deceased in the state liable or willing to become responsible for the expense thereof and for the conveyance and delivery of such bodies to and from the public morgue of such county and the performance of any other acts incidental thereto. Each undertaker, with whom such a contract shall be made, shall execute and deliver a bond in such amount, with such sureties and upon such conditions as such board shall require. [Subd. 34 added by L. 1917, ch. 289.]

35. The board of supervisors of a county adjoining a city of the first class, shall have the power to appoint a commission of taxpayers, of said county, not exceeding seven in number, who shall serve without compensation, to examine the question of the application of the different laws of the state as applicable to the method of *government of the county, its population, needs and the advisability of changing the forms or methods of government of the county and its several localities; to investigate the form of government of other counties or cities; within and without the state of New York, the method used in the administrative, judicial and economic branches of the different municipalities investigated, for the purpose of recommending an improvement in the government and welfare of the people of the county, and to report its investigations, findings and recommendations with all convenient speed to the board of supervisors. Such commission of taxpayers shall have the power to employ counsel, to appoint such assistant or assistants, including one or more stenographers as the commission may require to aid in such investigation, to fix the salaries of such counsel, assistants and stenographers, to purchase the necessary stationery and equipment. The board of supervisors shall provide rooms for the commission to hold its meetings, and raise and provide the money by taxation or otherwise to pay all expenses necessarily incurred during the investigation by such commission and such counsel, assistants and stenographers as may be employed by said commission. [Subd. 31 added by L. 1914, ch. 324, and renumbered 35 by L. 1917, ch. 106.]

36. The board of supervisors is authorized to provide for the payment of properly itemized and verified bills of district superintendents of schools of the supervisory districts in the county rendered by them for expenses incurred for necessary printing and office supplies, subject to such conditions as the board may prescribe. The board may, by resolution, authorize the incurring of indebtedness for such purposes and when so authorized the bills therefor shall be audited and paid in the same manner as other charges against the county. [Subd. 31 added by L. 1914, ch. 389, and renumbered 36 by L. 1917, ch. 106.]

37. The board of supervisors in any county in which the poor are a town charge may by resolution provide that a soldier, sailor or marine who has served in the military or naval service of the United States and who has received an honorable discharge from service, or his family or the family or any who may be deceased shall be relieved and provided for as a county charge. Application for such relief and the granting thereof shall be governed by sections eighty, eighty-one and eighty-two of the poor law. [Subd. 32 added by L. 1915, ch. 243, and renumbered 37 by L. 1917, ch. 106.]

38. The board of supervisors of any county containing a population of less than two hundred thousand and adjoining a city of the first class may authorize the establishment of a plan for the grades of streets,

* So in original.

avenues and boulevards; the alteration of such plan of grades, or of any plan thereof, which shall have been established by law; the laying out, opening, grading, construction, closing and change of line, or of the width of any one or more of such streets, avenues and boulevards or any other streets, avenues and boulevards, within said county, or any part or parts thereof, and of the courtyards, sidewalks and roadways; to provide for the estimation and award of the damages to be sustained, and for the assessment on property intended to be benefited thereby, and fixing assessment districts therefor, the levying, collection and payment of such damages, and of all other charges and expenses to be incurred, or which may be necessary in carrying out the provisions of this subdivision; the laying out of new or additional streets, avenues or boulevards according to a general scheme or plan for the improvement of highways in said town, the acceptance by town officers of conveyances of land for public highways, naming and changing of names of streets and avenues within the said county, the opening, laying out, grading, construction, closing and change of line of any street, avenue or boulevard within the county, provided, however, that nothing shall be done hereunder in respect or concerning any street, avenue or boulevard situated within an incorporated village, without the consent of the board of trustees of such incorporated village. The provisions, however, for the defraying of the expenses thereof by assessment as herein provided, shall only be exercised on the petition of the property owners who own more than one-half of the frontage on any such street, avenue or boulevard, or on the certificate of the supervisor, justices of the peace, and town clerk of the town in which said street, avenue or boulevard is located, or two-thirds of such officers, that the same is in their judgment proper and necessary for the public interest; or in case the said street, avenue, or boulevard, in respect to which such action is proposed to be taken, shall lie in two or more towns, on a like certificate of such town officers of each of said towns, or two-thirds of all of them; provided, however, that before proceeding to make any such certificate, the said officers, or such number of them as aforesaid, shall give ten days' notice by publication in one of the weekly papers of said county and by posting in six public places in said town, or in each of said towns, of the time and place at which they will meet for the purpose of considering the same, at which meeting the public and all persons interested may appear and be heard in relation thereto; and provided that no such street or avenue shall be laid out, opened or constructed upon or across any lands heretofore acquired by the right of eminent domain, and held in fee for depot purposes by any railroad. [Subd. 32 added by L. 1915, ch. 679, and renumbered 38 by L. 1917, ch. 106.]

39. Should the board of supervisors of any county containing a population of less than two hundred thousand and adjoining a city of the first class at any time deem it for the public interest to acquire title to lands and premises required for any streets, highway or boulevard heretofore or hereafter laid out, widened, altered, extended or otherwise improved, it may acquire the same by dedication, or by condemnation under the condemnation law, provided, however, that no land shall be acquired for any street, highway or boulevard in an incorporated village without the consent of the board of trustees of such incorporated village. Such board may direct, by a two-thirds vote, where no buildings are upon the lands, that the title to any piece or parcel of land lying within the lines of any such street, highway, or boulevard shall be vested in the county upon the date of recovery of such dedication or upon the date of the filing of the oath of the condemnation commissioners as provided in the condemnation law, or upon a specified date thereafter and where there are buildings upon such lands, upon a date not less than six months from the date of the filing of said oath. Thereafter, when the condemnation commissioners shall have taken and filed said oath, upon the date of such filing or upon such subsequent date as may be specified, where no buildings are upon such lands and where there are buildings upon such lands upon the date specified by said board of supervisors either before or after the filing of such oath, the same being not less than six months from the date of said filing, the county shall become and be seized in fee of said lands, tenements, and hereditaments in the said resolution mentioned, that shall or may be so required as aforesaid, the same to be held, appropriated, converted and used to and for such purpose accordingly, in like manner as are other public streets in said county. In such cases interest at the legal rate upon the sum or sums to which the owners, lessees, parties or persons are justly entitled upon the date of the vesting of title in the county as aforesaid, from said date to the date of the report of the commissioners shall be allowed by the commissioners as a part of the compensation to which such owners, lessees, parties or persons are entitled. In the other cases, title, as aforesaid, shall vest in the county upon the confirmation by the court of the report of the condemnation commissioners. Upon the vesting of title as herein provided, the county or any person or persons acting under its authority, may immediately, or at any time thereafter take possession of the same, or any part or parts thereof, without any suit or proceeding at law for that purpose. The title acquired by the county, to lands and premises required for a street, shall be in trust, and such lands and premises appropriated and kept open for, or as part of a public street or highway, forever, in like manner as the other streets in the county. [Subd.

33 added by L. 1915, ch. 679, amended by L. 1916, ch. 5, and renumbered 39 by L. 1917, ch. 106.]

40. The board of supervisors of any county wherein a deputy county treasurer is not now allowed by law to be appointed, may by resolution authorize the appointment of a deputy county treasurer and shall fix his salary. Such deputy county treasurer shall act for the county treasurer during his absence from the state or his inability to act as such county treasurer, and may act for such county treasurer during his temporary absence from the office when authorized so to do by such treasurer. Such authorization shall be in writing under the hand and seal of such treasurer. [Subd. 40 added by L. 1917, ch. 106.]

41. The board of supervisors of Ontario county shall have power to and may provide for the payment in advance of audit of properly itemized and verified bills for the expenses of any county officer necessarily incurred by him in the performance of his duties and for supplies ordered and purchased by him, not however, exceeding the sum of fifty dollars unless the same is approved by the chairman of the committee having charge the affairs of his office, and may by resolution authorize the clerk of the board to draw orders upon the county treasurer in payment of such bills approved by the chairman of its committee on finance or by such other member of the board as it may determine, and certified by the county attorney to be lawful county charges. Said bills so paid to be audited by the board at its next regular session held subsequent to their payment. The said officer and any claimant receiving payment as aforesaid shall be jointly and severally liable for any item or items contained in a bill so paid in advance of audit which shall be disallowed or rejected by such board of supervisors upon final audit, to be recovered in an action brought by the board of supervisors in the name of the county. Said board may also provide for the payment in advance of audit of the salaries and compensation of the superintendent, nurses and employees at Oak Mount sanatorium, on properly itemized and verified bills therefor, and a pay roll of the same, duly approved by the state civil service commission, in the same manner as other claims hereinbefore mentioned. [Subd. 41 added by L. 1918, ch. 390.]

§ 2. LEGALIZATION OF INFORMAL ACTS OF TOWN MEETING OR VILLAGE ELECTION.

Any such board may, by a two-thirds vote of all its members, legalize the informal acts of any town meeting or village election within such county, and the regular acts of an one or more town or village officers, performed in good faith, and within the scope of their authority. [County Law, § 15; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 717.]

§ 3. SESSION LAWS, DESIGNATION OF NEWSPAPERS FOR PUBLICATION.

The members of the board of supervisors in each county representing, respectively, each of the two principal political parties into which the people of the country are divided or a majority of such members representing respectively, each of such parties, shall designate in writing a paper fairly representing the political party to which they respectively belong, regard being had to the advocacy by such paper of the principles of its party and its support of the state and national nominees thereof, and to its regular and general circulation in the towns of the county, to publish the session laws and concurrent resolutions of the legislature required by law to be published, which designation shall be signed by the members making it and filed with the clerk of the board of supervisors.[19]

19. Number of votes. Under the act of 1845, ch. 280, containing a provision that in designating official newspapers each member of the board should vote for one paper, and that the two newspapers receiving the highest number of votes should be designated, it was held that votes cast bearing the names of two newspapers were void, and that at least three votes having only one name on each must be cast to constitute a valid election; i. e., two votes for one paper, and one for another. Representatives of political parties.— The designation is to be made by majority of supervisors representing the two political parties. People ex rel. Baldwin v. Barnes, 17 App. Div. 197, 45 N. Y. Supp. 356. And should be made annually. Rept. of Atty.-Genl. (1903), 495.

A Republican who had been elected supervisor of his town upon the Republican ticket sought a renomination, but was unsuccessful. He was then nominated by the Democrats and placed at the head of the ticket under the regular party symbol of that party. He was elected over the regular Republican candidate. It was held that he was entitled to vote with the Democratic members of the board upon the question of designating a Democratic newspaper for the publication of the session laws. Norris v. The purpose to be served by requiring publication of the Session Laws and Concurrent Resolutions of the Legislature is to give to the people of the State early and general notice of their enactment and of the provisions thereof. "In testing the question whether a newspaper does in fact fairly represent the principles of a political party so as to make it eligible for designation regard must, as the statute provides, be had, not only to its advocacy of the principles of its party and its support of the state and national nominees thereof, but also to its general and regular circulation in the towns of the county in which it is published. If a newspaper is deficient in either of these particulars, and there is another newspaper published in the county which clearly measures up to the full requirements of the statute, it would seem that a designation of the former would not be warranted. Such a newspaper may be a type or specimen of a party paper, but it does not fairly represent the party to which it belongs within the plain purpose and intent of the statute." People ex rel. Utica Sunday Tribune Co. v. Williams, 140 App. Div. 58, 60, 124 N. Y. Supp. 328, affd. 200 N. Y. 585 (Mem.).

In determining whether a newspaper is eligible to be designated pursuant to this section, for the publication of Session Laws and Concurrent Resolutions of the Legislature, regard must be had not only to its advocacy of the principles of its party and its support of the State and National nominees, but also to its general and regular circulation in the towns of the county where it is published. If a newspaper be deficient in either of these particulars it should not be designated if there be another paper published in the county which masures up to the full requirements of the statute. Hence, the designation of a newspaper whose aggregate circulation does not exceed 1,000 copies, and which has no circulation in two of the towns of the county, is of no effect, if there is another paper published in the county, qualified on the grounds of political advocacy which has a circulation of over 11,000 covering all of the towns of the county. People ex rel. Guernsey v. Somers (1912), 153 App. Div. 623.

Where one of two Republican papers of equal party loyalty has a circulation of 2,700 within a county and the other has only 900 within the same territory the former should be designated. People ex rel. Mayham v. Dickson, 138 App. Div. 606, 123 N. Y. Supp. 110.

The fact that a newspaper has for a long series of years advocated the principles and policies of a political party, gives it no right to the publication of the Session Laws, etc., unless it is at the time of the designation fulfilling that role. It seems, that a board of supervisors acting in good faith may designate a newspaper to publish the Session Laws, etc., on behalf of a political party, although such paper has not always been a party organ, in the place of the paper which had always fulfilled this role, but which, upon a particular occasion and in the year just then closing, had concededly varied its policy and refrained from the support of some of the party candidates. People ex rel. Elmira Advertiser Association v. Gorman (1915), 169 App. Div. 891, 155 N. Y. Supp. 727; App. dismissed, 222 N. Y. (mem.).

Failure of the clerk to file the designation until nearly a year after it has been made, does not authorize the selection of the paper last designated. Rept. of Atty. Genl., Mch. 1, 1911.

The paper should fairly represent the party for which it is designated. People v. Supervisors of Monroe Co., 60 Hun 328, 14 N. Y. Supp. 867. Effect of a tie vote, see People v. Supervisors of Seneca, 18 How. Pr. 461.

The members of the board of supervisors are not required to select the newspaper having the largest circulation, but in making the designation of the newspaper the statute requires that they must have regard to its regular and general circulation in the towns of the county. An agreement by the paper designated with other newspapers in the county for the joint publication of the Session Laws, is illegal. People ex rel. Republican and Journal Co. v. McCarthy, 134 App. Div. 761, 119 N. Y. Supp. 387; and see People ex rel. Utica Sunday Tribune Co. v. Hugo, 93 Misc. 618, 158 N. Y. Supp. 490.

section shall be void. If there shall be but one paper published in the county, then, in that case, the laws shall be published in that paper. If either of the two principal parties into which the people of the county are divided shall have no representative among the members of the board of supervisors, then, and in that event, the newspaper last legally designated in behalf of such party, not having a representative among the members of the board of supervisors, shall be held to be duly designated to publish the laws for that year. The clerk of each board of supervisors as soon as such designation is made shall forward[20] to the Revocation of designation.—Members cannot change designation after certificate has been filed with clerk. People v. Supervisors of Monroe, 60 Hun, 328, 14 N. Y. Supp. 867.

A valid designation of a newspaper by the board of supervisors, made at any meeting, cannot be revoked. Rept. of Atty. Gen., Jan. 14, 1911.

A supervisor may revoke his signature to the designation of a newspaper by delivering to the clerk a written notice to that effect at any time before the clerk has acted upon the designation. The power to designate newspapers under this section is conferred upon the supervisors individually. People ex rel. Harper v. Roberts, 52 Misc. 308, 102 N. Y. Supp. 1110.

Effect of reversal of order in certiorari.—A board of supervisors designated a newspaper to publish the session laws and concurrent resolutions. On review of this action by certiorari on behalf of another newspaper, the Appellate Division annulled the designation, whereupon the relator was designated by the board as the official paper. Thereafter the action of the Appellate Division was reversed (199 N. Y. 382) and the relator applied for a mandamus to compel the comptroller to audit its bill for services rendered while it was the official paper under such designation. Held, that since the judgment of a competent court is binding until it is reversed, the relator is entitled to be paid for services rendered until the reversal of the order of the Appellate Division in the certiorari proceeding. People ex rel. Republican & J. Co. v. Lazansky, 208 N. Y. 435, revg. 153 App. 547.

Where a new political party, at the last general election, cast the second highest number of votes in a particular county, thus becoming one of the two principal parties into which the people of the county have divided themselves, and yet has no representative in the board of supervisors, and no newspaper which had been previously designated to publish the Session Laws and which could hold over, a contingency arises not provided for in section 20 of the County Law, and it is the duty of the board of supervisors, under its general power, to designate a newspaper representing the principles of the new party to publish the Session Laws, concurrent resolutions of the legislature and its own acts, and it may be compelled to perform that duty by mandamus. People ex rel. Bonheur v. Crist, 208 N. Y. 6.

Session laws and concurrent resolutions to be published in same paper.—The purpose of this section is to give publicity and not patronage. Thus, the supervisors of one party have no right to select one paper to publish the Session Laws and another to publish the concurrent resolutions. People ex rel. Hall v. Ford, 127 App. Div. 444, 112 N. Y. Supp. 130.

20. Mandamus to compel clerk to give notice of designation. The board of secretary of state a notice stating the name and address of such newspapers as have been selected for the publication within the county of the laws and concurrent resolutions of the legislature, or if there is but one newspaper in such county he shall before the first day of January in each year, forward to the secretary of state a notice stating the name and address of such newspaper, and that it is the only newspaper published in the county. [County Law, § 20; B. C. & G. Consol. L., p. 722.]

§ 4. PUBLICATION OF SESSION LAWS AND CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS.

1. All laws of a general nature which shall hereafter be passed by the legislature of this state, shall be published in at least two newspapers in each county of this state where there are or may be hereafter two newspapers published; and in one newspaper in each county where but one newspaper is published or may be published; except that in the county of New York they shall be published in four newspapers, two in borough of Manhattan and two in borough of Bronx. All laws of a local nature which shall hereafter be passed by the legislature of this state, shall be published in like manner in each of the counties interested in the same. All laws affecting two or more counties, and not all the counties of the state, shall be considered local laws applicable to the several counties affected. [Subd. amended by L. 1911, ch. 97.]

2. It shall be the duty of the secretary of state to transmit in the order in which they are passed, and within twenty days from the date of the filing of said laws in his office, to each treasurer of the several counties of the state, and to the publisher of each newspaper designated by law to publish the session laws of a general nature, and such as relate to the local affairs therein, for publication in the manner provided for in this supervisors of a county cannot designate newspapers to publish Session Laws for a period exceeding one year. After such designation has once been lawfully made it cannot be revoked. Where the clerk of a board refuses to notify the secretary of state of such designation without good reason, a writ of mandamus will be issued to compel him to perform such duty. Matter of Troy Press Co., 94 App. Div. 514, 88 N. Y. Supp. 115, affd. 179 N. Y. 529. Compare People ex rel. Donnelly v. Riggs, 19 Misc. 693, 45 N. Y. Supp. 53, holding that the duty of the clerk is not absolutely ministerial, but involves to some extent the exercise of discretion; therefore, mandamus will not lie against him to act in a particular manner.

Certiorari will not lie except where the question to be reviewed is clearly of a judicial character. Hence, the determination of the supervisors, representing one of the two principal political parties into which the people of the county are divided, or a majority of them, which designates a newspaper to publish the Session Laws and Concurrent Resolutions in an administrative act not reviewable by certiorari. People ex rel. R. & J. Co. v. Wiggins, 199 N. Y. 382, revg. 138 App. Div. 933 and 127 App. Div. 444, 112 N. Y. Supp. 130.

The statute does not require the designation of the paper having the largest circulation in the county but leaves a very large discretion to the board of supervisors, and their acts in this respect are purely administrative and not reviewable. People ex rel. Utica Sunday Tribune Co. v. Hugo (1916), 93 Misc. 618, 158 N. Y. Supp. 490.

section. It shall be the duty of each treasurer to cause the same to be published in the papers designated for publishing them, within ninety days from date of the receipt thereof by the said publisher; and the whole of every such law which, in the ordinary type of the newspaper in which it is published, would not occupy more than two columns, must be published in one issue, and when it exceeds such space, shall be published as soon as possible, by occupying such space in each successive issue. The secretary of state shall cause to be stated upon each and every law transmitted by him for publication as aforesaid, the exact number of folios contained therein, which shall be the basis for payment; and he shall also indicate in the same manner, which are general laws, and which are laws of a local nature applicable only to the county affected. It shall be the duty of the publisher of each newspaper designated to publish the session laws, to forward to the secretary of state, a marked copy of each general law published in said newspaper within five days after such publication, and also to forward to the county treasurer of the county within which such publication is made, a marked copy of each local law passed by the legislature and published under the provisions of this section. It shall be the duty of the county treasurer to keep a correct record of all laws received from the secretary of state for publication, with the date of receipt, and number of folios indicated, and to report to the secretary of state on or before October first, in each year, whether the publication of general laws has been regularly made as provided by law, and he shall also report to the board of supervisors of his county during the first week of the annual session thereof, whether the publication of local laws has been made as provided by law, transmitting with his report a copy of each local law received from the secretary of state, with the number of folios indicated in each such local law, together with the date of publication in newspapers legally designated to make such publication.

3. The secretary of state shall designate two newspapers in each of the counties of Queens and Richmond for the publication of session laws required by law to be published, representing respectively, each of the two principal political parties into which the people of such counties are divided, on the nomination of the county committee of each of such parties.

4. The secretary of state shall send to each newspaper designated pursuant to law, in the order in which they are passed, and as soon as the slips are printed, copies of such concurrent resolutions as are required to be published. Concurrent resolutions proposing amendments to the constitution shall be published in such newspapers once in each week for thirteen consecutive weeks, under the direction of the secretary of state at the expense of the state, in such a manner, by the use of italics and brackets, as to indicate the new matter added or the old matter eliminated.

5. The charge for such publication of general laws in the newspapers designated to publish said laws, shall be paid by the treasurer of the state on the warrant of the comptroller, after certification by the secretary of state, that the said publication has been regularly made as provided in this section, at the fixed rate of thirty cents for each folio of one hundred words. The charge for such publication of laws of a local nature in the newspapers designated to publish said laws shall be paid by the several counties of the state in which said laws may be published in the manner prescribed by this subdivision, at a rate which shall not be less than twenty-five cents nor more than fifty cents for each folio of one hundred words, as the board of supervisors in the several counties may determine. It shall be the duty of each board of supervisors in the several counties of this state, in making out the assessment-rolls, to assess and levy on the taxable property of the county whose representatives they are, such sums as shall be sufficient to defray the expense of publishing the laws of a local nature applicable only to the county effected, in the newspaper designated.

6. This section shall not apply to counties in which the publication of the laws provided for in this section is regulated by special provision of law, where the same is inconsistent therewith, but the number of papers in which such laws are directed to be advertised, and the rates of compensation for such publications fixed by such special provision shall not be changed by the provisions of this section. [Legislative Law, § 48; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 3117.]

7. Compensation for publication of local laws.—The charge for the publication of laws of a local nature in the newspapers designated to publish said laws shall be paid by the several counties of the state in which said laws may be published in the manner and at the compensation prescribed by section forty-eight of the legislative law. [County Law, § 21; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 723.]

§ 6. NEWSPAPERS DESIGNATED TO PUBLISH ELECTION NOTICES AND OFFICIAL NOTICES.

Such boards, except in the counties of Erie and Kings, shall in like manner, designate two newspapers,[21] representing respectively each of the two principal political parties into which the electors of the county are divided, in which shall be published the election notices issued by the secretary of state, and the official canvass, and fix the compensation therefor, which shall be a county charge. [County Law, § 22; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 724.]

§ 7. COUNTY BUILDINGS, LOCATION OF, MAY BE CHANGED; PETITION FOR CHANGE BEYOND BOUNDARIES OF VILLAGE OR CITY.

The board of supervisors may, except in the county of Kings, by a majority vote of all the members elected thereto, fix or change the site of any county building, and the location of any county office;[22] but the site or

21. Designation of more than two newspapers.—An attempt by members of a board of supervisors to designate for the publication of election notices four papers for each of the two principal political parties is void as to all the papers so designated, and a resolution revoking the designation is unnecessary. The compensation to be paid for publishing election notices is not limited by the rates fixed for the publication of the Session Laws. Matter of Ford v. Supervisors, 92 App. Div. 119, 87 N. Y. Supp. 417, appeal dismissed 178 N. Y. 616.

In construing this section the identity of the two principal political parties is established by the result of the state election rather than by the outcome of a county or local election. In designating newspapers to publish the election notices the choice should therefore be confined to newspapers representing the parties whose candidates receive the highest number of votes in the last State election. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1912), Vol. 2, p. 379.

Publication of determinations and statements of county boards of canvassers as to persons elected should be made only as to county officers, members of assembly and county propositions. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1912), Vol. 2, p. 423.

Provisions mandatory.—The provisions of this section relative to the "official canvass" are mandatory and such canvass which is a tabulation of all the votes of the county by election districts, should be published in addition to the publication of the determinations and statements mentioned in section 438 of the Election Law. Opinion of Atty. Genl. (1917), 10 State Dept. Rep. 506.

All determinations of the county board of canvassers and the statements upon which they are based, are required to be published in one issue of two newspapers designated by the board of supervisors. The determination may be combined as to all officers elected in the county. Opinion of State Comptroller (1916), 10 State Dept. Rep. 547.

22. Constitutionality.—The provisions of this section and of §§ 32 and 33 post, as to removal of county buildings and offices from one part of the county to another, are not an invalid delegation of the legislative power to the people; the line of demarcation between legislative and administrative functions may not always be easily ascertained, but the deciding upon the site of county buildings is in its nature administrative and is not strictly and exclusively a legislative power within the meaning of the Constitution. Stanton v. Board of Supervisors, 191 N. Y. 428, affg. 112 App. Div. 877, 98 N. Y. Supp. 1059.

Exclusive power to erect county buildings and to fix or change the site is vested in the board of supervisors, except where a change in location exceeds one mile, and a submission of the proposition to the electors of the county is not binding on the board. Rept. of Atty. Genl., Apr. 28, 1911.

Majority vote.—A resolution to change a county seat must be adopted by a majority vote of the members elected, and a member not legally elected is not to be counted; an act of the legislature attempting to legalize an illegal resolution of the board, locating or changing a county seat, is in violation of article 3, § 18, of location of no county building or office shall be changed when the change shall exceed one mile, and shall be beyond the boundaries of the incorporated village or city, where already situated, except upon a petition of at least twenty-five freeholders of the county, describing the buildings or office, the site or location of which is proposed to be changed, and the place at or near which it is proposed to locate such new building or office; which petition shall be published once in each week for six weeks immediately preceding an annual or special meeting of such board, in three newspapers of the county, if there be so many, otherwise, in all the newspapers published in the county as often as once a week. With such petition shall also be published a notice, signed by the petitioners, to the effect that such petition will be presented to the board of supervisors at the next meeting thereof.

The board of supervisors of any county may acquire a new site or location for the county almshouse, erect suitable buildings thereon, and remove the inmates of the existing almshouse thereto, upon a majority vote of all the members elected to said board at a regular session thereof or at a special session called for that purpose, in any case where the state board of charities shall have certified to said board of supervisors that in the opinion of a majority of said state board of charities such change is necessary to the proper care of the inmates of such institution; in which case it shall not be necessary to receive or publish the petition hereinbefore provided or to submit the question of change or removal to the electors of such county as provided in sections thirty-two and thirty-three of this chapter; provided, however, that no site or location shall be selected or acquired by such board of supervisors which shall not have been approved by said state board of charities. [County Law, § 31, B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 729.]

§ 8. ACTION OF BOARD UPON PRESENTATION OF PETITION FOR CHANGE OF LOCATION.

On the presentation of such petition and notice, with due proof of their publication, if a majority of all the members elected to such board vote in favor of a resolution for the removal of the site of the buildings described in such petition, to the site also therein described, or the change of the location of its county offices or any of them, said board shall thereupon direct that such resolution, together with the notice that the question of such removal will be submitted to the electors of the county at the ensuing general election, be published in at least two newspapers published in the county to be designated by the board, once in each week for six consecu-

§ 9. SUBMISSION OF QUESTION OF REMOVAL OF COUNTY BUILDINGS TO VOTE OF PEOPLE.

The question of the removal of the site of such buildings, or the change of the location of any such office, shall thereupon be voted on by the electors of the county at such general election by ballot. If a majority of the ballots cast shall be in favor of such removal, the proceedings of such board of supervisors shall be deemed ratified by the electors, and the change of the site of such buildings, or the removal of such offices, shall be made accordingly: but the old site, and buildings thereon shall be continued and used until new buildings upon the new site have been provided and accepted by the board of supervisors. [County Law, § 33; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 730.]

§ 10. AFTER DETRUCTION OF POOR-HOUSE, PETITION FOR CHANGE OF SITE.

Whenever any county poor-house or almshouse shall have heretofore been, or shall hereafter be destroyed by fire or otherwise, twelve or more resident freeholders of the county may present to the chairman of the board of supervisors of the county a petition for the change of site of such county poor-house. If the annual meeting of the board of supervisors is to be held at any time within three months following the presentation of such petition to the chairman, he shall cause the same to be presented to such annual meeting for the consideration and action of such board; but if an annual meeting of the board is not to be held within three months following the presentation of such petition to the chairman, he shall, upon the presentation of such petition to him, cause a special meeting of such board to be convened for the purpose of considering and acting upon such petition.

23. Legislature cannot change location. The legislature cannot pass a private or local bill locating or changing county sites, see Constitution, art. 3, sec. 18. It was held in the case of Williams v. Boynton, 147 N. Y. 426, 42 N. E. 184, that a special act of the legislature which undertakes to validate an illegal and wholly unauthorized resolution of the board of supervisors, locating or changing a county site, is a local act; and that such act is an attempt to do indirectly what cannot, within the provision of the constitution, be done directly by the legislature, and is therefore unconstitutional and void. But see People ex rel. Commissioners v. Supervisors, 36 Misc. 597, 73 N. Y. Supp. 1098, aff'd 170 N. Y. 105.

Such meeting may be called upon a notice signed by the chairman, directed to the members of the board and stating the time, place and object of the meeting, which shall be served upon each member of the board, either personally or by leaving it at his residence with some person of suitable age and discretion, at least three days before the time when such meeting is to be held, or by mail at least ten days before such time. The chairman shall call such meeting to be held upon some day within thirty days from the time of the presentation of the petition to him. At any such special meeting or at any annual meeting at which such petition shall be presented for the consideration and action of the board, the board may by a vote of two-thirds of all the members thereof, determine by resolution, to change the site of any such county poor-house, and to purchase a new site and farm for such county-house and for the support, care and maintenance of the poor of the county, and to sell and convey the old site of the county poor-house and the farm connected therewith.[24] The board shall also, by resolution, direct that every such resolution, with a notice signed by the chairman and clerk of the board, that the question of such sale and disposal of the old site and farm, and the purchase of a new site and farm for the county poor-house, and for the support, care and maintenance of the poor of the county, will be submitted to the electors of the county, at the ensuing town meeting to be held in the several towns thereof, shall be published in at least six newspapers published in the county designated by the boards, if there be that number, if not, in all the newspapers of the county, at least one full week immediately preceding such town meeting, and posted for at least ten days before the town meeting in at least six public places in each town in the county. If the annual town meetings of the county are not to be held within three months after the passage of such resolution, the board shall, by resolution, direct that a special town meeting shall be held in each town of the county on a day to be specified therein, at which such questions will be submitted to the electors of the county. Every resolution of the board calling such special town meeting shall be published in at least six newspapers of the county, to be designated by the board, for the period of at least four successive weeks immediately preceding the time when such special town meetings are to be held; or if a less number of newspapers than six are published in the county, such resolution shall be published in all the newspapers thereof. At any annual or special town meeting at which such question shall be submitted to the electors of the county, the vote shall be by ballot, which shall be in this form: "In favor of the sale and disposal of the present county poor-house site and farm; and of the purchase of a new site and farm"; or, "Against the sale and disposal of the present county poor-house site and farm, and the purchase of a new site and farm." The ballots shall be provided and delivered by the county clerk of the county; and the expense thereof shall be a county charge. The officers presiding at such town meeting shall canvass the votes cast thereat and make a correct statement of the number cast in favor of and the number cast against the question submitted, and certify the same in duplicate; one of which shall immediately be filed in the town clerk's office, and the other of which shall, within twenty-four hours after the conclusion of such canvass, be filed in the county clerk's office. Within twenty-four hours after the statements of the canvass of votes in all the towns of the county shall have been filed with the county clerk, he shall canvass and compile a statement of the whole number of votes cast in the county upon the question submitted, and of the number cast in favor of and against such question, respectively, and make and record a certificate of such result in his office; and within twenty-four hours thereafter cause a certified copy thereof to be delivered to the chairman of the board of supervisors, if a majority of the electors of a county voting upon such question at such town meetings shall have voted in favor of the question submitted. The chairman of the board, upon the receipt of the certified copy of such certificate from the county clerk, shall call a special meeting of the board, to be held at some time to be designated by him, not more than thirty days thereafter, and of which meeting notice shall be given to each member of the board, either personally or by mail, at least ten days before the time of the meeting. If the annual meeting of the board is to be held within such period of thirty days a special meeting shall not be called. At any special meeting of the board, called and convened as herein provided, or at any annual meeting convened within such period of thirty days, such board of supervisors shall have full power and authority to sell and dispose of the site and farm then owned and used by the county for the support, care and maintenance of its poor, and to select, locate and purchase a new site or farm for the county poor-house, and for the support, care and maintenance of the poor of the county, and to raise all necessary sums of money upon the taxable property of the county to defray the expense and cost of the purchase of such new site and farm, and to carry out the provisions of this section over and above the amount that shall be realized from the sale and disposal of the old site and farm, and such moneys as may be in the hands of the county treasurer of the county applicable to such purchase. And the board may also, at any such meeting, provide for the erection of a new county poor-house, and other buildings to be used in connection therewith, and for the levy of a tax upon the taxable property of the county, to raise the necessary sums of money to defray the expense thereof. In case there shall be no chairman of the board of supervisors at a time when any notice required by this section is to be served, or any call of a meeting to be made by such chairman, the clerk of the board of supervisors, if there be one, or, if not, any member of the board of supervisors designated by such petitioners, shall serve the notices and call the meetings required by this section to be served or called by the chairman.

This section shall not apply to Kings county.[25] [County Law, § 34; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 731.]

§ 11. BOARD MAY ESTABLISH FIRE DISTRICT OUTSIDE OF AN INCORPORATED VILLAGE; FIRE COMMISSONERS; LEVY OF TAXES FOR FIRE PROTECTION.

1. Each board of supervisors may, on the written, verified petition of the taxable inhabitants of a proposed fire district outside of an incorporated village or city, and within the county, whose names appear on the last preceding assessment-roll of the town wherein such proposed fire district is located, as owning or representing more than one-half of the taxable real property of such district, or as owning or representing more than one-half of the taxable real property of such district owned by the residents thereof, establish such district as a fire district.[26] Where such proposed fire district is situated in two or more counties, the board of supervisors of each county in which a part of such fire district is located, may, by resolution, on the written, verified petition of the taxable inhabitants of that portion of the proposed fire district located in such county, whose names appear on the last preceding assessment-roll of the town or towns in which the proposed fire district is located, as owning or representing one-half of the taxable real property of that part of such proposed fire district located in such county owned by the residents thereof, direct that when a similar resolution is adopted by the board of supervisors of each of the other counties in which such proposed fire district is located,

25. Reference.—This and the preceding section were both taken in part from L. 1885, ch. 160, as amended, and are apparently in conflict with each other. This section is to be followed where it is sought to acquire a new site for an almshouse after the destruction of the old almshouse.

26. Establishment of districts; preliminary petition. The action of the board of supervisors in undertaking to establish a fire district in a town, under the above section, is legislative in character and is not rendered subject to review by a certiorari, because the affidavit verifying the preliminary petition does not state that the petition complies with the requirements of the statute that the names attached appear, by the last assessment-roll, to be those of the owners of more than one-half of the taxable real property of the district described. Since the action of the board is legislative in form, they are pre-and upon the adoption of such resolution by each such board, such fire district shall be and be deemed to be legally established. No such district shall extend in any direction to exceed one mile from the nearest engine or hose or hook and ladder house located within the district, or to exceed three miles from the nearest station at which an automobile fire engine or an automobile chemical engine is maintained within the district. When any two or more fire districts, established as above provided, not within an incorporated village, adjoin each other, the board of supervisors of the county in which said districts are located, may, upon a written, verified petition of the taxable inhabitants of each of said districts whose names appear on the last preceding assessment-roll of the town or towns within which said fire districts are located, as owning or representing more than one-half of the taxable real property of each of said districts, or as owning or representing more than one-half of the taxable real property of each of said districts owned by the residents thereof, consolidate such fire districts and establish the same into one fire district. The trustees of such fire district hereinafter provided may establish, equip and maintain such engine, hose or hook and ladder houses as they may deem necessary. [Sub. amded. by L. 1914, ch. 381.]

2. When any such fire district has been established or consolidated in the manner above provided, the legal voters thereof may elect not less than three nor more than five residents thereof to be the fire commissioners for a term of five years or such less term as a majority of such voters at the time of any such election may express on their ballots;[27] and may also elect a treasurer in such fire district for a term of three years, who shall be entitled to receive and have the custody of the funds of the district and pay out the same for the purposes herein provided for, on the order of the fire commissioners, which treasurer before entering on the duties of his office, shall give such security as the board or boards of supervisors may require. The first election for such fire commissioners and treasurer shall be called by the clerk of the town within which any such district shall be established, or when any such district is within more than sumed to have determined the preliminary question of fact that the petition was signed by the requisite number of owners of taxable real property; and although such determination may not be final the burden of showing the fact to be otherwise devolves upon those who attack the validity of the action of the board. This may be done in an appropriate action, but not in certiorari proceedings where the issue is not raised. The statutory requirement of a petition is not violated by the circulation and presentation as one petition, of several separate pieces of paper, all expressing the same subject matter, alike except as to the signatures. one town within the county, or if located in more than one county, by the clerks of such towns jointly and concurrently, within thirty days from the establishment or consolidation of such fire district or districts, and upon such notice and in the same manner as required for special town meetings. All subsequent elections shall be called in the same manner by the clerk or clerks of the town or towns, not less than thirty days prior to the expiration of the term of office of any such commissioners or of the treasurer; special elections to fill any vacancies shall be called in the same manner within thirty days after any such vacancy shall occur.

3. Any such district when established or consolidated shall be known by such name as the fire commissioners thereof may adopt at their first meeting for the organization, and thereafter such fire commissioners shall be authorized and empowered to purchase apparatus for the extinguishment of fires therein; rent or purchase suitable real estate and buildings or erect, alter or repair buildings, for the keeping and storing of the same; and to procure supplies of water, and have control and provide for the maintenance and support of a fire department in such district; and shall have power to organize fire, hook, hose, ladder, axe and bucket fire patrol companies; and to appoint a suitable number of able and respectable inhabitants of said district as firemen and to prescribe the duties of the firemen and the rules and regulations for the government of all companies and of the fire department in such district; and who shall have power to make any and all contracts within the appropriations voted by the resident taxpayers of the district for the purpose of carrying out the authorization and powers herein granted.

4. Such fire commissioners may expend in any one year for any or all the purposes above specified a sum or sums not exceeding the total of five hundred dollars, and make a contract for a supply of water for fire purposes for a period not to exceed five years, without any appropriation voted therefor by the taxpayers of such district. For the purpose of giving effect to these provisions the fire commissioners are hereby authorized whenever a tax shall be voted to be collected in instalments for the purposes of carrying out the authorization and powers herein granted, to borrow so much of the sum voted as may be necessary at a rate of interest not exceeding six per centum per annum and to issue bonds or other evidences of indebtedness therefor, which shall be a charge upon the district and be paid at maturity; and such bonds shall not be sold below par; due notice of the time and place of the sale of such bonds shall be given at least ten days prior thereto; the payment or collection of the last instalment shall not be extended beyond ten years from the time when such vote was taken. [Subd. 4, amended by L. 1918, ch. 110.]

5. Whenever the fire commissioners in any such fire district shall submit a request in writing for an appropriation of any sum of money for the purposes herein authorized, the clerk or clerks of the town or towns in which such fire district shall be located, shall call a meeting of the resident taxpayers of the district for the purpose of voting upon the question of appropriating such money, such meeting to be called by a notice posted conspicuously in at least two of the most public places in such fire district, at least ten days before the holding of any such meeting, which notices shall state the time, place and purpose of the meeting. At any such meeting such resident taxpayers may appropriate the amount requested by the fire commissioners, or any less amount, and may determine that the sum so appropriated or some part thereof shall be raised by instalments. When any such appropriation is made, or when any amount less than the sum of one hundred dollars shall have been expended by such fire commissioners, as above authorized, the amount appropriated or expended and the amount contracted to be paid yearly for the supply of water for fire purposes, shall be assessed, levied and collected on such district, in the same manner, at the same time and by the same officers as the taxes of the town in which the district is located, are assessed, levied and collected, and when collected shall be paid over immediately by the supervisor of the town to the treasurer of the fire district; and the town shall be responsible for any and all sums so collected until the same shall be paid over to such treasurer.[28]

6. Such fire commissioners shall before the annual meeting of the board of supervisors present to the supervisor of the town or towns in which such fire district is situated an itemized and verified statement in duplicate of the amount expended by them during the preceding year, without an appropriation having been made therefor by the taxpayers of such district. The supervisors shall file one of such duplicates in the office of the town clerk, and one shall be presented by him to the board of supervisors.

7. All meetings of any such district called for the election of officers, or for the appropriation of money, shall be presided over by a resident taxpayer to be designated by the fire commissioners, except that the first meeting after any such fire district shall have been established shall be presided over by a resident taxpayer selected by the legal voters at the meeting; and all elections for fire commissioners and for treasurer shall be by ballot, in the same manner as is provided for the election of other town officers. Such meetings shall be open to receive ballots for not less than two hours, which hours shall be stated in the notice. There shall be one inspector to receive ballots and one clerk to record the names of the voters. The chairman, inspector and clerk shall receive the sum of three dollars each for their services as such.

8. The board of supervisors in any county in which any such fire district shall have been heretofore or shall be hereafter established, or, where such fire district is located in two or more counties, the several boards of supervisors of the counties in which a part of such fire district is located, by resolution adopted in the manner provided for the establishment of such district, may at any time, upon the written verified petition of the taxable inhabitants of any such district, whose names appear upon the last preceding assessment-roll of the town within which such district is located as owning or representing more than one-half of the taxable real property of such district, or as owning or representing more than one-half of the taxable real property in such district owned by the residents thereof, discontinue such district as a fire district, and upon such action being taken by the supervisors, the fire commissioners of such district, where it is wholly within a village incorporated since said district was formed, shall turn over to any fire corporation organized by the trustees of said village all the property thereof, such village to pay all the debts thereof, and in other than such last-named districts the fire commissioners shall proceed to sell the property belonging to such district at public sale; three notices of such sale shall be posted conspicuously in three of the most public places in the district, for a period of thirty days prior to the sale, and the proceeds of such sale shall be paid over by the treasurer of the district to the supervisor of the town and the sum so paid over shall be credited to the taxable real property located in such district, in the next succeeding assessment of town taxes, provided, however, that, if there be outstanding any bonded or other indebtedness of such fire district, the proceeds of such sale shall be used to pay such bonds or obligations as shall then be due, and as to any bonds or obligations which are not due, such part of said proceeds as shall be sufficient to meet such outstanding bonds or obligations at their maturity shall be invested and held by the county treasurer under the supervision of the board of supervisors as a sinking fund for the redemption of such outstanding bonds or obligations at their maturity. Provided, however, that if it shall, at any time, be possible to purchase at par or less any of such bonds or obligations, such board of supervisors may cause to be bought in and canceled any such bonds or obligations of the fire district; and if such proceeds of such sale and the income therefrom be not sufficient to redeem such bonds or obligations at their maturity, and to pay the interest thereon, then there shall be levied and collected, in annual instalments, from the district charged with the payment of such bonds or obligations, such a sum as will be sufficient to pay the interest on such bonds or obligations and to redeem them at their maturity. If, however, there shall be any excess collected, such excess shall be paid over to the supervisor of the town, and the sum so paid over to the supervisor shall be credited to the taxable real property located in such district, in the next succeeding assessment of town taxes. [Sub. amended by L. 1910, ch. 115.]

9. Whenever any portion of any such fire district heretofore or hereafter established shall be incorporated into the corporate limits of any incorporated village or city, the board of supervisors of the county in which such district is located, or where such fire district is located in two or more counties, the several boards of supervisors, by resolution adopted as herein provided for the establishment of such district, shall, upon the written verified petition of more than one-half in assessed valuation of the taxable inhabitants of such incorporated portion of the fire districts, or upon the written, verified petition of more than one-half in assessed valuation of the taxable inhabitants of such unincorporated portion of the fire district, change the boundaries of such district in such manner as shall exclude such incorporated portion of the district, if the petition be by such taxable inhabitants of the incorporated portion, or in such manner as to exclude such unincorporated portions of the district, if the petition be by such taxable inhabitants of the unincorporated parts and thereafter such excluded portion of the district shall not be entitled to the protection, nor liable to be assessed or taxed for the support of the fire department of such district, and the portion not excluded shall thereupon assume and be liable to pay all the bonded or other indebtedness of said district. [Sub. amended by L. 1910, ch. 115.]

10. Where any two fire districts not within any incorporated village adjoin each other, the boundary line between such districts may be changed by the board of supervisors of the county in which they are located, or, where such fire district is located in two or more counties, by resolution adopted in the manner herein provided for establishing such district, as the case may be, upon a written verified petition of the taxable inhabitants of the portion of the fire district applied to be changed, whose names appear upon the last preceding assessment-roll of the town within which said portion of said fire district is located, as owning or representing more than one-half of the taxable property of such portion of said fire district, or as owning or representing more than one-half of the taxable real property of such portion of said fire district owned by the residents thereof, provided the taxable inhabitants of both said fire districts and within the county, whose names appear upon the last preceding assessment-roll of the town or towns, owning or representing more than one-half of the taxable property of said district, or as owning or representing more than one-half of the taxable real property of such fire districts owned by the residents thereof, shall consent in writing to such change.

11. Territory not in a city, village or fire district may be annexed to an adjoining fire district as provided in this subdivision. A verified petition for such annexation describing the territory and signed by taxable inhabitants whose names appear on the last preceding assessment-roll of the town wherein such proposed annexed territory is located as owning or representing more than one-half of the taxable real property of such annexed territory or as owning or representing more than one-half of the taxable real property of such annexed territory owned by the residents thereof, may be presented to the commissioners of such fire district. Each person signing the petition shall state opposite his or her name the assessed valuation of the property assessed to him or her in such territory. Such petition must be verified by at least three persons signing the same to the effect that the petition represents in value more than one-half of the asssed valuation of the property as above described or that it represents in value more than one-half of the taxable real property of such territory owned by the residents thereof. Such petition must be accompanied by a resolution of the board of supervisors of the county in which such territory is situated consenting to such annexation. Upon the presentation of such petition and consent the fire commissioners shall cause a proposition for such annexation to be submitted at a special election.[28a] If the proposition be adopted, the petition and consent and the certificate of the election shall be recorded in the book of records of the commissioners of the district. Such annexation shall take effect upon the receipt by the fire commissioners of the certificate of the clerk of the board of supervisors, under the seal of his office, certifying that he has received and placed on file in the office of the board of supervisors an outline map and description of the corporate limits of such fire district as extended, together with the date of filing the same in his office. Such outline map and description shall plainly show and describe the territory annexed. A certificate thereof containing a description of the territory annexed shall, within ten days after such election, be filed by the fire commissioners in the offices of the clerk of the town and of the county in which such annexed territory is situated. [County Law, § 38, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 405; subd. 11, added by L. 1913, ch. 127; B. C. & G. Cons. L. p. 735.]

§ 12. EFFECT OF INCORPORATION OF VILLAGE WITHIN LIMITS OF FIRE DISTRICT.

Whenever any fire district is located entirely within the corporate limits of two or more villages by virtue of the incorporation of such villages after the establishment of such fire district, and the said villages or either of them has not been excluded from the limits or boundaries of such fire districts in accordance with the provisions of section thirty-eight of this chapter, the town board and the board of fire commissioners of such fire district, shall meet together on the Friday next preceding the annual meeting of the board of supervisors and estimate the amount necessary for the support of the fire department within such fire district, the purchase, lease and maintenance of suitable real estate and buildings for the keeping and storing of the same for the purchase of the water supply for fire purposes and for the payment of debts and accounts which may have become due and shall certify the same to the board of supervisors of the county, which said estimated amount shall, in the same manner as the expenses of the town are raised, be assessed, levied and collected only from the property within such fire district. The collector shall pay the sums thus collected to the supervisor of the town who shall pay the same to the treasurer of the fire district upon the order of the board of fire commissioners. [County Law, § 39, B. C. & G. Cons. L. p. 740.]

§ 13. SOLDIERS' MONUMENT, BOARD OF SUPERVISORS MAY APPROPRIATE MONEYS FOR THE ERECTION OF.

Any such board may also, by a vote of two-thirds of its members, raise and appropriate such moneys as it may deem necessary, for the erection within the county of public monuments, in commemoration of the federal soldiers and sailors in the late war of the rebellion, or of any other public person or event, and for repairing and remodeling such monuments; all moneys so raised shall be expended by direction of the board of supervisors; but no county officer shall receive any compensation for services rendered pursuant to this section.[29] [County Law, § 40; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 740.]

County Law, §§ 41, 43, 44.

§ 14. TEMPORARY LOANS; ISSUE OF OBLIGATIONS THEREFOR.

Whenever moneys are borrowed by a county on temporary loans, pursuant to a resolution duly adopted by the board of supervisors of such county, in anticipation of the taxes of the current fiscal year and for the purposes for which such taxes are levied, as provided by section five of the general municipal law, the notes, certificates of indebtedness or other county obligations issued for the moneys so borrowed shall be signed by the county treasurer and countersigned by the county clerk. The county clerk shall enter in a book in his office, to be provided therefor at the expense of the county, the date of each such note, certificate of indebtedness or other county obligation, the amount for which it was issued, the time when payable, and a general statement as to the resolution of the board of supervisors authorizing the issue thereof. [County Law, § 41, B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 741.]

§ 15. ESTABLISHMENT OF COUNTY LABORATORIES.

The board of supervisors of any county shall have the power, by the vote of a majority of said board, to establish a county laboratory and to appoint a thoroughly trained and competent county bacteriologist to have charge of such laboratory, and such assistants as may be required. [County Law, § 43; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 742.]

Such board of supervisors shall have, by like vote, power to fix the compensation of such county bacteriologist and to remove him from office; fix the compensation of such assistants and remove them from office; also to provide any necessary supplies, equipments, and samples not otherwise provided. Such board of supervisors may from time to time make such rules and regulations concerning the duties and liabilities of erecting a public monument within such town in memory of the soldiers of such town or in commemoration of any public person or event; but no debt shall be created nor shall any tax be imposed on any town for such purpose unless the same shall have been voted for by a majority of the legal voters of the town affected, voting at such election. The board of supervisors may legalize the vote of any town for such purpose, and after such vote they may raise or authorize the specified sum or sums of money to be raised for such purpose in any of the modes provided for by law for raising money for towns. All moneys expended by any town for the purposes authorized by this section shall be expended under the direction of the supervisor, town clerk and justices of the peace of such town or a majority of them or by a commissioner or commissioners for that purpose appointed by such town officers or by a majority of them. But nothing in this section shall affect the right of the electors to vote on a propositon heretofore directed to be submitted by a board of supervisors, or the power of a board of supervisors to carry into effect the vote upon such proposition."

of such officers as said board may deem for the best interests of the county. Provided that the board of supervisors of any county having no county bacteriologist may, and such board is hereby authorized and empowered to make a contract with a county having such county bacteriologist and county laboratory, or with a city having a city bacteriologist and city laboratory, for the performance of such services as said board may deem necessary in the interests of public health. [County Law, § 44; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 742.]

The board of supervisors in any county may appoint a county attorney who shall be removable at its pleasure. The term of office of a county attorney so appointed shall be two years, unless sooner removed, and his salary shall be fixed by the board of supervisors and be a county charge. The board of supervisors may, by local law, prescribe the duties of the county attorney, which duties may include the services to town boards and town officials when not in conflict with the interests of the county. [County Law, § 210, B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 814.]

The board of supervisors in any county may appoint a county attorney. The term of office of a county attorney so appointed shall be two years and his salary shall be fixed by the board of supervisors and be a county charge. A county attorney may be removed by the appointing officer for inefficiency, neglect of duty or misconduct in office, but only after notice and an opportunity to be heard. The board of supervisors may, by local law, prescribe the duties of the county attorney, which duties may include the services to town boards and town officials when not in conflict with the interests of the county. Explanatory note.

CHAPTER V.

BOARDS OF SUPERVISORS AS BOARDS OF COUNTY CANVASSERS.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

County Canvass.

The powers and duties of boards of supervisors as county canvassers are prescribed by sections 430 to 439 of the Election Law. The proceedings of the board as to the canvass of votes cast at general elections held in the county are declared in such sections. The canvass includes the consideration of statements received from the inspectors of the several election districts in the county, and the determination of the number of votes cast in the county for the candidates for public office and for and against such propositions as may have been submitted at the election. Separate statements are required to be made of the votes cast for electors, state officers, representatives in Congress, members of assembly, state senators, county offices and proposed constitutional amendments or other propositions. The board is to transmit such statements to the state board of canvassers, except that in the case of votes cast for county officers and offices filled by votes cast in the county or any portion thereof, in which case the board is to decide for the statements before it as to the persons who have been elected.

Meetings and Organization of Board of Canvassers.

The board of supervisors meets as a board of county canvassers in the county clerk's office on the Tuesday following the election. The board must then elect a chairman. The county clerk acts as the secretary of the board; in his absence, the deputy county clerk acts as such.

SECTION 1. Organization of county board of canvassers; meetings.
2. Production of original statements and copies thereof.
3. Correction of clerical errors in election district statements.
4. Correction in state or county board of canvassers' statement.
5. Statements of canvass by county boards.
6. Decision of county board as to persons elected.
7. Transmission of statements of county boards to secretary of state and municipal assembly.

Election Law, § 430.

§ 1. ORGANIZATION OF COUNTY BOARDS OF CANVASSERS; MEETINGS.[1]

The board of supervisors of each county shall be the county board of canvassers of such county. The county board of canvassers of each county within the city of New York shall consist of the members of the board of aldermen of the city of New York elected as such within the county. The said county boards of canvassers shall also within their respective counties be the city board of canvassers of such city. The county board of canvassers of a county containing a city or cities shall be the city board of canvassers of such city or cities, except that the board of aldermen of the city of Buffalo shall be the city board of canvassers for such city. The county board of canvassers of the respective counties shall meet on the Tuesday next after each election of public officers held in such county other than an election of town, city, village or district school officers held at a different time from a general election. The board of county canvassers shall meet at the usual place of meeting of the board of supervisors, except that in a county wholly included in the city of New York such board of county canvassers shall meet at the office of the county clerk. Upon such meeting they shall choose one of their number chairman of such board. In a county having a single commissioner of elections, instead of a board of elections, such commissioner shall be the secretary of the board of county canvassers. In a county wholly included within the limits of the city of New York and in a county, if any, in which the general powers and duties of a county board of elections is devolved upon the county clerk by this chapter, the county clerk,[2] or if he be absent or unable to act, a deputy county clerk designated by the clerk, shall be secretary of the board of county canvassers. In every other county of the state the president of the board of elections shall be the secretary of the board of county canvassers, or if he be absent or unable to act, the secretary of such board shall be the secretary of the board of county canvassers. When a chairman of the board of county canvassers shall have been chosen, as above provided, the secretary of such board shall thereupon administer the constitutional oath of office to the chairman, who shall then administer such oath to each member, and to the secretary of the board. A majority of the members of any board of canvassers shall constitute a quorum thereof. If, on the day fixed for such meeting, a majority of any such board shall not attend, the members of the board then present shall elect the chairman of the board and adjourn to some convenient hour of the next day. If such board, or a majority thereof, shall fail or neglect to

2. If the county clerk fails to appear, and if his deputy be also absent, the board has power to appoint a secretary in their place to perform the duties which appertain to that office. meet within two days after the time fixed for organizing such board, the supreme court, or any justice thereof, or county judge within such county, may compel the members thereof by writ of mandamus to meet and organize forthwith. [Election Law, § 430; as amended by L. 1910, ch. 432, and L. 1916, ch. 537; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1570.]

§ 2. PRODUCTION OF ORIGINAL STATEMENTS AND COPIES THEREOF.

As soon as such board of county canvassers shall have been organized, the officer with whom they were filed shall deliver to such board of canvassers all the returns with tally sheets annexed containing the original statements of canvass received from inspectors of election for districts within the county for which said board are county or city canvassers. The original statements which have been delivered to members of the board of canvassers shall then be delivered to the board. If any member of the county board of canvassers shall be unable to attend the first meeting of such board, he shall, at or before such meeting, cause to be delivered to the secretary of such board any original statement that may have come into his possession. If, at the first meeting of a county board of canvassers of any county, all returns with tally sheets annexed so required to be produced shall not be produced before the board, it shall adjourn to some convenient hour of the same or the next day, and the secretary of such board shall, by special messenger or otherwise, obtain such missing returns, if possible, otherwise he shall procure the other set of returns with tally sheets annexed, or, failing that, the third set of returns without tally sheets, in time to be produced before such board at its next meeting. At such first meeting, or as soon as an original statement of the result of the canvass of the votes cast at such election in every election district of the county shall be produced before such board, the board shall proceed to canvass the votes cast in such county at such election.[3] [Election Law, § 431, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 821, and L. 1916, ch. 537; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1572.]

§ 3. CORRECTION OF CLERICAL ERRORS IN ELECTION DISTRICT STATEMENT.

If, upon proceeding to canvass such votes, it shall clearly appear to any county board of canvassers that certain matters are omitted from any such statement which should have been inserted, or that any merely clerical mistakes exist therein, they shall have power, and such power is hereby given, to summon the election officers whose names are subscribed thereto before such board, and such election officers shall forthwith meet and make such correction as the facts of the case require; but such election officers shall not change or alter any decision before made

3. Determination of board. It is not the duty of a board of county canvassers to ascertain which of the candidates for an office was in fact elected, but simply to determine from the documentary evidence before them, furnished by inspectors of election, upon which alone they may act, the number of votes given for each candidate. by them, but shall only cause their canvass to be correctly stated.[4] The board of county canvassers may adjourn from day to day not exceeding three days in all, for the purpose of obtaining and receiving such corrected statements. [Election Law, § 432, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 821; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1573.]

§ 4. CORRECTION IN STATE OR COUNTY BOARD OF CANVASSERS' STATEMENT.

The Supreme Court may, upon affidavit presented by any voter showing that errors have occurred in any statement or determination made by the state board of canvassers, or by any board of county canvassers, or that any such board has failed to act in conformity to law, make an order

Ministerial duties. Board of county canvassers cannot act judicially. Id. People ex rel. Blodgett v. Board, 44 N. Y. St. Rep. 738, 19 N. Y. Supp. 206; Matter of Woods, 5 Misc. 575, 26 N. Y. Supp. 169; People ex rel. Derby v. Rice, 129 N. Y. 461. See Matter of Hart, 161 N. Y. 507.

4. Correction of errors. A board of county canvassers has only ministerial and not judicial duties to perform, and cannot enter upon a judicial investigation to ascertain the genuineness of a return which the law requires inspectors to make to it. The correctness of such return is favored by the presumption of official honesty and regularity. If the returns are not regular, the board should send them back to the inspectors for correction. People ex rel. Russell v. Board, 46 Hun, 390; People ex rel. Noyes v. Board of County Canvassers, 126 N. Y. 392; 27 N. E. 792; People ex rel. Fiske v. Devermann, 83 Hun, 181; 31 N. Y. Supp. 593.

Boards of canvassers have no power conferred upon them to correct frauds or rectify mistakes, except clerical ones. Their duty is simply to add together the statements of results filed with them by inspectors. People ex rel. Blodgett v. Board of Town Canvassers, 44 N. Y. St. Rep. 738; 19 N. Y. Supp. 206. But returns cannot be sent back to inspectors of election for a recount. People ex rel. Fiske v. Devermann, 83 Hun, 181; 31 N. Y. Supp. 593.

A writ of mandamus will issue to compel the board to send back to the inspectors, for correction, returns which do not show upon their face that any particular person received any votes whatsoever and which do not contain a statement of the number of general ballots protested as "marked for identification." People ex rel. Ranton v. City of Syracuse, 83 Hun, 203; 34 N. Y. Supp. 661; People ex rel. Munro v. Board, 129 N. Y. 469. But where it does not clearly appear that a clerical error exists in the returns of a canvass an application to the court to have it corrected will be refused. Matter of Application of Aldermen, 49 N. Y. Supp. 241.

When the statement or return states a less number of votes for certain candidates than that shown by the unquestioned tally sheet the board of county canvassers may be required by mandamus, on the petition of the candidates prejudiced, to exercise the powers conferred by this section to summon inspectors to correct their returns. Matter of Stewart, 155 N. Y. 545, affg. 24 App. Div. 201, 48 N. Y. Supp. 957.

requiring such board to correct such errors, or perform its duty in the manner prescribed by law, or show cause why such correction should not be made or such duty performed. If such board shall fail or neglect to make such correction, or perform such duty, or show cause as aforesaid, the court may compel such board, by writ of mandamus, to correct such errors or perform such duty; and if it shall have made its determination and dissolved, to reconvene for the purpose of making such corrections or performing such duty.[5] Such meeting of the board of state or county can-

5. Court may compel board to perform its duty. The above section is in effect a re-enactment of L. 1880, ch. 460, authorizing the Supreme Court in proceedings by writ of mandamus to correct errors in the determination of boards of county canvassers and to compel them to reconvene and declare a truthful result of the returns before them. See People ex rel. Noyes v. Board of County Canvassers, 126 N. Y. 392; 27 N. E. 792; Kutz v. County Canvassers, 12 Abb. N. C. 84; People ex rel. Noyes v. Board, 126 N. Y. 392; People ex rel. Daley v. Rice, 129 N. Y. 449; People ex rel. Munro v. Board, 129 N. Y. 469; People ex rel. Russell v. Board, 46 Hun, 390; People ex rel. Fiske v. Devermann, 83 Hun, 81, 31 N. Y. Supp. 593.

The board of county canvassers is manifestly created for the fulfillment of a mere ministerial function. The legislature has not invested it with power to determine questions concerning the conduct or legality of an election. These boards derive their powers strictly from the statute. They cannot hear or consider evidence outside of the returns. They are restricted by the law of their creation to certain prescribed functions, and in their fulfillment they act under the written commands of the statute. A writ of mandamus will lie against them for a failure to perform a specific duty which has been imposed upon them by statute, or where they have failed to conform to the law, or have refused some legal right. People ex rel. Derby v. Rice, 129 N. Y. 461; 29 N. E. 358. The courts in the issuing of such writs will not compel the board to do that which the statute does not authorize them to do. Matter of Woods, 5 Misc. 575; 26 N. Y. Supp. 169.

Upon a writ of mandamus to require the board of canvassers to reconvene and correct alleged errors in its canvass of the votes cast upon a question relating to the location of county buildings, the court cannot decide whether the question, as printed on the ballot, was in the form prescribed by law. People ex rel. Williams v. Board of Canvassers, 105 App. Div. 197, 94 N. Y. Supp. 996.

When refusal of mandamus proper. When a relator seeks a determination by mandamus of a canvassing board that he has been elected to an office in the possession of another, claiming title thereto, who is not a party to the proceeding, the court may refuse the writ as a matter of discretion leaving him to his remedy in the action provided by law for the determination of a title to an office. Matter of Hart, 159 N. Y. 278.

The court has no power to interfere by mandamus with the canvassing of returns, regular upon their face, by the county board, when it is simply alleged that fraud has been committed in the counting of votes by the inspectors. If there were two returns, one true and the other false, the court might compel the board to canvass the true one. People ex rel. Gregg v. Board of County Canvassers, 54 Hun, 595; 8 N. Y. Supp. 259.

vassers shall be deemed a continuation of its regular session, for the purpose of making such corrections, or otherwise acting as the court may order, and the statements and certificates shall be made and filed as the court shall direct, and shall stand in lieu of the original certificates and statements so far as they shall vary therefrom, and shall in all places be treated with the same effect as if such corrected statements had been a part of the originals required by law.

A special proceeding authorized by this section must be commenced within four months after the statement or determination in which it is claimed errors have occurred was made, or within four months after it was the duty of the board to act in the particular or particulars as to which it is claimed to have failed to perform its duty. [Election Law, § 433; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1573.]

§ 5. STATEMENTS OF CANVASS BY COUNTY BOARDS; PRESERVATION OF PROTESTED, VOID AND WHOLLY BLANK BALLOTS.

Upon the completion by a county board of canvassers of the canvass of votes of which original statements of canvass are by law required to be delivered to them, by the boards or officers with whom the same may have been filed by the inspectors of election, they shall make separate statements thereof as follows:[6]

The court cannot compel the county board of canvassers to change the returns of a general election so as to show separately the number of votes cast for the office of governor in the name of and under the emblem of, the political party whose candidate for the office was the same as that of another political party, in order that it shall appear from the returns filed in the office of the secretary of state, whether or not such first mentioned political party polled 10,000 votes for such officer at such election, and is thus entitled to make its nominations for the next year by convention. People ex rel. Boies v. Board of Canvassers, 79 App. Div. 514, N. Y. Supp.

6. The statement returned by board of county canvassers to the State board may not lawfully contain anything save the whole number of votes given in the county, the names of the candidates, and the number of votes given for each, and this must be made up solely from the original statements of the canvass returned by the inspectors in each and all of the election districts of the county. Such a board has no authority to transmit with its return any paper attacking the validity of the election, and if such a paper is so transmitted the state board has no power to consider it. People ex rel. Derby v. Rice, 129 N. Y. 461.

Separate return of votes cast for candidates of political party. The court cannot compel a county board of canvassers to make its return so as to show separately the number of votes cast for the office of governor in the column and under the emblem of a political party whose candidate for the office of governor was the same as that of another political party, in order that it may appear from the returns filed in the office of the secretary of state whether or

1. One statement of all such votes cast for each office of elector of president and vice-president of the United States.

2. One statement of all such votes cast for each state office, to include, in the case of a candidate for governor who was nominated by two or more parties or independent bodies, a separate statement of the number of votes cast for him as the candidate of each party or independent body by which he was nominated.

3. One statement of all such votes cast for each office of representative in congress, except that the board of canvassers in the county of New York shall not make a statement of the votes cast in any election district in said county, for any candidate for the office of assemblyman, senator or representative in congress, the candidates for which were also voted for by voters in election districts in any county not within the city of New York.

4. One statement as to all such votes cast upon every proposed constitutional amendment or other proposition or question duly submitted to all the voters of the state.

5. One statement as to all the votes cast for all and each of the candidates for each office of member of assembly for which the voters of such county or any portion thereof, except as provided in paragraph numbered three in this section, were entitled to vote at such election.

6. One statement as to all the votes cast for each county office, and office of school commissioner, for which the voters of such county, or any portion thereof, were entitled to vote at such election, and to be canvassed by them.

7. One statement as to all the votes, if any, upon any proposition or question upon which only the voters of such county were entitled to vote at such election.

8. In the counties wholly or partly within the city of New York, the respective county boards shall make a separate statement as to the votes, if any, so cast upon any proposition or question upon which only the voters of such city were entitled to vote at such election in such county or portion thereof.

Each such statement shall set forth, in words written out at length, all votes cast for all the candidates for each such office; and if any such office was to be filled at such election by the voters of a portion only of not such political party polled the required number of votes for state officers to entitle it to make its nominations by conventions during the next year. There is no provision in the statute authorizing such a separate return. People ex rel. Boies v. Board of Canvassers, 79 App. Div. 514, 80 N. Y. Supp. 25.

a county, all the votes cast for all the candidates for each office in any such portion of a county, designating it by its proper district number or other appropriate designation; the name of each such candidate; the number of votes so cast for each, and, in the case of a candidate for governor who was nominated by two or more parties or independent bodies, the number separately stated of votes cast for him as the candidate of each party or independent body by which he was nominated; and the whole number of votes so cast upon any proposed constitutional amendment or other proposition or question, and all the votes so cast in favor of and against the same respectively. In the counties wholly or partly within the city of New York, the respective county boards shall make a separate statement of the votes cast for all the city offices voted for by the voters of such city or any portion thereof, within such counties.

The statements required by this section shall each be certified as correct over the signatures of the members of the board, or a majority of them, and shall be filed and recorded in the office of the board of elections of each county, except in the counties wholly within the city of New York, and in such counties they shall be filed in the office of the county clerk. When the whole canvass shall be completed, all original statements of canvass used thereat shall be filed in the office of the secretary of the board, who shall file a report of such canvass with the board of supervisors, except in counties wholly within a city of the first class. The original statement of canvass not used at the canvass and the packages of protested, void and wholly blank ballots shall be retained in the office in which or by the officer with whom they were filed, except as otherwise expressly provided by law. The packages of protested, void and wholly blank ballots shall be retained inviolate in the office in which they are filed subject to the order and examination of a court of competent jurisdiction, or to examination by a committee of the senate or assembly to investigate and report on a contested election of member of the legislature where such ballots were cast at such election, and may be destroyed at the end of six months from the time of the completion of such canvass, unless otherwise ordered by a court of competent jurisdiction or unless such committee examination be pending. [Election Law, § 437, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 821, L. 1914, ch. 244, and L. 1916, ch. 537; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1576.]

§ 6. DECISIONS OF COUNTY BOARDS AS TO PERSONS ELECTED.

Upon the completion of the statements required by the preceding section the board of canvassers for each county shall determine what person has by the greatest number of votes been so elected to each office of member of assembly to be filled by the voters of each county for which they are county canvassers if constituting one assembly district, or in each assembly district therein, if there be more than one, and each person elected by the greatest number of votes to each county office of such county to be filled at such election, and if there be more than one school commissioner district in such county, each person elected by the greatest number of votes to the office of school commissioner to be filled at such election in each district. The board of elections of the county of Hamilton shall forthwith transmit to the board of elections of the county of Fulton a certified copy of the statement so filed and recorded in its office of the county board of canvassers of Hamilton county as to all the votes so cast in Hamilton county for all the candidates and for each of the candidates for the office of member of assembly of the assembly district composed of Fulton and Hamilton counties; and the board of elections of Fulton county shall forthwith deliver the same to the Fulton county board of canvassers, who shall from such certified copy, and from their own statement as to the votes so cast for such office in Fulton county, determine what person was at such election elected by the greatest number of votes to such office. Such board of each county shall determine whether any proposition or question submitted to the voters of such county only has by the greatest number of votes been adopted or rejected.

All such determinations shall be reduced to writing and signed by the members of such board, or a majority of them, and filed and recorded in the office of the board of elections of such county, except in the counties wholly within the city of New York, and in such counties the county clerk, who or which shall each cause a copy thereof, and of the statement filed and recorded in his or its office, upon which such determination was based, to be published in accordance with the provisions of the laws of eighteen hundred and ninety-two, chapter six hundred and eighty-six, sections twenty-one and twenty-two.

The board of elections of each county, except in the counties wholly within the city of New York, and in such counties the county clerk, shall prepare as many certified copies of each certificate of the determination of the county board of canvassers of such county as there are persons declared elected in such certificate, and shall, without delay, transmit such copies to the persons therein declared to be elected, respectively.[7] [Election Law, § 438; as amended by L. 1916, ch. 537; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1578.]

§ 7. TRANSMISSION OF STATEMNTS OF COUNTY BOARDS TO SECRETARY OF STATE BOARD OF ELECTIONS.

Upon the filing in the office of the county clerk or board of elections of a statement of the county board of canvassers as to the votes cast for candidates for the offices of electors of president and vice-president, or as to the votes cast for candidates for state officers, except members of assembly, and for representatives in congress, or as to the votes cast on any proposed constitutional amendment or other proposition or question submitted to all the voters of the state, such county clerk or board of elections shall forthwith make two certified copies of each such statement, and, within five days after the filing thereof in his or its office, transmit by mail one of such copies to the secretary of state, and one to the comptroller of the state. The comptroller shall forthwith upon the receipt thereof deliver such certified copy to the secretary of state. If any certified copy shall not be received by the secretary of state on or before the last day of November next after a general election, or within twenty days after a special election, he shall dispatch a special messenger to obtain such certified copy from the county clerk or board of elections required to transmit the same, and such county clerk or board of elections shall immediately upon demand of such messenger at his or its office make and deliver a certified copy to such messenger who shall, as soon as practicable, deliver it to the secretary of state.

The board of elections of each county, except a county wholly within the city of New York, and in any such county the county clerk, shall transmit to the secretary of state within twenty days after a general election, and within ten days after a special election, a list of the names and residences of all persons determined by the board of county canvassers of such county to be elected member of assembly, or to any county office; and on or before the fifteenth day of December in each year a certified tabulated statement of the official canvass of the votes cast in each such county by election districts for candidates for governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state,[8] comptroller, treasurer, attorney-general, state engineer and surveyor and United States senator, or any proposed constitutional amendment or other proposition, at the last preceding general election, to include, in the case of a candidate for governor who was nominated by two or more parties or independent bodies, a separate statement of the number of votes cast for him as the candidate of each party or independent body by which he was nominated.

7. Canvass of votes cast for persons of similar names. The board of county canvassers cannot determine that the votes cast for several somewhat similar names were all intended for the same person, and from the result thus reached issue a certificate of election to him, but they should certify separately the separate names and issue the certificate of election to the one entitled thereto on the face of the returns. People ex rel. Katham v. County Board of Canvassers, 75 App. Div. 110; 77 N. Y. Supp. 620.

Upon the filing in the office of the county clerk of a county wholly or partly within the city of New York of a statement of the county board of canvassers as to the votes cast for candidates for a city office within such city, such county clerk shall forthwith make a certified copy of each such statement and, within five days after the filing thereof in his office, deliver in a sealed envelope such certified copy to the board of elections of the city of New York; on or before the fifteenth day of December in any year in which there shall have been an election for a city office for which votes were cast in a county within the city of New York the county clerk thereof shall file with the city clerk of such city a certified copy of the official canvass of the votes cast in such county or portion thereof by election districts for such city office, and such canvass by election districts shall, as soon as possible thereafter, be published in the City Record. [Election Law, § 439, as amended by L. 1914, ch. 244, and L. 1916, ch. 537; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1579.]

8. Failure or refusal of clerk to send statement. If the county clerk fails or refuses to send certified copies of the statements of county boards to secretary of state and other state officers, the board may cause statements, attested by one of their number acting as secretary pro tempore, to be transmitted, and such statements shall be filed and considered by the board of state canvassers as the properly certified result of the canvass of the board of county canvassers. People ex rel. Daley v. Rice, 129 N. Y. 449; 29 N. E. 358.

The court cannot compel the return to be changed so as to show that a political party polled 10,000 votes, and is thus entitled to make nominations by convention. People ex rel. Boies, 79 App. Div. 514.

CHAPTER VI.

CLERKS OF BOARDS OF SUPERVISORS.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

Appointment of Clerk.

Each board of supervisors is required to appoint a clerk, who shall serve during the pleasure of the board and until his successor is appointed. (County Law, § 10, ante.) His compensation is fixed by the board. (Idem.) He should take the constitutional oath of office like any other county officer, before the county clerk or county judge (County Law, § 246, post.)[1]

Functions of Clerk.

The clerk has many important duties to perform, some expressly required by statute and others conferred upon him by the board. He is to record all the proceedings of the board, file and preserve accounts acted upon or audited by the board, give certified copies of accounts when requested and upon the payment of fees for copying, prepare tax-rolls under the direction of the board, and perform or cause to be performed under the direction of the board such clerical duties as may be demanded of him. Abstracts of county accounts are to be prepared by him, and he is to cause their publication. Town abstracts prepared by town auditors are to be submitted to him and he should publish them with the abstracts of county accounts. (See Town Law, § 155, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 316.)

SECTION 1. General duties of clerks of boards of supervisors.
2. Clerk to cause statement of accounts audited to be published.
3. Statement of railroad, telegraph, telephone and electric light taxes.
4. Failure to make statement, return or report, penalty for; action to recover penalty.

§ 1. GENERAL DUTIES OF CLERKS OF BOARDS OF SUPERVISORS.

1. For form of oath of office, see Form No. 6, post.

For manner of executing oath, time and place of filing and effect of failure to file, see Public Officers Law, secs. 10, 13, 15 and 30, post.

2. In Westchester county the board is authorized to appoint one or two

1. Record in books provided for the purpose all the proceedings of such board.[3]

2. Make regular entries of all their resolutions or decisions.[4]

3. Record the vote of each supervisor on any question submitted to the board, when the law authorizing the vote requires an entry of the yeas and nays, and in other cases if required by any member present.

4. File and preserve all accounts acted upon by the board.

5. Designate upon every account audited and allowed by the board the amount so audited and allowed and the items or amount disallowed; and deliver to any person who may demand it a certified copy of any account on file in his office, on receiving from such person eight cents per folio therefor.[5]

6. Keep the books and papers of the board open to public inspection without charge.

7. Transmit to the librarian of the state library at Albanay, a copy of the proceedings of such board, annually, and within twenty days after the same shall be published.

8. Prepare the tax-rolls under the direction of the board.

deputy clerks to said board, and may fix their compensation and prescribe their duties. See L. 1903, ch. 483.

3. Record of proceedings. The duties of the clerk of a board of supervisors are purely ministerial,—simply to record correctly what took place at the session of the board, in the order in which it took place. He cannot alter or affect the action of the board in any way. It is his duty by law to make a correct recital of the doings of the board. People ex rel. Burroughs v. Brinkerhoff, 68 N. Y. 259, 267.

The record of proceedings of the board of supervisors, kept pursuant to this section, is for public information and for authentic evidence, and it seems that the supervisors are not entitled to compensation for special services rendered to the county, in the absence of a record showing that such special duties were lawfully committed to them. Wallace v. Jones, 122 App. Div. 497, 501, 107 N. Y. Supp. 288.

4. Entries by clerk. The proper mode by which a board of supervisors renders itself legally liable is by resolution entered in its minutes; its clerk is to make entries of all resolutions or decisions on questions concerning the raising or payment of moneys. Chemung Canal Bank v. Supervisors of Chemung, 5 Den. 517.

Service of process in actions against the county may be made upon the clerk. People ex rel. Van Keuren v. Town Auditors, 74 N. Y. 310.

5. Town abstracts are to be delivered by town boards to the clerk of the board of supervisors and he "shall cause the same to be printed, with the statements required to be printed by him." See Town Law, sec. 155, post.

9. Perform such other duties as may lawfully be required of him by the board.[6] [County Law, § 50; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 748.]

§ 2. CLERK TO CAUSE STATEMENT OF ACCOUNTS AUDITED TO BE PUBLISHED.

The clerk shall annually, on or before the first day of January, make out and certify, and within two weeks cause to be published in a newspaper printed in the county, with the abstract of accounts furnished by town auditors, a statement for the preceding year, containing:

1. An abstract of all county accounts presented to the board at its last annual meeting, allowed or disallowed, with the amount claimed and allowed, and the name of each person presenting the same, and the general nature of the account.

2. The amount, items and nature of all compensation, audited by the board to each member thereof.

6. Other powers and duties of clerk. (See Schedule of Laws after table of contents for pages in this Manual where sections referred to may be found.)

1. As to taxation. The clerk of the board of supervisors is required to transmit to the comptroller, on or before the second Monday in December in each year, a statement of the equalized valuation of the real and personal property in each tax district, and also a statement of the names of corporations and the amount for which each is assessed. See Tax Law, sec. 61, post. He is also required, on or before December 20 in each year, to transmit to the county treasurer an abstract of the tax rolls. See Tax Law, sec. 62, post. For form of abstract of tax rolls, see Form No. 44, post.

2. As to relief of poor. The supervisor of each town is required to report to the clerk of the board of supervisors an abstract of the amount expended in the town for the relief of the poor. See Poor Law, sec. 141, post. For form of report, see Form No. 73, post. When the distinction between town and county poor has been abolished by the board of supervisors, the clerk is required to serve upon each town, village and city clerk, and upon each of the superintendents and overseers of the poor, a copy of the resolution adopted by the board. See Poor Law, sec. 138, post.

3. As to highways. The clerk of the board of supervisors is required to transmit to the comptroller and the commission the amount of highway taxes levied in each town in the county for the repair and improvement of highways therein during the ensuing year. See Highway Law, sec. 100. Transmission of resolutions for construction of county highways to State Commission, Highway Law, § 123, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 487, and § 128, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 240.

4. As to session laws. The clerk is required to forward to the secretary of state the names of the newspapers designated by the board to publish the session laws. See County Law, sec. 20, ante.

5. As to reports. Reports of county officers are to be filed with the clerk of the board of supervisors on or before the fifth day of November of each year, and are to be by him laid before the board of supervisors. See County Law, sec. 243, post.

7. Publication of abstracts. The above section, and section 155 of the Town

3. The number of days the board was in session, and the distance traveled by each member in attending the same.[7] [County Law, § 51; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 749.]

§ 3. STATEMENT OF RAILROAD, TELEGRAPH, TELEPHONE AND ELECTRIC LIGHT TAXES.

The clerk shall, within five days after the making out, or issuing of the annual tax warrant by the board of supervisors, prepare and deliver to the county treasurer of his county, a statement showing the title of all railroad corporations and telegraph, telephone and electric-light lines in such county, as appear on the last asssesment-roll of the towns or cities therein, the valuation of the property, real and personal, of such corporation and line in each town or city, and the amount of tax assessed or levied on such valuation in each town or city in his county.[9] [County Law, § 53; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 750.]

Law as amended by L. 1910, ch. 316, only authorize the publication of town and county abstracts in a single publication. These accounts cannot be cut up and distributed for publication in a number of papers throughout the county. Rogers v. Board of Supervisors, 77 App. Div. 501, 78 N. Y. Supp. 1081.

For form of statement of county and town accounts required by the above section, see Form No. 7, post.

8. Report as to town bonds. The supervisor of each town which has a public debt consisting of bonds or other evidence of debt issued on the credit of the town, is required to make a report to the board of supervisors at each annual session thereof, of the amount of such indebtedness, specifying the different acts under which the bonds were issued, the rate of interest, the amount unpaid, and the amount coming due during the term of office of the supervisor. See Town Law, §§ 190-192, post.

9. See, also, Tax Law, sec. 60, post, which is to the same effect, and must be construed with the above section.

§ 4. FAILURE TO MAKE STATEMENT, RETURN OR REPORT, PENALTY FOR; ACTION TO RECOVER PENALTY.

1. Any such clerk, or any person or persons required under this article to make any report, return or statement who shall refuse or neglect to make the same, shall forfeit to the county the sum of one hundred dollars, to be recovered by the district attorney thereof in the name of the county, and whenever such failure or neglect is caused by any such clerk, person or persons required to make such report, return or statement under the provisions of section fifty-two of this article, such district attorney shall forthwith proceed to obtain such forfeiture on notice in writing by the state comptroller of such failure or neglect; but such clerk shall not be subject to such forfeiture, in case he certify to the said comptroller, on or before the second Monday in December, the name or names of such person or persons who have refused or neglected to furnish him with the information necessary to make such report, return or statement required by said section fifty-two of this article; provided, however, that any such report, return or statement, which may have been made after said second Monday in December, shall be furnished by said clerk to the comptroller immediately upon its receipt.[10]

2. The costs awarded upon the collection of such recoveries may be retained by the district attorney for his own use. [County Law, § 54; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 751.]

10. Penal provision as to failure to make report. Section 1842 of the Penal Law provides that, "A county officer or an officer whose salary is paid by the county, who neglects or refuses to make a report under oath to the board of supervisors of such county on any subjects or matters connected with the duties of his office, whenever required by resolution of such board, is guilty of a misdemeanor."

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

Office of County Treasurer.

The county treasurer is the chief fiscal officer of the county, and as such he has the custody and control of all county funds. The office of county treasurer is not recognized in the constitution as in the case of sheriff, county clerk and district-attorney, and the legislature may provide for his election or appointment by some competent county authority. The office under the statute at the present time is elective.

Duties of Office.

The general duties of the office are prescribed by § 142 of the County Law. But the county treasurer has many other duties conferred upon him by other statutes. These duties pertain to financial matters in which the state or county are interested. It is attempted to group in this chapter all the statutes especially conferring duties upon the county treasurer not properly included in separate chapters. Where he has duties to perform in connection with other county officers or relating to subjects covered by other chapters, references are made to those chapters. It will be noticed that the county treasurer performs important duties in respect to the collection of liquor taxes and taxes upon decedent's estates. In respect to these taxes he acts as agent for the state, and is required to account to state officers.

Official Bonds.

As the county treasurer is the custodian and disburser of county and state funds, the statute is explicit in its requirement of a bond. Such bond is to be in the sum fixed by the board of supervisors, if in session, if not by the county judge and county clerk. The bond is approved in the same manner. The board of supervisors may require additional security, whenever the bond given is, in its opinion, insufficient. The bond is for the protection of the county, and also of the state, to the extent of the moneys in his hands belonging to the state. If a county treasurer defaults his sureties should first be compelled to account; if the remedy against the sureties is not sufficient to make good the loss of the state, action may then be taken against the county. The county will be bound to make good the loss to the state upon the theory that the county treasurer is the agent of the county.

If a county treasurer defaults in the payment of school moneys, a town or the supervisor thereof may sue on the bond.

SECTION 1. County treasurer to be elected in each county; vacancy filled by governor; term of office; official undertaking.
2. Deputy county treasurers in certain counties.
3. General powers and duties of county treasurer.
4. Time for making report may be extended by order of Supreme Court.
5. County treasurer to designate banks of deposit; interest on deposits to be credited; deposits, when made.
6. Depositary to give undertaking before receiving deposits; contents and effect of undertaking.
7. Treasurer not relieved from liability by designation of depositary and deposit of money.
8. Moneys deposited not to be drawn except upon order of supervisors; transfer of funds from one depositary to another.
9. Treasurer to deliver books and funds to successor; penalty for failure.
10. Penalty for neglect to make report or statement.
11. Late county treasurer may maintain action for recovery of moneys.
12. Duties of county treasurer in respect to cemetery trusts.
13. Penalty for neglect to pay over money on order of the court.
14. Misappropriation of moneys and securities by county treasurer.
15. Duties under the Liquor Tax Law; tax to be paid to county treasurer and distributed by him.
16. Compensation of county treasurers on account of the Liquor Tax Law.
17. Duties of county treasurers under taxable transfer provisions of Tax Law.

§ 1. COUNTY TREASURER TO BE ELECTED IN EACH COUNTY; VACANCY FILLED BY GOVERNOR; OFFICIAL UNDERTAKING.

There shall continue, (1) to be elected in each of the counties except in the counties of Kings, Queens and Richmond, a county treasurer, who shall hold his office for three years from and including, in the county of Monroe, the first Tuesday of October, and in the other counties, the first day of January, succeeding his election, and until his successor is duly elected and qualified; (2) to be appointed by the governor, by and with the consent of the senate, if in session, a county treasurer, when a vacancy shall occur in such office, and the person so appointed shall hold the office until and including, in the county of Monroe, the first Monday of October, and in the other counties, the last day of December, succeeding his appointment, and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified.[1] Every person elected or appointed to the office of county treasurer shall, before he enters upon the duties of his office, and if appointed, within fifteen days after notice thereof, give an undertaking to the county, with three or more sufficient sureties, with the approval of the board of supervisors, if in session, indorsed thereon by the clerk, otherwise with the ap-

See Constitution, art. 10, sec. 2. Vacancies in county elective offices are to be filled in the manner provided by the legislature; but "but no person appointed to fill a vacancy shall hold his office by virtue of such appointment longer than the commencement of the political year next succeeding the first annual election after the happening of the vacancy." proval of the county judge and county clerk, and in such sum as such board or judge and clerk approving the same shall direct, to the effect that such person shall faithfully execute the duties of his office, and shall pay over according to law, and account for all moneys, property and securities which shall come to his hands as treasurer, and render a just and true account thereof to the board of supervisors when required, and obey all orders and directions of a competent court relating thereto. When, in the opinion of the board of supervisors, the moneys intrusted to such person as treasurer shall be unsafe, or the surety insufficient, such board may require from such treasurer a new or further undertaking to the same effect as at first, and with like sureties; and if such county treasurer shall fail to renew such undertaking as required within twenty days after he shall be notified by such board of such request, such omission shall work a forfeiture of his office and the same shall become vacant. Such undertaking, with the approval indorsed thereon, shall be filed in the office of the county clerk. The sureties and county therein named shall be liable to the state for the payment to the state treasurer, according to law, of all moneys belonging to the state, which shall come into his hands as county treasurer, and for the rendering of a just and true account thereof to the state comptroller.[2] [County Law, § 140; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 780.]

2. Official undertaking. The county treasurer may file his bond at any time before entering upon the duties of his office. McRoberts v. Winant, 15 Abb. Pr. N. S. 210. Additional securities may be required by board of supervisors. Denton v. Merrill, 43 Hun, 224.

A bond of the county treasurer conditioned, "that he shall faithfully execute the office of treasurer of such county and pay all moneys which shall come into his hands as treasurer according to law, and render a just and true account thereof, to the said supervisors, or to the comptroller of the state when required," and a further condition that he "shall well, truly, and faithfully execute and perform the duties of treasurer of said county, according to law," contains in substance all that the act requires, and is valid. Supervisors of Alleghany County v. Van Campen, 3 Wend. 48. In the case of Supervisors of Schoharie County v. Pindar, 3 Lans. 8, it was held that a bond is not void because its condition "to account to the board of supervisors," contains also the words, "or to the comptroller of the state." These words may be regarded as surplusage.

Liability of sureties. The sureties on the bond of a county treasurer are not exonerated by any neglect or malfeasance of the supervisors in passing upon his accounts. The bond is not conditioned for, and the law does not guarantee such examination. Supervisors of Monroe County v. Otis, 62 N. Y. 88.

The imposition by the board of supervisors upon the county treasurer, during his term of office, of the duty of raising, keeping and disbursing large sums of money, in addition to the usual and ordinary duties of his office, does not discharge the sureties upon his bond from all liability. Conceding that no liability is imposed upon them on account of such increased duties,

§ 2. DEPUTY COUNTY TREASURERS IN CERTAIN COUNTIES.

The county treasurer of any county, having a population of less than fifty thousand according to the last preceding state or federal census, may, when authorized by a resolution of the board of supervisors, appoint and at pleasure remove a deputy county treasurer, who shall perform all the duties and possess all the powers of a county treasurer, during his absence, or inability to act. The compensation of such deputy shall be paid by the treasurer out of the fees or salary allowed to him by law and shall not be a county charge. The appointment of such deputy shall not release the treasurer, from any liability in relation to the moneys in his hands or under his control, or in any manner affect such liability, but any default by such deputy shall be deemed a default of such treasurer, and he shall be liable therefor. The undertaking of the county treasurer required by section one hundred and forty of this chapter given after this chapter takes effect shall cover the acts and default of such deputy. In all other cases the county treasurer shall, before said deputy enters upon the discharge of his duties, give an undertaking with three or more sufficient sureties to the effect that such deputy shall faithfully execute the duties of his office and shall not make default therein, the amount thereof to be fixed and the same to be approved as provided in section one hundred and forty of this chapter for the fixing of the amount and the approval of the under-every obligation in reference to the usual and ordinary duties of the treasurer remains unaffected. Supervisors of Monroe County v. Clark, 92 N. Y. 391; see, also, People v. Vilas, 36 N. Y. 459.

The sureties of a county treasurer are liable for his failure to account for interest on funds deposited. Supervisors of Richmond v. Wandel, 6 Lans. 33.

Allegations of money in hands of treasurer and refusal to pay on orders of the board of supervisors, are material to constitute the breach, in an action on the bond. Supervisors of Monroe v. Beach, 9 Wend. 143.

Moneys due state. The relation of the treasurer to the county and his duties have the nature of an agency; and all losses sustained by reason of his default are chargeable on the county. Supervisors v. Otis, 62 N. Y. 88. See also Denton v. Merrill, 43 Hun, 224; Newman v. Supervisors of Livingston Co., 45 N. Y. 676, 686.

The moneys due the state are payable by the county treasurer, not as the county's officer or agent, but as an individual; and not until the remedy against both the treasurer and his bail has been exhausted can the county be required to act. Nat. Bank of Ballston Spa. v. Supervisors, 106 N. Y. 488.

Action on bond for conversion of school money. The bond of a county treasurer running to the county, conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties of his office, and for the payment over to the proper authorities of all moneys received by him as such treasurer may be sued upon by a town or supervisor thereof to recover school money which had been converted by the treasurer to his own use. taking of the county treasurer. [County Law, § 141; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 782.]

§ 3. GENERAL POWERS AND DUTIES OF COUNTY TREASURER.

The county treasurer shall;[3]

1. Receive all moneys belonging to the county, and all other moneys by law directed to be paid to him, and apply them, and render an account thereof, as required by law.[4]

2. Keep a true account of the receipt and expenditures of all such

3. General powers and duties of county treasurer.

1. As to moneys paid into court. All moneys paid court are to be paid to the county treasurer. Code Civ. Proc., sec. 745. The county treasurer is a trustee of the fund and may bring an action in relation thereto. Code Civ. Proc., sec. 749. Upon the expiration of term, removal or death of a county treasurer, fund must be credited to his successor. Code Civ. Proc., sec. 750. No part of fund to be paid out except upon order of court. Code Civ. Proc., sec. 751, as amended by L. 1917, ch. 731. Accounts, how kept. Code Civ. Proc., sec. 752. Report of funds to comptroller. Code Civ. Proc., sec. 753, as amended by L. 1917, ch. 731.

2. As to taxation. The tax assessed upon bank shares is to be paid to the county treasurer, to be paid by him upon the order of the board of supervisors to the several tax districts in the county entitled to share in the apportionment of such tax, see Tax Law, sec. 24, post. Statements of debts owing to non-residents are to be made to the county treasurer whose duty it is to transmit to the assessors of each tax district copies of so much of such statements as relate to such district, see Tax Law, sec. 35, post. The clerk of each board of supervisors is required to furnish to the county treasurer a statement of the corporations assessed within the several tax districts, see Tax Law, sec. 60, post. The clerk is also required to deliver to the county treasurer an abstract of the several tax rolls, see Tax Law, sec. 62, post. A railroad, telegraph, telephone or electric light company may pay their taxes to the county treasurer whose duty it is to credit the amount thereof to the collector of the proper tax district, see Tax Law, sec. 73, post. The county treasurer may enforce the collection of a tax against a telegraph, telephone or electric light line by a sale of the instruments and batteries connected with such lines. Tax Law, sec. 74, post. The county treasurer may issue his warrant to the sheriff for the collection of unpaid taxes on debts owing to non-residents of the United States, see Tax Law, secs. 76, 77, post. Collectors are required to make a return to the county treasurer of the amount of taxes unpaid and the county treasurer is authorized to incur such expenses as he may deem necessary for the examination of such returns so that he may make a proper sale of lands for unpaid taxes, see Tax Law, sec. 82, post. A collector is required to file with the county treasurer one of duplicate receipts received by him from the officers and persons to whom he has made payment, see Tax Law, sec. 84, post. The county treasurer may upon the application of any supervisor extend the time for the collection of taxes, see Tax Law, sec. 85, and County Law, sec. 16, post. The county treasurer is required to give to the collector who shall have fully paid over and duly accounted for all taxes collected by him, a written certificate of such settlement, see Tax Law, sec. 88, post. The county treasurer

is required to deliver to the supervisor an abstract of the amount of taxes unpaid on resident real property, see Tax Law, sec. 89, post.

It is provided by section 90 of the Tax Law, post, that, "Each county treasurer shall pay to the creditors of the county from moneys paid to him by the collectors of taxes of the several towns therein, such sums and in such manner as the board of supervisors of the county direct." As to payment of state tax to comptroller and fees therefor, see Tax Law, sec. 91, post. The comptroller is required to state annually on June 1st the account of each county treasurer, and if any part of a state tax is unpaid at that date the comptroller must transmit by mail to the county treasurer a copy of such accounts and a requisition that he must pay the balance due to the state within thirty days, see Tax Law, sec. 92, post. In case of a default by the county treasurer or collector the county is to be chargeable, see Tax Law, sec. 93, post.

As to sales by county treasurer for unpaid taxes, see Tax Law, secs. 150-160, post. The county treasurer is required to invest for the benefit of the town taxes paid in such town by railroads constructed with aid of such town, see General Municipal Law, sec. 13, post. As to payment to county treasurer by county clerk of amounts received on account of mortgage tax, see Tax Law, sec. 261, post.

3. As to the relief of the poor. The county treasurer is required to charge to the several towns the amount of money expended for the support of the poor, see Poor Law, sec. 9, post. He is required to keep accounts with the several towns as to the receipts and expenditures for town poor, see Poor Law, sec. 8, post. Overseers of the poor are required to pay to the county treasurer moneys in their hands when the distinction between town and county poor is abolished, see Poor Law, sec. 139, post.

4. As to school moneys. The county treasurer is required to furnish to the commissioner of education a report showing the unexpended moneys in their hands applicable to the payment of teachers' wages and to library purposes, see Education Law, sec. 495. The county treasurer is required to pay to the collector of each school district the amount of taxes returned to him as unpaid, upon the voucher or draft of the board of supervisors, see Education Law, sec. 435, as amended by L. 1910, chap. 284, and L. 1915, chap. 136. The amount so paid is to be laid by the county treasurer before the board of supervisors, who shall cause the amount thereof to be levied upon the lands chargeable therewith; the amount of any such tax so levied may paid by the owner to the county treasurer, see Education Law, sec. 436.

5. As to highways. The moneys received from the state in aid of the improvement and repair of highways under sec. 101 of the Highway Law, as amended by L. 1913, chap. 375, are to be paid by the county treasurer to the supervisor of each town as provided in the Highway Law, sec. 103, post.

6. Fees. As to fees of county treasurer, see Code Civ. Proc., sec. 3321, and chap. 71, post.

4. Payment of claims. For an improper refusal to pay a claim upon the order of the board of supervisors, the appropriate remedy is by mandamus; they have no right to adjust claims presented to them, nor to determine the validity of demands. Huff v. Knapp. 5 N. Y. 65. If the subject matter of a claim against the county is within the jurisdiction of the board of supervisors, and the board allows the claim, the county treasurer has no

3. Yearly, and at such times as the board of supervisors shall by resolution require, make a true, written statement of his accounts generally, verified by his oath to be in all respects true, and file the same with the clerk of the county, and transmit a copy thereof by mail to the comptroller and state treasurer.[6]

4. On or before the first day of March in each year transmit to the state comptroller a statement of all moneys received by him during the preceding year for penalties belonging to the people of the state; and at the same time, pay to the treasurer of the state, the amount of such penalties, after deducting his compensation, in the same manner as state taxes are directed to be paid.[7]

5. On or before the fifteenth day of April in each year pay to the treasurer of the state one-half of the state tax raised and paid over to him; and on or before the fifteenth day of May, the other half, retaining the compensation to which he may be entitled, which shall not in any case exceed the sum of two thousand dollars. If any county treasurer shall not pay over the state tax as herein directed, the comptroller shall charge on right to refuse payment on the ground that the payment was excessive. People ex rel. Martin v. Earle, 16 Abb. Pr. N. S. 64. Where it appears on the face of the account that the board of supervisors had no jurisdiction to allow the account, it is the duty of the county treasurer to withhold payment. People v. Lawrence, 6 Hill, 244.

To account for interest. If a county treasurer fails to pay over money in his hands, he should be charged with interest upon the amount found to be due, from the time that his successor qualifies and enters office, as the sum from that time is not an unliquidated claim within the rule as to interest. Supervisors of Monroe County v. Clarke, 25 Hun, 282. See, also, Supervisors of Chenango County v. Birdsall. 4 Wend. 453.

5. Accounts of county treasurer. The county treasurer is required to keep a true account of all moneys which come into his hands as such, in a book kept for that purpose, provided at the expense of the county. Herendeen v. De Witt, 49 Hun, 53. This statutory provision imposes an active duty upon the treasurer, and a failure to perform it constitutes a breach of the condition of his bond. Supervisors of Monroe Co. v. Clarke, 92 N. Y. 391, 397. A copy of such accounts duly certified by the treasurer may be used in evidence. Erickson v. Smith, 2 Abb. Ct. App. Dec. 64, 38 Hun, Pr. 454.

6. A failure or refusal to furnish report when required by the board of supervisors is a misdemeanr. See Penal Law, sec. 1842, ante.

7. Recovery and disposition of penalties. Actions for penalties incurred to the people of the state may be brought by the attorney-general or district attorney, see Code Civ. Proc., sec. 1962. Penalties recovered by the district attorney, which belong to the county, must be paid to the county treasurer, and such district attorney is required to account for all penalties received by him, at the first term of the county court held in each calendar year, County Law, sec. 201. post.

all sums withheld, such rate of interest as shall be sufficient to repay all expenditures incurred by the state in borrowing money, equivalent to the amount so withheld, and such additional rate as he shall deem proper, not exceeding ten per centum, from the first day of April in each year, which shall be regarded as funds in the hands of the county treasurer, belonging to the state, and for which his sureties and county shall be liable.[8]

6. Within ten days after the first day of July in each year, make and file in the office of the clerk of his county, a special report, which shall contain a statement of all moneys or securities in his hands belonging to

Fees and compensation. The board of supervisors may fix the compensation of county treasurers. See County Law, sec. 12, subd. 5, as amended by L. 1911, chap. 359, L. 1913, chap. 742, L. 1914, chap. 358. But the fees allowed by law for receiving and paying over the state taxes belong to the county treasurer and not to the county. The compensation so fixed is for services rendered to the state,—the allowance is by competent authority, from a fund not belonging to the county, and over which it has no control, and the county has no right to the same, either as originally belonging to it, or as received for its use. Supervisors of Monroe Co. v. Otis, 62 N. Y. 88. But if it be expressly declared by statute that the salary as fixed is in full compensation for all his services it has been held that such fees cannot be retained by him for his own use, see Supervisors of Seneca Co. v. Allen, 99 N. Y. 532; Supervisors of Erie Co. v. Jones, 119 N. Y. 339. See People ex rel. Conine v. Steuben County, 183 N. Y. 114; Upham v. State of New York, 174 N. Y. 336.

The limitation contained in subdivision 5 authorizing a county treasurer to retain compensation on account of the state tax received and paid over by him in a sum not exceeding $2,000 does not supersede the limitation of $500 fixed by L. 1871, ch. 110, § 1, amending L. 1846, ch. 189, and, therefore, the treasurer of a county not excepted from the provisions of the act of 1871, cannot receive more than $500 for receiving and paying over state tax and school moneys. Upham v. State of New York, 174 N. Y. 336, affirming 62 App. Div. 631, 71 N. Y. Supp. 1150. Such act does not authorize a county treasurer to retain for his own use fees for receiving and paying over state taxes and school moneys. People ex rel. Conine v. County of Steuben, 183 N. Y. 114, affg. 93 App. Div. 604.

When county treasurers become salaried officers they are not entitled to exact for their own use, fees or commissions for receiving and paying out moneys passing through their hands in the course of legal proceedings. Matter of N. Y. Central, etc., R. Co., 7 Abb. N. C. 408.

A county treasurer is not allowed commissions on moneys not received by him, as on collector's fees retained by the collectors, back taxes and taxes levied on non-residents' lands returned to the comptroller's office. Supervisors of Chenango v. Birdsall, 4 Wend. 453. Where the compensation of a county treasurer is fixed by the supervisors, he is not entitled to a fee on the state tax in addition to such compensation. People ex rel. Conine v. County of Steuben, 41 Misc. 590, 85 N. Y. Supp. 244, affd. 93 App. Div. 604, 183 N. Y. 114. He is also entitled to the compensation subsequently provided by the legislature for collecting liquor taxes, making reports and issuing licenses, under the Liquor Tax Law. Montgomery v. Vosburgh, 74 Misc. 562, 134 N. Y. Supp. 457. As to rate of commissions allowed county treasurers, see Supervisors of Otsego v. Hendryx, 58 Barb. 279.

7. Exhibit to the board of supervisors, at their annual meeting, or whenever they direct, all his books and accounts, and all vouchers relating thereto, to be audited and allowed. [County Law, § 142; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 783.]

§ 4. TIME FOR MAKING REPORT MAY BE EXTENDED BY ORDER OF SUPREME COURT.

The time for making and filing any report herein required, may be extended twenty days by a justice of the Supreme Court, upon good cause shown; but no order shall be made, unless notice of the application of the same shall have been served on the district attorney of the county; and no such order shall be of any force or effect, until the original order signed by the justice, with the papers on which the same was granted, shall have been filed in the office of the county clerk. [County Law, § 143; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 785.]

Each county treasurer shall, within twenty days after he shall have entered upon the duties of his office, except in counties whose board of supervisors shall otherwise direct, designate by written instrument in duplicate, one copy of which shall be filed in the office of the county clerk, and the other in the office of the state treasurer, one or more good and solvent banks, bankers, or banking associations, in such county; or if there shall be no such, then in an adjoining county within the state, for the deposit of all moneys received by him as such treasurer and agree with such bank or banks, banker or bankers, or banking associations, upon the rate of interest to be paid on the moneys so deposited. The accrued interest thereon shall, as often as once in six months, be credited by such depositary to the account of such county treasurer, for the use of his county; and he shall deposit with such depositary, or depositaries, at least once in each week, and in a county containing a city having more than ten thousand inhabitants, daily, all such moneys so received by him. But nothing herein shall limit the power of any court or officer, by whose direction any moneys shall be paid over to, or received, by such treasurer, to direct in relation to the custody or investment thereof, or the disposition to be made of the interest thereon; and no interest received from any moneys so deposited which are not received for some public use, shall belong to the county.[9] [County Law, § 144; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 785.]

Each bank, banker, or banking association, so designated, shall, for the benefit and security of the county, and before receiving any such deposit, give to the county a good and sufficient undertaking, with two or more sureties to be approved by the judge of the county in which such bank, banker or banking association, shall be located, the chairman of the board of supervisors of the county of which such treasurer is an officer, and such treasurer, or any two of them. Such undertaking shall specify the amount which such treasurer shall be authorized to have on deposit at any one time with such depositary, and shall be to the effect that such depositary shall faithfully keep and pay over on the order or warrant, of such treasurer, or on any other lawful authority, such deposits, and the agreed interest thereon; and for the payment of such bonds or coupons, as by their terms are made payable at a bank or banks, for the payment of which a deposit shall be made by such treasurer with such depositary. Such undertaking shall be filed by the clerk of the board of supervisors with the clerk of the county. [County Law, § 145; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 785.]

§ 7. TREASURER NOT RELIEVED FROM LIABILITY BY DESIGNATION OF DEPOSITARY AND DEPOSIT OF MONEY.

Such designation and deposit of moneys shall not release the treasurer, or his sureties, from any liability in relation to such moneys, or in any manner affect such liability; but any default by such depositary, shall be deemed a default of such treasurer, and he and his sureties shall be liable therefor. [County Law, § 146; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 786.]

9. Authority to designate banks of deposit.—The board of supervisors has no authority to direct the county treasurer where he shall deposit the moneys of the county that come into his hands. Rept. of Atty.-Genl. (1911), Vol. 2, p. 608.

The necessity of designating banks is in no way eliminated by the fact that a county treasurer succeeds himself. Rept. of Atty.-Genl. (1903), 210.

§ 8. MONEYS DEPOSITED NOT TO BE DRAWN EXCEPT UPON ORDER OF SUPERVISORS; TRANSFER OF FUNDS FROM ONE DEPOSITARY TO ANOTHER.

The county treasurer shall draw the moneys so deposited only for the payment of claims ordered to be paid by the board of supervisors, or other lawful authority, or of salaries, county officers, or pursuant to the lawful direction of some court; and if he shall draw or appropriate any money for any other purpose, it shall be deemed a malfeasance in office, and cause for removal therefrom. Nothing herein shall prevent such county treasurer from transferring any such moneys from one depositary to another, which shall have duly qualified by giving security as herein provided.[10] County Law, § 147; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 786.]

§ 9. TREASURER TO DELIVER BOOKS AND FUNDS TO SUCCESSOR; PENALTY FOR FAILURE.

When the right of a county treasurer to his office expires, the books and papers belonging to the office, and all money in his hands by virtue thereof, shall, upon his oath, or if not living, upon the oath of his executor or administrator, be delivered to his successor.[11] Any person violating this section shall forfeit to the county the sum of twelve hundred and fifty dollars. Such successor may recover such forfeitures, books, papers or money due, by action or other legal proceedings, in the name of his county, upon the official undertaking of such former county treasurer, or as otherwise authorized by law. Whenever required so to do by the state comptroller, he shall bring and maintain such action at the expense of the county, for the recovery of all moneys and securities paid into court, or that belong to any heir, litigant or party, or that stand to the credit of any action or proceeding which have come into the hands of any county treasurer whose right to office already has expired, or hereafter shall expire, or which have been placed to his credit in any bank or depository, or with which he is in any way chargeable, and which have not been delivered to his successor; and for all increase, loss, penalty, damage or expense lawfully chargeable to such treasurer in connection therewith. A party to whom such county treasurer may have transferred or assigned any security or other property belonging to any fund held by him, may be made a defendant in the same action, and the rights of the several parties determined therein. Any action so brought at the direction of the state comptroller shall not be discontinued or compromised without the approval of the state comptroller. [County Law, § 148; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 787.]

§ 10. PENALTY FOR NEGLECT TO MAKE REPORT OR STATEMENT.

If a county treasurer shall neglect to make any report or statement herein required of him, except as herein otherwise provided, he shall forfeit to the county a sum to be determined by the jury or court before whom the trial is had, not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars, to be recovered by the district attorney, by action in the name of the county, against such treasurer and his sureties, or one or more of them.[12] [County Law, § 149; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 787.]

§ 11. LATE COUNTY TREASURER MAY MAINTAIN ACTION FOR RECOVERY OF MONEYS.

The county treasurer of any county in this state, within three years after he has ceased to be county treasurer, may maintain an action in any court of record in this state as late county treasurer to recover any moneys, funds or properties belonging to the county or deposited with such county treasurer pursuant to law, without right obtained, received, converted or appropriated, disposed of or withheld by any party or parties, association or corporation, their legal representatives and assigns, during the term or terms of office of such county treasurer.

Any and all moneys, funds and properties recovered in such an action, shall be paid to and deposited with the then treasurer of the county from which such moneys, funds and properties were taken.

Upon the payment of any moneys or the depositing of any funds by a late county treasurer bringing such action, he shall be forthwith credited with the amount and value of such deposit.

This section shall apply to all county treasurers of this state elected to office on or after the seventh day of November, eighteen hundred and eighty-two. [County Law, § 151; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 788.]

§ 12. DUTIES OF COUNTY TREASURER IN RESPECT TO CEMETERY TRUSTS.

A person residing in this state may create a trust in perpetuity for the maintenance of a cemetery lot, the preservation of a building, structure, fence or walk therein, the renewal or preservation of a tomb, monument, stone, fence, railing or other erection or structure on or around such lot, or the planting or cultivation of trees, shrubs, flowers or plants in or about such lot, or for any of such purposes, by transferring, conveying, devising or bequeathing to the county treasurer of the county in which such person resides or in which such cemetery is located, or if such person resides or such cemetery is located in a county wholly within a city, to the chamberlain of such city, real or personal property, and designating such county treasurer or chamberlain as trustee in the instrument creating such trust. Such instrument may direct that the income derived from such property shall be applied to one or more of the purposes specified in this section. A county treasurer or city chamberlain designated as trustee in pursuance of this section, may in his discretion accept the property so transferred, and if he accepts the same, he shall cause the same to be invested in accordance with the terms of the trust, if any are prescribed, and otherwise shall invest and reinvest such property in securities in which savings banks are authorized to invest. The income derived from such property shall be collected by the county treasurer or chamberlain who shall be entitled to receive five per centum of such income for administering the trust. The balance of such income shall be paid by the county treasurer or chamberlain to the person or corporation owning or conducting such cemetery, provided such person or corporation is willing to accept the same and apply the money so received, so far as the same may be applicable, in furtherance of the purposes for which such trust was created. Such money shall not be paid to an individual unless he shall give to the county treasurer or chamberlain a bond in an amount to be approved by him conditioned for the faithful application of such money, in accordance with the terms of the trust. If at any time after the creation of such trust there is no person or corporation willing to receive and apply the income thereof in accordance with the terms of the trust, the county treasurer or chamberlain shall present a petition to the county judge of the county, or a justice of the supreme court of the district wherein such cemetery is located, praying for directions as to the manner in which such trust shall be administered by him. Such county judge or justice of the supreme court may, by order, direct that the trust shall be directly administered by the county treasurer or city chamberlain or may otherwise provide for the administration thereof in such manner as shall, so far as practicable, carry out the intent of the creator of the trust. [County Law, § 152; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 788.]

Whenever any county treasurer, after service on him personally, or by leaving at his office, in his absence, with some person having charge thereof, or if such service can not be made, by leaving with some person of suitable age and discretion at his place of residence, or at his last place of residence in the county, if he has departed therefrom, of a certified copy of an order of the court, directing the payment or delivery of any money or securities held by him pursuant to an order of the court, to any person or persons, shall fail or neglect so to do, or where any county treasurer has invested or loaned any moneys held by him pursuant to an order of the court, to any person or persons on inadequate or worthless securities, and shall fail or neglect, when required so to do, to pay over the amount of the moneys so invested to the person or persons entitled thereto, the court may, by order, direct that an action be brought upon the official bond of such treasurer, against him and his sureties, to recover the amount of the money or securities so directed to be paid or delivered, or of the moneys so invested on inadequate or worthless security, for the benefit of the person or persons in whose behalf the direction shall have been by such order given, and whose name or names appear therein, or their assigns, and thereupon such action may be brought for such purpose.[13] [County Law, § 153; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 789.]

13. Action on bond. Where county treasurer has converted money to his own use and an action is brought upon his bond to recover same, the action is properly brought in the name of the board of supervisors, and the recovery will inure to the benefit of the individual whose property was converted. Board of Supervisors of Tompkins Co. v. Bristol, 99 N. Y. 316.

§ 14. MISAPPROPIATION OF MONEYS AND SECURITIES BY COUNTY TREASURER.

A county treasurer, who wilfully misappropriates any moneys, funds or securities, received by or deposited with him as such treasurer, or who is guilty of any other malfeasance or wilful neglect of duty in his office, is punishable by a fine not less than five hundred dollars nor more than ten thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in a state prison not less than one year or more than five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment. [Penal Law, § 1867; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4052.]

§ 15. DUTIES UNDER THE LIQUOR TAX LAW; TAX TO BE PAID TO COUNTY TREASURER AND DISTRIBUTED BY HIM.

The taxes assessed, and all fines and penalties incurred under this chapter except those assessed under subdivisions four and five of section eight and under section nine-a and all fines and penalties incurred in connection therewith in counties or boroughs having a special deputy commissioner of excise shall be collected by and paid to him. In all other counties such taxes, fines and penalties shall be collected by and paid to the county treasurer of the county in which the traffic is carried on. All taxes assessed under subdivisions four and five of section eight and under section nine-a of this chapter, and all fines and penalties in connection therewith, shall be collected by and paid to the state commissioner of excise. All taxes, fines and penalties under subdivisions four and five of section eight shall be paid by the state commissioner of excise to the state treasurer. One-fourth of the revenues resulting from taxes, fines and penalties collected under the provisions of section nine-a of this chapter which accrue after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and eighteen and one-half of revenues which accrue before July first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, shall be paid by the state commissioner of excise to the state treasurer. The remainder of such revenues shall belong to the town or city in which the traffic was carried on from which such revenues were received and shall be paid to the supervisor of such town or to the treasurer or fiscal officer of such city. After June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and eighteen, one-fourth of the revenues resulting from taxes, fines and penalties under the provisions of this chapter excepting taxes collected under subdivisions four and five of section eight and under section nine-a and before July first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, one-half of tre revenues result from fines and penalties, under the provisions of this chapter less the amount allowed for collecting the same, shall be paid by the county treasurers, and by the several special deputy commissioners receiving the same within ten days from the receipt thereof, to the treasurer of the state of New York to the credit of the general fund, as a part of the general tax revenue of the state and shall be appropriated to the payment of the current general expenses of the state and the remainder thereof, less the amount allowed for collecing the same, shall belong to the town or city in which the traffic was carried on from which revenues were received, and shall be paid by the county treasurer of such county, or by the special deputy commissioner to the supervisor of such town, or to the treasurer or fiscal officer of such city, within ten days from the receipt thereof. All excise moneys collected by county treasurers and special deputy commissioners of excise shall be deposited until the same shall be paid over to the state or local fiscal officer as is herein provided, in bank or other depositories designated by the state commissioner of excise, who shall require from each such bank or depository a bond running to the people of the state of New York in such penalty and with such sureties as shall be approved by the said state commissioner, conditioned that such bank or depository will safely keep all such moneys that may be so deposited in or held by it on deposit and will promptly pay the same over at any and all times upon legal demand therefor. Action on said bond for any default or violation of its conditions may be brought by the state commissioner of excise who shall distribute the amount of money recovered to the locality and the state as their respective interests may appear. At the time of making such payment the special deputy commissioner or county treasurer shall furnish to the officer of such city or town to whom such payment is made a written statement under oath stating when such money was received and from whom received; and that the statement includes all the moneys received to a date named in such statement. Such revenues shall be appropriated and expended by such town or city, in such manner as is now or may hereafter be provided by law for the appropriation and expenditures of sums received for excise licenses or in such other manner as may hereafter be provided by law; and any portion of such revenues not otherwise specifically appropriated by law may be applied to the ordinary expenses of the city or town. Any special deputy commissioner or county treasurer who shall neglect or refuse to apportion and pay over such moneys, as above provided, shall, in addition to the fines and penalties otherwise provided in this chapter, be liable to a penalty of fifty dollars for each and every offense, to be recovered in an action by the officer entitled to receive such excise moneys, brought by such officer in the name of the city or town entitled thereto, with costs, in addition to the money unlawfully withheld; and if any special deputy commissioner or county treasurer shall wilfully make and verify a false statement under this section, he shall be guilty of perjury.[14] [Liquor Tax Law, § 10, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 416, L. 1917, ch. 623, and L. 1918, ch. 473; B. CHAPTER VIII.

COUNTY COMPTROLLER; COUNTY AUDITORS.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

County Comptroller.

The office of county comptroller is a new office, created by L. 1909, ch. 466, which inserted a new article 14a in the county law. When a petition signed by one per cent of the total vote cast in the county for the office of governor at the last general election is presented to the county clerk, a proposition must be submitted to the voters of the county for the creation of the office. If the proposition is adopted, a county comptroller must be elected at the next general election.

The duties of such officer are prescribed by statute. He is not to supersede the board of supervisors in the audit of claims against the county, but is to investigate as to such claims and report thereon to the board.

County Auditor.

Chapter 152 of the Laws of 1910, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 384, amends the County Law by adding a new article thereto, which authorizes a board of supervisors to appoint a county auditor. Such officer, when appointed, audits all claims against the county, to the same effect as though audited by the board of supervisors.

SECTION 1. County comptroller; term of office.
2. Duties of county comptroller; issue and sale of bonds.
3. County employees; how paid.
4. Filing and verification of accounts.
5. Purchase of supplies by county officers; sheriff to be custodian of buildings.
6. Estimate of county officers.
7. Accounts with treasurer.
8. Appointment of county auditors.
9. Duties.

§ 1. COUNTY COMPTROLLER; TERM OF OFFICE.

Upon the filing with the county clerk of any county, prior to the first day of October, of a petition, duly signed by a number of voters equal to at least one per centum of the total vote cast in such county for the office of governor at the last general election, asking that the office of county comptroller be created in and for such county, such county clerk shall prepare a question to be submitted, in the same manner as other questions are submitted, to the voters of such county at the next general election, in substantially the following form: "Shall the office of county comptroller be created in and for the county of ?" At the next general election after the affirmative determination of such proposition, there shall be elected, in the same manner as are other county officers, a county comptroller, whose term of office shall commence on the first day of January following and shall be for three years and whose successor shall be elected in like manner for a term of three years. A member of the board of supervisors, during the term for which he has been so elected or appointed, shall not be eligible for election or appointment to the office of county comptroller, nor shall any person elected or appointed to the office of county comptroller, while holding such office, be eligible to election or appointment as supervisor. Before entering upon the duties of his office he shall take the constitutional oath and execute to the county a bond with good and sufficient sureties to be approved by the county judge in a sum to be fixed by the board of supervisors, conditioned upon the faithful performance of his duties. The board of supervisors shall prescribe the annual salary of such county comptroller and the compensation of assistants appointed by him and shall provide and maintain suitable rooms to be used by such county comptroller as his office. The office of the county comptroller shall be open daily, with the exception of Sundays and holidays, from nine ante meridian until five post meridian. The county comptroller may be removed by the governor within the term for which he shall have been chosen, after a copy of the charges against him and an opportunity to be heard in his defense shall have been given to such comptroller. If a vacancy shall occur, otherwise than by expiration of term, the governor shall appoint a person to execute the duties of county comptroller until the vacancy shall be filled by an election.

If the county comptroller shall be unable to perform the duties of his office in consequence of sickness or temporary absence from the county he may designate one of the assistants, deputies, inspectors or clerks in his office to act in his place. If the county comptroller shall be so incapacitated for more than ten days without making such designation, the board of supervisors may do so. Such designation shall be in writing and shall be signed by the county comptroller in case he makes such designation and by the chairman and clerk of the board of supervisors in case such designation is made by the board of supervisors. Such designation shall be filed with the county clerk and the clerk so designated shall be known as the acting county comptroller. The assistant, deputy, inspector or clerk so designated shall perform the duties of the county comptroller until the county comptroller shall resume them. An assistant, deputy, inspector or clerk so designated shall not receive any additional compensation while acting as county comptroller to that which he is receiving at the time of the designation. [County Law, § 234, inserted by L. 1909, ch. 466, and amended by L. 1917, ch. 76; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 820.]

§ 2. DUTIES OF COUNTY COMPTROLLER; ISSUE AND SALE OF BONDS.

The comptroller shall superintend the fiscal affairs of the county pursuant to law and the resolutions of the board of supervisors. He shall keep a separate account with every officer and department and with each improvement for which funds are appropriated or raised by tax or assessment. No warrant shall be drawn for the payment of any claim or obligation of the county unless it state particularly against which of such funds it is drawn. No fund shall be overdrawn nor shall any warrant be drawn against one fund to pay a claim chargeable to another. The county comptroller shall perform such other and further duties as may from time to time be prescribed by law or by resolution of the board of supervisors, not inconsistent with this act or other laws of the state. All accounts or claims against the county for work, labor, services, merchandise or materials, for the county or any county officer, and all accounts or claims against the county for fees by any officer or officers authorized to charge and collect fees from the county shall be filed in the office of the county comptroller before being presented to the board of supervisors. The county comptroller shall cause each claim upon presentation to him to be numbered consecutively, and the number, date of presentation, the name of the claimant and a brief statement of the character of each claim, shall be entered in a book kept for such purpose, which shall at all times during office hours be so placed as to be convenient for public inspection and examination. The county comptroller shall examine and report upon all accounts or claims against the county for work, labor, services, merchandise or materials furnished the county or any officer or department thereof and all accounts or claims against the county for fees by any officer or officers authorized to charge and collect fees from the county, before the same shall be audited and ordered paid by the board of supervisors; he shall ascertain, before reporting to the board of supervisors, whether such accounts or claims and the prices therein are just and true, and whether the prices charged and the quality of the merchandise furnished are in accordance with the contract or agreement therefor, if any such contract or agreement has been made, and whether the work, labor and services have been performed and the merchandise or materials delivered and whether the services for which any officer or officers are entitled to collect fees from the county have been performed and whether the fees charged therefor are in accordance with law, and shall attach a certificate to each claim or account, stating the result of such examination, and, if it is advised by him that any such account or claim be rejected or modified, stating the reasons for such rejection or modification. Such account or claim with the certificate attached thereto shall be filed in his office, and shall during office hours be open to public inspection. The board of supervisors shall not audit any account or claim which the county comptroller advises should be rejected or modified, except where such account or claim is modified in accordance with the recommendations of the county comptroller, unless two-thirds of all the members elected to the board of supervisors shall vote in favor of the payment of said account or claim notwithstanding the recommendation of the county comptroller.[1] The comptroller shall cause to be kept

1. Audit of rejected claim.—The board of supervisors cannot legally audit a claim which the county comptroller advises should be rejected or modified, unless two-thirds of the board vote in favor of such audit. The remedy of the claimant is by certiorari. Becker v. County of Oneida, 157 App. Div. 457.

in his office such books as are necessary to contain all claims and accounts against the county presented to him for examination, and the action taken by him on each, and a record of the money appropriated by the board of supervisors for the benefit of the county buildings and officers and the amount drawn thereon, and a record of all contracts or agreements made for supplies to be furnished any county building or county office. The county comptroller shall report to the board of supervisors at each regular meeting thereof the balance of the appropriation to each department remaining unexpended. A county comptroller first elected in any county as above provided is authorized after he enters upon the discharge of his duties to employ such expert accountants as may be necessary in opening the proper books in his office and in establishing the financial system herein provided for such time as he shall deem necessary, not exceeding ninety days, and the expense thereof shall be a county charge. All bonds of the county for whatever purpose issued shall be advertised and sold by the county comptroller. He shall cause to be published, for such time as the board of supervisors shall prescribe, a notice containing a description of the bonds to be sold, the manner and place of sale, and the time when the same shall be sold. Award shall be made to the highest bidder. At any sale of bonds the county comptroller may reject all bids and readvertise, if in his opinion the price offered is inadequate. All bonds shall be signed in the name of the county, by the chairman of the board of supervisors and county treasurer and countersigned by the county comptroller. A list of all bonds issued by the county shall be kept in the county comptroller's office and when any bonds are paid by the county treasurer they shall be presented by him to the county comptroller for cancellation. [County Law, § 235, as inserted by L. 1909, ch. 466, and amended by L. 1910, ch. 8; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 821.]

§ 3. COUNTY EMPLOYEES; HOW PAID.

Before presentation to the county comptroller of the claims or payrolls for services rendered to the county, or for services of subordinate officials, such claims shall be certified by the county officer appointing or employing such persons to the effect that such such persons were regularly appointed to or employed in the positions held by them; that the services represented were actually performed and that the compensation demanded in said claims and the amounts contained in such payrolls were correct. Upon the presentation of such claims or payrolls to the county comptroller by the several county officers he shall examine the same, report thereon to the board of supervisors and a certified transcript of such claims or payrolls as allowed shall be made by the county comptroller and delivered to the county treasurer. All original payrolls and claims for services shall be filed in the office of the county comptroller and transcripts thereof in the office of the county treasurer. All county employees and county officers shall be paid by warrants issued by the county comptroller upon the county treasurer. [County Law, § 236, as inserted by L. 1909, ch. 466; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 823.]

§ 4. FILING AND VERIFICATION OF ACCOUNTS.

Each account or claim presented to the county comptroller for examination shall be approved by the officer or head of the department incurring the same; such claim or account shall be verified by the person presenting it to the effect that it is just, true and correct; that no part thereof has been paid or otherwise settled; that the prices charged in such accounts or claims are correct and just, and, if there is any contract or agreement therefor, that the prices are in accordance with such contract or agreement, a copy of which must be attached to said account or claim. All orders or warrants for the payment of any claims or accounts examined by the county comptroller and ordered paid by the board of supervisors shall be drawn by the clerk of said board and countersigned by the chairman thereof and by the county comptroller before the same are paid by the county treasurer. [County Law, § 237, as inserted by L. 1909, ch. 466; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 823.]

§ 5. PURCHASE OF SUPPLIES BY COUNTY OFFICERS; SHERIFF TO BE CUSTODIAN OF BUILDINGS.

County officers may purchase for the use of the buildings or offices of which they have charge or custody all supplies necessary for their support and maintenance, all accounts for which shall be presented to the county comptroller to be examined by him, and in case any purchase or contract shall involve an expense exceeding two hundred dollars it shall be let to the lowest responsible bidder, after public notice such as the board of supervisors shall prescribe. The superintendent or custodian of a county building, a county officer, county comptroller or supervisor shall not be directly or indirectly interested in a contract or purchase of supplies by any such superintendent or custodian or county officer. All written contracts or agreements for supplies for any county building or office shall be made in duplicate, one copy of which shall be filed in the office of the county comptroller and one copy in the office of the superintendent or custodian of the county building or county office for which such contracts were made. The sheriff of the county shall be the superintendent and custodian of the county jail and such other of the county buildings as the board of supervisors shall designate and shall make all contracts for heating, lighting and the care and maintenance of the buildings of which he is custodian. [County Law, § 238, as inserted by L. 1909, ch. 466; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 824.]

§ 6. ESTIMATE OF COUNTY OFFICERS.

The superintendent or custodian of county buildings and all county officers shall annually submit to the board of supervisors on or before the fifteenth of the last month of the fiscal year upon forms prescribed by the county comptroller an estimate of the amount necessary to be expended for supplies, for the support, the conduct and maintenance of such buildings or offices during the next fiscal year. They shall include in their annual report to the board of supervisors at its first regular meeting after the beginning of the fiscal year upon forms prescribed by the county comptroller the quantity of supplies used by them, the amount paid for them during the preceding year; and also a statement of all contracts made by them for supplies, and all facts as shall be required to show whether such contracts were reasonable and just and shall state the action of the board of supervisors thereon. The board of supervisors may call upon any such superintendent or custodian or officer for a further or more detailed report or for further information on any subject embraced in the report. The board of supervisors by a committee appointed for the purpose may investigate any such report or any agreement or contract for supplies at any time. Upon such examination said board or committee shall have the power to subpœna witnesses and to compel their attendance with or without books or papers. [County Law, § 239, as inserted by L. 1909, ch. 466; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 824.]

§ 7. ACCOUNTS WITH TREASURER.

The comptroller shall keep an account between the county and treasurer of all moneys received and disbursed by the treasurer, and for all purchases made shall procure daily statements from the treasurer as to the moneys received and disbursed by such treasurer. He shall procure from the banks in which the amounts have been deposited by the treasurer monthly statements of the moneys which have been received and paid out on account of the county. He shall examine the treasurer's books, accounts and bank books and ascertain as to their correctness and shall render to the board of supervisors, as often as such board shall prescribe, a detailed report of the funds and of the financial condition of the county. All moneys deposited by the treasurer shall be placed to the credit of the county. The treasurer shall keep bank books in which shall be entered his deposits in and moneys drawn from the banks or trust companies in which such deposits shall be made. He shall exhibit such books to the county comptroller for his inspection at least once each month, and oftener if required. The banks or trust companies in which such deposits are made shall make to the comptroller monthly statements of moneys which shall have been received and paid out by them on account of the county. Deposits in banks and trust companies shall be made by the treasurer in conformity with the provisions of this chapter. [County Law, § 239a, as inserted by L. 1909, ch. 466; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 825.]

§ 8. APPOINTMENT OF COUNTY AUDITORS.

The board of supervisors in any county may, by resolution duly adopted, appoint a county auditor or auditors in and for such county and fix the term of office and salary. The county auditor or auditors may also act as county purchasing agent or committee where so directed by the board of supervisors which shall prescribe the place where and the time when the office shall be open. [County Law, § 215, as added by L. 1910, ch. 152.]

§ 9. DUTIES.

The county auditor or auditors shall audit all the bills for the expenses of the several county officials for repairs and maintenance of the several county offices and buildings under their respective jurisdictions and the expenses of county officials and all other bills that are properly chargeable to the county, unless their powers shall be limited by the board of supervisors, and when so audited they shall have the same force and effect as if audited by the board of supervisors and shall be paid by the county treasurer upon the certificate of such auditor or auditors in the same manner. But any board of supervisors which has appointed or which may hereafter appoint a county auditor or county auditors, may by resolution limit his or their power of audit to certain accounts or classes of accounts against the county, in which case such auditor or auditors shall have power to audit such accounts or classes of accounts only. The board of supervisors also by resolution or resolutions, duly adopted, shall prescribe the form and manner of presentation of such bills, and the form and manner in which such auditor or auditors shall keep a record of the presentation thereof, and the action of such auditor or auditors thereon. In case of refusal or neglect of such auditor or auditors to audit any bill presented for audit for the full amount claimed the claimant shall be unprejudiced by such refusal or neglect and shall have the right to present the same to the board of supervisors for audit. [County Law, § 216, as added by L. 1910, ch. 152, and amended by L. 1913, ch. 384.]

CHAPTER IX.

COUNTY CLERK.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

Office of County Clerk.

The office of county clerk is created and the term fixed at three years by the constitution. The office is thus a constitutional office and may not be abolished or the term changed by act of the legislature.

The duties of the office are prescribed by statute. The county clerk is the clerk of the supreme and county courts and his duties as such are conferred upon him by the Judiciary Law and the Code of Civil Procedure. He is made the recording officer in all counties, except those having registers of deeds, by the Real Property and other laws. It is not within the scope of this work to treat of his powers and duties as a clerk of the court or a recording officer. We will only consider his powers and duties as a county administrative officer.

SECTION 1. Election, appointment, term of office and undertaking of county clerk.
2. General powers and duties of county clerk.
3. County clerk to appoint a deputy; oath of office of deputy; designation of clerk to act as deputy.
4. Duties of deputy county clerk.
5. Duties of special deputy county clerk.
6. County clerk to present statement of receipts and expenditures to board of supervisors.
7. Business hours in office of county clerk.
8. County clerk may complete records of predecessor.
9. County clerks may receive certain papers for safe keeping.
10. County clerk shall maintain register of moneys paid or ordered paid into court, penalty for failure thereof.
10a. Records to be kept by the county clerk.
11. False certificates by clerk, etc.; penalty for recording instrument without acknowledgment attached.
12. County clerk omitting to publish statement required by law.

§ 1. ELECTION, APPOINTMENT, TERM OF OFFICE AND UNDERTAKING OF COUNTY CLERK.

There shall continue:

1. To be elected in each of the counties a county clerk, who shall hold his office for three years from and including the first day of January succeeding his election;

2. To be appointed by the governor, a county clerk, when a vacancy shall occur in such office, and the person so appointed shall hold the office until and including the last day of December succeeding the first annual election after the happening of the vacancy.

Every person elected or appointed to the office of county clerk shall, before he enters on the duties of his office, and if appointed, within fifteen days after notice thereof, execute an undertaking to the county, with at least two sureties, with the approval of the board of supervisors, if in session, indorsed thereon by the clerk of the board, otherwise with the approval of the county judge, or a justice of the supreme court residing in the county, and in such sum as such board, judge or justice approving the same shall direct, to the effect that he will faithfully execute and discharge the duties of county clerk, and account for all moneys deposited with him pursuant to law, or the order of any court, or by his predecessor in office, and pay them over as required by law, or directed by such order.[1] [County Law, § 160, as amended by L. 1914, ch. 62; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 790.]

1. Reference. Reference should be made to the following provisions relating to county clerks (See Schedule of Laws, after Table of Contents, for places in this Manual where laws referred to may be found):

County clerk must be elected by electors of county for terms of three years, except in New York and Kings counties. Constitution, art. X, sec. 1.

Local officer; state officer. The county clerk in all his administrative duties is a local officer elected by the electors of the county and paid by taxes collected from the people included in the territory comprising the county. It is only when he performs state functions that he is to be treated as a state officer. People ex rel. Plancon v. Prendergast (1916), 219 N. Y. 252, 114 N. E. 433.

Removal of county clerk. The county clerk is removable by the governor. Constitution, art. X, sec. 1. The procedure for such removal is prescribed by Public Officers Law, secs. 33-35, post. The expenses of such removal are a county charge. County Law, sec. 240, sub. 16, ante.

Official oath to be taken. County Law, sec. 246, post. Effect of failure to take oath. Public Officers Law, sec. 13, post. Vacancy created by failure to take. Public Officers Law, sec. 30, post.

Undertaking, further provisions respecting. County Law, sec. 247, post. Public Officers Law, sec. 11, post. Effect of failure to execute undertaking. Public Officers Law, sec. 13, post. Validation of official acts before executing undertaking. Public Officers Law, sec. 15, post. Vacancy in office created by failure to execute undertaking. Public Officers Law, sec. 30, sub. 7, post.

Vacancies, how created. Public Officers Law, sec. 30, post.

Resignations of county clerks are to be made to the governor. Public Officers Law, sec. 31, post.

Expiration of term of office, county clerk to hold office after, until successor is appointed and has qualified. Public Officers Law, sec. 5, post.

Fees of county clerk, see ch. 71, post.

Special acts relating to salaries of county clerks. In many of the counties the office of county clerk is made salaried by special act of the legislature. It is generally provided in such acts that the fees chargeable by the county clerk for services performed by him shall belong to the county.

The following is a list of such acts:—

2. Books and papers.—The clerk has the power to repair damage accidentally done to books, papers, etc., in his office at a reasonable expense, and the cost

2. Provide at the expense of the county, all necessary books for recording all papers, documents or matters authorized by law to be recorded in his office.

3. When a certificate of election, or appointment to any county office, or revocation thereof, is received at his office, give immediate notice thereof, at the expense of the county, to every person named therein. When any other commission or appointment to office, or order of removal from office is received at his office, give immediate notice thereof, at the expense of the state, to every person named therein.

4. Give immediate notice to the governor, at the expense of the state, when there is a vacancy in any county office which he is authorized to fill; and the names of all persons elected or appointed to any such office who have neglected, within the time required by law, to file the constitutional oath of office, or the undertaking severally required of them; and on or before the fifteenth day of January in each year, the names of all persons elected or appointed to a county office in his county during the preceding year, who have duly qualified.

5. On or before the first day of January in each year, report to the secretary of state, at the expense of the state, the names of all corporations whose certificates of incorporation have been filed in his office during the previous year.

6. Record at length in the book kept in his office for recording certificates of incorporation an order entered in his office changing the name of a corporation. This subdivision also applies to the county of New York.

7. Annually, in the month of December, report to the secretary of state all changes of names of individuals or of corporations, which have been made in pursuance of orders filed in his office during the past year and since the last previous report, and also report in like manner to the superintendent of banks all changes of the names of banking corporations, and to the superintendent of insurance all changes of names of corporations authorized to make insurances. This subdivision also applies to the county of New York.

8. Keep in his office a book, free at all times to public inspection, in thereof is a county charge. Worth v. City of Brooklyn, 34 App. Div. 223, 54 N. Y. Supp. 484.

Making new indexes. A board of supervisors has no power to contract with a county clerk to make an entirely new set of indexes of the county records for a compensation in addition to his regular fees where the old indexes have become dilapidated and inadequate. Wadsworth v. Supervisors of Livingston (1916), 217 N. Y. 484, 112 N. E. 161, revg. 159 App. Div. 934, 144 N. Y. Supp. 1149.

Presumption as to existence of document. The law presumes that all officers intrusted with the custody of public files and records will perform their official duty by keeping the same safely in their offices, and if a paper is not found where, if in existence, it ought to be deposited or recorded, the presumption thereupon arises that no such document has ever been in existence, and until this presumption is rebutted it must stand as proof of such non-existence. Deshong v. City of New York, 176 N. Y. 475.

which shall be entered all fees charged or received by him for any official service, the time of receiving it, its nature, and the persons for whom rendered.

9. Except as otherwise specially prescribed by law, each county clerk or register, who receives a salary, must account for, under oath, and pay to the treasurer of his county, in the manner prescribed by law, all fees, perquisites, and emoluments, received by him, for his official services. This subdivision also applies to the county of New York.

10. Upon request, and upon payment of, or offer to pay, the fees allowed by law, diligently search the files, papers, records, and dockets in his office; and either make one or more transcripts therefrom, and certify to the correctness thereof, and to the search, or certify that a document or paper, of which the custody legally belongs to him, cannot be found. This subdivision also applies to a register of a county and to the county of New York.

11. Be clerk of the county court in his county. [County Law, § 161; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 791.]

duties of his office, make, under his hand and seal, and record in his office, a written appointment of some suitable person to be deputy clerk of his county. In counties containing a population of more than one hundred thousand by the last preceding federal census or state enumeration, the county clerk, may, in like manner, appoint not to exceed two additional deputies. The clerks of the counties of New York, Kings, Bronx, Queens and Richmond may also designate assistants or clerks appointed by him and employed in the naturalization of aliens to be special deputy county clerks authorized to administer oaths required by the naturalization laws; but such special deputy county clerks shall not receive any compensation other than the salaries paid them as such assistants or clerks. Every such deputy, and every such special deputy designated pursuant to the provisions of this section, shall hold such office during the pleasure of the clerk. When any such deputy is temporarily absent, disqualified or disabled, the clerk shall appoint some one of his assistants to act as a deputy in his place for a period not exceeding thirty days and without any additional compensation. Before any such deputy so appointed, or special deputy so designated pursuant to the provisions of this section, enters on his duties as such, he shall take the constitutional oath of office. If there shall be no county clerk, or deputy county clerk, or assistant authorized to act as deputy, the county judge may designate in writing, to be recorded in the county clerk's office, a suitable person to act as county clerk with all the powers, duties and privileges of the office, and subject to the liabilities thereof, until a county clerk shall have been elected, or appointed, and qualified. This section shall not apply to or affect any special deputy clerk to the county clerk appointed pursuant to the provisions of the judiciary law of this state. [County Law, § 162, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 727, and L. 1916, ch. 452; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 793.]

§ 4. DUTIES OF DEPUTY COUNTY CLERK.

Any such deputy may perform such duties of the clerk as may be assigned to him by an order of the clerk to be entered in his office and shall also perform all the duties of the clerk when the clerk shall be absent from his office, or shall be incapable of performing the duties thereof, or when the office shall become vacant, until it shall be filled, except that of deciding upon the sufficiency of sureties, which duty shall devolve upon the county judge.[4] [County Law, § 163; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 793.]

§ 4-a. DUTIES OF ASSISTANT CLERKS IN COUNTIES.

The clerk of any county may designate one of his assistants to be the calendar clerk of such county who may in the absence of any deputy clerk or for the purpose of assisting any deputy clerk, and after taking the required oath, perform such duties of the clerk as may be assigned to him by an order of the county clerk to be entered in his office. The compensation of any such assistant of the clerk shall be fixed by the county clerk, and when so fixed, no additional compensation shall be paid to any such assistant of the clerk for the performance of any duties whatsoever which the county clerk may assign to him. [County Law, § 163-a, as added by L. 1913, ch. 368.]

Registration of titles to real property. The county clerk has certain duties to perform under the so-called Torrens Land Title Registration Act which was enacted into law by ch. 444 of L. 1908, and re-enacted in Real Prop. Law, art. 12.

4. Charges against employees may be heard by deputy in the event of the clerk's inability. People ex rel. De Vries v. Hamilton, 84 App. Div. 369, 82 N. Y. Supp. 884.

The authority of a deputy clerk, discharging the duties of clerk in consequence of the death of his principal, ceases on the appointment by the governor of a person to be clerk during the vacancy. People v. Fisher, 24 Wend. 215.

Oath may be administered by deputy, who may sign name of clerk to jurat. People v. Powers, 19 Abb. Pr. 99.

§ 5. DUTIES OF SPECIAL DEPUTY COUNTY CLERK.

1. In every county other than the counties of Queens, Dutchess, Orange and Rockland the county clerk may, from time to time, by an instrument in writing filed in his office, appoint, and at pleasure remove, one or more special deputy clerks to attend upon any or all of the terms or sittings of the courts of which he is clerk, and in any county having a population of more than sixty thousand at the last enumeration, the salary of such special deputy clerks shall be fixed by the board of supervisors of such county, and when the said salary shall be so fixed the same shall be paid from the court funds of said county or from an appropriation made therefor. Each person so appointed must, before he enters upon the duties of his office, subscribe and file in the clerk's office the constitutional oath of office; and he possesses the same power and authority as the clerk at any sitting or term of the court which he attends, with respect to the business transacted thereat. The salaries of special deputy clerks and assistants appointed in Queens county under the provisions of section one hundred and fifty-nine of the judiciary law shall be fixed by the justice residing in such county and shall be a county charge. In the county of Westchester before such appointment shall become effective the same shall be approved in writing by a majority of the justices of the supreme court residing within the judicial district of the appointee, which approval shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county. Before the removal of such appointee, as herein provided, shall become effective, the same shall be concurred in by a majority of the justices of the supreme court residing within the judicial district of the appointee and a certificate of such concurrence of removal shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county by said justices. The provisions of this subdivision shall not apply to the first judicial department.

All special deputy clerks appointed in the counties of Dutchess, Orange and Rockland, situate in the ninth judicial district hereunder, shall be appointed by the justices of the supreme court residing in said district, or a majority of them, which appointment shall be filed in writing in the clerk's office of the county affected thereby, and the salaries of such deputy clerks shall be fixed by the justices making the appointment and paid as hereinbefore provided. [Subd. 1, amended by L. 1915, ch. 345, and L. 1918, ch. 411.]

2. The minutes of the part or term of the supreme court to which any of the special deputy clerks to the clerk of the county of New York appointed pursuant to the judiciary law is assigned, kept by him, and the records kept by the supreme court jury clerk in the first judicial district shall be kept by the county clerk of New York county in his office and said county clerk shall give extracts from such minutes and records as now prescribed by law.

3. The minutes and records kept by the special deputy clerks appointed in the county of Queens pursuant to the judiciary law shall be kept by the county clerk in his office and he shall give extracts from such minutes and records as now prescribed by law. [County Law, § 169, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 694, and L. 1913, chs. 109, 367, 637; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 796.]

§ 6. COUNTY CLERK TO PRESENT STATEMENT OF RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES TO BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

Every county clerk shall present to the board of supervisors of his county, upon the first day of their annual meeting, a statement, verified by his oath to be true, showing for the year preceding the first day of January:

1. The amount of all fees charged or received for searches, and for certificates thereof.

2. The amount of all fees charged or received for recording any documents in his office, and for certificates thereof.

3. The amount of all sums charged or received for services rendered the county.

4. The amount of all sums charged or received for official services.

5. The sums paid by him for assistance, fuel, lights, stationery and other incidental expenses, the names of the persons paid and the items thereof; but he shall not make any charge against the county for stationery, except record books and stationery furnished by him for courts held in his county, but the board of supervisors may allow the county clerk the necessary expenses incurred by him for lighting and heating his office.[5] [County Law, § 164; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 794.]

§ 7. BUSINESS HOURS IN OFFICE OF COUNTY CLERK.

Clerks of counties, courts of record, and registers of deeds, except in the counties of New York, Kings, Queens, Erie and Westchester, as hereinafter provided, shall respectively keep open their offices for the transaction of business every day in the year, except Sundays and other days and half-days declared by law to be holidays or half-holidays,[6]

5. For form of statement of county clerk to be made to the board of supervisors see Form 8, post.

6. Holidays and half-holidays are enumerated in the General Construction Law, sec. 24, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 112, as follows: Jan. 1 (New Year's day); February 12 (Lincoln's birthday); February 22 (Washington's birthday); May 30 (Memorial day); July 4 (Independence day); first Monday of September (Labor day); Oct. 12 (Columbus day); first Tuesday after first Monday in November (Election day); Thanksgiving day; December 25 (Christmas day). If any such days fall on Sunday, the day following is observed as a holiday. The term, half-holiday, includes the period from noon to midnight of each Saturday which is not a holiday.

Office hours. Keeping open the clerk's office after or before the hours mentioned is not unlawful; and a certificate of nomination may be filed at 11 P. M. on the last day allowed for such filing. Matter of Norton, 34 App. Div. 79, 53 N. Y. Supp. 1093.

Judgments docketed out of office hours must be considered as docketed and become liens equally at the next office hour thereafter. France v. Hamilton, 26 How. Pr. 180.

Business in public offices on holidays. Holidays and half-holidays shall be considered as Sunday for all purposes relating to the transaction of business in the public offices of the state, and of each county. [Public Officers Law, § 62.]

from nine o'clock in the forenoon to five o'clock in the afternoon. In the counties of New York, Kings and Queens, said offices, the sheriff's office and the offices of the commissioner of jurors shall remain open during the months of July and August in each year from nine o'clock in the forenoon to two o'clock in the afternoon, and during the other months in the year from nine o'clock in the forenoon to four o'clock in the afternoon; and in Erie county the county clerk's office shall remain open from nine o'clock in the forenoon to five o'clock in the afternoon; and in Westchester county the offices of clerks of counties, courts of record, registers of deeds, sheriffs, commissioner of jurors and surrogates shall remain open from nine o'clock in the forenoon to five o'clock in the afternoon, except during the months of July and August, when they shall remain open from nine o'clock in the forenoon to three o'clock in the afternoon. [County Law, § 165, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 199, and L. 1918, ch. 576; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 794.]

§ 8. COUNTY CLERK MAY COMPLETE RECORDS OF PREDECESSOR.

1. The county clerk of any county of this state upon order duly made by the supreme court at a special term thereof shall hereafter have power to complete and sign and certify in his own name, adding to his signature the date of so doing, all records of papers, orders and mintues of proceedings of any court of which he is clerk or ex officio clerk, left uncompleted or unsigned by any of his predecessors. This subdivision shall also apply to the county of New York. [County Law, § 166, as amended by L. 1915, ch. 246; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 795.]

2. The county clerk of any county or register if any upon an order made by the county judge or by a justice of the supreme court in a county in which there is no county judge and filed with such clerk, may complete and sign all uncompleted or unsigned records of conveyances and mortgages of real estate and other instruments affecting real property filed for record during the term of any of his predecessors. Such records shall be signed in his own name. [Subd. added by L. 1915, ch. 246.]

§ 9. COUNTY CLERKS MAY RECEIVE CERTAIN PAPERS FOR SAFE KEEPING.

The clerk of every county in this state, and the register of deeds in the county of New York, upon being paid the fees allowed therefor by law, shall receive and deposit in their offices respectively, any deeds, conveyances, wills or other papers or documents, which any person shall offer to them for that purpose; and shall give to such person a written receipt therefor.

Such instruments, papers and documents, shall be properly indorsed so as to indicate their general nature and the names of the parties thereto, shall be filed by the officer receiving the same, stating the time when received, and shall be deposited and kept by him and his successors in office, with his official papers, in some place separate and distinct from such papers.

The instruments, papers and documents so received and deposited, shall not be withdrawn from such office, except on the order of some court of record, for the purpose of being read in evidence in such court, and then to be returned to such office; nor shall they be delivered without such order, to any person, unless upon the written order of the person or persons who deposited the same, or their executors or administrators.

Such instruments, papers and documents so deposited shall be open to the examination of any person desiring the same, upon payment of the fees allowed by law. [County Law, § 167; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 795.]

§ 10. COUNTY CLERK SHALL MAINTAIN REGISTER OF MONEYS PAID OR ORDERED PAID INTO COURT; PENALTY FOR FAILURE THEREOF.

The county clerk in each of the counties of this state shall maintain and keep in his office a book to be known as a court and trust fund register to be used solely as a record of moneys and securities paid or transferred, or ordered or required to be so paid or transferred into court. Immediately upon the filing in his office of any judgment, order or decree of any court directing the payment or transfer of money or securities, the amount thereof being stated, or determinable upon the happening of the contingency expressed in said judgment, order or decree, to the treasurer of his or any other county of the state, or in the counties of Bronx, New York, Kings, Queens and Richmond to the chamberlain of the city of New York, or upon the filing in his office of any report of a referee or other person, or treasurer's or chamberlain's receipt, stating that a sum of money has been deposited with such treasurer or chamberlain, in accordance with any such judgment, order or decree or with any provision of law; or upon the filing or entry in his office of any other paper or record from which it appears that money or securities, the amount thereof being stated, or determinable upon the happening of the contingency expressed in said paper or record, have been or should be paid to such treasurer or chamberlain; or upon the receipt by any such clerk of moneys required by any judgment, order or decree of the court, or by any provision of law, to be brought into court, the clerk shall enter in his court and trust fund register, the title of the action or proceeding in which such judgment, order or decree was made, or in which moneys are required to be deposited, together with a statement of the amount so deposited, or ordered or required to be deposited, if said judgment, order or decree contains the amount of the same, or, otherwise, of the amount to be deposited as shown by the report of the referee or other person, or of the amount received by such clerk, or shown by the records of his office, if the said amount has been determined, or if not determined, a statement of the contingency upon the happening of which the amount is determinable, and the name of the person or persons, if any, for whom such money or securities are ordered to be deposited, and the date of filing the same, or of such report or receipt as herein mentioned. For failure to comply with any provision of this section a county clerk shall be liable to a penalty of two hundred and fifty dollars, to be recovered by the comptroller of the state in an action brought in his name as such comptroller and all money recovered in any such action or actions shall be paid to the people of the state of New York. [County Law, § 168, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 160, and L. 1917, ch. 366; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 796.]

§ 10a. RECORDS TO BE KEPT BY THE COUNTY CLERK.

The county clerk of each county except the counties included within the city of New York shall keep a copy and index in a book kept in his office for that purpose of each statement, affidavit, consent and license, together with a copy of the certificate thereto attached showing the performance of the marriage ceremony, filed in his office. During the first twenty days of the months of January, April, July and October of each year the county clerk shall transmit to the state department of health at Albany, New York, all original affidavits, statements, consents and licenses with certificates attached filed in his office during the three months preceding the date of such report, also all original contracts of marriage made and recorded in his office during such period entered into in accordance with subdivision four of section eleven of this chapter, which record and certificate shall be kept on file and properly indexed by the state department of health. Whenever it is claimed that a mistake has been made through inadvertence in any of the statements, affidavits or other papers required by this section to be filed with the state department of health, the state commissioner of health may file with the same, affidavits upon the part of the person claiming to be aggrieved by such mistake, showing the true facts and the reason for the mistake and may make a note upon such original paper, statement or affidavit showing that a mistake is claimed to have been made and the nature thereof. The services rendered by the county clerk in carrying out the provisions of this article shall be a county charge except in counties where the county clerk is a salaried officer in which case they shall be a part of the duties of his office. [Domestic Relations Law, § 20, as added by L. 1917, ch. 245.]

An officer authorized by law to record a conveyance of real property, or of any other instrument, which by law may be recorded, who knowingly and falsely certifies that such a conveyance or instrument has been recorded, is guilty of a felony. [Penal Law, § 1860; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4050.]

A public officer who, being authorized by law to make or give a certificate or other writing, knowingly makes and delivers as true such a certificate or writing, containing any statement which he knows to be false, in a case where the punishment thereof is not expressly provided by law, is guilty of a misdemeanor. [Idem, § 1861; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4050.]

A public officer authorized to file or record any instrument or conveyance of, or affecting property which is duly proved or acknowledged, who knowingly files or records any such instrument or conveyance which is not accompanied by a certificate according to law, of the proof or acknowledgment, is guilty of a misdemeanor. [Idem, § 1862; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4050.]

§ 12. COUNTY CLERK OMITTING TO PUBLISH STATEMENT REQUIRED BY LAW.

A county clerk who willfully omits to publish any statement required by law, within the time prescribed, is guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of one hundred dollars, or imprisonment for six months, or both. [Penal Law, § 1869; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4052.]

CHAPTER X.

DISTRICT ATTORNEYS, COUNTY ATTORNEYS, COUNTY JUDGES AND SURROGATES.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

Office of District Attorney; Duties.

The office of district attorney is a constitutional office. The constitution provides for the election of a district attorney in each county for a term of three years. The term being so fixed the legislature may not prescribe a different term. The board of supervisors may fix the salary of the district attorney, and prescribe the number, mode of appointment and pay of the clerks and employes in his office.

The district attorney is the prosecuting attorney of the county. It is his duty to prosecute all crimes cognizable by the courts of his county. He has charge of indictments by the grand jury of persons charged with the commission of crime in the county, and he must conduct the trial of indictments so found. It is not the purpose of this chapter to treat of the duties of district attorneys in the prosecution of crimes.

He is required to report and account for all moneys received by him by virtue of his office. Such report and account must be filed in the office of the county treasurer. He must pay over to the county treasurer all moneys received by him as fines, penalties and forfeitures.

In the case of a murder or other important crime he may employ counsel, with the approval of the county judge, to assist him in the trial of the indictment, and the cost is chargeable against the county.

If the district attorney is incapacitated by sickness or other cause the court may designate an attorney to act as special district attorney for a term of court, and the board of supervisors must pay a reasonable compensation to such attorney.

County Attorneys.

Prior to L. 1907, ch. 280, the district attorney or some other attorney designated by the board of supervisors acted as attorney for such board. By that act, as consolidated in § 210 of the County Law, a board of supervisors is authorized to appoint a county attorney to advise the board and county and town officers. The board may prescribe the duties of such officer, and fix his salary.

County Judges and Surrogates.

The constitution (Art. VI, §§ 14–16) provides for the election of a county judge and surrogate for terms of six years. In counties of 40,000 or less, the two offices are to be held by the same person. In other counties the legislature may provide for separate offices. The compensation of such officers is fixed by the County Law, § 232, post. The constitution provides that such compensation shall not be changed during the terms of office of such officers. The county judge presides over the county court, and has the jurisdiction and performs the duties prescribed by law. The surrogate has to do with the estates of decedents and of infants, and the jurisdiction of his court is controlled by the Code of Civil Procedure and other statutes.

§ 1. ELECTION, APPOINTMENT, TERM OF OFFICE AND UNDERTAKING OF DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

There shall continue,

1. To be elected in each of the counties, a district attorney, who shall hold his office for three years from and including the first day of January succeeding his election;

2. To be appointed by the governor, a district attorney, when a vacancy shall occur in such office, and the person so appointed shall hold the office until and including the last day of December succeeding the first annual election thereafter at which such vacancy can be lawfully filled.

3. Except in the county of Kings, every person elected or appointed to the office of district attorney, shall, before he enters upon the duties of his office, and if appointed, within fifteen days after notice thereof, execute and deliver, to the county clerk of his county, a joint and several undertaking to the county, approved by the county judge, with two or more sufficient sureties, being resident freeholders, and in such sum as the board of supervisors of the county shall direct, to the effect that he will faithfully account for and pay over according to law, or as the court may direct, all moneys that may come into his hands as such district attorney.

4. It shall be the duty of every district attorney to conduct all prosecutions for crimes and offenses cognizable by the courts of the county for which he shall have been elected or appointed; except when the place of trial of an indictment is changed from one county to another, it shall be the duty of the district attorney of the county where the indictment is found to conduct the trial of the indictment so removed, and it shall be the duty of the district attorney of the county to which such trial is changed to assist in such trial upon the request of the district attorney of the county where the indictment was found.[2] [County Law, § 200, as amended by L. 1914, ch. 62; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 807.]

§ 2. REPORT OF DISTRICT ATTORNEYS OF MONEYS RECEIVED.

1. Every district attorney shall, on or before the first Tuesday in October, annually file in the office of the county treasurer a written account verified by his oath to be true, of all moneys received by him by virtue of his office during the preceding year and shall, at the same time, pay over any balances thereof to the county treasurer. If he shall refuse or neglect to account for and pay over such moneys as so required of him, the county treasurer shall prosecute him and his sureties for the same, in the name of and for the benefit of his county.

2. Within thirty days after a district attorney receives or collects money upon a recognizance or for a penalty or forfeiture, belonging to the county, he must pay it to the county treasurer of his county, deducting only his necessary disbursements; except that, where he does not receive, as his compensation, a salary fixed pursuant to law, the county court may, by an order entered in its minutes, allow him to retain also a sum, specified in the order, for his reasonable costs and expenses, and a reasonable counsel fee.

3. Each district attorney must render to the first term of the county court of his county, held in each calendar year, a written account, verified by his affidavit, of all actions brought by him upon recognizances, or for penalties or forfeitures belonging to the county, or to the state; of all his proceedings therein; of all judgments recovered by him therein; and of all money, collected by him from any person, belonging to the county or to the state. This subdivision applies to a district attorney who has gone out of office, during the preceding calendar year.[3]

2. Duties as to prosecutions. The duty of the district attorney to conduct prosecutions embraces whatever is essential to bring a criminal to trial as well as the proceedings of the trial; so he may cause the arrest of a fugitive in a foreign jurisdiction, and the expense thereof is a proper county charge. People ex rel. Gardenier v. Supervisors, 134 N. Y. 1.

Institution of proceedings to compel rescinding of parole. It is a part of the prosecution for crime, within the statutory duty of the district attorney, to institute and enforce in the courts any proceeding or means authorized by law for the restoration and enforcement of a judgment of conviction obtained by him. Where the board of parole paroled a prisoner contrary to the provisions of the statute the law imposes upon the district attorney the duty to preserve and defend the integrity and effect of the judgment. 4. Action for breach of an undertaking given upon conviction of a husband for abandonment of his wife may be prosecuted in the name of the overseer of the poor. Lutes v. Shelley, 24 Wk. Dig. 117.

After forfeiture the recognizance will not be discharged on giving new bail until there has been a trial, but proceedings on the forfeiture will be stayed. People v. Coman, 5 Daly, 527; People v. Abrahams, 6 Daly, 120.

Where the recognizance is for appearance on a day named "and from time to time as directed by the justice," and the proceedings are adjourned when the defendant is not present, there cannot be a forfiture at a subsequent adjourned day. People v. Scott, 67 N. Y. 585.

4. Where a recognizance to the people is forfeited, the district attorney of the county in which it was taken, must, unless the court otherwise directs, forthwith bring an action to recover the penalty thereof.[4]

5. Subdivisions two, three, and four of this section shall also apply to the county of New York. [County Law, § 201; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 808.]

§ 3. BOARD OF SUPERVISORS MAY AUTHORIZE DISTRICT ATTORNEYS TO APPOINT ASSISTANT; POWERS OF ASSISTANT.

In any county having, according to the last preceding federal or state enumeration, more than sixty-five thousand inhabitants, the district attorney may, when authorized by the board of supervisors, appoint a suitable person, who must be a counselor-at-law, in this state, and a citizen and resident of the county, to be his assistant. Every appointment of an assistant district attorney shall be in writing, under the hand and seal of the district attorney, and filed in the office of the county clerk; and the person so appointed, shall take and file with the clerk the constitutional oath of office, before entering upon his duties as such assistant district attorney. Every such appointment may be revoked by the district attorney making the same, which revocation shall be in writing and filed in the clerk's office. Such assistant district attorney may attend all criminal courts, and discharge any duties imposed by law upon, or required of the district attorney by whom he was appointed. And in any such county the district attorney may in like manner appoint any additional assistant district attorneys or detectives or stenographers or interpreters for his office whenever he is authorized so to do by the board of supervisors of any such county. The qualifications, regulations and powers of any such additional assistant district attorneys shall be the same as prescribed in this section in relation to an assistant district attorney. The salaries of any such officers so authorized to be appointed by the district attorney shall be fixed by such board of supervisors. [County Law, § 202; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 810.]

§ 4. APPOINTMENT OF ASSISTANTS IN ERIE, MONROE, ONONDAGA, RENSSELAER, NIAGARA AND WESTCHESTER COUNTIES; DISTRICT ATTORNEYS IN ERIE AND MONROE ENTITLED TO COSTS; PAYMENT OF EXPENSES OF DISTRICT ATTORNEYS IN ALBANY, RENSSELAER AND MONROE COUNTIES.

The district attorney of Erie county may appoint in and for the county of Erie, in the manner provided in the last section, and with like powers, such number of assistants as shall be fixed and determined by resolution of the board of supervisors of Erie county. All of the persons so appointed shall be called assistant district attorneys. Each of said assistant district attorneys shall receive such salary as shall be fixed and determined by said board of supervisors. The district attorney shall designate in the order appointing such assistants the salary which each of such assistants shall receive, subject however to the limitations prescribed by such resolution of the board of supervisors. The three assistant district attorneys and the two deputy assistant district attorneys now in office shall continue to receive the same salaries that are now paid them until the board of supervisors shall by resolution fix and determine the salaries which such assistants and deputies shall receive pursuant to the provisions of this section. Said assistants shall severally take the constitutional oath of office before entering upon the duties thereof; and the district attorney shall be responsible for their acts. Said district attorney may designate, in writing to be filed in the office of the clerk of said county, one of his said assistants to be the acting district attorney in the absence from said county or other inability of said district attorney; and the assistant so designated shall during such absence or inability of said district attorney perform the duties of the office. Such designation may be revoked by said district attorney in writing, to be filed in said county clerk's office.

The district attorney of Monroe county may appoint, in and for the county of Monroe, in the manner provided in the last section, and with like powers, three assistants, to be called respectively the first, second and third assistant district attorneys, and two deputy assistants, to be called respectively the first and second deputy assistant district attorneys, who shall severally take the constitutional oath of office before entering upon the duties thereof, and the district attorney shall be responsible for their acts. In Monroe county the salaries of the assistant district attorneys and the deputy assistant district attorneys shall be fixed by the board of supervisors as follows: The salary of the first assistant district attorney shall not be less than two thousand dollars per year, payable monthly; the salary of the second assistant district attorney shall not be less than eighteen hundred dollars per year, payable monthly; the salary of the third assistant district attorney shall not be less than sixteen hundred dollars per year, payable monthly; the salary of the first deputy assistant district attorney shall not be less than twelve hundred dollars per year, payable monthly; the salary of the second deputy assistant district attorney shall not be less than seven hundred and twenty dollars per year, payable monthly; and until the salaries of said officials are so fixed by the board of supervisors, they shall be as above stated. The district attorney of Monroe county and his assistants and such deputy assistants shall conduct, on the part of the people, all preliminary examinations in the police court of the city of Rochester, and, subject to the right of a claimant to appear personally or by attorney, all other prosecutions for crime therein; and may conduct prosecutions therein for violations of the penal ordinances of the said city, and appeals therefrom, and in such event one-half of the salary of such first deputy shall be a charge upon the city of Rochester and assessed back upon said city by the board of supervisors of Monroe county; but the corporation counsel of the said city shall have the power to prosecute any person for the violation of an ordinance and to conduct proceedings therefor or an appeal therefrom. The district attorney of Onondaga county may appoint in and for said county, in the manner provided in the last section, and with like powers, two assistants, to be called respectively the first and second assistant district attorneys, each of whom shall take the constitutional oath of office before entering upon the duties thereof; and the district attorney of said county shall be responsible for their acts. The district attorney of Westchester county may appoint in and for the county of Westchester, in the manner provided in the last section, and with like powers, two assistants, to be called respectively the first and second assistant district attorney, who shall severally take the constitutional oath of office before entering upon the duties thereof; and the district attorney shall be responsible for their acts; and the salary of each shall be fixed by the board of supervisors. The district attorneys of the counties of Erie, Onondaga and Monroe may also appoint a person to act as interpreter at all sessions of the grand juries of such counties and of the city of Buffalo, whose compensation shall be fixed by the court in and for which such grand jury may be empaneled. The district attorneys of the counties of Erie and Monroe shall each be entitled to receive, in addition to their salary, all costs collected by them in actions and proceedings prosecuted and defended by them. The county judge, or the special county judge, of the county of Monroe, or any supreme court judge, shall have power, on the application of the district attorney of Monroe county, to order and direct the county treasurer of Monroe county to pay to the district attorney any sum of money expended or incurred by him in the performance of his duties in his office, and the county judge of the county of Rensselaer, or any supreme court judge, shall have power, on the application of the district attorney of Rensselaer county, to order and direct the county treasurer of Rensselaer county to pay to the district attorney any sum of money expended or incurred by him in the performance of his duties in his office, and the county judge of the county of Albany, or any supreme court judge, shall have power, on the application of the district attorney of Albany county, to order and direct the county treasurer of Albany county to pay to the district attorney of such county any sum of money expended or incurred by him in the performance of his duties in his office, and the county judge of Columbia county, or any judge of the supreme court, shall have power, on the application of the district attorney of Columbia county, to order and direct the county treasurer of Columbia county to pay to the district attorney of such county any sum of money expended or incurred by him in the performance of his duties in office. The district attorney of Niagara county shall have charge of and conduct on the part of the people all preliminary examinations in the police courts of the cities of Lockport, North Tonawanda and Niagara Falls, either in person or by his assistant. In lieu of the necessary traveling expenses and other disbursements incurred in the performance of these additional duties, either by himself or his assistant or stenographer, the district attorney of Niagara county shall receive an amount to be fixed by the board of supervisors of Niagara county at not less than one thousand two hundred dollars per annum, payable monthly by the county treasurer of Niagara county, and the assistant district attorney shall receive an amount to be fixed by the board of supervisors of Niagara county, at not less than five hundred dollars per annum, payable monthly by the county treasurer of Niagara county, and the district attorney's stenographer shall receive an amount to be fixed by the board of supervisors of Niagara county at not less than four hundred dollars per annum, payable monthly by the county treasurer of Niagara county. Until such amount is so fixed by the board of supervisors it shall be as above stated. [County Law, § 203, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 95; L. 1912, ch. 544, and L. 1915, ch. 140; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 810.]

§ 5. EMPLOYMENT OF COUNSEL BY DISTRICT ATTORNEY; TRANSFER OF TRIAL.

The district attorney of any county in which an indictment has been found for a capital or other important crime, with the approval in writing of the county judge of such county, which shall be filed in the office of the county clerk, may employ counsel to assist him on the trial of such indictment; and the costs and expenses thereof, to be certified by the judge presiding at the trial, shall be a charge upon the county.[5] [County Law, § 204; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 812.]

§ 6. SPECIAL DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

Whenever there is a vacancy or the district attorney of any county and his assistant, if he has one, shall not be in attendance at a term of any court of record, which he is by law required to attend, or shall be unable by sickness, or by being disqualified from acting in a particular case, to discharge his duties at any such term, the court may, by an order entered in its minutes, appoint some attorney at law residing in the county, to act as special district attorney during the absence, inability or disqualification of the district attorney and his assistant; but such appointment shall not be made for a period beyond the adjournment of the term at which made. The special district attorney so appointed shall possess the powers and discharge the duties of the district attorney during the period for which he shall be appointed. The board of supervisors of the county shall pay the necessary disbursements of, and a reasonable compensation for the services of the person so appointed and acting.[5a] [County Law, § 205; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 812]

§ 7. RECOVERY AND DISPOSITION OF MONEYS.

The district attorney shall sue for and recover, in behalf of, and in

5. Must be employed by district attorney of county where case tried. This section is the only source of authority for any district attorney to employ counsel, and a compliance with its terms is necessary in order to confer jurisdiction upon the court to make an order fixing the compensation of such counsel; and where such special counsel was employed by the district attorney in the county where the indictment was found, and the prosecution was subsequently removed to another county, such counsel is not entitled to have an application for compensation granted unless he be likewise employed by the district attorney of the county where the action was tried. Matter of Knight, 191 N. Y. 286, affg. People v. Neff, 121 App. Div. 44, 106 N. Y. Supp. 559.

Certificate of judge authorizing the employment of counsel on a second trial of a criminal case does not authorize payment of services in the same case prior to such trial. People ex rel. Peck v. Supervisors of Genesee, 61 App. Div. 545, 70 N. Y. Supp. 578.

Governor may designate deputy attorney-general as special district attorney. Executive L., sec. 62, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 14, and L. 1917, ch. 595, and sec. 67.

5-a. The governor may require the attorney-general to designate a special deputy attorney-general to prosecute special criminal offenses, and the expense thereof is a county charge. The board of supervisors may not be compelled to pay the compensation of such special deputy until the compensation has been fixed by the attorney-general. See People ex rel. Osborne v. Westchester County, 168 App. Div. 765, 154 N. Y. Supp. 266.

the name of, his county, the money received by any officer for, or on account of, his county, or any town or city therein, and not paid to the county treasurer, as herein required. All moneys belonging to any town or city in such county, which shall be received by the county treasurer, shall be distributed to the several towns or cities entitled to the same, by resolution of the board of supervisors, which shall be entered in the minutes of its proceedings. [County Law, § 244; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 831.]

§ 8. EXPENSE OF TRANSFERRED TRIAL OF AN INDICTMENT.

1. Whenever the trial of an indictment has been transferred from the county in which such indictment was found to some other county the cost and expense of such trial shall be a charge upon the county in which such indictment is found.

2. Whenever, under the order of any court of competent jurisdiction, the pleadings and issue in any prosecution for any crime or misdemeanor, other than indictment, shall have been sent down to any county in this state for trial therein, in consequence of any inability to obtain an unprejudiced or impartial jury in the county in which the venue was originally laid, the expenses of the trial of said prosecution shall be a charge upon the county from which the same was transferred.

3. In case the expenses of the trial of said indictment or prosecution shall have been assessed on any county in which any such issue shall have been determined, the same, with interest thereon, shall be reimbursed to the treasury of such county by the county treasurer in the county from which such proceedings have been sent down, and the board of supervisors of the county liable to pay such expenses as aforesaid are hereby authorized to include the same in their annual levy of taxes.

4. This section also applies to the county of New York. [County Law, § 248; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 832.]

§ 9. APPOINTMENT, TERM OF OFFICE AND DUTIES OF COUNTY ATTORNEYS.

The board of supervisors in any county may appoint a county attorney who shall be removable at its pleasure. The term of office of a county attorney so appointed shall be two years, unless sooner removed, and his salary shall be fixed by the board of supervisors and be a county charge. The board of supervisors may, by local law, prescribe the duties of the county attorney, which duties may include the services to town boards and town officials when not in conflict with the interests of the county. [County Law, § 210; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 814.]

County Law, § 230.

§ 10. ELECTION APPOINTMENT AND TERM OF OFFICE OF COUNTY JUDGE, SURROGATE, SPECIAL COUNTY JUDGE AND SPECIAL SURROGATE.

There shall continue to be elected in each of the counties now having such offices,

1. A county judge and a surrogate, who shall severally hold the office for six years from and including the first day of January succeeding his election.

2. A special county judge and a special surrogate, pursuant to the several acts of the legislature creating and respectively defining the terms and duties thereof.

3. There shall continue to be appointed by the governor, by and with the consent of the senate, if in session, a county judge, surrogate, special county judge or special surrogate, when a vacancy shall occur in either of such offices, and the person so appointed shall hold the office until and including the last day of December succeeding the first annual election thereafter at which such vacancy can be lawfully filled.[6] [County Law, § 230; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 817.]

6. Constitutional provisions. By section 14 of art. 6 of the constitution the existing county courts are continued. The successors of the several county judges in office when the constitution was adopted are to be chosen by the electors of the counties for the term of six years. Each county judge is required to perform such duties as may be required by law. His salary is established by law, payable out of the county treasury. The county judge of any county may hold county courts in any other county when requested by the judge of such other county.

By section 15 of art. 6 of the constitution existing surrogates' courts are continued and the successors of the surrogates in office at that time are to be chosen by the electors of the respective counties, and their terms of office shall be six years. Such section also provides that: "The county judge shall be surrogate of his county, except when a separate surrogate has been or shall be elected. In counties having a population exceeding 40,000, wherein there is no separate surrogate, the legislature may provide for the election of a separate officer to be surrogate, whose term of office shall be six years. When the surrogate shall be elected as a separate officer his salary shall be established by law, payable out of the county treasury. No county judge or surrogate shall hold office longer than until and including the last day of December next after he shall be seventy years of age. Vacancies occurring in the office of county judge or surrogate shall be filled in the same manner as like vacancies occurring in the Supreme Court. The compensation of any county judge or surrogate shall not be increased or diminished during his term of office. For the relief of Surrogates' Courts the legislature may confer upon the Supreme Court, in any county having a population exceeding 400,000, the powers and jurisdiction of surrogates, with authority to try issues of fact by jury in probate cases."

§ 11. BOARD OF SUPERVISORS TO CREATE OFFICE OF SURROGATE IN CERTAIN COUNTIES; UNDERTAKING OF SURROGATE.

The board of supervisors of any county, except Kings, having a population exceeding forty thousand, may, by resolution at a meeting thereof,

It is also provided by section 16 of art. 6 of the Constitution, "The legislature may, on application of the board of supervisors, provide for the election of local officers, not to exceed two in any county, to discharge the duties of county judge and of surrogate, in cases of their inability or of a vacancy, and in such other cases as may be provided by law, and to exercise such other powers in special cases as are or may be provided by law."

Surrogate's clerk. Board of supervisors may authorize surrogate to appoint additional clerks, their compensation and that of the clerks to be fixed by the board. Code Civ. Proc., § 2491, as amended by L. 1914, ch. 443; L. 1917, ch. 47, and L. 1918, ch. 310. The powers of the clerk of the surrogate are prescribed by Code Civ. Proc., § 2502, as amended by L. 1914, ch. 443, and L. 1917, ch. 10, and § 2503, as amended by L. 1914, ch. 443.

Temporary surrogate. Where, in any county, except New York, the office of surrogate is vacant; or the surrogate is disabled by reason of sickness, absence or lunacy, or is disqualified in a particular matter, and special provision is not made by law for the discharge of the duties of his office in that contingency; the duties of his office must be discharged, until the vacancy is filled or the disability ceases, as follows:

1. By the special surrogate.

2. If there is no special surrogate, or he is in like manner disabled, or is precluded or disqualified, by the special county judge.

3. If there is no special county judge, or he is in like manner disabled, or is precluded or disqualified, by the county judge.

4. If there is no county judge, or he is in like manner disabled, or is precluded or disqualified, by the district attorney.

But before an officer is entitled to act as prescribed in this section, proof of his authority to act as prescribed in section 2481 of this chapter must be made.

In any proceeding in the Surrogate's Court of the county of Kings, before either of the officers authorized in this section to discharge the duties of the office of surrogate of such county for the time being, if an issue is joined or a contest arises either on the facts or the law, such officer, in his discretion, may, by order, transfer such case to the Supreme Court to be heard and decided at a special term thereof, held in such county, which order shall be recorded in the surrogate's office. A certified copy of such order, together with the appropriate certificate or certificates of the authority of the officer to act as surrogate, shall be sufficient and conclusive evidence of the jurisdiction and authority of the Supreme Court in such matter or cause. After a final order or decree is made in the matter or cause so transferred to the Supreme Court, the court shall direct the papers to be returned and filed, and transcripts of all orders and decrees made therein to be recorded in the surrogate's office of such county; and when so filed and recorded, they shall have the same effect as if they were filed and recorded in a case pending in the Surrogate's Court of such county. (Code Civ. Proc., § 2478, as amended by L. 1893, ch. 686, and L. 1914, ch. 443.)

County Law, § 232.

determine that the office of surrogate therein shall be a separate office, and provide for the election of such officer therein. The clerk of the board shall immediately deliver the resolution to the county clerk, who shall file the same in his office and, within ten days thereafter, transmit a certified copy thereof to the secretary of state; and thereafter a surrogate shall be elected for such county. Every person elected or appointed to the office of surrogate or county judge, where there is no separate office of surrogate, shall, before he enters upon the duties of his office, and if appointed, within fifteen days after notice thereof, execute and deliver to the county clerk of his county a joint and several undertaking, with two or more sureties being resident freeholders, to be approved by such clerk, to the effect that he will faithfully perform his duties as such surrogate, and apply and pay over all moneys and effects that may come into his hands as such surrogate in the execution of his office; which undertaking shall be immediately filed in the office of such county clerk. [County Law, § 231; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 817.]

§ 12. COMPENSATION OF COUNTY JUDGES AND SURROGATES.

The annual salaries of county judges and surrogates in the several counties are fixed at the sums respectively set opposite the names of each county in the following schedule, to wit:

Where the surrogate of any county, except New York, is precluded or disqualified from acting with respect to any particular matter, his powers with respect to that matter, or if he be temporarily absent, his powers with respect to all matters, shall be discharged by the several officers designated in the last section in the order therein provided. If there is no such officer qualified to act therein, the surrogate may file in his office a certificate, stating that fact; specifying the reason why he is disqualified or precluded; and designating the surrogate of any county, other than New York, to act in his place in the particular matter or during his absence. The surrogate so designated has, with respect to that matter, or generally when the designation is made on account of absence of the surrogate, all the powers of the surrogate making the designation, and may exercise the same in either county. (Code Civ. Proc., 2479, as amended by L. 1914, ch. 443.)

Board of supervisors may appoint person to act as surrogate. In any county, except New York, if the surrogate is disabled, by reason of sickness, and there is no special surrogate, or special county judge of the county, the board of supervisors, or in the counties embraced within the city of New York, the board of aldermen, may, in its discretion, appoint a suitable person to act as surrogate until the surrogate's disability ceases, or until a special surrogate or a special county judge is elected or appointed. A person so appointed must, before entering on the execution of the duties of his office, take and file an oath of office and give an official bond as prescribed by law with respect to a person elected to the office of surrogate. (Code Civ. Proc., § 2484, as amended by L. 1893, ch. 686, and L. 1914, ch. 443.)

Compensation of temporary surrogate. An officer, or person appointed by the board of supervisors, or board of aldermen, who acts as surrogate of any county during a vacancy in the office, or in consequence of disability, as prescribed in this title must be paid for the time during which he so acts, a compensation equal pro rata to the salary of the surrogate; or, in a county where the county judge is also a surrogate, to the salary of the county judge. The amount of his compensation must be audited and paid in like manner as the salary of the surrogate, or of the county judge, as the case may be. Where an officer of the county performs the duties of the surrogate, with respect to a particular matter wherein the surrogate is disqualified or precluded from acting, the supervisors of the county, or board of aldermen, must allow him a compensation equal pro rata to the salary of the surrogate to be audited and collected in the same manner. (Code Civ. Proc., § 2485, as amended by L. 1914, ch. 443.)

Fees received by clerk of surrogate's court. The board of supervisors may fix the rate of fees and may require the clerk to keep an account of all such fees and make a report thereof whenever requested by such board. See Code Civ. Proc., § 2499, as amended by L. 1914, ch. 443.

7. By L. 1912, ch. 549, the salaries of the county judge and surrogate of Albany county were fixed at $7,000 and $6,500, respectively.

The salary provided in subdivision forty-eight of this section for the county judge and surrogate of the county of Seneca shall take effect upon the expiration of the term of the present incumbent, and until the expiration of such term such officer shall receive the salary authorized by law on January first, nineteen hundred and eighteen. [Subd. 71, added by L. 1918, ch. 136.]

71. The salary provided in subdivision thirty-six of this section for the county judge and for the surrogate of the county of Oswego shall take effect upon the expiration of the term of the present incumbents and until the expiration of said term such officers shall receive the salary authoribed by law on the first day of January, nineteen hundred and fourteen. [Subd. 71, added by L. 1918, ch. 216.]

County Law, § 233.

§ 13. SALARIES OF SURROGATES AND COUNTY JUDGES, HOW PAID; COMPENSATION OF COUNTY JUDGE SERVING IN ANOTHER COUNTY.

Such salaries, except in the counties of Kings, Broome and Westchester, shall be paid quarterly, by the county treasurer of the respective counties. In the counties of Broome and Westchester such salaries shall be paid monthly by the county treasurer. When a county judge of one county shall hold a county court, or preside at a court of sessions, in any other county, he shall be paid the sum of ten dollars per day, except in the county of Kings where the compensation shall be twenty dollars per day, for his expenses in going to, and from, and holding or presiding at such court, which shall be paid by the county treasurer of such other county, on the presentation of the certificate of the clerk of such court of the number of days. [County Law, § 233, as amended by L. 1909, chs. 122, 228, and L. 1914, ch. 70; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 819.]

CHAPTER XI.

SHERIFF AND CORONERS; POWERS AND DUTIES.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

Office of Sheriff.

The office of sheriff is created by the constitution. The term is three years and a sheriff is ineligible for the term following that for which he was elected. The constitution also provides that a county shall not be liable for the acts of a sheriff.

The office of sheriff is perhaps the most important in the county. He has many administrative duties to perform, and is also clothed with the power of preserving order and enforcing the law in his county. It is his duty to execute processes and mandates issuing from the courts. He or one of his deputies must attend trial terms of the Supreme Court and terms of the Appellate division. He has certain other duties to perform as an officer of the courts held in his county. He is the custodian of county buildings, unless otherwise specified by statute, and must see that court rooms and other parts of the court-house are kept in proper condition. He is responsible for the safe keeping of prisoners in jails, and has many duties relative to the apprehension, custody and trial of criminals. It would be impossible, within the scope of this work to give the law relating to all the powers and duties of a sheriff. It will only be attempted to set forth the law relating to his administration of county affairs.

The sheriff was formerly paid by fees allowed for the service of processes, both civil and criminal, the boarding of prisoners, and for services rendered in respect to criminals. In nearly all the counties, at the present time, the sheriff is paid a salary and the fees are all turned into the county treasury.

Office of Coroner.

The office of coroner is not a constitutional office. The statute provides that there shall be four coroners in counties of over 100,000 population, and in other counties such number not exceeding four as may be determined by the board of supervisors.

Explanatory note.

One of the coroners, designated by the county judge acts as sheriff when that office is vacant or the sheriff is incapacitated, and there is no under-sheriff, pending an appointment to fill the vacancy. The usual duties of coroner pertain to the ascertainment of the cause of death of any person who has died under circumstances leading to the belief that his death was the result of a crime, or that he has committed suicide. In all such cases the coroner is required to summon a jury and conduct an inquest. If it appears that a crime has been committed the coroner may issue a warrant for the arrest of the person chargeable therewith. See Code of Criminal Procedure, §§ 773–787.

SECTION 1. Election, appointment and term of office of sheriffs and coroners, and the undertakings of sheriffs.
2. Sheriffs to appoint under-sheriffs; duties of under-sheriff; malfeasance of under-sheriffs.
3. Deputy sheriffs to be appointed by sheriff; appointment to be in writing.
4. Sheriff's office; notice of place to be filed; when to be kept open; papers served on sheriff.
5. Fees for services for the state; accounts, how audited.
6. Sheriff to be removed for non-payment of moneys.
7. When coroner to act as sheriff; county judge to designate coroner; undertaking.
8. When other coroner to be designated; when coroner to execute duties of office of sheriff.
9. County judge may appoint a person other than a coroner in certain cases.
10. Coroners to execute duties of office until vacancy is filled; duties and liabilities of incumbent.
11. Board of supervisors may fix salary of coroner.
12. Fees allowed coroners for services on inquests, etc.
13. Employment of stenographer and surgeons.
14. Duties of sheriff in respect to services of mandates in civil actions; copy of process to be delivered; return of sheriff.
15. Liability of sheriff for neglect in serving process in special proceeding.
16. Powers of sheriff in case of resistance to the service of mandate; names of resisters to be certified to court; sheriff may ask assistance; governor may order out militia.
17. Attendance of sheriff and deputies upon terms of court; duties in respect to appellate division.
18. Trial by sheriff of claim of title to property seized by him; jurors, how summoned; examination of witnesses; payment of fees.
19. Proceedings on new sheriff assuming office.
20. Injury to records and misappropriation by ministerial officers.
21. Sheriffs and others permitting escapes or refusing to receive prisoners.

§ 1. ELECTION, APPOINTMENT AND TERM OF OFFICE OF SHERIFFS AND CORONERS, AND THE UNDERTAKINGS OF SHERIFFS.

There shall continue,

1. To be elected in each of the counties a sheriff, and in each of the counties containing a population of one hundred thousand and over, except in Nassau county, four coroners, and in all other counties such number of coroners, not more than four, as shall be fixed by the board of supervisors, who shall respectively hold their offices for three years from and including the first day of January succeeding their election. The board of supervisors of a county containing a population of less than one hundred thousand, and having more than one coroner, may, by resolution, determine that after the first day of January of a year to be specified in such resolution, the number of coroners in such county shall be reduced to a specified number not less than one, and may by such resolution fix the terms of coroners to be thereafter elected in such county so that the terms of all the coroners therein will expire on the first day of January of the year specified in the resolution. [Subd. amended by L. 1912, ch. 91, and L. 1916, ch. 87.]

2. To be appointed by the governor, a sheriff, or a coroner, when a vacancy shall occur in either of such offices, and the person so appointed shall hold the office until and including the last day of December succeeding the first annual election thereafter, at which such vacancy can be lawfully filled.[1]

Every person elected or appointed to the office of sheriff shall, before he enters upon the duties of his office, and if appointed, within fifteen days after notice thereof, execute and deliver to the county clerk of his county, a joint and several undertaking to the county, approved by such clerk, to the effect that such sheriff will, in all things, perform and execute the office of sheriff of his county during his continuance therein, without fraud or deceit. Such undertaking shall be filed in the office of the county clerk; and the clerk shall, at the time of his approval thereof,

Special election. Where a vacancy occurs in the office of sheriff between the fifteenth of October and the general election day in November following, it cannot be filled at that election, but a special election should be called for that purpose, of which not less than thirty or more than forty days' notice must be given. Matter of Mitchell v. Boyle (1916), 219 N. Y. 242, 114 N. E. 382, revg. (1916), 175 App. Div. 905, 161 N. Y. Supp. 1135.

A person elected to fill a vacancy in the office of coroner is entitled to hold the office for a full term of three years. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1911), vol. 2, p. 578.

Term of office of sheriffs is fixed by the constitution at three years; and sheriffs shall hold no other office and be ineligible for the next term after the termination of their offies. Constitution, art. X, sec. 1.

References. Reference may be made to the following provisions of law relating directly or indirectly to the offices of sheriffs and coroners:

Term of person appointed to fill vacancy. Subdivision 2 of this section is contrary to the constitutional provision (State Const., art. X, § 5) that no person appointed to fill a vacancy in an elective office shall hold his office "longer than the commencement of the political year next succeeding the first annual election after the happening of the vacancy," and the governor cannot appoint a sheriff to fill a vacancy caused by death after October fifteenth preceding a general election to hold for a term beyond the first of the next January. examine each surety thereto under oath; and he shall not approve of such undertakings, unless it shall appear on such examination that such sureties are jointly worth at least fifteen thousand dollars over and above all debts whatever; which examination, subscribed by the sureties, shall be indorsed on or attached to the undertaking; but the clerk shall determine the sufficiency of each surety. In the same manner the security shall be renewed within twenty days after the first Monday of January in each year subsequent to that in which he shall have entered upon the duties of his office. The condition of a sheriff's bond does not extend beyond nonfeasance or misfeasance in respect to his official acts; and the plaintiff must show same affirmatively. Ex parte Reed, 41 Hill, 572.

Special acts making office of sheriff salaried in the several counties. In a great many of the counties the office of sheriff is made salaried by special act of the legislature. These acts vary in their nature, and it would be impracticable in a work of this character to attempt to include such acts in full. The following list is made from a careful examination of the statutes. It will be noticed that during recent years the tendency has been to declare such offices salaried, and ultimately all the counties will probably be put upon the same basis in this respect:

When a vacancy shall occur in the office of sheriff, the under-sheriff shall, in all things, execute the duties of the office of sheriff, until a sheriff shall be elected or appointed and duly qualified; and any default or misfeasance in the office of such under-sheriff in the meantime, as well as before shall be deemed to be a breach of the undertaking given by the sheriff who appointed him and also a breach of the undertaking executed by such under-sheriff, to the sheriff by whom he was appointed.[2] [County Law, § 181; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 798.]

§ 3. DEPUTY SHERIFFS TO BE APPOINTED BY SHERIFF; APPOINTMENT TO BE IN WRITING.

Such sheriff may appoint such and so many deputies as he may deem proper, not exceeding one for every three thousand inhabitants of the county; any person may also be deputed by any sheriff or under-sheriff by written instrument, to do particular acts. Every appointment of an under-sheriff or of a deputy sheriff shall be in writing under the hand and seal of the sheriff and filed and recorded in the office of the clerk of the county; and every such under-sheriff or deputy sheriff shall, before he enters upon the execution of the duties of his office, take the constitutional oath of office; but this last provision shall not extend to any person who may be deputed by any sheriff or under-sheriff to do a particular act only.[3] [County Law, § 182; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 799.]

2. Under-sheriffs. An action will not lie against an under-sheriff for breach of duty. Paddock v. Cameron, 8 Cow. 212. See also Tuttle v. Love, 7 Johns. 470. Though at common law the powers of the under-sheriff cease upon the death of the sheriff, yet by statute his power is continued for the benefit of all the parties interested. Ward v. Storey, 18 Johns. 120.

The under-sheriff has no right to keep the money for which sheriff is liable until he is assured that the sheriff will pay it over to party entitled thereto. Stegman v. Hollingsworth, 39 N. Y. St. Rep. 18, 14 N. Y. Supp. 465.

Death or resignation of sheriff. A person while acting as sheriff is responsible for the acts of one acting as his late under-sheriff; but on the death of the principal the under-sheriff becomes substituted in his place and assumes all his duties and liabilities in respect to process not fully executed and is personally responsible for his acts, the sureties of the deceased late sheriff being sureties for the acts of the late under-sheriff. Newman v. Beckwith, 61 N. Y. 205, revg. 5 Lans. 80.

3. Vacancy in office of sheriff; appointment of deputies. In case of a vacancy in the office of sheriff, the duties of his office devolve upon his under-sheriff, but the deputies do not continue in office. A new appointment as deputy of the under-sheriff is necssary; nevertheless, if the deputy continues to act under the under-sheriff with his assent, without a formal appointment, he may be regarded as his deputy de facto. Boardman v. Halliday, 10 Paige, 223.

A promise by a sheriff to appoint a certain person a deputy sheriff, even though for a valuable consideration, is void as against public policy. Hager v. Catlin, 18 Hun, 448. The only way the appointment of a deputy sheriff can be proved is by production of the original appointment in writing under the hand and seal of the sheriff, and due proof of its execution. Von Beil v. Reilly, 14 Wk. Dig. 443. See also Crowley v. Conner, 1 Robt. C. C. 162.

Number of deputies. The statute authorizes the sheriff to appoint as many deputies as he may deem proper, provided he does not exceed the statutory Compensation of under sheriffs and deputies not to be included as part of disbursements of sheriff. Matter of Beck, 31 App. Div. 361, 364, 53 N. Y. Supp. 156, note.

Power of deputy. A deputy sheriff has full power and authority to perform all necessary ministerial acts required in the service and execution of legal process addressed to the sheriff. Gibson v. National Park Bank, 98 N. Y. 87. And where the sheriff is directed to summon jurors they may be lawfully summoned by his deputy, under his direction. People v. McGeery, 6 Park Cr. R. 653.

The authority of the deputy continues as long as that of his principal, provided he have a continuance of authority derived from the principal. Ferguson v. Lee, 9 Wend. 258.

A sheriff who has goods in his custody under a process, has a special property therein which gives him an insurable interest, and his deputy, as such, without special power, is authorized to insure in the name and behalf of his principal. White v. Madison, 26 N. Y. 117.

The duty of the sheriff is to execute process according to command of the writ in pursuance of the established rules of law; and if he deviates therefrom by direction of the plaintiff in the suit, he ceases to be the sheriff's agent and becomes that of such plaintiff. Acker v. Ledyard, 8 Barb. 514.

An execution in a sheriff's hands when he goes out of office may be executed by him thereafter personally or by deputy. Jackson v. Collins, 3 Cow. 89.

A sheriff may lawfully arrest without showing the warrant, but a deputy must show authority if required; this is on the presumption that within his county the sheriff is a known public officer. Sheldon v. Van Buskirk, 2 N. Y. 473.

A deputy sheriff selling land on execution, may authorize another person to compute amount necessary to be paid to redeem and may direct that redemption money be deposited with such person as his agent. Hall v. Fisher, 9 Barb. 17.

Undertaking of deputy. The deputy's undertaking is for the benefit of the sheriff. He himself is responsible for the acts of his deputy and may properly require an undertaking to be given by each deputy appointed by him, conditioned for the faithful performance of the deputy's duties. Reiley v. Dodge, 38 N. Y. St. Rep. 352; 14 N. Y. Supp. 129; affd. 131 N. Y. 153.

It is a breach of the deputy's bond if he fail to pay over to the sheriff money collected by him, even if the sheriff should never be sued or made to pay the amount. The deputy's liability depends solely upon his own omission to pay the sheriff and not in any manner upon what becomes of the money after the sheriff receives it, or who is entitled to it. Willet v. Stuart, 43 Barb. 98.

Where a deputy's bond was conditioned to indemnify the sheriff from all costs, damages, etc., concerning the return and execution of process and concerning the not executing or wrongful execution, etc., of process, it was held that it did not embrace costs in suits wrongfully instituted; but that some shall file a notice in the office of the county clerk. If there be more than one place of holding such courts, the notice shall specify in which act or omission of the deputy must be shown, of such a character that the sheriff would legally be bound to answer for it in damages. The language of the bond should be explicit in order to render the deputy liable for costs in an unfounded suit against him. Franklin v. Hunt, 2 Hill, 671.

To give the sheriff a cause of action on the bond of his deputy there must not only be a technical breach of duty, but pecuniary damage resulting therefrom to the sheriff. Rowe v. Richardson, 5 Barb. 385. The sureties on the bond of a deputy sheriff are only responsible for his official acts as a general deputy; and the deputy is not accountable to his principal in that character when acting under his special direction and authority in a given case. Tuttle v. Cook, 15 Wend. 274.

A sheriff may recover by action upon his deputy's official bond conditioned to indemnify him against liability to third parties because of acts or omissions of the deputy, the amount for which he has been rendered liable to the plaintiff in an attachment suit by reason of the deputy's falsely informing him that a check received by the deputy from the claimant of the attached property, on releasing the property under a written stipulation between the attachment plaintiff's attorney and the claimant, that the proceeds of the check were to be held by the sheriff until the final judgment as security after the plaintiff's demand in the attachment suit, was received simply in lieu of the property released. Flack v. Brassel, 153 N. Y. 621; 47 N. E. 807.

A deputy sheriff is an officer within the meaning of the statute and may resign his office; upon his resignation his sureties are not responsible for any acts done thereafter. Gilbert v. Luce, 11 Barb. 91.

Revocation of authority. The authority of a deputy ceases upon service on him of a written revocation of his appointment, signed by the sheriff.

The formality of a seal is not indispensable. The common law, that an instrument under seal cannot be discharged except by a similar instrument under seal, does not apply to the case. This is an administrative arrangement, and is to be regulated by the statute. Edmunds v. Barton, 31 N. Y. 495.

Sheriff must notify constables and deputies to attend terms. The Sheriff of each county, except New York and Kings, must within a reasonable time before the sitting, in his county, of any term of court, notify, in writing or personally, as many constables or deputy sheriff's of his county, as he deems necessary, to appear and attend upon the term during its sitting. Judiciary Law, § 403.

Number. In any county where the compensation of such attendants is now fixed by statute at the sum of three dollars per day and mileage, the number of attendants to be appointed for any one term of court, pursuant to the last preceding section, shall not exceed eighteen. Judiciary Law, § 343.

Penalty for neglect of officer to attend court. Each constable or deputy sheriff, seasonably notified, as prescribed in the last two sections, must attend the term accordingly; and for each day's neglect he may be fined by the court, at the term which he was notified to attend, a sum not exceeding five dollars. Judiciary Law, § 407.

place his office shall be kept, or it may be specified that an office will be kept in all such places. Every sheriff's office, except in the counties of Kings and New York, as hereinafter provided, shall be kept open, except Sundays and other days and half days declared by law to be holidays or half holidays, from nine o'clock in the morning until five o'clock in the afternoon, during the months of November, December, January, February and March of each year, and from eight o'clock in the morning until six o'clock in the afternoon during the other months in each year.[4]

Every notice or other paper required to be served on any sheriff may be served by leaving the same at the office designated by him in such notice during the days and hours for which he is required to keep such office open, but if there be any person belonging to such office therein, such notice or paper shall be delivered to such person, and every such service shall be deemed equivalent to a personal service on such sheriff.[5] In the counties of Kings and New York said offices shall remain open during the entire year from nine o'clock in the forenoon to four o'clock in the afternoon, except Sundays and other days and half days declared by law to be holidays or half holidays. [County Law, § 184; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 800.]

§ 5. FEES FOR SERVICES FOR THE STATE; ACCOUNTS, HOW AUDITED.

When a sheriff shall be required by any statute to perform any service in behalf of the people of this state, and for their benefit, which shall

4. Office hours of sheriff. Holidays and half-holidays are specified in the General Construction Law, sec. 24, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 112. See note to County Law, sec. 165, ante, p. 132.

By section 62 of the Public Officers Law it is provided that, "holidays and half-holidays shall be considered as Sunday for all purposes relating to the transaction of business in the public offices of the state, and of each county."

Business with sheriffs, unlike that with county clerks, may be transacted at other places besides their offices, and outside of office hours. France v. Hamilton, 26 How. Pr. 180. The sheriff's office not being required to be kept open Sunday, when the last day for redemption falls on that day, it may be made on Monday. Porter v. Pierce, 120 N. Y. 217.

5. Service of papers. The papers and notices which may be served upon the sheriff by leaving the same at his office, with his clerk or deputy, refer to the large class of papers and notices which are required by law to be served on the sheriff as such, by virtue of his office, and which do not concern him personally. A summons in a civil action against the sheriff cannot be served upon him by leaving the same at his office, or otherwise than by delivering the same to him personally. Sherman v. Conner, 16 Abb. N. S. 396.

Notice by surety on bond of deputy of his withdrawal is not a paper that can be so served. Reilly v. Dodge, 131 N. Y. 153.

not be made chargeable by law to his county, or to some officer, body or person, his account for such services shall be audited by the comptroller and paid out of the state treasury.[6] [County Law, § 185; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 801.]

§ 6. SHERIFF TO BE REMOVED FOR NON-PAYMENT OF MONEYS.

When a sheriff shall be committed to the custody of any other sheriff, or to any coroner by virtue of an execution or attachment for the non-payment of moneys received by him by virtue of his office, and shall remain so committed for the space of thirty days successively, such facts shall be presented to the governor by the officer in whose custody such sheriff may be, to the end that such sheriff may be removed from office.[7] [County Law, § 186; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 802.]

§ 7. WHEN CORONER TO ACT AS SHERIFF; COUNTY JUDGE TO DESIGNATE CORONER; UNDERTAKING.

When a vacancy shall occur in the office of sheriff, and there shall be no under-sheriff of the county then in office, or the office of such under-sheriff shall become vacant, or he become incapable of executing the duties of the same before another sheriff of the same county shall be elected or appointed and qualified, and there shall be more than one coroner of such county then in office, the county judge of such county shall forthwith designate one of such coroners to execute the duties of the office of sheriff of the county until a sheriff thereof shall be elected or appointed and qualified. Such designation shall be by a written instrument, signed by the judge, and filed in the office of the clerk of the county, and the clerk shall immediately give notice thereof to such coroner. Within six days after receiving such notice, such coroner shall execute a joint and several

While a delivery of an execution to a deputy in person is a delivery to the sheriff, yet leaving it in some undescribed place in the meat market of the deputy is not a good delivery. Burrell v. Hollands, 78 Hun, 583, 29 N. Y. Supp. 515.

6. Fees of sheriffs generally. See Code Civ. Proc., sec. 3307, as amended by L. 1907, ch. 253; L. 1915, ch. 565, and L. 1917, ch. 265. See Note 1, in this chapter, for list of counties in which the office of sheriff is salaried.

7. Duties of coroner as to arrest and confinement of sheriff. When a mandate, requiring the arrest of a sheriff is directed to the coroner he must execute the same in the same manner as a similar mandate directed to a sheriff. His duties in respect to the confinement of the sheriff are the same as those of the sheriff in respect to the confinement of any other civil prisoner. See Code Civ. Proc., secs. 172-181.

Removal of sheriff. For procedure for the removal of county officers by the governor, see Public Officers Law, secs. 33-35, post.

undertaking, with the same number of sureties, to be approved in the same manner and be subject in all respects to the same regulations as the security required by law from the sheriff of such county. After the execution and filing of such undertaking in the clerk's office, such coroner shall execute the duties of the office of sheriff of the same county until a sheriff shall be duly elected or appointed and qualified. [County Law, § 187; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 802.]

§ 8. WHEN OTHER CORONER TO BE DESIGNATED; WHEN CORONER TO EXECUTE DUTIES OF OFFICE OF SHERIFF.

When the coroner so designated shall not, within the time specified, give the security required of him, the county judge shall, in like manner, designate another coroner of the county to assume the office of sheriff, and, if necessary, he shall make successive designation until all the coroners of the county shall have been designated to assume such office; and all the provisions contained in the last preceding section shall apply to every such designation and to the coroner named therein. If such vacancy shall occur when there shall be but one coroner of the county then in office, he shall be entitled to execute the duties of the office of sheriff therein until a sheriff shall be duly elected or appointed and qualified; but before he enters upon the duties of such office, and within ten days after the happening of the last vacancy in the office of the sheriff and under-sheriff, he shall execute with sureties a joint and several undertaking, the same as is required by law from a sheriff; and such undertaking shall be subject in all respects to the same regulations as the security required from the sheriff. [County Law, § 188; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 802.]

§ 9. COUNTY JUDGE MAY APPOINT A PERSON OTHER THAN A CORONER IN CERTAIN CASES.

If such coroner so in office on the happening of such vacancies shall neglect or refuse to execute such undertaking within the time required, or if all the coroners, where there are more than one in office in such event, shall successively neglect or refuse to execute the undertaking within the time required, the county judge shall appoint some suitable person to execute the duties of the office of sheriff in his county until a sheriff therein shall be duly elected or appointed and qualified. Such appointment shall be made and filed in the same manner as the above designations are made and filed, and the clerk shall forthwith give notice thereof to the person so appointed, who shall, within six days thereafter, and before he enters upon the duties of his office, give such security as is required by law of sheriffs, and subject to the same regulations; and thereupon such person shall execute the duties of the office of sheriff of the county until a sheriff shall be duly elected or appointed, and qualified. [County Law, § 189; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 803.]

§ 10. CORONERS TO EXECUTE DUTIES OF OFFICE UNTIL VACANCY IS FILLED; DUTIES AND LIABILITIES OF INCUMBENT.

Until some coroner designated or some person appointed by the judge shall have executed the security above required, or until a sheriff of the county shall have been duly elected or appointed, and qualified, the coroner or coroners of the county in which such vacancies shall exist shall execute the duties of the office of sheriff therein; and when any undersheriff, coroner, coroners or other person shall execute the duties of the office of sheriff, pursuant to either of the foregoing provisions, the person so executing the same shall be subject to all the duties, liabilities and penalties imposed by law upon the sheriff duly elected and qualified, and he shall be entitled to the same compensation. [County Law, § 190; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 803.]

§ 11. BOARD OF SUPERVISORS MAY FIX SALARY OF CORONER.

The board of supervisors of any county shall have power to prescribe that coroners in said county shall receive a salary, instead of fees, and to fix the amount of such salary; and thereafter coroners in said county shall receive for their services only the salary so fixed and shall not be entitled to any fees whatever, except when performing the duties of a sheriff, in which last named case the coroner so acting, shall have the same compensation as the sheriff, whose duties he performs, would have had. [County Law, § 191; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 803.]

§ 12. FEES ALLOWED CORONERS FOR SERVICES ON INQUESTS, ETC.

Coroners in and for the state of New York, except in the county of Kings and except in such other counties as have prescribed or shall hereafter prescribe, different compensation, shall be entitled to receive the following compensation for services performed: Mileage to the place of inquest and return, ten cents per mile. Viewing bodies, five dollars. Service of subpœna, ten cents per mile traveled. Swearing each witness, fifteen cents. Drawing decision, one dollar. Copying decision for record, per folio, twenty-five cents, but such officers shall receive pay for one copy only. For making and transmitting statements to the board of supervisors, each decision fifty cents. For warrants of commitment, one dollar. For arrest and examination of offenders, fees shall be the same as justices of the peace in like cases. When required to perform the duties of sheriff, shall be entitled to and receive the same fees as sheriffs for the performance of like duties. Shall be reimbursed for all moneys paid out actually and necessarily by him in the discharge of official duties as shall be allowed by the board of supervisors. Shall receive for each and every day and fractional parts thereof spent in taking an inquisition, three dollars. For performing the requirements of law in regard to wrecked vessels, shall receive three dollars per day and fractional parts thereof, and a measureable compensation for all official acts performed, and mileage to and from such wrecked vessels, ten cents per mile. For taking ante-mortem statement shall be entitled to the same rates of mileage as before mentioned, and three dollars per day and fractional parts thereof, and for taking deposition of injured person in extremis, one dollar.[1] [County Law, § 192; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 804.]

Whenever, in consequence of the performance of his official duties, a coroner becomes a witness in a criminal proceeding, he shall be entitled to receive mileage to and from his place of residence, ten cents per mile, and three dollars per day for each day, or fractional parts thereof, actually detained as such witness. This section also applies to the county of New York. [County Law, § 193; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 804.]

§ 13. EMPLOYMENT OF STENOGRAPHER AND SURGEONS.

A coroner shall have power, when necessary, to employ not more than two competent surgeans to make post-mortem examinations and dissections and to testify to the same and in counties where coroners are paid in fees, to employ a stenographer[1] to take and reduce to writing the testimony of witnesses examined before the coroner, the compensation therefor to be a county charge. This section also applies to the county of New York.[2] [County Law, § 194, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 158; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 804.]

§ 14. DUTIES OF SHERIFF IN RESPECT TO SERVICES OF MANDATES IN CIVIL ACTIONS; COPY OF PROCESS TO BE DELIVERED; RETURN OF SHERIFF.

A sheriff, to whom a mandate of any description, is delivered to be executed, must, without compensation, give to the person delivering the same, if required, a minute in writing, signed by the sheriff, specifying the names of the parties, the general nature of the mandate and the day and hour of receiving the same. [Code Civ. Proc., § 100]

A sheriff or other officer, serving a mandate, must, upon the request of the person, served, deliver to him a copy thereof, without compensation. [Idem, § 101.]

1. Fees and compensation of coroner.— A coroner is entitled to fees where an inquest is held, but is not entitled to disbursements in addition thereto. Where no inquest is held he is entitled to actual and necessary disbursements, but no fee. Rept. of Atty. Genl., March 3, 1911.

Expenses.— Coroner, whose salary is fixed, is not entitled to compensation for his expenses. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1901), 186. But it has been ruled that a coroner receiving a salary instead of fees is entitled to reimbursement for expenses actually and necessarily incurred by him in the discharge of his duties. Opinion of State Comptroller (1916), 10 State Dept. Rep. 550.

2. The appointment of a coroner's physician is personal to each coroner and the term of office of each physician is coterminous with that of the coroner who appoints him unless he has been sooner removed. Matter of Naumack, 145 App. Div. 289.

Code Civ. Proc., §§ 102, 103.

A sheriff or other officer, to whom a mandate is directed and delivered, must execute the same according to the command thereof, and make return thereon of his proceedings, under his hand. For a violation of this provision, he is liable to the party aggrieved, for the damages sustained by him, in addition to any fine, or other punishment or proceeding, authorized by law. A mandate directed and delivered to a sheriff may be returned, by depositing the same in the post-office properly inclosed in a postpaid wrapper addressed to the clerk at the place where his office is situated; unless the officer making the return in the name of the sheriff resides in the place where the clerk's office is situated.[8] [Idem, § 102.]

§ 15. LIABILITY OF SHERIFF FOR NEGLECT IN SERVING PROCESS IN SPECIAL PROCEEDING.

A sheriff or other officer to whom is delivered for service or execution a mandate authorized by law to be issued by a judge or other officer, in

8. Duty as to service and return. It is the duty of the sheriff to use reasonable efforts to execute process, and he cannot rely upon mere casual information. Hinman v. Borden, 10 Wend. 367.

A party in whose favor process is issued may give such directions to the sheriff as will not only excuse the sheriff from his general duty but bind him to the performance of what is required of him. Gregg v. Murphy, 73 Hun, 389; 28 N. Y. Supp. 556. He is subject at all times to the direction of the party in whose favor process is issued. Root v. Wagoner, 30 N. Y. 19. See, also, Douglas v. Haberstro, 88 N. Y. 611; Crouse v. Bailey, 2 N. Y. St. Rep. 395; Corning v. Southerland, 3 Hill, 502.

Liability of sheriff; damages. Prima facie where a sheriff fails to return an execution within the required time he is liable for the amount of the debt, but he may show in mitigation of damages that the defendant therein had no property on which the execution could be levied. Pach v. Gilbert, 17 Civ. Proc. R. 39; 7 N. Y. Supp 336; affd. 124 N. Y. 612.

On the failure to return an execution the sheriff is only liable for the damages sustained, and if it appears that there was only a small amount of leviable property, it is error to direct a verdict for the full amount of the execution. The sheriff is not bound to levy on property pointed out by the plaintiff though an indemnity is offered him, provided he acts in good faith and shows that the property did not belong to the defendant. Dolson v. Saxton, 11 Hun, 565.

In an action against a sheriff, for neglecting to collect and return an execution against the property, the plaintiff must show a valid judgment; but the sheriff cannot take advantage of a mere irregularity making the judgment only voidable. Forsyth v. Campbell, 15 Hun, 235; Dunford v. Weaver, 84 N. Y. 445. A sheriff cannot, in an action for damages, attack the form of the mandate given him for enforcement unless it is absolutely void. McDonald v. Kieferdorf, 22 Civ. Proc. R. 105; 18 N. Y. Supp. 763.

An officer to whom an execution is delivered who extends the judgment debtor's time for payment of the judgment debt beyond the time fixed for a special proceeding, who wilfully neglects to execute the same, may be fined by the judge, in a sum not exceeding twenty-five dollars, and is liable to the party aggrieved for his damages sustained thereby. [Code of Civ. Proc. § 103.]

§ 16. POWERS OF SHERIFF IN CASE OF RESISTANCE TO THE SERVICE OF MANDATE; NAMES OF RESISTERS TO BE CERTIFIED TO COURT; SHERIFF MAY ASK ASSISTANCE; GOVERNOR MAY ORDER OUT MILITIA.

If a sheriff, to whom a mandate is directed and delivered, finds, or has reason to apprehend, that resistance will be made to the execution thereof, he may command all the male persons in his county, or as many as he thinks proper, and with such arms as he directs, including any military organization armed and equipped, to assist him in overcoming the resistance, and, if necessary, in arresting and confining the resisters, their aiders and abettors, to be dealt with according to law.[9] [Judiciary Law, § 400; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 2804.]

The sheriff must certify to the court, from which or by whose authority the mandate was issued, the names of the resisters, their aiders and abettors, as far as he can ascertain the same, to the end that they may be punished for their contempt of the court. [Idem, § 401; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 2805.]

the return of the execution, and, without consultation with the judgment creditor or her attorney, procures the renewal of the execution, is liable for damages sustained by the subsequent disappearance of the judgment debtor.

9. Sheriff may call for assistance. The fact that an officer had not, at the time of summoning the power of the county, a sufficient cause for summoning them, does not affect the duty of the persons summoned, if, when they come together, resistance is offered to his executing the process; nor does it affect the liability of those who make or cause resistance except as to damages. Slater v. Wood, 9 Bosw. 15. The sheriff may call on others to assist him and leave them to watch while he goes for further assistance. He is deemed constructively present so as to justify the others making an arrest. Coyles v. Hurtin, 10 Johns. 85.

One who, being called upon by an officer to assist him, does so, acts at his own peril; if the officer has authority to do the act in which the person is called upon to assist, such person is bound to obey, and if he neglects or refuses, he is guilty of a misdemeanor; but if the officer is not so authorized, the person who obeys him is a trespasser. Elder v. Morrison, 10 Wend. 128.

Liability of sheriff. Where property is attached by the sheriff and afterward is wrongfully taken from his possession, it is his duty to retake it by force from any person who has so removed it. He is guilty of neglect if he does not use the power conferred by this section in retaking such property. Matter of Wood v. Bodine, 32 Hun, 354. See also Delancy v. Piepgrass, 141 N. Y. 88, 96.

Penal Law, § 1848; Military Law, § 115; Judiciary Law, §§ 402-405.

A person, who, after having been lawfully commanded to aid an officer in arresting any person, or in re-taking any person who has escaped from legal custody, or in executing any legal process, wilfully neglects or refuses to aid such officer is guilty of a misdemeanor. [Penal Law, § 1848; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4047.]

If it appear to the governor that the power of the county be not sufficient to enable the sheriff to preserve the peace and protect the lives and property of the peaceful residents of this county, or to overcome the resistance to process of this state, the governor must, on the application of the sheriff, order out such military force from any other county or counties, as is necessary. [Military Law, § 115, in part; as amended by L. 1916, ch. 355; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 3526.]

A term of the appellate division of the supreme court must be attended by the sheriff of the county in which it is held, his under-sheriff, or one of his deputies, each of whom must act under the direction of the court or of the presiding justice. The sheriff of the county must cause the room in which a term of the appellate division is held to be properly heated, ventilated, lighted, and kept comfortably clean and in order. The sheriff must also provide the court with all necessary stationery and minute books, upon the written requisition of the court or of the justice presiding at the term, and shall defray the necessary expense of telegraphing the day calendar to such county clerks as the court shall direct; also the necessary expense of transmitting printed cases and papers to the reporter; to the various libraries and to the justices of the appellate division. The fees of the sheriff for attending a term of the appellate division and all expenses incurred by a sheriff in obedience to this section must be audited by the comptroller and paid out of the treasury of the state. [Judiciary Law, § 402; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 2805.]

The sheriff of each county, except New York and Kings, must within a reasonable time before the sitting, in his county, of any term of court, notify, in writing or personally, as many constables or deputy sheriffs of his county, as he deems necessary, to appear and attend upon the term during its sitting. [Idem, § 403; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 2806.]

Where a special term of the supreme court is adjourned to the chambers of a justice of the court, pursuant to section one hundred and forty-eight of this chapter, the attendance of the sheriff or a constable is not required unless the justice directs them to attend. [Idem, § 404; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 2806.]

The sheriff of the county of Erie shall not be required to attend or designate any officer to attend at justices' chambers or at special terms of the supreme court, or at any term of the county court and surrogate's court held in said county of Erie unless requested so to do by the justice, judge or surrogate presiding thereat. [Idem, § 405; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 2807.]

A sheriff, deputy sheriff, or constable, attending a term of a court of record, must, when required by the court, act as crier therein; and he is not entitled to any additional compensation for that service. [Idem, § 406; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 2807.]

Each constable or deputy sheriff, seasonably notified, as prescribed in section four hundred and three of this chapter, must attend the term accordingly; and for each day's neglect he may be fined by the court, at the term at which he was notified to attend, a sum not exceeding five dollars. [Idem, § 407; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 2807.]

The sheriff of Queens county shall not notify, or designate any deputy sheriffs to attend at a term of court in said county held with or without a jury except by an order of the justice, or judge, presiding thereat, to be entered upon the minutes. [Idem, § 408; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 2807.]

The sheriff of the county of Monroe is hereby authorized by and with the consent and approval of the justices of the supreme court of the seventh judicial district, residing in the county of Monroe, and the county judge and special county judge of Monroe county, respectively, to appoint and with the consent of said justices and judges at pleasure, to remove, such attendants from the supreme court and the county court, respectively, held in and for the county of Monroe, as such justices and judges shall deem necessary. [Idem, § 409; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 2808.]

Where it is specially prescribed by law, that a sheriff must, or may, in his discretion, empanel a jury to try the validity of a claim of title to, or of the right of possession of goods or effects seized by him by virtue of a mandate in an action, interposed by a person not a party to the action, the trial must be conducted in the following manner, except as otherwise specially prescribed by law:

1. The sheriff must, from time to time, notify as many persons to attend, as it is necessary, in order to form a jury of twelve persons, qualified to serve as trial jurors in the county court of the county, or, in the city and county of New York, in the Supreme Court, to try the validity of the claim.

2. Upon the trial, witnesses may be examined, in behalf of the claimant, and of the party, at whose instance the property claimed was taken by the sheriff. For the purpose of compelling a witness to attend and testify, the sheriff, upon the application of either party to the inquisition, must issue a subpœna, as prescribed in section eight hundred and fifty-four of this act, and with like effect; except that a warrant to apprehend or commit a witness, in a case specified in section eight hundred and fifty-five or section eight hundred and fifty-six of this act, may be issued by a judge of the court in which the action is brought, or by the county judge.

3. The sheriff or under-sheriff must preside upon the trial. A witness, produced by either party, must be sworn by the presiding officer, and examined orally in the presence of the jury. A witness, who testifies falsely upon such an examination, is guilty of perjury in a like case, and is punishable in like manner, as upon the trial of a civil action. [Code Civ. Proc. § 108.]

Upon such a trial there are no costs; but the fees of the sheriff, jurors, and witnesses must be taxed, by a judge of the court, or the county judge of the county, and must be paid as follows:

1. If the jury, by their verdict, find the title, or the right of possession to the property claimed, to be in the claimant; by the party at whose instance the property was taken by the sheriff.

2. If they find adversely to the claimant, with respect to all the property claimed; by the claimant.

3. If they find the title, or the right of possession to only a part of the property claimed, to be in the claimant; each party must pay his own witnesses' fees; and the sheriff's and jurors' fees must be paid, one-half by each party to the inquisition.

Before notifying the jurors, the sheriff may, in his discretion, require each of the parties to the controversy to deposit with him such reasonable sum, as may be necessary to cover his legal fees, and the jurors' fees. The sheriff must return to each party the balance of the sum so deposited by him, after deducting his fees, lawfully chargeable to that party, as prescribed in this section. [Idem, § 109.]

§ 19. PROCEEDINGS ON NEW SHERIFF ASSUMING OFFICE.

1. Where a new sheriff has been elected or appointed, and has qualified and given the security required by law, the clerk of the county must furnish to the new sheriff a certificate, under his hand and official seal, stating that the person so appointed or elected, has so qualified and given security.

2. Upon the commencement of the new sheriff's term of office, and the service of the certificate on the former sheriff, the latter's powers as sheriff cease, except as otherwise expressly prescribed by law.[10]

10. Meaning of section. Section 182 of the Code from which subd. 1 was derived, was interpreted by the old supreme court to mean that until the

3. Within ten days after the service of the certificate, upon the former sheriff, he must deliver to his successor:

(1.) The jail, or if there are two or more, the jails of the county, with all their appurtenances, and the property of the county therein.

(2.) All the prisoners then confined in the jail or jails.[11]

(3.) All process, orders, commitments, and all other papers and documents, authorizing, or relating to the confinement or custody of a prisoner, or, if such a process, order, or commitment has been returned, a statement in writing of the contents thereof, and when and where it was returned.

certificate of the clerk was served upon the old sheriff, he had authority to execute process placed in his hands as sheriff, and that the powers of the old sheriff did not cease until the powers of the new sheriff became complete. Curtis v. Kimball, 12 Wend. 275.

The outgoing sheriff, while retaining possession of the office awaiting advent of the new sheriff, is to be considered as his agent in receiving such process as comes into his hands, until the transfer of the office is complete. Littlejohn v. Leffingwell, 34 App. Div. 185, 54 N. Y. Supp. 536.

Qualifying. A sheriff does not lose his office by neglecting to give his bond within twenty days after receiving notice of his election, if he execute and file it within fifteen days after the commencement of his term. People v. Holley, 12 Wend. 481. "Qualified" means taken the oath of office. Curtis v. Kimball, 12 Wend. 275.

11. Delivery of prisoner. The power of the outgoing sheriff ceases after ten days and the new one has no power unless the prisoner is assigned to him. Matter of Irving, 3 How. Pr. (N. S.) 236; Hinds v. Doubleday, 21 Wend. 223.

The power of the outgoing sheriff as to prisoners is unchanged until the certificate is served upon him by the incoming sheriff. Feerick v. Conner, 12 Wk. Dig. 43.

A prisoner on his jail limits not assigned to the incoming sheriff by the outgoing sheriff cannot be deemed to be imprisoned. Matter of Irving, 3 How. Pr. (N. S.) 236.

An outgoing sheriff neglecting to deliver a prisoner to his successor is liable to plaintiff in the execution. French v. Willet, 10 Abb. Pr. 99.

If a new sheriff regularly receives a prisoner he is answerable, though there had been a previous voluntary escape; but plaintiff may elect which sheriff he will hold, but he cannot hold both. Radson v. Turner, 4 Johns. 469.

A new sheriff is not liable for the escape of a prisoner who is on the limits on bond and has not been assigned to him by his predecessor. Partridge v. Westervelt, 13 Wend. 500. So where the sheriff dies and the under-sheriff neglects to assign such prisoner to the new sheriff. Ridgway v. Barnard, 28 Barb. 613.

Where outgoing sheriff assigned to the incoming one a prisoner under mesne process, but himself returned the writ, and the new sheriff subsequently took bail, and after judgment the prisoner escaped, the new sheriff was held not liable therefor because of the irregularity of the assignment in that he never had the writ. Richard v. Porter, 7 Johns. 137.

As to information necessary to be given with a prisoner delivered to sheriff's successor, see Tallmadge v. Richmond, 9 Johns. 85, revd. on another point, 16 Johns. 307.

(4.) All mandates, then in his hands, except such as he has fully executed, or has begun to execute, by the collection of money thereon, or by a seizure or of levy on money or other property, in pursuance thereof. At the time of the delivery, the former sheriff must execute an instrument, reciting the property, documents, and prisoners delivered, specifying particularly the process or other authority, by which each prisoner was committed and is detained, and whether the same has been returned or is delivered to the new sheriff. The instrument must be delivered to the new sheriff, who must acknowledge, in writing, upon a duplicate thereof, the receipt of the property, documents and prisoners, therein specified; and deliver such duplicate and acknowledgment to the former sheriff.

4. Notwithstanding the election or appointment of a new sheriff, the former sheriff must return, in his own name, each mandate which he has fully executed; and must proceed with and complete the execution of each mandate which he has begun to execute, in the manner specified in paragraph fourth of subdivision three of this section, except that all mandates issued against the wages, debts, earnings, salary, income from trust funds or profits of a judgment debtor, shall be delivered over to the new sheriff, who shall proceed with and complete the execution of the same.[12] [Amended by L. 1910, ch. 418.]

5. When a person, arrested by virtue of an order of arrest, is confined, either in jail, or to the liberties thereof, at the time of assigning and delivering the jail to the new sheriff, the order, if it is not then returnable, must be delivered to the new sheriff, and be returned by him at the return

12. Authority of former sheriff. Where a sheriff prior to the expiration of his term of office under a judgment of foreclosure advertised the premises for sale upon a day after his term had expired, he had authority and was bound to proceed with and complete the sale. Union Dime Savings Inst'n v. Andariese, 83 N. Y. 174.

A sheriff may complete the execution of a fieri facias after he has gone out of office. Wood v. Colvin, 5 Hill, 228. So he may sell and convey. Averill v. Wilson, 2 Barb. 180. As to return, see Richards v. Porter, 7 Johns. 137.

Decree. Where sheriff appointed to sell property in foreclosure has advertised the same for sale before receiving his successor's certificate, he is not required to deliver the decree to his successor, since by the advertisement the seizure became complete and rendered the property subject to the decree. Union Dime Savings Inst'n v. Andariese, 83 N. Y. 174.

Executions not levied should be turned over, and where the new sheriff has received such an execution an order will issue requiring him to make return thereon or that attachment will issue against him. day thereof, with the proceedings of the former sheriff and of the new sheriff thereon.

6. If the former sheriff neglects or refuses to deliver to his successor, the jail, or any of the property, documents or prisoners in his charge, as prescribed in this section, his successor must, notwithstanding, take possession of the jail, and of the property of the county therein, and the custody of the prisoners therein confined, and proceed to compel the delivery of the documents withheld, as prescribed by law.

7. If, at the time when a new sheriff qualifies, and gives the security required by law, the office of the former sheriff is executed by his under-sheriff, or by a coroner of the county, or a person specially authorized for that purpose, he must comply with the provisions of this section, and perform the duties thereby required of the former sheriff.[13]

8. The provisions of this section shall also apply to the county of New York. [County Law, § 195; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 805.]

§ 20. INJURY TO RECORDS AND MISAPPROPRIATION BY MINISTERIAL OFFICERS.

A sheriff, coroner, clerk of a court, constable or other ministerial officer, and every deputy or subordinate of any ministerial officer, who:

1. Mutilates, destroys, conceals, erases, obliterates or falsifies any record or paper appertaining to his office; or,

2. Fraudulently appropriates to his own use or to the use of another person, or secretes with intent to appropriate to such use, any money, evidence of debt or other property intrusted to him in virtue of his office, is guilty of felony. [Penal Law, § 1838; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4044.]

§ 21. SHERIFFS AND OTHERS PERMITTING ESCAPES OR REFUSING TO RECEIVE PRISONERS.

A sheriff, coroner, clerk of a court, constable or other ministerial officer and every deputy or subordinate of any ministerial officer, who:

13. Liability of under-sheriff. Where a sheriff dies, who, at the expiration of his term, has process not fully executed, his late under-sheriff is substituted for him, assumes all his duties and liabilities, and is personally liable, although the sureties of the late sheriff may be also liable. Newman v. Beckwith, 61 N. Y. 205.

A bond given by an under-sheriff to the sheriff covers moneys received by the former after the latter's final term has expired; he is bound to pay over to the ex-sheriff. Stegman v. Hollingsworth, 39 N. Y. St. Rep. 18, 14 N. Y. Supp. 465.

to procure, assist, connive at, or permit any prisoner in his custody to escape, whether such escape is attempted or not; or,

2. Commits any unlawful act tending to hinder justice, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

A conviction of a sheriff or other officer also operates as a forfeiture of his office, and disqualifies him forever thereafter from holding the same. The governor shall, upon application, grant a hearing to a person convicted under this section and if he be satisfied that the facts warrant it, he may, by order, relieve such person from such disqualification. [Penal Law, § 1839, as amended by L. 1917, ch. 226; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4045.]

An officer who, in violation of a duty imposed upon him by law to receive a person into his official custody, or into a prison under his charge, wilfully neglects or refuses so to do, is guilty of a misdemeanor. [Idem, § 1840.]

COUNTY JAILS.

SECTION 1. Sheriffs to have custody of jails.
2. Use of county jails.
3. Either of several jails may be used.
4. Number of rooms in county jail.
5. Custody and control of prisoners; civil prisoners to be kept separate; women not to be kept in same room with men; communication with counsel, etc.
6. Prisoners to be furnished with wholesome food; employment of prisoners.
7. Prisoners to be furnished with reading matter; divine service.
8. Record of commitments and discharges, what to state.
9. United States prisoners to be received.
10. Calendars of names of prisoners, etc., to be presented to court.
11. Prisoners to be discharged if not indicted.
12. Suspension of habeas corpus during term of court.
13. Prisoner to be discharged if unable to pay fine.
14. Houses of detention for women, children and witnesses.
15. Boards of supervisors may establish and maintain county workhouses.
16. Who may visit jails and workhouses.
17. Board of supervisors to appoint jail physican.
18. Sale of liquors in jails; permit for use of liquors; penalties.
19. Service of papers in civil action to be made on prisoner in jail.

ferred upon the legislature by section 11 of art. 8 of the Constitution, which authorizes the legislature to provide for a "state commission of prisons, which shall visit and inspect all institutions used for the detention of sane adults charged with or convicted of crime, or detained as witnesses or debtors. This act was repealed by L. 1907, ch. 381, and both acts were repealed by the Prison Law, which continues the state commission of prisons. Sections 46-53 (sec. 46, as amended by L. 1914, ch. 379; sec. 50, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 118; sec. 52, as amended by L. 1918, ch. 364), of the Prison Law have reference to the duties of such commission in connection with county jails and are here inserted in full.

General powers and duties of commission of prisons. The state commission of prisons shall visit and inspect all institutions used for the detention of sane adults charged with or convicted of crime, or detained as witnesses or debtors, excepting such reformatories as are subject to the visitation and inspection of the state board of charities; and shall;

1. Aid in securing the just, humane and economic administration of all institutions subject to its supervision.

2. Advise the officers of such institutions or in control thereof in the performance of their official duties.

3. Aid in securing the erection of suitable buildings for the accommodation of the inmates of such insttiutions, and approve or reject plans for their construction or improvement.

4. Investigate the management of all institutions made subject to the visitation of the commission, and the conduct and efficiency of the officers or persons charged with their management.

5. Secure the best sanitary conditions of the buildings and grounds of all such institutions, and protect and preserve the health of the inmates.

6. Collect statistical information in respect to the property, receipts and expenditures of said institutions and of any department of the state or any subdivision thereof in charge of the same, and the number and condition of the inmates thereof.

7. Ascertain and recommend such system of employing said inmates as may, in the opinion of said commission, be for the best interest of the public and of said inmates and not in conflict with the provisions of the constitution relating to the employment of prisoners. Prison Law, § 46, as amended by L. 1914, ch. 379.

8. Close any city jail or police station, town or village jail or lockup which is unsanitary or inadequate to provide for the separation and classification of prisoners required by law. The powers and duties of the commission under this subdivision shall be exercised in the following manner: The commission shall cause a citation to be mailed to the mayor and the city clerk, in the case of a city jail or police station; to the supervisor and town clerk in the case of a town jail or lockup, and to a trustee and village clerk, in the case of a village jail or lockup, at least twenty days before the return day thereof, directing the authorities of the city, town or village designated to appear before such commission at the time and place set forth in the citation, and show cause why such city jail or police station, or town jail or lockup, or village jail or lockup, shall not be closed. After a hearing thereon or upon the faiure to appear, such commission is empowered to order the city jail or police station, town jail or lockup, village jail or lockup designated in the citation closed within ninety days, during which time the city, town or village may review such order by writ of certiorari, in the supreme court. Ninety days after the order to close has been served by registered letter upon the mayor and city clerk, in case of a city jail or police station, upon the supervisor and town clerk, in case of a town jail or lockup, and upon a village trustee and clerk in case of a village jail or lockup, if no court review has been taken, and ninety days after the order of such commission has been confirmed by the court, in case of court review, the city jail or police station, town jail or lockup and village jail or lockup designated in the order shall be closed, and it shall be unlawful to confine or detain any person therein and any officer confining or detaining any person therein shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [Sub. 8, added by L. 1914, ch. 379.]

visitations of said commission may be visited and inspected by it or by any member thereof or by its secretary, when authorized, or by any officer or inspector duly appointed by it for that purpose at any and all times. Such commission or any member thereof may take proof and hear testimony relating to any matter before it, or before such member, upon any such visit or inspection. Any member or the secretary of such commission, when authorized, or any officer or inspector duly appointed by it, shall have full access to the grounds, buildings, books and papers relating to any such institution, and may require from the officers and persons in charge or control thereof any information he may deem necessary in the discharge of his duties. Said commission may prepare regulations according to which, and provide blanks and forms upon which, such information shall be furnished, in a clear, uniform and prompt manner, for the use of the commission. Any superintendent, commissioner, officer, or employee of such institution, or in charge or control thereof, who shall refuse or cause admission to be refused to any member, officer or inspector of the commission, for the purpose of visitation and inspection, or who shall refuse or neglect to furnish, or to cause to be furnished, the information required by the commission or by any of its members, officers or inspectors, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Idem, sec. 47.

Orders of the commission directed to institutions or officers in charge thereof. If it shall appear, after any such investigation, that the laws relating to the construction, management and affairs of any such institution and the care, treatment and discipline of its inmates, are being violated, or that inmates of any such institution are cruelly, negligently or improperly treated, or inadequate provision is made for their sustenance, clothing, care, supervision, or other condition necessary to their suitable and proper well being, said board may apply for an order of the supreme court, directed to the proper superintendent, commissioner, agent and warden, manager, keeper or other officer of such institution or in control thereof, requiring him to modify such treatment or apply such remedy, or both, as shall therein be specified. The application for such order shall be made as prescribed in section fifty-two of this chapter, and the court may thereupon make such order as may be just; a failure to comply with the terms of such order shall be a contempt of court and punishable as such. Any person to whom such an order is directed who shall wilfully refuse to obey the same, shall likewise, upon conviction, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor. Idem, sec. 48.

Reports of commission. The state commission of prisons shall annually report to the legislature, in January of each year, its acts and proceedings for the preceding year, with results and recommendations, which report shall include the information obtained in its enquiries and investigations, and such other matters relating to the institutions subject to its visitations as it may deem necessary or proper. It may, in its discretion, and shall, when required by the governor, or either house of the legislature, make other and special reports. Idem, sec. 49.

Reports of wardens, et cetera. The agent and warden of every prison, the superintendent or manager of every penitentiary, the keeper of every jail or other institution used for the detention of sane adults charged with or convicted of crime or detained as witnesses or debtors, subject to the visitation of the commission, shall, besides such information as may from time to time be required of him by the state commission of prisons pursuant to the powers hereinbefore conferred, on or before the first day of August in each and

5. The buildings, now used as the jails of the counties of the state, shall continue to be the jails of those counties respectively, until other buildings have been designated or erected for that purpose, according to law. [County Law, § 90; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 762.]

every year, report to said commission the number of male and female persons charged with crime and awaiting trial, the number convicted of crime, the number detained as witnesses and as debtors in his custody on the first day of July last past, together with a statistical exhibit of the number of admissions, discharges and deaths which have occurred within the past year, the nature of the charge, the period of detention or sentence, and such other facts and information as the commission may require. Idem, sec. 50, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 118.

Estimates to be furnished by certain officers. The said commission shall have the further duty and authority to require the proper officials of the state and the political divisions thereof, and of all public institutions of the state, and political divisions thereof, supported wholly or in part by the state, or any political division thereof, to furnish to said commission, annually, estimates for each ensuing year of the articles which may be manufactured in penal institutions, required for the use of the state or such political divisions, or said institutions in their charge or under their management. Idem, sec. 51.

Enforcement of rights and powers of commission. Duties of the attorney-general and district attorneys. The rights and powers conferred by this article upon the state commission of prisons, its members, officers and inspectors and each of them, may be enforced by an order of the supreme court, or by indictment by the grand jury of the county, or both. The application of such order shall be to a special term or to the appellate division of the supreme court of the judicial district or department, respectively, in which the institution complained of is situated after at least twenty days notice to the officer or board having charge of such institution, of the time and place of making such application. A copy of all the papers upon which the application is based shall be served with the notice of such application. On such hearing the court may make such order as may be just, and a failure to comply with the terms thereof shall be a contempt of court and punishable as such. During the pendency of such an application and prior to the hearing thereof before the appellate division, such commission may, by order to show cause, obtain a stay upon application to a special term or to a justice of the supreme court in chambers restraining any municipal officers from proceeding contrary to the determinations of the commission. Such stay may be, in the discretion of the appellate division, continued pending the determination of the original application. If, in the opinion of the commission, any matter in regard to the management or affairs of any such institution, or any inmate or person in any way connected therewith, require legal investigation or action of any kind, notice thereof may be given by the commission, to the attorney-general, or to the district attorney of the county, or both, and he or they shall thereupon make inquiry and take such proceeding in the premises as he or they may deem necesasry and proper. It shall be the duty of the attorney-general and of every district attorney when so required to furnish such legal assistance, counsel or advice as the commission may require in the discharge of its duties. Idem, sec. 52, as amended by L. 1918, ch. 364.

Misdemeanor. Except as in this article otherwise expressly provided, any person who wilfully violates any of the provisions of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Idem, sec. 53.

Erection of jails. The board of supervisors may borrow money for the erection of county buildings and for the purchase of sites therefor, and may acquire, by purchase or otherwise, necessary real property for county jails, and may erect on such real property necessary buildings for the use of a jail. See County Law, sec. 12, subds. 6, 13, ante, pp. 46, 49. If the county owns a

§ 3. EITHER OF SEVERAL JAILS MAY BE USED.

The sheriff of a county, in which there is more than one jail, may confine a civil * and criminal prisoner in either; and may remove him from one jail to another, within the county, whenever he deems it necessary for his safe-keeping, or for his appearance at court. [Prison Law, § 347; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4370.]

§ 4. NUMBER OF ROOMS IN COUNTY JAIL.

Each county jail shall contain,

1. A sufficient number of rooms for the confinement of persons commited on criminal process, or detained for trial, or examination as witnesses in a criminal case, separately from prisoners under sentence;

2. A sufficient number of rooms for the separate confinement of persons committed on civil process, or for contempt;

3. A sufficient number of rooms for the solitary confinement of prisoners under sentence. [County Law, § 91; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 763.]

§ 5. CUSTODY AND CONTROL OF PRISONERS; CIVIL PRISONERS TO BE KEPT SEPARATE; WOMEN NOT TO BE KEPT IN SAME ROOM WITH MEN; COMMUNICATION WITH COUNSEL, ETC.

Each sheriff shall receive and safely keep, in the county jails of his county, every person lawfully committed to his custody for safe-keeping, examination or trial, or as a witness, or committed or sentenced to imprisonment therein, or committed for contempt. He shall not, without lawful authority, let any such person out of jail. Persons in custody on civil process, or committed for contempt, or detained as witnesses, shall not be put or kept in the same room with persons detained for trial or examination upon a criminal charge, or with convicts under sentence. Persons detained for trial or examination upon a criminal charge shall not be put or kept in the same room with convicts under sentence. Minors shall not be put or kept in the same room with adult prisoners. A woman detained in any county jail or penitentiary upon a criminal charge, or as a convict under sentence, shall not be kept in the same room with a man; and if detained on civil process, or for contempt, or as a witness, she shall not be put or kept in the same room with a man, except with her husband, in a room in which there are no other prisoners. If a woman committed to any county jail or penitentiary is then the mother of a nursing child in her care, under one year of age, or if a child be born to such woman after her said commitment, such child may accompany its mother to and remain in such institution until it is two years of age or until the mother's discharge from custody before the child reaches that age. The sheriff, superintendent or other officer in charge of any county jail or penitentiary shall cause such child, when it attains the age of two years, while its mother is still in custody, or at the expiration of the extension of such time hereinafter mentioned, to be placed in an asylum for children in this state, or may commit such child to the care and custody of some relative or proper person willing to assume such care; provided, however, that the said child shall continue to remain with its said mother in such jail or pentitentiary after it becomes two years of age for such a period as the physician employed to treat and visit prisoners in said jail or penitentiary certifies in writing to be necessary or advisable. If such woman at the time of such commitment shall be the mother of, and have in her exclusive care, a child more than one year of age which might otherwise be left without care or guardianship, the justice or magistrate commiting such woman shall cause such child to be committed to such an asylum as may be provided for such purposes, or to the care and custody of some relative or proper person willing to assume such care. All persons confined in a county jail or penitentiary shall, as far as practicable, be kept separate from each other, and shall be allowed to converse with their counsel or religious adviser, under such reasonable regulations and restrictions as the keeper of the jail may fix.[2] Convicts under sentence shall not be allowed to converse with any other person, except in the presence of a keeper. The keeper may prevent all other conversation by any other prisoner in the jail when he shall deem it necessary and proper. [County Law, § 92; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 763.]

2. Separation of prisoners. Section 345 of the Prison Law, provides that: "A prisoner, arrested in a civil cause, must not be kept in a room in which any prisoner, detained on a criminal charge or conviction is confined." Section 346 provides that: "Male and female prisoners must not be put in the same room; except that a husband and his wife may be put or kept together, in a room wherein there are no other prisoners." And in section 1875 of the Penal Law it is provided that: "A sheriff or other officer, who wilfully violates any of the foregoing provisions of sections one hundred and ten and one hundred and eleven of the code of Civil Procedure; or sections three hundred and forty, three hundred and forty-one, three hundred and forty-two, three hundred and forty-three, three hundred and forty-four, three hundred and forty-five, and

Prisoners detained for trial, and those under sentence, shall be provided with a sufficient quantity of plain but wholesome food, at the expense of the county;[3] such food shall be purchased in the manner and subject to the regulations provided in section two hundred and thirty-eight of this chapter; but prisoners detained for trial may, at their own expense, and under the direction of the keeper, be supplied with any other proper articles of food. Such keeper shall cause each prisoner committed to his jail for imprisonment under sentence, to be constantly employed at hard labor when practicable, during every day, except Sunday, and the board of supervisors of the county, or judge of the county, may prescribe the kind of labor at which such prisoner shall be employed; and the keeper shall account, at least annually, with the board of supervisors of the county, for the proceeds of such labor. Such keeper may, with the consent of the board of supervisors of the county, or the county judge, from time to time, cause such of the convicts under his charge as are capable of hard labor, to be employed outside of the jail in the same, or in an adjoining county, upon such terms as may be agreed upon between the keepers and the officers, or persons, under whose directions such convicts shall be placed subject to such regulations as the board or judge may prescribe; and the board of supervisors of the several counties are authorized to employ convicts under sentence to confinement in the county jails, in building and repairing penal institutions of the county and in building and repairing the highways in their respective counties or in preparing the materials for such highways for sale to and for the use of such counties or towns, villages and cities therein; and to make rules and regulations for their employment; and the said board of supervisors are hereby authoirzed to cause money to be raised by taxation for the purpose of furnishing materials and carrying this provision three hundred and forty-six of the prison law, forfeits to the person aggrieved, treble damages. He is also guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished accordingly. A conviction also operates as a forfeiture of his office."

Liability of sheriff for injuries to prisoner. The case of Gunther v. Johnson, 36 App. Div. 437; 55 N. Y. Supp. 869, was where a prisoner, while confined in the county jail to await the action of the grand jury under a charge of grand larceny, and, while in the custody of the sheriff of the county, had an altercation with a prisoner who had been committed to the jail as a vagrant; on the following morning when the prisoners were allowed the liberty of the corridor of the jail, no keeper being present, the quarrel was resumed, and the plaintiff's intestate struck the prisoner who ran after and stabbed him with a pocket knife which such prisoner owned and used in shaving. It was held, in the absence of evidence that the sheriff knew of any trouble in the jail, negligence could not be predicated upon his failure to anticipate the attack of the plaintiff's intestate upon the prisoner, or the subsequent felonious assault by such prisoner.

3. Board of prisoners. Boards of supervisors are authorized to contract at into effect; and the courts of this state are hereby authorized to sentence convicts committed to detention in the county jails to such hard labor as may be provided for them by the board of supervisors. This section as amended shall not affect a county wholly included within a city. [County Law, § 93, as amended by L. 1917, ch. 352; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 764.]

§ 7. PRISONERS TO BE FURNISHED WITH READING MATTER; DIVINE SERVICE.

Each keeper shall provide a bible to be kept in each room of the jail in his charge, and he shall permit the persons therein confined, to be supplied with other suitable and proper books and papers, and if practicable, he shall cause divine service to be conducted for the benefit of the prisoners, at least once each Sunday, if there shall be room in the prison that may be safely used for that purpose. [County Law, § 94; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 765.]

§ 8. RECORD OF COMMITMENTS AND DISCHARGES, WHAT TO STATE.

Each keeper shall keep in a book, to be provided at the expense of the county, a daily record of the commitments and discharges of all prisoners delivered to his charge, which shall contain the date of entrance, name, offense, term of sentence, fine, age, sex, place of birth, color, social relations, education, secular and religious, for what and by whom committed, how and when discharged, trade or occupation, whether so employed when arrested, number of previous convictions.[4]

The book containing such record shall be a public record, and shall be delivered by each sheriff to his successor, and kept on file in the office of the sheriff or keeper. [County Law, § 95; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 766.]

such times and on such terms as the board may by resolution determine, with the sheriff of the county, when he is not by law in receipt of a salary as such sheriff, for the board, maintenance and care and custody of prisoners committed to the county jail. See County Law, sec. 12, sub. 5, ante. As to contracts for the support of civil prisoners, see County Law, § 12, subd. 22, ante, pp. ——.

4. Commitments to county jails. It is provided in section 2181 of the Penal Law that: "Where a person is convicted of a crime, for which the punishment inflicted is imprisonment for a term of less than one year, the imprisonment must be inflicted by confinement in the county jail or place of confinement designated by law to be used as the jail of the county, except when otherwise specially prescribed by statute." Where a minor under the age of sixteen is convicted of a crime he may, instead of being sentenced to fine or imprisonment, be placed in charge of any suitable person or institution willing to receive him. A child under the age of sixteen years who is committed for misdemeanor must be committed to some reformatory, char-

County Law, §§ 96, 97; Code Crim. Proc., §§ 25, 222-d.

§ 9. UNITED STATES PRISONERS TO BE RECEIVED.

Such keeper shall receive and keep in his jail every person duly committed thereto, for any offense against the United States, by any court or officer of the United States, until he shall be duly discharged; the United States supporting such person during his confinement; and the provisions of this article, relative to the mode of confining prisoners and convicts, shall apply to all persons so committed by any court or officer of the United States. [County Law, § 96; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 766.]

§ 10. CALENDARS OF NAMES OF PRISONERS, ETC., TO BE PRESENTED TO COURT.

Such keeper shall present to the court at the opening of every term of the supreme court, and at every term of the county court, having a grand jury, to be held in his county, a calendar stating:

1. The name of every prisoner then detained in such jail.
2. The time when he was committed, and by virtue of what precept.
3. The cause of his detention.[6] [County Law, § 97; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 766.]

§ 11. PRISONERS TO BE DISCHARGED IF NOT INDICTED.

Within twenty-four hours after the discharge of any grand jury by any supreme or county court, the court shall cause every person confined in jail on a criminal charge, who shall not have been indicted, to be discharged without bail, unless satisfactory cause shall be shown for his further detention, or if the case may require, upon bail until the meeting of the next grand jury in the county. [Code Crim. Proc., sec. 222d.]

§ 12. SUSPENSION OF HABEAS CORPUS DURING TERM OF COURT.

During the session of the supreme court in any county, no person de-itable or other institution authorized by law to receive and take charge of minors. See Penal Law, sec. 2194.

Sentences to penitentiaries. Where a board of supervisors has contracted with another county for the custody of prisoners in a penitentiary, it is the duty of a committing magistrate to sentence prisoners for terms of sixty days or more to such penitentiary. If the term imposed is less than sixty days, the sentence should be to the county jail. See Prison Law, sec. 320.

6. Disorderly persons. It is provided in section 908 of the Code of Criminal Procedure that: "The keeper of every prison to which disorderly persons may be committed must return to the County Court of the county on the first day of each term, a list of the persons so committed and then in his custody with the nature of the offense of each, the name of the magistrate tained in a county jail of such county, upon a criminal charge, shall be removed therefrom by writ of habeas corpus, unless such writ shall have been issued by or shall be made returnable before such court.[7] [Code Crim. Proc., sec. 25.]

§ 13. PRISONER TO BE DISCHARGED IF UNABLE TO PAY FINE.

When any person shall be confined in a jail for the nonpayment of a fine, not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars, imposed for any criminal offense, and against whom no other cause of detention shall exist, on satisfactory proof being made to the County Court of the county in which such prisoner may be confined, that he is unable, and has been ever since his conviction, to pay such fine, the court may, in its discretion, order his discharge.[8] [County Law, § 98; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 766.]

§ 14. HOUSES OF DETENTION FOR WOMEN, CHILDREN AND WITNESSES.

The board of supervisors of any county, except the county of Kings, may procure, by lease or purchase, a suitable place or places, other than the jail, for the safe and proper keeping and care of women and children charged with crime not punishable by death or imprisonment in state prison for a term exceeding five years or with second offense, and persons detained as witnesses, to be termed houses of detention; and when so provided, any magistrate in the county shall commit women and girls, and boys under sixteen years of age, and all persons held as witnesses thereto instead of the jail. The sheriff shall have the same charge and control of such house, and shall be entitled to the same compensation for the care and keeping of prisoners therein, as in the county jail. [County Law, § 99; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 766.]

by whom he was committed, and the term of his imprisonment." The persons here referred to are persons committed as disorderly persons on failure to give security as provided in sec. 997 of the Code of Criminal Procedure.

For form of calendar to be presented to criminal courts as required in the above section, see Form No. 10, post.

7. Suspension of writ of habeas corpus. The session of a court continues for the purpose of a suspension of habeas corpus until the grand jury is actually discharged from its work; the absence of the judge and the trial of the jury is not a termination of the court within the meaning of the statute. See Matter of Taylor, 8 Misc. 159; People v. Sullivan, 115 N. Y. 185; 21 N. E. 1039; People v. Barrett, 56 Hun, 351, 9 N. Y. Supp. 321.

8. Remission of fines. It is provided in sec. 484 of the Code of Criminal Procedure that: "Any court of record, except an inferior court of local jurisdiction, which has imposed a fine for any criminal offense, or the pre-

§ 15. BOARDS OF SUPERVISORS MAY ESTABLISH AND MAINTAIN COUNTY WORKHOUSES.

The board of supervisors of any county may establish and maintain a workhouse for the confinement of persons convicted within the county of crimes and criminal offenses, the punishment for which is imprisonment in the county jail, and may provide for the imprisonment and employment therein of all persons sentenced thereto, and any court or judicial officer may sentence such person to such workhouse instead of to the county jail.[9] [County Law, § 100; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 707.]

§ 16. WHO MAY VISIT JAILS AND WORKHOUSES.

The following persons may visit at pleasure all county jails and workhouses: The governor and lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, comptroller and attorney-general, members of the legislature, judges of the court of appeals, justices of the supreme court and county judges, district attorneys and every minister of the gospel having charge of a congregation in the town in which such jail or workhouse is located. No other person not otherwise authorized by law shall be permitted to enter the rooms of a county jail or workhouse in which convicts are confined, unless under such regulations as the sheriff of the county shall prescribe.[10] [County Law, § 101; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 767.]

siding judge thereof, or any judge authorized to preside therein, shall have power in his discretion, on five days' notice to the district attorney of the county in which such fine was imposed, to remit such fine, or any portion thereof. In case of a fine imposed by a court not of record or by any inferior court of local jurisdiction, for any criminal offense whatever, the county judge of the county in which the fine was imposed, and in case of a fine imposed by such a court in the city of New York the Court of General Sessions, or any judge thereof, upon five days' notice to the district attorney of the county in which such fine was imposed, shall have the same power."

9. Penitentiaries are of the same nature as workhouses, and it is probable that under the above section boards of supervisors may establish and maintain penitentiaries.

10. Visitation of jails and workhouses. Any member of the state commission of prisons or its secretary or other authorized agent shall be admitted into the jails for the purpose of visitation or inspection. Prison Law, § 47, ante, p 171. Members of the executive committee of the prison association of New York or such committees as they shall from time to time appoint, have the power of visitation of county jails upon an order granted by one of the judges of the Supreme Court. See L. 1846, ch. 163, sec. 6. Members of the grand jury are entitled to free access at all reasonable times to county jails. See Code Crim. Proc., sec. 261.

Penal provisions as to communications with prisioners. Section 1691 of the Penal Law, is as follows:

Prison Law, §§ 348, 349; Penal Law, § 1791.

§ 17. BOARD OF SUPERVISORS TO APPOINT JAIL PHYSICIAN.

The board of supervisors of each county, except New York, must appoint some reputable physician, duly authorized to practice medicine, as the physician to the jail of the county. If there is more than one jail they must appoint a physician to each. The physician to a jail holds his office at the pleasure of the board which appointed him, except in the county of Kings. In that county, the term of his office is three years. [Prison Law, sec. 348; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4370.]

§ 18. SALE OF LIQUORS IN JAILS; PERMIT FOR USE OF LIQUORS; PENALTIES.

Strong, spirituous, or fermented liquor, or wine, shall not, on any pretence, be sold within a building used and established as a jail. Spirituous, fermented or other liquors, except cider, and that quality of beer called table-beer, shall not be brought into a jail for the use of a person confined therein, without a written permit by the physician to the jail, which must be delivered to and kept by the keeper thereof, specifying the quantity and kind of liquor which may be furnished, the name of the civil prisoner for whom, and the time during which the same may be furnished. [Prison Law, § 349; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4370.]

A permit by a jail physician as specified in the last section shall not be granted, unless the physician is satisfied, that the liquor allowed to be furnished, is necessary for the health of the civil prisoner, for whose use it is permitted; and that fact must be stated in the permit. [Idem, § 350.]

A person who brings into or sells in a jail, strong, spirituous, fermented, or other liquor, or wine, contrary to the provisions of sections three hundred and forty-nine or three hundred and fifty of the prison law; or a sheriff, keeper of a jail, assistant keeper, or officer, or person employed in or about a jail, who knowingly suffers liquor or wine to be sold or used therein, contrary to either of said sections, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished accordingly. A conviction also operates as a forfeiture of his office. [Penal Law, § 1791; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4039.]

"A person who:

"1. Not being authorized by law visits any state prison, reformatory, penitentiary, county jail or other place for the detention of persons convicted of crime or communicates with any prisoner therein without the consent of the agent or warden, superintendent, keeper, sheriff or other person having charge thereof or without such consent brings into or conveys out of a state prison, reformatory, penitentiary, county jail or other place for the detention of persons convicted of crime, any letter, information or writing to or from any prisoner; or,

"2. Conveys in or takes from such prison, reformatory, penitentiary, county jail or other place for the detention of persons convicted of crime, or who

Code Civ. Proc., §§ 131, 132; Prison Law, §§ 351, 354.

§ 19. SERVICE OF PAPERS IN CIVIL ACTION TO BE MADE ON PRISONER IN JAIL.

A sheriff or jailer, upon whom a paper in an action or special proceeding, directed to a prisoner in his custody, is lawfully served, or to whom such a paper is delivered for a prisoner, must, within two days thereafter, deliver the same to the prisoner, with a note thereon of the time of the service thereof upon, or the receipt thereof by him.[11]

For a neglect or violation of this section the sheriff or jailer, guilty thereof, is liable to the prisoner for all damages occasioned thereby. [Code Civ. Proc., § 131.]

Subject to reasonable regulations, which the sheriff may establish for that purpose, a sheriff, jailer or other officer, who has the custody of a prisoner, must permit such access to him as is necessary, for the personal service of a paper in an action or special proceeding, to which the prisoner is a party, and which must be personally served. [Idem, § 132.]

§ 20. REMOVAL OF PRISONERS IN CASE OF AN EMERGENCY.

If, by reason of a jail, or a building near a jail, being on fire, there is reason to apprehend that some or all of the prisoners confined in the jail, may be injured, or may escape, the sheriff or keeper of the jail may, in his discretion, remove them to some safe and convenient place, and there confine them, until they can be safely returned to the jail; or, if the jail is destroyed, or so injured, that it is unfit or unsafe for the confinement of the prisoners, until a designation is made, as prescribed in section three hundred and fifty-one of this article. [Prison Law, § 354; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4371.]

§ 21. DESIGNATION OF JAIL OF OTHER COUNTY OR OTHER PLACE IN SAME COUNTY AS A COUNTY JAIL; MODIFICATION OR REVOCATION OF DESIGNATION; COPY OF DESIGNATION TO BE SERVED.

If there is no jail in a county; or the jail becomes unfit or unsafe for the confinement of some or all of the prisoners, civil or criminal, or is destroyed by fire or otherwise; or if a pestilential disease breaks out in the jail, or in the vicinity of the jail, and the physician to the jail personally or through any other person or persons gives, sells, furnishes or otherwise delivers to any prisoner or prisoners in custody any drug, liquor or any article prohibited by law or by the rules of the superintendent, keeper, sheriff, board of managers or other person, or official having charge or control thereof; is guilty of a misdemeanor."

11. An execution against a person is not a paper within the meaning of this section. See Matter of Johnson, 21 Abb. N. C. 172.

certifies that it is likely to endanger the health of any or all of the prisoners in the jail; the county judge, or, in the city and county of New York, the presiding justice of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of the first department, must, by an instrument in writing, filed with the clerk of the county, designate another suitable place within the county, or the jail of a contiguous county, for the confinement of some or all of the prisoners, as the case requires. The place so designated thereupon becomes, to all intents and purposes, except as otherwise prescribed in this article, the jail of the county for which it has been so designated, and for the purposes expressed in the instrument designating the same. [Prison Law, §351; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4370.]

The designation may be modified or revoked, by the judge making the same, by a like instrument in writing, filed with the clerk of the county. [Idem, § 352.]

The county clerk must serve a copy of the designation, duly certified by him, under his official seal, on the sheriff and keeper of the jail of a contiguous county so designated. The sheriff of that county must, upon the delivery of the sheriff of the county for which the designation is made, receive into his jail, and there safely keep, all persons who may be lawfully confined therein, pursuant to this article; and he is responsible for their safe keeping, as if he was the sheriff of the county for which the designation is made. [Idem, § 353.]

If the county judge, or the presiding judge of the appellate division of the supreme court of the first department, is absent or unable to act, or his office is vacant, a designation, or the revocation or modification thereof, as prescribed in this article, may be made, in any county, except New York, by the special county judge or the district attorney, or, in the city and county of New York, by any justice of the appellate division. [Idem, § 356.]

§ 22. JAIL LIBERTIES, WHEN DESIGNATION IS MADE.

If a prisoner has been admitted to the liberties of the jail of the county, for which the designation is made, pursuant to section three hundred and fifty-one of the prison law, he must, notwithstanding, remain within those liberties; but he may be removed by the sheriff, to whom he has given bond for the liberties, to the jail or other place so designated, and confined therein, in a case where the sheriff might confine him in the jail of his own county. [Code Civ. Proc., § 138.]

If a person, who is arrested, before or after the designation, by the sheriff of the county for which the designation is made, becomes entitled, after the designation, and before his removal, to the liberties of the jail, he must be admitted to the liberties of the jail of that county, as if the designation had not been made; but he may be removed by the sheriff to the jail, or other place, so designated, and confined therein, in a case where the sheriff might confine him in the jail of his own county. [Idem, § 139.]

If a person confined in or removed to the jail of a contiguous county, designated as prescribed in article thirteen of the Penal Law, becomes entitled to the liberties of the jail, the sheriff of that county must admit him to the jail liberties, as if he had been originally arrested by that sheriff, on a mandate directed to him. [Idem, § 140.]

§ 23. REVOCATION OF DESIGNATION.

When a jail is erected for the county, for whose use the designation pursuant to section three hundred and fifty-one of the prison law was made, or its jail is rendered fit and safe for the confinement of prisoners, or the reason for the designation of another jail or place has otherwise ceased to be operative, the designation must be revoked, as prescribed in this article, and section three hundred and fifty-two of the prison law. [Code Civ. Proc., § 141.]

The county clerk must immediately serve a copy of the revocation, duly certified by him under his official seal, upon the sheriff of the same county; who must remove the prisoners belonging to his custody, and confined without his county, to his proper jail. If a prisoner has been admitted to the jail liberties in the other county, he must also be removed; and he is entitled to the liberties of the jail of the county, to which he is removed, without a new bond, as if he had been originally admitted to the jail liberties in that county; and the bond given by him applies accordingly to those liberties. [Idem, § 142.]

CHAPTER XIII.

CIVIL PRISONERS; JAIL LIBERTIES.

SECTION 1. Civil prisoners, when arrested; how long imprisoned.
2. Support of civil prisoners; sheriff not to charge for food nor keeping prisoners out of jail; support of civil prisoners out of jail; sheriff not to receive room rent.
3. Prisoner conveyed through other counties.
4. Civil prisoners by virtue of process of United States courts; sheriff or jailer may receive compensation for services.
5. Civil prisoner, when sick may be removed.
6. Jail limits, how established; copy of resolution of board of supervisors to be served on jailer.
7. Boundaries of jail limits, how designated.
8. Civil prisoner, when entitled to jail liberties; undertaking, how executed; effect of undertaking.
9. Surrender of civil prisoner upon jail limits.
10. Escape of civil prisoner, what constitutes.
11. Liability of sheriff for escape.
12. When sheriff to produce civil prisoner who has been indicted.
13. Confinement of prisoner committed for contempt.

§ 1. CIVIL PRISONERS, WHEN ARRESTED; HOW LONG IMPRISONED.

A person arrested, by virtue of an order of arrest, in an action or special proceeding brought in a court of record; or of an execution issued upon a judgment rendered in a court of record; or surrendered in exoneration of his bail; must be safely kept in custody, in the manner prescribed by law, and, except as otherwise prescribed in the next section and in subdivision nineteen of section two hundred and forty of the county law, at his own expense, until he satisfies the judgment rendered against him, or is discharged according to law. [Code. Civ. Proc., § 110.]

No person shall be imprisoned within the prison walls of any jail for a longer period than three months under an execution or any other mandate against the person to enforce the recovery of a sum of money less than five hundred dollars in amount or under a commitment upon a fine for contempt of court in the nonpayment of alimony or counsel fees in a divorce case where the amount so to be paid is less than the sum of five hundred dollars; and where the amount in either of said cases is five hundred dollars or over, such imprisonment shall not continue for a longer period than six months. It shall be the duty of the sheriff in whose custody any such person is held to discharge such person at the expiration of said respective periods without any formal application being made therefor. No person shall be imprisoned within the jail liberties of any jail for a longer period than six months upon any execution or other mandate against the person, and no action shall be commenced against the sheriff upon a bond given for the jail liberties by such person to secure the benefit of such liberties, as provided in articles fourth and fifth of this title for an escape made after the expiration of six months' imprisonment as aforesaid. Notwithstanding such a discharge in either of the above cases, the judgment creditor in the execution, or the person at whose instance the said mandate was issued, has the same remedy against the property of the person imprisoned which he had before such execution or mandate was issued; but the prisoner shall not be again imprisoned upon a like process issued in the same action or arrested in any action upon any judgment under which the same may have been granted. Except in a case hereinbefore specified nothing in this section shall effect a commitment for contempt of court.[1] [Idem, § 111.]

1. Application of section. This section refers only to a final process or mandate after an adjudication fixing the amount due; it does not include orders of arrest issued at the time of the commencement of an action or before any recovery. Levy v. Salomon, 105 N. Y. 529; 12 N. E. 53, 19 Abb. N. C. 52; In re Coyne, 18 Civ. Proc. R. 397; 13 N. Y. Supp. 797. It has reference to that class of defendants who are actually confined in jail or within the jail liberties. Wright v. Grant, 11 Civ. Proc. R. 407; 18 Abb. N. C. 451. But an imprisonment of the defendant for contempt on an interlocutory order before judgment will not prevent his subsequent imprisonment for disobedience to a final judgment in the same action. Reese v. Reese, 46 App. Div. 156; 61 N. Y. Supp. 760.

The object of the section is to limit the period of imprisonment to three months in case of actual confinement, and to six months in case of imprisonment within the jail liberties. In computing the term to which the imprisonment is limited, for contempt of court in the non-payment of alimony, the time during which the person against whom the process runs is out of jail, in the custody of his counsel pending habeas corpus proceedings, is not to be included. People ex rel. Clark v. Grant, 111 N. Y. 584; 19 N. E. 281.

Not to be again imprisoned upon a like process in same action. Where a defendant has been arrested and imprisoned for the non-payment of alimony previously directed to be paid by the judgment, and remains in prison under the commitment, because of such default of payment, for the full term for which he could be imprisoned, he is not thereafter liable to arrest and imprisonment because of the non-payment of alimony subsequently becoming payable, as the above section prohibits the imprisonment of the party upon a like process, not for the non-payment of the same sum of money, but under a like

§ 2. SUPPORT OF CIVIL PRISONERS; SHERIFF NOT TO CHARGE FOR FOOD NOR KEEPING PRISONERS OUT OF JAIL; SUPPORT OF CIVIL PRISONERS OUT OF JAIL; SHERIFF NOT TO RECEIVE ROOM RENT.

In any county, if a prisoner, actually confined in jail, makes oath before the sheriff, jailer, or deputy jailer, that he is unable to support himself during his imprisonment, his support is a county charge. This subdivision shall also apply to the county of New York. [County Law, § 240, sub. 19; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 827.]

A sheriff or other officer shall not charge a civil prisoner, with any sum of money, or demand, or receive from him money, or any valuable thing, for any drink, victuals or other thing, furnished or provided for the officer, or for the prisoner, at any tavern, alehouse, or public victualing or drinking house. [Prison Law, § 340; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4368.]

A sheriff or other officer shall not demand or receive from a civil prisoner, while in his custody, a gratuity or reward, upon any pretence, for keeping the prisoner out of jail; for going with him or waiting for him to find bail, or to agree with his adversary; or for any other purpose. [Idem, § 341.]

If a person arrested in a civil cause is kept in a house, other than the jail of the county, the officer arresting him, or the person in whose custody he is, shall not demand or receive from him any greater sum, for lodging, drink, victuals, or any other thing, than has been theretofore prescribed by the Court of Sessions or county court of the county; or, if no rate has been prescribed by the Court of Sessions or county court, than is allowed by a justice of the peace of the same town or city, upon proof that the lodging or other thing was actually furnished, at the request of the prisoner. And such an officer or person shall not, in any case or upon any pretext, demand or receive compensation for strong, spirituous, or fermented liquor, or wine, sold or delivered to the prisoner. [Idem, § 342.]

A civil prisoner arrested and kept in a house, other than the jail of the county, may send for and have beer, ale, cider, tea, coffee, milk, and necessary food and such bedding, linen and other necessary things, as he thinks fit, from whom he pleases, without detention of the same or any part thereof by, or paying for the same, or any part thereof to, the officer arresting him, or the person in whose custody he is. [Idem, § 343.]

A sheriff, jailer, or other officer, shall not demand or receive money, or any valuable thing, for chamber rent in a jail; or any fee, compensation, process issued in the same action. Winton v. Winton, 53 Hun, 4; 5 N. Y. Supp. 537; affd. 117 N. Y. 623.

2. As to contracts with sheriff made by the board of supervisors for the support and maintenance of civil prisoners, see County Law, § 12, subd. 22, ante.

or reward, for the commitment, detaining in custody, release, or discharge of a civil prisoner, other than the fees expressly allowed therefor by law. [Idem, § 344.]

§ 3. PRISONER CONVEYED THROUGH OTHER COUNTIES.

A sheriff or other officer, who has lawfully arrested a prisoner, may convey his prisoner through one or more other counties, in the ordinary route of travel, from the place where the prisoner was arrested, to the place where he is to be delivered or confined. [Code Civ. Proc., § 118.]

A prisoner conveyed to jail through another county pursuant to section one hundred and eighteen of the code of civil procedure, or the officer having him in custody, is not liable to arrest in any civil action or special proceeding, while passing through another county. [Civil Rights Law, § 22; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 632.]

§ 4. CIVIL PRISONERS BY VIRTUE OF PROCESS OF UNITED STATES COURTS; SHERIFF OR JAILOR MAY RECEIVE COMSATION FOR SERVICES.

A sheriff must receive into his jail and keep a prisoner, committed to the same, by virtue of civil process issued by a court of record, instituted under the authority of the United States, until he is discharged by the due course of the laws of the United States, in the same manner as if he was committed by virtue of a mandate in a civil action, issued from a court of the state. The sheriff may receive, to his own use, the money payable by the United States for the use of the jail. [Code Civ. Proc., § 133.]

A sheriff, or jailer, to whose jail a prisoner is committed, as prescribed in the last section, is answerable for his safe keeping, in the courts of the United States, according to the laws thereof. [Idem, § 134.]

§ 5. CIVIL PRISONER, WHEN SICK MAY BE REMOVED.

If the physician to a jail, or, in case of a vacancy, a physician acting as such, and the warden or jailer, certifying in writing, that a prisoner, confined in the jail in a civil cause, is in such a state of bodily health, that his life will be endangered, unless he is removed to a hospital for treatment, the county judge, or, in the city and county of New York, one of the justices of the Supreme Court, must, upon application, make an order, directing the removal of the prisoner to a hospital within the county, designated by the judge; or, if there is none, to such nearest hospital as the judge directs; that the prisoner be kept in the custody of the chief officer of the hospital, until he has sufficiently recovered from his illness, to be safely returned to the jail; that the chief officer of the hospital then notify the warden or jailor, and that the latter thereupon resume custody of the prisoner. [Prison Law, § 355; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4371.]

If the prisoner actually escapes, while going to, remaining at, or returning from a hospital to which he has been ordered removed pursuant to section three hundred and fifty-five of the prison law, a new execution may be issued against his person, if he was in custody by virtue of an execution; or if he was in custody by virtue of an order of arrest, a new order of arrest may be granted, upon proof by affidavit of the facts specified in this section, without other proof, and without an undertaking. [Code Civ. Proc., § 127, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 65.]

§ 6. JAIL LIMITS, HOW ESTABLISHED; COPY OF RESOLUTION OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS TO BE SERVED ON JAILOR.

The following are the liberties of the jail for each of the counties specified, to wit:

For the county of New York, the whole of said county;
For the county of the Bronx, the whole of said county;[2a]
For the county of Onondaga, the whole of the city of Syracuse;
For the county of Monroe, the whole of the city of Rochester;
For the county of Erie, the whole of the city of Buffalo;
For the county of Dutchess, the whole of the city of Poughkeepsie;
For the county of Kings, the whole of that county;
For the county of Albany, the whole of the city of Albany;
For the county of Schenectady, the whole of the city of Schenectady;
For the county of Jefferson, the whole of the city of Watertown;
For the county of Herkimer, the whole of the village of Herkimer;
For the county of Rensselaer, the whole of the city of Troy;
For the county of Niagara, the whole of the city of Lockport;
For the county of Steuben, the whole of the village of Bath;
For the county of Nassau, the whole of the town of Hempstead;
For the county of Broome, the whole of the city of Binghamton;
For the county of Genesee, the whole of the village of Batavia.

[Prison Law, § 357, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 174, L. 1915, ch. 62, and L. 1917, ch. 122; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4372.]

The liberties of the jail in each of the other counties of the state, as heretofore established, shall continue to be the liberties thereof, until they are altered, or new liberties are established, as prescribed by law.[3] [Idem, § 358.]

The liberties of the jail in and for the county of Queens shall, and the same are hereby declared to be the whole of the county of Queens. [L. 1899, ch. 443, in effect April 26, 1899.]

The county clerk must, within one week after a resolution of the board of supervisors, establishing or altering jail liberties, has been filed in his office, deliver an exemplified copy thereof to the keeper of the jail, who must keep the same exposed to public view, in an open and public part of the jail, and exhibit it to each person admitted to the liberties of the jail, at the time of his executing a bond for that purpose.[4] [Prison Law, § 360, B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4373.]

3. The jail liberties for the county of Cayuga are the city limits of the city of Auburn. See L. 1882, ch. 12. The jail liberties of the county of Ulster are the whole of the city of Kingston. See L. 1881, ch. 299.

§ 7. BOUNDARIES OF JAIL LIMITS, HOW DESIGNATED.

Where the liberties of a jail are altered or established, by resolution of the board of supervisors, as prescribed by law, a space of ground, adjacent to the jail, and not exceeding five hundred acres in quantity, must be laid out as the jail liberties, in a square or rectangle as nearly as may be; but a stream of water, canal, street or highway, may be adopted as an exterior line, notwithstanding it is not in a straight line, or is not at right angles with the other exterior lines of the liberties. A resolution establishing or altering jail liberties, must contain a particular description of their boundaries; and as soon as may be after its adoption, the boundaries must be designated by monuments, inclosures, posts or other visible and permanent marks, at the expense of the county.[5] [Prison Law, § 359; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4373.]

§ 8. CIVIL PRISONER, WHEN ENTITLED TO JAIL LIBERTIES; UNDERTAKING, HOW EXECUTED; EFFECT OF UNDERTAKING.

A person in the custody of a sheriff by virtue of an order of arrest; or of an execution in a civil action; or in consequence of a surrender in exoneration of his bail; is entitled to be admitted to the liberties of the jail, upon delivering to the sheriff an approved undertaking as prescribed in the next section.[6] [Code Civ. Proc., § 149.]

4. Powers of board of supervisors. The above section would seem to imply that the board of supervisors had power to adopt a resolution altering and establishing jail liberties. L. 1875, ch. 484, sec. 1, sub. 18, which was repealed by the County Law and not re-enacted, gave to boards of supervisors the power of adopting such a resolution, on the recommendation of the County Court. The repeal of such provision without the enactment of a substitute therefor has perhaps deprived the board of supervisors of such power.

5. A board of supervisors in exercising its powers under this section is subject to the limitations contained therein. Roach v. O'Dell, 33 Hun, 320. In this case it was held that under ch. 482, Laws of 1875, boards of supervisors could establish jail liberties of 500 acres in extent, as provided in the above section. The act of 1875, ch. 482, was repealed in toto by the County Law (L. 1892, ch. 686) and the powers of boards of supervisors as to jail liberties are now only conferred by the above section.

6. Who entitled to jail liberties. This section extends the liberties of

Code Civ. Proc., § 150.

The undertaking must be executed by the prisoner and one or more sufficient sureties, residents and householders or freeholders of the county, in a penalty at least twice the sum in which the sheriff was required to hold the defendant to bail, if he is in custody under an order of arrest, or has been surrendered in exoneration of his bail before judgment; or directed to be collected by the execution, if he is in custody under an execution; or remaining uncollected upon a judgment against him if he has been surrendered after judgment; conditioned that the person so in custody shall remain a prisoner, and shall not, at any time or in any manner, escape or go without the liberties of the jail, until discharged by due course of law.

Upon the giving and the approval by a court or a judge thereof, or a county judge, of such an undertaking, the prisoner shall be released from the custody of the sheriff and the sheriff shall thereupon be exonerated from liability. But after the allowance of the undertaking as hereinafter prescribed, the same must be delivered by the clerk, on request, to the party at whose instance the prisoner was in custody. Within two days after the approval by the court, judge, or county judge, the undertaking must be filed by the sheriff with the clerk, and a copy delivered to the party at whose instance the prisoner was in custody, or to his attorney, who shall within three days thereafter serve upon the surety or sureties, or the attorney for the prisoner, a notice that he does not accept him, or them, as bail; otherwise he is deemed to have accepted them. Within three days after the receipt of such notice, the surety or sureties, or the attorney for the prisoner, may serve upon the party, or attorney for the party, at whose instance the prisoner was in custody, notice of justification of the same or other bail before the court or a judge thereof, or a county judge, at a specified time and place; the time to be not less than five days nor more than ten days thereafter, and the place to be within the county where one of the bail resides or where the defendant was arrested. Except as otherwise expressly prescribed in this article, the provisions regulating the substitution of new sureties or a new undertaking, and the examination and qualification of the new sureties, and the allowance of the undertaking after justification, contained in article third of title first of chapter seventh of this act, shall govern. If the bail shall not be allowed, the court, judge or county judge shall remand the prisoner to the custody of the sheriff. [Idem, § 150.]

the jail to defendants in custody under orders of arrest as well as under final process. See Levy v. Kaim, 55 How. Pr. 136; Horowitz v. Olenick, 62 App. Div. 283; 70 N. Y. Supp. 1116. A defendant arrested in an action brought to recover chattels wrongfully concealed and disposed of may be admitted to the liberties of the jail upon the ordinary limit bond. Dougan v. Cohen, 13

An undertaking so taken is held for the indemnity of the party at whose instance the prisoner executing it is confined. [Idem, § 151.]

If the party at whose instance the prisoner is in custody discovers that a surety therein is insufficient, he may, upon proof of the fact, by affidavit or otherwise, apply to the court or to a judge thereof, on whose process or mandate such prisoner is in custody, or to the county judge of the county where such prisoner is confined, and the court or a judge thereof, or such county judge may make an order committing such prisoner to close confinement in the jail until another undertaking, with good and sufficient sureties, is offered.[7] [Idem, § 152.]

§ 9. SURRENDER OF CIVIL PRISONER UPON JAIL LIMITS.

One or more of the sureties, in an undertaking given for the liberties of a jail, may surrender the principal, at any time before judgment is rendered against them in an action on the undertaking, but they are not exonerated thereby from a liability incurred before making the surrender. [Code Civ. Proc., § 153.]

The surrender must be made as follows: The surety or sureties making it must take the principal to the keeper of the jail, who must, upon his or their written requisition to that effect, take the principal into his custody, and indorse upon the undertaking given for the liberties, an acknowledgment of the surrender, and also, if required, give the surety or sureties a certificate, acknowledging the surrender. [Idem, § 154.]

§ 10. ESCAPE OF CIVIL PRISONER, WHAT CONSTITUTES.

The going at large, within the liberties of the jail in which he is in custody, of a prisoner who has executed such an undertaking, or of a prisoner who would be entitled to the liberties upon executing such an undertaking, is not an escape. But the going at large, beyond the liberties, by a prisoner, without the assent of the party at whose instance he is in custody, is an escape; and the sheriff in whose custody he was, or his sureties, has the same authority to pursue and retake him, as if he had escaped from the jail. Such an escape forfeits the undertaking for the

Civ. Proc. R. 295. But in a divorce case, where the defendant has been committed to jail for non-payment of counsel fees and alimony pendente lite, he is not entitled to the liberties of the jail. Allen v. Allen, 58 How. Pr. 381.

7. When bond is insufficient. If the sheriff who has taken a bond for the limits discovers that the sureties are insufficient, he may commit the prisoner who executed it to close confinement until another bond with good and sufficient sureties is offered, and the prisoner may give a new bond in lieu of the one on which the sureties failed to justify. Dougan v. Cohen, 13 Civ. Proc. R. 295.

liberties, if any; subject to the provisions of the next article of this title.[8] [Code Civ. Proc., § 155.]

§ 11. LIABILITY OF SHERIFF FOR ESCAPE.

Where a prisoner, in a sheriff's custody, goes or is at large beyond the liberties of the jail, without the assent of the party at whose instance he is in custody, the sheriff is answerable therefor, until an undertaking provided for in section one hundred and fifty of this article has been given and approved, as follows:

1. If the prisoner was in custody by virtue of an order of arrest, or in consequence of a surrender in exoneration of his bail, before judgment, the sheriff is answerable to the extent of the damages sustained by the plaintiff.

2. If the prisoner was in custody by virtue of any other mandate, or in consequence of a surrender, in exoneration of his bail, after judgment, the sheriff is answerable for the debt, damages, or sum of money, for which the prisoner was committed.

3. Upon the giving and approval of the undertaking in this article mentioned, no action for an escape shall be maintained against the sheriff. [Code of Civ. Proc., § 158.]

8. What constitutes an escape. It is an escape for a sheriff to permit a defendant held in execution to be taken from his custody upon the warrant of a police justice. Eads v. Wynne, 79 Hun, 463; 29 N. Y. Supp. 983. The suffering of a prisoner to go at large is in any event an escape. Loosey v. Orser, 4 Bosw. 391.

Where, after a voluntary escape, the prisoner is arrested on criminal process so that the officer cannot re-take him, he is liable for the escape. Olmstead v. Raymond, 6 Johns. 62. So where a prisoner allowed the liberties of the jail under a final process, was arrested and taken to another county, it was held to be an escape. It was the officer's duty to prevent a rescue from the limits as much as it would have been from the jail, if he had been in close confinement. Brown v. Tracy, 9 How. Pr. 23.

The overstepping of undefined limits is a voluntary escape. Dole v. Moulton, 20 Johns. Cas. 205. So going beyond the liberties without necessity is an escape, though it is inadvertent and arises from the boundaries being badly defined. Bissell v. Kip, 5 Johns. 89.

Actions for escape. The plaintiff in an action for an escape must show that the judgment debtor was taken into custody before the alleged escape. Jackson v. Comisky, 30 Misc. 622; 62 N. Y. Supp. 705. If, after a negligent escape, the prisoner returns or is retaken so as to be in custody before the suit is begun by actual service of process against the sheriff, it is a defense. Middle District Bank v. Deyo, 6 Coll. 732.

In an action for escape the sheriff may set up as a defense that the execution under which the prisoner was held was illegally issued, and that the arrest was unauthorized and void. Goodwin v. Griffis, 88 N. Y. 630; Carpentier Penal Law, § 1839; Code Civ. Proc., §§ 156, 157.

A sheriff, coroner, clerk of a court, constable, or other ministerial officer, and every deputy or subordinate of any ministerial officer who:

1. Receives any gratuity or reward, or any security or promise of one, to procure, assist, connive or permit any prisoner in his custody to escape, whether such escape is attempted or not; or

2. Commits any unlawful act tending to hinder justice, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

A conviction of a sheriff or other officer also operates as a forfeiture of his office and disqualifies him forever thereafter from holding the same. The governor shall, upon application, grant a hearing to a person convicted under this section, and if he be satisfied that the facts warrant it, he may, by order, relieve such person from such disqualification. [Penal Law, § 1839, as amended by L. 1917, ch. 226; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4045.]

§ 12. WHEN SHERIFF TO PRODUCE CIVIL PRISONER WHO HAS BEEN INDICTED.

Where a person, who has been indicted for a criminal offense, is held by a sheriff, by virtue of a mandate in a civil action or special proceeding, the court, in which the indictment is pending, may make an order, requiring the sheriff to bring him before the court; whereupon the court may make such disposition of the prisoner, as to it seems proper. The sheriff's fees and expenses, in so doing are a county charge of the county wherein the court is sitting. [Code Civ. Proc., § 156.]

§ 13. CONFINEMENT OF PRISONER COMMITTED FOR CONTEMPT.

A prisoner, committed to jail upon process for contempt, or committed for misconduct in a case prescribed by law, must be actually confined and detained within the jail, until he is discharged by due course of law, or is removed to another jail or place of confinement, in a case prescribed by law. A sheriff or keeper of a jail, who suffers such a prisoner to go or be at large out of his jail; except by virtue of a writ of habeas corpus, or by the special direction of the court committing him, or in a case specially prescribed by law; is liable to the party aggrieved, for his damages sustained thereby, and is guilty of a misdemeanor. If the commitment was for the non-payment of a sum of money, the amount thereof, with interest, is the measure of damages. [Code Civ. Proc., § 157.]

v. Willett, 1 Abb. Ct. App. Dec. 312; 1 Keyes, 510. But if the process is merely voidable, it is no defense. Dunford v. Weaver, 84 N. Y. 445. Nor is a mere irregularity in the process or judgment a defense to the sheriff. Wesson v. Chamberlain, 3 N. Y. 331; Hutchinson v. Brand, 9 N. Y. 208; Lathan v. Westervelt, 16 Barb. 421.

Liability of surety on judgment debtor's bond may be enforced although the debtor was insolvent. Flyn v. Union Surety Co., 61 App. Div. 170, 70 N. Y. Supp. 403, aff'd 170 N. Y. 145.

CHAPTER XIV.

CORONER'S INQUEST.

SECTION 1. In what cases coroner to summon a jury; number of jurors to be summoned; coroner, when disqualified.
2. Witnesses to be subpœnaed; compelling attendance.
3. Verdict of jury, what to contain.
4. Testimony to be in writing and filed; when defendant is arrested before inquisition, testimony to be delivered to magistrate.
5. Warrant for arrest of party charged by verdict; form of warrant.
6. Execution of warrant.
7. Proceedings of magistrate or coroner on defendants being brought before him.
8. Disposition of money or property found on deceased.
9. Coroner to give statement to board of supervisors before his accounts are audited; compensation.
10. Witnesses and jurors; report of coroner.
11. Justices of the peace, when to act as coroners.

§ 1. IN WHAT CASES CORONER TO SUMMON A JURY; NUMBER OF JURORS TO BE SUMMONED; CORONER, WHEN DISQUALIFIED.

Whenever a coroner is informed that a person has been killed or dangerously wounded by another, or has suddenly died under such circumstances as to afford a reasonable ground to suspect that his death has been occasioned by the act of another by criminal means, or has committed suicide, he must go to the place where the person is and forthwith inquire into the cause of the death, or wounding, and in case such death, or wounding, occurred in a county in which is situated in whole, or in part, a city having a population of more than five hundred thousand as appears by the last state enumeration, but not otherwise, summon not less than nine, nor more than fifteen persons, qualified by law to serve as jurors, to appear before him forthwith, at a specified place, to inquire into the cause of the death or wound, and if it shall appear from the sworn examination of the informant, or complainant, or if it shall appear from the evidence taken on, or during, the inquisition, or hearing, that any person, or persons, are chargeable with the killing or wounding, or that there is probable cause to believe that any person or persons are chargeable therewith, and if such person or persons be not in custody he must forthwith issue a warrant for the arrest of the person or persons charged with such killing or wounding; and upon the arrest of any person, or persons, chargeable therewith, he must be arraigned before the coroner for examination, and the said coroner shall have power to commit the person or persons so arrested to await the result of the inquisition or decision.

Any coroner shall be disqualified from acting as such in any case where the person killed, or dangerously wounded, or dying suddenly, as aforesaid, is a co-employe with said coroner, of any person, or persons, association, or corporation, or where it appears that the killing or wounding has been occasioned, directly or indirectly, by the employer of said coroner. [Code Crim. Proc., § 773.]

§ 2. WITNESSES TO BE SUBPOENAED; COMPELLING ATTENDANCE.

The coroner may issue subpœnas for witnesses, returnable forthwith, or at such time and place as he may appoint. He must summon and examine as witnesses, every person who, in his opinion, or that of any of the jury, has any knowledge of the facts; and he must summon as a witness a surgeon or physician, who must, in the presence of the jury, inspect the body, and give a professional opinion as to the cause of the death or wounding.[2] [Code Crim. Proc., § 775.]

A witness served with a subpœna may be compelled to attend and testify, or punished by the coroner for disobedience, as upon a subpœna issued by a magistrate, as provided in this code. [Idem, § 776.]

§ 3. VERDICT OF JURY, WHAT TO CONTAIN.

After inspecting the body and hearing the testimony, the coroner must render his decision, or if in a county where a jury is summoned as provided in section seven hundred and seventy-three, the jury must render their verdict, and certify it by an inquisition or decision in writing, signed by him or them as the case may be, and setting forth who the person killed or wounded is, and when, where and by what means he came to his death, or was wounded; and if he were killed, or wounded, or his death were occasioned by the act of another, by criminal means, who is guilty thereof,

1. Publicity of proceedings. A coroner's inquest is a judicial proceeding within the statute declaring that the sittings of any court shall be public and every citizen may freely attend the same; a post mortem examination conducted by surgeons employed by the coroner is not a part of the inquest, which, like sittings of any court of the state, any citizen has a right to attend. Crisfield v. Perine, 15 Hun, 200; affd. 81 N. Y. 622.

2. Examination of witnesses. A prisoner has no right to cross-examine witnesses before the coroner or to produce witnesses in his own behalf. People v. Collins, 20 How. Pr. 111; 11 Abb. Pr. 406.

in so far as by such inquisition he or such jury has been able to ascertain. [Code Crim. Proc., § 777.]

The testimony of the witnesses examined before the coroner or the jury must be reduced to writing by the coroner or under his direction and must forthwith by him, with the inquisition or decision filed in the office of the clerk of the county court of the county or of a city court having power to inquire into the offense by the intervention of a grand jury. [Code Crim. Proc., § 778.]

If, however, the defendant be arrested before the inquisition can be filed, the coroner must deliver it with the testimony, to the magistrate before whom the defendant is brought, as provided in section 781, who must return it with the depositions and statement taken before him, in the manner prescribed in section 221. [Idem, § 779.]

If the coroner or jury, where a jury is summoned finds that the person was killed or wounded by another, under circumstances not excusable, or justifiable, by law, or that his death was occasioned by the act of another, by criminal means, and the party committing the act be ascertained by the inquisition or decision, and be not in custody, the coroner must issue a warrant, signed by him with his name of office, into one or more counties, as may be necessary, for the arrest of the person charged. [Idem, § 780.]

§ 5. WARRANT FOR ARREST OF PARTY CHARGED BY VERDICT; FORM OF WARRANT.

The coroner's warrant must be in substantially the following form: County of Albany (or as the case may be). In the name of the people of the state of New York, to any sheriff, constable, marshal or policeman in this county: An inquisition having been this day found by a coroner's jury before me, (or a decision having been made by me stating that A B has come to his death by the act of C D by criminal means (or as the case may be), as found by the inquisition (or decision); or information having been this day laid before me that A B has been killed or dangerously wounded by C D by criminal means (or as the case may be), you are hereby commanded forthwith to arrest the above named C D and bring him before me, or in the case of my absence or inability to act, before the nearest or most acessible coroner in this county.

Dated at the city of Albany (or as the case may be), this..... day of.....

E. F.

Coroner of the county of Albany (or as the case may be). [Code Crim. Proc., § 781.]

§ 6. EXECUTION OF WARRANT.

The coroner's warrant may be served in any county; and the officer serving it must proceed thereon, in all respects, as upon a warrant of arrest on an information; except, that when served in another county, it need not be indorsed by a magistrate of that county.[3] [Code Crim. Proc., § 782.]

§ 7. PROCEEDINGS OF MAGISTRATE OR CORONER ON DEFENDANTS BEING BROUGHT BEFORE HIM.

The magistrate or coroner, when the defendant is brought before him, must proceed to examine the charge contained in the inquisition or information, and hold the defendant to answer or discharge him therefrom in the same manner, in all respects, as upon a warrant of arrest on an information. [Code Crim. Proc., § 783.]

Upon the arrest of the defendant, the clerk with whom the inquisition is filed, must, without delay, furnish to the magistrate or coroner before whom the defendant is brought, a certified copy of the inquisition and of the testimony returned therewth. [Idem, § 784.]

§ 8. DISPOSITION OF MONEY OR PROPERTY FOUND ON DECEASED.

The coroner must, within thirty days after an inquest upon a dead body, deliver to the county treasurer any money or other property which may be found upon the body, unless claimed in the mean time by the legal representatives of the deceased. If he fail to do so, the treasurer may proceed against him for its recovery, by a civil action in the name of the county. [Code Crim. Proc., § 785.]

Upon the delivery of money to the treasurer he must place it to the credit of the county. If it be other property, he must, within 30 days, sell it at public auction, upon reasonable public notice; and must, in like manner, place the proceeds to the credit of the county. [Idem, § 786.]

If the money in the treasury be demanded within six years, by the legal representatives of the deceased, the treasurer must pay it to them, after deducting the fees and expenses of the coroner and of the county, in relation to the matter, or it may be so paid at any time thereafter, upon the order of the board of supervisors. [Idem, § 787.]

3. Hearing on arrest. A prisoner against whom an inquisition has been found by a coroner's jury, whether arrested before, on or after the filing of such inquisition, is entitled to a hearing before a magistrate, in the same

Code Crim. Proc., §§ 788–789-a; County Law, § 192.

§ 9. CORONER TO GIVE STATEMENT TO BOARD OF SUPERVISORS BEFORE HIS ACCOUNTS ARE AUDITED; COMPENSATION.

Before auditing and allowing the account of the coroner, the board of supervisors must require from him a statement in writing, of any money or other property found upon persons on whom inquests have been held by him, verified by his oath, to the effect that the statement is true, and that the money or property mentioned in it has been delivered to the legal representatives of the deceased, or to the county treasurer. [Code Crim. Proc., § 788.]

The coroner is entitled, for his services in holding inquests and performing any other duty incidental thereto, to such compensation as defined by special statutes. [Idem, § 790.]

§ 10. FEES OF WITNESSES AND JURORS; REPORT OF CORONER.

Whenever, in consequence of the performance of his official duties, a coroner becomes a witness in a criminal proceeding, he shall be entitled to receive mileage to and from his place of residence, ten cents per mile, and three dollars per day for each day, or fractional parts thereof, actually detained as such witness. [See County Law, § 192; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 804.]

The fees of jurors necessarily summoned upon any coroner's inquest shall be not to exceed one dollar for each day's service, shall be a county charge and shall be audited and allowed by the board of supervisors in the same manner as other fees and charges mentioned in this title. But the coroner holding such inquest and summoning said jurors, shall make report to the next succeeding board of supervisors after every such inquest of the names of such jurors and the term of service of each, and upon what inquest rendered, on or before the third day of the annual session in each year. [Code Crim. Proc., § 774.]

§ 11. JUSTICES OF THE PEACE, WHEN TO ACT AS CORONERS.

Any justice of the peace, in each of the several towns and cities of this state, is hereby authorized and empowered, in case the attendance of a coroner cannot be procured within twelve hours after the discovery of a dead body, upon which an inquest is now by law required to be held, to hold an inquest thereon in the same manner and with the like force and effect as coroners.

manner as if he had been arrested upon an ordinary information, as defined by sec. 145 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. Matter of Ramscar, 10 Abb. N. C. 442; 63 How. Pr. 255.

Code Crim. Proc. § 789a.

Post-mortem examinations. In all cases in which the cause of death is not apparent, it shall be the duty of the justice to associate with himself a regularly licensed physician, to make a suitable examination for the discovery of said cause.

Fees. Each justice of the peace who shall hold inquests by virtue of this act, shall receive the same fees as are now allowed by law to coroners. [Code Crim. Proc., § 789-a.]

CHAPTER XV.

UNITED STATES DEPOSIT FUND; LOAN COMMISSIONERS.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

United States Deposit Fund.

This fund was derived from proceeds of the sale of public lands belonging to the United States, which were apportioned among the States by Act of Congress, passed June 23, 1836. This act declared that the income of such proceeds should be used by the states for educational purposes. In pursuance of this act the legislature enacted L. 1837, ch. 150 which provided a scheme for loaning the money belonging to the fund on mortgages throughout the state, and created the office of loan commissioner in the several counties.

The revision of the State Finance law in 1897 materially changed the law relating to the care and disposition of the United States deposit fund. Loan commissioners were by the revision deprived of their power to loan the money belonging to this fund. They retained the power to enforce the collection of loans, but upon receipt of the money by them they were required to return it to the comptroller who was then authorized to re-invest it in the same manner as other funds of the state. This arrangement was evidently not satisfactory, as the legislature at its succeeding session amended the law by the enactment of L. 1898, ch. 360, and the power to loan money belonging to the United States deposit fund was again conferred upon the loan commissioners. Many of the provisions of the original United States Loan Deposit Act of 1837, ch. 150, were re-enacted and incorporated in the State Finance Law. These provisions were retained in the State Finance Law as consolidatd in 1909. The law was again amended by L. 1911, ch. 634, which deprived the loan commissioners of the power to loan moneys belonging to the fund and vested the same in the state comptroller. We have inserted in this chapter the sections of the State Finance Law relating to the United States deposit fund and the powers and duties of United States loan commissioners and boards of supervisors in respect thereto.

SECTION 1. The United States deposit fund.
2. Discharge and cancellation of mortgages.
3. Books and records.
4. Supervision of existing United States deposit fund mortgages.
5. Investments.
6. Release of part of mortgage of premises.
7. Power of comptroller to maintain actions.
8. Foreclosure of United States deposit fund mortgages.
9. Disposition of surplus moneys, principal to be deposited.
10. Supervision of lands.
11. Audit of loan commissioners' accounts.
12. Certified copy of original mortgage.
13. Duties of loan commissioners; office abolished.

§ 1. THE UNITED STATES DEPOSIT FUND.

The part of the United States deposit fund received out of the surplus money of the treasury of the United States, under the thirteenth section of the act of congress, entitled "An act to regulate the deposits of the public money," passed June twenty-third, eighteen hundred and thirty-six, is held by the state on the terms, conditions and provisions specified in such act of congress, and the faith of the state is inviolably pledged for the safe keeping and repayment of all moneys thus received from time to time, whenever the same shall be required by the secretary of the treasury of the United States, under the provisions of such act. The comptroller and the treasurer of the state shall keep the accounts of the moneys belonging to the United States deposit fund in the books of their respective offices, separate and distinct from the state funds, and in such manner as to show the amount of principal, of the fund, the amount received from the interest, the amount paid from the annual revenue and the objects to which the same have been applied. If there shall be any loss in the loans of the moneys belonging to the United States deposit fund, it shall be a charge on the interest derived from the loan of such moneys, and none of the interest moneys shall be paid out for any purpose until such loss has been made good thereon. The comptroller shall have full charge and control over the United States deposit fund, including that part of such fund now invested in mortgages in the different counties of the state. [State Finance Law, § 82, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 634, in effect Aug. 10, 1911; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5516.]

State Finance Law, §§ 83, 84, 85.

§ 2. DISCHARGE AND CANCELLATION OF MORTGAGES.

The comptroller may cancel and discharge any mortgage, on satisfactory proof that the moneys loaned and secured by such mortgage have been fully paid to the officers authorized by law to receive the same if the mortgage remains uncanceled and undischarged of record. [State Finance Law, § 83, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 634; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5517.]

§ 3. BOOKS AND RECORDS.

The book or books of mortgages executed to the loan commissioners shall remain in the clerk's office of the county, and in the city and county of New York in the office of the register. During office hours any person may search and examine any book required to be kept by this article. [State Finance Law, § 84, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 634; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5517.]

§ 4. SUPERVISION OF EXISTING UNITED STATES DEPOSIT FUND MORTGAGES.

The comptroller shall have charge of the mortgages heretofore executed to the commissioners for loaning certain moneys of the United States on lands in the several counties of the state, which mortgages shall continue with the same force and effect as if this chapter were not enacted. The rate of interest on such mortgages shall be five per centum per annum, and shall be due annually on the first Tuesday of October. The comptroller shall collect and receive the interest arising on every such mortgage. In case of failure to pay such interest before the first day of November next following the date when the same became due, the comptroller shall report such failure to the attorney-general within fifteen days after the said first day of November. The comptroller shall receive payment of the principal or any part thereof of any such mortgage on lands when tendered and immediately pay the same into the state treasury, and shall satisfy and discharge the same by the execution and acknowledgment of a satisfaction piece in the usual form, which shall be recorded by the county clerk, who shall thereupon write upon the margin of such mortgage, in the book containing the same in his office, a statement to the effect that the same has been discharged and satisfied by the comptroller, giving the date thereof. Such mortgages may be assigned by the said comptroller on such terms and on such conditions as may be satisfactory to the comptroller. [State Finance Law, § 85, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 201, and L. 1911, ch. 634; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5518.]

§ 5. INVESTMENTS.

The comptroller shall invest and keep invested all moneys belonging to the common school, literature and United States deposit funds in the stocks and bonds of the United States and of this state, or for the payment of which the faith and credit of the United States or of this state are pledged, or in the judgments or awards of the court of claims of the state, or in the stocks or bonds of any county, town, city, village or school district of the state authorized to be issued by law. The comptroller, whenever he deems it for the best interest of such funds, or either of them, may dispose of any of the securities therein or investments therefor, in making other investments authorized by law, and he may exchange any such securities for those held in any other of such funds, and the comptroller may draw his warrant upon the treasurer for the amount required for such investments and exchanges. The care and disposition of all lands belonging to the literature fund and the common school fund shall be vested in the commissioners of the land office. [State Finance Law, § 81, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 201, and L. 1911, ch. 634; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5515.]

§ 6. RELEASE OF PART OF MORTGAGED PREMISES.

If the owner of mortgaged premises sell a part thereof, the comptroller, on application and with the consent of the mortgagor or such owner may release the part of the mortgaged premises sold from the lien of the mortgage. Such release, however, shall not be given unless a sum approved by the comptroller shall be first paid upon the mortgage and unless the part of the mortgaged premises remaining unsold, exclusive of buildings and prior liens, is worth double the residue of the mortgage debt. The comptroller shall execute such release in the usual form, which, when acknowledged, shall be recorded by the county clerk and a minute thereof made upon a margin of the mortgage. [State Finance Law, § 86, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 634; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5519.]

§ 7. POWER OF COMPTROLLER TO MAINTAIN ACTIONS.

The comptroller may, at any time before the sale of the mortgaged premises, bring an action to restrain the commission of waste by any person upon the mortgaged premises, or to correct any mistake or omission in the description thereof, or to recover the amount due on a mortgage. At any time before payment and discharge of mortgage or before sale, if any person cuts or removes or injures the timber, fences, buildings or other fixtures belonging to such mortgaged premises, or threatens so to do, the comptroller may maintain a like action for damages or an injunction. [State Finance Law, § 87, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 634; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5519.]

§ 8. FORECLOSURE OF UNITED STATES DEPOSIT FUND MORTGAGES.

If the interest due on any such mortgage shall not be paid on the first Tuesday of October of any year, or before the first day of November next following, or the principal or any part thereof shall not be paid when due, the comptroller shall cause all such mortgages upon which default is made in the payment of principal or interest to be foreclosed, whenever, in his judgment, it may be necessary or best for the protection of the interest of the state. All actions or proceedings for that purpose shall be prosecuted or conducted by the attorney-general, in the supreme court or in the county court of the county where the mortgaged premises are located, and in conformity with the practice in such case made and provided. [State Finance Law, § 88, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 201, and L. 1911, ch. 634; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5520.]

§ 9. DISPOSITION OF SURPLUS MONEYS; PRINCIPAL TO BE DEPOSITED.

The comptroller shall, within twenty days after receiving the money arising from the sale of the mortgaged premises as provided in the preceding section, pay into the county treasury the surplus exceeding the sum due and to become due on the mortgage and the costs and expenses of the foreclosure, and shall, within such time, pay over the residue of the sum arising from the sale of such mortgaged premises, less the amount which he is entitled to retain for his costs, disbursements and expenses, to the state treasury. The provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to the disposition of the surplus money arising from the foreclosure of mortgages are hereby made applicable to the surplus arising from the sale of mortgaged premises as prescribed in the preceding section.[1] [State Finance Law, § 89, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 201, and L. 1911, ch. 634; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5522.]

§ 10. SUPERVISION OF LANDS.

The comptroller shall exercise supervision and care over property acquired by the state through the foreclosure of United States deposit fund mortgages and may lease such property until it is disposed of according to law. The comptroller shall not be directly or indirectly interested in the purchase of any mortgaged premises; if so interested such sale shall be void. [State Finance Law, § 90, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 520, and L. 1911, ch. 634; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5523.]

§ 11. AUDIT OF LOAN COMMISSIONERS' ACCOUNTS.

At any time within one year from the rendition of any loan commisisoner's report, the comptroller shall audit and adjust the account of any such commissioner for the moneys received, paid out or retained by him under this article, and fix and determine the amount due the state on account thereof, and make a certificate to that effect, which shall be presumptive evidence of the amount due the state in any action or proceeding against such commissioner or the sureties on his undertaking. [State Finance Law, § 91, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 634; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5524.]

1. Loan commissioners to pay into the state treasury all moneys now in their hands. The loan commissioners of the several counties of the state of New York are hereby directed to pay into the state treasury, within thirty days after the passage of this act, all moneys in their hands belonging to the United States deposit fund. L. 1910, ch. 201, § 2.

§ 12. CERTIFIED COPY OF ORIGINAL MORTGAGE.

On the application of any person interested, the comptroller shall furnish a certified copy of any original mortgage which has been delivered to him pursuant to law, and the same may be recorded in the office of the clerk of the county where the mortgaged premises are situated. [State Finance Law, § 92, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 634; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5525.]

§ 13. DUTIES OF LOAN COMMISSIONERS; OFFICE ABOLISHED.

The loan commissioners shall within thirty days after the passage of this act make a special report to the comptroller showing all their transactions under this title from December thirty-first, nineteen hundred and ten, to the date of such report and of all moneys collected by them as principal, interest or rent during such period; and they shall immediately after making such report transmit to the state treasurer all moneys in their possession collected as principal, interest or rent; and thereafter they shall not accept or receive any moneys belonging to such fund; and they shall within thirty days after the passage of this act deliver to the comptroller all books, papers, records and documents in their possession or custody relating to the United States deposit fund. Upon making and filing such report with the comptroller, and delivery to the comptroller of all of said records, the comptroller may allow and pay, to the loan commissioners, from the revenue of said fund, such sum as he shall deem equitable in full payment for their services under article five of the state finance law to the thirtieth day after the passage of this act. [L. 1911, ch. 634, § 2, in effect July 10, 1911.]

The terms of office of all the present loan commissioners shall cease and terminate and the office of all "commissioners for loaning certain moneys of the United States of the county of" shall be abolished on the thirtieth day after the passage of this act. [Idem, § 3.]

CHAPTER XVI.

COUNTY HOSPITAL FOR TUBERCULOSIS.

SECTION 1. Establishment of county hospital for tuberculosis.
2. Appointment and terms of office of managers.
3. General powers and duties of managers.
4. General powers and duties of superintendent.
5. Admission of patients for county in which hospital is situated.
6. Maintenance of patients in the county in which hospital is situated.
7. Admission of patients for counties not having a hospital.
8. Maintenance of patients for counties not having a hospital.
9. Visitation and inspection.
10. Hospitals at almshouses.

§ 1. ESTABLISHMENT OF COUNTY HOSPITAL FOR TUBERCULOSIS.

The board of supervisors of every county in the state containing a population of thirty-five thousand or more, as determined by the latest state census, shall establish, as hereinafter provided, a county hospital for the care and treatment of persons suffering from the disease known as tuberculosis, unless there already exists in such county a hospital or institution provided by the county or other authority and caring for persons suffering from tuberculosis, which is approved by the state commissioner of health, or the board of supervisors of such county shall enter into a contract prior to November first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, for the care of its tuberculosis patients with an adjoining county having such county hospital or with a private sanatorium within its county or shall join with one or more other counties in the establishment and maintenance of such county hospital as hereinafter provided. Such county hospital, except a hospital established and maintained by two or more counties, shall be availabe for patients on or before the first day of July, nineteen hundred and eighteen. If the board of supervisors of any such county shall have failed to secure a site for a county tuberculosis hospital, and to have awarded contracts for the erection of suitable buildings thereon by the first day of January, nineteen hundred and eighteen, it shall be the duty of the state commissioner of health forthwith to proceed to locate, construct and place in operation a tuberculosis hospital in and for such county, the capacity of which shall not exceed the average number of deaths per annum from tuberculosis in such county during the past five years. For such purposes the state commissioner of health shall possess, and it shall be his duty to exercise all the powers which would have been possessed by the board of supervisors of such county, had such hospital been established and placed in operation by the board of supervisors thereof. All expenditures incurred by the state commissioner of health for and in connection with the location, construction and operation of such hospital, shall be a charge upon the county, and provision shall be made for the payment therefor by the board of supervisors of such county in the same manner as in the case of other charges against the county. At any time after such hospital has been in operation, the board of supervisors in such county may appoint a board of managers for such hospital, pursuant to the provisions of this act and thirty days after the appointment of such board of managers by such board of supervisors, such hospital shall be transferred to such board of managers, and such board of managers shall thereafter possess and exercise all the powers of the board of managers of a county hospital for tuberculosis under this act, and the state commissioner of health shall be relieved from any responsibility therefor except such responsibility as he exercises in regard to all county tuberculosis hospitals under the provisions of this act.

When deemed advisable by the board of supervisors and approved by the state commissioner of health, any such county may maintain more than one county hospital for the care and treatment of persons suffering from tuberculosis. The board of supervisors of any other county shall have power by a majority vote to establish a county hospital for the care and treatment of persons suffering from the disease known as tuberculosis; or it may submit the question of establishing such a hospital to the voters of the county at any general election, and in any county in which town meetings at which all the voters of the county may vote are held in the spring of the year, the board of supervisors of such a county shall have authority also to submit the question of establishing such a hospital at said town meetings to the electors of the county who are qualified to vote at a general election. The board of supervisors shall fix the sum of money deemed necessary for the establishment of said hospital. The form of the proposition submitted shall read as follows: "Shall the county of ..... appropriate the sum of ..... dollars for the establishment of a tuberculosis hospital?" The clerk of the board of supervisors, immediately upon the adoption of such resolution, shall forward to the duly constituted election authorities of the county a certified copy of said resolution providing for the submission of the proposition. The election notices shall state that the proposition will be voted upon and in the form set forth above. Such proposition shall be submitted on a distinct and separate ballot without any other question being printed thereon, any general or special law to the contrary notwithstanding. Provision for taking such vote and for the canvassing and returning of the result shall be made by the duly constituted election authorities.

If a majority of the voters voting on such proposition shall vote in favor thereof then such hospital shall be established hereunder and the sum of money named in the said proposition shall be deemed appropriated, and it shall be the duty of the board of supervisors to proceed forthwith to exercise the powers and authority conferred upon it in this section.

When the board of supervisors of any county shall have voted to establish such hospital, or when a referendum on the proposition of establishing such a hospital in a county, as authorized above, shall have been carried, the board of supervisors shall:

1. Purchase or lease real property therefor, or acquire such real property, and easements therein, by condemnation proceedings, in the manner prescribed by the condemnation law, in any town, city or village in the county. After the presentation of the petition in such proceeding prescribed in section three thousand three hundred and sixty of the code of civil procedure and the filing of the notice of pendency of action prescribed in section three thousand three hundred and eighty-one thereof, said board of supervisors shall be and become seized of the whole or such part of the real property described in said petition to be so acquired for carrying into effect the provisions of this act, as such board may, by resolution adopted at a regular or special session, determine to be necessary for the immediate use, and such board for and in the name of such county may enter upon, occupy and use such real property so described and required for such purposes. Such resolution shall contain a description of the real property of which possession is to be taken and the day upon which possession will be taken. Said board of supervisors shall cause a copy of such resolution to be filed in the county clerk's office of the county in which such property is situate, and notice of the adoption thereof, with a copy of the resolution and of its intention to take possession of the premises therein described on a day certain, also therein named, to be served, either personally or by mail, upon the owner or owners of, and persons interested in such real property, at least five days prior to the day fixed in such resolution for taking possession. From the time of the service of such notice, the entry upon and appropriation by the county of the real property therein described for the purposes provided for by this act, shall be deemed complete, and such notice so served shall be conclusive evidence of such entry and appropriation and of the quantity and boundaries of the lands appropriated. The board of supervisors may cause a duplicate copy of such papers so served, with an affidavit of due service thereof on such owner or person interested, to be recorded in the books used for recording deeds in the office of the county clerk of its county, and the record of such notice and such proof of service shall be prima facie evidence of the due service thereof. Compensation for property thus acquired shall be made in such condemnation proceedings.

2. Erect all necessary buildings and alter any buildings on the property when acquired for the use of said hospital, provided that the location of the buildings and the plans and such part of the specifications as shall be required by the state commissioner of health for such erection or alteration together with the initial equipment shall first be approved by the state commissioner of health. Any changes in such location or plans shall also be first approved by the state commissioner of health and the state commissioner of health and his duly authorized representatives shall have the power to inspect such county hospitals during the course of their construction for the purpose of seeing that such plans are complied with.

3. Cause to be assessed, levied and collected such sums of money as it shall deem necessary for suitable lands, buildings and improvements for said hospital, and for the maintenance thereof, and for all other necessary expenditures therefor; and to borrow money for the erection of such hospital and for the purchase of a site therefor on the credit of the county, and issue county obligations therefor, in such manner as it may do for other county purposes.

4. Appoint a board of managers for said hospital as hereinafter provided.

5. Accept and hold in trust for the county, any grant or devise of land, or any gift or bequest of money or other personal property, or any donation to be applied, principal or income, or both, for the benefit of said hospital, and apply the same in accordance with the terms of the gift.

6. Whenever it shall deem it in the public interest so to do, and notwithstanding the provisions of any other general or special act, change the location of such hospital and acquire a new site by purchase, lease or condemnation, as provided in this section, and establish the hospital thereon. The board of supervisors of any county of the state, including a county in which the provisions of this chapter are not mandatory, subject to the approval of the state commissioner of health, may enter into a contract prior to November first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, for the care of its tuberculosis patients with the board of supervisors of an adjoining county having such county hospital or with a private sanatorium within its county, or may, subject to like approval, jointly with the boards of supervisors of one ore more other adjoining counties, establish prior to November first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, and thereafter maintain such county hospital. In the establishment and maintenance of such joint county hospital, the boards of supervisors so uniting, in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the state commissioner of health, shall have jointly, except as provided in this section, all the power and authority conferred and obligations imposed upon boards of supervisors by this chapter for the establishment and maintenance of such county hospital in a single county and, for that purpose, each board of supervisors in such county shall appoint severally three of its members, who collectively shall be a commission, to select a site for such joint county hospital in any town, city or village in one of such counties and, when the necessary real property so selected by such commission shall have been acquired, purchased or leased as herein provided, to erect all necessary buildings, and alter any buildings, on such property for the use of such joint hospital. Such commission shall have all the powers and duties conferred or imposed upon boards of supervisors by sections forty-five to forty-nine inclusive of this chapter, except as in this section expressly otherwise provided. Every such joint county hospital shall be completed and ready for occupancy prior to July first, nineteen hundred and nineteen. When completed, each board of supervisors in such counties shall appoint severally three citizens of its county, of whom at least one shall be a practicing physician, who collectively shall constitute a board of managers of such joint county hospital and shall exercise the functions and powers granted and be subject, so far as practicable, to the provisions of this chapter applicable to boards of managers of a county hospital established under this chapter in a single county and said board of managers shall appoint at least one nurse in each county for the discovery, visitation and care of persons affected with tuberculosis and may appoint such additional nurse or nurses as it may deem necessary. The representation and voting power of each manager in such joint board shall be upon the basis and at the rate of one vote for each one thousand and major fraction of the population of the county from which such manager shall be chosen as determined by the latest state census. The superintendent appointed by such board shall have the powers and perform the duties which are prescribed in this chapter for superintendents of hospitals in a single county and the other employees of such board shall perform such duties as the board shall prescribe. The expense of the establishment and maintenance of a joint county hospital as herein provided shall be paid by such counties in proportion to the assessed value of the taxable property of each such county as it appears by the assessment rolls of such counties on the last assessment for state or county taxes prior to the incurring of such expense and the board of supervisors of each county so combining, is hereby authorized to borrow money to defray its share, estimated as herein provided, for the erection of such hospital and for the purchase of a site therefor on the credit of the county and issue county obligations therefor in such manner as it may do for other county purposes. All provisions of sections forty-five to forty-nine inclusive of this chapter not in conflict with the provisions of this section shall apply to such joint hospital, its establishment, maintenance and operation, except that for the purpose of the admission of patients to such hospital each of the counties so combining shall be considered the county in which the hospital is situated.[1] [County Law, § 45, as added by L. 1909, ch. 341, and amended by L. 1913, chs. 166, 379, L. 1914, ch. 323, L. 1915, ch. 132, L. 1917, ch. 469, and L. 1918, ch. 268; Subd. 6, added by L. 1915, ch. 427; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 742.]

§ 2. APPOINTMENT AND TERMS OF OFFICE OF MANAGERS.

When the board of supervisors shall have determined to establish a hospital for the care and treatment of persons suffering from tuberculosis, and shall have acquired a site therefor, and shall have awarded contracts for the necessary buildings and improvements thereon, it shall appoint five citizens of the county, of whom at least two shall be practicing physicians, who shall constitute a board of managers of the said hospital. The term of office of each member of said board shall be five years, and the term of one of such managers shall expire annually; the first appointments shall be made for the respective terms of five, four, three, two and one years. Appointments of successors shall be for the full term of five years, except that appointment of persons to fill vacancies occurring by death, resignation or other cause shall be made for the unexpired term. Failure of any manager to attend three consecutive meetings of the board shall cause a vacancy in his office, unless said absence is excused by formal action of the board of managers. The managers shall receive no compensation for their services,

1. The amendments made by this act shall not apply to counties in which a site for a tuberculosis hospital has been selected by any county and a petition for the approval of such site has been presented to the state board of health pursuant to the provisions of this chapter. L. 1918, ch. 268, § 2.

but shall be allowed their actual and necessary traveling and other expenses, to be audited and paid, in the same manner as the other expenses of the hospital, by the board of supervisors. Any manager may at any time be removed from office by the board of supervisors of the county, for cause after an opportunity to be heard. [County Law, § 46, as added by L. 1909, ch. 341; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 743.]

§ 3. GENERAL POWERS AND DUTIES OF MANAGERS.

The board of managers.

1. Shall elect from among its members, a president and one or more vice-presidents. It shall appoint a superintendent of the hospital who shall be also the treasurer and secretary of the board, and it may remove him for cause stated in writing and after an opportunity to be heard thereon after due notice; and may suspend him from duty pending the disposition of such charges. Said superintendent shall not be a member of the board of managers, and, except in the county of Monroe, shall be a graduate of an incorporated medical college, with an experience of at least three years in the actual practice of his profession. [Subd. amended by L. 1915, ch. 132, and by L. 1917, ch. 701.]

2. Shall fix the salaries of the superintendent and all other officers and employees within the limits of the appropriation made therefor by the board of supervisors, and such salaries shall be compensation in full for all services rendered. The board of managers shall determine the amount of time required to be spent at the hospital by said superintendent in the discharge of his duties.

3. Shall have the general superintendence, management and control of the said hospital, of the grounds, buildings, officers and employees thereof; of the inmates therein, and of all matters relating to the government, discipline, contracts, and fiscal concerns thereof; and make such rules and regulations as may seem to them necessary for carrying out the purposes of such hospital.

4. Shall maintain an effective inspection of said hospital, and keep itself informed of the affairs and management thereof; shall meet at the hospital at least once in every month, and at such other times as may be prescribed by the by-laws; and shall hold its annual meeting at least three weeks prior to the meeting of the board of supervisors at which appropriations for the ensuing year are to be considered.

5. Shall keep in a book provided for that purpose, a proper record of its proceedings which shall be open at all times to the inspection of its members, to the members of the board of supervisors of the county, and to duly authorized representatives of the state board of charities.

6. Shall certify all bills and accounts including salaries and wages and transmit them to the board of supervisors of the county, who shall provide for their payment in the same manner as other charges against the county are paid.[2] The board of supervisors of a county not having a purchasing agent or auditing commission may make an appropriation for the maintenance of such hospital and direct the county treasurer to pay all bills, accounts, salaries and wages, which are approved by the board of managers, within the amount of such appropriation, subject to such regulations as to the payment and audit thereof as the board of supervisors may deem proper. [Subd. amended by L. 1913, ch. 40.]

7. Shall make to the board of supervisors of the county annually, at such time as said supervisors shall direct, a detailed report of the operations of the hospital during the year, the number of patients received, the methods and results of their treatment, together with suitable recommendations and such other matter as may be required of them, and full and detailed estimates of the appropriations required during the ensuing year for all purposes including maintenance, the erection of buildings, repairs, renewals, extensions, improvements, betterments or other necessary purposes.

8. Shall notwithstanding any other general or special law erect all additional buildings found necessary after the hospital has been placed in operation and make all necessary improvements and repairs within the limits of the appropriations made therefor by the board of supervisors, provided that the location of the buildings and the plans and such part of the specifications as shall be required by the state commissioner of health for such additional buildings, improvements or repairs shall first be approved by the state commissioner of health. Any change in such location or plans shall also be first approved by the state commissioner of health and the state commissioner of health and his duly authorized representatives shall have the power to inspect such county hospitals during the course of the construction of such additional building for the purpose of seeing that such plans are complied with. [Subd. added by L. 1913, ch. 379, and amended by L. 1917, ch. 469.]

9. Shall employ a county nurse or an additional nurse or nurses if it deems necessary, for the discovery of tuberculosis cases and for the visitation

2. Bills for equipment of a county tuberculosis hospital audited by the superintendent and board of managers should also be audited by the board of supervisors or the county auditor before they may be legally paid by the treasurer. Opinion of State Comptroller (1916), 10 State Dept. Rep. 532.

of such cases and of patients discharged from the hospital and for such other duties as may seem appropriate; and shall cause to be examined by the superintendent or one of his medical staff suspected cases of tuberculosis reported to it by the county nurse, or nurses, or by physicians, teachers, employers, heads of families or others; and it may take such other steps for the care, treatment and prevention of tuberculosis as it may from time to time deem wise. In cases, however, where it is not mandatory to establish a county tuberculosis hospital and no board of managers has been provided, the board of supervisors shall have the power to appoint and employ such nurse or additional nurse or nurses, and appointments heretofore made by boards of supervisors in such cases are hereby ratified, confirmed and legalized. [Subd. added by L. 1914, ch. 323, amended by L. 1917, ch. 469, and by L. 1918, ch. 284. County Law, § 47, as added by L. 1909, ch. 341; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 744.]

§ 4. GENERAL POWERS AND DUTIES OF SUPERINTENDENT.

The superintendent shall be the chief executive officer of the hospital and subject to the by-laws, rules and regulations thereof, and to the powers of the board of managers:

1. Shall equip the hospital with all necessary furniture, appliances, fixtures and other needed facilities for the care and treatment of patients and for the use of officers and employees thereof, and shall in counties where there is no purchasing agent purchase all necessary supplies.

2. Shall have general supervision and control of the records, accounts, and buildings of the hospital and all internal affairs, and maintain discipline therein, and enforce compliance with, and obedience to all rules, by-laws and regulations adopted by the board of managers for the government, discipline and management of said hospital, and the employees and inmates thereof. He shall make such further rules, regulations and orders as he may deem necessary, not inconsistent with law, or with the rules, regulations and directions of the board of managers.

3. Shall appoint such resident officers and such employees as he may think proper and necessary for the efficient performance of the business of the hospital, and prescribe their duties; and for cause stated in writing, after an opportunity to be heard, discharge any such officer or employee at his discretion.

4. Shall cause proper accounts and records of the business and operations of the hospital to be kept regularly from day to day, in books and on records provided for that purpose; and see that such accounts and records are correctly made up for the annual report to the board of supervisors, as required by subdivision seven of section forty-seven of this chapter, and present the same to the board of managers, who shall incorporate them in their report to the said supervisors.

5. Shall receive into the hospital in the order of application any person found to be suffering from tuberculosis in any form who is entitled to admission thereto under the provisions of this chapter, excepting that if at any time there be more applications for admission to said hospital than there are vacant beds therein, said superintendent shall give preference in the admission of patients to those who in his judgment, after an inquiry as to the facts and circumstances, are more likely to infect members of their households and others, in each instance signing and placing among the permanent records of the hospital a statement of the facts and circumstances upon which he bases his judgment as to the likelihood of transmitting infection, and reporting each instance at the next meeting of the board of managers; and shall also receive persons from other counties as hereinafter provided. Said superintendent shall cause to be kept proper accounts and records of the admission of all patients, their name, age, sex, color, marital condition, residence, occupation and place of last employment. [Subd. amended by L. 1912, chs. 149 and 239, L. 1913, ch. 379, and L. 1915, ch. 132.]

6. Shall cause a careful examination to be made of the physical condition of all persons admitted to the hospital and provide for the treatment of each such patient according to his need; and shall cause a record to be kept of the condition of each patient when admitted, and from time to time thereafter.

7. Shall discharge from said hospital any patient who shall wilfully or habitually violate the rules thereof; or who is found not to have tuberculosis; or who is found to have recovered therefrom; or who for any other reason is no longer a suitable patient for treatment therein; and shall make a full report thereof at the next meeting of the board of managers.

8. Shall collect and receive all moneys due the hospital, keep an accurate account of the same, report the same at the monthly meeting of the board of managers, and transmit the same to the treasurer of the county within ten days after such meeting.

9. Shall before entering upon the discharge of his duties, give a bond in such sum as the board of managers may determine, to secure the faithful performance of such duties.

10. May attend such courses in the diagnosis and treatment of tuberculosis and in hospital administration at the state hospital for the treatment of incipient pulmonary tuberculosis at Raybrook as may be established and which he may be authorized to attend by the board of managers of his hospital. The necessary expenses in traveling to and from the said state hospital for the treatment of incipient pulmonary tuberculosis at Raybrook for the purpose of taking such courses shall be a county charge. [Subd. 10 added by L. 1917, ch. 469. County Law, § 48, as added by L. 1909, ch. 341; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 744.]

§ 5. ADMISSION OF PATIENTS FROM COUNTY IN WHICH HOSPITAL IS SITUATED.

Any resident of the county in which the hospital is situated desiring treatment in such hospital, may apply in person to the superintendent or to any reputable physician for examination, and such physician, if he find that said person is suffering from tuberculosis in any form, may apply to the superintendent of the hospital for his admission. Blank forms for such applications shall be provided by the hospital, and shall be forwarded by the superintendent thereof gratuitously to any reputable physician in the county, upon request. So far as practicable, applications for admission to the hospital shall be made upon such forms. The superintendent of the hospital, upon the receipt of such application, if it appears therefrom that the patient is suffering from tuberculosis, and if there be a vacancy in the said hospital, shall notify the person named in such application to appear in person at the hospital. If, upon personal examination of such patient, or of any patient applying in person for admission, the superintendent is satisfied that such person is suffering from tuberculosis, he shall admit him to the hospital as a patient. All such applications shall state whether, in the judgment of the physician, the person is able to pay in whole or in part for his care and treatment while at the hospital; and every application shall be filed and recorded in a book kept for that purpose in the order of their receipt. When said hospital is completed and ready for the treatment of patients, or whenever thereafter there are vacancies therein, admissions to said hospital shall be made in the order in which the names of applicants shall appear upon the application book to be kept as above provided, in so far as such applicants are certified to by the superintendent to be suffering from tuberculosis. No discrimination shall be made in the accommodation, care or treatment of any patient because of the fact that the patient or his relatives contribute to the cost of his maintenance in whole or in part, and no patient shall be permitted to pay for his maintenance in such hospital a greater sum than the average per capita cost of maintenance therein, including a reasonable allowance for the interest on the cost of the hospital; and no officer or employee of such hospital shall accept from any patient thereof any fee, payment or gratuity whatsoever for his services. [County Law, § 49, as added by L. 1909, ch. 341, B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 746.]

§ 6. MAINTENANCE OF PATIENTS IN THE COUNTY IN WHICH HOSPITAL IS SITUATED.

Wherever a patient has been admitted to said hospital from the county in which the hospital is situated, the superintendent shall cause such inquiry to be made as he may deem necessary, as to his circumstances, and of the relatives of such patient legally liable for his support. If he find that such patient, or said relatives are able to pay for his care and treatment in whole or in part, an order shall be made directing such patient, or said relatives to pay to the treasurer of such hospital for the support of such patient a specified sum per week, in proportion to their financial ability, but such sum shall not exceed the actual per capita cost of maintenance. The superintendent shall have the same power and authority to collect such sum from the estate of the patient, or his relatives legally liable for his support, as is possessed by an overseer of the poor in like circumstances. If the superintendent find that such patient, or said relatives are not able to pay, either in whole or in part, for his care and treatment in such hospital, the same shall become a charge upon the county. When any indigent patient shall have been admitted to any such hospital as a resident of the county in which the hospital is located, and it shall be found that such patient has not acquired a settlement within such county under the provisions of the poor law, the superintendent of such hospital shall collect from the county in which such patient has a settlement the cost of his maintenance in such hospital, or may in his discretion return such patient to the locality in which he has a settlement. [County Law, § 49-a, as added L. 1909, ch. 341, and amended by L. 1912, chs. 149 and 239, and L. 1913, ch. 379; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 746.]

§ 7. ADMISSION OF PATIENTS FROM COUNTIES NOT HAVING A HOSPITAL.

In any county not having a county hospital for the care and treatment of persons suffering from tuberculosis, a county superintendent of the poor, upon the receipt of the application and certificate hereinafter provided for, shall apply to the superintendent of any such hospital established by any other county, for the admission of such patient. Any person residing in a county in which there is no such hospital, who desires to receive treatment in such a hospital, may apply therefor in writing to the superintendent of the poor of the county in which he resides on a blank to be provided by said superintendent for that purpose, submitting with such application a written certificate signed by a reputable physician on a blank to be provided by the superintendent of the poor for such purpose, stating that such physician has, within the ten days then next preceding, examined such person, and that, in his judgment, such person is suffering from tuberculosis. The superintendent of the poor, on receipt of such application and certificate, shall forward the same to the superintendent of any hospital for the care and treatment of tuberculosis. If such patient be accepted by such hospital, the superintendent of the poor shall provide for his transportation thereto, and for his maintenance therein at a rate to be fixed as hereinafter provided. [County Law, § 49-b, as added by L. 1909, ch. 341, and amended by L. 1917, ch.469; C. B. & G. Cons. L., p. 747.]

§ 8. MAINTENANCE OF PATIENTS FROM COUNTIES NOT HAVING HOSPITAL.

Whenever the superintendent of such a county hospital, shall receive from a superintendent of the poor of any other county an application for the admission of a patient, if it appear from such application that the person therein referred to is suffering from tuberculosis, the superintendent shall notify said person to appear in person at the hospital, provided there be a vacancy in such hospital and there be no pending application from a patient residing in the county in which the hospital is located. If, upon personal examination of the patient, the superintendent is satisfied that such patient is suffering from tuberculosis, he shall admit him to the hospital. Every patient so admitted shall be a charge against the county sending such patient, at a rate to be fixed by the board of managers, which shall not exceed the per capita cost of maintenance therein, including a reasonable allowance for interest on the costs of the hospital; and the bill therefor shall, when verified by the superintendent of the poor of the county from which said patient was sent, be audited and paid by the board of supervisors of the said county. The said superintendent of the poor shall cause an investigation to be made into the circumstances of such patient, and of his relatives legally liable for his support, and shall have the same authority as an overseer of the poor in like circumstances to collect therefrom, in whole or in part, according to their financial ability, the cost of the maintenance of such person in said hospital. [County Law, § 49-c, as added by L. 1909, ch. 341; B. C. & G. Cons. L. p. 747.]

§ 9. VISITATION AND INSPECTION.

The resident officer of the hospital shall admit the managers into every part of the hospital and the premises and give them access on demand to all books, papers, accounts and records pertaining to the hospital and shall furnish copies, abstracts and reports whenever required by them. All hospitals established or maintained under the provisions of sections forty-five to forty-nine-e, inclusive, of this chapter, shall be subject to inspection by any duly authorized representative of the state board of charities, of the state department of health, of the state charities aid association and of the board of supervisors of the county; and the resident officers shall admit such representatives into every part of the hospital and its buildings, and give them access on demand to all records, reports, books, papers and accounts pertaining to the hospital. [County Law, § 49-d, as added by L. 1909, ch. 341; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 748.]

§ 10. HOSPITALS AT ALMSHOUSES.

Wherever a hospital for the care and treatment of persons suffering from tuberculosis exists in connection with, or on the grounds of a county alms-house, the board of supervisors may, after sections forty-five to forty-nine-e of this chapter take effect, appoint a board of managers for such hospital and such hospital, and its board of managers, shall thereafter be subject to all the provisions of this act, in like manner as if it had been originally established hereunder. Any hospital for the care and treatment of tuberculosis which may hereafter be established by any board of supervisors shall be subject to all the provisions of said sections. No hospital authorized under the provisions of this chapter shall hereafter be located on the grounds of an alms-house. [County Law, § 49-e, as added by L. 1909, ch. 341, and amended by L. 1913, ch. 379; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 748.]

CHAPTER XVI-A.

LOCAL BOARDS OF CHILD WELFARE.

Section 1. Local boards of child welfare established.
2. Appointment of boards in counties.
3. Appointment of boards in cities.
4. Members to serve without compensation. Expenses only to be paid.
5. General powers and duties of board. State board of charities may revoke allowances.
6. Regulations governing allowances.
7. Appropriations and limitations for purposes of article.
8. Penalties.

§ 1. LOCAL BOARDS OF CHILD WELFARE ESTABLISHED.

There shall be a local board of child welfare in each county of the state not wholly within a city, and in each city wholly including one or more counties, which, pursuant to this article, may grant allowances to widowed mothers with one or more children under the age of sixteen years, in order that such children may be suitably cared for in their homes by such mothers. [General Munic. Law, § 148, added by L. 1915, ch. 228, in effect July 1, 1915.]

§ 2. APPOINTMENT OF BOARDS IN COUNTIES.

The board of child welfare of a county shall consist of seven members of which the county superintendent of the poor shall be ex-officio member.[1] If any county have more than one superintendent of the poor, the county judge shall designate, by writing, filed with the county clerk, the superintendent who shall serve as a member of such board. The other six members of the board shall be appointed by the county judge for such terms that the term of one appointive member of the board shall expire each year thereafter. Upon the expiration of the term of office of a member of the board, his successor shall be appointed by the county judge for a full term of six years. If a vacancy occur, otherwise than by expiration of term, in the office of an appointive member of the board,

1. This section does not create the office of superintendent of the poor in a county where no such office existed. 6 State Dept. Repts. 441.

it shall be filled for the unexpired term. At least two members of the board shall be women. Appointments shall be made in writing and filed with the county clerk. [General Munic. Law, § 149, added by L. 1915, ch. 228, in effect July 1, 1915.]

§ 3. APPOINTMENT OF BOARDS IN CITIES.

The board of child welfare of a city wholly including one or more counties shall consist of nine members, of which the commissioner of public charities shall be ex-officio member. The other eight members of the board shall be appointed by the mayor for such terms that the term of one appointive member of the board shall expire each year thereafter. Upon the expiration of the term of office of a member of the board, his successor shall be appointed by the mayor for a full term of eight years. If a vacancy occur, otherwise than by expiration of term in the office of an appointive member of the board, it shall be filled for the unexpired term. At least three members of the board shall be women. [General Munic. Law, § 150, added by L. 1915, ch. 228, in effect July 1, 1915.]

§ 4. MEMBERS TO SERVE WITHOUT COMPENSATION, EXPENSES, ET CETERA.

The members of the board of child welfare, as herein provided, shall receive no compensation for their services as members of such board, but, after appropriations have been duly made as herein provided, they shall be entitled to the actual and necessary expenses incurred by them in properly discharging their official duties, whether while making investigations or otherwise. [General Munic. Law, §151, added by L. 1915, ch. 228, in effect July 1, 1915.]

§ 5. GENERAL POWERS AND DUTIES OF BOARD. STATE BOARD OF CHARITIES MAY REVOKE ALLOWANCES.

A board of child welfare shall:

1. Meet and organize within ten days after appointment, and fix the dates for its meetings, which shall be held at least monthly.

2. Elect a chairman, and appoint a secretary of the board, who shall hold office subject to the pleasure of the board.

3. Establish an office and, when specific appropriations have been made for such purposes, employ such officers and employees as may be provided for by the board of supervisors of a county or by the board of estimate and apportionment and the board of aldermen of a city.

4. Establish rules and regulations for the conduct of its business, which shall provide for the careful investigation of all applicants for allowances and the adequate supervision of all persons receiving allowances; such investigations and supervisions, when consistently possible, to be made by the board or by the authorities now entrusted with similar work and without incurring any unnecessary expense. Reports must be filed at least quarterly by the agents, visitors or representatives of the board, with respect to the families receiving allowances granted by the board.

5. Render to the board of supervisors, if in counties, and to the mayor, if in cities, a verified account of all moneys received and expended by them, or under their direction, and of all their proceedings in such manner and form as may be required by the board or the mayor, as the case may be; if required by the board of supervisors or mayor more frequent reports must be given covering fractional parts of a year. [Subd. amended by L. 1917, ch. 551.]

6. Submit annually to the proper fiscal authorities of the county or city an estimate of the funds required to carry out the purposes of this article; in a county such estimate shall be furnished before the annual meeting of the board of supervisors for appropriating moneys and levying taxes; in a city, it shall be submitted at the time provided by law for the submission of other departmental estimates.

7. Be subject to the general supervision of the state board of charities, and make such reports as the state board of charities may require. Any person who has knowledge that relief is being granted in violation of the requirements of this act, may file a verified complaint, in writing, with the state board of charities, setting forth the particulars of such violation, and said state board of charities shall have power, after proper investigation, to revoke allowances or to make such order as it may deem just and equitable and such order shall be complied with by the local board of child welfare. [General Munic. Law, § 152, added by L. 1915, ch. 228, in effect July 1, 1915.]

The following provisions shall govern the granting of allowances pursuant to this article:

1. A board of child welfare may, in its discretion, when funds have been appropriated therefor, grant an allowance to any dependent widow residing in the county or city wherein she applies for an allowance, and who is deemed by the local board of child welfare to be a proper person mentally, morally and physically to care for and bring up such child or children, provided such widow has been a resident of the county or of the city wherein the application for an allowance is made for a period of two years immediately preceding the application, and whose deceased husband was a citizen of the United States and a resident of the state at the time of his death.

2. Such allowance shall be made by a majority vote of the board duly entered upon the minutes of any regular or special meeting, and may be increased, diminished or totally withdrawn in the discretion of the local board of child welfare.

3. Before granting an allowance the board shall not only determine that the mother is a suitable person to bring up her own children and that aid is necessary to enable her to do so, but further that if such aid is not granted the child or children must be cared for in an institutional home.

4. Such an allowance or allowances shall not exceed the amount or amounts which it would be necessary to pay to an institutional home for the care of such widow's child or children.

5. An allowance granted by the board shall be paid out of any moneys appropriated by the local authorities for such purposes, or otherwise available by the board for such purpose; such local authorities are authorized to appropriate and make available for the board of child welfare and to include in the tax levy for such county or city, such sum or sums, as in their judgment, may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this article; such moneys to be kept in a separate fund and to be disbursed by the proper county or city fiscal authorities on orders of the local board of child welfare and upon proper vouchers therefor.

6. An application for allowance may be made directly to the local board of child welfare or to any member of the board.

7. A full and complete record shall be kept in every case coming either directly or indirectly within the jurisdiction of the board; such record to be available to the proper authorities of county or city interested therein.

8. An allowance made by the board shall not be for a longer continuous period than six months without renewal, which allowance may be continued from time to time at same or different amounts, for similar periods or less, either successively or intermittently or may be revoked at the pleasure of the local board of child welfare. [General Munic. Law, § 153, added by L. 1915, ch. 228, in effect July 1, 1915.]

§ 7. APPROPRIATIONS AND LIMITATIONS FOR PURPOSES OF ARTICLE.

The board of supervisors of a county, and the board of estimate and apportionment and the board of aldermen of a city to which this article is applicable, are hereby authorized and empowered annually to appropriate such a sum, if any, as, in their discretion and judgment, may be needed to carry out the provisions of this article, including expenses for administration and relief; it is further provided that no board of child welfare shall expend or contract to expend under the provisions of this act or otherwise, any public moneys not specifically appropriated as herein provided; the board of supervisors of any county may determine, as provided in section one hundred and thirty-eight of the state poor law, the same being chapter forty-two of the consolidated laws, whether or not the actual expense for the relief of widowed mothers and their children under this article shall be a charge upon the county or upon the respective towns thereof. Each such board of child welfare shall, from time to time, audit and cause to be paid all expenses for administration and the wages and salaries of its employees. [General Munic. Law, § 154, added by L. 1915, ch. 228, and amended by L. 1917, ch. 551.]

§ 8. PENALTIES.

1. A person who shall procure or attempt to procure, directly or indirectly, any allowance for relief under this article, for or on account of a person not entitled thereto, or shall knowingly or wilfully pay or permit to be paid any allowance to a person not entitled thereto, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

2. The members of a board of child welfare, established by this act, shall be appointed within sixty days after this act takes effect. [General Munic. Law, § 155, added by L. 1915, ch. 228, in effect July 1, 1915.]

CHAPTER XVII.

PROVISIONS GENERALLY APPLICABLE TO COUNTY OFFICERS.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

General Provisions.

Those provisions of law which apply generally to county officers are included in this chapter. They are found for the most part in Article XV of the County Law. It is provided by the constitution that a sheriff, county clerk, district attorney, and county register may be removed by the governor after an opportunity to be heard in defense of charges preferred. The Public Officers Law, § 33, also provides that a county treasurer, county superintendent of the poor and coroner may be so removed. The procedure is also prescribed by law.

SECTION 1. County officers to report to boards of supervisors.
2. District attorney to sue for and recover moneys in hands of county officers.
3. Official seals of counties, boards of supervisors, county treasurers and registers.
4. Official oaths of county officers.
5. General provisions relating to official bonds and undertakings.
6. Certain county officers may be removed by governor.
7. Evidence in proceedings for removal by governor.
8. Order of removal of officer, how made and where filed.
9. Removal for treasonable or seditious acts or utterances.

§ 1. COUNTY OFFICERS TO REPORT TO BOARDS OF SUPERVISORS.

Each county officer who shall receive, or is authorized by law to receive, any money on account of fines or penalties or other matter in which his county, or any town or city therein, shall have an interest, shall annually make a written report to the board of supervisors of his county, verified to be true, bearing date the first day of November, stating the time when, and the name of every person from whom such money has been received, the amount thereof, on what account received, and the sums remaining due and unpaid; and if no such money has been received, his report shall so state.[1] Such report shall be filed with the clerk of the board, on or before the fifth day of November; and no officer shall be entitled to receive payment for his services, unless he shall file with the supervisors, or other officers performing their duties, his affidavit that he has made such report, and paid over all moneys which he is required to pay over, within ninety days after receiving any such money. Such officers shall pay the same without any deduction to the treasurer of his county, who shall execute duplicate receipts therefor, one of which he shall deliver to the person paying the money, and attach the other to his annual report herein required; but nothing herein shall be construed to apply to moneys received by any town or city officer in his official capacity, as such, specially appropriated for any town or city purpose.[2] [County Law, § 243; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 830.]

§ 2. DISTRICT ATTORNEY TO SUE FOR AND RECOVER MONEYS IN HANDS OF COUNTY OFFICERS.

The district attorney shall sue for and recover, in behalf of, and in the name of, his county, the money received by any officer for, or on account of, his county, or any town or city therein, and not paid to the county treasurer, as herein required. All moneys belonging to any town or city in such county, which shall be received by the county treasurer, shall be distributed to the several towns or cities entitled to the same, by resolution of the board of supervisors, which shall be entered in the minutes of its proceedings. [County Law, § 244; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 831.]

§ 3. OFFICIAL SEALS OF COUNTIES, BOARDS OF SUPERVISORS, COUNTY TREASURERS AND REGISTERS.

The official seals of boards of supervisors of the several counties, county seal, county treasurer's seal, surrogate's seal, and the seal of the register

1. Penal provision. Section 1842 of the Penal Law provides that: "A county officer or an officer whose salary is paid by the county, who neglects or refuses to make a report under oath to the board of supervisors of such county on any subjects or matters connected with the duties of his office, whenever required by resolution of such board, is guilty of a misdemeanor."

As to money received by district attorney in actions brought by him for the recovery of penalties, see Code Civ. Proc., secs. 1967, 1968, ante.

2. The effect of this section is to supersede the provisions of the Buffalo city charter (L. 1891, ch. 105, sec. 385), directing the keeper of the Erie county penitentiary to pay over such fines as he should collect to the city treasurer of Buffalo The keeper of the Erie county penitentiary is a county officer, and the provisions of the above section of the County Law are applicable to him. See City of Buffalo v. Neal, 86 Hun, 76; 33 N. Y. Supp. 346.

of deeds, shall continue to be the official seals, respectively, of such boards, county treasurer, surrogate, and register of deeds, and used as such, respectively, when authorized by law. When any such seal shall be lost, destroyed, or become unfit for use, the board of supervisors of the county interested therein or not having such seal, shall cause a new seal or seals to be made at the expense of the county. A description of each of such seals, together with impressions therefrom, shall be filed in the office of the county clerk and the office of the secretary of state, unless it has already been done. In counties having two county seats, a duplicate of the county seal shall be procured and kept at the county seat where the county clerk's office is not situated, at some place to be designated by the county clerk, and may be used by him the same as at his office.[3] In counties having but one court house and which is located more than five miles from the county clerk's office, a duplicate of the county seal shall be procured and kept at such court house and the county clerk may use the same at such court house. The seal kept by the county clerk in each county, including New York county, as prescribed in the judiciary law, shall continue to be the seal of the county, and must be used by him where he is required to use an official seal. [County Law, § 245, as amended by L. 1914, ch. 29; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 831.]

Section 194 of the Judiciary Law provides that, "the seal kept by the county clerk of each county except in the county of New York, shall continue to be the seal of the county court in that county."

§ 4. OFFICIAL OATHS OF COUNTY OFFICERS.

Elective officers shall be chosen at general elections. A person in office, when this chapter takes effect, shall continue to hold the same until the expiration of the term for which he was elected or appointed; and a person thereafter elected to any such office on or before entering upon the duties thereof, and a person thereafter appointed to any such office within ten days after notice thereof, and before entering upon the duties of his office, shall take and subscribe before the county clerk, or county judge of the county, the constitutional oath of office; and the same, with his certificate of election or appointment, shall be immediately filed in the office of the county clerk.[4] [County Law, § 246; B. C. & G. Cons. L., 831.]

3. The expense of a new seal for the county clerk or a surrogate's court, must be paid as a part of the contingent expenses for the county. See Jud. Law, § 29.

How seal impressed on instruments. A seal of a court, public officer or corporation, may be impressed directly upon the instrument or writing to be sealed, or upon a wafer, wax or other adhesive substance affixed thereto, or upon paper or other similar substance affixed thereto by mucilage or other adhesive substance. See General Construction Law, sec. 43.

4. Official oaths. All elective or appointive county officers are required to take the constitutional oath of office. The Constitution (art. 13, sec. 1), provides that: "All officers, executive and judicial, except such inferior officers as shall

Every undertaking required by this chapter must be executed by the officer or person in whose behalf it is given, and his sureties, and duly acknowledged or proven and certified, and the approval indorsed thereon. The parties executing the same shall be jointly and severally liable, regardless of its form in that respect, for the damages sustained by reason of a be by law exempted, shall, before they enter on the duties of their respective offices, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support the Constitution of the United States, and the Constitution of the State of New York, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of the office according to the best of my ability; and all such officers who shall have been chosen at any election shall, before they enter on the duties of their respective offices, take and subscribe the oath or affirmation above prescribed, together with the following addition thereto, as part thereof:

"And I do further solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have not directly or indirectly paid, offered or promised to pay, contributed, or offered or promised to contribute any money, or other valuable thing as a consideration or reward for the giving or withholding a vote at the election at which I was elected to said office, and have not made any promise to influence the giving or withholding any such vote," and no other oath, declaration or test shall be required as a qualification for any office of public trust.

The Public Officers Law, sec. 10, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 59, provides that an official oath "may be administered by a judge of the court of appeals or by any officer authorized to take, within the state, the acknowledgment of the execution of a deed of real property." This provision applies generally to all officers where no other provision is made by law. The above section requires the oath to be taken and subscribed before the county clerk or county judge of the county, which undoubtedly controls the taking of the official oath by a county officer.

Failure to take oath. The county clerk is required to give notice to the governor of all county officers who have failed to file their oath of office or official undertaking. See County Law, sec. 161, sub. 4, ante, p. 128; see, also, Public Officers Law, sec. 13.

It is provided in section 30 of the Public Officers Law that every office shall be vacant upon the refusal or neglect of an officer to file his official oath upon or within fifteen days after the commencement of the term of office for which he is chosen, if an elective office, or if an appointive office, within fifteen days after notice of his appointment, or within fifteen days after the commencement of his term.

Notwithstanding the provisions of the statute that upon a refusal or neglect of a public officer to file his oath the office becomes vacant, it has been held repeatedly that the omission of the oath within the required time did not, ipso facto, vacate the office, but at most made the officer's title to the office defeasible, and afforded cause for forfeiture. See Cronin v. Stoddard, 97 N. Y. 271, 274; People ex rel. Woods v. Crissey, 91 N. Y. 616, 635; People ex rel. Brooks v. Watts, 73 Hun, 404, 407; 26 N. Y. Supp. 280; Matter of Taylor, breach thereof.[5] Every officer or board required to approve an undertaking may examine each surety thereto under oath, and shall not approve the same unless the sureties are freeholders of the state and jointly worth over and above their debts and liabilities at least double a sum which such officer or board may fix upon and insert in the undertaking as reasonably sufficient to indemnify the county, and every person who may be or become interested therein, or in any breach thereof.[6] Official bonds and under-

25 Abb. N. C. 143; see, also, Matter of Drury, 39 Misc. 288; 79 N. Y. Supp. 498.

5. Effect of official undertaking. Every official undertaking must be to the effect that the officer will faithfully discharge the duties of his office and promptly account for and pay over moneys or property received by him as such officer in accordance with law, or in default thereof, that the parties executing such undertaking will pay all damages, costs and expenses resulting from such default, not exceeding a sum, if any, specified in such undertaking. See Public Officers Law, sec. 11, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 424, L. 1912, ch. 481, L. 1913, ch. 325, and L. 1914, ch. 48.

Approval of undertaking. Such section of the Public Officers Law provides that: "The undertaking of a municipal officer shall, if not otherwise provided by law, be approved as to its form and the sufficiency of the sureties by the chief executive officer or by the governing body of the municipality and be filed with the clerk thereof. The approval by such governing body may be by resolution, a certified copy of which shall be attached to the undertaking. The governing body of a county is the board of supervisors." It would seem, therefore, that where no provision is made by law for the approval of an official undertaking by a county officer that the board of supervisors may, by resolution, approve such undertaking.

6. Sureties. Section 11 of the Public Officers Law, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 424, L. 1912, ch. 481, L. 1913, ch. 325, L. 1914, ch. 48, and L. 1915, ch. 628, also provides that: "Every official undertaking shall be executed and duly acknowledged by at least two sureties, each of whom shall add thereto his affidavit that he is a freeholder or householder within the state, stating his occupation and residence and the street number of his residence and place of business if in a city, and a sum which he is worth over and above his just debts and liabilities and property exempt from execution. The aggregate of the sums so stated in such affidavits must be at least double the amount specified in the undertaking. If the surety on an official undertaking of a state or local officer, clerk or employee of the state or political subdivision thereof or of a municipal corporation be a fidelity or surety corporation, the reasonable expense of procuring such surety, not exceeding one per centum per annum upon the sum for which such undertaking shall be required by or in pursuance of law to be given, shall be a charge against the state or political subdivision or municipal corporation respectively in and for which he is elected or appointed, except that the expense of procuring such surety as aforesaid, on an official undertaking of any officer, clerk or employee in any city department of the city of New York, or of any office, board or body of said city, or of a borough or county within said city, including officers, clerks and employees of every court within said city, shall not be a charge upon said city or upon any of the counties contained within said city, unless the comptroller of the said city, shall first have approved the necessity of requiring such official undertaking to be given, and shall have approved of or fixed the amount of any such official undertaking; but this exception shall not apply to an official undertaking specifically required by statute to be given, and the amount of which is specifically fixed by statute. The failure to execute an official undertaking in the form or by the number of sureties required by or in pursuance of law, or of a surety thereto to make an affidavit required by or in pursuance of law, or in the form so required, or the omission takings, including the bonds of executors, administrators, guardians and trustees, required by law to be filed in the office of the county clerk or surrogate, shall also be recorded in such offices respectively, in a book to be provided and kept in each of such offices, to be designated "book of official bonds and undertakings." The county clerk and surrogate's clerk shall respectively be entitled to the same fees for such recording, as are allowed to county clerks for recording conveyances, except that in counties where the surrogate's clerk receives a salary as full compensation for his services, he shall not be entitled to any fee for such services. [County Law, § 247; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 832.]

§ 6. CERTAIN COUNTY OFFICERS MAY BE REMOVED BY GOVERNOR.

An officer appointed by the governor for a full term or to fill a vacancy, any county treasurer, any county superintendent of the poor, any register of a county, any coroner or any notary public, may be removed by the governor within the term for which such officer shall have been chosen, after giving to such officer a copy of the charges against him and an opportunity to be heard in his defense.[7] [Public Officers Law, § 33; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4633.]

§ 7. EVIDENCE IN PROCEEDINGS FOR REMOVAL BY GOVERNOR.

The governor may take the evidence in any proceeding for the removal by him of a public officer or may direct that the evidence be taken before a justice of the supreme court of the district, or the county judge of the Force and effect of official undertaking. Section 12 of the Public Officers Law provides that: "An officer of whom an official undertaking is required, shall not receive any money or property as such officer, or do any act affecting the disposition of any money or property which such officer is entitled to receive or have the custody of, before he shall have filed such undertaking; and any person having the custody or control of any such money or property shall not deliver the same to any officer of whom an undertaking is required until such undertaking shall have been given. If a public officer required to give an official undertaking, enters upon the discharge of any of his official duties before giving such undertaking, the sureties upon his undertaking subsequently given for or during his official term shall be liable for all his acts and defaults done or suffered and for all moneys and property received during such term prior to the execution of such undertaking, or if a new undertaking is given, from the time notice to give such new undertaking is served upon him. Every official undertaking shall be obligatory and in force so long as the officer shall continue to act as such and until his successor shall be appointed and duly qualified, and until the conditions of the undertaking shall have been fully performed. When an official undertaking is renewed pursuant to law the sureties upon the former undertaking shall not be liable for any official act done or moneys received after the due execution, approval and filing of the new undertaking."

7. The constitution authorizes the governor to remove a sheriff, county clerk, district attorney and register in a county having a register, within the term for which he shall have been elected, giving to such officer a copy of the charges against him, and an opportunity of being heard in his defense. See Constitution, art. 10, sec. 1.

county, in which the officer proceeded against shall reside, or before a commissioner appointed by the governor for that purpose by an appointment in writing, and in the office of the secretary of state. The governor may direct such judge or commissioner to report to him the evidence taken in such proceeding, or the evidence and the findings by the judge or commissioner of the material facts deemed by such judge or commissioner to be established. The commissioner or judge directed to take such evidence may require witnesses to attend before him, and shall issue subpœnas for such witnesses as may be requested by the officer proceeded against.

The governor may direct the attorney-general, or the district attorney of the county in which the officer proceeded against shall reside to conduct the examination into the truth of the charges alleged as ground for such removal. If the examination shall be before a commissioner or judge, it shall be held at such place in the county in which the officer proceeded against shall reside as the commissioner or judge shall appoint, and at least eight days after written notice of the time and place of such examination shall have been given to the officer proceeded against.

All sheriffs, coroners, constables and marshals to whom process shall be directed and delivered under this section shall execute the same without unnecessary delay.[8] [Public Officers Law, § 34; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4633.]

§ 8. ORDER OF REMOVAL OF OFFICER, HOW MADE AND WHERE FILED.

Every removal of an officer by one or more state officers, shall be in written duplicate orders, signed by the officer, or by all or a majority of the officers, making the removal, or if made by a body or board of state officers may be evidenced by duplicate certified copies of the resolution or order of removal, signed either by all or by a majority of the officers making the removal, or by the president and clerk of such body or board. Both such duplicate orders or certified copies shall be de-

If the officer removed be a local officer, he shall send the other of such duplicates to the county clerk of the county in which the officer removed shall have resided at the time he was chosen to the office, and such clerk shall file the same in his office, and forthwith notify the officer removed of his removal. [Public Officers Law, § 35; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4634.]

§ 9. REMOVAL FOR TREASONABLE OR SEDITIOUS ACTS OR UTTERANCES.

A person holding any public office shall be removable therefrom, in the manner provided by law, for the utterance of any treasonable or seditious word or words or the doing of any treasonable or seditious act or acts during his term. [Public Officers Law, § 35-a, as added by L. 1917, ch. 416.]

PART III.

TOWNS, TOWN MEETINGS AND TOWN OFFICERS.

CHAPTER XVIII.

TOWNS; ERECTION AND ALTERATION.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

Towns.

The statutes of this state have always recognized the division of the territory of the state into counties and towns. At the outset towns were political subdivisions created or organized for the convenient exercise of political authority, and as a means of governmental administration. As political subdivisions, they exist for the purpose, largely, of providing locally for (1) the administration of civil and criminal justice, through justices of the peace; (2) the preservation of public health, through local boards of health and health officers; (3) the construction and maintenance of highways and bridges, through town boards and highway officers; (4) the relief of the poor, through overseers of the poor; (5) the assessment and collection of taxes, through assessors and collectors. There are many other administrative functions conferred upon towns, but those referred to are the most important.

As towns exist in this state, they were unknown to the common law, and are all of statutory creation. They were erected and organized by statute, and all their duties and obligations are prescribed by statute, and they derive their capacity and powers from the same source. Town officers have certain powers to exercise and duties to perform, all of which depend upon statutory enactment.

Towns as Corporations.

Under the revised Statutes (R. S. pt. 1, ch. 11, tit. 1, § 1) the powers of a town were specifically stated, and included the power to sue and be sued; to purchase and hold lands for town purposes; to make contracts; and to regulate the disposition and use of its corporate property. These powers are retained under the present town law. A town

thus is clothed with corporate powers, and for many purposes is a municipal corporation. These powers are limited to those specifically or impliedly granted by statute. As stated in § 2 of the Town Law, a town is a municipal corporation with such powers and duties of local government and administration of public affairs as may be conferred upon it by law. If there is no statute authorizing the making of a contract or the performance of an act by a town officer, the town may not be held liable therefor, on the theory that the town has been benefitted thereby. Those dealing with town officers must bear in mind this limitation.

Erection of Towns, and Alteration of Boundaries.

In the first instance towns were created by statute. Section 35 of the County Law authorizes boards of supervisors to erect new towns, and divide or alter the boundaries of towns already existing. Since this power has existed, it has been usual to erect new towns and alter boundaries of old towns by resolution of the board of supervisors. Such resolutions are required to be published by the secretary of state as a part of the Session laws.

SECTION 1. Town, a municipal corporation.
2. Alteration and erection of towns by boards of supervisors; application therefor; notice to be posted and published; name of new town.
2-a. Division of a town into two towns in certain counties not containing a city of over ten thousand inhabitants.
2-b. Submission to town electors of proposition for a division under the preceding section.
3. Time and place of holding first election in new town; term of office of town officer not to be abridged.
4. Establishment of disputed lines; application therefor; notice to be published and served upon town officers; resolution to be filed in office of secretary of state.
5. Disposition of town property, upon alteration of town boundaries; when property to be sold; duties of town boards respecting sale; cemetery not to be sold or divided.
6. Debts to be apportioned according to amount of taxable property; collection of unpaid taxes in such towns.
7. Meetings of town boards for disposition of property and apportionment of debts to be called by supervisors; action to enforce settlement.

§ 1. TOWN, A MUNICIPAL CORPORATION.

A town is a municipal corporation comprising the inhabitants within its boundaries, and formed for the purpose of exercising such powers and discharging such duties of local government and administration of public affairs as have been, or may be conferred or imposed upon it by law.[1] [Town Law, § 2; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6132.]

1. Towns as corporations. The tendency of legislation during the past few years has been to change the character and capacity of the simple township of former days. Judge Denio, in the case of Lorillard v. Town of Monroe, 11 N. Y. 392, said: "The several towns in this state are corporations for certain special and very limited purposes, or, to speak more accurately, they have a certain limited corporate capacity. They may purchase and hold lands within their own limits for the use of their inhabitants. They may as a corporation make such contracts and hold such personal property as may be necessary to the exercise of their corporate or administrative powers, and they may regulate and manage their corporate property, and as a necessary incident may sue and be sued where the assertion of their corporate rights or the enforcement against them of their corporate liabilities shall require such proceedings. In all other respects—for instance, in everything which concerns the administration of civil or criminal justice, the preservation of the public health and morals, the conservation of highways, roads and bridges, the relief of the poor, and the assessment and collection of taxes, the several towns are political divisions, organized for the convenient exercise of portions of the political power of the state, and are no more corporations than the judicial, or the senate and assembly districts." See, also, Town of Gallatin v. Loucks, 21 Barb. 578; Godfrey v. Queens County, 89 Hun, 18; 34 N. Y. Supp. 1052.

But the legislature in imposing liabilities and obligations, and corresponding duties upon a town, have made it something different from a mere political division of the state and brought it in character and capacity nearer to a municipal corporation. Horn v. Town of New Lots, 83 N. Y. 100, 107.

Powers of towns as corporations. Towns as municipal corporations are materially different in their powers from business corporations. Business corporations, unless restrained by their charter, possess the power to borrow money and issue securities therefor. Generally they could not carry on their authorized and legitimate business without such a power, and hence it must be presumed that the legislature intended that they should possess it; but towns and other municipal corporations are organized for governmental purposes, and their powers are limited and defined by the statutes under which they are constituted. They possess only such powers as are expressly conferred or necessarily implied. Wells v. Town of Salina, 119 N. Y. 280, 287; 23 N. E. 870. See, also, Morey v. Town of Newfane, 8 Barb. 645; Town of Lyons v. Cole, 3 T. & C. 431; Sweet v. Hulbert, 51 Barb. 312; People ex rel. Hess v. Clark, 53 Barb. 171; People ex rel. Read v. Town of Smithville, 85 Hun, 114; 32 N. Y. Supp. 668; Dorn v. Town of Oyster Bay, 84 Hun, 510; 32 N. Y. Supp. 341; Morson v. Town of Gravesend, 89 Hun, 52; 35 N. Y. Supp. 94.

The corporate existence of towns and their capacity to hold property, to protect the possession thereof, and to enforce their quasi corporate rights by appropriate action, are recognized by statute. Bridges v. Supervisors of Sullivan County, 92 N. Y. 570, 575; Town of Verona v. Peckham, 66 Barb. 103; Furey v. Town of Gravesend, 38 Hun, 319. In the absence of a statute a town has no power to act as a trustee for charitable purposes. Fosdick v.

§ 2. ALTERATION AND ERECTION OF TOWNS BY BOARDS OF SUPERVISORS; APPLICATION THEREFOR; NOTICE TO BE POSTED AND PUBLISHED; NAME OF NEW TOWN.

Any such board [of supervisors] may, at any meeting thereof, by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected thereto, on the application of at least twelve freeholders of each of the towns to be affected, divide

Town of Hempstead, 125 N. Y. 581; 26 N. E. 801. A town in its corporate capacity is authorized to acquire land for a legitimate town purpose. People ex rel. Averill v. Works, 7 Wend. 486. It may take lands for highway purposes by conveyance, voluntary or otherwise; and this implies the power to take such interest as the necessity of the case or the public good may require. Hughes v. Bingham, 135 N. Y. 347; 32 N. E. 78; Bail v. Long Island R. R. Co., 106 N. Y. 283; 12 N. E. 607.

A town may take personal property by bequest for the support of its poor. Fosdick v. Town of Hempstead, 8 N. Y. Supp. 773.

Effect of statute upon powers of towns as corporations. Under the revised statutes (R. S., pt. 1, ch. 11, tit. 1, sec. 1), the powers of a town as a corporate body were specifically stated. These powers included the power to sue and be sued; to purchase and hold lands within its own limits and for the use of its inhabitants; to make contracts; and to regulate the disposition and use of its corporate property. The above section of the Town Law is a substitute for such provision of the revised statutes. By declaring a town to be a municipal corporation it was evidently intended to continue in the town the powers formerly expressly conferred. The present law provides for the exercise by the town of such powers pertaining to the administration of town affairs as may be conferred or imposed upon it by law. Lythe v. Town of Evans, 33 Misc. 221; 68 N. Y. Supp. 356. This section of the Town Law has not enlarged the town's corporate capacity. Morson v. Town of Gravesend, 89 Hun, 52; 35 N. Y. Supp. 94.

In case of Dorn v. Town of Oyster Bay, 84 Hun, 510; 32 N. Y. Supp. 341, Dykeman, J., says: "The towns of this state are the primary political divisions. As they exist here they were unknown to the common law, and are all of statutory creation. They were erected and organized by statute, and all their duties and obligations are prescribed by statute, and they derive their capacity and powers from the same source. In the earlier history of the state their capacity was limited, and their duties and liabilities were but few. By the revised statutes, each town as a body corporate had capacity to purchase and hold property for certain purposes, to sue and be sued, and to make certain contracts in relation to corporate property and affairs. Modern legislation has, however, enlarged their capacity and endued them with powers and imposed upon them obligations similar to those possessed by municipal corporations."

Power to sue. A town is a municipal corporation and as such may sue in all courts in like case as a natural person. That is to say, where there is an existing liability at law, or an existing right which it may enforce, the method of its enforcement must be the same as if it were a natural person. Town of Hempstead v. Lawrence, 138 App. Div. 473, 122 N. Y. Supp. 1037.

Power to contract. Towns have no general power to enter into contracts or to incur obligations the payment of which can be enforced against them. Persons dealing with town officers are charged with notice of the limited corporate capacity of the town, and it is, therefore, incumbent upon one who asserts the fact of an indebtedness to him from the town to point out the act of the legislature which authorized and empowered the town to or alter the bounds of any town in the county, or erect a new town therein. Notice of such application, signed by such freeholders, shall be posted in five conspicuous public places in each of such towns for four weeks next preceding a presentation of such application to the board; and a copy of such notice shall be published for at least six consecutive weeks next preceding the meeting of the board to which the application is to be made, in three newspapers published in the county, if there be so many, otherwise in all the newspapers published in the county as often as once a week. Such applicants shall present to the board with such application and notice, due proof of the posting and publishing of such notice, and furnish the board with a map and survey of such towns, showing the proposed alteration. The board shall designate the name of any new town so erected. If the application be granted, a copy of such map, with a certified statement of the action of the board thereto annexed, shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state, who shall cause such statement to be printed and published with the laws of the next legislature. Except as otherwise provided in section thirty-five-b, the provisions of this section shall not apply to the division of a town into two towns wholly within the boundaries of and together comprising the entire territory of the town so divided, in a county which does not then contain a city of over ten thousand inhabitants and which adjoins a county having a city containing a population of not less than two hundred thousand and not more than four hundred thousand, according to the preceding federal or state census or enumeration.[2] [County Law, § 35, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 250, and L. 1917, ch. 233; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 733.]

incur the debt. Morson v. Town of Gravesend, 89 Hun, 52; 35 N. Y. Supp. 94. It is a general rule that all parties dealing with public officers are chargeable with notice of the limitation of their powers, and a contract by a public officer in excess of the powers conferred upon him imposes no liabilities upon the municipal corporation, even though the benefits of the contract have been received and applied for the benefit of the public. Van Dolson v. Bd. of Education, 28 App. Div. 501; 51 N. Y. Supp. 720; Walton v. City of N. Y., 26 App. Div. 76; 49 N. Y. Supp. 615. Where a statute prescribes the purpose and the manner in which a contract shall be made by a town officer, the provisions of such statute must be strictly followed, otherwise the contract will be invalid. Suburban Electric Light Co. v. Town of Hempstead, 38 App. Div. 355; 56 N. Y. Supp. 443. See, also, Parfitt v. Ferguson, 159 N. Y. 111; 53 N. E. 707; Lawrence v. Smith, 24 Misc. 233; 52 N. Y. Supp. 724.

Bridges and highways. Towns, in their corporate capacity, have no duties to perform in respect to the care, superintendence or regulation of highways within their limits. People ex rel. Van Keuren v. Town Auditors, 74 N. Y. 310. And see People ex rel. Everett v. Supervisors, 93 N. Y. 397; Robinson v. Town of Fowler, 80 Hun, 101, 30 N. Y. Supp. 25; People ex rel. Loomis v. Town Auditors, 75 N. Y. 316.

Liability for acts of agents and officers. Town assessors and collectors are not officers or agents of town in its corporate capacity, and the town is not liable for their mistakes. Lorillard v. Town of Monroe, 11 N. Y. 392; Town of Gallatin v. Loucks, 21 Barb. 578.

Towns are not liable for the negligent acts of their officers in the absence of statutory provisions. The rule of respondent superior does not exist between a town and its officers. The officers of a town are liable for their negligence in the performance of their official duties. Short v. Town of Orange (1916), 175 App. Div. 260, 161 N. Y. Supp. 466.

Proceedings for division of towns. The question whether a town has been legally erected may be decided in an action in the nature of quo warranto against one claiming to exercise the office of supervisor of such town. Where the act of the board, dividing a town and forming a new one from a portion thereof,

§ 2a. DIVISION OF A TOWN INTO TWO TOWNS IN CERTAIN COUNTIES NOT CONTAINING A CITY OF OVER TEN THOUSAND INHABITANTS.

In any county which does not then contain a city of over ten thousand inhabitants, and which adjoins a county having a city containing a population of not less than two hundred thousand and not more than four hundred thousand, according to the preceding federal or state census or enumeration, a town of such county may be divided, in the manner provided in this section and section thirty-five-b, into two towns wholly within the boundaries of and together comprising the entire territory of the town so divided. The board of supervisors of such county, at any meeting thereof, by vote of two-thirds of all the members elected thereto, on the written application of qualified electors of the town affected, signed and acknowledged by them, to the number of twenty-five per centum of the votes cast in such town at the preceding general election, may make such application, subject to the action of the electors of such town by vote thereafer taken as herein provided. The acknowledgments to such application shall be taken and certified in manner and form as provided by law for the acknowledgment of a deed to be recorded. The application must describe with common certainty the boundaries of each of the proposed new towns. Such written application shall be filed with the clerk of such board, who, with the chairman of the board, shall fix a day, not less than five nor more than six weeks after the filing of the application, when the application shall be presented to the board for a hearing thereon. Such clerk shall prepare a notice of such hearing, which shall contain a brief description of the proposed division and recite the filing of the petition. He shall transmit such notice to the town clerk of the town affected, who shall cause copies thereof to be posted in five conspicuous public places in the town at least four weeks before such hearing and shall cause the notice to be published once each week for at least four weeks next preceding such hearing in a newspaper published in the county, which shall be a newspaper published in the town if there be one. Due proof of such posting and publication shall be filed with the clerk of the board of supervisors at or before the hearing. If the board is not to be otherwise in session at the time so fixed, the clerk shall call a special meeting for the purpose of this section. The applicants shall furnish the board with a map and survey of the proposed division. If the board shall grant the application, it shall make such determination by resolution, which shall provide for the submission of the following question to the qualified electors of such town: "Shall the town of (here insert name of the original town) be divided pursuant to a resolution of the board of supervisors of this county heretofore adopted, into two towns having the following boundaries: (here insert description as appearing in the map and application of each of such proposed towns)?" After the board of supervisors shall have granted and such application, no other application for a different division of the same town shall be presented or acted upon until after the determination of the proposition submitted as provided in the next section, nor unless such proposition shall have been decided in the negative. [County Law, § 35-a, as added by L. 1917, ch. 233.]

The question provided for in section thirty-five-a shall be submitted at the next biennial town meeting occuring* not less than thirty nor more than sixty days after the receipt of such resolution by the town clerk; and if a biennial town meeting is not to occur within such times, then the town clerk shall call a special town meeting for the submission of such proposition. The clerk shall give notice of the fact that such proposition is to be submitted by posting the same in at least ten public places in the town and publishing such notice at least ten days before the meeting in a newspaper published in the county, which shall be a newspaper published in the town if there be one. If a special town meeting is called for such purpose, a statement of that fact shall be included in the notice together with a statement of the time and place of holding the same. The vote upon such question shall be taken by ballot, in the form prescribed in the election law. The ballots shall be provided by the authorities charged by law with the duty of furnishing official ballots for other town proposition. Any elector qualified to vote for town officers, if such officers were then to be chosen, shall be entitled to vote upon such proposition. A canvass and return of the votes, and canvass of the results, shall be made as provided by law. If the majority of votes cast on the proposition shall be in the affirmative, the town shall be thereby divided and two towns created in place thereof, to consist of the territory described in the proposition; but such division and such creation of new towns shall not go into operation for the purpose of affecting the organization of the existing town and the powers and duties of such town and its officers until the election and qualification of officers for the new towns. A certified copy of a statement of the result of the vote shall be immediately filed with the clerk of the board of supervisors and another certified copy in the office of the county clerk. The board of supervisors shall designate the name of each new town so created and shall cause a copy of the map, provided for in the preceding section, to be filed in the office of the secretary of state, together with a certificate that such new towns have been created in conformity with the provisions of this and the preceding section. Such certificate shall be published with the laws of the next legislature. It shall be the duty of the board of supervisors, within sixty days after such town meeting, if such proposition shall have been decided in the affirmative, to provide by resolution for the first election in each of such new towns in the manner provided in section thirty-six of this chapter. Such election shall be held not later than three months after such town meeting. A certified copy of the resolution fixing the date of such election shall also be filed in the office of the secretary of state. No incorporated village shall be divided in the formation of new towns under the provisions of section thirty-five-a and of this section. If the majority of votes cast on such proposition be in the negative or be equal, the town shall not be so divided. The provisions of this and the preceding section shall not affect an application for the division of any town heretofore presented to any board of supervisors and now pending, but the same shall be determined as provided in section thirty-five. [County Law, § 35-b, as added by L. 1917, ch. 233.]

* So in original.

The board [of supervisors] shall designate the time and place of holding the first town meeting in a new town so erected, and appoint three electors thereof, who shall post notice of such town meeting, signed by the chairman or clerk of the board of supervisors, in four conspicuous public places in such town, at least fourteen days before holding the same. Such electors shall preside at such town meeting, appoint a clerk, open and keep the polls, and exercise the same powers as justices of the peace when presiding at town meetings; but if such electors shall refuse or neglect to serve, the electors of the town present shall substitute one of their number for each one so neglecting or refusing to serve; and the posting of the notice of such meeting shall be valid if done by any elector of the town. Nothing herein shall affect the rights, or abridge the term of office of any town officer in any town, but they shall hold and exercise the offices in the town in which they shall respectively reside after the change or alteration. [County Law, § 36; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 734.]

§ 4. ESTABLISHMENT OF DISPUTED LINES; APPLICATION THEREFOR; NOTICE TO BE PUBLISHED AND SERVED UPON TOWN OFFICERS; RESOLUTION TO BE FILED IN OFFICE OF SECRETARY OF STATE.

Such board may establish and define boundary lines between the several towns of the county. A notice of intention to apply to the board to establish and define such boundary line, particularly describing the same, and the line as proposed to be acted upon by such board, signed by a majority of the members of the town board of some one of the towns to be affected thereby, shall be published for four consecutive weeks next preceding the meeting of the board at which the application is to be presented, in three newspapers published in the county in, or nearest to such towns, if so many, otherwise in all the newspapers published in the county as often as once a week. A copy of such notice shall also be served personally, at least fifteen days before the meeting of such board, on the supervisors and town clerk of each of the other towns to be affected thereby.

only described the dividing line, it has been held that the indefiniteness was cured by reference contained in the act to the application upon which it was founded and from which it appeared that the new town was to lie south of the line of division. People v. Carpenter, 24 N. Y. 86. In this case the court ruled that the act of the supervisors being one of a legislative character, in favor of the regularity of which all presumptions are to be indulged; those who would impeach the act must show by affirmative proof a non-compliance with the conditions imposed by law as a prerequisite to the exercise of power.

A copy of the resolution, as adopted by the board, which shall contain the courses, distances and fixed monuments specified in such boundary line or lines, together with a map of the survey thereof, with the courses, distances and fixed monuments referred to therein, plainly and distinctly marked and indicated thereon, shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state within thirty days after the adoption of such resolution, who shall cause the same to be printed and published with the laws of the next state legislature after the adoption thereof.[3] [County Law, § 37; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 734.]

§ 5. DISPOSITION OF TOWN PROPERTY, UPON ALTERATION OF TOWN BOUNDARIES; WHEN PROPERTY TO BE SOLD DUTIES OF TOWN BOARDS RESPECTING SALE; CEMETERY NOT TO BE SOLD OR DIVIDED.

When the boundaries of a town owning real or personal property shall be altered, either by a division of a town into two or more towns or by the annexation of a part of its territory to another town or towns, the town boards of the several towns affected by such alterations shall meet as soon as may be after the first town meetings subsequently held in such towns, and shall make such agreement concerning the disposition to be made of such real and personal property, and the apportionment of the proceeds, as they shall deem equitable and take all measures, and execute all conveyances necessary to carry such agreement into effect. If no such agree-

Failure to acquire jurisdiction. If the board of supervisors attempts to establish disputed boundary lines without having acquired jurisdiction by the necessary application and the publication of the notice to make such application, an injunction will lie against such board to restrain further action by it. People ex rel. Town of Knox v. Supervisors, 63 How. Pr. 411.

Effect of statute establishing boundary line between towns. A board of supervisors may, under this section, ascertain and locate a disputed boundary line between two towns within the county which was established and settled by an early statute in accordance with an ancient designated map. The authorized action of a board of supervisors in determining such a boundary line cannot, in the absence of fraud, collusion or bad faith on the part of the board, be attacked in a taxpayer's action. Govers v. Board of Supervisors, 171 N. Y. 403, affg. 55 App. Div. 40, 67 N. Y. Supp. 27.

Town boundaries; islands intersected by town lines. Whenever two towns are separated from each other by a river, creek or lake, the middle of the channel of such river, creek or lake, shall be the division line between them, unless hereinbefore otherwise provided. R. S. pt. 1, ch. 2, tit. 4, sec. 58.

Whenever the boundary line between two towns crosses an island, the whole of such island shall be deemed to be within the town in which the greater part of it lies, unless hereinbefore otherwise provided. Idem, sec. 59.

ment shall be made within six months after such town meetings, the town board of each town in which any portion of such real property, or in whose possession any of such personal property shall be, shall, as soon as may be, sell and convey such part of the real property as shall be included within the limits of the town as fixed by such alteration, and such of the personal property as may be in its possession; and the proceeds arising from the sale shall be apportioned between the several towns interested therein, by the town boards of all the towns, according to the amount of the taxable property of the town divided or altered, as the same existed immediately before such division or alteration, to be ascertained by the last assessment-roll of such town. But no town cemetery or burial ground shall be sold or divided, but the same shall belong to the town within which it may be situated after a division of the town shall have been made, and no lots heretofore granted by the people of this state to any town for the support of the gospel and of schools, commonly called the gospel and schools lots, shall be sold or apportioned.[4] [Town Law, § 30; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6138.]

Debts owed by a town so divided or altered shall be apportioned in the same manner as the personal property of a town, and each town shall be charged with its share of the debts, according to the apportionment, and the amount of the unpaid taxes levied and assessed upon the taxable property of the town, divided or altered, before the division or alteration thereof, shall be apportioned between the several towns interested therein, according to the amount of taxable property in each town as the same existed before such division or alteration, to be ascertained by the last assessment-roll of the town.[5]

4. Title of property. Without express provision of statute the erection of a new town does not take away the rights of the old town as to the common property not located within the limits of the new town. Denton v. Jackson, 2 Johns. Ch. 320. But in the case of Town of North Hempstead v. Town of Hempstead, 2 Wend. 109, it was held that the division of the town of Hempstead effected a division of the common lands.

Under an act passed by the legislature to divide the town of Kingston it was held the legal title in the property belonging to the freeholders and inhabitants of the town, continued in their trustees until conveyed by them to officers of the towns into which the old town was divided. Jackson v. Louw, 12 Johns. 252.

As to constitutionality of chapter 975 of the laws of 1895, dividing the town of Watervliet, see Fort v. Cummings, 90 Hun, 481.

5. Apportionment of debts. By this section debts owed by a town which

In making such division, there shall be set off to each town interested the unpaid taxes assessed and levied upon the real property within its borders and such as were assessed and levied upon personal property against persons or corporations who resided within its borders at the time of the assessment; and each town, to which the same are apportioned, shall have the same power, right and methods of collecting the same by warrant, action, sale or otherwise, as the town so divided or altered had, or would have had if such town had not been so divided or altered. Any such town having apportioned to it more than its proportion of unpaid taxes, according to the aforesaid taxable property, to be ascertained by the last assessment-roll of such town, shall pay to the other town or towns interested, such sum or sums as shall be necessary to make such apportionment correspond with the said taxable property, as ascertained by the said last assessment-roll of said town, before the said division or alteration. [Town Law, § 31; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6138.]

§ 7. MEETINGS OF TOWN BOARDS FOR DISPOSITION OF PROPERTY AND APPORTIONMENT OF DEBTS TO BE CALLED BY SUPERVISOR; ACTION TO ENFORCE SETTLEMENT.

Whenever a meeting of the town boards of two or more towns shall be required, in order to carry into effect the provisions of this article, such meeting may be called by either of the supervisors of such towns, by giving at least three days' written notice to all the other members of such town boards of the time and place of such meeting. [Town Law, § 32; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6139.]

Whenever said town boards shall fail to carry into effect the provisions of this article and agree upon the amount of assets to which each town is entitled, and the amount of indebtedness for which each town is liable and complete the full settlement thereof, within eighteen months after the

has been divided or whose boundaries have been altered must be apportioned by the town boards of the several towns affected by the division or alteration in the manner prescribed in the preceding section for the apportionment of the personal property of the several towns; that is by an agreement to be made by the town boards.

Proceedings by mandamus cannot be instituted against a board of supervisors to levy and assess the amount due upon a judgment against the town upon the territory formerly included in the town. The statute requires the town boards to apportion the debts of the towns upon the property of the several towns, and if the town boards refuse to act the remedy is by mandamus against them to compel a compliance with the terms of the statute. People ex rel. McKenzie v. Board of Supervisors of Ulster County, 94 N. Y. 263. In this case the court said: "But for the statute, or some other provision of law, upon a division of the old town of Kingston, all the liabilities of that division or alteration mentioned in section thirty of this article, any of such towns may begin and maintain an action against the other town or towns to make and enforce such settlement. [Idem, § 33.]

The provisions of this article shall apply to towns heretofore and hereafter divided or altered. [Idem, § 34.]

town would have remained against the present town of Kingston; and it would have been entitled to all the property of the old town within its limits, and would have been obliged to discharge all its debts and obligations. Laramie County v. Albany County, 92 U. S. 307; Mount Pleasant v. Beckwith, 100 U. S. 514. Within the latter authority, if the old town of Kingston had been entirely blotted out, and its territory annexed to other towns; or if other towns had been carved out of it, and new municipalities had thus been formed, in the absence of any legislation providing for the payment of the debts of the old town, they would have devolved upon the new towns to be paid by them in equitable proportions. But here express provision of law is made as to the manner of discharging the obligations of the old town; and those provisions are, at least in the first instance, executive and must be pursued. Under them all the debts of the old town of Kingston are to be apportioned by the officers named, between the three towns of Ulster, Woodstock and Kingston, according to taxable property as the same existed immediately before the division, to be ascertained by the last assessment list of the town, which was the assessment list of 1879. The relator, therefore, has a plain remedy, which is by mandamus, to compel a meeting of the present officers of the three towns and a discharge by them of the duties devolved upon them by the statute."

CHAPTER XIX.

TOWN MEETINGS.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

Town Meetings Generally.

The present law has materially modified that ancient institution known as "the town meeting." In former days it was, as its name indicates, a meeting of the inhabitants of a town to consider town affairs and elect town officers. It was not then subject to the same formalities as at the present time. The persons present at such meeting frequently discussed town enterprises, and passed by resolution, adopted without a ballot, upon many important questions. This power of voting viva voce upon town questions still remains, but it is infrequently exercised. Town meetings are now most commonly held at the time of general elections, in the same election districts and subject to the same general conditions as such elections. Where town meetings are so held the provisions of the Election Law, relative to nominations, ballots and canvassing are generally applicable.

Time and Place of Holding Town Meetings.

Town meetings were formerly held annually. But since 1897 (L. 1897, ch. 481) they have been held biennially, in most counties in each odd-numbered year. Unless otherwise provided by boards of supervisors such meetings are held on the second Tuesday of February. Such boards may fix a different time for holding such meetings; at any time between February 1 and May 1, or on general election day. It is also provided that a town may change the time of holding town meetings to general election day by adopting a proposition therefor at a regular town meeting.

The place of holding town meeting not held at the time of general elections may be determined by vote of a biennial town meeting. Such town meetings may be held in election districts, when so voted by the electors of the town at a biennial or special town meeting. Unless it has been so voted, town meetings are to be held in one place. Where town meetings are held in election districts, the votes cast are to be canvassed by the justices of the peace and the town clerk on the day following the town meeting. (See Town Law, § 65.)

Explanatory note.

Special Town Meetings.

Special town meetings are held for purposes authorized by law, on the call of the town clerk. Applications therefor must be in writing addressed to the town clerk. Such applications must be signed by at least twenty-five taxpayers, or must be presented by a supervisor, superintendent of highways, or overseer of the poor. Notice of such town meeting must be given by the town clerk, by posting the same at least twenty days before the day of the meeting in at least four conspicuous places in the town, and by publication in at least two newspapers in the town; if only one is published in the town, publication must be made therein. If none are published in the town, the notices must be published in at least two newspapers in the county.

Adopting Propositions.

If a proposition requiring a vote by ballot is to be submitted at a town meeting, either biennial or special, application must be presented to the town clerk, either by taxpayers or town officers, stating the proposition proposed. The town clerk must give the notice required by law that such proposition is to be submitted. Ballots and ballot boxes must be provided by him for use in voting upon such proposition. The provisions of § 48 of the Town Law, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 79, apply to propositions voted upon at town meetings held at other times than on general election day. If the town meeting is held on general election day, the provisions of the Election Law, § 294, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 446, § 295, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 820, and L. 1914, ch. 244, § 316, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 649, and L. 1913, ch. 821, and § 332, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 821, relative to questions submitted at a general election, apply to such town meeting.

Conduct of Town Meetings.

If town meetings are held on general election day the regularly elected or appointed election officers conduct such meetings. If held on other days, the justices of the peace of the town must preside and see that such meetings are conducted according to law. The town clerk acts as clerk of such meeting and must keep minutes of the proceedings. A town meeting held at a time other than general election day is to continue open from the rising to the setting of the sun. Such meeting may be continued during the following day, and may be adjourned to a different place upon a vote of the meeting in favor thereof.

Qualifications of Electors.

Any person qualified to vote at a general election may vote for town officers. But he cannot vote upon a proposition for the raising of money, unless he or his wife is the owner of taxable property in the town. A woman, who is a resident of the town and of the required age, and is the owner of property assessed upon the last preceding assessment roll of the town, may vote upon a proposition to raise money by tax or assessment.

Powers of Town Meetings

The general powers of a biennial town meeting are prescribed by § 43, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 422, and L. 1917, ch. 44, of the Town Law. Other powers are conferred by other laws to which reference is made in the proper place.

SECTION 1. Time and place of biennial town meetings; board of supervisors may fix time; town meeting on general election day.
2. Town may change date of holding town meeting; submission of proposition therefor; certificate to be filed with town clerk and clerk of board of supervisors; terms of office.
3. Changing place of holding town meetings; not to apply to towns in counties where town meetings are held at time of general election.
4. General powers of biennial town meetings.
5. Power of town meeting to make appropriation for public monuments.
6. Special town meeting; for what purpose called; application therefor, made by whom.
7. Notices of town meetings; notice of special town meeting.
8. Notice of propositions to be determined by ballot; ballot boxes; form of ballot.
9. Presiding officers of town meetings; if no justice be present, person may be elected by electors.
10. Clerk of meetings.
11. Duration of town meetings.
12. Proclamation of opening and closing polls.
13. Qualification of voter at town meeting held at time of general election.
14. Qualification of elector at town meeting.
15. Qualification of elector to vote for site for town house.
16. When women qualified to vote.
17. Votes to expend over five hundred dollars to be by ballot, if less, by viva voce.
18. Ballots; electors in incorporated village, when not to vote on highway questions.
19. Transaction of business not requiring a ballot; when questions are to be submitted; how determined.
20. Challenges; provisions of election law applied.
21. Minutes of proceedings.
22. Canvass of votes; notification of officers elected.
23. Town meetings in election districts; may be held if regular election districts, or town board may divide town; applibation therefor.
24. Vote upon propositions not requiring a ballot; vote to be by division of electors present; inspectors to enter statement of results; notice of submission of proposition.
25. Town meetings held at the time of general election; canvass of votes.
26. Ballots at town meeting held at time of general election.
27. The use and purchase of voting machines.

§ 1. TIME AND PLACE OF BIENNIAL TOWN MEETINGS; BOARD OF SUPERVISORS MAY FIX TIME; TOWN MEETING ON GENERAL ELECTION DAY.

The electors of a town shall, biennially,[1] on the second Tuesday of

1. Biennial town meetings. Previous to the passage of chapter four

February, assemble and hold meetings at such place in the town as the electors thereof at their biennial town meeting shall, from time to time, appoint. If no place shall have been fixed for such meeting, the same shall be held at the place of the last town meeting in the town or election district, when town meetings of a town are held in election districts. The board of supervisors of any county may, by resolution, fix a time when the biennial town meetings in such county shall be held, which shall be either on some day between the first day of February and the first day of May, inclusive, or on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November of an odd numbered year.[2] [Town Law, § 40; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6140.]

hundred and eighty-one of the laws of 1897, town meetings were held annually. By that act a town meeting was to be held in each town in the spring of 1898, at which town officers were to be elected for terms of one year; and it was also provided that town meetings should be held in the year 1899 and biennially thereafter.

Place of holding town meetings. The place of holding a town meeting should be determined by motion or resolution, put in the usual form, upon fair notice to the electors. The result should be declared by the proper officer and entered on the minutes. Attorney-General's Opinion (1870), p. 450. The voting upon a question of where the town meeting shall be held may be by ballot, viva voce, or by ayes and nays. If by ballot no previous notice that the vote is to be taken is required. Attorney-General's Opinion (1855), p. 236.

Under a statute similar in all respects to this the Court of Appeals held that the qualified electors of a town at their town meeting, have power, after the regular organization of the meeting, to determine by vote that the meeting shall be continued at the place of such organization through a part of the day and then adjourned to some other place in the town, and there continued through the residue of the day. People ex rel. Simonson v. Martin, 5 N. Y. 22. This case was decided at the time when town meetings were much less formal in their character than at present, and it may well be doubted whether under the existing system a town meeting may be held at more than one place on the same day. See, also, People ex rel. Kniffin v. Tabor, 21 How. Pr. 42. But see Town Law, § 51, post.

Conduct of town meeting. Vote of electors is not invalid or irregular because the resolution was put to vote and adopted from the piazza of a hotel, to the voters outside, while the meeting and balloting was held inside the hotel; nor because the clerk of the board, under directions of presiding officers put the vote, and declared it carried. People ex rel. Kniffin v. Talor, 21 How. Pr. 42.

2. Town meetings on general election day. By chapter 363 of the laws of 1898, amending § 10 of the former Town Law, boards of supervisors were authorized to adopt a resolution fixing the time of holding biennial town meetings on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, that is, on general election day. A large number of counties have adopted such a resolution.

By chapter 30 of the laws of 1899, it was provided that: "The acts, resolutions and proceedings of boards of supervisors under the authority conferred by chapter 363 of the laws of 1898, changing the time of holding town meetings in their respective counties to the first Tuesday after the first Monday in

§ 2. TOWN MAY CHANGE DATE OF HOLDNG TOWN MEETING; SUBMISSION OF PROPOSITION THEREFOR; CERTIFICATE TO BE FILED WITH COUNTY CLERK AND CLERK OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS; TERMS OF OFFICE.

A town may change the date of its town meeting to the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, known as general election day, by adopting a proposition therefor at a regular town meeting. Such a proposition may be submitted by the town board on its own motion, and shall be submitted by such board on the written application of twenty-five taxable voters of the town. The proposition must be submitted, voted on, and the result canvassed as prescribed by section forty-eight. If it be adopted a certificate to that effect shall be filed by the town clerk within ten days thereafter in the office of the county clerk and also with the clerk of the board of supervisors. If the proposition be adopted the first town meeting shall be held on general election day in the next calendar year, and the terms of all officers, except justices of the peace and assessors, elected on the day of the adoption of the proposition shall expire on the day of such first meeting. Thereafter town meetings in such town shall be held biennially on general election day in the manner prescribed by this chapter, except that after five years from the first meeting, the town meeting may in like manner change from such general election day to any other day authorized by law. The term of office of all officers, except justices of the peace, in a town which under this section changes its town meeting to general election day, shall be two years from the date of their election, except that the term of an assessor elected on such day shall be for two or four

November, are hereby legalized, ratified and confirmed, and in such counties town meetings shall be held in the year 1899 only on that day." A similar act was passed in 1901. See L. 1901, ch. 32.

In the case of People ex rel Smith v. Schillein, 95 N. Y. 124, the question considered was whether a justice of the peace required by the constitution (art. 6, sec. 18), to be elected at "an annual town meeting," could, by an act of the legislature be elected at any other time than at a regular town meeting. The court held, without deciding the question as to whether the legislature could change the time of holding a town meeting to general election day, that if a regular town meeting was held in the spring, that the justices of the peace could not be elected at a general election.

Resolution of board of supervisors changing town meetings to general election day. A resolution of a board of supervisors which attempts to extend the terms of town officers elected at a town meeting is unauthorized. People ex rel. Smith v. Weeks, 176 N. Y. 194, affg. 87 N. Y. App. Div. 610, 84 N. Y. Supp. 16. But a resolution changing the time of holding the biennial town meeting from spring to fall is constitutional. People ex rel. Fluchiger v. Huftalen, 158 App. Div. 44. Where the time of the biennial meeting is changed from March to the general election day, town officers may not be elected at a town meeting in March, and such officers had no right to the offices, as against those who were in office at the time. The town officers then in office may hold until the vacancies caused by the expiration of their terms are filled by the town board, or by those elected at the biennial town meeting in November. People ex rel. Peckins v. Pelcher, 81 Misc. 423. The time of holding town meetings cannot be changed by the board of supervisors so as to extend the terms of the supervisors in office at the time of the adoption of the resolution. Rept. of Atty. Genl., Feb. 15, 1912. Board of supervisors has no power to fix the year in which biennial town meetings shall be held. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1900), 269. But in the case of Smith v. Farley, 155 App. Div. 813, 140 N. Y. Supp. 990; it was held that under the provision of this section that "The board of supervisors of any county may, by resolution, fix a time when the biennial town meetings in such county shall be held, which shall be either on some day between the first day of February and the first day of May, inclusive, or on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November of an odd numbered year," the board of supervisors of a county where town meetings have been held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November of the odd-numbered years may pass a resolution providing that thereafter the biennial town meetings of said county shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in March of an even-numbered year, and of the even-numbered years thereafter.

years, as the case may be, from the date of such election. [Town Law, § 41, as amended by L., 1910, ch. 271; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6141.]

§ 3. CHANGING PLACE OF HOLDING TOWN MEETINGS; NOT TO APPLY TO TOWNS IN COUNTIES WHERE TOWN MEETINGS ARE HELD AT TIME OF GENERAL ELECTION.

The electors of a town may, upon the application of fifteen electors therein, to be filed with the town clerk twenty days before a biennial town meeting is to be held, determine at such meeting, by ballot, where future town meetings shall be held. Where town meetings in any town are held in separate election districts, the electors of each district may, at a biennial town meeting, determine by resolution where its future town meetings shall be held. If any place so designated shall thereafter, and before the close of the next biennial town meeting, be destroyed, or for any reason become unfit for use, or cannot for any reason be used for such purpose, the town board shall forthwith designate some other suitable place for holding such town meeting in said town or election district, as the case may be. The provisions of this section shall not apply to towns in counties where the town meetings are held at the same time as general elections.[3] [Town Law, § 42; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6142.]

§ 4. GENERAL POWERS OF BIENNIAL TOWN MEETINGS.

The electors of each town may, at their biennial town meeting:

Provisions of town law relative to holding town meetings on general election day. Article 31 of the Town Law provides for the holding of annual town meetings and elections in the towns in the counties of Rockland, Orange and Sullivan.

Article 26 of the Town Law provides for holding of town meetings and elections in a county of the state having a population of over 150,000 and less than 160,000 inhabitants. This article only applies to the county of Onondaga.

Article 27 provides for the holding of town meetings and elections in a county of the state having a population of over 130,000 and less than 150,000 inhabitants. This article only applies to the county of Oneida.

Article 28 provides for the holding of town meetings in a county having a population of more than 120,000 and less than 130,000 inhabitants. This article applies only to the county of Rensselaer.

Article 25 provides for the holding of town meetings and elections in a county having a population of over 400,000 and less than 600,000 inhabitants. This article only applies to the county of Erie.

Article 29 provides for the holding of town meetings and elections in a county of the state having a population of over 71,000 and less than 75,000 inhabitants. This article applies only to the county of Niagara.

Article 30 provides for holding town meetings and elections in counties having a population of over 50,000 and less than 54,000 inhabitants. This article would seem to apply only to the county of Herkimer.

Article 31-a, as added by L. 1917, ch. 126 and amended by L. 1918, ch. 372, provides for holding town meetings and election of town officers in Nassau county.

Article 31-b, as added by L. 1918, ch. 319, provides for town meetings and terms of town officers in Suffolk county.

3. See, also, Note 1, ante, under section 40 of Town Law. This section applies to determining by electors of the town where future town meetings shall be held,

1. Determine what number of constables, not exceeding five, and pound-masters shall be chosen in their town for the then ensuing two years, except that in a town of a county containing two hundred thousand inhabitants or less, according to the last federal census or state enumeration, adjoining a city of the first class containing a population of over one million, the number of constables to be so determined shall not exceed four;[4] [Subd. amended by L. 1917, ch. 44.]

2. Elect such town officers as may be required to be chosen;[4a]

3. Direct the prosecution or defense of all actions and proceedings in which their town is interested, and the raising of such sum therefor as they may deem necessary;[5]

4. Take measures and give directions for the exercise of their corporate powers;

4. Number of constables. If a town meeting has duly fixed the number of constables, votes cast for more candidates than the number limited are wholly void. People v. Loomis, 8 Wend. 396.

The determination of the number must be by formal resolution (People v. Adams, 9 Wend. 333), although, of course, such resolution is not required to be voted on by ballot. See, also, People ex rel. Planter v. Jones, 17 Wend. 81.

4a. Justices of the peace may only be elected at the biennial town meetings prescribed by statute. People ex rel. Lyon v. Wallin, 141 App. Div. 34, 125 N. Y. Supp. 613.

5. Prosecution of actions and proceedings. Where cause of action exists in behalf of a town, and no officer is by statute authorized to prosecute for such cause of action, the town meeting may direct such an action to be brought, and may appoint an agent to prosecute it; but such suit must be brought in the name of the town. Cornell v. Town of Guilford, 1 Den. 510. In this case the electors of a town at a town meeting directed the commissioners of highways to prosecute a turnpike company for entering upon and taking possession of a public highway and bridge in that town, and the commissioners accordingly brought suit for that cause of action in their own name, and failing to succeed, judgment was rendered against them. It was held that such commissioners could not sustain an action against the town for reimbursement for their costs and expenses, and for costs recovered against them in the suit. The resolution in this case would have been valid if it had authorized the commissioners to prosecute a suit against the turnpike company in the name of the town.

A resolution directing the prosecution of actions and proceedings should be formally drawn up and submitted to the electors of the town and be duly entered upon the minutes kept by the clerk of the town meeting. Town of Lyons v. Cole, 3 T. & C. 431; Denton v. Jackson, 2 Johns. Ch. 336. In the former case it appeared that a town resolution was adopted authorizing the supervisors to bring an action to restrain commissioners appointed for the issue of town bonds, from disposing of the bonds until the rights of the town were protected; the supervisor employed attorneys who, with his consent, brought an action in the name of the town against the commissioners, attacking their authority to issue the bonds, and asking judgment that the issue be declared void. It was held void; that the action was unauthorized by the resolution and that the defendant's motion to dismiss the complaint and stay the proceedings should be granted.

In the case of Town of Delhi v. Graham, 3 Hun, 407; 6 T. & C. 49, the fact that an action had been brought in behalf of the town was announced at a town meeting and received without objection; it was held that a motion by the defendant for a stay of proceedings on the ground that the use of the name of the town was unauthorized should be denied, since there had been no fraudulent use of the name although the action was not formally brought.

5. Make provisions and allow rewards for the destruction of noxious weeds and animals, as they may deem necessary, and raise money therefor; [6]

It is not necessary, in an action brought pursuant to the authority granted by a town meeting, to aver in the complaint and prove on the trial that action had been taken by a town meeting authorizing the prosecution of the suit, in order to entitle a town to recover upon a cause of action shown to exist in its favor. Town of Fort Covington v. U. S. & Canada R. R. Co., 1 App. Div. 223; 40 N. Y. Supp. 313; affd. 156 N. Y. 702. The court remarked in this case that: "If the defendants had any advantage, arising from such an omission, and wished to secure it, they should have moved to dismiss the action on that ground. It is not in my judgment one of the issues to be tried in the action. Whether plaintiffs have legal authority to sue can only be presented on motion."

Power of town to borrow money to pay expenses of actions. An action having been commenced by certain taxpayers to restrain the enforcement of certain town bonds and to have the law under which they were issued adjudged unconstitutional, a resolution was adopted at an annual town meeting authorizing the supervisor of the town, on consent of the plaintiffs in said action, to assume control thereof, prosecute it to a final determination and pay all the expenses; and for that purpose to borrow on the credit of the town all needed sums of money. A supervisor acting in accordance with the resolution, borrowed money on the credit of the town, giving its notes therefor, which money was used for the purpose specified. In an action upon the notes it was held that, assuming the electors of the town had power to authorize its supervisor to take control of the pending action; also, that it might be treated as if commenced in the name of the town or its supervisor, and that such electors had power to direct money to be raised for prosecuting that action, still the action upon the notes was not maintainable. Wells v. Town of Salina, 119 N. Y. 280; 23 N. E. 870. This case was decided entirely upon the question of the authority of a town to borrow money upon credit to meet town charges. Judge Earl said in his opinion in this case: "It is the policy of the laws that town charges shall be met by annually recurring taxation, and thus extravagance and improvidence are in some degree checked, as those who create town charges or are the taxpayers when they arise, must bear the burden of taxation to meet them. It is quite easy for the taxpayers of to-day to create a debt which they are not to feel and which the taxpayers of the future are to discharge. The system of laws relating to towns requires that all bills for moneys expended or materials furnished or services rendered to the town shall be verified and presented to the board of town auditors and audited by them, and then enforced by warrants of the boards of supervisors against the taxpayers of the town. This whole system would be subverted if towns could borrow money upon credit to meet town charges. Then the money would have to be repaid whether the town had had the benefit thereof or not, and the wise provisions of the statutes to secure economy and safety by the audit of accounts would be entirely frustrated."

6. Noxious weeds. Under sec. 12, sub. 7, of the County Law, ante, boards of supervisors are authorized to make such laws and regulations as they may deem necessary for the destruction of wild and noxious animals and weeds within the county. It is the duty of the superintendent of highways to

6. Establish and maintain pounds at such places within their town as may be convenient;[7]

7. Direct public nuisances in their town, affecting the security of life and health, to be changed, abated or removed and raise a sum of money sufficient to pay the expense thereof;[8]

8. Make from time to time such prudential rules and regulations as they may think proper, for the better improving of all lands owned by their town, in its corporate capacity, whether common or otherwise; for maintaining and amending partition or other fences around or within the same, and directing the time and manner of using such land;[9] cause noxious weeds within the bounds of the highways to be cut down or destroyed twice in each year. See Highway Law, sec. 47, sub. 7, post. It is made the duty of owners or occupants of lands adjoining highways to cut noxious weeds, brier and brush growing upon the lands within the bounds of the highway twice in each year. See Highway Law, secs. 54, 55, post.

7. Pounds. As to the erection of pounds and the appointment or election of pound masters, see Town Law, secs. 410, 411, post.

8. Public nuisances. A public nuisance as a crime is defined by section 1592 of the Penal Law. Public nuisances which are detrimental to the public health are within the jurisdiction of the local board of health and are abated or removed subject to the provisions of the Public Health Law, secs. 31–37, post. See Boyce's Health Officers' Manual, pp. 28–29. The whole subject of abatement of public nuisances affecting public health is included within the provisions of these sections of the Public Health Law, and the jurisdiction of the town board of health is sufficiently extensive to provide for all cases which may arise. It is therefore seldom that a town meeting will be called upon to direct the abatement of public nuisances.

9. Town lands. It is a settled rule of the common law that a community not incorporated cannot purchase and take lands in succession. Hornbeck v. Westbrook, 9 Johns. 73; but in the case of Vail v. L. I. R. R. Co., 106 N. Y. 283; 12 N. E. 607, holding that the acquisition by a town of a fee in land for highway purposes by voluntary grant is within the powers conferred upon it by statute. It is possible that the provisions of section 2 of the Town Law (ante), to the effect that a town is a municipal corporation, would modify the common law rule and authorize an acquisition of lands by towns for legitimate town purposes.

Questions have arisen in certain towns, especially those erected on Long Island as to the rights of towns in respect to lands deeded to them under colonial grants. The title to common lands held by a town under colonial grants is in the town as a corporation and is subject only to the trust for public use. People v. N. Y. & Manhattan Beach Ry. Co., 84 N. Y. 565. In the case of Lawrence v. Town of Hempstead, 155 N. Y. 297; 49 N. E. 868, this whole question was thoroughly considered and it was held that the colonial patents to the town of Hempstead vested the ownership in that town in its corporate capacity, and not in the patentee's name in the grant nor in the inhabitants of the town. It is stated in this case that the early mode of dividing such lands among the patentees, or their associates or successors was by the "fencing order." This division when duly made at a town meeting was held to operate as a valid source of title and the court intimated that it is too late after the lapse of two hundred and fifty years to criticise, on account of the absence of legal forms, transfers on which the titles of great communities are based.

In the case of People ex rel. Averill v. Works, 7 Wend. 486, it was held that electors could at a town meeting adopt regulations for the improvement of town lands. As to trespass on town lands, see Foster v. Rhoades, 19 Johns. 191; Emans v. Turnbull, 2 Johns. 313.

10. Sufficiency of fences. The electors of each town have, under the above section of the Town Law, the power at their biennial town meeting to make rules and regulations for ascertaining the sufficiency of all fences in the town. When the sufficiency of a fence shall come in question in any suit, it shall be presumed to have been sufficient until the contrary is established. Railroad corporations are required under the Railroad Law to erect and maintain fences on the sides of their road of the height and strength sufficient to prevent cattle, horses, etc., from going upon the road from the adjacent lands. Railroad Law, sec. 52, as amended by L. 1915, ch. 281.

In the case of Leyden v. N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R. Co., 55 Hun, 114, it was held that in the absence of action by a town meeting establishing the height and strength of division fences it was competent to show in a town what the height and strength of such fences generally were, and the court, also, in this case, held that although the fence erected by the railroad corporation was in the first instance higher and stronger than was necessary, that if it permits a portion of such a fence to be broken down and cattle escape through the same upon the railway lands, the company is liable for damages done to such cattle. As to the erection and maintenance of division fences of owners of lands, see Town Law, secs. 360–369, post. Section 367 of the Town Law provides that: "Whenever the electors of any town shall have made any rule or regulation prescribing what shall be deemed a sufficient division fence in such town, any person who shall thereafter neglect to keep a fence according to such rule or regulation, shall be precluded from recovering compensation for damages done by any beast lawfully kept upon the adjoining lands that may enter therefrom on any lands of such person, not fenced in conformity to the said rule or regulation, through any such defective fence."

Where the electors of the town at a regular town meeting, prescribe or determine what shall be a sufficient lawful fence in their town, no person can maintain an action for the trespass committed by cattle which enter the plaintiff's land through a fence which is not sufficient according to the rule prescribed at such town meeting. Griffin v. Martin, 7 Barb. 297; Hardenburgh v Lockwood, 25 Barb. 9.

10. In towns bound to support their own poor, direct such sums to be raised, as they may deem necessary for such purpose, and to defray any charges that may exist against the overseers of the poor in their town;[11]

11. Determine any other question lawfully submitted to them;

12. Direct the sale and conveyance by the supervisor in the name of the town of property owned by it.[11a]

13. Make provisions for recopying, binding and indexing, or either thereof, the public records of the town from and to such dates as may be determined, and the raising of such sums therefor as may be deemed necessary. [Subd. added by L. 1909, ch. 422, in effect May 21, 1909.]

Every order or direction, and all rules and regulations made by any town meeting, shall remain in force until the same shall be altered or repealed at some subsequent town meeting. [Town Law, § 43; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6142.]

§ 5. POWER OF TOWN MEETING TO MAKE APPROPRIATION FOR PUBLIC MONUMENTS.

It shall be competent for electors of any town, at any regular town meeting at any regular election to vote any sum of money, to be designated by a majority of all the electors voting at such town meeting or election, for the purposes of erecting a public monument within such town in memory of the soldiers of such town or in commemoration of any public person or event; but no debt shall be created nor shall any tax be imposed on any town for such purpose unless the same shall have been voted for by a majority of the legal voters of the town affected, voting at such election. The board of supervisors may legalize the vote of any town for such purpose, and after such vote they may raise or authorize the specified sum or sums of money to be raised for such purpose in any of the modes provided for by law for raising money for towns. All moneys expended by any town for the purposes authorized by this section shall be expended under the direction of the supervisor, town clerk and justices of the peace of such town or a majority of them or by a commissioner or commisisoners for that purpose appointed by such town officers or by a majority of them. But nothing in this section shall affect the right of the electors to vote on a proposition heretofore directed to be submitted by a board of supervisors, herd v. Hees, 12 Johns. 433; Holliday v. Marsh, 3 Wend. 142; Wells v. Howell, 19 Johns. 385.

11. Support of poor. If the proposition to raise money for the support of the poor calls for an amount exceeding $500 it must be voted upon by ballot. (Town Law, sec. 57, ante.) The expenditure of money for the relief of the poor is treated in a subsequent chapter. See chs. 38, 39, post.

11a. A proposition to direct a sale and conveyance of town property may be passed upon at a special town meeting, provided it was not acted upon at the last preceding biennial town meeting. When, however, such a proposition is once submitted and passed upon at a town meeting, it may not be again submitted until the succeeding biennial meeting. Rept. of Atty. Genl., Jan. 31, 1912.

or the power of a board of supervisors to carry into effect the vote upon such proposition. [Town Law, § 45; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6145.]

Except as herein set forth special town meetings shall also be held whenever twenty-five taxpayers upon the last town assessment-roll shall, by written application addressed to the town clerk, require a special town meeting to be called, for the purpose of raising money for the support of the poor; or to vote upon the question of raising and appropriating money for the construction and maintenance of any bridges which the town may be authorized by law to erect or maintain; or for the purpose of determining in regard to the prosecution or defense of actions, or the raising of money therefor; or to vote upon any proposition which might have been determined by the electors of the town at the last biennial town meeting, but was not acted upon thereat; or to vote upon or determine any question, proposition or resolution which may lawfully be voted upon or determined at a special town meeting,[12] except that in

12. Purpose for which special town meetings may be called. Only such questions or propositions can be voted upon at a special town meeting as are specified in the statute. People v. Works, 7 Wend. 486. In the case of Berlin Iron Bridge Company v. Wagner, 57 Hun, 346; 10 N. Y. Supp. 840, it appeared that a special town meeting was duly called for the purpose of voting upon a resolution to raise and appropriate money for the construction and maintenance of an iron bridge. This resolution was voted upon by the electors of the town by ballot and adopted by a majority vote. A resolution was further submitted to the electors of the town and voted upon by viva voce vote authorizing an application to the board of supervisors for the appointment of a commission to build such bridge. It was held that the special town meeting had no authority to authorize the appointment of such commissioners, and that an act of the board of supervisors providing for such appointment was invalid. The special town meeting was called under the provisions of the statute as it existed prior to the passage of the Town Law, and such statute did not authorize the calling of a special town meeting to secure the appointment of commissioners to construct a bridge. Such statute only authorizes a vote upon the question of raising and appropriating money for the construction and maintenance of a bridge.

The provisions of the above section permitting special town meetings to vote on the question of raising and appropriating moneys for the construction and maintenance of bridges does not abolish the limitation as to the amount to be raised by immediate taxation; it simply authorizes necessary sums to be raised which, prior to the passage of the act of 1886, chapter 259, from which the above section was derived, could only have been authorized at a regular town meeting. The provision contained in such section, limiting the authority to the special meeting "called for the purpose," simply requires a meeting called for the purpose of considering and deciding the question of erecting or repairing the bridge, and so it is not necessary that the call should state that it is for the purpose of borrowing money. Berge v. Berlin Bridge Company, 133 N. Y. 477; 31 N. E. 609.

In the case of Town of Kirkwood v. Newburg, 45 Hun 323, a similar resolution adopted by a special town meeting was under consideration. The resolution was not challenged on the ground of the want of authority of the special town meeting, and it would seem that the town meeting was in that case called under a different statute. If it is desired to provide for the appointment of commissioners to superintend the construction of a bridge, it is possible that an application may be made to the board of supervisors for the passage of an act therefor under the provisions of section 69 of the County Law. In case the board of supervisors has authority to act in a given case, it is presumed that they would be authorized to appoint commissioners to superintend the construction of a bridge. Berlin Iron Bridge Company v. Wagner, supra.

towns having an assessed valuation of ten million dollars or more, located within a county adjoining a city of the first class, propositions above specified shall be submitted on an application of taxpayers of such town, at a regular or special town meeting, only upon the application of at least one hundred taxpayers for the first ten million dollars of assessed valuation and by at least one hundred taxpayers for each additional ten million dollars of assessed valuation or major fraction thereof. Special town meetings may also be held upon the like application of the supervisor, commissioners of highways or overseers of the poor, to determine questions pertaining to their respective duties as such officers, and which the electors of a town have a right to determine. An application and notice heretofore made and given for a special town meeting to be hereafter held for a purpose not heretofore authorized by law, but now authorized by law, shall be as valid and of the same force and effect as if such purpose had been authorized by law at the time of such application and notice. All special town meetings in towns in which the regular biennial town meetings are held at the time of the general election may be held in any such town at one polling place therein, as near to the geographical center of the town as practicable, to be fixed by the town board, and shall be conducted by the justices of the peace and town clerk, the latter to act as clerk of such meeting. A resolution fixing such place shall remain in force in respect to subsequent special town meetings until abrogated by a like resolution changing such polling place. [Town Law, § 46, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 188, and L. 1916, ch. 341; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6145.]

§ 7. NOTICES OF TOWN MEETINGS; NOTICE OF SPECIAL TOWN MEETINGS.

No previous notice need be given of the biennial town meetings; but the town clerk shall, at least twenty days before the holding of any special town meeting cause notice thereof, under his hand, to be posted conspicuously in at least four of the most public places in the town and to be published once in each week for two consecutive weeks immediately prior to such special town meeting in two newspapers published in such town; if there be but one newspaper published in such town then in such news-

When the proceedings of the special town meeting called to consider the propriety of instituting and defining certain statutes and to raise money therefor were regular and authorized the relator to begin certain actions, the expenses incurred by him therefor are a valid claim against the town, and if the town board neglect or refuse to audit, the proper remedy is by mandamus to compel such audit. People ex rel. Wells v. Board of Audit, 4 Hun, 94. A town meeting has no power to discontinue a highway once established. That can be done only by the intervention of the authorities and according to the procedure pointed out in the statute, and a town meeting is no part thereof. Hughes v. Bingham, 135 N. Y. 347; 32 N. E. 78.

Prosecution or defense of actions. The provision that special town meetings may be held "for the purpose of determining in regard to the prosecution or defense of actions" is permissive, and the town board has implied authority to authorize the prosecution of an action by the town. Town of Hempstead v. Lawrence, 138 App. Div. 473, 122 N. Y. Supp. 1037.

paper and in the newspaper, published in the county, having the largest circulation in such town or if there be no newspaper published in such town then in the two newspapers published in the county, having the largest circulation in such town; which notices shall specify the time, place and purposes of the meeting.[13] [Town Law, § 47; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p 6146.]

§ 8. NOTICE OF PROPOSITIONS TO BE DETERMINED BY BALLOT; BALLOT-BOXES; FORM OF BALLOTS.

No proposition or other matter than the election of officers shall be voted upon by ballot at any town meeting, unless the town officers or at least twenty-five taxpayers upon the last preceding town assessment roll whose signatures shall be acknowledged in the same manner as a deed to be recorded, and in towns with a population of more than ten thousand inhabitants as appears by the last federal census, at least fifty taxpayers upon the last preceding town assessment roll whose signatures shall be acknowledged in like manner, shall, at least twenty days before the town meeting, file with the town clerk a written application, plainly stating the question they desire to have voted upon, and requesting a vote thereon at such town meeting; provided, however, that in a town having less than fifteen hundred inhabitants, such application shall be sufficient if so signed and acknowledged by ten per centum of such taxpayers, but nothing herein contained shall require the signatures of over twenty-five taxpayers in such town. When town officers, as such, make the application for a vote to raise money for purposes pertaining to their duties, they shall file with their application a statement of their account to date, with the facts and circumstances which, in their opinion, make the appropriation applied for necessary, and their estimation of the sum necessary for the purpose stated, which statement may be examined by any elector of the town, and shall be publicly read by the town clerk at the meeting when and where the vote is taken, at the request of any elector. Submission of propositions under Liquor Tax Law. A special town meeting is not in any sense "a town election" at which propositions can be submitted to the electors of the town to determine the question whether liquors shall be sold therein. In the case of People ex rel. Thomas v. Sackett, 15 App. Div. 290, 293; 44 N. Y. Supp. 593, the court said: "Under section 16 of the Liquor Tax Law the meeting therein referred to is the one at which a town election for officers may be held; one at which official ballots are required to be used, and for which it is made the duty of the town clerk to prepare such ballots at a fixed and stated time. The annual town meeting is the only one to which these provisions are applicable.

Legalizing acts of town meetings. It is provided in the County Law, sec. 15, ante, that the board of supervisors may "by two-thirds vote of all its members, legalize the informal acts of any town meeting or village election within such county, etc."

Application. The application under this section for a special town meeting must be addressed to the town clerk and should be subscribed by at least twenty-five taxpayers whose names appear upon the last preceding town assessment-roll; or such application may be made by either of the town officers mentioned in the above section. For the form of such application, see Form No. 14, post.

town clerk shall, at the expense of his town, give at least ten days' notice, posted conspicuously in at least four of the most public places in the town, of any such proposed question, and that a vote will be taken by ballot at the town meeting mentioned.[14] He shall also, at the expense

Forms of ballot; ballot boxes. The form of ballots for questions submitted is prescribed by section 332 of the Election Law, post. See Jewett's Election Manual, 1918. By the provisions of this section town propositions for raising or appropriating money for town purposes are to be separate from all other ballots for the submission of other propositions or questions to the electors of the town to be voted upon at the same town meeting or election. This provision applies to town meetings held at the same time as general elections.

In the case of Matter of Larkin, 163 N. Y. 201; 57 N. E. 404, it was held in effect that the provisions of the Election Law do not apply to town meetings held at a time other than at the time of a general election, unless the Town Law in express terms applies such provisions. See, also, People ex rel. Guernsey v. Pierson, 35 Misc. 406. In view of this decision it may be that the above section of the Town Law would control the form of a ballot for the submission of a proposition, and that, therefore, a written ballot submitting a question at such a town meeting would be valid; but it would be the safer and better method, in preparing ballots for questions submitted, to conform to the requirements of the Election Law. Section 316 of the Election Law, post (see Jewett's Election Manual, 1918), provides for the furnishing of a separate ballot box for the reception of votes upon propositions, to be indorsed "Box for questions submitted."

Under the provision that boards of election shall provide ballots for all elections except those at town meetings held at times other than a general election, the exception has no application to a town meeting held at the same time as a general election, and ballots furnished for a local option election thereat are valid. Matter of Town of Bath (1916), 93 Misc. 575, 157 N. Y. Supp. 205.

Compliance with statute. It is very rarely that at a town meeting all of the requirements of the Election Law, Town Law, Liquor Tax Law, and other statutes relating to such election, are strictly complied with. These requirements are too numerous and intricate to expect exact compliance with every detail on the part of town officers. If an election could be set aside for every oversight, omission and mistake of the officers in charge, but few would stand. Unless it is shown that such mistake affected the result or tended to deprive someone of his legal rights, such election should not be disturbed. Matter of Town of Groton (1909), 63 Misc. 370, 118 N. Y. Supp. 417, affd. 134 App. Div. 991.

Submission of propositions under the Liquor Tax Law. This section of the Town Law is general and sweeping in its provisions, and was intended not only to apply to all propositions and questions which could be lawfully submitted to a town meeting at the time of the passage of such law, but also to other propositions that could thereafter be submitted by reason of subsequent enactments. People ex rel. Hovey v. Town Clerk, 26 Misc. 220, 222; 56 N. Y. Supp. 64. In this case the provisions of the above section were held to apply to a petition of town electors to request, under section 13 of the Liquor Tax Law, a resubmission to the electors at a town meeting of the question of local option, and that, therefore, unless the petition is filed with the town clerk at least twenty days before the town meeting, his refusal to print the ballots required for such resubmission is jusified, and action upon his part will not be compelled by mandamus.

In the case of Matter of Eggleston, 51 App. Div. 38; 64 N. Y. Supp. 471, it was of his town, provide a ballot box, properly labeled, briefly indicating the question to be voted upon, into which all ballots voted upon the ques-

held that a petition for the submission of a question under the local option provisions contained in section 13 of the Liquor Tax Law should be filed with the town clerk, notwithstanding the fact that such section of the Liquor Tax Law required such petition to be "filed twenty days before such town meeting with the officer charged with the duty of furnishing ballots for the election." The question in this case seems to have arisen because of the confusion which existed in the Election Law at that time as to the proper officer to provide ballots where town meetings were held at the time of general elections. This confusion has been removed by the provisions of former § 342 of the Election Law (Jewett's Election Manual, 1918), to the effect that if a town meeting is held on general election day ballots for town propositions shall be provided by the town clerk in the same form as at a town meeting held at any other time. The case last cited also holds that it is a duty of the town clerk to give notice of the submission of the questions relating to local option in the manner prescribed by the above section of the Town Law.

Effect of insufficient notice. The question of the effect of an insufficient notice upon the validity of the vote upon a proposition submitted at a town meeting has arisen in cases under the Liquor Tax Law. In the case of People ex rel. Crane v. Chandler, 41 App. Div. 178; 58 N. Y. Supp. 794, the notice was published but four days prior to the town meeting. It was contended that such notice ought to have been filed twenty days before the town meeting. The court held that a resubmission of the proposition was not necessary since it appeared that the electors of the town had notice of the intention to submit the questions and that they acted upon such notice and expressed their will in the mode prescribed by statute; and the court declared that there were no informalities sufficient to warrant it in saying that the conclusion reached by the electors was not sufficient. The court cited the case of People ex rel. Hirsh v. Wood, 148 N. Y. 142; 42 N. E. 536, in which the court said: "We can conceive of no principle which permits the disfranchisement of innocent voters for the mistake or even wilful misconduct of election officers in performing the duty cast upon them. The object of elections is to ascertain the popular will, and not to thwart it. The object of election laws is to secure the rights of duly qualified electors and not to defeat them. Statutory regulations are enacted to secure freedom of choice, and to prevent fraud." See, also, Matter of Clement, 29 Misc. 29; 60 N. Y. Supp. 328.

Sufficiency of application. The provisions of the above section of the Town Law were not complied with where it appears that a sufficient number of qualified persons signed a paper denominated a "resolution," which recited that a certain sum should be raised on the faith and credit of the town by an issue and sale of its bonds, and that the money raised and its interest should be charged upon the property of the town taxable therefor, for the purpose of grading and paving certain roads described in the resolution. The paper was not addressed to any person, body or officer, and did not state any question which the signers desired should be voted upon, nor did it request that any vote be taken thereon at a town meeting, and the signers, although taxpayers, were not described as such in the paper, all of which are necessary requirements under the statute. Town of Oyster Bay v. Harris, 21 App. Div. 227; 47 N. Y. Supp. 510.

tion indicated shall be deposited. He shall also prepare and have at the town meeting a sufficient number of written or printed ballots, both for and against the question to be voted upon, for the use of the electors. The vote shall be canvassed, the result determined and entered upon the minutes of the meeting, the same as votes given for town officers. [Town Law, § 48, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 79; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6146.]

§ 9. PRESIDING OFFICERS OF TOWN MEETINGS; IF NO JUSTICE BE PRESENT, PERSON MAY BE ELECTED BY ELECTORS.

The justices of the peace of each town shall attend every town meeting held therein, except where such town meetings are held at the time of the general elections, and such of them as shall be present shall preside at such meeting, and see that the same is orderly and regularly conducted, and shall have the like authority to preserve order, to enforce obedience and to commit for disorderly conduct, as is possessed by the board of inspectors at a general election.[15]

15. Constitutional provisions. The constitution provides that registration or election boards shall be bi-partisan, but this provisions does not apply to town meetings. (Constitution, art. 2, sec. 6.)

Maintenance of order. Under the provisions of this section the justices presiding at a town meeting have the same power to preserve order as inspectors of election at a general election. Section 315 of the Election Law (Jewett's Election Manual, 1918), provides that: "Such board and each individual member thereof shall have full authority to preserve peace and good order at such meetings, and around the polls of elections, and to keep the access thereto unobstructed, and to enforce obedience to their lawful commands. The said board may appoint one or more voters to communicate their orders and directions, and to assist in the performance of their duties in this section enjoined. If any person shall refuse to obey the lawful commands of the inspectors, or by disorderly conduct in their presence or hearing shall interrupt or disturb their proceedings, they shall make an order directing the sheriff or any constable of the county, or any peace or police officer to take the person so offending into custody and retain him until the registration of voters, or the canvass of the votes shall be completed, but such order shall not prohibit the person taken into custody from voting. Such order shall be executed by any sheriff, constable, peace or police officer, to whom the same shall be delivered, but if none shall be present, then by any other person deputed by such board in writing. The said board or any member thereof may order the arrest of any person, other than an election officer, violating or attempting to violate, any of the provisions of this chapter."

Any wilful disobedience of a lawful command of the board of inspectors or any member thereof, is a misdemeanor (Penal Law, § 764, sub. 17), and this provision, of course, applies to presiding officers at town meetings.

Inspectors have a right to keep order during the canvass of the votes, but they cannot under such a pretense turn out a peaceful and quiet citizen whose

If there be no justice of the peace at such meeting, then such person as shall be chosen for that purpose by the electors present shall preside and possess the like powers as justices; such person appointed shall take the constitutional oath of office before entering upon his duties as such presiding officer. presence does not interfere with the discharge of their duties. Horton v. Whistler, 4 N. Y. St. Rep. 810.

Delegation of authority. Justices of the peace cannot delegate their authority to other persons to act in their stead as presiding officers of town meetings. Rept. of Atty. Genl., March 27, 1911.

Acts of justices of the peace are ministerial and cannot be reviewed by certiorari. Justices of the peace while acting in the position of inspectors of election, are merely ministerial officers, and, although they may have allowed an assistant of the town clerk, who was not himself sworn as a clerk to keep the tally sheet and declare the result of the canvass, and have permitted other unauthorized persons to aid, under their direction and supervision in the distribution of tickets, and in the taking and counting of votes, the conduct of the justices in permitting such irregularities is not judicial action within the ordinary meaning of that term and cannot be reviewed by a writ of certiorari. People ex rel. Brooks v. Bush, 23 App. Div. 363; 48 N. Y. Supp. 13; citing Matter of Many, 10 App. Div. 451; 41 N. Y. Supp. 993. See, also, People ex rel. Van Sickle v. Austin, 20 App. Div. 1, 46 N. Y. Supp. 526, where it was held that an objection to the action of a town election board in not opening the polls at the proper time, could not be raised by a writ of certiorari to review the proceedings of such board.

In the case of People ex rel. Stapleton v. Bell, 119 N. Y. 175; 23 N. E. 533, the court in considering the question of the powers and duties of election boards said: "I think we cannot hold otherwise as to inspectors of election than that they are, under the provisions of the Election Law, made ministerial officers wholly, for their duties are pointed out by the law definitely. They are only officers to execute the law in a prescribed and definite way, and to whom no latitude is allowed when the proposed elector satisfies the statutory demands upon him for oaths and answers to certain questions. They are bound to an exact obedience of the particular commands which the law has laid upon them as its officers, and they may not act on their own opinions or knowledge. The duty of an inspector is discharged when he has required the challenged voter to submit to the tests prescribed. In support of the view that inspectors of election act ministerially and not judicially in holding elections and making returns, we have ample authority.

Town meetings in election districts or at a time of general elections. If the town meetings are held in election districts, elections are to be conducted by the inspectors of election thereof instead of the justices of the peace of the town (see Town Law, sec. 65, post), and it is also provided that if a biennial town meeting is held at the same time as a general election it shall be held in the election districts of the town, and be conducted by the inspectors of election thereof. See Town Law, sec. 67, post.

When town meetings governed by Election Law. Local elections at town meetings, not held at the same time as a general election, are governed by the Town Law, and the Election Law is not applicable to such elections except where it has been expressly made so by provisions of the Town Law. Matter of Larkin, 163 N. Y. 201; 57 N. E. 404.

§ 10. CLERK OF MEETINGS.

The town clerk last before elected or appointed, or, if he be absent, such person as shall be chosen by the electors present, shall be the clerk of such town meting, except when held at the time of a general election, and shall keep faithful minutes of its proceedings, in which he shall enter at length every order or direction, and all rules and regulations made by such meeting; such person chosen by the electors present shall take the constitutional oath of office before entering upon his duties as such clerk.[16] [Town Law, § 50; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6148.]

§ 11. DURATION OF TOWN MEETINGS.

Town meetings shall be kept open for the purposes of voting in the daytime only, between the rising and setting of the sun, and, if necessary, may be continued by a vote of the meeting during the next day, and no longer,[17] and be adjourned to another place not more than one-fourth of a mile from the place where it was appointed.[18] [Town Law, § 51; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6148.]

16. Duties of town clerk. The duties above imposed upon town clerks are similar in many respects to those of ballot and town clerks at general elections. If town meetings are held in election districts or at the time of a general election the duties of town clerks are to be performed by the regular election officers of the several districts.

17. Hours during which town meetings are to be kept open. The language of the provision of the present statute as to the time that town meetings shall be kept open for purposes of voting, is substantially no different than it was been for upwards of eighty years. It has never been construed so as to require polls of town meetings to be opened at sunrise or continuously kept open until sunset; but, on the contrary, it has been held that it is not necessary that a town meeting should be kept open through the whole time from sunrise to sunset. People ex rel. Simonson v. Martin, 5 N. Y. 22; Goodel v. Baker, 8 Cow. 386. It is sufficient if they are open from 9 to 12 A. M. and from 1 P. M. to sunset. People ex rel. Van Sickle v. Austin, 20 App. Div. 1, 46 N. Y. Supp. 526. In the case of People ex rel. Van Sickle v. Austin, 28 App. Div. 1; 46 N. Y. Supp. 526, it was held that a town meeting was not rendered illegal by the fact that the polls were not opened until nine o'clock in the forenoon, they continuing open, except for the noon hour, until sunset. In the case of People ex rel. Fisher v. Hasbrouck, 21 Misc. 188; 47 N. Y. Supp. 109, it was held that the fact that polls at the annual town meeting to which was submitted a proposition whether traffic in liquor should be permitted in the town were closed about an hour before sunset did not invalidate the votes cast at such town meeting upon such proposition.

18. Adjournment. Under the provisions of the revised laws of 1813 to the effect that no town meeting should be held longer than two days and should only be held open between sunrise and sunset, and should be held at such places in each town as the freeholders at their town meeting should from time

Town Law, §§ 52, 69, 53, 54.

§ 12. PROCLAMATION OF OPENING AND CLOSING POLLS.

Before the electors shall proceed to elect any town officer, proclamation shall be made of the opening of the polls, and proclamation shall in the like manner be made at each adjournment and of the opening and closing of the polls until the election be ended. [Town Law, § 52, B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6148.]

§ 13. QUALIFICATION OF VOTER AT TOWN MEETING HELD AT TIME OF GENERAL ELECTION.

At a town meeting held at the time of a general election no person shall be allowed to vote for candidates for town officers who is not registered and entitled to vote at such general election.[19] [Town Law, § 69; B. C. & G. Cons. L., 6156.]

§ 14. QUALIFICATION OF ELECTOR AT TOWN MEETING.

An elector of a town shall not be entitled to vote by ballot upon any proposition for the raising or appropriation of money, or the incurring of any town liability, unless he or his wife is the owner of property in the town, assessed to him or her upon the last preceding assessment-roll thereof.[19a] [Town Law, § 53, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 124; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6148.]

§ 15. QUALIFICATION OF ELECTOR TO VOTE FOR SITE FOR TOWN HOUSE.

An elector shall not be entitled to vote upon a proposition submitted for the purposes of section three hundred and forty of this chapter, unless he or his wife is the owner of property in the town assessed to him or her upon the last preceding assessment-roll thereof.[20] [Town Law, § 54, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 124; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6148.]

to time appoint, it was held that the electors of the town on the town meeting being opened had a right to adjourn the meeting to the next day to be held at another place; and that the electors were the exclusive judges of the necessity of the adjournment. Goodel v. Baker, 8 Cow. 286. See, also, People ex rel. Simonson v. Martin, 5 N. Y. 22, where it was held that the qualified electors of a town meeting may determine by vote,—after the regular organization of the meeting,—that the town meeting be continued at the place of such organization through a part of the day and then adjourn to some other place in the town and there continued through the residue of the day. The last clause of the above section expressly authorizes an adjournment of a town meeting.

19. This section was formerly part of § 12 of the Town Law. Under amendment of Constitution, Art. II, § 1 (1917), extending right of suffrage to women, all women have same qualification as men to vote at town meetings. They are qualified electors and entitled to hold town offices.

19a. Ownership of stock in a national bank, located in the town and assessed upon the last preceding assessment roll, is a sufficient property qualification. Rept. of Atty. Genl., May 31, 1911. But ownership of stock in a corporation, assessed upon the assessment-roll, does not qualify the stockholder to vote upon a proposition to raise money. Rept. of Atty. Genl., March 9, 1911.

The votes cast by unqualified electors on a proposition for the issuance of bonds will not affect the validity of the election unless it be established that sufficient number of such votes were cast and counted to change the result. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1909) 905.

A proposition for the sale and conveyance of town property can only be voted upon by taxpayers or the husbands of taxpayers. Rept. of Atty. Genl., Jan. 31, 1912.

20. This section was formerly part of Town Law, § 190, which relates to the erection of town houses. The remainder of such section is now § 340 of the Town Law, post.

§ 16. WHEN WOMEN QUALIFIED TO VOTE.

A woman who possesses the qualifications to vote for town officers, except the qualification of sex, and who is the owner of property in the town assessed to her upon the last preceding assessment-roll thereof, is entitled to vote upon a proposition to raise money by tax or assessment. [Town Law, § 55, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 124; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6149.]

§ 17. VOTES TO EXPEND OVER FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS TO BE BY BALLOT, IF LESS, BY VIVA VOCE.

All votes in town meetings upon any proposition to raise or appropriate money or incur any town liability exceeding five hundred dollars shall be by ballot; if five hundred dollars or less, may be viva voco, unless ballot is required by the law authorizing the expenditure.[21] [Town Law, § 57; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6149.]

§ 18. BALLOTS; ELECTORS IN INCORPORATED VILLAGE WHEN NOT TO VOTE ON HIGHWAY QUESTIONS.

When the electors vote by ballot, except in towns where the biennial town meetings are held at the time of general elections, all the officers voted for shall be named in one ballot, which shall contain written or printed, or partly written or partly printed, the names of the persons voted for, and the offices to which such persons are intending to be elected, and shall be delivered to the presiding officer so folded as to conceal the contents, and shall be deposited by such officers in a box to be constructed, kept and disposed of, as near as may be, in the manner prescribed in the election law.[22] [Town Law, § 58; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6150.]

21. Votes incurring liability exceeding five hundred dollars. A resolution authorizing the issuing of new bonds in place of those which have matured is a proposition to incur a town liability, and if the amount of such bonds exceeds the sum of $500, a resolution authorizing such issue is invalid unless voted upon by ballot. People ex rel. Read v. Town Auditors, 85 Hun, 114; 32 N. Y. Supp. 668.

A resolution submitted at a special town meeting requesting authority of the board of supervisors to borrow money for the construction of a bridge if incurring a liability exceeding $500 must be voted upon by ballot. Berlin Iron Bridge Co. v. Wagner, 57 Hun, 346; 10 N. Y. Supp. 840.

22. Ballots for town meetings under the Election Law. The provisions of this section relating to ballots containing the names of town officers to be voted for at town meetings not held at the same time as a general election, are probably superseded by the provisions of section 331 of the Election Law, as amended by L. 1914, chs. 87, 244, L. 1916, ch. 537, and L. 1918, ch. 323. Jewett's Election Manual 1918. Under section 341 as amended by L. 1911, ch. 649, L. 1913, ch. 821, and L. 1916, ch. 454, of the Election Law it is provided that ballots to be used at town meetings, not held on general election day, shall be furnished by the town clerk of the town.

Town Law, § 59.

When any town shall have within its limits an incorporated village, constituting a separate road district, exempt from the supervision and control of the commissioners of highways of the town, and from payment of any tax for the salary or fees of said commissioners, and from payment of any tax for the opening, erection, maintenance and repair of any highway or bridge of said town, without the limits of said village, no residents of such village shall vote at any biennial or special election in such town for any commissioner of highways for said town, nor for or against any appropriation for the opening, laying out, maintenance, erection or repair of any highway or bridge in said town, without the limits of said village. At the biennial elections in such towns, the names of candidates for the office of highway commissioner shall be printed on a different ballot from the one containing the names of candidates for other town offices. Such ballots shall be indorsed "commissioner of highways," and shall be deposited, when voted, in a separate ballot box, which also shall be marked "commissioner of highways." Such ballots and ballot box shall be furnished by the officers now charged by law with that duty at town elections.[23] [Town Law, § 59; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6150.]

§ 19. TRANSACTION OF BUSINESS NOT REQUIRING A BALLOT; WHEN QUESTIONS ARE TO BE SUBMITTED; HOW DETERMINED.

The business of the towns which requires a vote of the people otherwise than by ballot shall be commenced at twelve o'clock noon of the day of the Ballots are to be prepared from certificates of nominations, filed with the town clerk, as provided in sections 127 and 128, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 891, and L. 1913, ch. 820, of the Election Law. Jewett's Election Manual, 1918.

Nominations for town offices are to be made under the provisions of sections 120–126 of the Election Law. Jewett's Election Manual. The number of ballots is to be determined by section 340, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 820, of the Election Law (Jewett's Election Manual), and they are to be distributed as provided by section 343, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 537, of that law. A town clerk in the performance of his duties respecting the furnishing of official and sample ballots, instruction cards and stationery, must conform in all respects to the provisions of article 13 of the Election Law.

23. Separate ballots for highway commissioners and for propositions relating to highways and bridges in certain towns. The provisions of this section, relating to the separate ballots for the election of highway commissioners and for propositions for the appropriation of money for the construction and maintenance of highways and bridges, only apply to towns containing an incorporated village, which is, by the provisions of its charter or any other special law, exempted from taxation for all highway and bridge purposes within the town outside of the limits of such village. This provision was inserted in the above section to take care of some one or more villages which are so situated under the general law. The highways and bridges of a town are to be biennial town meeting and completed without adjournment. No question involving the expenditure of money shall be introduced after two o'clock in the afternoon of the same day. All questions upon motion made at town meetings shall be determined by the majority of the electors voting, and the officers presiding at such meeting shall ascertain and declare the result of the votes upon each question.[24] [Town Law, § 60; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6151.]

§ 20. CHALLENGES; PROVISIONS OF ELECTION LAW APPLIED.

If any person offering to vote at any town meeting or upon any question constructed and maintained by the whole town, and the property within an incorporated village is not exempted from taxation therefor. It is provided in the Village Law, section 141 (Cumming and Gilbert's Village Law, p. 113), that the village constitutes a separate highway district. This provision is for the purpose of conferring authority upon the village authorities to construct and maintain streets and highways within the village, and was not for the purpose of relieving the village from the construction and maintenance of town highways. It is probable that in a town containing a particular village, to which the provision of the above section referred to applies, that ballots for highway commissioners should be separate from the general town ballot. This is so because of the amendment to such section by ch. 363 of L. 1897 continuing such provision in force and superseding former section 81 of the Election Law as enacted by ch. 909 of the L., 1896.

Effect of provision of Highway Law exempting certain villages from taxation. Under section 99 of the Highway Law (post), providing for the raising of money by taxation for highway purposes, villages are exempt from any taxes imposed for the maintenance and repair of the highways lying outside of the villages. In the case of Matter of Shapter v. Carroll, 18 App. Div. 390, 392; 46 N. Y. Supp. 202, the above section was construed in connection with such section 99 of the Highway Law. The court said: "Such section 53 of the Highway Law (now § 99) does not relieve villages from assessments made for damages and charges for laying out or altering any road or creating or repairing a bridge in the town. Section 53 is general, and applies to every case where an incorporated village within a town may be a separate road district. Thus, from a certain class of public charges or expenses connected with the highways the villages are exempt, while to another class they are subject. A proper interpretation of ch. 262 of the Laws of 1895 (amending the above section of the Town Law) I think is required. It provides that when the village is exempt from the supervision and control of the commissioners of the highways of the town and from payment of any tax for the opening, erection, maintenance and repair of any highway or bridge of said town without the limits of said village, no residents of such village shall vote . . . for or against any appropriation, etc. The meaning of this is that no resident of the village shall vote on the subject of an appropriation when the village is exempt from liability for such appropriation, but it is only in case the village is so exempt that the residents of a village are not to vote."

Residents of an incorporated village are entitled to vote for superintendent of highways unless the village is incorporated under a special charter exempting property within its limits from all taxation for highway purposes. Rept. of Atty. Genl., Feb. 21, 1911. Electors of villages are entitled to vote on a proposition submitted at a special town meeting for the reconstruction and permanent improvement of highways without the boundaries of the villages but within the town in which they are situated. Opinion of Atty. Genl., Jan. 17, 1913.

24. Submission of resolution. In the case of People ex rel. Kniffin v. Tabor, arising at such town meeting shall be challenged as unqualified, the presiding officers shall proceed thereupon in the manner prescribed in the election law when challenges are made, which law, with its penalties, is made applicable thereto, and no person whose vote shall have been received upon such challenge shall be again challenged upon any other question arising at the same town meeting.[25] [Town Law, § 61; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6151.]

§ 21. MINUTES OF PROCEEDINGS.

The poll list and minutes of the proceedings of every town meeting, subscribed by the clerk of such meeting, and by the officers presiding, shall be filed in the office of the town clerk within two days after such meeting and there preserved. [Town Law, § 62; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6151.]

A poll-list shall be kept by the clerk of the town meeting referred to in sections fifty-eight and fifty-nine on which shall be entered the name of each person voting by ballot. [Town Law, § 63; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6151.]

§ 22. CANVASS OF VOTES; NOTIFICATION OF OFFICERS ELECTED.

At the close of the polls at any town meeting, the canvassers shall pro-

21 How. Pr. 42, it appeared that at a town meeting where the balloting was carried on in a room within a house and a resolution being proposed and drawn up in the presence of the presiding officers, by their direction the clerk proceeded outside of the building where most of the persons attending the town meeting were and, in the presence of one of the presiding officers, there put the motion, and it was by him or the presiding officer declared carried and no one made objection. It was held that the resolution was duly passed.

25. Provisions of Election Law to control challenges. The manner of challenging and the oath to be administered in such cases are prescribed by sections 361–364 of the Election Law (Jewett's Election Manual, 1918), and the provisions of such section are by the above section of the Town Law made applicable to challenges at town meetings.

Voters taking oath entitled to vote. Voters answering the questions put to them and taking the oath prescribed by law are entitled to vote, and under such circumstances election boards cannot refuse to accept the vote of an elector. See People v. Pease, 27 N. Y. 45; Goetcheus v. Matheson, 61 N. Y. 420; People ex rel. Sherwood v. Board of Canvassers, 129 N. Y. 372; 29 N. E. 345; Matter of Hamilton, 80 Hun, 511; 30 N. Y. Supp. 499.

In the case of People ex rel. Stapleton v. Bell, 119 N. Y. 175; 23 N. E. 533, it was held that a board of inspectors of election has no discretionary power to reject the vote of a person who, upon the application of the statutory test, has shown himself to be a qualified voter; and that the lawfulness of the vote cannot be determined until it has been received; and that the elector's right cannot be annuled without a trial.

ceed to canvass the votes publicly at the place where the meeting was held. Before the ballots are opened they shall be counted and compared with the poll-list, and the like proceedings shall be had as to ballots folded together, and difference in number, as are prescribed in the election law. The void and protested ballots, and the voted ballots other than void and protested, shall be preserved and disposed of by the inspectors in the manner provided by sections three hundred and seventy-three and three hundred and seventy-four of the election law.[26] The result of the canvass shall be read by the clerk to the persons there assembled, which shall be notice of the election to all voters upon the poll-list. The clerk shall also enter the result at length in the minutes of the proceedings of the meeting kept by him, and shall, within ten days thereafter, transmit to any person elected to a town office, whose name is not on the poll-list as a voter, a notice of his election.[27] [Town Law, § 64, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 240; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6152.]

§ 23. TOWN MEETINGS IN ELECTION DISTRICTS; MAY BE HELD IN REGULAR ELECTION DISTRICTS, OR TOWN BOARD MAY DIVIDE THE TOWN; APPLICATION THEREFOR.

The electors of a town may determine by ballot at a biennial or special town meeting on the written application of twenty-five electors, that town

26. Disposition of rejected ballots. The provisions of this section require inspectors or the officers presiding at a town meeting to preserve and dispose of the void and protested ballots in the manner provided by section 373, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 821, of the Election Law.

In the case of People ex rel. Maxim v. Ward, 62 App. Div. 531, 71 N. Y. Supp. 76, it was held that canvassers of the ballots cast at a town meeting could be compelled by mandamus to indorse upon each rejected ballot the reason for such rejection, and to place such ballots in a separate sealed package, and to indorse the package with their names and the number of ballots contained therein, as directed by section 373 of the Election Law.

27. Application of provisions of Election Law to canvass. In the case of Matter of Larkin, 163 N. Y. 201, 57 N. E. 404, it was in effect held that the provisions of this section were to control inspectors at town meetings not held at the same time as a general election in the performance of their duties, and that in making a canvass of the votes cast the provisions of the Election Law did not apply except as expressly provided in the section.

In the case of People ex rel. Guernsey v. Pierson, 35 Misc. 406, 71 N. Y. Supp. 993, it was held that town elections are governed generally by the Town Law and not by the Election Law.

The provisions of this section, that "The void and protested ballots, and the voted ballots other than void and protested, shall be preserved and disposed of by the inspectors, in the manner provided by section one hundred and eleven of the Election Law," does not operate to give the right of review under the provisions of section 381 of the Election Law, save where the town election is held at the same time as the general election in the fall of the year. Matter of Baldwin (1913), 80 Misc. 263.

Statement of result. It is intended by the statute that the statement read by the clerk of the result of the canvass shall be a sufficient certificate and evidence of the election. Matter of Baker, 11 How. Pr. 418; Matter of Case v. Campbel, 16 Abb. N. C. 270.

Statement of the result of the canvass, under the Election Law, must be meetings shall thereafter be held in the several election districts of their town, to be therein conducted by the inspectors of election thereof, instead of the justices of the peace of the town; or may authorize the town board to divide such town into two or more joint election districts, as provided in this section.[28] The town board of any town which has been authorized may divide such town into two or more joint election districts, for the purpose of holding town meetings therein, but such districts shall be constituted by combining the election districts in such town. If the town board of any town shall divide such town into joint election districts in pursuance of this section, such board shall select from the inspectors of election for such town four inspectors residing therein, not more than two of whom shall belong to the same political party, for each of such election districts as so constituted. If a town shall hold its town meeting in more than one district, the inspectors of each of such districts shall appoint one poll clerk, and in the conduct of such meetings they shall have the same powers and duties as the justices of the peace and town clerk have at the biennial town meetings presided over by them. No town officer shall be required to make or render any report, statement or abstract at a town meeting when held in separate or joint election districts. At the close of the polls, the inspectors shall forthwith publicly canvass the ballots cast, and, without postponement or adjournment, make a full and true statement of the whole number so cast for each and every candidate for an office balloted for, and of the whole number of votes for and against every question or proposition voted upon at such town meeting. The void and protested ballots, and the voted ballots other than void and protested, shall be preserved and disposed of by the inspectors in the manner provided by section three hundred and fifty-three of the election law. Such statement signed by the four justices, they certifying at the end that "the foregoing statement is correct." People ex rel. Leonard v. Hamilton, 27 Misc. 308, 312, 58 N. Y. Supp. 584, affd. in 42 App. Div. 212, 59 N. Y. Supp. 943.

Count and canvass may be compelled. When inspectors of election fail to count and canvass the ballots and the town clerk has not entered the result upon his minutes, the inspectors and clerks may be compelled by mandamus to convene and discharge their statutory duties. People ex rel. Sturtevant v. Armstrong, 116 App. Div. 103, 101 N. Y. Supp. 712.

28. Application and submission of proposition. The application for the submission of a proposition under this section must be written and signed by at least twenty-five electors of the town. Such application must be filed with the town clerk at least twenty days before the town meeting, and must plainly and definitely state the question to be voted upon and must request that a vote be taken at a specified town meeting. See section 48 of the Town Law, ante. The proposition is to be submitted in the same manner as other town propositions. For form of application for holding town meeting in election districts, see Form No. 18, post.

shall be made in the same form as statements by such inspectors of the votes cast at general elections, and shall be signed by the inspectors and delivered by one of their unmber, selected by them, for that purpose, to the justices of the peace and town clerk of the town, who shall convene and receive the same at the office of the town clerk, on the day next following the town meeting, at ten o'clock in the forenoon. Such justices and clerk shall then and there recanvass such votes from the statements of the inspectors of the several separate or joint election districts so delivered to them, and thereupon appoint in writing the inspectors of election, and read and enter the results in the same manner as required of them at the close of the canvass of a town meeting presided over by them.[29] When the electors of a town have determined to hold their town meetings in separate or joint districts, they may again, upon the written application of twenty-five electors, at a biennial town meeting, determine by ballot to return to the former system of holding but one poll at their town meetings, and thereupon their town meetings shall be held at but one polling place in said town, but such changes shall not be made oftener than once in five years. [Town Law, § 65; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6153.]

Any proposition to be submitted to and voted upon by the electors of a town at any town meeting, which is not required to be voted upon by ballot,

29. Canvass of votes by justices of the peace and town clerk. Where town meetings are held in election districts, under the provisions of this section, the justices of the peace and town clerk are required to meet on the day following the town meeting, at the office of the town clerk, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and recanvass the votes on the statements returned by the inspectors of the several districts. Such justices and town clerk are required to read and enter the results in the manner required when town meetings are not held in election districts. In the case of People ex rel. Guernsey v. Pierson, 35 Misc. 406; 75 N. Y. Supp. 993, aff'd. 64 App. Div. 624, 72 N. Y. Supp. 1123, it was held that a town canvassing board cannot be directed to recanvass the votes cast at a town meeting held in election districts and reject for irregularity certain returns unless such returns are wholly void. The following defects were held as not necessarily fatal:—That the inspectors in certain districts selected one of their number as poll clerk; that in some districts the poll lists were not subscribed as required by the statute; that in one district the inspectors did not return the number of ballots which were void, but inclosed them in a sealed package which they filed with a statement of the canvass; that the supervisor of the town who took no part in the canvass was present and signed the statement.

may be submitted to the electors of the town voting in separate or joint election districts of the town meeting, but the vote upon any proposition shall be taken by the division of the electors present and voting thereon; and the inspectors shall count the number of electors so voting in favor of such proposition, and the number so voting against the same, and shall enter in the statement of the result of the town meeting held in such district a statement of the proposition so voted upon, and the number of votes so cast in favor of and against the same and certify with the statement that they are required to certify and return to the justices of the peace and town clerk of the town. No such proposition shall be so voted upon unless notice that such vote will be taken has been published by the town clerk at least one week before the town meeting, in a newspaper published in the town, if any such is published therein, and such notice shall also be posted for the same length of time at the place where the poll of the town meeting is to be held, in each separate or joint election district, and shall be publicly read by the inspectors to the voters present before any such vote is taken.[30] Any elector of the town may, by a written application filed with the town clerk at least ten days before the town meeting is to be held, require such notice to be given by the town clerk. Every such proposition shall be submitted to a vote, commencing at the hour of twelve, noon, and continuing until all such propositions have been voted upon, and every such proposition shall be submitted to the vote of the electors of the town at the poll of every separate or joint election district in the town. [Town Law, § 66; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6154.]

§ 25. TOWN MEETINGS HELD AT THE TIME OF GENERAL ELECTION; CANVASS OF VOTES.

If, in any town, the biennial town meeting is held at the same time as the general election, such town meeting shall be held in the election districts of such town, and be conducted by the inspectors of election thereof. At the close of the polls at any such town meeting, the inspectors shall proceed to canvass the votes for the candidates for the several town offices in the election districts where such town meeting was held, in the same manner as the votes for other candidates cast at the general election are canvassed. They shall make a statement of the whole number of votes cast for each candidate for a town office, deliver the same to one of the justices of the peace of the town, and, on the Thursday succeeding such town meeting, such votes shall be recanvassed, the additional inspector of election in each district shall be appointed, and the result of the election declared as provided by section sixty-five of this chapter.[31]

30. Notice of a proposition not requiring a ballot to be voted upon at a town meeting held in election districts must be given as prescribed in the above section. It would seem that where town meetings are not held in election districts such propositions may be submited without prior notice. See Town Law, sec. 60, ante.

In case of a contest or other proceeding in which the validity of the election of a town officer in any such town, is in controversy, the ballots cast at any town meeting and election may be examined and recounted, as provided by law, in case of other officers elected at general elections. [Town Law, § 67; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6155.]

§ 26. BALLOTS AT TOWN MEETING HELD AT TIME OF GENERAL ELECTION.

At town meetings in towns held at the same time as general elections, the names of all candidates for town offices shall be voted for in the same manner and on the same ballot as candidates for other offices voted for thereat.[32] [Town Law, § 68; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6156.]

31. Canvass of votes by justices of the peace and town clerk. Where town meetings are held at the time of general elections the returns of the inspectors of election of the several election districts are to be made and the votes are to be recanvassed in the manner provided by section 65 of the Town Law, ante.

Provisions of this section relating to the recanvass, when read in connection with section 65 of the Town Law, do not permit the justices of the peace and town clerk who made the recanvass to recount the vote; they must declare the result as it appears from the statements made by the inspectors of election, who, under the statute, make the canvass itself. Matter of Park, 37 Misc. 133; 74 N. Y. Supp. 915.

Examination of ballots. The provisions of this section relating to an examination and recount of ballots in case of contests provide a wholly distinct and different remedy from section 374 of the Election Law which is broad enough in its terms to entitle any candidate voted for at the time of a general election to an examination as of right in a proper case of any ballots upon which his name lawfully appears as that of a candidate whether the validity of the election is in controversy or not. Matter of Quinn (1917), 220 N. Y. 624, 115 N. E. 422, affg. (1916), 175 App. Div. 681, 160 N. Y. Supp. 867.

A candidate for the office of town clerk who was defeated at the biennial town election is entitled to an examination of the ballots under section 374 of the Election Law, if his moving affidavits disclose facts which entitle him to such examination. Matter of Quinn (1916), 175 App. Div. 681, 160 N. Y. Supp. 867, affd. (1917), 220 N. Y. 624, 115 N. E. 442.

32. This section was formerly part of § 12 of the Town Law.

Ballots at town meetings. Under this section the election of town officers is by ballot. The provisions of the election Law relating to the nomination of town officers (Election Law, secs. 120-126; Jewett's Election Manual, 1918), and to the certificates of nominations (Election Law, secs. 127, 128; Jewett's Election Manual), apply to town meetings. Section 132 of the Election Law (Jewett's Election Manual, 1918), provides that each town clerk shall cause at least ten copies of a list of all nominations to office filed with him to be conspicuously posted in ten public places in the town at least one day before the town meeting, one of which copies shall be so posted at each polling place of such town meeting.

Ballot Boxes.—Separate ballot boxes appropriately and conspicuously marked must be provided as occasion shall require, to receive,

1. Ballots for presidential electors.
2. Ballots for general officers.
3. Ballots upon constitutional amendments and questions submitted.
4. Ballots upon town propositions and upon town appropriations.
5. Ballots defective in printing or spoiled and mutilated.
6. Stubs detached from ballots.

Each box shall be supplied with a sufficient lock and key and with an opening in the top large enough to allow a single folded ballot to be easily passed through the opening, but no larger. It shall be large enough to receive all the ballots which may be lawfully deposited therein at any election, and it shall be well and strongly made and be free from checks and blemishes.

Each and every inspector of elections shall be personally responsible for the custody of each box and its contents from the time the election begins until the box is delivered, according to law, to the person entitled to receive it. Upon making any such delivery each inspector of elections shall be entitled to a receipt for each box delivered. [Election Law, § 316, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 649, L. 1913, ch. 821, and L. 1917, ch. 703; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1506.]

Payment of Election Expenses.—The expense of providing polling places, voting booths, supplies therefor, guard-rails and other furniture of Ballots to be voted at town meetings are to be prepared in conformity with section 331, as amended by L. 1915, ch. 87, and L. 1916, ch. 537, of the Election Law. Jewett's Election Manual, 1918. The above section of the Town Law provides that when town meetings in towns are held at the same time as general elections, the names of candidates for town offices shall be on the same ballot as candidates for other offices voted for thereat. This provision is now in conformity with a similar provision contained in section 341, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 454, of the Election Law.

Section 318 of the Election Law, as amended by L. 1918, ch. 323, (Jewett's Election Manual, 1918), contains the following provisions: "The expense of printing and delivering the official ballots, sample ballots, affidavits for proof of citizenship by marriage, cards of instruction, poll books, tally sheets, return sheets for inspectors and ballot clerks and distance markers, to be used at a town meeting or city or village election not held at the same time as a general election, and of printing the lists of nominations therefor, shall be a charge upon the town, city or village in which the meeting or the election is held."

Registration. No registration of voters shall be required for town or village elections, except as provided in the Village Law, and except that when a town or village election is held at the same time with a general election all voters in such town or village to be entitled to vote at such town or village election must be registered as provided by law for the registration of voters for any general election in such town or village. [Election Law, § 161, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 424; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1450.]

Town superintendents of highways are elected or appointed for terms of two years, under the Highway Law of 1909, secs. 40-42. By sec. 43 of such Highway Law the office of highway commissioner is abolished on and after November 1, 1909.

the polling place, and distance markers, and the compensation of the election officers in each election district, shall be a charge upon the town or city in which such election district is situated, except that such expenses incurred for the purpose of conducting a village election not held at the same time as a general election shall be a charge upon the village.

The expense of printing and delivering the official ballots, sample ballots and cards of instruction, poll books, tally sheets, return sheets for inspectors and ballot clerks, and distance markers to be used at a town meeting or city or village election not held at the same time as a general election, and of printing the lists of nominations therefor shall be a charge upon the town, city or village in which the meeting or election is held. The expense of printing and delivering the official ballots, sample ballots, affidavits for proof of citizenship, by marriage, and cards of instruction, poll books, tally sheets, return sheets for inspecors and ballot clerks and distance markers to be used in any county, except such counties or portions thereof as are included within the city of New York, at any other election, if no town meeting or city or village election be held a the same time therewith, and of printing the lists of nominations therefor, shall be a charge upon such county. The expense of printing and delivering the official ballots, sample ballots, affidavits for proof of citizenship by marriage and cards of instruction, poll books, tally sheets, return sheets for inspectors and ballot clerks, and distance markers, to be used in any such county at any other election, and of printing the lists of nominations therefor, if the town meeting or city or village election be held in such county at the same time therewih, shall be apportioned by the county clerk between such town, city or village and such county, in the proportion of the number of candidates for town, city or village officers on such ballots, respectively, to the whole number of candidates thereon, and the amount of such expense so apportioned to each such municipality shall be a charge thereon.

Whenever voting machines are used in an election by any city, town or village, only such expenses as are caused by the use of such machines, and such as are necessary for the proper conduct of the elections as required by this chapter shall be charged to such city, town or village.[33]. . . [Election Law, § 318, as amended by L. 1918, ch. 323; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1508.]

The county clerk of each county, not salaried, shall be paid by such county a reasonable compensation for his services in carrying out the provisions of this chapter, to be fixed by the board of supervisors of the county, or the board acting as such board of supervisors. The town clerk of each town shall be paid by such town a reasonable compensation for his services in carrying out the provisions of this chapter, to be fixed

33. Provision as to compensation of inspectors in cities of the first class omitted by the other members of the town board of the town. Ballot clerks shall receive the same compensation for their attendance at an election as inspectors of election for the election and be paid in like manner. Poll clerks shall receive the same compensation for their attendance at an election and canvass of the votes as inspectors of election and be paid in like manner. An inspector of election lawfully required to file papers in the county clerk's office shall, unless he resides in the county if within the city of New York, or in any other city or town in which such office is situated, be entitled to receive as compensation therefor five dollars, and also four cents a mile for every mile actually and necessarily traveled between his residence and such county clerk's office in going to and returning from such office.[34] * * *

Election officers required to meet at a different time from the regular count of the votes cast at a general election for the purpose of counting and returning the votes of electors absent from their election districts in time of war in the actual military or naval service of this state or of the United States shall be paid five dollars each. [Election Law, § 319, as amended by L. 1915, ch. 678, and L. 1918, ch. 323; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1508.]

Places of filing independent certificates of nomination.—Independent certificates of nomination of candidates for office to be filled by the voters of the entire state, or of any division or district greater than a county, shall be filed with the secretary of state, except that each certificate of nomination of a candidate for member of assembly for the assembly district composing the counties of Fulton and Hamilton shall be filed in the office of the board of elections of Fulton county, and a copy thereof certified by the board of elections of Fulton county shall be filed in the office of the board of elections of Hamilton county, so long as the said counties constitute one assembly district, and except that such certificates of nomination of candidates for offices to be filled only by the voters or a portion of the voters of the city of New York shall be filed with the board of elections of the city of New York.

Independent certificates of nomination of candidates for offices to be filled only by the votes of voters, part of whom are of New York city and part of whom are of a county not wholly within the city of New York, shall be filed with the board of elections of such county and in the office of the board of elections of said city. Such certificates of nomination of candidates for offices of any other city, to be elected at the same time at which a general election is held shall be filed with the board of elections of the county in which such city is located. Certificates of nomination of candidates for offices of a city, village or town to be elected at a different time from a general election shall be filed with the clerk of such city, village or town respectively.

34. Provision omitted as to compensation of election officers in cities of the first class.

Election Law, §§ 127, 128.

In towns in which town meetings are held at the time of general elections, independent certificates of nomination of candidates for town offices shall be in duplicate, one of which shall be filed with the town clerk of the town in which such officers are to be voted for, and the other with the board of elections of the county in which such town is located. All other independent certificates of nomination shall be filed with the board of elections of the county in which the candidates so nominated are to be voted for.

All such filed certificates and corrected certificates of nomination, all objections to such certificates and all declinations of nomination are hereby declared to be public records; and it shall be the duty of every officer or board to exhibit without delay every such paper to any person who shall request to see the same. It shall also be the duty of each such officer or board to keep a book which shall be open to public inspection, in which shall be correctly recorded the names of all candidates nominated by independent certificates issued by or filed in the office of such officer or board or certified thereto, the title of the office for which any such nomination is made, the name and emblem of the independent body making such nomination, and in which shall also be stated all declinations of nominations or objections to such nominations, and the time of filing each of the said papers. [Election Law, § 127, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 891, and L. 1913, ch. 820; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1430.]

Times of filing independent certificates of nomination.—Independent certificates of nomination, except those for the nomination of candidates to be elected at a different time from a general election, shall be filed not earlier than the ninth Tuesday, and not later than two days after the eighth Tuesday preceding the day of the general election. Independent certificates of nomination of candidates to be elected at a different time from a general election shall be filed at least fifteen, and not more than thirty days before the day of the election.

In case of a special election ordered by the governor under the provisions of section two hundred and ninety-two of this chapter, independent certificates of nomination for the office or offices to be filled at such special election shall be filed with the proper officers or boards not less than ten days before such special election.[35] [Election Law, § 128, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 891, L. 1913, ch. 820, and L. 1918, ch. 298; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1431.]

Form of ballot for questions submitted.—The reading form of each proposed constitutional amendment[36] or other question submitted as provided in section two hundred and ninety-five of this chapter shall be printed in a separate section. At the left of each question shall appear two voting squares, one above the other, each at least one-half inch

Need not be filed within hours during which clerk's office is open. Matter of Norton, 34 App. Div. 79, 53 N. Y. Supp. 1093; appeal dismissed, 158 N. Y. 130.

When the last day for filing the certificate falls on Sunday it must be filed on the day preceding. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1902) 318.

An official ballot is not invalid because it contains the name of a candidate whose certificate of nomination was not filed until after the fixed date. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1895) 293.

When court may give relief. The statutory requirement as to the time when certificates of nomination should be filed in mandatory, yet there may occur accidents and mistakes, causing delay in such filing, and from the effects of which the supreme court may give relief, provided it finds that the delay was not due to the negligence of the convention making the nomination, but to the party to whom the filing of the certificate was intrusted; but the question in each case, as to whether there has been excusable default or misfortune depend upon the particular facts, and the determination of the question rests in the supreme court. Matter of Darling, 189 N. Y. 570, affg. 121 App. Div. 656, 106 N. Y. Supp. 430.

Default in filing nominations may be remedied by the Supreme Court, where it appears that the certificates were mailed by the proper officers so that in the ordinary course of mail they would reach the office of the secretary of state in time, but for some unaccountable reason they did not reach such office until the following day. Matter of Bayne, 69 Misc. 579, 127 N. Y. Supp. 915.

Mandamus will not issue to compel the acceptance and filing of a certificate of nomination, if it was not tendered for filing twenty days before the election, as required by this section. People ex rel. Steinert v. Britt, 146 App. Div. 684. So, where an original certificate of nomination has been held to be valid notwithstanding the fact that the person designated to call the convention to order was not present owing to illness, the court will not compel the board of elections to accept a second certificate made at a subsequent convention where the time for filing the certificate of the original nomination has expired. Matter of People ex rel. McGrath v. Dooling, 141 App. Div. 29, 127 N. Y. Supp. 748.

36. Liquor Tax Law propositions may properly be included on same ballot with constitutional amendments. Matter of Arnold, 32 Misc. 439, 66 N. Y. Supp. 557; but see Matter of Webster, 50 Misc. 253, 100 N. Y. Supp. 508, and opinion of attorney-general, 1903, p. 300.

square. At the left of the upper square shall be printed the word "Yes," and at the left of the lower square shall be printed the word "No." On the stub at the top of the ballot shall be printed the following directions to the voter:

1. To vote "Yes" on any question make a cross × mark in the square opposite the word "Yes."

2. To vote "No," make a cross × mark in the square opposite the word "No."

3. Mark only with a pencil having black lead.

4. Any other mark, erasure or tear on the ballot renders it void.

5. If you tear, or deface, or wrongly mark this ballot, return it and obtain another.

The questions shall be numbered consecutively on the face of the ballot, and on the back of each voting section shall be printed the number of the question which it contains.

So far as possible the ballots upon town propositions shall conform to the directions herein contained respecting the ballot on constitutional amendments and questions submitted.

All ballots for the submission of town propositions for raising or appropriating money for town purposes, or for incurring a town liability, to be voted at any town meeting in any town, shall be separate from all other ballots for the submission of other propositions or questions to the electors of such town to be voted at the same town meeting or election. Such ballots shall be indorsed "ballot upon town appropriations."[37] [Election Law, § 332, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 821; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1514.]

Number of official ballots.— The number of official ballots of each kind to be provided for each polling place for each election to be held thereat, except a village election held at a different time from a general election, shall be one and one-half times as many ballots as near as may be as there were names of voters on the register of voters of such district for such election at the close of the final regular meeting for such registration. In cities of the first class the officer or board charged with the duty of furnishing official ballots shall furnish one and one-fourth times as many official ballots, of each kind to be provided for such election as there are voters entitled to vote thereat, as nearly as can be estimated by such officer or board. The number of official ballots of each kind to be provided for each polling place for a town meeting held at any time or a village or city election held at a different time from a general election, shall be one and one-fourth times the number of persons who will be entitled to vote thereat, as nearly as can be estimated by the officer charged with the duty of providing such ballots. [Election Law, § 340, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 820; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1522.]

Officers providing ballots and stationery. — The county clerk, in each of the counties of Oneida and Broome, the commissioner of elections in any county having one commissioner of elections, the board of elections in every other county except a county within the city of New York, and in any such county the board of elections of such city, shall provide the requisite number of official and sample ballots, cards of instruction, two poll books, distance markers, two tally sheets of each kind, three return blanks of each kind, pens, penholders, red and black ink, pencils having black lead, blotting paper, sealing wax and such other articles of stationery as may be necessary for the proper conduct of the election and the canvass of the votes, for each election district in the county, for each election to be held thereat, except that when town meetings, city or village elections and elections for school officers are not held at the same time as a general election, the clerk of such town, city or village, respectively, shall provide such official and sample ballots and stationery for such election or town meeting.[38] If the town meeting is held on general election day ballots and sample ballots for town propositions and official and sample general ballots on which town officers only are to be voted for shall be provided by the town clerk in like manner and in the same form as at a town meeting held at any other time, and such town clerk shall also furnish blanks for making returns on town propositions or questions and for making returns of votes cast for candidates for town offices at such an election, and the expense of furnishing such ballots, sample ballots and return blanks shall be a town charge. And the board of elections of the city of New York shall provide such articles for each election to be held in said city. [Election Law, § 341, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 649, L. 1913, ch. 821, and L. 1916, ch. 454; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1522.]

38. The exception as to furnishing ballots at town meetings other than those held at the time of a general election, has no application to a town meeting held at the same time as a general election, and ballots furnished for a local option election thereat are valid. Matter of Town of Bath, (1916) 93 Misc. 575, 157 N. Y. Supp. 205.

Election Law, §§ 342, 393, 394.

Public inspection ballots.—Each officer or board charged with the duty of providing official ballots for any polling place, shall have sample ballots and official ballots provided, and in the possession of such officer or board, and open to public inspection as follows: The sample ballots five days before the election, and the official ballots four days before the election for which they are prepared, unless prepared for a village election or town meeting held at a different time from a general election, in which case the official ballot shall be so printed and in possession at least one day, and the sample ballots at least two days, before such election or town meeting. During the times within which the same are open for inspection as aforesaid, it shall be the duty of the officer or board charged by law with the duty of preparing the same, to deliver a sample ballot of the kind to be voted in his district to each qualified elector who shall apply therefor, so that each elector who may desire the same may obtain a sample ballot similar, except as regards color and the number on the stub, to the official ballot to be voted at the polling place at which he is entitled to vote. [Election Law, § 342; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1524.]

§ 27. THE USE AND PURCHASE OF VOTING MACHINES.

Adoption of voting machine.—The board of elections of the city of New York, the common council of any other city, the town board of any town, or the board of trustees of any village may adopt for use at elections any kind of voting machine approved by the state board of voting machine commissioners, or the use of which has been specifically authorized by law; and thereupon such voting machine may be used at any or all elections held in such city, town or village, or in any part thereof, for voting, registering and counting votes cast at such elections. Voting machines of different kinds may be adopted for different districts in the same city, town or village. [Election Law, § 393; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1556.]

Experimental use of voting machines.—The authorities of a city, town or village authorized by the last section to adopt a voting machine may provide for the experimental use, at an election in one or more districts, of a machine which it might lawfully adopt, without a formal adoption thereof; and its use at such elections shall be as valid for all purposes as if it had been lawfully adopted. [Election Law, § 394; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1556.]

Providing machines.—The local authorities adopting a voting machine shall, as soon as practicable thereafter, provide for each polling place one or more voting machines in complete working order, and shall thereafter preserve and keep them in repair, and shall have the custody thereof and of the furniture and equipment of the polling place when not in use at an election. If it shall be impracticable to supply each and every election district with a voting machine or voting machines at any election following such adoption, as many may be supplied as it is practicable to procure, and the same may be used in such election district or districts within the city, town or village as the officers adopting the same may direct. [Election Law, § 395; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1556.]

Payment for machines.—The local authorities, on the adoption and purchase of a voting machine, may provide for the payment therefor in such manner as they may deem for the best interest of the locality and may for that purpose issue bonds, certificates of indebtedness or other obligations which shall be a charge on the city, town or village. Such bonds, certificates or other obligations may be issued with or without interest, payable at such time or times as the authorities may determine, but shall not be issued or sold at less than par. [Election Law, § 396; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1556.]

Number of voters in election districts.— For any election in any city, town or village in which voting machines are to be used, the election districts in which such machines are to be used may be created by the officers charged with the duty of creating election districts, so as to contain as near as may be in districts in which one such machine is used, six hundred voters each, and in districts in which two or more such machines are used, nine hundred voters each. Such redistricting or redivision may be made at any time after any November election and on or before August fifteenth following, to take effect on the sixth Wednesday before the next general election. Where such redistricting or redivision shall be made in any town, the board making the same shall, on or before September first following, appoint from the inspectors of election then in office (if sufficient therefor are then in office, and, if not, from persons not in office, sufficient to make up the requisite number), to take effect on or before the first day of registration thereafter and not earlier than the sixth Wednesday preceding the next general election, four inspectors of election for each election district thus created, who shall be equally divided between the two parties entitled to representation on said boards of inspectors. Thereafter no redivision of such election districts shall be made for elections by such machines until at some general election the number of votes cast in one or more of such districts in which such machine is used shall exceed six hundred and fifty, or in which two or more such machines are used shall exceed one thousand. But the town board of a town in which such machines are used may alter the boundaries of the election districts at any time after a general election and on or before August fifteenth following, to take effect on the sixth Wednesday before the next general election, provided that the number of such election districts in such town shall not be increased or reduced, and the number of votes to be cast in any district whose boundaries are so altered shall not exceed six hundred and fifty in a district in which one machine is used, or one thousand in a district in which two or more machines are used.

If the creation, division or alteration of an election district is rendered necessary by the creation, division or alteration of a town, ward or city or rendered necessary or occasioned by the division of a county into assembly districts after a reapportionment by the legislature of members of assembly, such creation, division or alteration of an election district shall be made and shall take effect immediately; and inspectors of election for the new election districts, as so created, divided or altered, shall be appointed, in the manner provided by law, a reasonable time before the next official primary or meeting for registration and such appointments shall take effect immediately. [Election Law, § 419, amended by L. 1911, ch. 542, L. 1914, ch. 244, L. 1916, ch. 537, and L. 1918, ch. 323; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1568.]

CHAPTER XX.

TOWN OFFICERS; ELECTION AND TERMS.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

Election of Town Officers.

Town officers consist of supervisor, town clerk, four justices of the peace, three assessors, collector, one or two overseers of the poor, not more than five constables, and one superintendent of highways. Other town officers exist in some towns, as where town auditors are elected or provision is made for the election of pound keepers. Elective town officers are to be elected by ballot at biennial town meetings. In case of a failure to elect, the town officer in office continues in office until the vacancy is filled by appointment.

The Highway Law, § 41, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 47, provides for the adoption of a proposition at a town meeting to appoint a town superintendent of highways. Where such a proposition is adopted, the town board is to appoint such superintendent for the term prescribed by law.

Terms of Office.

The terms of town officers, except justices of the peace, are fixed by law at two years. Justices of the peace are required by the constitution to be elected for terms of four years. If town meetings are held at times other than general election day they take office immediately upon taking the required oath. If such meetings are held on general election day, the terms of town officers begin on the first day of January following their election. If a town superintendent of highways is elected at a town meeting held on election day, his term begins on the Thursday succeeding his election; if elected at a town meeting held at any other time, his term begins on November first, following his election.

SECTION 1. Election of town officers.
2. Power of town meeting to fill vacancy in office of justice of the peace.
3. Term of office of town officers; when town meetings are held at time of general election, term to begin on January 1, following; collector to complete duties of office.
4. Terms of supervisors in certain counties.
5. Holding over after expiration of term.
6. Number and terms of justices of the peace.
7. Justices of the peace; ballots for full term and vacancies; officers in new towns.
8. Justices in new towns; upon erection of new town, or annexation, justices of the peace, how to hold office.
8-a. Reduction of number of justices in towns of Monroe county to one; election and powers of town trustees.
9. Certificates of election of justice of the peace.
10. Town superintendents of highways, election and term of office; vacancies; office of highway commissioner abolished; deputies.
11. Overseers of poor; determination of number; resolution to be voted for; appointment of overseer by town board.
12. Special constables; appointment and powers.
13. Election officers; their designation, number and qualifications.
14. Election officers in towns at general elections; poll clerks and ballot clerks.
15. Erection or discontinuance of pounds; election of poundmasters.

§ 1. ELECTION OF TOWN OFFICERS.

Except as otherwise provided in this section, there shall be elected at the biennial town meeting in each town, by ballot, one supervisor, one town clerk, two justices of the peace, two assessors, one collector, one or two overseers of the poor, not more than five constables and one superintendent

Election of town officers. This section applies to town and not to city supervisors. People ex rel. Clancy v. Supervisors, 139 N. Y. 524; 34 N. E. 1106.

Town clerks can only be elected at town meetings. Matter of Foley, 8 Misc. 196; 28 N. Y. Supp. 611.

Additional supervisors in certain counties, see §§ 450-456, Town Law, as added by L. 1918, ch. 289.

Election of justices of the peace. The constitution provides that electors of the several towns shall, at their annual town meetings, or at such other time and in such manner as the legislature may direct, elect justices of the peace, whose term of office shall be four years. Constitution, art. 6, sec. 17. The designation contained in such constitutional provision of the "annual town meeting" as the time when justices of the peace are to be elected, is equivalent to a prohibition against electing them at any other time, and while the legislature may fix the day upon which town meetings may be held, it cannot prohibit the election of justices of the peace at such meeting, or provide for their election at any other time or place. People ex rel. Smith v. Schiellein, 95 N. Y. 124. See, also, Ex parte Quackenbush, 2 Hill, 369; People v. Keeler, 17 N. Y. 370.

Where a vacancy exists in the office of justice of the peace for a term which would have expired December 31, 1913, and in August, 1912, such vacancy was filled, the town being one in which its biennial town meetings are held in the spring, the person appointed to fill the vacancy holds his office until the biennial town meeting in 1913, at which time the vacancy is filled by election for the balance of the unexpired term. Opinion of Atty. Genl., Mch. 11, 1913.

Election of constables. Under section 43 of the Town Law, post, a town meeting may determine the number of constables — a number not exceeding five. Where a town meeting fixes the number of constables at three, but of highways, excepting that in towns which shall have adopted a resolution that thereafter such town superintendent shall be appointed by the town board, pursuant to the provisions of section forty-one of the highway law, he shall be appointed as therein prescribed. Provided, however, that in towns in a county containing two hundred thousand or less inhabitants, according to the last federal census or state enumeration, adjoining a city of the first class containing a population of over one million, the town superintendent of highways hereafter elected or appointed shall hold office for the term of four years; and provided further that in a town of any such county not more than four constables shall be hereafter elected at the biennial town meeting. At the first biennial town meeting in each town, after this section as hereby amended takes effect, two assessors shall be elected to hold office for two years and one assessor to hold office for four years. Of the two assessors chosen at any subsequent biennial town meeting in each town, one shall be elected to hold office for two years and one to hold office for four years. [Town Law, § 80, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 491, L. 1910, ch. 271, L. 1916, ch. 346, and L. 1917, ch. 44; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6157.]

§ 2. POWER OF TOWN MEETING TO FILL VACANCY IN OFFICE OF JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

If there shall be any vacancies in the office of justice of the peace of any town at the time of holding its biennial town meeting, persons shall then also be chosen to fill such vacancies, who shall hold their offices for the residue of the unexpired term for which they are respectively elected.[2] [Town Law, § 44; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6144.]

§ 3. TERM OF OFFICE OF TOWN OFFICERS; WHEN TOWN MEETINGS ARE HELD AT TIME OF GENERAL ELECTION, TERM TO BEGIN ON JANUARY 1 FOLLOWING; COLLECTOR TO COMPLETE DUTIES OF OFFICE.

Supervisors, town clerks, town superintendents of highways, collectors, overseers of the poor, inspectors of election and constables, when elected, shall hold their respective offices for two years. The terms of office of only elects two, the two elected oust all those in office at the time of such election. People ex rel. Platner v. Jones, 17 Wend. 81; People v. Loomis, 8 Wend. 396; People v. Adams, 9 Wend. 333.

Effect of tie vote. When an election for a town officer results in a tie, the person then holding office holds over until his successor shall be elected. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1895) 93; Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1897) 340.

2. Election to fill vacancies. Since the amendment of the former Town Law by ch. 481 of the L. of 1897, providing for biennial in place of annual town meetings, which also made the terms of office of all town officers, except justices of the peace, two years, the only town office in which a vacancy can be filled by election at a town meeting is that of justice of the peace. If the office of justice of the peace is vacant at the time of holding town meetings, it may be filled by the electors voting at such town meeting, and the person elected shall hold his office for the residue of the unexpired term. Upon the election and qualification of such a justice to fill a vacancy, the term of office of the person appointed to fill such vacancy expires. People ex rel. Lovett v. Randall, 151 N. Y. 497; 45 N. E. 841.

assessors shall be two years for one assessor and four years each for two assessors.[3] But whenever there is or shall be a change in the time of holding town meetings in any town, persons elected to such offices at the next biennial town meeting after such change has been authorized as provided by law, shall enter upon the discharge of their duties at the expiration of the term of their predecessors and serve until the next biennial town meeting thereafter or until their successors are elected and have qualified, except that the assessor elected for four years shall serve until the second biennial town meeting thereafter, or until his successor is elected and has qualified. Whenever the time of holding town meetings in any town is changed to the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, except when changed as provided in section forty-one of this chapter,[4] the town officer selected thereat shall take office on the first day of January succeeding their election. Except that the collector elected at such town meeting shall take office immediately upon his election and qualification as prescribed by law. Except as otherwise provided in this section, in case the time of the holding of town meetings in any county is changed by resolution of the board of supervisors of the county to the first Tuesday after the first Monday

3. Extension of term. It is a general rule that the term of office of a town officer cannot be extended by an act of the legislature. In the case of People ex rel. Le Roy v. Foley, 148 N. Y. 679, 682; 43 N. E. 171, the court said: "The legislature cannot extend the term of a town officer after his election, since that would virtually be an appointment to the office during the period of extension. The legislature cannot appoint town officers. They must either be elected by the people of the town or appointed by such town authorities as the legislature may designate for that purpose. Constitution, art. 10, sec. 2. The power of appointment in such cases cannot be directly exercised by the legislature nor indirectly by extending the term of a town officer after his election. It can, of course, enlarge the official term of town officers, but such action can operate only upon officers thereafter elected. Where the office is to be filled by one authority and the duration of the term is to be determined by another, the declaration of such duration must go before the filling, so that each authority may have its legitimate exercise." See, also, People ex rel. Williamson v. McKinney, 52 N. Y. 374; People ex rel. Lord v. Crooks, 53 N. Y. 648. When the duration of the term of office is once declared by law the legislature cannot extend such term so as to affect the term of the incumbent at the time of the passage of the act. People ex rel. Fowler v. Bull, 46 N. Y. 57. See also, People ex rel. Lovett v. Randall, 151 N. Y. 497; 45 N. E. 841.

A board of supervisors has no authority to so change the time of town meetings as to extend the terms of the supervisors in office at the time of the adoption of the resolution. Rept. of Atty. Genl., Feb. 15, 1912. But see People ex rel. Fluckiger v. Huftalen, 158 App. Div. 44, and People ex rel. Perkins v. Pelcher, 81 Misc. 423, in which case it was in effect held that town officers in office at the time the election would have been held if the time had not been changed continue in office until the vacancies caused by expiration of term are filled either by appointment or election.

Election and qualification of successor. Supervisor to serve until successor is elected and has filed the constitutional oath. Matter of Bradley, 49 N. Y. St. Rep. 530, 21 N. Y. Supp. 167.

in November, all town officers in any town of such county elected at the first biennial town meeting held after the adoption of such resolution shall hold office until the first day of January succeeding the biennial town meeting first held pursuant to such resolution. No resolution changing the time of holding town meetings to the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November shall be effectual to dispense with the holding of the first biennial town meeting after the adoption of such resolution at the time fixed when such resolution was adopted. But the collector in each town shall complete the duties of his office in respect to the collection of taxes, and the payment and return thereof, upon any warrant received by him during his term of office, notwithstanding the fact that his successor has entered upon the duties of his office. [Town Law, § 82, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 491, L. 1910, ch. 271, L. 1913, ch. 231, and by L. 1918, ch. 372; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6159.]

§ 4. TERMS OF SUPERVISORS IN CERTAIN COUNTIES.

In each of the counties of this state containing over three hundred thousand inhabitants and less than six hundred thousand inhabitants as now appears or as may hereafter appear by the latest federal or state enumeration of inhabitants, and within which is, or may be, a city divided into wards from which supervisors are elected for a longer term than one year, the term of office of supervisors of the respective towns shall be as long as the term of office of the city supervisors. The terms of office of all such supervisors shall begin on the first day of January next succeeding their election.[5] [Town Law, § 102; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6170.]

§ 5. HOLDING OVER AFTER EXPIRATION OF TERM.

Every officer except a judicial officer, a notary public, a commissioner of deeds and an officer whose term is fixed by the constitution, having duly entered on the duties of his office, shall, unless the office shall terminate or be abolished, hold over and continue to discharge the duties of his office, after the expiration of the term for which he shall have been chosen, until his successor shall be chosen and qualified; but after the expiration of such term, the office shall be deemed vacant for the purpose of choosing his successor. An officer so holding over for one or more entire terms, shall, for the purpose of choosing his successor, be regarded as having been newly

4. Section 41 of the Town Law (ante, p. 246), referred to in the above section authorizes a town to adopt a proposition at a regular town meeting changing the date of its town meeting to the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, known as general election day. If such a proposition is so adopted, the term of office of all officers, except justices of the peace, is two years from the date of their election.

5. This section was derived from L. 1893, ch. 130, § 1, as amended by L. 1895, ch. 266, and only applies to Erie Co.

chosen for such terms. An appointment for a term shortened by reason of a predecessor holding over, shall be for the residue of the term only.[6] [Public Officers Law, § 5; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4621.]

6. Application of section. Unless expressly authorized by statute an officer is not permitted to hold over after the expiration of his term. People v. Tiernan, 30 Barb. 193; 8 Abb. 359. In the case of People ex rel. Woods v. Crissell, 91 N. Y. 616, it appeared that at a general election two persons were candidates for office of alderman. Two of the four inspectors signed a statement certifying that one of them had received a majority of the votes cast. The other two inspectors refused to sign the statement. It was held that until the rights of the parties were decided in the courts and the result settled the election was to be treated as a failure so far as either of such candidates were concerned, and neither could claim any benefit therefrom; and that since, at such election, no successor was elected to the alderman in office, that he held over until the official determination of the result of the election and until his successor duly qualified. In the case of People ex rel. Kehoe v. Fitchie, 76 Hun, 80; 28 N. Y. Supp. 600, it was held that the failure to elect a successor of an officer does not render the office vacant, and when a supervisor of a city ward is elected he continues to hold office until his successor is elected either at a general or at a special election ordered as provided by law. In the case of People ex rel. Williamson v. McKinney, 52 N. Y. 374, it was held that until a town collector shall take and subscribe an oath of office he is not qualified within the meaning of this section, and the incumbent of the office is entitled to hold over. See, also, Montgomery v. O'Dell, 67 Hun, 169, 178; 22 N. Y. Supp. 412. The term "qualified," as used in this section and in section 82 of the Town Law, means to take an oath of office and to file an official undertaking as required by law. People ex rel. Williamson v. McKinney, 52 N. Y. 374, 380.

Where a town officer is lawfully holding over after the expiration of his term the office is to be deemed vacant for the purpose of electing a successor, from and after the expiration of the term for which the incumbent was chosen, although the term of the office, as distinguished from the term for which he was chosen, may have been in the meantime enlarged. People ex rel. Lovett v. Randall, 151 N. Y. 497; 45 N. E. 841. The town officer holding over after the expiration of his term is a de facto officer. People v. Cooper, 57 How. Pr. 416; People ex rel. Rumph v. Supervisors, 89 Hun, 38, 41; 34 N. Y. Supp. 1, 128.

Officer holding over is entitled to salary. DeLacey v. City of Brooklyn, 12 N. Y. Supp. 540, 36 N. Y. St. Rep. 95.

Where an election held to fill the office of trustee in a village, whose term expired on the day of the election, results in a tie vote, the trustee whose term has expired will hold over by virtue of the above section until his successor is duly elected, as provided by the village charter, at a special election held therefor. Matter of Travis, 87 App. Div. 554, 84 N. Y. Supp. 534.

Justices of the peace are not within the provisions of this section. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1903) 298.

A supervisor holding over cannot vote as a member of the town board to fill a vacancy in the office. Matter of Smith, 116 App. Div. 665, 101 N. Y. Supp. 992, affd. 188 N. Y. 549.

A town assessor holds over until his successor is elected. Rept. of Atty. Genl., May 25, 1911.

Town Law, § 103.

§ 6. NUMBER AND TERMS OF JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

There shall be four justices of the peace in each town, divided into two classes, two of whom shall be elected biennially. Such justices shall hold office for a term of four years commencing on the first day of January succeeding their election. In each county in the state having within its boundaries a city having a population of not less than three hundred thousand and not more than four hundred thousand, according to the last federal enumeration, the justices of the peace heretofore elected shall hold their offices for the terms for which they were respectively elected, but, except as hereinafter provided, no successors to them shall be elected. In each of said counties there shall be elected at the biennial town meeting in nineteen hundred and three, two justices of the peace whose terms of office shall begin on the first day of January succeeding their election, and who shall hold office for the term of four years. At the biennial town meeting in each of said counties held in nineteen hundred and five, there shall be elected two justices of the peace whose terms of office shall begin January first, succeeding their election, and who shall hold office for four years. At each biennial town meeting thereafter, there shall be elected two justices of the peace for the full terms of four years, commencing on the first day of January succeeding the town meeting.[7] [Town Law, § 103; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6170.]

Inspectors of election hold over the same as other town officers. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1903) 357.

Expiration of term. Notwithstanding the determination at an annual town meeting that the number of constables of the town shall be three, the election of only two ousts the three elected the preceding year. People ex rel. Platner v. Jones, 17 Wend. 81.

Authority of a deputy clerk, who discharges duties of county clerk in consequence of the death of his principal, ceases on the appointment by the governor of another county clerk. People ex rel. Smith v. Fisher, 24 Wend. 215.

Successor duly qualified. Before a successor can be duly qualified to take an office, there must be united an appointment by competent authority, and such other proceedings as the law requires. People v. Woodruff, 32 N. Y. 355, 361; Pell v. Ulmar, 21 Barb. 500; Tappan v. Gray, 9 Paige, 507; People v. Van Horne, 18 Wend. 515, 518.

7. Constitutional provision as to justice of the peace. The constitution provides (art. 6, sec. 17), as follows: "The electors of the several towns, shall, at their annual town meetings, or at such other time and in such manner as the legislature may direct, elect justices of the peace, whose term of office shall be four years. In case of the election to fill a vacancy occurring before the expiration of the full term, they shall hold for the residue of the unexpired term. Their number and classification may be regulated by law. Justices of the peace and judges or justices of inferior courts not of record, and their clerks may be removed for cause, after due notice and an opportunity of being heard, by such courts as are or may be prescribed by law."

Power of legislature as to office of justice of the peace. The office of justice of the peace in towns is a constitutional office and cannot be abolished by the

When the electors of any town are entitled to vote for a justice of the peace, to fill a vacancy caused otherwise than by expiration of term, each elector may designate upon his ballot the person intended for a full term and for a vacancy, and if there are two vacancies, they may be designated as the longer and the shorter vacancy; and if three vacancies, the longer, shorter and shortest vacancy; and each person having the greatest number of votes with reference to each designation shall be deemed duly elected for the term or vacancy designated. If ballots are voted without designation, the first name on the ballot shall be deemed as intended for the full term of the office voted for, the second name for the longer vacancy, the third name for the shorter vacancy and the fourth name for the shortest legislature either directly or indirectly, so long as the town exists. Not only is the office itself placed beyond the reach of hostile legislation, but also the term thereof, the method of filling it, and, by implication, the method of removing the incumbent. People ex rel. Burby v. Howland, 155 N. Y. 270; 49 N. E. 775. In this case chapter 22 of the Laws of 1896, entitled "An act to provide for the better administration of justice in the town of Fort Edward, in the county of Washington," was under consideration. This act created the office of police justice in the town of Fort Edward and by depriving the justices of the peace in that town of fees, and by providing that such justices should not be compelled to take cognizance of criminal proceedings therein it indirectly deprived such justices of their jurisdiction, and it was held to constitute a pro tanto abolition of the office of justice of the peace, and it was to that extent unconstitutional. The court, in effect, decided that it is not in the power of the legislature to enact that justices of the peace in the state at large shall have certain powers and duties, except in one certain town, and that there only they shall not have those duties, and if they voluntarily attempt to discharge them, they shall have no power to enforce their judgment.

In the case of Matter of Gertum, 109 N. Y. 170; 16 N. E. 28, the court said: "It is undoubtedly beyond the power of the legislature by direct legislation, to abolish the office of justice of the peace in towns, or shorten their term of office so long as the town exists, but they have an unquestioned right to alter and change the limits of their jurisdiction or abolish the town organization altogether, provided it be done in good faith and for proper constitutional objects. The whole force and effect of the provision in relation to justices is satisfied by enforcing it, so long as there is a town organization in existence authorized under the constitution to elect justices of the peace and requiring the performance of their functions in the government of the town."

In the case of People ex rel. Clark v. Treacy, 46 App. Div. 216; 61 N. Y. Supp. 288, which arose under chapter 439 of the Laws of 1897, providing for the holding of town meetings in the towns in the counties of Orange, Rockland and Sullivan, it was held that the provisions of that act for the election of a justice of the peace to take office before the expiration of the full term of his predecessor was unconstitutional. This act also contained a provision for the election of a justice of the peace at a town meeting to be held in the vacancy.[8] The provisions of this section shall apply to new towns erected; and officers to be elected in such towns, except for a full term, shall be deemed elected to fill vacancies. [Town Law, § 56; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6149.]

§ 8. JUSTICES IN NEW TOWNS; UPON ERECTION OF NEW TOWNS, OR ANNEXATIONS, JUSTICES OF THE PEACE, HOW TO HOLD OFFICE.

If there be one or more justices of the peace residing in a new town, when erected, they shall be deemed justices of the peace thereof, and shall hold their offices according to their respective classes; and only so many shall be elected as shall be necessary to complete the number of four for the town. [Town Law, § 104; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6171.]

If by the election of a new town or the annexation of a part of one town to another, there shall at any time be more than four justices of the peace residing in any town, they shall hold and exercise their offices in the town in which they reside, according to their classes respectively; but on the expiration of the term of office of two or more justices, being in the same class, only one person shall be elected to fill the vacancy in that class. Whenever by the erection of a new town, or the annexation of a part of one town to another, any town shall be deprived of one or more justices of the peace, by their residence being within the part set off, the inhabitants of such town shall, at its next annual town meeting, supply the vacancy so produced in the classes to which such justices belong. [Town Law, § 105; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6171.]

year 1897, to take office on the first of January, 1899, instead of at a town meeting held immediately preceding such first day of January, 1899. The court intimated that the legislature could not direct the election of a constitutional officer at a date earlier than that of the election which next precedes the expiration of the term of the existing incumbent, and that, therefore, such provision of the statute was invalid.

7. Removal of justice of the peace. Section 18, art. 6, of the constitution provides that justices of the peace may be removed from office by such courts as may be prescribed by law, and the legislature by law prescribed the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court as the court to be vested with such power (see sec. 132 of the Code of Criminal Procedure), and it is the only court that the legislature has vested with such power. Matter of Prescott, 77 Hun, 518; 28 N. Y. Supp. 928.

8. Ballots for full term and vacancies. The provisions of the above section of the Town Law relating to ballots containing the names of candidates for

§ 8a. REDUCTION OF NUMBER OF JUSTICES IN TOWNS OF MONROE COUNTY TO ONE; ELECTION AND POWERS OF TOWN TRUSTEES.

Registered voters of a town in Monroe county, constituting at least five per centum of the total number registered, may, by written application addressed to the town clerk, and filed with him at least thirty days prior to a biennial town meeting or general election, require the submission in such town to such biennial town meeting or general election of the following proposition: "Shall the number of justices of the peace in the town of ..... (naming the town) be reduced to one and town trustees elected therein?" Notice of the submission of such proposition shall be given in the manner provided by law for the submission of propositions at biennial town meetings or general elections, as the case may be. If a majority of the votes cast on such proposition be in the affirmative, no justice of the peace shall thereafter be elected in such town except as provided in this section, but justices of the peace of such town shall continue in office until the expiration of their terms, respectively. At the biennial town meeting held next preceding the expiration of the term or terms of a justice or justices having the shortest term or terms to serve, there shall be elected one justice of the peace to hold office for a term of four years from the expiration of such term or terms. A successor to such justice shall in like manner and for a like term be elected at the biennial town meeting next preceding the expiration of his term of office. A justice of the peace elected in such town pursuant to this section, or theretofore elected, shall be a member of the town board of such town and shall otherwise have all the powers and duties conferred or imposed by law on justices of the peace in towns. When the number of justices of the peace in such town shall be reduced to one, as provided by this section, such justice shall in addition have power to act in bastardy proceedings without associating with himself another magistrate of the same county, as required by statute. When the number of the justices of the peace in such town shall have been reduced to one, pursuant to this section, the town board of such town may, by resolution, determine that the justice of the peace thereof shall receive an annual salary and may fix such salary, and thereupon all fees to which such justice may be entitled shall be collected by him and paid to the supervisor of the town, and be applicable to general town purposes. There shall be elected in such town at the biennial town meeting first held after the vacancies in the office of justice of the peace is to be construed in connection with sec. 331, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 537, of the Election Law.

adoption of such proposition two town trustees to hold office for terms of four years from the expiration of the term or terms of the justices of the peace of such town having on the date of such town meeting the shortest term or terms to serve. There shall also be elected in such town at the second biennial town meeting after the adoption of such proposition two town trustees to hold office for terms of four years from the expiration of the term or terms of the justices of the peace of such town having on the date of such town meeting the shortest term or terms to serve. Successors of such town trustees shall be elected for full terms of four years at the biennial town meeting next preceding the expiration of the terms of their predecessors in office. Town trustees shall be members of the town board of such town, and as such members shall have all the powers and duties and receive the same compensation as the town clerk of such town is entitled to receive as a member of the town board. Such a town trustee shall also, within the town, have all the powers of a justice of the peace to administer oaths and affidavits and take acknowledgments, upon filing his autograph signature with the county clerk of the county in which such town is located, and also with the register of such county, if there be one. [Town Law, § 105a, as added by L. 1918, ch. 302.]

§ 9. CERTIFICATE OF ELECTION OF JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

The town clerk of each town shall, within ten days after the election of a justice of the peace has been declared, transmit to the clerk of his county a certificate showing the result of such election under his hand, which shall be presumptive evidence of the fact therein certified.[9] [Town Law, § 94; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6166.]

§ 10. TOWN SUPERINTENDENTS OF HIGHWAYS, ELECTION AND TERM OF OFFICE, VACANCIES; OFFICE OF HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER ABOLISHED; DEPUTIES.

Election of town superintendent of highways. At the biennial town meeting held next after the taking effect of this chapter, there shall be elected in each town a town superintendent of highways. A successor to the town superintendent, so elected, shall be elected at each biennial town meeting held thereafter in such town, unless the town shall have adopted as provided in section forty-one a resolution that thereafter the town superintendent shall be appointed by the town board. [Highway Law, § 40; B. C. & G., Cons. L., p. 2181.]

Submission of proposition for appointment of town superintendent. Upon the written request of twenty-five taxpayers of any town, made and filed as provided in the town law, the electors thereof may, at a special or biennial town meeting, vote by ballot upon a proposition providing for the appointment of a town superintendent in such town. Such proposition shall be submitted in the manner provided by law for the submission of questions or propositions at a town meeting. If such proposition be adopted, the town board of the town shall, upon the expiration of the term of office of the elected town superintendent, appoint a town superintendent therefor, who shall take and hold office for the term hereinafter prescribed. Upon like request the electors of any town in which the office of superintendent of highways is appointed may, in like manner, determine that the superintendent of highways for such town shall thereafter be elected, as provided in section forty of the highway law.[9a] [Highway Law, § 41, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 47; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 2181.]

Term of office of town superintendent. The term of office of a town superintendent elected or appointed, as provided in this article, shall be two years. If such town superintendent be elected at a town meeting held at the time of a general election, his term shall begin on the first day of January succeeding his election. If such town superintendent shall have been elected at a town meeting held at any other time, his term of office shall begin on the first Monday succeeding his election. If such town superintendent shall have been appointed pursuant to a proposition adopted, as provided in the preceding section, his term shall begin on the first day of January succeeding his appointment, and the town board shall meet prior to that day, for the appointment of such town superintendent. [Highway Law, § 42, as amended by L. 1917, ch. 562; and L. 1918, ch. 372; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 2182.]

Vacancies; office of highway commissioner abolished. Vacancies in the office of town superintendent shall be filled for the balance of the unexpired term. The office of highway commissioner in each town is hereby abolished, to take effect on and after November first, nineteen hundred and nine.

9a. Effect of vote. This section does not have the effect of making the office of town superintendent of highways permanently appointive when such proposition has been approved by the electors. A subsequent election may again make the position elective. People ex rel. Dare v. Howell (1916), 174 App. Div. 118, 160 N. Y. Supp. 959.

Highway Law, § 44; Town Law, § 112.

Where the office of highway commissioner shall become vacant by expiration of term or otherwise, after the taking effect of this chapter, and prior to the said first day of November, nineteen hundred and nine, such vacancies shall be filled for a term to expire on such date. Highway commissioners in office when this chapter or any section hereof takes effect shall exercise the powers and perform the duties hereby conferred and imposed upon town superintendents until the said first day of November, nineteen hundred and nine, and until their successors shall have duly qualified, whereupon such powers and duties shall cease and determine. [Highway Law, § 43; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 2183.]

Deputy town superintendent. The town board of a town may, in its discretion, upon the written recommendation of the town superintendent, appoint a deputy town superintendent, to be nominated by such town superintendent, to assist him in the performance of his duties. Such deputy superintendent shall act as such during the pleasure of the town superintendent.[10] [Highway Law, § 44; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 2184.]

§ 11. OVERSEERS OF POOR; DETERMINATION OF NUMBER; RESOLUTION TO BE VOTED FOR; APPOINTMENT OF OVERSEER BY TOWN BOARD.

The electors of each town may, at their biennial town meeting, determine by resolution whether they will elect one or two overseers of the poor, and the number so determined upon shall be thereafter biennially elected for a term of two years.

Whenever any town shall have determined upon having two overseers of the poor, the electors thereof may determine by a resolution at a biennial town meeting, to thereafter have but one, and if they so determine thereafter no other overseer shall be elected or appointed, until the term of the overseer continuing in office at the time of adopting the resolution shall expire or become vacant, and the overseer in office may continue to act until his term shall expire or become vacant.[11] The electors of any town

10. Superintendent of highways may not appoint a deputy. He must be appointed, if at all, in the manner prescribed in this section. If appointed otherwise his acts may not be imputed to the superintendent, nor is the town liable therefor. Lynch v. Town of Rhinebeck (1913), 210 N. Y. 101, 103 N. E. 888.

11. A resolution for the determination of the question as to whether one or may, at any biennial or regularly called special town meeting on the application of at least twenty-five resident taxpayers whose names appear upon the then last preceding town assessment-roll, adopt by ballot a resolution that there shall be appointed in and for such town one overseer of the poor.[12] If a majority of the ballots so cast shall be in favor of appointing an overseer of the poor, no overseer of the poor shall thereafter be elected in such town except as hereinafter provided, and the overseers of the poor of such town elected at the town meeting at which such resolution is adopted or who shall then be in office shall continue to hold office for the terms for which they were respectively chosen; and within thirty days before the expiration of the term of office of such elected overseer whose term expires latest, the town board of such town shall meet and appoint one overseer of the poor for such town, who shall hold office for one year from the first day of May next after his appointment; and annually in the month of April in each year thereafter an overseer of the poor shall be appointed by the town board of such town for the term of one year from the first day of May next following such month of April. Each overseer of the poor so appointed shall execute and file with the town clerk an official undertaking in such form and for such sum as the town board may by resolution require and approve.[13]

An overseer of the poor, so appointed, shall not hold any other town office during the term for which he is so appointed, and if he shall accept an election or appointment to any other town office he shall immediately cease to be an overseer of the poor. If a vacancy shall occur in the office of an overseer of the poor, so appointed, such vacancy shall be filled by the town board, by appointment, for the balance of the unexpired term. The compensation of an overseer of the poor so appointed, shall be fixed by the town board of such town, but shall not exceed, in any one year, the two overseers of the poor shall be elected in the town may be submitted to the electors upon motion without a ballot under sec. 60 of the Town Law, ante.

12. The question of the appointment of an overseer of the poor must be be submitted on a written application of at least twenty-five resident taxpayers and must be voted upon by ballot. The provisions of section 48 of the Town Law, ante, relating to the submission of propositions to be voted upon by ballot at a town meeting are applicable to the submission of such question.

13. Undertaking of overseer. The above section requires an undertaking of an overseer of the poor appointed as provided therein, which must be in such form and for such sum as the town board may by resolution require and approve. A provision for the approval of the undertaking of an overseer so appointed by the town board would, therefore, seem to supersede the provisions of section 113 of the Town Law (see post, p. 307), to the effect that an undertaking of an elected or appointed overseer must be approved by the supervisor. The undertaking of an overseer elected under the above section of the Town Law would be subject in every respect to the provisions of such section 113. The sum of one thousand dollars and shall be a town charge.[14] At any subsequent town meeting after the expiration of three years from the adoption of a resolution by any town to appoint an overseer of the poor, the electors of the town may determine by ballot to thereafter elect one or more overseers of the poor, and if they determine so to elect, then at the next biennial town meeting thereafter one or more overseers of the poor shall be elected in pursuance of the laws regulating the election of overseers of the poor, and the term or terms of the overseer or overseers first so elected shall commence upon the expiration of the term of office of the overseer of the poor last theretofore appointed in pursuance of law, and shall expire as though each such term commenced at the time of election; and their successors shall thereafter be elected in pursuance of law.

In each town having a population of twenty thousand or over, the town board may fix the compensation of overseers of the poor at not to exceed twelve hundred dollars per year, and which shall be a town charge.

The compensation so fixed shall be taken and accepted by such overseer of the poor in lieu of any per diem or fees from the town from the time such salary shall go into effect. [Town Law, § 112, as amended by L. 1912, ch. 203; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6174.]

§ 12. SPECIAL CONSTABLES; APPOINTMENT AND POWERS.

The supervisor and two justices of the peace of any town may, when in their judgment necessary for the preservation of the public peace during any period of ninety days or less, appoint five or less special constables of such town for such period. Duplicate certificates of the appointment, signed by such supervisor and such justices of the peace as such, shall be delivered to each of such special constables, specifying the days for which he is so appointed, and one of such duplicates shall be by such special constables filed with the town clerk of said town. The supervisor of such town shall cause to be provided and furnished to each of such special constables a badge on which shall be plainly printed the words " special constable," which shall be worn conspicuously by each of such special constables while serving as such, and be delivered by him on the completion of his service to the supervisor of such town, who shall preserve the same for future use and deliver the same to his successor in office who shall preserve the same when not in use. The town board in any town where the assessed valuation of property exceeds eight million dollars may by resolution appoint such number of special constables of such town as there shall be election districts therein to preserve the public peace at the polls in such election districts throughout the holding of any general election, one such constable to serve at each said polling place, whose compensation shall be five dollars for such ser-provisions of section 113 of the Town Law, post, apply to the undertaking of an overseer of the poor, whether elected or appointed.

14. Compensation of overseer. The compensation of an overseer appointed under the above section may be fixed by the town board. The compensation of elected overseers is fixed by section 85, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 491, L. 1915, chs. 73, 452, L. 1916, chs. 93, 554, and L. 1918, chs. 117, 123, 359, 360, 387, of the Town Law at $2.00 per day.

The town clerk shall issue a certificate of appointment to each of such special constables specify the time for which he is so appointed and there shall be provided to each of such special constables, a badge on which shall be plainly printed the words " special constable," which shall be worn conspicuously by each of such special constables while serving as such and delivered by him on the completion of his service to the town clerk who shall preserve the same for future use. Such compensation and the cost of such badges are hereby declared to be town charges. [Town Law, § 117, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 148, and L. 1915, ch. 23; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6178.]

Each of the special constables, appointed pursuant to section one hundred and seventeen of this chapter, while in office as such, shall be a peace officer, and have all the powers and be subject to all the duties and liabilities of a constable of such town in all criminal actions and proceedings and special proceedings of a criminal nature, and shall be entitled to receive compensation from the town at the rate of wages previously established by the town board for such services. [Town Law, § 118, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 148; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6178.]

§ 13. ELECTION OFFICERS; THEIR DESIGNATION, NUMBER AND QUALIFICATIONS.

There shall be in every election district of this state the following election officers namely, four inspectors, two poll clerks and two ballot clerks, whose terms of office, except as hereinafter prescribed, shall be for one year from the date of their appointment or election, and who shall serve at every general, special or other election held within their districts during such term. The term of office of inspectors of election in towns shall be for two years. In a city of over one million inhabitants, there shall be in every election district four additional inspectors, who shall serve at every such election after the closing of the polls and until the canvass is completed and returns thereof made as provided by law. They shall be designated in the appointment as canvassing inspectors, and the same person shall not be eligible to serve, under an original appointment or vacancy appointment, at both the taking and canvassing of the vote. Such canvassing inspectors, at the closing of the polls, shall take the place of the inspectors, poll clerks and ballot clerks who have served prior thereto, except as otherwise provided in section three hundred and sixty-six-a.

No person shall be appointed or elected an inspector of election, poll clerk or ballot clerk who is not a qualified voter of the county if within the city of New York, or of the city if in any other city, or of the election district of the town in which he is to serve, of good character, able to speak and read the English language understandingly, and to write it legibly, and who does not possess a general knowledge of the duties of the office to which he is elected or appointed, or who is a candidate for any office to be voted for by the voters of the district in which he is to serve, or who has been convicted of a felony and not restored to citizenship, or who holds any public office except that of notary public or commissioner of deeds, town or village assessor, justice of the peace, police justice of a village, village trustee, water commissioner, officer of a school district, or overseer of highways, whether elected or appointed, or who is employed in any public office or by any public officer whose services are paid for out of the public money other than is excepted herein.[15]

Each class of such officers shall be equally divided between the two political parties which at the general election next preceding that for which such officers are to serve, cast the highest and the next highest number of votes.[16] The canvassing inspectors, in a city of over one million inhabitants, shall be so equally divided between such parties. Where election officers are appointed the qualifications required of them by this section shall be determined by an examination as provided in this chapter. [Election Law, § 302, as amended by L. 1914, ch. 239, and by L. 1918, ch. 323; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1497.]

§ 14. ELECTION OFFICERS IN TOWNS AT GENERAL ELECTIONS; POLL CLERKS AND BALLOT CLERKS.

Except as provided in section two hundred and ninety-six, inspectors of election in towns shall be appointed by the town board in each year in which a town meeting is held for the election of town officers, and within thirty days thereafter. Such appointments shall be made from lists to be prepared, certified and filed in the manner hereinafter provided, by the two political parties entitled to representation on a board of election officers. The town caucus or primary held by each such political party for the purpose of nominating town officers shall prepare a list containing the names of at least two persons, qualified to serve as inspectors of election, for each election district in said town, which lists shall be certified by the presiding officer and a secretary of said caucus or primary, and filed with the town clerk in the same manner and at the same time as the party certificate of nomination filed by said party. From each of the two lists so filed, the town board shall appoint two persons who possess the qualifications prescribed by law for election officers. If in any town more than one such list be submitted on behalf or in the name of the same political party, only that list can be accepted which is certified by the proper officer or officers of the faction of such party which was recognized as regular by the last preceding state convention of such party; or if no such convention was held during the year, by the proper officer or officers of the faction of such party, which at the time of the filing of such list is recognized as regular by the state committee of such party.

Such appointment shall be made in writing and filed with the town clerk, who shall forthwith notify each person so appointed of his appointment to said office, in the manner in which he is now by law required to give notice to a person of his election to a town office when his name does not appear upon the poll list at the town meeting at which he was elected to said office. From the additional names, if any, contained on the lists so filed, of persons qualified to serve as such, the town board shall appoint inspectors of election in case of the resignation, declination or other incapacity of persons appointed to such office. If such lists contain no additional names of such persons, the town board shall fill vacancies caused by such resignation, declination or other incapacity by appointing persons known, or proved to the satisfaction of a majority of the members of said board to be members of the same political party in which such vacancy occurred. All appointments to fill vacancies shall be made in writing and filed with the town clerk, and notices thereof given by him as hereinbefore provided in the case of an original appointment.[16] [Election Law, § 311; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1503.]

At the first meeting in each year of the board of inspectors in every district in a town, one poll clerk and one ballot clerk shall be appointed by the two inspectors of election representing one of the political parties entitled to representation on such board, and one poll clerk and one ballot clerk shall be appointed by the two inspectors representing the other political party. Such appointments shall be in writing, signed by the inspectors making the appointments respectively, and shall be filed by them with the town clerk of the town in which such election district is situated, and a copy thereof with the post-office address of each person so appointed shall be mailed to the clerk of the county.

The poll clerks and ballot clerks so appointed shall hold their office during the term of office of the inspectors appointing them, except as hereinafter provided. The persons so appointed as poll clerks and ballot clerks shall be voters in the district in which they are appointed to serve, and shall possess the qualifications required of such officers by section three hundred and two of this article.

If at the time of any election at which poll clerks and ballot clerks are required to be present at the polling place in any election district, the office of a poll clerk or of a ballot clerk of such district shall be vacant, or a poll clerk or a ballot clerk shall be absent, the inspectors of election in such district shall forthwith appoint a person to fill such vacancy. Such person so appointed shall, before he acts as such poll clerk or ballot clerk, take the constitutional and statutory oaths of office. [Election Law, § 312; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1504.]

§ 15. ERECTION OR DISCONTINUANCE OF POUNDS; ELECTION OF POUNDMASTERS.

Whenever the electors of any town shall determine at a biennial town meeting, to erect one or more pounds therein, and whenever a pound shall now be erected in any town, the same shall be kept under the care and direction of a pound-master, to be elected or appointed for that purpose. The electors of any town may, at a biennial town meeting, discontinue any pounds therein. [Town Law, § 410; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6241.]

Pound-masters may be elected either (1) by ballot; (2) by ayes and noes, or (3) by the rising or dividing of the electors, as the electors may determine. [Town Law, § 411; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6241.]

Explanatory note.

CHAPTER XXI.

TOWN OFFICERS; ELIGIBILITY, OATHS OF OFFICE, UNDERTAKINGS, VACANCIES, RESIGNATIONS.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

Persons Eligible to Town Office.

Every elector of the town is eligible to any town office. Inspectors of election must be able to read and write.

A county treasurer, superintendent of the poor, school commissioner trustee of a school district, or a United States loan commissioner is not eligible to the office of supervisor. The courts have held that a school trustee who seeks election as supervisor must resign prior to election. It will not do for him to wait until after election upon the assumption that he may not be elected as supervisor.

There are certain general provisions as to the qualification to hold public office which apply to town offices as well as all other public offices. For instance the person elected to a town office must be of full age, a citizen of the United States, a resident of the state and town for which he is chosen.

Oaths of Office.

Every person elected or appointed to town office must take and subscribe the constitutional oath of office, within ten days after receiving notice of his election. Such oath must be filed in the town clerk's office within eight days after the taking thereof. A failure to so take and file the oath of office will be deemed a refusal to serve and the office may be filled by appointment by the town board. It has been held by the courts that if a town officer takes and files his oath before his term begins there is no vacancy which the town board can appoint.

The form of the oath is prescribed by Constitution Art. XIII, § 1. No other test or oath may be required.

Explanatory note.

Official Undertakings.

Supervisors, justices of the peace, town superintendents of highways, overseers of the poor, collectors and constables are required within a prescribed time after entering upon the duties of their offices to make and deliver to the town clerk, official undertakings in such amounts, with such sureties and upon such conditions as are prescribed by statute. All of these officers are under certain circumstances the custodians of, or are responsible for, moneys belonging to the town or its inhabitants; the town is therefore protected by means of undertakings.

A supervisor is required to give three separate undertakings: one a general undertaking securing generally the faithful discharge of his official duties, and the payment of moneys in his hands belonging to the town (Town Law, § 100); one for the "faithful disbursement, safe keeping and accounting" of highway moneys (Highway Law, § 104); and one for the disbursement and accounting of school moneys (Education Law, § 363). The form and effect of the undertakings of other town officers are prescribed by the several sections of the town law applicable thereto.

Resignations; Removal.

Resignations of town officers should be made to the justices of the peace of the town. Such resignations take effect when accepted by three of the justices, when so accepted notices are to be filed with the town clerk. The resignations should be in writing addressed to the justices or the town clerk. There is an apparent discrepancy between § 84 of the Town Law and § 31 of the Public officers Law as to how a town officer should resign. The latter section indicates that a resignation takes effect upon its delivery to the town clerk, while the Town Law seems to require acceptance by the justices before a resignation takes effect. The safer procedure would be to deliver the resignation to the town clerk, and then request an acceptance by the justices.

A town officer may be removed by proceedings brought in the Supreme Court, as provided in § 36 of the Public Officers Law. Justices of the Peace are removable by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court as provided in § 132 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. Town superintendents of highways are removable by the town board as provided in § 46 of the Highway Law.

Vacancies.

Vacancies are created by death, resignation, removal from office, removal from the town, conviction of a crime involving a violation of an oath of office, or refusal or neglect to file an official oath or undertaking. Such vacancies are filed by appointment of the town board.

1. Constitutional provision. Article 13, sec. 1, of the constitution prescribes the constitutional oath of office and declares that "no other oath, declaration or test shall be required as a qualification for any office of public trust."

But no county treasurer, superintendent of the poor, school commissioner, trustee of a school district, or United State loan commissioner, shall be eligible to the office of supervisor of any town or ward in this state.[2] [Town Law, § 81; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6158.]

Inspectors of election. Qualifications of inspectors of election are prescribed by the Election Law, par. 2 of § 302, as amended by L. 1914, ch. 239, and L. 1918, ch. 323 (Jewett's Election Manual, 1918), which provides as follows: "No person shall be appointed or elected an inspector of election, poll clerk or ballot clerk who is not a qualified voter of the county if within the city of New York, or of the city if in any other city, or of the election district of the town in which he is to serve, of good character, able to speak and read the English language understandingly, and to write it legibly, and who does not possess a general knowledge of the duties of the office to which he is elected or appointed, or who is a candidate for any office to be voted for by the electors of the district in which he is to serve, or who has been convicted of a felony and not restored to citizenship, or who holds any public office except that of notary public or commissioner of deeds, town or village assessor, justice of the peace, police justice of a village, village trustee, water commissioner, officer of a school district, overseer of highway, whether elected or appointed, or who is employed in any public office or by any public officer whose services are paid for out of public money other than is excepted herein."

Town superintendent of highways. A resident of an incorporated village within the boundary of a town is eligible to the office of town superintendent of highways. Rept. of Atty. Genl., March 14, 1911.

2. Eligibility of supervisor. The disqualification imposed by the above section that "no trustee of a school district shall be eligible to the office of supervisor of any town or ward in this state," applies to the capacity of a candidate for election, as well as for holding the office. The intention of the statute is that the electors, in making the choice of a person for the office of supervisor, must be confined to the selection of such person only as it is not then under any legal disqualification to exercise its powers and perform its duties. As a trustee of a school district is incapable of being elected supervisor of a town as well as of holding the office of supervisor, no right to that office is acquired by resigning the office of trustee after having received a majority of the votes cast for the office of supervisor at a town meeting, and before qualifying as supervisor. People v. Purdy, 154 N. Y. 439; 48 N. E. 821. It follows from this decision that a school trustee who has been nominated for the office of supervisor should resign such office before the town meeting. The court in discussing this question says: "The statute, we think, does not contemplate that a person who is disqualified to hold the office may, nevertheless, be lawfully elected upon the chance that subsequently he may, by his own act, or by the happening of some event, remove the disqualification, and thus become entitled to fill it. The general rule is that the electors, in making the choice, must be confined to the selection of such persons only as are not then under any legal disqualification to exercise its powers and perform its duties. The electors can then know that when the choice is made and legally declared the object for which the election was held has been accomplished, and that there is no legal obstruction in the way to prevent their will, as thus expressed, from becoming effective."

In respect to the eligibility of a school trustee to hold the office of supervisor reference must be made to section 222 of the Education Law, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 140, which provides that no supervisor is "eligible to the office of trustee or member of a board of education." It has been held that since this provision as amended is a later enactment than the Town Law, it supersedes such law, and that therefore the law is complied with if the supervisor resigns his office as trustee prior to taking his office as supervisor. People ex rel. Martin v. Kenyon, 152 App. Div. 898.

§ 2. QUALIFICATION FOR HOLDING OFFICE; GENERAL PROVISIONS.

No person shall be capable of holding a civil office who shall not, at the time he shall be chosen thereto, be of full age, a citizen of the United States, a resident of the state, and if it be a local office, a resident of the political subdivision or municipal corporation of the state for which he shall be chosen, or within which the electors electing him reside, or within which his official functions are required to be exercised.[3] [Public Officers Law, § 3; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4620.]

§ 3. OATHS OF OFFICE OF TOWN OFFICERS; HOW ADMINISTERED; FILED IN TOWN CLERK'S OFFICE; EFFECT OF FAILURE TO EXECUTE AND FILE OATH AND UNDERTAKING.

Every person elected or appointed to any town office, except justice of the peace, shall before he enters on the duties of his office, and within ten days after he shall be notified of his election or appointment, take and

Notary public by moving his residence to another state forfeits his office. Rept. of Atty. Genl., Feb. 20, 1911.

Forfeiture of office. All candidates for town offices elected at a town meeting are required to file a statement of their election expenses with the town clerk, within ten days after the town meeting. If the person has been elected to a town office and fails to file such statement, he is guilty of a misdemeanor, and forfeits his office. Penal Law, § 776, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 439. (Jewett's Election Manual, 1918.)

A person who asks or receives any gratuity or reward for appointing or procuring the appointment of another person to a public office, or to a subordinate position in such an office is guilty of a misdemeanor, and if such person is a public officer, upon conviction he also forfeits his office. Penal Law, § 1832. A public officer, who, for any gratuity or reward grants to another the right to discharge any function of his office, or permits another to make appointments subscribe before some officer authorized by law to administer oaths in his county, the constitutional oath of office, and such other oath as may be required by law, which shall be administered and certified by the officer taking the same without reward, and shall within eight days be filed in the office of the town clerk, which shall be deemed an acceptance of the office; and a neglect or omission to take and file such oath, or a neglect to execute and file, within the time required by law, any official bond or undertaking, shall be deemed a refusal to serve, and the office may be filled as in case of vacancy.[4] [Town Law, § 83; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6160.]

or perform any of its duties, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction forfeits his office. Penal Law, § 1833. The acceptance of bribes by the executive officer is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison not exceeding ten years, or by a fine not exceeding $5,000, or by both; and in addition thereto, the officer if convicted forfeits his office and is forever disqualified from holding any public office in this state. Penal Law, §§ 1823, 382. If a public officer is convicted of a felony his office is forfeited. Penal Law, §§ 510, 511.

Acting as public officer without having qualified. A person who executes any of the functions of a public office without having taken and duly filed the required oath of office, or without having executed and duly filed the required security, is guilty of a misdemeanor. Penal Law, § 1820. But this section of the Penal Law is not construed to affect the validity of acts done by a person exercising the functions of a public office in effect where other persons than himself are interested in maintainging the validity of such acts.

4. Constitutional oath. The form of an official oath as prescribed by the constitution, art. 13, sec. 1, is as follows: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support the constitution of the United States, and the constitution of the state of New York, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of the office of ————————, according to the best of my ability." And the constitution also provides in this section that all such officers who shall have been chosen at any election shall, before they enter on the duties of their respective offices, take and subscribe the oath or affirmation above prescribed, together with the following addition thereto: "And I do further solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have not directly or indirectly paid, offered or promised to pay, contributed, or offered or promised to contribute any money or other valuable thing as a consideration or reward for the giving or withholding a vote at the election at which I was elected to said office, and have not made any promise to influence the giving or withholding any such vote."

Filing oath of office. The provisions of the above section as to the time within which a town clerk must take and file his constitutional oath of office are directory merely. If he takes and files such oath before his term begins, and before his office is declared forfeited by judicial action no vacancy exists, and the town board cannot appoint. Matter of Drury, 39 Misc. 288, 79 N. Y. Supp. 498.

Oath of justice of the peace. A justice of the peace is required to take his oath of office before the county clerk after filing a certificate of the town clerk that he has filed the required undertaking. See Town Law, sec. 106, post.

General provision as to oath of office. Public Officers Law, § 10 as amended

Town Law, § 88.

§ 4. TOWN OFFICERS TO ADMINISTER OATHS.

Any town officer may administer any necessary oath in any matter or by L. 1913, ch. 59, is in effect the same as the above section of the Town Law. Under section 13 of the Public Officers Law it is made the duty of the officer with whom an oath of office is to be filed, in the case of town officers the town clerk, to give notice to the town board of the failure of a town officer to take and file an official oath within the time required by law. The failure to file the official oath creates a vacancy which the town board may fill. (See Town Law, sec. 130, post; Public Officers Law, sec. 30, sub. 7, post.)

Effect of failure to file an oath. The failure of a town officer to take and file his oath as required in the above section does not affect his powers and rights as such officer. See Horton v. Parson, 37 Hun 42, 45, where the court says: "It may not appear entirely clear that a person elected to the office of overseer of the poor, who has failed to take the oath of office, and for that reason is charged with refusal to serve, which permits an election to fill the vacancy thereby occasioned, is an officer de jure in the strict sense of that term, since by the terms of the statute his right to perform the duties of the office seems dependent on his taking the oath. But it has been held in effect that the statute is not self-executing, and does not work a forfeiture for the cause it affords, but that it must come from some act, judicial or otherwise, which effectually ousts him and severs his relation to the office and that until then he is practically an officer de jure, having defeasible title to the office." This proposition seems to have been sustained in the case of Foot v. Stiles, 57 N. Y. 399, where it was held that a failure to file an official bond did not ipso facto affect the office, and the rule was laid down that in such a case the officer holds by defeasible title and until the forfeiture is judicially declared, he is rightfully in office, at least so far as the rights of third persons are concerned, and the question cannot be raised collaterally. See, also, People v. Crissey, 91 N. Y. 635; In re Kendall, 85 N. Y. 305; People ex rel. Conlin v. Martin, 23 N. Y. Supp. 730; Adams v. Tator, 42 Hun, 384.

It was expressly held in the case of People ex rel. Brooks v. Watts, 73 Hun 404; 26 N. Y. Supp. 280, that the rule, as it existed under the revised statutes, with reference to vacancies in office by reason of the neglect or omission of a person elected to a town office to take and file an oath of office was not changed by the provisions of the above section of the Town Law. It therefore follows that the cases above cited are still controlling, and the rule now is that the defect or omission, if any, in regard either to an official bond or an official oath makes the officer's title defeasible and affords a cause for forfeiture, but does not create a vacancy. A vacancy in such case can only be effected by a direct proceeding for that purpose.

Failure to file oath deemed a refusal to serve and authorizes the filling of the vacancy. People ex rel. Williamson v. McKinney, 52 N. Y. 374. See, also, Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1896) 120.

It has been held that the failure of the oath of office, filed by one duly elected to a town office, to state that he did not buy any votes as required by section 1 of article 13 of the Constitution, precludes him from entering upon the duties of his office, and he is not therefore entitled to maintain an action to oust one duly appointed to fill the vacancy. People ex rel. Ketor v. Preston, 169 App. Div. 368, 154 N. Y. Supp. 1007.

Acceptance of office. Under the above section of the Town Law the filing of an official oath, as required therein, is to be deemed an acceptance of the office, and an omission to take and file such oath within the time required by law is a refusal to serve, and the office may be filled as in case of vacancy. In construing such provisions with the provisions of section 100 of the Town Law, proceeding lawfully before him, or to any paper to be filed with him as such officer.[5] [Town Law, § 88; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6163.]

§ 5. SUPERVISOR'S UNDERTAKING.

Every supervisor hereafter elected or appointed shall, within thirty days after entering upon his office, make and deliver to the town clerk of the town his undertaking, with such sureties as the town board shall prescribe, to the effect that he will well and faithfully discharge his official duties as such supervisor, and that he will well and truly keep, pay over and account for all moneys and property, including the local school fund, if any, belonging to his town and coming into his hands as such supervisor; and such undertaking shall, after its execution, be presented to the town board for their approval as to its form, and the sufficiency of the sureties therein, and until the same shall be so approved, none of the moneys, books, documents, papers or property of the town shall be turned over or delivered to such supervisor elect.[6] [Town Law, § 100; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6169.]

providing that every supervisor shall within thirty days after entering upon his office, deliver his undertaking to the town clerk, which shall be presented to the town board for approval, and until approved none of the moneys, etc., of the town shall be delivered over to the supervisor elect, the Court of Appeals, in the case of Matter of Bradley, 141 N. Y. 527; 36 N. E. 598, said: "It is very clear that the law contemplates two steps by the candidate elected to office, the first to be taken on his filing of his oath of office. When that has been done, the office is deemed to have been accepted and that is equivalent to saying that the officer elect has entered upon its duties. It is after so entering upon his office, and within a specified time thereafter, that he is required to execute and submit his undertaking. That he is regarded as in office when he has filed his oath, is perfectly clear from the provision that neglect to file the oath within the prescribed time causes a vacancy. When he has evidenced in the required manner his acceptance of the office to which elected, his predecessor is out and has no further standing as a member of the town board."

5. A constitutional oath of office may be taken "before some officer authorized by law to administer oaths;" it is probable that a constitutional oath of office may be taken before a town clerk.

6. Official bond of supervisor. A supervisor upon receiving the school commissioner's certificate of appointment and before receiving the school moneys so apportioned to his town, must give a bond to the county treasurer conditioned for the faithful disbursement, safe keeping and accounting of such moneys. Education Law, § 373.

A supervisor, before receiving or disbursing any funds on account of the bonded railroad debt of a town, is required to give a bond, with sureties, who may justify in a sum double the amount received, to be approved by the town clerk.

Sureties on the general bond of a supervisor will not be held liable for defaults covered by a special bond which was not given. Town of Whitestown v. Title Guaranty & Surety Co., 72 Misc. 498.

§ 6. BONDS TO INDEMNIFY SUPERVISOR AGAINST LOSS OF DEPOSITS.

The supervisor of any town may purchase a surety bond of some solvent surety company, authorized to do business in the state of New York, securing to such supervisor the safety of town funds deposited by him in any bank or banking institution in this state, and indemnifying him against the loss thereof through the failure or insolvency of such bank or banking institution, and the cost of such bond shall be a town charge and shall be audited and paid in the same manner as other town charges. [Town Law, § 101; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6170.]

§ 7. JUSTICE'S UNDERTAKIKNG; OATH OF OFFICE TO BE TAKEN BEFORE COUNTY CLERK; CERTIFICATE THAT HE HAS FILED UNDERTAKING.

Every justice of the peace elected or appointed in any of the towns or cities of this state, except the city of New York and any city whose

Form of undertaking. The form and contents of an undertaking, the force and effect thereof, and the validation of the official acts of the officer before filing his oath of office and making an undertaking are prescribed in the Public Officers Law, secs. 11, 12, 15, post. See, also, Town Law, sec. 13, post, p. 311. For form of undertaking of a supervisor, see Form No. 20, post.

Sufficiency and approval of undertaking. In the case of Sutherland v. Carr, 85 N. Y. 105, a bond was given by a supervisor to a person holding the office of town clerk who was named therein as obligee, and was described as "town clerk," and the penal sum of the undertaking was made payable "to the said town clerk or his successor in office." In an action upon the undertaking it was held that the bond was not to the individual, but to the officer; and so was in compliance with the requirements of the statute and was valid. As to the interpretation of an official undertaking of a supervisor, see People ex rel. Johnson v. Martin, 62 Barb. 570; 43 How. 52.

A supervisor is deemed to have accepted his office upon the filing of his oath, and at such time he has in legal effect entered upon the performance of the duties of his office. The execution and filing of an undertaking is not necessarily a condition precedent to the entering upon his duties. Upon filing his oath he becomes a member of the town board. The undertaking executed by him must be presented to the town board for its approval, but he should not act with the town board in the approval of his own bond. Such approval should be given by the other members of the board. Matter of Bradley, 141 N. Y. 527; 36 N. E. 598; affg. 21 N. Y. Supp. 167.

The execution of an undertaking by a supervisor and its approval by the town board is a condition precedent to the right of the supervisor to take over the town moneys, books, etc., into his custody.

An action on an official undertaking of the supervisor for a failure to pay over moneys for the local school fund must be maintained by a county treasurer. Palmer v. Roods, 116 App. Div. 66, 101 N. Y. Supp. 186.

charter requires such officer to give a bond or undertaking, shall, before he enters upon the duties of his office, execute an undertaking with two sureties to be approved by the supervisor of the town, or the town clerk thereof, where the justice of the peace is also supervisor of the town,[7] or the common council of the city in which the justice shall reside, to the effect that he will pay over on demand, to the officer, person or persons entitled to the same, all moneys received by him by virtue of his office, and file the undertaking in the office of the clerk of the city or town in which he resides.[8]

Every justice shall also, on or before the fifteenth day of January next succeeding his election, file with the county clerk a certificate of the clerk of the city or town in which he resides, that he has filed such undertaking. Such justice of the peace shall take and subscribe before some officer authorized by law to administer oaths in his county, the constitutional oath of office, upon blanks to be furnished by the county clerk. Such oath shall be in duplicate, one of which shall be filed in the office of the county clerk and one in the office of the town clerk. If elected or appointed to fill a vacancy, at the time existing or in any new town, he shall file such undertaking and certificate and take the oath of office, and enter upon the duties thereof, within fifteen days after notice of his election or appointment. No justice of the peace shall take his oath of office until he shall have filed such certificate with the county clerk. [Town Law, § 106; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6172.]

§ 8. OFFICIAL ACTS LEGALIZED WHEN JUSTICE OF THE PEACE FAILS TO TAKE OFFICIAL OATH OR GIVE UNDERTAKING.

The official acts heretofore done of every justice of the peace, duly elected or appointed to the office, so far as such official acts may be affected, impaired or questioned, by reason of the failure of any such justice to take and subscribe the official oath, or give an official bond as required by law, are hereby legalized, ratified and confirmed.[9] [Town Law, § 15; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6137.]

7. Justice of the peace may be supervisor. This section recognizes the right of a justice of the peace to hold the office of supervisor (dissenting opinion). People ex rel. Easwicker v. Dillon, 38 App. Div. 539, 543, 56 N. Y. Supp. 416.

8. Undertaking of justice of the peace. As to general provisions relating to official oaths and undertakings, see Public Officers Law, secs. 10-15, post. For form of undertaking of justice of the peace, see Form No. 21 post.

While failure of a justice of the peace to file his oath of office may be a ground for declaring the forfeiture of his office, it does not render the office vacant nor prevent such person from acting as justice of the peace. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1911), vol. 2, p. 596.

The county clerk should file papers executed or certified by a person duly elected justice of the peace, even though such person has not filed his bond. It is also the duty of the county clerk to certify that such person is a justice of the peace, but he need not certify that he is "duly qualified." Rept. of Atty. Genl., Feb. 8, 1912.

9. Official acts legalized. It is also provided in section 15 of the Public Officers Law, post, that the official acts of a public officer performed prior to the execution or filing of an official undertaking as required by law, are as

§ 9. UNDERTAKING OF TOWN SUPERINTENDENT OF HIGHWAYS.

Every town superintendent of highways shall, within ten days after notice of his election or appointment, execute an undertaking with two or more sureties, to be approved by the supervisor of his town, to the effect that he will faithfully discharge his duties as such commissioner, which undertaking shall be delivered to the supervisor, and filed by him in the office of the town clerk within ten days thereafter.[10] [Town Law, § 111, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 491; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6174.]

§ 10. UNDERTAKING OF OVERSEER OF THE POOR.

Every person elected or appointed overseer of the poor in any town shall, within ten days after being notified of his election or appointment, execute an undertaking with one or more sureties, to be approved by the supervisor of his town, to the effect that he will faithfully discharge the duties of his office, and will pay according to law all moneys which shall come into his hands as such overseer, which undertaking shall be delivered to the supervisor and filed by him in the office of the town clerk within ten days thereafter.[11] [Town Law, § 113; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6175.]

§ 11. COLLECTOR'S UNDERTAKING.

Every person elected or appointed to the office of collector, before he enters upon the duties of his office, and within eight days after he receives valid and of as full force and effect as if such undertaking had been executed and filed within the time prescribed by law.

10. Town superintendent of highways. The undertaking of a town superintendent of highways is to be approved by the supervisor. See, generally, the provisions of sections 11, 12, 15 of the Public Officers Law, post. For form of undertaking of town superintendent of highways, see Form No. 22, post.

Action on undertaking; pleading. Where the undertaking states that a person of a certain town had been elected commissioner [town superintendent now] of highways, without specifying the town for which he was elected, a complaint setting out such undertaking does not fail to state a cause of action on the theory that no special obligee is named. In such an action it is not necessary to join the commissioner as a party defendant. Town of Hadley v. Karner, 116 App. Div. 68, 101 N. Y. Supp. 777.

11. The overseer of the poor. The undertaking of a person elected or appointed as overseer of the poor is subject to the approval of the supervisor. As to approval of undertaking of overseer appointed by the town board, see Town Law, sec. 112, ante. The provisions of sections 11, 12, 15 of the Public Officers Law also apply to such an undertaking. For form of official undertaking of overseer of the poor, see Form No. 23, post.

Liability of sureties. In an action upon the bond of an overseer of the poor notice of the amount of taxes to be collected by him, shall execute an undertaking with two or more sureties, to be approved by the supervisor, to the effect that he will well and faithfully execute his duties as collector, pay over all moneys received by him, and account in the manner and within the time provided by law for all taxes upon the assessment-roll of his town delivered to him for the ensuing year, and shall deliver such undertaking to the supervisor of the town.[12] [Town Law, § 114; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6176.]

§ 12. FILING OF COLLECTOR'S UNDERTAKING; LIEN ON PROPERTY OF COLLECTOR AND SURETIES.

The supervisor shall, within six days thereafter, file the undertaking, with his approval indorsed thereon, in the office of the county clerk, who shall make an entry thereof, in a book to be provided for the purpose, in the same manner as judgments are entered of record; and every such undertaking shall be a lien on all the real estate held jointly or severally by the collector or his sureties within the county at the time of the filing thereof, and shall continue to be such lien, until its condition, together with all costs and charges which may accrue by the prosecution thereof, shall be fully satisfied.[13] Upon a settlement in full between the county treasurer and it is essential to show as against the sureties, not merely that their principal was indebted to the town, but that such indebtedness arose by reason of not accounting for money actually received by him during the term for which the sureties stood bound. Kellum v. Clark, 97 N. Y. 390. See, also, Bissell v. Saxton, 66 N. Y. 55.

12. Official undertaking of collector. The official undertaking of a collector is to be approved by the supervisor. The provisions of sections 11, 12, 15 of the Public Officers Law also apply to such an undertaking. For form of collector's undertaking, see Form No. 24, post.

Effect of failure of collector to execute official undertaking. If the collector shall neglect or refuse to execute an official undertaking, or the supervisor shall refuse to approve it, and a new collector has not been appointed as provided by law, the board of supervisors is authorized to deliver the tax roll, with a warrant annexed, to the sheriff, who shall proceed with the collection of the taxes levied therein in the same manner as collectors are authorized to do by law. Tax Law, sec. 87.

Default of collector for not executing bond. Actual notice of the amount of taxes to be collected must be given to the collector, before he is put in default for not executing the bond. People ex rel. Williamson v. McKinney, 52 N. Y. 374, 382.

13. Lien of collector's undertaking. Under the provisions of the above section, providing for the filing of a collector's bond and the entry thereof by the county clerk "in the same manner in which judgments are entered of record," and declaring that every such bond "shall be a lien on all the real collector, a certificate of payment shall be executed in duplicate by the county treasurer, one copy to be delivered to the collector and one copy to be filed by the county treasurer in the office of the county clerk, and said county clerk shall then enter a satisfaction thereof in the book in which the filing of said bond is entered and opposite said entry of filing. [Town Law, § 115; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6176.]

estate held jointly or severally by the collector or his sureties," the lien so created is a general one, having no greater force than the lien of a judgment and a prior unrecorded mortgage, is entitled to priority over the bond. Crisfield v. Murdock, 127 N. Y. 315; 27 N. E. 1,046.

The filing and entry of a bond, as required by the statute, is notice to all subsequent purchasers of the existence of a lien on the real estate of each surety, enforceable for the full amount of any default on the part of the principal, and while one surety has a right of action against his co-surety for contribution, he is liable to be defeated if, by reason of his neglect or misconduct, the co-surety would be injured by a judgment compelling contribution. The filing and entry is, therefore, not simply notice to a subsequent purchaser of land charged with the lien thereof, that it is liable only to a proportion of any liability accruing thereon, but he is put upon inquiry to ascertain as to the equities between the co-sureties. Idem.

The lien created by the filing of a collector's bond is analogous to that of a judgment creditor and not to that of a mortgagee; and the owner of the property has a right to redeem and a right to the possession, and to receive the rents and profits after a sale thereunder, the same as after a sale under an ordinary judgment. Upham v. Paddock, 13 Hun, 571; see, also, Upham v. Paddock, 23 Hun, 377.

An unrecorded mortgage has precedence over the lien of a collector's bond. Wilder v. Butterfield, 50 How. Pr. 385.

Redemption. The right to redeem lands from sale exists only when given by statute, and while a lien created by the filing and entry of the collector's bond is a general one with no greater effect as against prior unrecorded conveyances than a judgment, it is not a judgment lien, or enforceable by sale under execution, and the provisions of section 1446 of the Code of Civil Procedure authorizing redemption from sales under executions do not apply. Crisfield v. Murdock, supra.

Effect of extension of time of collection. A surety on a collector's bond is not released by an extension of the time for collection by the legislature. See U. S. v. Kirkpatrick, 9 Wheat. (U. S.) 184; U. S. v. Nicholl, 12 Wheat. (U. S.) 509. The ground of these decisions is that the regulations contained in the statute, concerning the time of collection, are merely directory to the officer, and form no part of the contract with the surety. As to the effect of extension of time to collect on liability of sureties, see 29 Albany L. J. 124.

Continuation of lien. The bond of a collector exists as a lien on all the real estate held jointly and severally by the collector or his sureties within the county, at the time of the filing thereof, and continues to be such lien until its conditions, together with all costs and charges which may accrue by the § 13. CONSTABLE'S UNDERTAKING.

Every person elected or appointed to the office of constable shall, before he enters on the duties of his office, and within ten days after he shall be notified of his election or appointment, execute in the presence of the supervisor or town clerk of the town, with at least two sufficient sureties, to be approved by such supervisor or town clerk, an undertaking to the effect that such constable and his sureties will pay to each and every person, who may be entitled thereto, all such sums of money as the constable may become liable to pay on account of any execution which shall be delivered to him for collection; and also pay each and every person for any damages which he may sustain from or by any act or thing done by such constable by virtue of his office. The supervisor or town clerk shall indorse on the undertaking his approval of the sureties therein named, and shall cause the same to be filed in the office of the town clerk within ten days thereafter.[14] [Town Law, § 116; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6177.]

prosecution thereof, shall be fully satisfied. Muzzy v. Shattuck, 1 Denio, 233; affd., 7 Hill, 584, note.

Enforcement of lien. The statute provides no special mode of enforcing the lien. The only mode, therefore, is by a suit on the bond to recover the amount due from the collector, and judgment being obtained, the real estate may be sold by the sheriff upon execution. Upham v. Paddock, 13 Hun, 571. In the case of Chatfield v. Campbell, 35 Misc. 355, Judge Andrews, at special term, dissented from the holding of the general term in the case of Upham v. Paddock, supra, and held that the statutory lien imposed upon the real estate of a town collector and that of his sureties, by the due filing of his undertaking of office may, upon his default in failing to pay over the taxes which he has collected, be foreclosed in equity by the town supervisor, as the remedy at law is not adequate. Proceedings for enforcing the payment by the collector of taxes collected by him are provided for in §§ 303-305 of the Tax Law, post.

14. Bond of constable. The provisions of the Public Officers Law, sections 11, 12, 15 (see post), relating generally to special undertakings apply to an undertaking of a constable. For form of undertaking, see Form No. 25, post.

Sufficiency. The requirements of the above section as to the sufficiency and form of the undertaking of a constable should be complied with. But in determining the liability of the principal and sureties on a constable's bond the courts are liberal in the construction of the above section. In the case of Jones v. Neuman, 36 Hun, 634, a bond was given conditioned for the faithful discharge by the constable of his duties and for the faithful accounting and the payment over of all moneys received by him as such constable. Such bond was approved by the supervisor and filed with the town clerk. The point was urged by the defendants that the bond did not comply with the requirements of the statute, but the court refused to relieve the surties of their liability, because of the failure to comply with the conditions required by the statute, and said: "It was the constable's duty to cause a proper bond, with sureties, to be executed, approved and filed. He and his sureties were the persons to see that it was in the right form. It would be highly unreasonable that the sureties

§ 14. FORM OF UNDERTAKING AND LIABILITY THEREON

Every undertaking of a town officer, as provided by this chapter or otherwise, must be executed by such officer and his sureties and acknowledged or proven and certified in like manner as deeds to be recorded, and the approval indorsed thereon.[15] The parties executing such undertaking shall should now escape liability and thus be permitted to practice a fraud on all who might be injured by the constable's neglect. The act of the sureties in executing the bond first enabled the constable to act as such and by his negligent act in that capacity the plaintiffs have been injured. The cases cited (Gerould v. Wilson, 81 N. Y. 573; Village of Warren v. Phillips, 30 Barb. 646) are sufficient authority to hold the defendants liable on this bond." As to the effect of an insufficient bond upon the eligibility of a constable, see Adams v. Tator, 42 Hun, 384.

The statute prescribes the substance of the bond, but is silent as to its form. It may be in the form of an ordinary bond to the people, although it seems preferable that it should be in the form of a simple agreement without penalty. People v. Holmes, 5 Wend. 191.

It is not absolutely necessary that the bond of a constable should be executed to the people. See Warren v. Racey, 20 Johns. 74; Lawton v. Erwin, 9 Wend. 233. The substance of the instrument required by the statute is that the constable and his sureties shall be responsible for all such sums as the constable shall become liable to pay by reason of any execution delivered to him for collection. Where the instrument contains unnecessary recitals, they do no harm and are mere surplusage. Schellenger v. Yenders, 12 Wend. 306. Neither the constable nor his sureties can object that the instrument is not under seal; nor that it is not in the form prescribed by the statute; nor that the sureties had not been bound by the clerk or supervisor of the town for which the constable was elected. Idem.

Effect of bond. In the case of People ex rel. Comstock v. Lucas, 93 N. Y. 585, the court said: "It is to be observed that the bond has a specific and limited purpose. It does not cover the whole range of the constable's official duties, nor is it an indemnity against all his possible official delinquencies. There are many official duties which a constable may be called upon to discharge, affecting the rights of litigants, as, for example, duties respecting the service of original process or the execution of attachments which by no possible construction can be covered by the condition of the bond. The law designates a constable as the official agent for the collection of executions issued at the justice's courts, and it at the same time gives to parties to the execution, who have been injured by his misfeasance or non-feasance in respect thereto, a recourse, by exacting a bond from the constable, with sureties, to whom they may resort for indemnity."

Liability for breach of bond. Sureties do not become liable for every act of the constable, as where he wrongfully commits a trespass by seizing the property of a stranger to the execution. People ex rel. Comstock v. Lucas, 93 N. Y. 585; see also, Berry v. Shadd, 28 Misc. 389; 59 N. Y. Supp. 551; affd. 50 App. Div. 132, 63 N. Y. Supp. 349.

§ 15. CONDITIONS, GENERALLY, OF OFFICAL UNDERTAKING; FORM AND MANNER OF EXECUTING; JUSTIFICATION.

Every official undertaking, when required by or in pursuance of law to be hereafter executed or filed by any officer, shall be to the effect that he will faithfully discharge the duties of his office and promptly account for and pay over all moneys or property received by him as such officer, in accordance with law, or in default thereof, that the parties executing such undertaking will pay all damages, costs and expenses resulting from such default, not exceeding a sum, if any, specified in such undertaking. The undertaking of a state officer shall be approved by the comptroller both as to its form and as to the sufficiency of the sureties, and be filed in the comptroller's office. The undertaking of a municipal officer shall, if not otherwise provided by law, be approved as to its form and the sufficiency of the sureties by the chief executive officer or by the governing body of the municipality and be filed with the clerk thereof. The approval by such governing body may be by resolution, a certified copy of which shall be attached to the undertaking. The undertaking of a county officer shall, if not otherwise provided by law, be approved as to its form and the sufficiency of the sureties by the clerk of the county, and filed in his office, except that the undertakings of a county clerk shall be filed in the office of the state comptroller. The undertaking of a town officer shall, if not otherwise provided by law, be approved as to its form and the sufficiency of the sureties by the clerk of the county and filed in his office. The sum specified in an official undertaking shall be the sum for which such undertaking shall be required by or in pursuance of law to be given. If no sum, or a different sum from that required by or in pursuance of law, be specified in the undertaking, it shall be deemed to be an undertaking for the amount so required. If no sum be required by or in pursuance of law to be so specified, the officer or board authorized to approve the undertaking shall fix the sum to be specified therein. Every official undertaking shall be executed and duly acknowledged by at least two sureties, each of whom shall add thereto his affidavit that he is a freeholder or householder within the state, stating his occupation and residence and the street number of his residence and place of business if in a city, and a sum which he is worth over and above his just debts and liabilities and property exempt from execution. The aggregate of the sums so stated in such affidavits must be at least double the amount specified in the undertaking. If the surety on an official undertaking of a state or local ecution of the official undertaking reference should be made to sections 11, 12, 15 of the Public Officers Law, post, containing provisions generally applicable to official undertakings.

16. Liability of sureties on official bonds. The sureties upon a bond of a public officer are liable thereon, only for the default of their principal committed after the commencement of the term of office, for which they became his sureties. Although their principal held the office during a preceding term, they are not liable for a defalcation which then occurred. In such a case those who were sureties for the officer for the prior term must be looked to. Bissell v. Saxton, 66 N. Y. 55. The sureties on a supervisor's bond, with the usual condition that he will "account for all moneys belonging to the town coming into his hands as such supervisor," are only liable for moneys which their principal is authorized and bound by law to receive in his official capacity, not for moneys ordered by the town board, without authority of law, to be paid to him.

officer, clerk, or employee of the state or political subdivision thereof or of a municipal corporation be a fidelity or surety corporation, the reasonable expense of procuring such surety, not exceeding one per centum per annum upon the sum for which such undertaking shall be required by or in pursuance of law to be given, shall be a charge against the state or political subdivision or municipal corporation respectively in and for which he is elected or appointed, except that the expense of procuring such surety as aforesaid, on an official undertaking of any officer, clerk or employee in any city department of the city of New York, or of any office, board or body of said city, or of a borough or county within said city, including officers, clerks and employees of every court within said city, shall not be a charge upon said city or upon any of the counties contained within said city, unless the comptroller of the said city, shall first have approved the necessity of requiring such official undertaking to be given, and shall have approved of or fixed the amount of any such official undertaking; but this exception shall not apply to an official undertaking specifically required by statute to be given, and the amount of which is specifically fixed by statute. The failure to execute an official undertaking in the form or by the number of sureties required by or in pursuance of law, or of a surety thereto to make an affidavit required by or in pursuance of law, or in the form so required, or the omission from such an undertaking of the approval required by or pursuance of law, shall not affect the liability of the sureties therein.[17] [Public Officers Law, § 11, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 424, L. 1912, ch. 481, L. 1913, ch. 325, L. 1914, ch. 48, and L. 1915, ch. 628; B. § 16. OFFICER NOT TO PERFORM DUTIES UNTIL UNDERTAKING IS GIVEN; PROPERTY OR MONEY NOT TO BE DELIVERED; LIABILITY OF SURETIES IF OFFICER ENTERS ON DUTIES BEFORE GIVING UNDERTAKING; DURATION OF UNDERTAKING.

An officer of whom an official undertaking is required, shall not receive any money or property as such officer, or do any act affecting the disposition of any money or property which such officer is entitled to receive or

17. Application. This section simply makes a bond that is defective in form or date, or method of execution, valid as the personal obligation of the sureties, but it goes no farther. It does not make an invalid bond a lien on real estate even after it is validated, and the rule of strict construction does not permit the courts to extend the statute by implication beyond the letter of its command. City of Mount Vernon v. Brett, 193 N. Y. 276, 287, revg. 115 App. Div. 882, 100 N. Y. Supp. 1110.

Form. Bond is good though not in the form prescribed by statute. Supervisors of Allegany Co. v. Van Campen, 3 Wend. 48. Bonds of United States Loan Commissioner, sureties thereon cannot limit their liability. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1896) 143.

Time of filing. Statute fixing the time is directory. McRoberts v. Winant, 15 Abb. N. S. 210. County treasurer may file his bond at any time before entering upon the duties of his office. McRoberts v. Winant, 15 Abb. N. S. 210.

Effect of failure to file undertaking. Officer who has failed to file his bond holds by a defeasible title, and is rightfully in office until forfeiture is declared by a direct judicial proceeding. Foot v. Stiles, 37 N. Y. 399; People ex rel. Wood v. Crissey, 91 N. Y. 616, 636; Horton v. Parsons, 37 Hun 42, 45; Matter of petition of Kendall, 85 N. Y. 302.

have the custody of, before he shall have filed such undertaking; and any person having the custody or control of any such money or property shall not deliver the same to any officer of whom an undertaking is required until such undertaking shall have been given. If a public officer required to give an official undertaking, enters upon the discharge of any of his official duties before giving such undertaking, the sureties upon his undertaking subsequently given for or during his official term shall be liable for all his acts and defaults done or suffered and for all moneys and property received during such term prior to the execution of such undertaking, or if a new undertaking is given, from the time notice to give such new undertaking is served upon him. Every official undertaking shall be obligatory and in force so long as the officer shall continue to act as such and until his successor shall be appointed and duly qualified, and until the conditions of the undertaking shall have been fully performed. When an official undertaking is renewed pursuant to law the sureties upon the former undertaking shall not be liable for any official act done or moneys received after the due execution, approval and filing of the new undertaking.[18] [Public Officers Law, § 12; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4627.]

§ 17. VALIDATION OF OFFICIAL ACTS BEFORE FILING OATH OR UNDERTAKING.

If a public officer, duly chosen, has heretofore entered, or shall hereafter enter on the performance of the duties of his office, without taking or filing an official oath, or executing or filing an official undertaking, as required by the constitution, or by any general or special law, his acts as such officer, so performed, shall be as valid and of as full force and effect as if such oath had been duly taken and filed, and as if such undertaking had been duly executed and filed, notwithstanding the provisions of any general or special law declaring any such office vacant, or authorizing it to be declared vacant, or to be filled as in case of vacancy, or imposing any other forfeiture or penalty for omission to take or file any such oath, or to execute or file any such undertaking; but this section shall not otherwise affect any provision of any general or special law, declaring any such office vacant, or authorizing it to be declared vacant, or to be filled as in case of vacancy, or imposing any other forfeiture or penalty, by reason of the failure to take or file any such oath or to execute or file any such undertaking; and this section shall not relieve any such officer from the criminal liability imposed by section eighteen hundred and twenty of the Penal Law, for entering on the discharge of his official duties without taking or filing such oath or executing or filing such undertaking.[19] [Public Officers Law, § 15, B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4628.]

18. The design and effect of §§ 11, 12 and 15 of the Public Officers Law is to measure the liability of the sureties, not by the language of the obligation assumed by them, but by the requirements of the statutes under which the obligation may be required and in conformity with which it purports to have been given; in other words, the obligation is to be regarded as that of the statute and not of the common law. City of Mt. Vernon v. Kenlon, 97 App. Div. 191, 89 N. Y. Supp. 817.

The sureties upon the bond of a county treasurer are liable for his acts in the interval between the time when the bond was required by resolution of the board of supervisors and the time when it was actually delivered. Waydell v. Hutchinson, 146 App. Div. 448.

§ 18. RESIGNATION OF TOWN OFFICERS; NOTICE.

Any three justices of the peace of a town may, for sufficient cause shown to them, accept the resignation of any town officer of their town; and whenever they shall accept any such resignation, they shall forthwith give notice thereof to the town clerk of the town.[20] [Town Law, § 84; B. C. & G. Com. L., p. 6161.]

§ 19. REMOVAL OF TOWN OFFICERS; APPLICATION TO APPELLATE DIVISION; NOTICE.

Any town or village officer, except a justice of the peace,[21] may be removed from office by the Supreme Court for any misconduct, maladministration, malfeasance or malversion in office. An application for such removal may be made by any citizen resident of such town or village and shall be made to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court held within the judicial department embracing such town or village. Such application shall be made upon notice to such town officer of not less than eight days, 19. Official acts performed before filing oath or undertaking are valid. See Matter of Kendall, 85 N. Y. 302; Horton v. Parsons, 37 Hun, 42; Foot v. Stiles, 57 N. Y. 399; People v. Crissey, 91 N. Y. 616, 635. Official acts by justice of the peace before filing oath are valid. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1903) 487.

While it is the duty of a justice of the peace to comply with the law requiring the filing of an undertaking and oath of office, and while he is liable to be punished for failure to so comply, he is not prevented from acting as such officer and his official acts are valid. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1911), vol. 2, p. 598.

20. Resignation of public officers generally. The Public Officers Law, sec. 31, provides that every town officer may resign his office to the town clerk. Every resignation shall be in writing addressed to the officer or body to whom it is made. If addressed to the officer, it shall take effect upon delivery to him at his place of business, or when it shall be filed in his office. A delivery at the office or place of residence or business of the person to whom any such resignation may be delivered, shall be a sufficient delivery thereof.

Resignations of town officers are governed by section 31 of the Public Officers Law rather than by section 84 of the Town Law, which is ineffective because of repugnancy. Rept. of Atty. Genl., May 17, 1911. For form of resignation of town officers, see Form No. 26.

21. Removal of public officers. Where a public officer is guilty of an illegal act or omission with respect to his office he may be removed whether or no the act was done maliciously or corruptly. Matter of Moran, 145 App. Div. 642.

Removal of justice of the peace. The constitution provides that justices of the peace may be removed for cause, after due notice and an opportunity of being heard, by such courts as are or may be prescribed by law. Constitution.

§ 20. VACANCIES, HOW CREATED.

Every office shall be vacant[22] upon the happening of either of the following events before the expiration of the term thereof:

1. The death of the incumbent;
2. His resignation[22a];
3. His removal from office;
4. His ceasing to be an inhabitant of the state, or if he be a local officer, of the political subdivision, or municipal corporation of which he is required to be a resident when chosen;[23]

art. 6, sec. 17. Section 132 of the Code of Criminal Procedure provides that justices of the peace are removable by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court.

Removal of town superintendent of highways, by the town board is provided for by Highway Law, sec. 46, post.

22. Vacancies; how created. The words, "before the expiration of the term of such office," though they are but words of caution still make more clear the meaning and intent. It is plain that no vacancy can be wrought in an office by the act or fault of an incumbent after the expiration of the term for which he was at first entitled to hold it; and that by no act or fault of his, while holding the office and before the expiration of his term thereof, can there be created a vacancy in the office during the term of a successor rgularly chosen. People ex rel. Jackson v. Potter, 47 N. Y. 375, 385. See People ex rel. Mitchell v. Sohmer (1913), 209 N. Y. 151, 102 N. E. 593; Matter of Troustine v. Britt (1914), 212 N. Y. 421, 431, 106 N. Where residence of county officer is unknown, and he has for a long time been absent from the county and does not attempt to exercise any of the powers of his office, a vacancy exists which may be filled by the appointing power, without recourse to an action at law to determine his status. Change of residence to another county by a notary public vacates his office and he cannot legally act officially, although his certificate has been filed in the county to which he removed. Rept. of Atty. Genl., March 27, 1911.

24. Forfeitures. An officer asking or receiving bribes upon conviction forfeits his office and is disqualified from holding any other office. (Penal Law, § 1823); as also an officer who grants to another for pay or any reward, consideration or gratuity the right to discharge any of the functions of his office (Penal Law, § 1864); also a constable who allows a person to escape from his lawful custody (Penal Law, § 1697); also a person convicted of paying money for votes at an election at which he was elected (Penal Law, § 751).

25. Failure to file oath or undertaking. The following cases are to the effect that the omission in regard to an officer's bond or oath afforded cause of forfeiture, but did not create a vacancy, which could only be effected by a direct proceeding for that purpose. People ex rel. Brooks v. Watts, 73 Hun, 404, 407, 26 N. Y. Supp. 280; Cronin v. Stoddard, 97 N. Y. 271, 274; Horton v. Parsons, 37 Hun, 42, 45; People ex rel. Willson v. § 21. VACANCIES, APPOINTMENT TO FILL, HOW MADE AND WHEN FILLED.

When a vacancy shall occur or exist in any town office, the town board or a majority of them may, by an instrument under their hands and seals, appoint a suitable person to fill the vacancy, and the person appointed, except justices of the peace, shall hold the office until the next biennial town meeting. A person so appointed to the office of justice of the peace shall hold the office until the next biennial town meeting, unless the appointment shall be made to fill the vacancy of an officer whose term will expire on the thirty-first day of December next thereafter, in which case the term of office of the person so appointed shall expire on the thirty-first day of December next succeeding his appointment. The board making the appointment shall cause the same to be forthwith filed in the office of the town clerk, who shall forthwith give notice to the person appointed. A copy of the appointment of a justice of the peace shall also be filed in the office of the county clerk before the person appointed shall be authorized to act.[27] [Town Law, § 130; B. C. & G. The provisions of this section, authorizing the town board to fill a vacancy, apply where there is a failure to elect by reason of a tie vote. Rept. of Atty. Genl., May 25, 1911. Where there is a tie vote for the office of a supervisor at a town meeting, and the incumbent of the office holds over, the supervisor should be chosen by the town board, the supervisor holding over not voting. There is no authority for another election until the next town meeting. Rept. of Atty. Genl., 1912, vol. 2, p. 404.

Vacancy in office of supervisor. Where a vacancy occurs in the office of a town supervisor by failure of the person elected to qualify, the vacancy must be filled by appointment by the justices of the peace of the town and the town clerk, and not by an election held at a special town meeting. Section 130 of the Town Law controls the manner of making such an appointment. Chapter 252 of L. 1890, amending sec. 34, tit. 3, ch. 11, pt. 1, of the Revised Statutes, which provides for the filling of vacancies in town offices by election, was repealed by the repeal of the section of the Revised Statutes which such law amended. Where a superintendent of highways fails to qualify for office in that his official oath is defective in omitting a statement that he has not directly or indirectly paid moneys or property to electors as a consideration for giving or withholding votes at the election, he is not entitled to hold office, and hence the town board has authority, under this section, to fill the vacancy by reappointing the former incumbent. People ex rel. Preston v. Keator (1915), 169 App. Div. 368, 154 N. Y. Supp. 1007.

Vacancies in the office of school director may be filled by the Town Board, in accordance with section 130 of the Town Law. Atty. Gen'l. Opin., 6 State Dep. Rep. 425 (1915).

A supervisor holding over after his term has expired cannot vote as a member of the town board to fill a vacancy in such office. Matter of Smith, 116 App. Div. 665, 101 N. Y. Supp. 992, affd., 188 N. Y. 549.

For form of appointment to fill vacancy in a town office, see Form No. 27, post.

For notice of appointment to town office, see Form No. 28, post.

CHAPTER XXII.

SUPERVISOR AS TOWN OFFICER; GENERAL DUTIES.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

Supervisor as Town Officer.

The supervisor represents his town as a member of the county board of supervisors. In such capacity he is in some respects a county officer. But he is primarily a town officer. His most important duties pertain to the administration of town affairs. He is in a sense the executive officer of the town. He is the town's chief fiscal officer, since he is the custodian of town funds, except those raised for the support of the poor. His powers and duties are prescribed by statute. It is proposed in this chapter to treat of his general duties. Those duties which are performed in connection with other officers and which pertain to special subjects are considered in other chapters.

The supervisor is a member of the town board, and presides at its meetings. The town board is the legislative body or governing board of the town. Being identified with nearly all the governmental functions of the town, the supervisor is the most important member of this board and is more directly responsible for its acts than the other members of the board.

SECTION 1. General duties of supervisor.
2. Town surveys.
3. Incorporation of villages; proceedings before supervisor.

§ 1. GENERAL DUTIES OF SUPERVISOR.

The supervisor of each town [1] shall:

Other duties of supervisors. In addition to the general duties conferred upon town supervisors as provided in this section and in the succeeding sections of this chapter, the following may be mentioned as other special duties. Each of these will be hereafter considered in this work in their proper connection. (For places in this manual where the sections referred to in this note may be found, see Table of Laws, after the Table of Contents.)

School funds, etc., duties, Education Law, sec. 360, post. School districts, hearing of alteration of boundaries, Idem, sec. 125, post.

2. The supervisor of a town is in a general sense its treasurer. He is entitled to receive all moneys raised for town purposes, except those which are expressly directed to be paid to the town officers having charge of the support of the poor. He is also directed to pay all judgments recovered against the town from any moneys in his hands which are not otherwise specially appropriated. The statute thus assumes that he is the legal custodian of the moneys of the town and chargeable with the duty not only of receiving and keeping them, but also of guarding their disbursement, and also recognizes, to a certain extent, the corporate existence of towns and their capacity to hold property, to protect their possession, and to enforce their quasi corporate rights by appropriate action. Bridges v. Board of Supervisors, 92 N. Y. 570. The supervisor has no authority, under the law, to receive moneys, even in transit raised by tax for the support of the poor. Moneys raised for such purposes are expressly excluded from those which he is authorized to receive or pay over. A disregard of this provision of the law by a board of supervisors, and a direction by them in violation of law, in a tax warrant, to pay the moneys raised for highways to the supervisor does not abrogate or change the law, or in any way extend or enlarge the powers, duties or responsibilities of the supervisor. People v. Pennock, 60 N. Y. 421. This case is not now directly applicable since the supervisor is also made the custodian of highway and bridge funds by Highway Law, secs. 104-106, post.

The supervisor is the lawful custodian of the moneys of the town and chargeable with the duty not only of receiving and keeping them, but also of guarding their disbursement. Annis v. McNulty, 51 Misc. 121, 100 N. Y. Supp. 951.

A supervisor of a town has no authority to retain a percentage of the public moneys passing through his hands as compensation for receiving and disbursing such moneys, and a resolution of the board of supervisors authorizing such action by one of their number is void. Matter of Town of Hempstead, 36 App. Div. 321; 55 N. Y. Supp. 345; affd., 160 N. Y. 685.

2. Prosecute, in the name of his town, for all penalties given by law to such town for its use, and for which no other officer is specially directed to prosecute.[3]

3. Keep a just and true account of the receipt and expenditures of all moneys which shall come into his hands by virtue of his office, in a book to be provided for that purpose at the expense of the town, and to be delivered to his successor in office.

4. On the Tuesday preceding the biennial town meeting and on the corresponding date in each alternate year, account with the justices of the peace and town clerk of the town for the disbursement of all moneys received by him, including highway moneys received and disbursed by him as provided in the highway law, and a copy of such account shall

A town supervisor is merely the custodian of town moneys raised in a regular form for a particular purpose. He may not question the propriety or legality of the expenditures underlying the levy and collection of the taxes. Attorney-General v. Taubenheimer (1917), 178 App. Div. 321, 164 N. Y. Supp. 904.

3. Actions for penalties. As a general rule the town board of a town is the governing board thereof, and so far as official action can go the internal affairs of a town are under the control of this board. The town board has exclusive authority to prosecute and defend litigation which concerns the town. An exception is, however, created to this rule by the above section of the Town Law, where it is provided that the supervisor of the town shall prosecute in the name of the town for all penalties given by law to such town for its use and for which no other officer shall be directed to prosecute. No authority is bestowed upon the supervisor to prosecute or defend any other action. Adee v. Arnow, 91 Hun, 329; 36 N. Y. Supp. 1020.

Action to compel railroad commissioners of a town to account for and pay over moneys received by them on a sale of railroad stock of the town, to recover the balance due to the town, in their hands, is properly brought by the supervisor of the town, in his own name as such. Griggs v. Griggs, 66 Barb. 287, affd. in 56 N. Y. 504.

The cases of Hathaway v. Town of Cincinnatus, 62 N. Y. 434; Sutherland v. Carr, 85 N. Y. 111; Bridges v. Board of Supervisors, 92 N. Y. 577; Cornell v. Town of Guilford, 19 Denio, 510; Town of Lyons v. Cole, 3 T. & C. 431; Mitchell v. Strough, 35 Hun, 83, and other cases of a similar nature, holding that a town supervisor is the proper officer to bring an action in the name of the town, were decided under section 1926 of the Code of Civil Procedure, and the section of the revised statutes from which that section was derived as existing prior to the amendment of such section of the code by ch. 302 of the L. of 1897. By that amendment the authority of the supervisor to maintain an action in behalf of the town upon a contract, to enforce a liability, to recover a penalty, or to recover damages for an injury to the property or rights of the town was eliminated.

An action brought by a supervisor to recover a penalty should be brought in the name of the town. Mitchell v. Strough, 35 N. Y. 83.

It is the duty of the supervisor to sue for the recovery of penalties incurred by persons illegally voting at school meetings. Education Law, § 205. It is also made his duty to sue for and recover in his name of office all penalties and forfeitures imposed by the Education Law. Education Law, § 360, subd. 8.

thereupon be filed in the office of the town clerk, and attached thereto and made a part thereof shall be a certificate or certificates of the bank where the moneys of such town are deposited showing the amount of such moneys on deposit with said bank. The town board shall cause a certified copy of the report to be published in a newspaper published in the town or if there be none published therein, then in a newspaper published within the county and having the greatest circulation within the town. If the biennial town meeting in any town is held at the time of a general election, such account shall be rendered on the twenty-eighth day of December in each year, or on the day preceding when such day falls on Sunday.[4] [Subd. amended by L. 1916, ch. 347.]

5. Receive all accounts against the town, which shall be presented to him, and present the same to the town board for audit, except such accounts as he may be required by law to present to the board of supervisors.[5]

6. Attend the annual meeting of the board of supervsiors of the county, and every adjourned or special meeting of which he shall have notice, and present to such board the town audits, and such other accounts and demands against the town, and such reports and statements as he may be required by law to present to such board.[6]

---

4. Supervisor's accounts. The justices of the peace and town clerk are constituted by subd. 4 of this section as a special board of audit to examine the accounts of supervisors. The statute fixes the day of their meeting for this purpose, and the board cannot lawfully meet and perform its duties on any other day than the day prescribed. People ex rel. Johnson v. Martin, 62 Barb. 570; People v. Town of Westford, 53 Barb. 555. The accounting consists not in paying over any money or delivering property to the auditing board or to other officers; for the supervisor's term, at that time, is not ended; but he is to show the condition of the town funds and property in his hands, the disbursement of moneys received, and the state of his official accounts. People ex rel. Johnson v. Martin, supra.

Accounting of supervisor may be enforced by action. Town of Guilford v. Cooley, 58 N. Y. 116.

A supervisor should account for all interest received on deposits of town funds. The town board cannot lawfully permit the supervisor to retain interest on deposits as a part of his salary or compensation. Opinion of Comptroller (1916), 8 State Dept. Rep. 590.

5. Claims against town to be submitted to supervisor. The purpose of subd. 5 of the above section is to require all claims against the town to be submitted in due form to the supervisor, to be by him presented to the town board for audit, or to the board of supervisors as the case may be. The auditing of town accounts by the town board is made the subject of a subsequent chapter of this work. See ch. XXVII, post.

Obtaining town moneys through conspiracy. A town supervisor who is the custodian of sewer funds may be convicted of grand larceny for signing a warrant for the payment of a fraudulent claim made by the contractors and for conspiring to defraud the town. Where such acts constitute larceny at common law and embezzlement under the statute, the offender may be prosecuted on either charge at the option of the people. People v. Lein (1912), 152 App. Div. 376, 136 N. Y. Supp. 995, affd. (1912), 207 N. Y. 667, 100 N. E. 1132.

Payment of town claims by check or script. A supervisor in paying town claims may issue his check as supervisor payable at the bank where the deposit of town funds is made, or he may issue script payable at a date after taxes have been collected. When the latter plan is followed, the board of supervisors may, by appropriate resolutions, authorize the various collectors to accept such script and apply the same to the payment of taxes. Opinion of State Comptroller (1916), 10 State Dept. Rep. 525.

Supervisor may attack audit upon proceedings to enforce payment. A supervisor who refuses payment of an audit claim may, if proceedings to compel payment are instituted, attack the audit and show that the town board was without jurisdiction to allow all or a part of the charges therein contained. Opinion of State Comptroller (1916), 8 State Dept. Rep. 578.

6. Supervisor as member of board of supervisors. The duties of supervisor in respect to the submission of town accounts, which have been audited by the town board, is prescribed by section 133 of the Town Law, post, p. 377. The general powers and duties of boards of supervisors are considered in a preceding chapter. See ch. 4, ante.

7. Sell and convey in the name of the town, property owned by it, when directed by a town meeting.[7]

8. In towns other than those mentioned in section ninety-seven of the conservation law, the supervisor shall, by virtue of his office, be superintendent of fires of his town and charged with the duty of preventing and extinguishing forest fires. He shall have power to employ persons to act as forest rangers in preventing and fighting fires and to employ necessary assistants therefor, and shall possess all the power and authority conferred upon the conservation commission, district forest ranger, forest ranger and fire warden under sections ninety-two and ninety-three of the conservation law. Any person summoned to fight forest fires who is physically able and refuses to assist shall be liable to a penalty of twenty dollars. The town board of each town shall at its first annual meeting designate one of its members to act as such superintendent of fires for the ensuing year in case of absence of the supervisor. The town board shall fix the compensation of all forest rangers and assistants employed under the provisions of this section and all expenses incurred under the provisions of this section shall be a charge upon and paid by the town. [Town Law, § 98, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 491, L. 1910, ch. 630, L. 1912, ch. 371, L. 1913, ch. 606, L. 1914, ch. 153, and L. 1916, ch. 347; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6167.]

---

7. Conveyance of town property. Under sub. 12 of sec. 43 of the Town Law, ante, the electors of a town at a biennial town meeting may direct the sale and conveyance by the supervisor in the name of the town of property owned by it. Sub. 7 of the above section authorizes the supervisors to convey property when so directed by a town meeting.

§ 2. TOWN SURVEYS.

Whenever the supervisor of any town shall be required by the state engineer and surveyor to cause a survey to be made of the bounds of his town, such supervisor, within sixty days thereafter, shall cause such survey to be made, and transmit, by mail or otherwise, a map and desciption thereof to the state engineer and surveyor. The expense of such survey and map shall be defrayed by the several towns whose bounds, either wholly or in part, shall be described thereby; such expense to be apportioned by the board of supervisors of the county. If any supervisor shall refuse or neglect to cause such survey to be made, he shall forfeit the sum of fifty dollars to the people of the state. [Town Law, § 99; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6169.]

Village Law, §§ 2, 3.

§ 3. INCORPORATION OF VILLAGES; PROCEEDING BEFORE SUPERVISOR.

Requisite population.—A territory not exceeding one square mile, or conforming to the boundaries of a water district, lighting, fire or school district, or an entire town, or two school districts, containing in each case a population of not less than two hundred, and not including a part of a city or village, may be incorporated as a village under this chapter. [Village Law, § 2, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 555, L. 1915, ch. 31, and L. 1917, ch. 65; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6365.]

Proposition for incorporation and consent of property owners.—Twenty-five adult freeholders residing in such territory may institute a proceeding for the incorporation thereof as a village, by making and delivering to the supervisor of the town in which such territory is situated, or if situated in two or more towns, to the supervisors of each of such towns, a proposition in substantially the following form:

Proposition for the incorporation of the village of .....

The undersigned adult resident freeholders of the territory hereinafter described propose the incorporation thereof by the name of the village of .....

The territory proposed to be incorporated does not exceed one square mile and is bounded and described as follows: (or, the territory proposed to be incorporated is the entire town of ..... or an entire school, lighting, fire or water district, suitably describing such district with common certainty).

Such territory contains a population of ....., as appears from the enumeration hereto attached.

Dated, ...

(Signatures and residences.)

The proposition shall be signed by the persons proposing such incorporation, with the addition of the town in which they respectively reside. There shall be attached to said proposition and delivered to said supervisor or supervisors concurrently therewith, a written consent to the proposed incorporation in substantially the following form:

Consent to the proposed incorporation of the village of .....

The undersigned, owners of one-third in value of the real property within the territory described in the proposition hereto attached, as assessed upon the last preceding town assessment-roll, hereby consent to the incorporation thereof as in said proposition set forth.

Dated, ...

Signatures. Residences. Assessments.

The said consent shall be signed by owners of real property, situated within such territory constituting one-third in value thereof, as assessed upon the last preceding town assessment-roll with the addition of their places of residence and the assessment of their said real property, respectively. A list of the names of the inhabitants of such territory shall be attached to and accompany the proposition. At the time of the delivery of the proposition the sum of fifty dollars shall be deposited with one of the supervisors for the purpose specified in this article.[8] [Village Law, § 3, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 555, and L. 1915, ch. 31, B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6365.]

Notice of hearing.—Within ten days after the receipt of such proposition the supervisor or supervisors shall cause to be posted in five public places in such territory and also published at least twice in each newspaper published therein, a notice, that a proposition for the incorporation of the village of (naming it) has been received by him or them, that at a place in such territory and on a day not less than ten nor more than twenty days after the date of posting such notice, which place and date shall be specified therein, a hearing will be had upon such proposition; and that such proposition will be open for public inspection at a specified place in such territory until the date of such hearing. [Village Law, § 4, B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6366.]

Proceeding on hearing.—The supervisor or supervisors shall meet at the time and place specified in such notice, and shall hear any objections which may be presented against such incorporation upon either of the following grounds:

1. That a person signing such a proposition is not qualified therefor, or
2. That the persons signing such consent are not the owners of one-third in value of the real property within such territory, as assessed upon the last preceding town assessment-roll, or
3. That, if the territory is less than an entire town, it contains more than one square mile and does not conform to the boundaries of an entire lighting, fire, water or school district, or
4. That the population of the territory is less than two hundred.

All objections must be in writing and signed by one or more resident taxpayers of a town in which some part of the proposed village is situated. Testimony may be taken on such hearing, which shall be reduced to writing, and subscribed by the witnesses. The hearing may be adjourned, but must be concluded within ten days from the date fixed in the notice. [Village Law, § 5, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 555, and L. 1915, ch. 31; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6366.]

Decision of supervisor.—Within ten days after such hearing is concluded the supervisor or supervisors shall determine whether the proposition, consent and papers filed therewith comply with this chapter, and shall within such time make and sign a written decision accordingly, and file it or a duplicate thereof in the office of the town clerk of each town in which any part of such proposed village is situated. The proposition for incorporation, consent and papers attached thereto, a copy of the notice, the objections, testimony and minutes of proceedings taken and kept on the hearing; shall also be filed with such decision in one of such town clerk's offices. If the decision be adverse to the proposition, it shall contain a brief statement of the reasons upon which it is based. If no appeal be taken from such decision within ten days from the filing thereof, it shall be final and conclusive. [Village Law, § 6, B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 6367.]

Notice of appeal from decision of supervisor.—If the decision sustains the proposition for incorporation, a resident taxpayer of a town in which any part of such proposed village is situated may appeal therefrom by serving a notice of appeal upon each town clerk with whom the decision was filed, and on at least three of the persons who signed the proposition. If the decision be adverse, five of the persons who signed the proposition may join in an appeal therefrom, by serving a notice of appeal upon each town clerk with whom the decision was filed, and on each person who signed objections to the proposition. All appeals shall be taken to the county court of the county in which the proposition, notice, objections and testimony are filed, and the notice of appeal must be served within ten days after the filing of the decision.

The town clerk with whom the proposition and other papers are filed must, within five days after service upon him of the notice of appeal, transmit all such papers to the county judge. [Village Law, § 7; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 6367.]

Hearing and decision of appeal.—A person, except a town clerk, by or upon whom the notice of appeal is served, may bring on the appeal for argument before the county court, upon a notice of not less than ten nor more than twenty days. Such notice must be served upon all parties to the appeal, except a town clerk.

The county court shall hear such appeal, and, within ten days after the date fixed in the notice of argument, shall make and file an order affirming or reversing the decision. The county judge shall file such order, together with the papers upon which the appeal was heard, with the town clerk by whom the papers were transmitted to him. Such order shall be final and conclusive. No costs of the appeal shall be allowed to any party. [Village Law, § 8; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 6368.]

When election may be held.—An election to determine the question of incorporation upon such proposition shall be held in either of the following cases:

1. Where a decision has been made sustaining the proposition, and an appeal has not been taken therefrom.

2. Where an appeal has been taken from a decision sustaining the proposition, and such decision has been affirmed by the county court.

3. Where an appeal has been taken from an adverse decision, and the decision has been reversed by the county court. [Village Law, § 9; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 6368.]

Compensation for services under this article.—The following compensation is payable for services under this article:

1. To supervisors for services in connection with the proposition for incorporation, two dollars for each day actually and necessarily spent by them.

2. To town clerks, the compensation allowed by law for other similar services, and for services the compensation for which is not fixed by law, two dollars for each day actually and necessarily spent by them.

3. To electors acting as inspectors of election, two dollars for each day actually and necessarily spent in such service. [Village Law, § 23; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 6372.]

CHAPTER XXIII.

DUTIES OF TOWN CLERK, GENERALLY.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

Duties of Town Clerks.

Town clerks have the custody and control of town records. They are responsible for their safe keeping. All papers required by law to be filed or recorded in the town clerk's office must be received by him and filed or entered so as to be readily accessible to the public. He must transcribe the minutes of the proceedings of town meetings in books provided for the purpose.

Chattel mortgages, marriage licenses, birth and death certificates are to be filed in town clerks' offices, unless provision is otherwise made for filing them in the office of a city clerk.

The town clerk has many important duties to perform as a member of the town board. These duties will be hereafter considered in connection with the powers and duties of that board. It is only intended to include in this chapter those matters which pertain to the office of town clerk without connection with other offices, and not relating to other subjects.

SECTION 1. Town clerk to have custody of books, records and papers; to deliver certificate of vote on propositions to supervisor; return names of constables.
1a. Town clerk to transmit lists of town officers to state tax commissioner.
2. Furniture and blank books for clerk's office.
3. Sign for clerk's office.
4. Town clerk may appoint deputy; qualification, oath of office, compensation.
5. Filing and discharge of chattel mortgages in town clerk's office; fees of town clerks.
6. Filing and entry of marriage certificate; fees.
7. Town and city clerks to issue marriage licenses; form.
8. Duty of town or city clerk.
9. False statements or affidavits.
10. Records to be kept by town and city clerks.
11. Copies of papers filed with town clerk, evidence.

§ 1. TOWN CLERK TO HAVE CUSTODY OF BOOKS, RECORDS AND PAPERS; TO DELIVER CERTIFICATE OF VOTE ON PROPOSITIONS TO SUPERVISOR; RETURN NAMES OF CONSTABLES.

The town clerk of each town [1] shall have the custody of all the records, books and papers of the town, and he shall duly file all certificates of oaths and other papers required by law to be filed in his office.[2] He shall transcribe in the books of records of his town the minutes of the proceedings of every town meeting held therein, and shall enter in such book every order or direction and all rules and regulations made by any such town meeting. He shall attend all the meetings of the town board, the town board of health and the board of town auditors, and act as secretary thereof. In suitable books to be provided for that purpose, he shall transcribe the minutes of the proceedings of every such meeting. If accounts against the town be audited at any such meeting, he shall incorporate in such minutes a list of all such, showing the name of the claimant, the amount claimed and the amount allowed, with such other information as the board may required. Within twenty days after the holding of any town meeting, the town clerk shall certify to the county clerk the names of all the persons elected to office at the town meeting, except inspectors of election, and the terms for which they were severally elected, and whether or not they have qualified. Whenever a vacancy shall occur in the office of justice of the peace, the town clerk shall immediately notify the county clerk of the happening of such vacancy, specifying the name dollars to be recovered by the supervisor in the name of and for the use of the town.[4] [Town Law, § 92, as amended by L. 1918, ch. 73; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6166.]

§ 1a. TOWN CLERK TO TRANSMIT LISTS OF TOWN OFFICERS TO STATE COMMISSION.

It shall be the duty of the town clerk annually, between the fifteenth day of November and the fifteenth day of December, to transmit to the tax commission a list containing the names of each supervisor, town superintendent, justice of the peace, town clerk, assessor and collector, showing his post office address, the date of his appointment or election and the expiration of his term of office. [Town Law, § 92a, as added by L. 1917, ch. 582.]

§ 1b. TOWN CLERKS' UNDERTAKINGS.

Every town clerk hereafter elected or appointed shall, within thirty days after entering upon the duties of his office, make and deliver to the supervisor of the town his undertaking, with such sureties as the town board shall prescribe, in a penal sum not exceeding one thousand dollars, to be determined by the town board, to the effect that he will well and faithfully discharge his official duties as such town clerk, and that he will well and truly keep, pay over and account to the proper board, officer or commission of the town, state or county, and account for, all moneys and property going into his hands in his official capacity; and such undertaking shall, after its execution, be presented by the supervisor to the town board for their approval as to its form and the sufficiency of the sureties thereon. Until such undertaking shall have been approved, none of the moneys, books, documents, papers or property of the town, county or state shall be turned over or delivered to such town clerk elect. After the approval of such undertaking, the supervisor shall file the same in the office of the county clerk. [Town L., § 92a, as added by L. 1912, ch. 136.]

§ 2. FURNITURE AND BLANK BOOKS FOR CLERK'S OFFICE.

The town clerk of any town may, with the consent of the town board of his town, purchase or furnish for the town clerk's office all necessary bound blank books for the entering and keeping of the records of his town, and also necessary book and office cases, tables and other furniture for the use and convenience of the office and the safe-keeping of the books and papers of the town, and the expense thereof shall be a town charge, to be audited and paid as other town charges.[5] [Town Law, § 96; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6167.]

§ 3. SIGN FOR CLERK'S OFFICE.

There shall also in like manner be furnished and kept for every town clerk's office a sign with the name of the town, followed by the words, "town clerk's office" in plain characters thereon, with sufficient board space immediately below for posting thereon the legal notices of the town which sign and board space shall be placed and kept on or at the outside front door of every town clerk's office, which board shall always be one of the public places upon which any legal notice in the town may be posted. [Town Law, § 97; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6167.]

4. Qualification of constable. The town clerk is required by the above section to return to the clerk of the county the name of each constable qualifying as such. Under section 116 of the Town Law, ante, constables are required to file with the town clerk an undertaking to be approved by the supervisor or town clerk. Immediately upon the filing of such undertaking the town clerk should return to the county clerk the name of such constable. By section 14 of the Town Law, ante, the county clerk is required to report to the district attorney all omissions by any town officer to make and transmit any return required by law. The penalty prescribed by the above section for a failure to make such return is to be recovered by the supervisor in the name and for the use of the town.

The town clerk of the town of Niagara, county of Niagara, is required to keep a book in which abstracts of conveyances of lands within the town are to be entered. See Town Law, § 95.

5. Claim for furniture must be audited. A person selling office furniture for the use of a town clerk must bring a proceeding under this section and require the claim to be audited; he cannot sue the town directly without an audit. Peck v. Town of Catskill, 119 App. Div. 752, 104 N. Y. Supp. 540.

Town Law, § 93; Lien Law, §§ 232, 233.

§ 4. TOWN CLERK MAY APPOINT DEPUTY; QUALIFICATION, OATH OF OFFICE, COMPENSATION.

Every person hereafter elected or appointed to the office of town clerk, in any town in this state, immediately after taking the oath of office, may appoint a deputy town clerk for such town. Such appointment shall be in writing and shall be recorded in the record book of said town. Such deputy must be twenty-one years of age or over, a citizen of the United States and a resident of the town and shall take and subscribe the constitutional oath of office, and in the absence or inability to serve of the town clerk, is hereby authorized to perform any official act devolving upon town clerks, and shall hold office during the pleasure of the town clerk. Said deputy shall be paid for his services by the town clerk, but no charge shall be made against the town for the services of said deputy. Nothing contained in this section shall prevent any town clerk from appointing his wife or daughter as such deputy.[6] [Town Law, § 93, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 340; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6166.]

All chattel mortgages in towns are required to be filed in the office of the town clerk, unless there is a county clerk's office in such town, in which case they are to be filed therein.[7] [See Lien Law, § 232 in part, as amended by L. 1910, ch 182, and L. 1915, ch. 27; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 3247.]

The town clerk shall file every such instrument presented to him for that purpose, and indorse thereon its number and the time of its receipt. He shall enter in a book, provided for that purpose in separate columns, the names of all parties to each mortgage so filed, arranged in alphabetical order, under the head of "mortgagors" and "mortgagees," the number of such mortgage or copy and the date of the filing thereof, except in the city of New York such officers (the town clerk) at the time of filing of such instrument shall upon request issue to the person filing the same a receipt in writing, which shall contain the names of the parties to the mortgage, its date, amount and the date and time of filing thereof, and if the mortgage be upon a craft navigating the canals, and filed in the office of

6. Town clerk may appoint his son as deputy. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1895), 339. A female, other than a wife or daughter of a town clerk, is not eligible to hold the office of deputy town clerk. Rept. of Atty. Genl., May 9, 1911. But since a woman may now vote for town officers she is qualified to hold any town office.

7. Place of filing chattel mortgage. A chattel mortgage must be filed in the clerk's office of the town in which the mortgagor resided at the time of its execution. Hicks v. Williams, 17 Barb. 523; see, also, Baumann v. Libetta, 3 Misc. 518; 23 N. Y. Supp. 1; Platt v. Stuart, 101 U. S. 737.

If the county clerk's office is in the town or city where the mortgagor resides the mortgage must be filed in such office, and it is not sufficient in such case to file it in the town or city clerk's office. Martin v. Rothschild, 42 Hun, 410.

Records of chattel mortgages in the offices of municipal recording officers should not be destroyed, even after the mortgages have been destroyed. Such records as are not in general use should be transferred to the division of public records under the control of the Regents. Rept. of Atty. Genl., Jan. 27, 1912.

the superintendent of public works, the name of the craft shall also be inserted.[8] [See Lien Law, § 233, in part, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 182; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 3249.]

The officer with whom the mortgage, or a copy thereof is filed, must, on receipt of the certificate setting forth the payment or satisfaction of such mortgage, file the same in his office, and write the word "discharge" in the book where the mortgage is entered, opposite the entry thereof, and the mortgage is thereby discharged. [Lien Law, § 238, in part; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 3256.]

8. Duties of town clerk as to chattel mortgages. It is made the duty of the town clerk in whose office chatel mortgages are required to be filed, to provide proper books in which the names shall be entered in alphabetical order of the parties to every mortgage and also to indorse thereon its number and the time of its receipt, and enter such number in a separate column in the books in which the mortgages shall be entered. But the failure of the clerk to do these things does not affect the rights of the mortgagee, as he has done all he can do when he delivers the mortgage to the clerk in the proper office to be filed, and he ought not to be held liable for the default of the clerk, a public officer, over whose acts he has no control. Manhattan Co. v. Laimbeer, 108 N. Y. 578; 15 N. E. 712.

Where a mortgage was written on the inside of a large account book partly filled with accounts, and labeled "Day Book" which book because of its bulkiness, was not placed in the pigeon hole where other chattel mortgages were filed, it was held that such a filing was not sufficient. Griswold v. Sheldon, 4 N. Y. 580.

The delivery of the chattel mortgage to the clerk while absent from his office, and an indorsement made thereon that it is then and there filed, is not a filing. It is not filed in reality until it is deposited in the clerk's office. Hathaway v. Howell, 54 N. Y. 103.

Where the office of town clerk is vacant, a filing of a chattel mortgage made by a person having charge of the office will be valid under the statute. Bishop v. Cook, 13 Barb. 326.

The filing by a clerk in the store of the town clerk, who is in charge of the town clerk's office, is a sufficient filing. Dodge v. Potter, 18 Barb. 201. To constitute a proper filing requires the act of the clerk or some person in charge of the office. An unsuccessful attempt to file a chattel mortgage when the office is closed, or depositing the mortgage on the clerk's table in the office when no one is present, does not constitute a filing within the requirements of the statute. Crounse v. Johnson, 65 Hun, 337; 20 N. Y. Supp. 177.

The mortgagee is not bound to do anything more than to deliver the mortgage at the proper office, and to the proper officer, or to any person of proper age who has charge of the office. 2 Wait's Actions and Defenses, p. 195.

Temporary removal of a chattel mortgage from the Town Clerk's office after it has been duly filed does not affect its validity as against the person causing its removal. Rogers v. Dwight, 71 Hun 547, 25 N. Y. Supp. 39.

Refiling chattel mortgages. By section 235, as amended by L. 1915, ch. 608, of the Lien Law it is provided that a chattel mortgage is invalid as against credit-

The several clerks and registers are entitled to receive for services hereunder, the following fees: For filing each instrument, or copy, six cents; for issuing a receipt for the same, six cents; for entering the same as aforesaid, six cents; for searching for each paper, six cents; and the like fees for certified copies of such instruments or copies as are allowed by law to clerks of counties for copies and certificates of records kept by them. . . . . ors of the mortgagor and subsequent purchasers or mortgagees in good faith after the expiration of the first or any succeeding term of one year, reckoning from the time of the first filing, unless within thirty days next preceding the expiration of each such term, a statement containing a description of such mortgage, the names of the parties, the time and place where filed, the interest of the mortgagee or of any person who has succeeded to his interest in the property claimed by virtue thereof; or a copy of such mortgage and its indorsements, together with a statement attached thereto or indorsed thereon, showing the interest of the mortgagee or of any person who has succeeded in his interest in the property claimed by virtue thereof; or a copy of such mortgage and its indorsements, together with a statement attached thereto or indorsed thereon, showing the interest of the mortgagee or of any person who has succeeded in his interest in the mortgage, is filed in the proper office in the city or town where the mortgagor then resides, if he is then a resident of the town or city where the mortgage or copy thereof or such statement issued was last filed; if not such resident but a resident of the state, a true copy of such mortgage together with such statement shall be filed in the proper office of the town or city where he then resides, and if not a resident of the state, then in the proper office of the city or town where the property so mortgaged was at the time of the execution of the mortgage.

The town clerk should perform the same duties as to such re-filed mortgages as are prescribed by the above section 233 of the Lien Law.

Filing other liens on personal property. Contracts for the conditional sale of personal property are to be filed in the office of the town clerk in the same manner as chattel mortgages. Personal Property Law, § 64, as amended by L. 1915, ch. 455.

This section provides that "the officers with whom such contracts are filed shall enter the future contingency or event required to occur before the ownership of such goods and chattels shall pass from the vendor to the vendee, and the amount due upon such contract, and the time when due. The name of the conditional vendor shall be entered in the column of 'mortgagees' and the name of the conditional vendee in the column of 'mortgagors.' The officers performing services under this article are entitled to receive the same fees as for like services relating to chattel mortgages."

A notice of a lien on a mare and foal has to be filed in the office of the town clerk in the same manner as chattel mortgages are required by law to be filed. [Lien Law, sec. 160, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 301.]

A notice of lien for labor performed in quarrying, mining, dressing and cutting stone must be indorsed, filed and entered by the town clerk in the same manner as chattel mortgages and the same fee shall be charged therefor. [Lien Law, sec. 140.]

Law, § 234, in part as amended by L. 1910, ch. 182; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 3250.]

§ 6. MARRIAGE LICENSES.

It shall be necessary for all persons intending to be married to obtain a marriage license from the town or city clerk of the town or city in which the woman to be married resides and to deliver said license to the clergyman or magistrate who is to officiate before the marriage can be performed. If the woman or both parties to be married are non-residents of the state such license shall be obtained from the clerk of the town or city in which the marriage is to be performed; or, if the woman to be married resides upon an island located not less than twenty-five miles from the office or residence of the town clerk of the town of which such island is a part, and such office or residence is not on such island such license may be obtained from any justice of the peace residing on such island, and such justice, in respect to powers and duties relating to marriage licenses, shall be subject to the provisions of this article governing town clerks and shall file all statements or affidavits received by him while acting under the provisions of this section with the town clerk of such town. [Domestic Relations Law, § 13, as amended by L. 1914, ch. 230, and by L. 1918, ch. 236; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1027.]

§ 7. TOWN AND CITY CLERKS TO ISSUE MARRIAGE LICENSES; FORM.

The town or city clerk of each and every town or city in this state is hereby empowered to issue marriage licenses to any parties applying for the same who may be entitled under the laws of this state to contract matrimony, authorizing the marriage of such parties, which license shall be substantially in the following form:

STATE OF NEW YORK, } County of ....., }
City or town of..... }

Know all men by this certificate that any person authorized by law to perform marriage ceremonies within the state of New York to whom this may come, he, not knowing any lawful impediment thereto, is hereby authorized and empowered to solemnize the rites of matrimony between..... ..... of ..... in the county of ..... and state of New York and ..... of .... in the county of ..... and state of New York and to certify the same to be said parties or either of them under

There shall be endorsed upon the license or annexed thereto at the end thereof, subscribed by the clerk, an abstract of the facts concerning the parties as disclosed in their affidavits or verified statements at the time of the application for the license made in conformity to the provisions of section fifteen of this chapter.

The license issued, including the abstract of facts, and the certificate duly signed by the person who shall have solemnized the marriage therein authorized shall be returned by him to the office of the town or city clerk who issued the same on or before the tenth day of the month next succeeding the date of the solemnizing of the marriage therein authorized and any person or persons who shall wilfully neglect to make such return within the time above required shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars or more than fifty dollars for each and every offense.[10] [Domestic Relations Law, § 14, as amended by L. 1912, ch. 216; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1027.]

§ 7. DUTY OF TOWN AND CITY CLERKS.

It shall be the duty of the town or city clerk when an application for a marriage license is made to him to require each of the contracting parties to sign and verify a statement or affidavit before such clerk or one of his deputies, containing the following information. From the groom: Full name of husband, color, place of residence, age, occupation, place of birth, name of father, country of birth, maiden name of mother, country of birth; number of marriage. From the bride: Full name of bride, place of residence, color, age, occupation, place of birth, name of father, country of birth, maiden name of mother, country of

10. Marriage in another state.—Where parties to a marriage contract procure a license in a town of this state and are married in Pennsylvania, the town clerk should not file the license and the certificate showing the performance of the marriage returned by the person performing the ceremony. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1912), Vol., 2. p. 542.

Return of certificate of marriage to town or city clerk.—A minister or other person performing a marriage ceremony is required to return the certificate of the marriage to the town or city clerk who issued the marriage license, and in addition in the city of New York he is required to make a report of such marriage to the Department of Health. Rept. of Atty. Genl., Feb. 15, 1912.

birth, number of marriage. From each: A statement in the following words: "I have not to my knowledge been infected with any venereal disease, or if I have been so infected within five years I have had a laboratory test within that period which shows that I am now free from infection from any such disease." The said clerk shall also embody in the statement, if either or both of the applicants have been previously married, a statement as to whether the former husband or husbands, or the former wife or wives of the respective applicants are living or dead and as to whether either or both of said applicants are divorced persons, if so when and where the divorce or divorces were granted and shall also embody therein a statement that no legal impediment exists as to the right of each of the applicants to enter into the marriage state. The town or city clerk is hereby given full power and authority to administer oaths and may require the applicants to produce witnesses to identify them or either of them and may also examine under oath or otherwise other witnesses as to any material injury pertaining to the issuing of the license; provided, however, that in cities of the first class the verified statements and affidavits may be made before any regular clerk of the city clerk's office designated for that purpose by the city clerk. If it appears from the affidavits and statements so taken, that the persons for whose marriage the license in question is demanded are legally competent to marry the said clerk shall issue such license, except in the following cases. If it shall appear upon an application of the applicants as provided in this section that the man is under twenty-one years of age or that the women is under the age of eighteen years, then the town or city clerk before he shall issue a license shall require the written consent to the marriage from both parents of the minor or minors or such as shall then be living, or if the parents of both are dead then the written consent of the guardian or guardians of such minor or minors. If one of the parents has been missing and has not been seen or heard from for a period of one year preceding the time of the application for the license, although diligent inquiry has been made to learn the whereabouts of such parent, the town or city clerk may issue a license to such minor upon the sworn statement and consent of the other parent. If the marriage of the parents of such minor has been dissolved by decree of divorce or annulment, the consent of the parent to whom the court which granted the decree has awarded the custody of such minor shall be sufficient. If there is no parent or guardian of the minor or minors living to their knowledge then the town or city clerk shall require the written consent to the marriage of the person under whose care or government the minor or minors may be before a license shall be issued. The parents, guardians or other persons whose consents it shall be necessary to obtain before the license shall issue, shall personally appear before the town or city clerk and execute the same if they are residents of the state of New York and physically able so to do. If they are nonresidents of the state the required consents may be executed and duly acknowledged without the state but the consent with a certificate attached showing the authority of the officer to take acknowledgments must be duly filed with the town or city clerk before a license shall issue. Before issuing any license herein provided for, the town or city clerk shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar which sum shall be paid by the applicants before or at the time the license is issued; and all such fees so received by the clerks of cities shall be paid monthly to the treasurer of the city wherein such license is issued. Any town or city clerk who shall issue a license to marry any persons one or both of whom shall not be at the time of the marriage under such license legally competent to marry without first requiring the parties to such marriage to make such affidavits and statements or who shall not require the procuring of the consents provided for by this article, which shall show that the parties authorized by said license to be married are legally competent to marry shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be fined in the sum of one hundred dollars for each and every offense. In any city the fees collected for the issuing of a marriage license, or for solemnizing a marriage, so far as collected for services rendered by any officer or employee of such city, shall be paid into the city treasury and may by ordinance be credited to any fund therein designated, and said ordinance, when duly enacted, shall have the force of law in such city.[11] [Domestic Relations Law, § 15, as amended by L. 1912, ch. 241, and by L. 1917, ch. 503; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1029.]

§ 8. FALSE STATEMENTS OR AFFIDAVITS.

Any person who shall in any affidavit or statement required or provided for in this article wilfully and falsely swear in regard to any material fact as to the competency of any person for whose marriage the license in question or concerning the procuring or issuing of which such affidavit or statement may be made shall be deemed guilty of perjury and on conviction thereof shall be punished as provided by the statutes of this state. [Domestic Relations Law, § 16; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1030.]

§ 9. RECORDS TO BE KEPT BY TOWN AND CITY CLERKS.

Each town and city clerk hereby empowered to issue marriage licenses shall keep a book in which he shall record and index all affidavits, statements, consents and licenses together with the certificate attached showing the performance of the marriage ceremony which book shall be kept and preserved as a part of the public records of his office. Whenever an application is made for a search of such records the city or town clerk may make such search and furnish a certificate of the result to the applicant upon the payment of a fee of fifty cents for a search of one year and a further fee of ten cents for each additional year, which fees shall be paid in advance of such search. All such affidavits, statements and consents, immediately upon the taking or receiving of the same by the town or city clerk, shall be recorded and indexed and shall be public records and open to public inspection. On or before the fifteenth day of each month the said town and city clerk shall file in the office of the county clerk of the county in which said town or city is situated the original of each affidavit, statement, consent, license and certificate, which have been filed with or made before him during the preceding month. He shall not be required to file any of said documents with the county clerk until the license is returned with the certificate showing that the marriage to which they refer has been actually performed.[12] [Domestic Relations Law, § 19, as amended by L. 1912, ch. 241, and L. 1916, ch. 381; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1031.]

§ 11. COPIES OF PAPERS FILED WITH TOWN CLERK, EVIDENCE.

A copy of a paper filed, pursuant to law, in the office of a town clerk, or transcript from a record kept therein, pursuant to law, certified by the town clerk, is evidence, with like effect as the original. [Code Civ. Pro., § 934.]

11. Age of female to whom license may be issued.— This section does not place any limitation upon the age of a female to whom a license may be issued. If the applicant is a woman under eighteen years of age, the town clerk must procure the consent specified in the statute. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1911), Vol. 2, p. 632.

12. Affidavits for marriage licenses need not be made public by the city or town clerk until after the ceremony has been performed and the certificate filed. Rept. of Atty. Genl., March 11, 1911.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE; GENERAL DUTIES AS TOWN OFFICERS: POLICE JUSTICES IN CERTAIN TOWNS.

SECTION 1. Constitutional provisions relative to justices of the peace.
2. Removal of justice of the peace.
3. Justice of the peace to deposit books with town clerk, if he removes from town or is removed from office; town clerk to demand books.
4. Buying demands by a justice or constable, for suit before a justice; forfeiture of office.
5. Payment of fines and penalties.
6. Police justices in certain towns.
7. Jurisdiction and powers of police justices.
8. Creation of office of police justice.

§ 1. CONSTITUTIONAL PROVISIONS RELATIVE TO JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

The electors of the several towns shall, at their annual town meetings, or at such other time and in such manner as the legislature may direct, elect justices of the peace, whose term of office shall be four years.[1]

1. Election and terms of office of justices. The election, number and terms of office of justices of the peace, and the eligibility, qualifications, oaths of office and undertakings of such justices have been considered in a former chapter in connection with other town officers. See 3 Wait's Law and Practice, 7th ed. (1903), p. 1. (For places in this Manual where the sections referred to may be found, see Table of Laws, after the Table of Contents.)

Duties of justices of the peace in common with other town officers. It is not the purpose of this work to treat of the powers and duties of a justice of the peace as a judicial officer. The purpose is to consider such office in its connection with other town offices and to state the powers and duties of a justice in this connection only. As to the jurisdiction of justices of the peace and as to the law and practice in their courts reference is made to Wait's Law and Practice, 7th ed. (1903); Baileys' Law and Practice for Justices of the Peace (1909),

Town board. Justices of the peace as town officers act generally in connection with the supervisor and town clerk in forming the town board of the town. The town board is the chief governing body of the town and its powers and duties are numerous and varied. Subsequent chapters of this work are devoted to the powers and duties of such board. Justices have other duties in conenction with other town officers which are considered in other parts of this work in their proper connection. Among these duties are the following:

Town meetings. Justices are the presiding officers at town meetings not held in election districts or at the time of a general election. See Town Law sec. 49, ante. (As to the powers of town meetings, the manner of conducting the same, and other provisions relating thereto, see chapter 19, ante.)

Special constables may be appointed by justices of the peace and the supervisor, Town Law, sec. 117, ante.

Resignations may be accepted by any three justices of the peace of a town for sufficient cause shown to them. Town Law, sec. 84, ante.

Fires in woods. Justices of the peace in connection with the supervisor and commissioner of highways of a town may order out the inhabitants of a town to assist in extinguishing a fire in the woods in any such town. Town Law, sec. 89, ante.

Coroners. Justices of the peace to act as coroners in case of the disability of all the coroners, or in case of an emergency, see Code Crim. Proc., § 789-a, ante.

If a justice of the peace, either before or after the expiration of his term of office, removes from the town or city wherein he was elected, he must forthwith deposit, with the clerk of that town or city, his docket book, and all other books and papers in his custody, relating to an action or a special proceeding, which has been heard by him, or commenced before him. A justice, who is removed from office, must make a like deposit, within ten days after receiving notice of his removal, or afterwards, upon the demand of the clerk of the town or city. But the omission of the justice to make the deposit does not affect the validity of any book or paper, so required to be deposited, or of any proceeding to which it relates. [Code Civ. Pro., § 3144.]

A justice of the peace must make, in each docket book deposited by him, as prescribed in the last section, a certificate under his hand, to the effect that each judgment or order, entered therein, was duly rendered or made as therein stated; and that the sum, appearing by the book to be due thereupon, has not been paid, to his knowledge. [Code Civ. Pro., § 3145.]

If a justice of the peace dies, or his office becomes otherwise vacant, the town or city clerk must demand and receive all books and papers, which belonged to the justice in his official capacity, from any person having them in his possession, and such clerk may make and issue a transcript of a judgment so rendered by such a justice of the peace and appearing upon the docket of such justice of the peace so on file in his office, and issue an execution upon any such judgment which has not been docketed in the office of the county clerk, upon receiving his fees for the same, which shall be the same now allowed a justice of the peace for issuing a transcript or transcripts, as the case may be, and such transcript or execution so issued by such clerk shall have the same force and effect as though the same had been issued by such justice of the peace during his term of office. [Code Civ. Pro., § 3146, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 448.]

If any book or paper, required to be deposited with the town or city clerk, as prescribed in this title, is withheld, the like proceedings may be had, at the instance of the town or city clerk, to compel the deposit thereof, as are prescribed by law, where an officer refuses or neglects to deliver a book or paper in his custody as such officer, to his successor in office. [Code Civ. Pro., § 3147.]

A justice of the peace or a constable who, directly or indirectly, buys or is interested in buying, anything in action, for the purpose of commencing a suit thereon before a justice, is guilty of a misdemeanor. [Penal Law, § 1852; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 4048.]

A justice of the peace or constable who, directly or indirectly, gives, or promises to give, any valuable consideration to any person as an inducement to bring, or in consideration of having brought, a suit thereon before a justice, is guilty of a misdemeanor. [Penal Law, § 1853; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 4048.]

A person convicted of a violation of either of the two preceding sections, in addition to the punishment, by fine and imprisonment prescribed therefor by this article, forfeits his office. [Penal Law, § 1854; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 4048.]

Nothing in the three preceding sections shall be construed to prohibit the receiving in payment of anything in action for any estate, real or personal, or for any services of an attorney or counselor actually rendered, or for a debt antecedently contracted; or the buying or receiving of anything in action for the purpose of remittance, and without any intent to violate the three preceding sections. [Penal Law, § 1855; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 4048.]

The provisions of sections two hundred and seventy-four, two hundred and seventy-five, eighteen hundred and fifty-three, and eighteen hundred and fifty-five, relative to the buying of claims by a justice of the peace or constable, with intent to prosecute them, apply to every case of such buying a claim, or lending or advancing money, by any person prosecuting in person an action or legal proceeding. [Penal Law, § 1856; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 4049.]

§ 5. PAYMENT OF FINES AND PENALTIES.

The board of supervisors shall have power to direct the payment, by justices of the peace, of all fines and penalties imposed and received by them, to the supervisors of their respective towns, on the first Monday in each month, and to direct justices of the peace to make a verified report of all fines and penalties collected by them to the board of town auditors of their respective towns on Tuesday preceding the annual town meeting. Upon such payment as herein prescribed to the supervisor of any town, he shall immediately pay over such part of such fines and penalties to any person or corporation who shall be entitled to receive the same by virtue of any statute, special or otherwise. The residue of such amount shall be applied to the support of the poor of such town. This subdivision shall not apply to the county of Kings. [County Law, § 12, subd. 21; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 714.]

§ 6. * POLICE JUSTICES IN CERTAIN TOWNS.

In any town of this state containing one or more incorporated villages of the aggregate population of at least eight thousand inhabitants, the office of police justice shall be created upon the adoption of a proposition therefor at any regular town election. The term of office of said police justice shall be four years. Such police justice shall receive no fees, but shall be paid an annual salary to be fixed by resolution of the town board of such town, which salary shall not be increased nor diminished during his term of office. [Town Law, § 122, as added by L. 1909, ch. 528.]

§ 7. JURISDICTION AND POWERS OF POLICE JUSTICE.

1. Such police justice may hold a court of special sessions in said town, outside the corporate limits of the village or villages, and shall have in the first instance exclusive jurisdiction to hear, try and determine all charges of misdemeanor committed within such town and without the corporate limits of the village or villages therein, and triable by a court of special sessions, subject to the right of removal, as provided by the code of criminal procedure, to a court having authority to inquire by the intervention of a grand jury into offenses committed within the county.

2. Such police justice shall have exclusive jurisdiction to take the examination of a person charged with the commission in such town, without the corporate limits of the village or villages therein, of a crime not triable by a court of special sessions; and also to hear, try and determine charges against a person of being a vagrant or disorderly person within such town without the corporate limits of the village or villages therein, or of having committed disorderly conduct therein; and to take such proceedings in either of such cases as may be taken by a justice of the peace, with all the powers and subject to all the duties and liabilities of a justice of the peace in respect thereto.

3. Such police justice shall have all the power and authority and be subject to all the duties and liabilities of a justice of the peace in issuing warrants for the arrest of a person charged with the commission of a crime or disorderly conduct in a county including such town, but if the offense is charged to have been committed outside of that portion of the town lying without the corporate limits of the village or villages in such town, the person arrested by such process shall be taken before a magistrate of the town or village in which such offense is charged to have been committed and the papers on which such process was issued shall be delivered to such magistrate who shall proceed thereon as though such warrant had been issued by him on such papers.

4. A person arrested on a criminal warrant issued by a justice of the peace or other magistrate upon a charge of committing a crime or an offense of a criminal nature within that portion of a town wherein such office of police justice has been or may be established lying without the corporate limits of the village or villages therein, shall be taken before the police justice of such town and the papers on which the process was issued shall be delivered to him and he shall proceed thereon as though such warrant had been issued by him on such papers.

5. In case of the absence of the police justice or his inability to act any justice of the peace of the town shall have jurisdiction.

6. The term "proceeding," as used in this section, also includes a special proceeding of a criminal nature. [Town Law, § 123, as added by L. 1909, ch. 528.]

§ 8. CREATION OF OFFICE OF POLICE JUSTICE.

The town board of any town specified in section one hundred and twenty-two of this article may, and on the petition of twenty-five electors qualified to vote on the proposition shall,cause to be submitted at any regular town meeting or town election a proposition for the creation of such office of police justice in such town. Should such provision be adopted, then within ten days thereafter the town board of such town shall appoint a competent elector of such town and a resident of the portion thereof lying without the corporate limits of the village or villages therein, police justice; the person so appointed shall hold office until the thirty-first day of December next after the regular town election next succeeding that at which such proposition shall have been adopted. At the regular town election next succeeding that at which such proposition shall have been adopted a police justice shall be elected. [Town Law, § 124, as added by L. 1909, ch. 528.]

CHAPTER XXV.

COMPENSATION OF TOWN OFFICERS; MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS AS TO TOWN OFFICERS.

SECTION 1. Compensation of town officers.
2. Per diem allowances of town officers.
2a. Payment of salaries monthly.
3. Compensation of town clerks in certain towns.
4. Expenditures of surplus moneys by certain town officers.
5. Powers and duties of assessors in certain towns of Nassau County.
6. Fence viewers.
7. Peace officers in towns of counties adjoining cities of the first-class.
8. Delivery of books and papers by outgoing supervisor, town clerk, superintendent of highways or overseer of poor to successor.

§ 1. COMPENSATION OF TOWN OFFICERS.

Town officers shall be entitled to compensation at the following rates for each day actually and necessarily devoted by them to the service of the town in the duties of their respective offices, when no fee is allowed by law for the service, as follows:

1. a. The supervisor,[1] except when attending the board of supervisors, town clerk, justices of the peace and overseers of the poor, each, two dollars

---

1. Per diem allowance to town officers. A supervisor of a town is not entitled to a percentage upon town moneys received and paid out by him, nor to any compensation beyond the per diem allowance fixed by statute for advising and directing overseers of the poor, for consulting with highway commissioners and town assessors, and for services in employing counsel in proceedings taken to compel the board of supervisors to correct the town assessment-roll. People ex rel. Keeffe v. Town Auditors, 24 App. Div. 579; 49 N. Y. Supp. 525. A board of supervisors in a resolution authorizing a town to borrow money and issue bonds therefor cannot give to the supervisor for his services a commission on the proceeds of the bonds sold under such resolution. Ghiglione v. Marsh, 23 App. Div. 61; 48 N. Y. Supp. 604. In this case it was held that the services performed by the supervisor in respect to bonds so sold should be paid for on the per diem basis under the provisions of the above section and the court remarked: "Such services are performed for the town, and no compensation is provided therefor by any provision of law. It would seem, therefore, that the provision of the statute for per diem compensation for services rendered the town by a supervisor has direct application and embraces the case."

Section 3280 of the Code of Civil Procedure provides that "each public officer upon whom a duty is expressly imposed by law must execute the same without fee per day, and assessors three dollars per day, unless a different rate be fixed by or pursuant to this section; [Subd. amended by L. 1917, ch. 572.]

b. The board of supervisors of any county may, by resolution, fix the compensation of any of such officers in the towns of such county at the rate of more than two but not more than four dollars per day, notwithstanding any provision of this section fixing or authorizing the fixing of a different per diem rate; [Subd. amended by L. 1917, ch. 572.]

c. The town board of any town may, by resolution, fix the compensation of the assessors in such town at more than three but not more than five dollars per day each; [Subd. amended by L. 1917, ch. 572.]

d. Assessors in the county of Monroe shall receive compensation at the rate of not less than three dollars nor more than five dollars per day each to be fixed by the town board;

e. Assessors in the county of Nassau shall receive compensation at the rate of three dollars per day each;

f. The town board of any town in which the assessed valuation of real estate is over twenty million dollars may, by resolution, determine that the assessors thereof shall each receive an annual salary of not more than one thousand dollars in lieu of per diem compensation; or reward, except where a fee or other compensation therefor is expressly allowed by law." In the case of People ex rel. Keeffe v. Town Auditors, supra, the court held that such section of the code applied to services performed by supervisors in receiving and paying out town moneys, and concluded that a supervisor was not entitled to any compensation for such services other than a per diem allowance as given by the above section, and, unless that section can be made applicable it was held that he could make no charge whatever against the town for such services. See, also, Matter of Town of Hempstead, 36 App. Div. 321; 55 N. Y. Supp. 345.

A supervisor is entitled to commissions for paying out moneys for park purposes, authorized by a statute making the supervisor one of the park commissioners to serve without compensation, because his function as supervisor in paying out the money is separate and distinct from his function as a park commissioner. People ex rel. Studwell v. Archer, 142 App. Div. 71, 126 N. Y. Supp. 750.

The supervisor of a town is not entitled to a commission of one per cent. on money raised for highway and bridge purposes. Rept. of Atty. Genl., May 22, 1911.

Members of the town board are entitled to no greater compensation while auditing accounts than while performing other duties as a town board, such compensation being two dollars per day. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1911), vol. 2, p. 663.

Right of town officer to employ assistant at expense of the town. A town officer has no right to employ an assistant at the expense of the town to do any part of the work which devolves upon him by virtue of his office and for which he is compensated as such town officer; nor has the town board a right to employ any person at the expense of the town to do the work of any town officer. Daly v. Haight (1914), 87 Misc. 425, 149 N. Y. Supp. 940, rev'd on other grounds, 170 App. Div. 469, 156 N. Y. Supp. 538.

g. The town board of any town in the county of Nassau having a population, as appears by the last federal census, of seventeen thousand inhabitants or more, may fix the annual compensation for assessors of such town, at not more than twelve hundred dollars each, and provide for the payment of such compensation in quarterly installments;

h. The town board of any town in which the assessed valuation of taxable real and personal property is ten million dollars or more may determine by resolution that the overseers of the poor in such town shall receive an annual salary, to be fixed by such resolution, not exceeding one thousand dollars, in lieu of the per diem compensation provided by this section;

i. The town board of any town in a county adjoining a city of the first class may by resolution fix the compensation of the persons appointed and serving as inspectors of election at a sum not exceeding twelve dollars for the hours fixed by law for each day of registration, and of revision of registration for a special election, and six dollars for the count and return of the votes, said claims to be allowed and paid in the same manner as other town charges are allowed and paid. Ballot clerks shall receive the same compensation for their attendance

Justices of the peace and town clerks are entitled to a per diem compensation of two dollars. People ex rel. Earwicker v. Dillon, 38 App. Div. 539, 56 N. Y. Supp. 416.

Town clerk is entitled to compensation for services in carrying out the provisions of the Election Law. He is not entitled to compensation for allowing town assessment rolls to be placed in his office. People ex rel. Gedney v. Sippell, 116 App. Div. 753, 102 N. Y. Supp. 69.

Compensation of town clerk as custodain of records. A town clerk is entitled to certain fees for filing papers required to be filed with him, for registering the same, for searching for papers; and for certified copies of instruments or records required to be kept by him, he is entitled to the same fees as are allowed by law to county clerks. In addition to these fees he is, by the above section, entitled to $2 for each day actually and necessarily devoted to the service of the town in the duties of his office when no fee is allowed by law for such service. It is quite evident that the above section does not contemplate an allowance of $2 per day as custodian of papers required to be filed with him. Matter of Town of Hempstead, 36 App. Div. 319; 55 N. Y. Supp. 345.

Town assessors in Nassau county. L. 1900, ch. 292, amending former section, providing for the compensation of assessors in towns generally, and excepting therefrom the county of Monroe, was held to repeal the provisions of L. 1893, ch. 629, § 2, relating to the compensation of assessors in Queens county, so far as the same related to the county of Nassau, notwithstanding L. 1898, ch. 588, § 18, applying acts relating to Queens county to the county of Nassau. People ex rel. Hegeman v. Jones, 68 App. Div. 396, 74 N. Y. Supp. 294.

at an election as inspectors of election for the election and be paid in like manner. Poll clerks shall receive the same compensation for their attendance at an election and canvass of the votes as inspectors of election and be paid in like manner.

The compensation of a town officer now fixed pursuant to this section shall continue as so fixed until changed pursuant to this section as amended. If the compensation of a town officer be fixed by or pursuant to statute on a per diem basis, he shall not be entitled to receive more than one day's compensation on account of services performed on the same calendar day.

j. The town board of any town in a county having a population of two hundred thousand or less, according to the last federal or state census or enumeration, adjoining a city of the first class having a population of one million and upwards may, by a resolution, fix the compensation of the town clerk at not more than thirty-five hundred dollars per annum. The town clerks in such towns may, with the approval of the town board, appoint a deputy town clerk at a salary to be fixed by the town board not exceeding the sum of fifteen hundred dollars per annum. Such town clerk and deputy town clerk shall receive and collect the fees allowed by law and shall keep an accurate record of the same. At the end of each month, he shall make a verified report of such fees giving the date and amount of each fee and the person from whom received, which he shall file with the supervisor of the town, and pay over to such supervisor all the moneys so received during such month, to be paid by the supervisor into the town fund of such town.

2. If a different rate is not otherwise established as herein provided, each inspector of election, ballot clerk and poll clerk is entitled to three dollars per day; but the town board may establish in its town a higher rate, not exceeding six dollars per day, but such election officers shall receive compensation for one day only for all services rendered on the day of election and in canvassing the votes thereafter, and in completing the returns.[2]

2. Pay of election officers. Although town election officers have worked from about half-past five in the morning until nearly midnight on the day of a general election, they are only entitled to one day's pay, as the statute, fixing the number of hours which shall constitute a day's work, has no application to such officers. People ex rel. Kleet v. Town Board, 27 Misc. 470; 59 N. Y. Supp. 234.

j. The supervisor of each town shall be allowed and paid, in the same manner as other town charges are allowed and paid, a fee of one per centum on all moneys paid out by him as such supervisor, including school moneys disbursed by him as provided in the education law, moneys paid out by him for damages arising from dogs killing or injuring sheep as provided in article seven of the county law, moneys in his hands paid out by him for the relief of the poor, and all other town moneys paid out by him for defraying town charges, except moneys expended under the highway law. But no such fees shall be allowed or paid upon moneys paid over by him to his successor in office. Such fees shall be in full compensation for all services rendered by him in respect to moneys received and paid out by him as such supervisor as provided by law except the compensation provided in section one hundred and ten of the highway law. [Town Law, § 85, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 491; L. 1915, chs. 73 and 452; L. 1916, chs. 93 and 554; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6161.]

k. The constables hereafter elected in any town of a county containing two hundred thousand inhabitants or less, according to the last federal census or state enumeration, adjoining a city of the first class containing a population of over one million, shall receive annual salaries to be fixed by the town board at not exceeding fifteen hundred dollars each. The salaries of the constables in any such town shall be uniform. Such salaries shall be determined before the first biennial town meeting hereafter held, but may be diminished or increased, within such limitations, by the town board from time to time, with respect to constables to be thereafter elected. The town board may provide for the payment of such salary in either monthly or quarterly installments. The constables hereafter elected in any such town shall not receive to their own use any other compensation for their services, but shall be allowed their actual and necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their duties. The accounts for such expenses shall be audited and paid by the town board monthly. All fees or charges payable by law to constables of any such towns for any services in their official capacity shall be collected by such constables, but shall belong to the town, and the amount collected shall be paid over, on or before the fifth day of each month, to the supervisor. [Subd. added by L. 1917, ch. 44.]

l. The town board of any town in a county containing a town having a population of sixty thousand or over according to the last federal census or state enumeration, adjoining a city of the first class containing a population of over one million, may by resolution fix the compensation of all town officers except the compensation of the members of such town board, notwithstanding the provisions of any other subdivision of this section. The compensation of the members of any such town board shall continue as now provided by law. Any town board adopting such resolution shall determine such compensation before the first biennial town meeting hereafter held, and such compensation may be diminished or increased by such town board from time to time, with respect to officers to be thereafter elected or appointed, except that all town officers of the same class or title shall receive the same compensation. Such town board may provide for the payment of such compensation in either monthly or quarterly installments. [Subd. 1 added by L. 1918, ch. 123.]

l. The town board of any town in a county having a population of more than three hundred thousand according to the last federal or state census, or enumeration, adjoining a city of the first class having a population of one million and upwards, may determine by resolution that the overseer of the poor, or overseers of the poor, elected or appointed, shall receive an annual salary to be fixed by such resolution; provided, however, such annual salary of such overseer of the poor, or of each of said overseers of the poor, shall not exceed one thousand dollars in such a town having a population of less than seventy-five hundred, and shall not exceed one thousand five hundred dollars in such a town having a population of seventy-five hundred or over; except, however, in such a town having a population of twenty thousand or over and an assessed valuation of forty million or over and having but one such overseer of the poor such annual salary may be fixed at not to exceed three thousand dollars, and further that when such a salary has been so fixed as herein provided, it shall be in lieu of any other or different compensation or method of compensation notwithstanding any general or special law. [Subd. 1 added by L. 1918, ch. 359.]

l. The town board of any town having a population of fifteen thousand or more, according to the last federal or state census or enumeration, and an assessed valuation of fifteen million dollars or more, may, by resolution, fix the compjensation of the town clerk at an annual salary, to be prescribed by the resolution and payable in stated installments. [Subd. 1 added by L. 1918, ch. 360.]

l. Town clerks of any town in Erie county shall receive compensation at the rate of three dollars per day each. [Subd. 1 added by L. 1918, ch. 387.]

n. The town board of a town having a population of twenty thousand or over, and an assessed valuation of forty millions or over, in a county having a population of more than three hundred thousand according to the last federal or state census, or enumeration, adjoining a city of the first class having a population of one million and upwards, may determine by resolution that the town superintendent of highways shall receive an annual salary to be fixed by such resolution; provided, however, such annual salary of the said town superintendent of highways shall not exceed three thousand dollars. [Subd. n added by L. 1918, ch. 117.]

§ 2. PER DIEM ALLOWANCES OF TOWN OFFICERS.

No town officer shall be allowed any per diem compensation for his services unless expressly provided by law. [Town Law, § 87; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6163.]

§ 2a. PAYMENT OF SALARIES MONTHLY.

If, by or in pursuance of law, a town officer is entitled to receive an annual salary, the supervisor of such town may, notwithstanding the provisions of any such law as to the time for payment of such salary, or the audit or allowance thereof, pay to such officer monthly the proportion of such salary to which he shall be entitled out of any moneys of the town in his hands not needed for other purposes, and receipts therefor shall be presented by the supervisor to the board of town auditors, if any, and otherwise to the town board, which receipts if found to be correct shall be audited and allowed at the amount thereof. [Town Law, § 87a, as added by L. 1915, ch. 12.]

§ 3. COMPENSATION OF TOWN CLERKS IN CERTAIN TOWNS.

The town clerk of each town containing a population of twenty thousand or upwards, except the counties of Kings and Richmond, shall be entitled to receive the same compensation for attending all meetings of town boards in his town as each other member of such board in addition to all compensation, salary and fees to which he is now entitled by law for the performance of all the other duties of said office.[3] [Town Law, § 86; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6163.]

§ 4. EXPENDITURES OF SURPLUS MONEYS BY CERTAIN TOWN OFFICERS.

The supervisor, town clerk and justices of the peace, or a majority thereof in any town in this state, may expend any surplus moneys for which no provisions for expenditure is made, belonging to said town, for the purposes of redemption of outstanding bonds or for improvements in said town If not so used, the town board shall apply such surplus in reduction of taxation in the manner provided in section one hundred and thirty-three of this act.[4] [Town Law, § 90, as amended by L. 1918, ch. 73; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6164.]

§ 5. POWERS AND DUTIES OF ASSESSORS IN CERTAIN TOWNS OF NASSAU AND ERIE COUNTIES.

The assessors of Nassau county in the towns having a population, as appears by the last federal census, of seventeen thousand or more, may in their discretion employ two clerks at salaries to be fixed by them, subject to the approval of the town clerk and supervisor, also additional clerk hire at a sum not to exceed annually a sum approved by the town clerk and supervisor, and the assessors of Erie county, in the town contiguous to the city of Buffalo, may employ one clerk, to be approved by the town board, at a salary to be fixed by said town board, and the salaries of said clerks shall be paid by the supervisor of the town in equal quarterly payments, and shall be a town charge and shall be levied and collected in the same manner as other town charges. The assessors of Nassau county in the towns having a population, as appears by the last federal census, of seventeen thousand, or more, shall devote all their time during business hours to their official duties. They shall keep their office open for the convenience of the public every week day of the year, except public holidays and Saturdays, from nine o'clock in the morning till four o'clock in the afternoon, and on Saturdays from nine o'clock in the morning until one o'clock in the afternoon, and shall cause one of their number or the clerk of the board to be in attendance during said office hours. Between the first day of September in each year, and the first day of July in the year next following, the assessors shall proceed to ascertain by diligent inquiry the names of all taxable inhabitants in their respective towns and also all the taxable property, real or personal, within the same. [Town Law, § 108, as amended by L. 1914, ch. 157; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6173.]

§ 6. FENCE VIEWERS.

The assessors and town superintendent of highways elected in every town shall, by virtue of their offices, be fence viewers of their town. [Town Law, § 121, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 491.]

§ 7. PEACE OFFICERS IN TOWNS OF COUNTIES ADJOINING CITIES OF THE FIRST CLASS.

The town board of any town within a county adjoining a city of the first class may, upon the petition of twenty-five taxpayers of the town, annually raise by taxation a sum of money not to exceed one-tenth of one per centum of the assessed valuation of the taxable property of the town for the purpose of defraying the expenses necessary for the preservation of the public peace of the town. The town board of any such town may thereafter annually appoint for a term not extending beyond the current official year competent persons who shall be termed peace officers for such town, and who shall have all the powers and be subject to all the duties and liabilities of a constable of such town in all criminal actions and proceedings and special proceedings of a criminal nature. The compensation for the services of such peace officers shall be fixed by said town board at a yearly salary and shall be paid by such board in equal monthly payments, and bills for expenses and equipments of such officers shall be audited and paid by said town board monthly. The town board may dispense with the services of any or all persons who may be appointed hereunder whenever said board shall deem that their services are unnecessary. No person shall be appointed as a peace officer under this section who is not a citizen of the United States or who has ever been convicted of a crime or who cannot understand English, or read and write the English language. [Town Law, § 122, as added by L. 1909, ch. 147.]

§ 8. DELIVERY OF BOOKS AND PAPERS BY OUTGOING SUPERVISOR, TOWN CLERK, SUPERINTENDENT OF HIGHWAYS OR OVERSEER OF THE POOR, TO SUCCESSOR.

Whenever the term of office of any supervisor, town clerk, superintendent of highways or overseer of the poor shall expire, or when either of such officers shall resign, and another person shall be elected or appointed to the office, the succeeding officer shall, immediately after he shall have entered on the duties of his office, demand of his predecessor all the records, books, and papers under his control belonging to such office. Every person so going out of office, whenever so required, shall deliver upon oath to his successor all the records, books and papers in his possession or under his control belonging to the office held by him, which oath may be administered by the officer to whom such delivery shall be made, and shall, at the same time pay over to his successor the moneys belonging to the town remaining in his hands. If any such officer shall have died, the successors or successor of such officer shall make such demand of the executors or administrators of such deceased officer, and such executors or administrators shall deliver, upon like oath, all records, books and papers in their possession, or under their control, belonging to the office held by their testator or intestate. If any person so going out of office, or his executors or administrators, shall refuse or neglect, when lawfully required, to deliver such records, books or papers, he shall forfeit to the town, for every such refusal or neglect, the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars; and officers entitled to demand such records, books and papers may compel the delivery thereof in the manner prescribed by law.[5] [Town Law, § 91, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 491; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 6164.]

5. For form of oath of town officers and delivery of books, etc., see Form No. 29.

Proceedings to compel delivery of books. The following section of the Public Officers' Law prescribes the procedure for compelling the delivery of books by a public officer to his successor.

§ 80. A public officer may demand from any person in whose possession they may be, a delivery to such officer of the books and papers belonging or appertaining to such office. If such demand is refused, such officer may make complaint thereof to any justice of the Supreme Court of the district, or to the county judge of the county in which the person refusing resides. If such justice or judge be satisfied that such books or papers are withheld, he shall grant an order directing the person refusing to show cause before him at a time specified therein, why he should not deliver the same. At such time, or at any time to which the matter may be adjourned, on proof of the due service of the order, such justice or judge shall proceed to inquire into the circumstances. If the person charged with withholding such books or papers makes affidavit before such justice or judge that he has delivered to the officer all books and papers in his custody which, within his knowledge, or to his belief, belong or appertain thereto, such proceedings before such justice or judge shall cease, and such person be discharged. If the person complained against shall not make such oath, and it appears that any such books or papers are withheld by him, such justice or judge shall commit him to the county jail until he delivers such books and papers, or is otherwise discharged according to law. On such commitment,

§ 9. ADDITIONAL CLERKS AND ASSISTANTS IN CERTAIN TOWNS.

The supervisor of each town having a population, as appears by the last federal census, of fifteen thousand or more and where the assessed valuation of real estate is over fifteen million dollars, may in his discretion employ a clerk at a salary to be fixed by the town board of such town, except that in the county of Westchester such clerks may be employed in towns where the population, as appears by the last federal census, is ten thousand or more or where the assessed valuation of real estate is over six million dollars. The assessors of each town having a population, as appears by the last federal census, of fifteen thousand or more and where the assessed valuation of real estate is over fifteen million dollars, may also, in their discretion, employ a clerk at a salary to be fixed by the town board of such town. The assessors in each town in Suffolk county may also, in their discretion, employ clerks, for the purpose of copying the original assessment roll and making such copy or copies thereof as may be authorized by law, at a salary to be fixed by the town board of such town. The salaries of said clerks shall be paid by the supervisor of said town in equal monthly payments and shall be a town charge and shall be levied and collected in the same manner as other town charges. [Town Law, § 125, as added by L. 1913, ch. 163, amended by L. 1915, ch. 107, L. 1916, ch. 21, and L. 1918, ch. 541.]

such justice or judge, if required by the complainant, shall also issue his warrant directed to any sheriff or constable, commanding him to search in the day time, the places designated therein, for such books and papers, and to bring them before such justice or judge. If any such books and papers are brought before him by virtue of such warrant, he shall determine whether they appertain to such office, and if so shall cause them to be delivered to the complainant.

In proceedings under § 2471-a of the Code (Public Officers Law, § 80) to compel an officer whose term has expired to deliver to his successor the books, papers, etc., appertaining to the office, all that the petitioner is required to establish is his election, and that he has duly qualified. Questions as to the validity of the election may not be determined in such a proceeding. Matter of Bradley, 141 N. Y 527; Matter of Foley, 8 Misc. 196, 28 N. Y. Supp. 611, aff'd in 86 Hun 621, 33 N. Proceedings to compel delivery of books and papers are applicable as against officers de facto, only, to cases where the title of the relator to the office is clear. Matter of Baker, 11 How. Pr. 418.

Mandamus will not lie to compel the delivery of books and papers. People v. Martin, 62 Barb. 570, 576.

Payment of money. An outgoing commissioner (now superintendent) of highways is bound to account to the town authorities and pay over to his successor in office all moneys remaining in his hands as such commissioner. Victory v. Blood, 25 Hun 515.

In a town having a population of fifteen thousand or more, according to the next preceding federal or state census or enumeration, and in which the assessed valuation of real estate is or shall be over fifteen million dollars, the town board may, by resolution, provide from time to time for the appointment of clerks, stenographers or other assistants for one or more town officers, in addition to other subordinates for any such officer provided for by law, and fix their salaries or compensation. A position so established may be abolished by the town board at any time. The town board may designate a particular officer or officers whom any such clerk, stenographer or assistant is to assist and may direct their transfer from one officer to another. Appointments to any such position shall be made by the town board. The salaries or compensation of any such clerk, stenographer or assistant shall be paid by the supervisor of the town in equal monthly payments and shall be a town charge and levied and collected in the same manner as other town charges. [Town Law, § 127, as added by L. 1916, ch. 157.]

§ 10. TOWN PHYSICIAN; APPOINTMENT BY TOWN BOARD IN TOWN IN WHICH NO PHYSICIAN RESIDES.

The town board of any town containing a village or hamlet in which there is not a practicing physician residing within its boundaries or within a radius of eight miles thereof, may, at a special meeting called for that purpose, establish the office of town physician and fix the salary of such physician at not more than one thousand dollars per annum, and appoint to the office so created a duly qualified physician upon condition that he shall reside in such village or hamlet. The compensation of such town physician shall be a town charge and the sum necessary to pay the same shall be levied, collected and paid at the time and in the manner that other charges against the town are levied, collected and paid. It shall be the duty of a town physician so appointed to render to all poor persons within the town medical relief and attendance when requested so to do by the superintendent of the poor of the county in which the town is situated, or the supervisor of the town or an overseer of the poor of the town. If such town physician is also a local health officer he shall receive in addition the compensation of such officer as provided by law. [Town Law, § 142-a, added by L. 1916, ch. 413, in effect May 3, 1916.]

CHAPTER XXV-A.

TRANSACTIONS OF TOWN BUSINESS IN CERTAIN TOWNS ADOPTING PROVISIONS OF ARTICLE VI-A OF TOWN LAW.

SECTION 1. Application.
2. Resolution of town board.
3. Fiscal year, departmental estimates.
4. Annual estimate.
5. Public hearing.
6. Annual appropriations.
7. Tax budget.
8. Temporary loans.
9. Contracts and expenditures prohibited.
10. Penalties for violation of preceding section
11. Duties of supervisor.
12. Claims against town.
13. Saving clause.

§ 1. APPLICATION OF PROVISIONS OF ARTICLE VI-A OF TOWN LAW.

This article shall apply to any town having more than five thousand inhabitants in which the assessed valuation of taxable property exceeds five million dollars and which by resolution of the town board, hereafter adopted, shall elect to make its provisions applicable to such town. [Town Law, § 142, as added by L. 1916, ch. 396, in effect May 2, 1916.]

§ 2. RESOLUTION OF TOWN BOARD.

The town board of any such town at a special meeting called for that purpose by any of its members upon at least ten days' written notice of the time and place of holding the meeting and the purpose or object thereof served personally upon the other members of the board, may, by an affirmative vote of two-thirds of all the members of the board, elect to make this article applicable to such town. There shall be filed with the town clerk and incorporated in the minutes of meetings of the town board a copy of such notice, with proof of service thereof, upon each member of the board, and a copy of the resolution of the board showing the names of each member of the board present and voting, the number of votes cast for and against the resolution and the names of the members voting for and against it.

Upon the adoption of such resolution, the town clerk shall immediately make and certify copies of the resolution and of the record of its adoption and file the same as follows: One copy in the office of the county clerk of the county in which the town is situated; one copy with the clerk of the board of supervisors of the county in which the town is situated, which copy shall be reported by said clerk to the board of supervisors and published in its proceedings; and one copy in the office of the state comptroller. [Town Law, § 143, as added by L. 1916, ch. 396, in effect May 2, 1916.]

§ 3. FISCAL YEAR; DEPARTMENTAL ESTIMATES.

The fiscal year of each such town shall hereafter commence and end on the days which may be now or hereafter prescribed by law for such town. All officers, boards and commissioners of such town shall annually, at least forty days and not more than sixty days immediately preceding the date of the meeting of the board of supervisors at which taxes are levied in the county in which the town is situated, make and file with the town clerk of the town estimates in writing of the amount of expenditures for the next fiscal year in their respective offices, bureaus and departments, including a statement of their salaries and the salaries of all their subordinates, which estimates the town clerk shall lay before the town board at a meeting called for that purpose by him not less than twenty-five and not more than forty days preceding the date of such meeting of the board of supervisors in the county. The town clerk shall enter all such estimates in the minutes of the proceedings of the town board. [Town Law, § 144, as added by L. 1916, ch. 396, in effect May 2, 1916.]

§ 4. ANNUAL ESTIMATES.

The town board of the town shall, at least ten and not more than forty days prior to the date of the meeting of the board of supervisors at which taxes are levied in the county in which the town is situated, make an itemized statement in writing of the estimated revenues and expenditures of the town for the fiscal year for which estimates were filed with the town clerk, which shall be known as its annual estimate. The estimate of revenues shall contain an estimate of the probable revenues which in the judgment of the town board will be received by the town during the fiscal year, except from general taxes, less the amount required to be deposited to the credit of the sinking fund, if any; a statement of the amount of the sinking fund which in the judgment of the town board is available and should be applied to pay the principal of any bonded indebtedness of the town falling due during the said fiscal year; and a statement of all unexpended balances or estimated unexpended balances of the previous or current fiscal year remaining to the credit of the town or of any office, board or department thereof. The estimate of expenditures shall contain an estimate of the several amounts of money which the town board deems necessary to provide for the expenses of conducting the business of the town in each board, department and office thereof, separately stated, and for other purposes contemplated by this chapter and otherwise by law for the said fiscal year; to pay the principal and interest of any bonded or other indebtedness of the town falling due during the said fiscal year; and the amount of any judgment recovered against the town and payable during the said fiscal year. And there shall be included in the first annual estimate compiled after the provisions of this article shall be made applicable to a town, a sum or sums sufficient to pay all accounts, claims and demands against the town audited by the town board or board of town auditors or otherwise payable by the town for the fiscal year in which such resolution is adopted. After said annual estimate shall have been completed, it shall be entered in full upon the minutes of the town board. [Town Law, § 145, as added by L. 1916, ch. 396, in effect May 2, 1916.]

§ 5. PUBLIC HEARING OF PROPOSED EXPENDITURES.

Immediately after the annual estimate has been completed, the town board shall give notice of a public hearing at which any person favoring or objecting to said estimate or any part or item thereof will be heard. Such hearing shall be given upon ten days' notice. The notice shall specify the time and place where the hearing is to be held and the purpose thereof and it shall be stated therein that the annual estimate has been compiled by the town board and is on file in the office of the town clerk where any person interested therein may examine the same. Copies of such notice shall be posted in six conspicuous public places in the town, and published twice in not more than four newspapers published, having general circulation within the town, if the town board shall so determine, such posting and first publication to be at least ten days before the date of such public hearing. At the time and place in such notice mentioned, the town board shall convene and review the said estimate. At such hearing, taxpayers may be heard in favor or against the estimate as compiled or for or against any item therein contained. After such hearing and within ten days, the town board shall adopt such estimate as so originally compiled or shall diminish or reject any items therein contained and adopt said estimate as so amended. It shall have the power to diminish or reject any item contained in the estimate as originally compiled except those relating to salaries, the indebtedness of the town or the estimated revenues, but it shall not have the power to increase any estimated appropriation for expenditures except the estimate for highways which the board may increase or reduce any of the items contained therein as prescribed by section ninety-one of the highway law. Thereupon, the estimate, as adopted shall be entered in detail in the minutes of the proceedings of the town board. [Town Law, § 146, as added by L. 1916, ch. 396, in effect May 2, 1916.]

§ 6. ANNUAL APPROPRIATIONS.

When the town board shall have adopted the annual estimate originally compiled by it or said estimate as amended, after public hearing, the several sums estimated for expenditures therein shall be and become appropriated in the amounts and for the several departments, offices and purposes therein specified for the said fiscal year. The several sums therein enumerated as estimated revenues and the moneys necessary to be raised by tax in addition thereto, to pay the expenses of conducting the business of the town and for the purposes contemplated by this chapter and otherwise by law, shall be and become applicable in the amount therein named for the purpose of meeting said appropriations. In case the revenues received by the town exceed the amount of such estimated revenues named in said annual estimate, or in case there remain any unexpended balances of appropriations made for the support of the town government or for any other purpose, then such surplus revenues or such unexpended balances, or both, shall, except as otherwise provided by law, remain upon deposit and be included as a part of the estimated revenues for the succeeding year, except that the town board may by a vote of two-thirds of its members at a regular or special meeting regularly convened, determine to apply such surplus revenues or unexpended balances, excepting those of the highway fund, toward and in addition to the funds appropriated as aforesaid and in such manner as in the judgment of two-thirds of the members of the town board may be most beneficial to the town. [Town Law, § 147, as added by L. 1916, ch. 396, in effect May 2, 1916.]

§ 7. TAX BUDGET.

The amount of estimated expenditures contained in the annual estimate adopted by the town board less the amount of estimated revenues applicable to the payment thereof and the amount of all judgments payable prior to the tax levy, shall constitute the tax budget. The town clerk shall make and certify in duplicate, a transcript of the minutes of the proceedings of the town board upon the adoption of the estimate, including the estimate in detail, and shall deliver one copy thereof to the supervisor of the town to be by him laid before the board of supervisors for the purpose of levying the annual tax and transmitting the other copy thereof to the clerk of the board of supervisors of the county, who shall cause the same to be printed in the proceedings of the board of supervisors. The board of supervisors of the county in which the town is situated shall levy and cause to be raised the amount specified in said annual estimate to be levied by tax, and the amount shall be levied, assessed and raised by tax upon the real and personal property liable to taxation in the town at the time and in the manner provided by law. [Town Law, § 148, as added by L. 1916, ch. 396, in effect May 2, 1916.]

§ 8. TEMPORARY LOANS.

In the interval, after the adoption of said annual estimate and the commencement of the fiscal year but before the revenues are received, the town board shall have the power to borrow money for any of the purposes for which funds are appropriated within the amounts appropriated therefor for the fiscal year in anticipation of the receipt of the said taxes and revenues applicable to such purposes. The town board may provide for the issue of certificates of indebtedness or revenue bonds to be signed by the supervisor and countersigned by the town clerk for such purposes. Such certificates or bonds, together with the interest thereon to date of maturity, shall be paid out of the moneys received on account of taxes and revenues applicable to such purposes and shall in no case be made to run for more than sixteen months. [Town Law, § 149, as added by L. 1916, ch. 396, in effect May 2, 1916.]

§ 9. CONTRACTS AND EXPENDITURES PROHIBITED; PENALTIES.

No officer, board or department shall during any fiscal year expend or contract to be expended any money or incur any liability or enter into any contract which by its terms involves the expenditure of money for any purpose, unless provisions therefor shall have been made in the annual estimate or pursuant to section one hundred and forty-seven of this chapter, and in no case in excess of the amounts appropriated in said estimate as adopted by the town board or pursuant to section one hundred and forty-seven aforesaid for such officer, board, department or purpose for such fiscal year. Any contract, verbal or written, made in violation of this section, shall be null and void as to the town and no money belonging to the town shall be paid thereon, provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the making of contracts for special district purposes as may now or hereafter be provided by law for periods exceeding one year, nor be held to prohibit the proper officers of the town from expending such sums or incurring such debts as may be actually necessary to prevent the spread of or to suppress any contagious or infectious diseases or any epidemic in the town, in addition to the amount appropriated for such purpose. [Town Law, § 149-a, as added by L. 1916, ch. 396, in effect May 2, 1916.]

Any officer or member of any board or department of any such town wilfully violating any of the provisions of the preceding section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [Town Law, § 149-b, as added by L. 1916, ch. 396, in effect May 2, 1916.]

§ 10. DUTIES OF SUPERVISOR.

The supervisor of any such town shall demand, collect, receive and have the care and custody of, and shall disburse all moneys belonging to or due the town from every source, except as otherwise provided by law. All moneys of the town received by the supervisor shall be deposited by him in such bank, banks or trust companies as shall be designated by the town board for such purpose. The interest on all deposits shall be the property of the town and shall be accounted for and credited to the proper fund. No money shall be drawn from a town depositary except on checks or drafts signed by the supervisor and made payable to the person entitled to receive the same. In addition to the several fund accounts required to be kept, the supervisor shall keep in his records a separate account with every appropriation for which funds are appropriated or raised by tax, and in every check or draft drawn by him he shall state particularly against which fund it is drawn and the appropriate amount chargeable therewith. He shall at no time permit any fund or any appropriation account to be overdrawn nor draw upon one fund or appropriation account to pay a claim chargeable to another.

No money shall be paid out by him except upon the warrant, order or draft of the town board, or of the board of town auditors if there be such board in the town, except payments out of the town highway fund, shall be made by the supervisor upon the order of the town superintendent of highways, and that the supervisor may pay the principal and interest of funded debts and temporary loans, lawfully issued, without prior audit. The supervisor shall render to the town board at the end of each month a detailed statement of all money received and paid out by him for such month, and file a copy thereof in the office of the town clerk and with the board of town auditors if the town has such a board. [Town Law, § 149-e, as added by L. 1916, ch. 396, in effect May 2, 1916.]

§ 11. CLAIMS AGAINST TOWN.

No claim against the town, except for a fixed salary, for the principal or interest on a bonded or funded debt or other loan or for the regular or stated compensation of officers or employees of the town, shall be paid unless an itemized claim therefor, verified by or on behalf of the claimant, in such form as the town board or board of town auditors shall prescribe, and approved by the officer whose action gave rise or origin to the claim, shall have been presented to the town board, or board of town auditors if one exists in the town, and shall have been audited and allowed by it except the form of claim for highway purposes shall be prescribed by the state highway commission and paid as provided by sections one hundred and five and one hundred and six of the highway law. If there be a board of town auditors in such town, the town clerk shall be and act as clerk of that board. He shall cause each claim presented to the town board or to the board of town auditors for audit to be numbered consecutively, and the number, date of presentation, name of claimant and a brief statement of the character of each claim to be entered in a book kept for such purpose, which shall at all times during office hours be so placed as to be convenient for and open to public inspection. No claim shall be audited or paid by the town board or board of town auditors until five days have elapsed after its presentation to the town clerk, and the town board or board of town auditors shall not be required to audit any claim until thirty days after the expiration of such period of five days. The town board or board of town auditors is authorized in considering a claim to require any person presenting the same for audit to be sworn before it or any member thereof, relative to the justness and accuracy of such claim, and to take evidence and examine the witnesses in reference to the claim, and for that purpose subpoenas for the attendance of witnesses may be issued by said board, except as otherwise provided by law. When a claim has been finally audited by the town board the town clerk or if the audit be made by the board of town auditors the chairman of said board or the town clerk shall endorse thereon or attach thereto a certificate of such audit and the same shall thereupon be filed in and remain a public record in the town clerk's office. The town clerk shall also prepare a warrant, order, draft or certificate of audit to be signed by a majority of the members of the town board or the board of town auditors and to be countersigned by him stating the fact of such audit, the number of the claim, the name of the claimant, the amount allowed and the fund and appropriation account chargeable therewith and such other information as may be deemed necessary or essential, directed to the supervisor of the town, authorizing and directing him to pay to the claimant the amount allowed upon his claim. No fund and no appropriation account shall be overdrawn nor shall any warrant be drawn against one fund or appropriation account to pay a claim chargeable to another fund or appropriation account. It shall be the duty of the town clerk to keep a separate account with each appropriation for expenditure for which funds are appropriated or raised by tax, in such manner as the town board or board of town auditors and the comptroller of the state of New York may direct and determine.

For all his services rendered to or for the town, under or pursuant to the terms of this chapter, the town clerk shall receive an annual salary to be fixed by the town board of the town in lieu of all other compensation or fees which may now or hereafter be provided by law to be paid by the town for such services. [Town Law, § 149-d, as added by L. 1916, ch. 396, in effect May 2, 1916.]

§ 13. SAVING CLAUSE.

Nothing contained in this article shall be construed to alter or change the method or plan of determining the sum to be levied upon the special water, light, sewer, fire and other special districts, if any, nor the method of certifying such sums for the purpose of causing amounts to be inserted in the annual tax levy. All matter pertaining to the finances of such special districts shall be handled and transacted in the manner which may now or hereafter be provided by law.

The provisions of the state highway law shall be carried out with the same force and effect irrespective of anything mentioned in this article. Nothing contained in this article shall be construed to repeal any statute of the state or lawful resolution of the board of supervisors of the county in which the town is situated, or of the town board, or rule or regulation of the board of health of the town, not inconsistent with the provisions of this article, and the same shall remain in full force and effect, when not inconsistent with the provisions of this article, to be construed and operated in harmony with its provisions. [Town Law, § 149-e, as added by L. 1916, ch. 396, in effect May 2, 1916.]

§ 1. TOWN MEETING MAY VOTE SUMS OF MONEY FOR TOWN HOUSE.

The electors of any town in which there shall not be a town house, at any biennial town meeting, or a special town meeting lawfully called by the town clerk, may vote by ballot any sum of money for the purchase of a site and the building of a town house, or for the purpose of contributing to the erection of a building for the joint use of the town and of an incorporated village within its limits. A special town meeting shall not be called under this section within one year from the meeting at which a proposition for the purposes specified herein has been submitted.[1]

If such a sum is not raised by tax in one instalment the town board of

1. Effect of section upon special act. In the case of Barker v. Town of Floyd, 61 App. Div. 92; 69 N. Y. Supp. 1,109, it was held that chapter 360 of the Laws of 1865, which was a special act authorizing the town of Floyd to erect a town hall, and to make provision for the payment of the expense thereof, was passed to provide for the present necessity and was superseded by the above section of the Town Law which prescribes a uniform rule upon the subject. The court said: "We think it manifest, therefore, that the Town Law was designed to prescribe a general rule uniform throughout the state with reference such town may borrow the sum necessary to purchase such site and build such house by the issue of bonds to be signed by the supervisor and attested by the town clerk. Such bonds shall become due within twenty years from date of issue, and unless the whole amount of the indebtedness represented thereby is to be paid within five years from their date, they shall be so issued as to provide for the payment of the indebtedness in equal annual installments, the first of which shall be payable not more than five years from their date. They shall bear interest at a rate not exceeding five per centum per annum and shall be sold at not less than their par value. They shall be sold on sealed proposals or at public auction upon notice published in a paper printed in the town, if any, also in such other papers as may be designated by the town board and posted in at least five public places in the town, at least ten days before the sale, to the person who will take them at the lowest rate of interest. Such bonds shall be consecutively numbered from one to the highest number issued, and the town clerk shall keep a record of the number of each bond, its date, amount, rate of interest, when and where payable, and the purchaser thereof or person to whom they are issued. The board of supervisors of the county may cause the sum so voted or the amount of any bonds issued for such purpose to be collected with the to expending money for the purchase of sites and the erection of town halls, and that there no longer remains any necessity for the existence of the special act of 1865. It is now a well settled rule of statutory construction that a general statute covering the same subject matter and containing new provisions and manifestly designed by the legislature to embrace the entire law upon the subject, operates to repeal by implication a former general or special statute, even though the two are not repugnant."

Erection of building for storing highway machinery must be brought about under this section. The provisions of the Highway Law do not contemplate such an undertaking. Rept. of Atty. Gen. (1912), Vol. 2, p. 448.

Form of proposition. The above section of the Town Law permits the voting by the electors of the town of money for the purchase of a site and the building of a town house, and authorizes the voting of money for the erection of a town house alone, where the town expects a suitable site to be donated. The proposition submitted to the electors need not include the location of the contemplated site. People ex rel. Cromwell v. Seaman, 59 App. Div. 76; 69 N. Y. Supp. 55.

Special town meetings. Special town meetings for the purpose of voting upon a proposition for the erection of a town house must be called in accordance with the provisions of section 46 of the Town Law, ante, that is upon written application signed by twenty-five taxpayers, addressed to the town clerk.

Notice of a special town meeting must be posted ten days prior thereto in the manner prescribed by section 47 of the Town Law, ante. A proposition for the erection of a town hall must be voted upon by ballot and the notice that such a proposition is to be so voted upon at a town meeting must be posted by the town clerk in the manner provided by section 48 of the Town Law, ante. Such section 48 of the Town Law also requires a written application of the taxpayers demanding a vote upon the proposition and plainly stating its terms, to be filed with the town clerk at least twenty days before the town meeting at which it is to be voted upon.

other expenses of the town.[2] [Town Law, § 340; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 6228.]

§ 2. PURCHASE OF SITE FOR AND ERECTION OF TOWN HOUSE.

Sites shall be purchased and houses erected by the town board in the name of the town, and shall be controlled by the town board; and the electors may, from time to time, vote such sum of money as may be necessary to keep any town house in repair and insured, except where the building is to be erected within the limits of an incorporated village and the town is to contribute but a part of the expense of erecting the building, in which case the town board and the board of trustees of the village shall agree upon the terms and conditions of the use, management, control and repair of the portion of the town-house for town and village purposes respectively.[3] [Town Law, § 341; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 6229.]

§ 3. ERECTION OF LOCK-UPS; TOWN BOARD MAY SELECT TEMPORARY LOCK-UP; USE OF LOCK-UP.

The electors of each town, upon the application of ten freeholders of the town, may, by ballot, at their biennial town meeting, direct the erection of one or more houses of detention, or lock-ups, for the detention of persons committed by the magistrates thereof, and direct such sums to be raised in

2. Issue of bonds. This section contains directions in detail for the borrowing of money and the issue of bonds for the payment of the cost of the erection of a town house. The General Municipal Law, sections 5-12, provide generally for the issue of municipal bonds and will control bonds issued for the erection of town houses unless the provisions thereof are in conflict with the provisions of the above section.

Qualifications of electors. An elector shall not be entitled to vote upon a proposition submitted for the purposes of section three hundred and forty of this chapter, unless he or his wife is the owner of property in the town assessed to him or her upon the last preceding assessment-roll thereof. [Town Law, § 54, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 124; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6149.]

3. Selection of site. In the case of People ex rel. Cromwell v. Seaman, 59 App. Div. 76; 69 N. Y. Supp. 55, the court said: "Section 191 [341] of the statute provides that: 'Sites shall be purchased and houses erected by the town board in the name of the town, and shall be controlled by the town board.' While the law is wholly silent on the express subject of the selection of a site, the authority here conferred is sufficient to include the choice of a site as a necessary incident to its purchase, just as the adoption of a plan, including the selection of material, design, etc., must be deemed to be embraced within the authority given to build the house."

The selection of a site cannot be delegated by the town board to others. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1892), 129.

Control of town house. A supervisor has no independent control or jurisdiction over a town hall or town house, but as a member of the town board participates in its exercise of jurisdiction. Opinion of State Comptroller (1916), 8 State Dept. Rep. 571.

If a town hall is joint village and town property the jurisdiction of the town board is shared with that of the board of trustees of the village. Opinion of State Comptroller (1916), 8 State Dept. Rep. 571.

their town by tax, for the expense of building, or of maintaining the same as they may deem necessary. [Town Law, § 350; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 6230.]

In case any town has no house of detention or lock-up, the town board of such town may lease a house of detention or lock-up, located either in said town or in an adjoining town, for a term not exceeding five years at a time. [Town Law, § 351; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 6230.]

Such houses of detention, or lock-ups, may be used for the purpose of temporarily keeping and confining all persons arrested by any constable or officer in the town prior to trial or examination, or committed by any magistrate of the town pending trial or examination before such magistrate or after commitment to a county jail by a magistrate, when immediate removal to the county jail cannot be made, and only until he can be conveniently removed to such jail. [Town Law, § 352; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 6230.]

§ 4. TOWN BURIAL GROUNDS; TRUSTEES MAY BE ELECTED; POWERS OF TRUSTEES.

The electors of any town may, at a biennial town meeting, choose three persons to act as a board of trustees of any burial-grounds within the limits of and belonging to the town, as such electors may designate, and direct the supervisor of the town to convey by deed to such board of trustees, and their successors in office, for the purposes hereinafter mentioned, the lands already composing such grounds; and also any other lands that may be hereafter acquired for the purpose of enlarging such grounds. Such trustees shall hold office for a term of two years. Such boards of trustees and all boards of trustees heretofore created, pursuant to chapter forty-six of the laws of eighteen hundred and seventy-three,[5] are hereby declared to be corporate bodies, under the name of the board of trustees of the cemetery, for which they are chosen respectively, capable of suing and being sued as such, and of taking and holding gifts and bequests of personal property for the care and improvement of the cemeteries under their charge, or any lot therein. [Town Law, § 330; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 6223.]

4. Use of lock-ups. Town lock-ups can only be used for the purpose of temporarily keeping and confining persons arrested by peace officers prior to trial or examination. No sentence of a prisoner can be made to the lock-up. As soon as the prisoner is convicted he must be committed and taken immediately to the county jail or other penal institution to which he is sentenced.

5. Laws of 1873, ch. 46, referred to in this section was repealed by the Town Law of 1890, and its provisions were incorporated in the above section and the section following.

Town Law, §§ 331, 332.

§ 5. TRUSTEES TO LAY OUT GROUNDS; FREE LOTS; SALE OF LOTS.

Such board of trustees shall lay out into burial lots any grounds so conveyed to them; and within one year after the conveyance to them shall cause to be recorded in the office of the clerk of the county in which they reside a plot or plots of the ground so laid out by them, which shall clearly indicate the number and location of the several lots, which plots shall be duly certified to, under the hands and seals of the chairman and secretary of the board, and acknowledged before an officer authorized to take proof and acknowledgment of deeds. They shall designate and set aside certain lots which shall be free for the interment of the remains of indigent persons, deceased, and shall sell and convey, by direction of a majority of the board, under the hands and seals of its chairman and secretary, burial lots, at such terms as may be agreed upon between the parties, and expend the moneys realized from such sale in improving and preserving the particular burial ground from the sale of whose lots the moneys were received. All moneys realized from the sale of burial lots shall, upon the receipt thereof, be paid over to the supervisor of the town to be retained by him as a separate fund and paid out only on the order of a majority of such board of trustees. [Town Law, § 331; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 6224.]

§ 6. BURIAL GROUNDS; WHEN TO BELONG TO TOWN.

The title to every lot or piece of land which shall have been used by the inhabitants of any town in this state as a cemetery or burial ground for the space of fourteen years shall be deemed to be vested in such town, and shall be subject in the same manner as other corporate property of towns, to the government and direction of the electors in town meeting. In any town in which trustees of burial grounds have not been chosen as provided in sections three hundred and thirty and three hundred and thirty-one of this chapter, the town board may adopt regulations for the proper care of any such cemetery and burial ground, and regulating the burial of the dead therein. It shall be the duty of the supervisor of any such town to remove the grass and weeds from any such cemetery or burial ground in any such town at least twice in each year, and to erect and maintain suitable fences around such cemetery or burial ground at a cost not to exceed fifty dollars unless authorized by a majority vote of such town. The town board of any town must also provide for the removal of grass and weeds at least twice in each year from any cemetery or burial ground, by whomsoever owned, in such town, where such control is not vested by other provisions of law in the town or in trustees or other corporate body and provide for the preservation, care and fencing of any such cemetery, all at cost not to exceed fifty dollars in any one year, unless authorized by a majority vote of such town, and such duties shall be performed under the supervision of the supervisor of the town, or a person whom the town board may designate; provided, however, that such duties shall not be exercised in respect to any private ground or particular lot or lots therein after the true owner or owners thereof file written objections thereto with the town clerk. The cost and expenses of any officer or person in performing any duties under or pursuant to the provisions of this section, shall be a town charge and shall be paid in the same manner as other town charges. [Town Law, § 332, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 473, and L. 1917, ch. 229; B. C. & G. Cons L., p. 6224.]

§ 7. BURIAL GROUNDS IN DISTRICT ANNEXED TO CITY, VILLAGE OR ANOTHER TOWN.

Where the whole of any town has been or shall hereafter be annexed to or consolidated with any city, village or other town, after having purchased and maintained a burying ground or grounds as public property of such town but which ground or grounds shall not have been conveyed to trustees as provided in section one of chapter forty-six of the laws of eighteen hundred and seventy-three, or section three hundred and thirty of this chapter, but which ground or grounds are or were at the time of such annexation or consolidation under the charge of the town board of said town, as public property thereof, then the rights and powers conferred by section three hundred and thirty of this chapter, on a meeting of the electors of such town to elect three or five persons as trustees of said burying grounds, and on the supervisor of such town to convey the land embraced in such grounds to such trustees, shall devolve upon the mayor or other chief magistrate of the city or village or other town with which such town shall have been or may hereafter be consolidated or annexed; and on the petition of not less than twenty citizens, each of whom shall have been a resident of such town for at least two years previous to such annexation or consolidation, the mayor or other chief magistrate of the city, village or town to which such town shall have been annexed or with which it shall have been consolidated, shall appoint three or five persons, each of whom shall have been a citizen of such annexed or consolidated town for at least two years previous to such annexation or consolidation, as trustees of such burying ground or grounds, and shall cause the lands embraced and included in such burying ground or grounds to be conveyed to such trustees and their successors in office as provided in section three hundred and thirty of this chapter, and such trustees and their successors shall have the same powers and perform the same duties as trustees elected at a town meeting as provided in sections three hundred and thirty and three hundred and thirty-one of this chapter. [Town Law, § 334; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 6225.]

Term of office of trustees.—The term of office of trustees so appointed shall be fixed by the appointing officer and he shall fill any vacancy that may occur in said board. The trustees shall each furnish a bond satisfactory to the appointing officer for the faithful performance of their duties, and shall render an annual report to the financial officer of the municipality of all receipts and disbursements of money and of all investments of surplus funds to the credit of the burying grounds in their charge. [Town Law, § 335; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 6226.]

§ 8. TOWN BOARD MAY PURCHASE SOLDIERS' BURIAL PLOT; CARE OF PLOT A TOWN CHARGE; PROCEEDINGS TO OBTAIN REMOVAL OF SOLDIERS' REMAINS TO SOLDIERS' PLOT; EXPENSE TO BE AUDITED BY TOWN BOARD.

The town board in each of the towns of this state may upon the application in writing of any veteran soldiers' association in the town, or upon a petition in writing of five or more veteran soldiers in towns where no veteran soldiers' organization exists, purchase or provide a soldiers' plot in one or more cemeteries where no burial plots are now owned by soldiers' organizations, in which burial plots deceased soldiers may be interred, and may also provide for the annual care of soldiers' burial plots in cemeteries, at the rate of not to exceed fifty cents for each soldier's grave in such burial plot or plots and the expense shall be included in the town expenses, assessed, levied and collected in the same manner as other town expenses are levied and collected.[7] In the county of Broome, the board of supervisors shall provide for the annual care of soldiers' burial plots, either heretofore or hereafter established, in all cemeteries in such county, at the rate aforesaid, and the expense thereof shall be a county charge audited, assessed, levied and collected in the same manner as are other county charges. [Town Law, § 336, as amended by L. 1914, ch. 235; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6226.]

Upon a verified petition presented to a judge of a court of record by any soldiers' organization in any town or city in this state by a majority of its officers, or a majority of any memorial committee in any town or city where there are two or more veteran soldiers' organizations, or in towns or cities where there are no veteran soldiers' organizations, upon the petition of five or more veteran soldiers, the judge to whom said verified petition is presented shall make an order to show cause, returnable before him at a time and place within the county in not less than fourteen nor more than twenty days from the date of presentation of said petition, why the remains of any deceased soldiers buried in potter's field, or in any neglected or abandoned cemeteries, should not be removed to and reinterred in a properly kept incorporated cemetery in the same town or city or in a town adjoining the town or city in which the remains of a deceased soldier are buried, and to fix the amount of the expenses for such removal and reinterment, and the order to show cause shall provide for its publication in a newspaper, to be designated in the order, which is published nearest to the cemetery from which the removal is sought to be made, once in each week for two successive weeks. The verified petition presented to the judge shall show that the petitioners are a majority of the officers of a veteran soldiers' organization, or a majority of a memorial committee in towns or cities where two or more veteran soldier organizations exist, or that the petitioners are honorably discharged veteran soldiers in towns or cities where no veteran soldier organization exists, and (1) the name of the deceased soldier or soldiers whose remains are sought to be removed, and if known the company and regiment in which he or they served; (2) the name and location of the cemetery in which he is interred and from which removal is asked to be made; (3) the name and location of the incorporated cemetery to which the remains are desired to be removed and reinterred; (4) the facts showing the reasons for such removal. Upon the return day of the order to show cause and at the time and place fixed in said order, upon filing proof of publication of the order to show cause with the judge, if no reason or objection is made thereto, he shall make an order directing the removal of the remains of said deceased soldier or soldiers to the cemetery designated in the petition within the town or city or within a town adjoining the town or city in which the remains are then buried and shall specify in the order the amount of the expenses of such removal, which expenses of removal and reinterment, including the expense of the proceeding under this section, shall be a charge upon the county in which the town or city is situated from which the removal is made and such expenses shall be a county charge and audited by the board of supervisors of the county and paid in the same manner as other county charges. On and after the removal and reinterment of the remains of the deceased soldier or soldiers in the soldiers' plot, the expenses for annual care of the grave in the soldiers' burial plot to which the removal is made shall be annually provided by the town or city in which the remains were originally buried, at the rate of not to exceed fifty cents per grave and shall be paid annually to the incorporated cemetery association to which the remains of each deceased soldier may be removed and reinterred. The petition and order shall be filed in the county clerk's office of the county in which the remains of the deceased soldier were originally interred, and the service of a certified copy of the final order upon the cemetery association shall be made prior to any removal. Any relative of the deceased soldier or soldiers, or the officer of any cemetery in which the remains of the deceased soldier or soldiers were originally interred, or the authorities of the county in which the soldier or soldiers were originally buried, may oppose the granting of said order and the judge shall summarily hear the statement of the parties and make such order as the justice and equity of the application shall require. Any headstone or monument which marks the grave of the deceased soldier shall be removed and reset at the grave in the cemetery in which the removal is permitted to be made and in each case the final order shall provide the amount of the expenses of such removal and reinterment and resetting of the headstone or monument, including the expenses of the proceedings under this section; except that where provision is otherwise made for the purchase or erection of a new headstone, monument or marker at the grave in the cemetery to which such removal is permitted, such old headstone or monument need not be so removed and reset, in which case such final order shall not provide for the expense of resetting. The order shall designate the person or persons having charge of the removals and reinterments. Upon completion of the removal, reinterment and resetting of the headstones or monuments, the person or persons having charge of the same shall make a verified report of the removal, reinterment and resetting of the headstone or monument and file the report in the clerk's office of the proper county. The word "soldier" shall be construed to mean an honorably discharged soldier, sailor or marine who served in the army or navy of the United States, and the words "soldiers' plot" shall be construed to mean a plot of land in any incorporated cemetery set apart to be exclusively used as a place for interring the remains of deceased veteran soldiers of the United States. [Town Law, § 337, B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6226.]

§ 9. ERECTION AND DISCONTINUANCE OF POUNDS.

Whenever the electors of any town shall determine, at a biennial town meeting, to erect one or more pounds therein, and whenever a pound shall now be erected in any town, the same shall be kept under the care and direction of a pound-master, to be elected or appointed for that purpose. The electors of any town may, at a biennial town meeting, discontinue any pounds therein. [Town Law, § 410; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6241.]

§ 10. ELECTION OF POUND-MASTERS; FEES; REFUSAL TO SERVE.

Pound-masters may be elected either (1) by ballot; (2) by ayes and noes, or (3) by the rising or dividing of the electors, as the electors may determine. [Idem, § 411.]

The pound-masters shall be allowed the following fees for their services, to wit: For taking into the pound and discharging therefrom every horse, mule and head of cattle, fifteen cents; for every other beast, ten cents. [Idem, § 412.]

If any person chosen or appointed to the office of pound-master shall refuse to serve, he shall forfeit to the town the sum of ten dollars. [Idem, § 110, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 491.]

CHAPTER XXVII.

LOCAL IMPROVEMENTS.

SECTION 1. Assessment for public improvements.
2. Form and notice of assessment.
3. Hearing on assessment for public improvement.
4. Application of article.
5. Appointment of commissioners of improvements in certain towns.

§ 1. ASSESSMENT FOR PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS.

Whenever the cost of any public improvement to be made in any of the towns in this state is required by existing laws to be raised, directly or indirectly, by assessments to be levied upon pieces or parcels of land contained within certain districts, in proportion to the benefits accruing to said several pieces or parcels of land by reason of such improvement, it shall be the duty of the officers who may be invested by law with the duty of fixing and determining such districts of assessments, and of the officers charged with the duty of apportioning and assessing the various amounts, from time to time, upon the several pieces of land to be benefited as aforesaid, to file a certificate of the completion thereof in the office of the town clerk, and thereupon to give notice of the same, and that they will meet at a certain time and at some public and convenient place within the town to hear objections to the same and to make such corrections as will, in their judgment, be just and equitable. [Town Law, § 420; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6242.]

§ 2. FORM AND NOTICE OF ASSESSMENT.

The said assessments shall contain the names of the owners of the several parcels assessed, so far as known, and if not known in any instance it shall be so stated; and no assessment shall be invalid by reason of such name being omitted or incorrectly stated. [Town Law, § 421; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6241.]

Notice of such meetings shall be given by publication daily, for at least ten days, in a newspaper published in such town, if any there shall be, and, if none, then daily in two daily newspapers, if there be two, if not, one, published in the city nearest such town. [Idem, § 422.]

§ 3. HEARING ON ASSESSMENT FOR PUBLIC IMPROVEMENT.

At the time and place so appointed they shall meet and hear all persons appearing before them, and after such hearing, they shall review the same and make such corrections, if any, in such certificates as will, in their judgment, render the same more just and equitable, and the determination so made by them shall be conclusive. [Town Law, § 423; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6242.]

§ 4. APPLICATION OF ARTICLE.

This article shall not apply in any case where provision is already made, or may hereafter be made, by law for reviewing assessments for improvements, or for hearing persons interested, before the final determination thereof. [Town Law, § 424; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6242.]

§ 5. APPOINTMENT OF COMMISSIONERS OF IMPROVEMENTS IN CERTAIN TOWNS.

In any town in this state having a total population of over four thousand inhabitants, exclusive of those residing within the corporate limits of any incorporated city or village in said town, and adjoining a city having a population of more than one million inhabitants, the supervisor is hereby authorized to appoint five commissioners of local improvements, by a writing signed by him and filed in the town clerk's office of said town. The commissioners so appointed shall be residents, freeholders, and electors in such town and shall hold no other office therein. The said persons so appointed shall be a body corporate and shall be known as the "commissioners of improvements" of such town, in which name they may sue and be sued in any court of competent jurisdiction.[1] [Town Law, § 430; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6243.]

1. Local improvements in certain towns. Article XXIII of the Town Law, (§§ 430–444) was derived from L. 1889, ch. 453 which was consolidated with other laws relating to towns in the consolidated Town Law of 1909. This article only applies to towns of over 4,000 population exclusive of incorporated cities and villages, bordering upon the city of New York. There are only a very few towns in Weschester County, and possibly Nassau County, which are subject to its provisions. For this reason it has been deemed best to omit this article of the Town Law.

PART IV.

TOWN BOARD.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

AUDITING OF TOWN ACCOUNTS; TOWN CHARGES; TOWN FINANCES.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

Town Board, how Constituted.

The town board is the town's governing board. It has the powers and performs the duties prescribed by law. Its functions are partly legislative and partly administrative. It consists of the supervisor, town clerk and justices of the peace, or any two of them.

General Powers and Duties.

As the governing board of the town, the town board has the general control of the internal affairs of the town. An examination of statutes relating to town affairs will show that the town board exercises important supervisory and administrative functions in respect to nearly every subject of town activity. The maintenance of town highways and bridges, the construction and maintenance of sewer, water and light systems, the protection of the public health and many other important subjects are to a greater or less extent within its control. Separate chapters will be devoted to these subjects and it will be unnecessary to consider them in this place.

Meetings of Board.

The town board must hold at least two regular meetings each year; one on the Tuesday preceding the biennial town meeting, or on the corresponding date in each alternate year, or in towns holding their biennial town meetings on election day, on the 28th day of December in each year; and the other meeting on the Thursday preceding the annual meeting of the board of supervisors. The first meeting is to receive and pass upon the accounts of town officers; the second meeting is for the audit of town accounts.

Special meetings may be held from time to time as occasion demands, on the call of either the supervisor or town clerk.

Organization of Board.

The law makes no special provision as to the organization of the board, except that the town clerk should act as the clerk thereof and must keep the minutes of its meetings. The supervisor should preside at all meetings of the board. The rules of parliamentary practice should apply. A majority of the members of the board will constitute a quorum for the transaction of its business.

Accounts of Town Officers.

All accounts of town officers are to be presented to the town board at its first meeting; i. e. the meeting held on the Tuesday before the biennial town meeting, on the corresponding date in each alternate year, or on the 28th day of December in towns holding their biennial town meetings on election day. Such accounts should be in proper itemized form, showing receipts and expenditures and should be accompanied by vouchers as evidence of disbursements made to the persons named.

Audit of Town Accounts.

All claims against the town should be presented to the town board at its meeting held on the Thursday before the annual meeting of the board of supervisors. The reason for this is that the board of supervisors is required to levy a tax upon the town for the payment of the claims audited. There is no express prohibition in the statute against the audit of claims at special meetings of the board, but it has been held by the courts that claims against the town cannot be audited at any meeting other than the regular meeting held on the Thursday before the annual meeting of the board of supervisors, unless especially authorized by law.

The audit of a claim includes its adjustment by allowance, disallowance in part, or rejection as a whole. In considering claims the board may conduct its examination as it sees fit, provided it acts reasonably.

Explanatory note.

Its knowledge as to the merit of a claim may be acquired from any quarter where it is obtainable without special regard to the rules of evidence. Each item of a claim should be passed upon. Upon auditing the claim the board should make a certificate signed by a majority of its members to the effect that the claim has been allowed, disallowed as to a part thereof, or wholly rejected, as the case may be. Such certificate must be filed with the town clerk, and a duplicate thereof must be delivered to the supervisor to be presented by him to the board of supervisors. Neither the supervisor nor the board of supervisors can modify such audit. The board of supervisors must then levy a tax upon the town to pay the claim as audited by the town board. The only case where the board of supervisors can modify the action of a town board in auditing a claim is where a taxpayer appeals from the auditing and allowance of a claim for services rendered in criminal proceedings by justices of the peace and constables.

Town Charges.

Town Law, § 170, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 491; L. 1914, ch. 440, and L. 1916, ch. 158, prescribes generally what are town charges. This section is included in this chapter. Reference is also made to other provisions of law declaring certain claims to be town charges.

SECTION 1. Constitution and regular meetings of the town board; when town meetings are held at times of general elections.
2. Meetings of town board for receiving accounts of town officers.
3. Meetings of town board for auditing accounts; certificates of rejection and allowance; certificates of allowance to be filed; one to be delivered to supervisor.
4. Appeals from town board to board of supervisors from audit of accounts of justices of the peace and constables in criminal proceedings.
5. Accounts of justices in criminal matters, what to contain
5a. Salary of justices of the peace in lieu of fees in criminal cases.
6. Fees of officers in criminal proceedings, when town or county charge.
7. Form of accounts; verification by affidavit of claimant; saving clause.
8. Town charges, what are.
9. Traveling fees for subpoenaing witnesses, when to be allowed.
10. Boards of audit to make abstract of names of persons whose accounts have been audited.
11. When town auditors are to be elected; application therefor.
12. Number of town auditors; term of office.
13. If electors of town vote to elect a board of auditors, town board to make temporary appointment.

SECTION 14. Town auditors to audit accounts· town auditor to hold no other town office.
15. Meetings and compensation of town auditors.
16. Town meeting may vote to discontinue board of town auditors.
17. Actions on behalf of and against towns to be brought in name of town; contracts in name of town.
18. Actions for trespass on town lands.
19. Town board may borrow money for highway purposes when town meeting has voted to raise more than $500; statement of indebtedness created to be rendered to board of supervisors.
20. Town boards may vote money for memorial day; expenditure.
21. Appropriation by town board in Orleans and Greene counties for rooms for posts.
22. Town board may borrow money to pay judgments against towns.
23. Additional appropriations for memorial day upon the adoption of a proposition therefor.

§ 1. CONSTITUTION AND REGULAR MEETINGS OF THE TOWN BOARD; WHEN TOWN MEETINGS ARE HELD AT TIMES OF GENERAL ELECTIONS.

The supervisor, town clerk and the justices of the peace, or any two of such justices, shall constitute the town board in each town,[1] and shall hold at least two meetings annually at the office of the town clerk,

1. Town board, how constituted. The town board consists of the supervisor, town clerk and justices of the peace, or any two of such justices. People ex rel. Hovey v. Leavenworth, 90 Hun, 48, 54; 35 N. Y. Supp. 445; People ex rel. Coon v. Wood, 12 N. Y. Supp. 436. In the case of People ex rel. Earwicker v. Dillon, 38 App. Div. 539; 56 N. Y. Supp. 416, a question arose whether a person could hold the office of town clerk and justice of the peace at the same time. The court held that the duties of the two officers are incompatible, since if a person be permitted to hold both of these offices, he would be a member of the town board in each capacity and would either have two votes in deciding upon his own claims before the board, or the town board must be deprived of a full number of members provided for by law. Assuming that this case was correctly decided, the same reasoning would prevent a person from holding the office of supervisor and justice of the peace at one and the same time.

Members of the town board cannot also be members of the board of town auditors. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1895) 226.

Governing board. The town board is the governing board of a town. General Municipal Law, sec. 1. In the case of Adee v. Arnow, 91 Hun, 329; 36 N. Y. Supp. 1020, the court said: "The functions of the governing board of a town must be the government of the town. All of the internal affairs of a town must be under the control of the board of town officers, so far as official action can go. Of course, the inherent power of the people is left undisturbed and unlimited, and there is no restriction upon its action in a public town meeting. Each town is constituted a municipal corporation, and the business of the town must be transacted by the corporate officers, or as they are now called the governing board." And the court further says: "As a member of the town board, the supervisor has no more or greater authority than any of the other officers who are members thereof, and no one of them can legally act independently of the others, or outside of the board. It is highly essential to the interests of the town that all questions respecting litigation should be determined by the governing board. It may or may not be for the interests of the town to prosecute or defend suits, and the determination of such questions requires the exercise of judgment and discretion. The governing board is constituted as follows: one on the Tuesday preceding the biennial town meeting and on the corresponding date in each alternate year, except that in towns where biennial town meetings are held at the time of a general election, such meeting shall be held on the twenty-eighth day of December in each year, unless such day is Sunday, in which case such meeting shall be held on the preceding day; and one on the Thursday next preceding the annual meeting of the board of supervisors. The supervisor of the town shall when present preside at all meetings of the town board. The supervisor or the town clerk may call a special meeting of the town board at any time by giving at least two days' notice in person or in writing to the other members of such board of the time when and place where such meeting is to be held.[2] At any such regular or special meeting it shall be lawful for the town board to audit, allow or reject any charge, claim or demand against the town for which funds might lawfully be provided by the issuance and sale of town obligations under the provisions of section one hundred and thirty-eight-a of this chapter; and any charge, claim or demand so audited shall be payable immediately from available funds thus provided, if there be any, and otherwise as soon as the moneys are raised therefor under the provisions of said section one hundred and thirty-eight-a, but a charge, claim or demand of the kind authorized by this section to be audited may be paid, in the discretion of the town board, from other town funds on hand available for general purposes, if there be any such funds. [Town Law, § 131, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 140, L. 1913, ch. 571, and L. 1916, ch. 59; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 6182.]

for all such purposes, and its power should not be limited or restricted by construction."

2. Number of meetings. The town board or the board of town auditors may hold as many meetings as they may deem necessary for properly transacting their duties. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1895), 227.

When meetings of town board should be held in town; acts of town board in appointing inspectors of election. The meetings of a town board should be held within the town except in the special cases otherwise provided by statute. The acts of a town board in appointing inspectors of election at a meeting held in an adjoining town are coram non judice, and a writ of peremptory mandamus may issue at the instance of one of the town officers who attended and participated in the proceedings, requiring the town board to meet in their own town and revoke such appointment and appoint other and qualified inspectors of election. People ex rel. Shields v. Watkins (1914), 87 Misc. 411, 149 N. Y. Supp. 1006.

Special powers and duties of town boards. (For places in this Manual where the sections referred to may be found, see Table of Laws, after the Table of Contents.) (1) As to elections. The town board is authorized to divide a town containing more than three hundred electors into election districts. See Election Law, sec. 296, as amended by L. 1914, ch. 244, L. 1916, ch. 537, L. 1917, ch. 703, and L. 1918, ch. 323. Where a town meeting has voted that town meetings in the town shall be held in election districts the town board may divide such town into two or more joint election districts. See Town Law, sec 65, ante. The town board of each town is required to designate the place of registration and election in each election district. Election Law, sec. 299, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 428, L. 1915, ch. 678, L. 1916, ch. 537, and L. 1918, ch. 323. Inspectors of election in towns are to be appointed by the town board in each year in which a town meeting is held for the election of town officers, and within thirty days thereafter. See Election Law, sec. 311. For full provisions of the law relating to the powers and duties of town boards as to elections, see Jewett's Election Manual, 1918.

§ 2. MEETINGS OF TOWN BOARD FOR RECEIVING ACCOUNTS OF TOWN OFFICERS.

At the meeting of the town board held on Tuesday preceding the biennial town meeting and on the corresponding date in each alternate year, or on the twenty-eighth day of December in each year, or on the day preceding when such day falls on Sunday, all town officers who receive or disburse any moneys of the town, shall account with the board for all such moneys received and disbursed by them by virtue of their office, and produce all receipts, orders and vouchers which they may have respecting the same, but no member of the board shall sit as a member of the board when any account in which he is interested is being audited by the board.[3] The board shall make a statement of such accounts, and append thereto a certificate signed by at least a majority of them, showing the state of the accounts of each officer at the date of the certificate, which statement, certificate, receipts, orders and vouchers shall each be filed with the town clerk of the town, within three days thereafter, and be open to public

(2) As to taxation. A vacancy in the office of a town collector of taxes is to be filled by the town board. See Tax Law, sec. 86, ante. As to duties of town boards as to appeals from the action of boards of supervisors in respect to equalization of assessments, see Tax Law, sec. 175, post.

(3) As to relief of poor. The town board may make rules and regulations respecting the temporary relief of town poor, in case of the failure of the board of supervisors so to do. See Poor Law, sec. 13, post. Overseers of the poor may be appointed by the town board when authority has been conferred by a proposition adopted at a town meeting. See Town Law, sec. 112, ante. The accounts of overseers of the poor are to be submitted to and examined by the town board. See Poor Law, sec. 21, post. The estimates and accounts of overseers of the poor must be approved by the town board. See Poor Law, sec. 27, post. The town board must make a statement as to poor persons relieved and submit the same to the county superintendents of the poor. See Poor Law, sec. 27, post.

(5) As to highways. Appointment and removal of town superintendents of highways, Highway Law, §§ 41, 46, post; to fix compensation of superintendent; Highway Law, § 45, post. Estimates of highway expenditures, Highway Law, §§ 90-92; approval of extraordinary repairs of highways and bridges, Highway Law, § 93, post. May authorize borrowing of money in anticipation of taxes, Highway Law, § 96, post. Town board to determine places where highway funds are to be expended, Highway Law, § 105, post. Audit of expenditures for highways and bridges, Highway Law, § 106, post.

3. Accounts of town officers. All accounts of town officers should be submitted to the town board at the meeting specified in the above section. In the case of Christman v. Phillips, 58 Hun, 282, 286; 12 N. Y. Supp. 338, the court said: "No statute has been referred to, nor are we able to find any, that confers on the town auditors authority to examine or adjudicate the accounts of overseers of the poor at any other time or at any other meetings." If a board of town auditors exists in a town under the provisions of sections 150-156 of the Town Law, such accounts are to be presented to such board. People ex rel. Bechtel v. Welbrook, 27 Hun, 598. Each item of accounts must be audited. People ex rel. Thurston v. Town Auditors, 82 N. Y. 80.

inspection during the office hours of such town clerk.[4] [Town Law, § 132; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6183.]

§ 3. MEETING OF TOWN BOARD FOR AUDITING ACCOUNTS; CERTIFICATES OF REJECTION AND ALLOWANCE; CERTIFICATES OF ALLOWANCE TO BE FILED; ONE TO BE DELIVERED TO SUPERVISOR.

The meeting of the town board held on the Thursday preceding the annual meeting of the board of supervisors, shall be for the purpose of auditing accounts and allowing or rejecting all charges, claims and demands against the town.[5] No member of the town board or board of town auditors shall present a claim or demand against the town for audit which has been assigned to him by another, or for labor, services or material rendered or furnished by himself, or by another as his servant or agent or under con-

4. Effect of certification. Where a supervisor pays claims unlawfully the subsequent certification of the supervisor's account does not prevent the bringing of a taxpayer's action against the claimant for the money received. Annis v. McNulty, 51 Misc. 121, 100 N. Y. Supp. 951.

5. Section to be strictly enforced. This section was passed for the benefit of taxpayers as well as for the persons having claims against the towns. It is a wise statute and should be strictly enforced. People ex rel. Remington v. Manning, 37 App. Div. 141, 55 N. Y. Supp. 781.

Meeting for audit. Unless otherwise especially authorized by law the town board can only audit claims against the town at its annual meeting, held on the Thursday preceding the annual meeting of the board of supervisors. People ex rel. Lowell v. Town of Westford, 53 Barb. 555; affd., 41 N. Y. 619; see, also, People ex rel. Myers v. Barnes, 114 N. Y. 317; 20 N. E. 609.

Power of town board of audit. The power of a board to audit includes the power to hear and to examine an account, and in its broader sense it includes its adjustment by allowance, disallowance or rejection. People ex rel. Myers v. Barnes, 114 N. Y. 317; 20 N. E. 609; People ex rel. Read v. Town Auditors, 85 Hun, 114; 32 N. Y. Supp. 668.

The town board is a tribunal created by statute to hear and to allow or reject any claims presented against the town. The examination of the account by the board is the trial, and its allowance or disallowance is the judgment of this tribunal. No claim against a town is obligatory upon or is enforceable against the town until it has been audited or examined and allowed. Its jurisdiction over a claim against the town is not only original but it is conclusive until brought under review in another court in the manner prescribed by law. Osterhoudt v. Rigney, 98 N. Y. 234; see, also, People ex rel. Cochrane v. Board of Auditors, 74 Hun, 83; 26 N. Y. Supp. 211. There is no mode of procedure prescribed by statute by which a board of town auditors is to take proof or obtain knowledge respecting the validity of any claim presented for audit. It is the habit of such bodies to seek information from any quarter where it is obtainable, and presumably the practice is legitimate. Its members must acquire knowledge to enable them to act with wisdom in subservience to establish rules. They may act upon their own knowledge acquired by observations. People ex rel. Oppenheimer Pub. Co. v. People, 81 Hun, 383; 30 N. Y. Supp. 878; tract with him, or any claim or demand of any name or nature wherein he has an interest, direct or indirect, excepting his per diem compensation for attendance upon meetings of the town board of said town and the fees allowed to him by law for services rendered in his official capacity; and no claim or demand in which a member has an interest or which is based wholly or partly on the services or material rendered or furnished by such member shall be audited or allowed by said board in favor of any person or corporation. If an account is rejected wholly or partly, the board shall indicate thereon the items or parts thereof disallowed and the reason or reasons for such disallowance. The board shall make, verify and file in the office of the town clerk a list or abstract in duplicate of all accounts, charges, claims or demands presented thereto and audited, allowed or rejected at any meeting of the year, showing in respect to each account or claim the name of the claimant, the general nature of the service performed, material furnished, or other matter on which the demand was based, the amount claimed and the amount allowed. To the total of claims so allowed, the town board shall (a) add sums necessary to pay the principal and interest of loans negotiated pursuant to section one hundred and forty-one of this act, and (b) deduct surplus moneys available for the payment thereof and the total of such claims or loans, if any, paid during the year, thereby determining the amount necessary to be raised by tax. The duplicate lists or abstracts, when so completed, shall be certified by the members of the town board, or a majority thereof, and one of the duplicate copies retained on file in the office of the town clerk and the other delivered to the supervisor of the town, to be by him laid before the board of supervisors of the county at their annual meeting.[6]

People ex rel. Cochrane v. Town Auditors, 74 Hun, 83; 26 N. Y. Supp. 122. In the case of People ex rel. McMillen v. Vanderpoel, 35 App. Div. 73; 54 N. Y. Supp. 436, a claim had been presented to a town board for legal services rendered by an attorney for town assessors and in the audit of the claim it was materially reduced. It was held that a town board need not call witnesses to determine the value of the services rendered by the attorney, but could acquire the knowledge necessary to audit the bill by consultation with other attorneys familiar with the value of such services, or act upon the knowledge of such value possessed by the individual members of the board.

Where the town board has made a valid and complete allowance their authority ceases and they are powerless thereafter to disallow the claim. The members of a town board of auditors derive their power solely from the statute, and their act in allowing a claim is quasi-judicial. Central Bank v. Shaw, 121 App. Div. 415, 106 N. Y. Supp. 94. Board may determine legality of the claim. Tenney v. Mautner, 24 Hun, 340.

The town board has no authority to contract for telephone service for use of the justices of the peace and constables, and a bill therefor should not be audited. Rept. of Atty. Genl., Apr. 20, 1911. So, the superintendent of highways should not be allowed compensation for his own team or hired man on the highway. Rept. of Atty. Genl., Apr. 14, 1911.

Mileage and expenses incurred while attending meetings of the town board and board of health should not be allowed to a supervisor and justices of the peace. Rept. of Atty. Genl., Apr. 20, 1911.

6. How audit should be made. An arbitrary deduction from the gross amount of a bill for various items of services the compensation for which is regulated by statute, without passing upon and disallowing any specific item is not an audit. People ex rel. Thurston v. Town Auditors, 82 N. Y. 80. The board must pass upon each item of the account, and if it fails to do so a proper audit may be directed by mandamus. People ex rel. Hamm v. Board of Auditors, 43 App. Div. 22; 59 N. Y. Supp. 615. But where the services rendered by an attorney were in a single suit and under one retainer a claim therefor, although made out in items, is in fact a single claim, and the town board is not compelled to pass on each item thereof. People ex rel. McMillen v. Vanderpoel, 35 App. Div. 23; 54 N. Y. Supp. 436.

The board of supervisors shall cause to be levied and raised upon the town

Effect of verification. A board of town auditors may disregard the verification of an assessor's bill for services, ascertain the time necessarily spent by him, and reduce the bill accordingly. People ex rel. Bentley v. Whalen, 5 Wk. Dig. 410. The verification of a claim has no obligatory force and may be disregarded. People ex rel. Cochrane v. Town Auditors, 74 Hun, 83; 26 N. Y. Supp. 122.

Re-examination. Same town board may re-examine an account once passed upon, and in fact, reject it, or reduce the amount first allowed. It is the final action of the board, which consists in making and signing a certificate, that terminates their right to reconsider and re-examine accounts. People v. Stocking, 50 Barb. 573; People ex rel. Smith v. Town of Delhi, 5 Hun 647.

Certificate. When at a regular meeting the town board unanimously passes and signs the resolution allowing a claim of the town clerk for services rendered, the resolution is equivalent to the certificate required. And the transmission of the resolution to the town clerk's office as part of the record of the proceeding of the auditors, open to public inspection, must be considered as the filing of the certificate. And the making out by the town clerk, as such, of a certificate of the claim and the countersigning by all the town auditors of such certificate and delivery of the same to the supervisor, must be considered as the giving of a duplicate certificate to the supervisor as required by law. Central Bank v. Shaw, 121 App. Div. 415, 106 N. Y. Supp. 94.

Effect of certificate of audit. The certificate of town auditors allowing an account, which is regular on its face, is a sufficient authority for the board of supervisors to proceed and cause the amount certified to be levied on the town. If such certificate is in due form, it precludes the supervisors from inquiring as to the merits of the particular items allowed, and they are bound to act upon it without modification as to its amount. Such a certificate is sufficient, although it does not apear on its face that the board met at the proper time and place, if in point of fact their meeting was regular in those respects. People ex rel. Onderdonk v. Supervisors, 1 Hill, 195; see, also, McCrea v. Chahoon, 54 Hun, 577; 8 N. Y. Supp. 88.

When a claim against the town has been audited by the town board and the amount thereof raised by levy and paid to the supervisor, the supervisor cannot refuse payment on the ground that he believes the audit was too large. The audit of the town board is conclusive unless reversed by a competent tribunal. Matter of Mefford, 113 App. Div. 529, 99 N. Y. Supp. 400.

Effect of audit upon action against town. Where a town board audits at a reduced amount a claim against the town for services rendered the board of assessors by an attorney, and such audit is confirmed by the appellate division upon a writ of certiorari, an action cannot thereafter be brought upon such claim in the supreme court. Barber v. Town of New Scotland, 64 App. Div. 229, 71 N. Y. Supp. 1052 (1901).

No claim can be enforced against a town unless it has been audited by board the amount specified in the certificate, in the same manner as they are of auditors. People ex rel. Myers v. Barnes, 114 N. Y. 317 (1889); People ex rel. Everett v. Supervisors, 93 N. Y. 397 (1883); Goodfriend v. Town of Lyme, 90 App. Div. 344, 86 N. Y. Supp. 422 (1904).

No action will lie upon a contract against a town until the claim of the contractors has been presented to the town board and action taken thereon by it. Colby v. Town of Day, 75 App. Div. 211, revd. 177 N. Y. 548; see also, Town Law, sec. 11, post, and notes thereunder.

Certificate of rejection of claim. The provisions of this section, requiring a town board in rejecting a claim to make a certificate to that effect signed by at least a majority of them, and to file the same in the office of the town clerk, is not complied with by making an abstract of claims presented and rejected as required by § 155 of the Town Law. People ex rel. Canton Bridge Co. v. Board of Auditors of Town of Horicon, 89 App. Div. 116, 85 N. Y. Supp. 1093.

A certificate stating that an account is wholly rejected must be made and filed as required in this section. The fact that under the words "amount allowed," in the abstract, there is inserted on the line describing the claim the word "disallowed," does not constitute a compliance with the section. People ex rel. Boyce v. Page, 105 App. Div. 212, 94 N. Y. Supp. 660.

Auditing rejected claims. A board has no power to readjudge any part of a claim which has been rejected by a prior board upon its merits. Osterhoudt v. Rigney, 98 N. Y. 222; People ex rel. Myers v. Barnes, 114 N. Y. 317, in which cases it was held that if bills had been rejected by a town board upon their merits, such rejection bars a re-audit by a subsequent board. See, also, People ex rel. Peck v. Town Board, 27 App. Div. 476; 50 N. Y. Supp. 533. But a presentation of a claim to a board which through inadvertence is so informal or defective as to justify its disallowance for that reason, is not a bar to a subsequent representation of the same claim in proper form. People ex rel. Andrus v. Town Auditors, 33 App. Div. 277; 53 N. Y. Supp. 739.

Mandamus to compel issuance of certificate. Where a town board fails to make a certificate that it has allowed claims in part and rejected them in part, as required by the above section, a writ of mandamus will issue to compel such action by the board. People ex rel. Ripp v. Town Board, 27 Misc. 469, 59 N. Y. Supp. 248.

A person who has presented a claim against a town board which has been allowed in part, is entitled to a writ of mandamus commanding the town board to cause duplicate certificates of audit to be made and delivered. People ex rel. Remington v. Manning, 37 App. Div. 141, 55 N. Y. Supp. 781.

Compelling audit by mandamus.—Where a claim presented to a board of town auditors is rejected after an examination, not because of any determination as to the merits thereof, but because the claimant refused to appear before the board, or to offer any other evidence in support of the claim than the statutory affidavit, the action of the town board is tantamount to a refusal to audit the claim, and the claimant is entitled to a writ of mandamus compelling audit. People ex rel. Rhodes v. Mole, 85 App. Div. 33, 82 N. Y. Supp. 747.

Where a town board rejects a claim as not being a town charge and refuses to consider it on its merits, and the claimant has a clear legal right to have it audited, a mandamus will lie to compel the board to perform its duty. Matter of Ryan, 6 Misc. 478, 27 N. Y. Supp. 169.

directed to levy and raise other town charges.[7]

Such determination cannot be reviewed by mandamus unless the claim is one existing by virtue of an absolute statutory liability. People ex rel. Read v. Town Auditors, 85 Hun 114, 32 N. Y. Supp. 668. But see People ex rel. Slater v. Smith, 83 Hun 432, 31 N. Y. Supp. 749.

Audit reviewable by certiorari only. The hearing by a board of town auditors of a claim against the town, the examination and discussion of the question involved and the rejection of the claim upon the ground of its illegality, constitute an audit; such an audit is a quasi-judicial determination of the claim and is reviewable by certiorari only; mandamus will not lie to compel the board to re-examine and allow the claim. People ex rel. McCabe v. Matthies, 179 N. Y. 242, affg. 92 App. Div. 16, 87 N. Y. Supp. 196.

Where the board has acted as the statute directs, its determination can only be reviewed by certiorari. People ex rel. Hamm v. Town Auditors, 43 App. Div. 22, 59 N. Y. Supp. 615, citing People ex rel. Govers v. New Rochelle, 17 App. Div. 603, 45 N. Y. Supp. 836.

A writ of certiorari must be obtained before the abstract of accounts has been delivered to the board of supervisors, as that is the last act of the board of auditors. People ex rel. Cochrane v. Town Auditors, 74 Hun 83, 26 N. Y. Supp. 122. Certiorari will issue to review action of board in refusing to allow the full amount of a claim. People ex rel. Groton Bridge Co. v. Town Board, 92 Hun 585, 36 N. Y. Supp. 1062.

A board of town auditors which audited a claim on a certain day reconsidered such action and reaudited the claim, although a writ of certiorari to review the original audit had been issued prior to the reconsideration. Such a writ does not bring up for review the reaudit of the claim, but the fact that the original audit was reconsidered may be considered by the court on the return of the writ. Matter of Weeks, 106 App. Div. 45, 94 N. Y. Supp. 468.

Where a board of town auditors audited and allowed certain claims for work done upon a town highway under the direction of the supervisor of the town, and without authority of the highway commissioner, certiorari will not lie at the instance of the highway commissioner either individually as a taxpayer, or as such officer, to review such action. His proper remedy as a taxpayer is under § 51 of the General Municipal Law. Such writ should also be dismissed upon the ground that the claims allowed by the town auditors had passed beyond their jurisdiction into that of the board of supervisors, which board was not before the court. People ex rel. Cole v. Cross, 87 App. Div. 56, 83 N. Y. Supp. 1083.

Certiorari may be issued after four months, notwithstanding the provisions of § 2125 of the Code, where the action of a town board upon a claim was sought to be reviewed by mandamus, and the determination made was not upon the merits. People ex rel. McCabe v. Snedeker, 106 App. Div. 89, 94 N. Y. Supp. 319, affd. 182 N. Y. 558.

The determination of a town board will not be overruled by the court unless error clearly appears. People ex rel. Oppenheimer Pub. Co. v. People, 81 Hun. 383; 30 N. Y. Supp. 878.

7. Concurrent jurisdiction of board of supervisors. Under the Revised Statutes, pt. 1, ch. 12, tit. 2, sec. 4, boards of supervisors were authorized to

Immediately after final adjournment of the annual meeting of the town board or board of town auditors the town clerk shall prepare a copy of such list or abstract and attach thereto a certificate subscribed by him to the effect that the same is a true and complete record of accounts, charges, claims and demands presented to the board for audit and of the action of said board thereon, and shall cause to be printed in pamphlet form and kept in his office for general distribution to applicants such reasonable number of copies of said list as the town board shall by resolution prescribe. Such resolution shall also provide for the publication or posting, or both, in the town, in a suitable manner, of public notice of the completion of said printed list and of the place where copies can be obtained. The town clerk shall receive a fee of ten cents per folio for preparing said list.

Notwithstanding any general or special provision of law to the contrary, the town board or, if there be a board of town auditors, then the board of town auditors shall have the authority to audit accounts, claims or demands against the town at any regular or special meeting of the board. [Town Law, § 133, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 316, and L. 1918, ch. 73; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6184.]

Duty of town clerk. When the town board or, if there be a board of town auditors, then that body, shall have audited an account, claim or demand against the town, the town clerk shall draw a warrant on the supervisor of the town for the amount allowed. Such warrant shall specify the date when it is payable, the fund chargeable therewith, the appropriation account, if any, to which it is to be charged and the purpose or object of the expenditure. It shall be executed in the name of the town board or board of town auditors, as the case may be, by the chairman thereof, and countersigned by the town clerk. [Town Law, § 133a, as added by L. 1918, ch. 73.]

§ 4. APPEALS FROM TOWN BOARD TO BOARD OF SUPERVISORS FROM AUDIT OF ACCOUNTS OF JUSTICES OF THE PEACE AND CONSTABLES IN CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS.

If any account of a justice of the peace, or town constable, police justice of a village or village policeman, for fees in criminal proceedings, is audited audit the accounts of town officers and other persons against their respective towns. This section of the Revised Statutes was repealed by the County Law, and in sec. 12 of that act, sub. 3, boards of supervisors are authorized to audit accounts and charges against the county only. It would seem, therefore, that by a town board of any town, any taxpayer of the town may appeal from the auditing and allowance to the board of supervisors of the county, and the board of supervisors may audit and allow such account. If the account shall be disallowed, or the amount thereof reduced, the party presenting the same shall have the same right of appeal as above provided.[8] The appeal shall be taken within fifteen days after filing the certificate of allowance or disallowance of an account by the town board, in whole or in part, by the service of a notice of appeal in writing on the town clerk and the clerk of the board of supervisors;[9] and the town clerk shall forthwith thereafter transmit the account to the board of supervisors of the county, to be audited and allowed by them; and the town board shall have no further jurisdiction over the account after the service of the notice of appeal. Such part of such accounts as the board of supervisors shall allow, shall be assessed and collected the same as other town charges.[10] [Town Law, § 177; as amended by L. 1910, ch. 61, B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6199.]

the power of boards of supervisors to audit town accounts no longer exists. See under former law, McCrea v. Chahoon, 54 Hun, 577; 8 N. Y. Supp. 88. The only duty which remains for the board of supervisors after the audit of a town account by a town auditing board is to cause to be levied and raised upon the town the amounts specified in the certificates of the town boards.

8. Right to appeal. The right given to appeal from the action taken by a town board in respect to accounts of justices of the peace or town constables for fees in criminal proceedings does not affect the right to compel an audit of an account by mandamus. People ex rel. Fraser v. Broad of Auditors, 71 Hun 461; 24 N. Y. Supp. 974; People ex rel. Misselpaugh v. Town Auditors, 1 How. (N. S.) 224.

9. Notice of appeal to claimant. Where an appeal is taken by taxpayers to the board of supervisors from a determination of a board of town auditors allowing a claim filed against the town, notice of such appeal is not required to be given to the claimant; the section is not unconstitutional because it neglects to require such notice. The board of supervisors is not required, upon the appeal, to summon the claimant to appear personally and explain the items of his account. People ex rel. Rice v. Supervisors, 98 App. Div. 390, 90 N. Y. Supp. 318.

For form of notice of appeal to board of supervisors, see Form No. 30, post.

10. Audit by the board of supervisors in the first instance is not authorized. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1894) 361.

Waiver of judicial review. Where a town constable after audit by the town board and by the board of supervisors, after appeal to them, accepts payment of the amount allowed, he waives right to a judicial review of the items disallowed; and it makes no difference that a protest was made, whether he took it as payment in full or as part payment, or whether the payment was not accepted until after

§ 5. ACCOUNTS OF JUSTICES IN CRIMINAL MATTERS, WHAT TO CONTAIN.

The accounts rendered by justices of the peace for services in criminal proceedings shall, in all cases, contain the name and residence of the complainant, the offense charged, the action of the justice on such complaint, the constable or officer to whom any warrant on such complaint was delivered, whether the person charged was or was not arrested, and whether an examination was waived or had, and witnesses sworn thereon; and the account shall also show the final action of the justice in the premises.[11] [Town Law, § 107; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6172.]

§ 5a. SALARY OF JUSTICES OF THE PEACE IN LIEU OF FEES IN CRIMINAL CASES.

The town board of any town containing a population of twenty thousand or more according to the last preceding federal census may, in its discretion, by resolution, provide that the justices of the peace in such town shall from the date of the adoption of such resolution receive an annual salary as fixed therein, not exceeding the sum of fifteen hundred dollars, for all services rendered by them in criminal actions or proceedings had before them as such justices of the peace in which a charge would otherwise be made against the town or county. The board of town auditors of any town having a board of town auditors and containing a population of more than eight thousand and less than twenty thousand in a county having a population of more than one hundred and seventy-five thousand and less than two hundred thousand, according to the last preceding federal census, may, in its discretion, by resolution, provide that the justices of the peace in such town shall from the date of the adoption of such resolution receive an annual salary as fixed therein, not exceeding the sum of six hundred dollars each, for all services rendered by them in criminal actions or proceedings had before them as such justices of the peace in which a charge would otherwise be made against the town. Such annual salary shall be in lieu of all charges and fees under section seven hundred and forty-a of the code of criminal procedure or any other statute, which would otherwise be chargeable against the town or county for services in criminal actions or proceedings. The amount of such salary shall be a town charge, payable monthly by the supervisor of such town out of any moneys in his hands applicable thereto, and receipts therefor shall be presented by the supervisor to the board of town auditors, and shall if found to be correct be audited and allowed at the amount thereof. [Town Law, § 107a, as added by L. 1915, ch. 11, and amended by L. 1917, ch. 418.]

Inclusion of claim in tax-roll. The inclusion by the board of supervisors in the tax-roll of a town, of the amount of a constable's claim against the town, as audited by the town board, pending an appeal to such board of supervisors by two taxpayers of the town from such audit, pursuant to the above section when such claim upon such appeal was rejected by the board of supervisors, does not authorize the payment of the claim by the collector, although the amount thereof is raised by levy. Adams v. Town of Wheatfield, 46 App. Div. 466; 61 N. Y. Supp. 738.

Salary of justices of the peace in lieu of fees in criminal cases. 1. The town board of any town in a county having a population of over three hundred thousand inhabitants adjoining a city of the first class having a population of over one million inhabitants, such justice not sitting, may, in its discretion, by resolution provide that any justice of the peace in such town shall, from the date of the adoption of such resolution, receive an annual salary as fixed therein not exceeding the sum or rate of fifty dollars for each one thousand population or major fraction thereof within such town, to be determined according to the last preceding state census, for all services rendered by him in criminal actions or proceedings had before him as such justice of the peace, in which a charge would otherwise be made against the town, or county. Such annual salary shall be in lieu of all charges and fees under section seven hundred and forty-a of the code of criminal procedure or any other statute, which would otherwise be chargeable against the town or county for services in criminal actions or proceedings. The amount of such salary, when so fixed, shall be a town charge payable monthly by the supervisor of such town out of any moneys in his hands applicable thereto and receipts therefor shall be presented by the supervisor to the board of town auditors and shall, if found to be correct, be audited and allowed at the amount thereof, but no annual salary as herein provided shall exceed the sum of twelve hundred dollars.

2. Each such justice of the peace shall keep an account of all criminal business done by him which by law is now made a charge upon the county, and the same shall be audited in like manner as other charges and ordered paid to the supervisor of such town. [Town Law, § 107b, as added by L. 1918, ch. 398.]

§ 6. FEES OF OFFICERS IN CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS, WHEN TOWN OR COUNTY CHARGE.

The fees of magistrates and other officers for services in criminal proceedings, for or on account of an offense which a court of special sessions has not jurisdiction to try, shall be a county charge, if the magistrate had jurisdiction of the proceedings in which the services were rendered. The fees of magistrates and other officers in other criminal proceedings, or in criminal actions tried before a magistrate of the town where the offense is charged to have been committed shall be a charge against such town. The fees of a magistrate or officer in issuing or serving process for an offense committed in a town other than that in which such magistrate resides, and of which a court of special sessions has jurisdiction to try, or which a magistrate has jurisdiction to hear and determine, and the fees of a magistrate in the trial or examination of a person brought before him by reason of the absence or inability to act of the magistrate before whom he is directed by the warrant to be brought, charged with such an offense committed in a town other than that in which the magistrate before whom such person is brought resides, shall, in either case, be a charge against the town in which such offense was committed.[12] Except 12. The purpose of the statute is primarily to make the expenses of the criminal cases follow the jurisdiction and locality of the offense. People ex rel. McGrath v. Supervisors, 119 N. Y. 126; 23 N. E. 489. The jurisdiction of courts of special sessions is prescribed by section 56 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, and includes a large part, if not all, of the several offenses classed as misdemeanors. In the trial of all crimes mentioned in such section the fees of the magistrates and other officers are chargeable against the town where the offense is charged to have been committed.

County charges. The fees of magistrates and other officers in proceedings for the examination and commitment of persons charged with a felony or with offenses not specified in such section 56 of the Code of Criminal Procedure are chargeable against the county. In the case of People ex rel. Post v. Supervisors as provided in this section no fees shall be allowed either as a town or county charge to a magistrate or other officer, for services in a criminal action or proceeding, before a magistrate of one town for or on account of an offense charged to have been committed in another town, and which a court of special sessions has jurisdiction to try, or which a magistrate has jurisdiction to hear and determine. The fees of a magistrate and the fees and mileage of a peace officer in connection with the arrest, examination, conviction and commitment of a tramp, or of a vagrant under subdivisions one, five or six of section eight hundred and eighty-seven of the code of criminal procedure, or of a person charged with a violation of section nineteen hundred and ninety of the penal law, and any other criminal action or proceeding of which a court of special sessions has jurisdiction to try, or which a magistrate has jurisdiction to hear and determine, may be fixed by the board of town auditors, if any, and otherwise by the town board of the town, or the board of supervisors of the county, to which the same are chargeable, not exceeding the amount now allowed by law; and when so fixed, shall supersede as to such town or county any other provision of law fixing fees or mileage in such case. [13] [Town Law, § 171, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 523, and L. 1913, ch. 111; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 6196.]

of Ontario, 4 Denio, 260, it was held that fees of magistrates are a charge upon the county: (1) Where the proceedings are not had in the county in which the offense was committed; (2) where the proceedings are for felony; (3) where the proceedings or trial for the offense is had in the County or Supreme Court. In all other cases the expense is a town charge.

The expense of transporting prisoners convicted in court of special sessions in a town is a town charge. People ex rel. McGrath v. Supervisors of Westchester, 119 N. Y. 126, 129. Transportation of juvenile delinquents to a house of refuge upon their conviction and sentence by a justice of the peace is a town charge. People ex rel. Andrus v. Town Auditors, 33 App. Div. 277, 53 N. Y. Supp. 739.

Sheriff's fees for boarding prisoners are county charges. Ross v. Supervisors of Cayuga, 38 Hun 20; People ex rel. Van Tassel v. Supervisors of Columbia, 67 N. Y. 330. But the fees of a deputy sheriff acting as a peace officer are a town charge. People ex rel. White v. Clinton, 28 App. Div. 478, 51 N. Y. Supp. 115.

Fees of a justice of the peace are a town charge. People ex rel. Fraser v. Bd. of Auditors, 71 Hun 461, 24 N. Y. Supp. 974.

13. Vagrants defined. The subdivisions of section 887 of the Code of Criminal Procedure referred to in the above section are as follows: "The following persons are vagrants: 1. A person who, not having visible means to maintain himself, lives without employment; 5. A person wandering abroad and begging, or who goes about from door to door, or places himself in the streets, highways, passages, or other public places, to beg or receive alms; 6. A person wandering abroad and lodging in taverns, groceries, ale houses, watch or station houses, outhouses, market places, sheds, stables, barns or uninhabited buildings, or in the open air, and not giving a good account of himself."

The intent of the above provision as to the arrest of vagrants under such subdivisions of such section is to permit the town board, or board of supervisors of

§ 7. FORM OF ACCOUNTS; VERIFICATION BY AFFIDAVIT OF CLAIMANT; SAVING CLAUSE.

No account shall be audited by any board of town auditors or supervisors or superintendent of the poor for any services or disbursements unless such account shall be made out in items and accompanied with an affidavit attached thereto, and to be filed with such account, made by the person the county, to fix, in such cases, the fees and mileage of officers for duties performed in connection with the arrest of such persons.

Tramp defined. By section 887a of the Code of Criminal Procedure a tramp is defined as "any person, not blind, over sixteen years of age, and who has not resided in the county in which he may be at any time for a period of six months prior thereto, who: 1. Not having visible means to maintain himself lives without employment; or, 2, wanders abroad and begs or goes about from door to door, or places himself in the streets, highways, or passages or public places to beg or receive alms; or, 3, wanders abroad and lodges in taverns, groceries, ale houses, watch or station houses, outhouses, market places, sheds, stables, barns or inhabited buildings, or in the open air, and does not give a good account of himself."

By Penal Law, § 2370, it is provided that: "Every tramp, upon conviction as such, shall be punished by imprisonment at hard labor in the nearest penitentiary for not more than six months, and the expense during such imprisonment shall be paid by the state at the rate of thirty cents per day per capita."

It follows, therefore, that where a person is arrested and convicted as a tramp he must be committed to a penitentiary and is there supported at the expense of the state. A person convicted as a vagrant under subs. 1, 5 and 6 of sec. 887 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, if committed to a penitentiary, would be there supported at the expense of the county from which he is sent.

In the county of Ulster the fees of officers in the arrest, trial or examination of persons charged with a criminal offense are in every case a charge against the town in which the offense was committed, and the above section of the Town Law, and subs. 6 and 14 of sec. 240 of the County Law do not apply to such county.

Sections 172 to 174 of the Town Law control this question in the county of Ulster. Such sections are as follows:

§ 172. Fees if officers in Ulster County. In the county of Ulster the fees of magistrates and other officers in criminal proceedings, or in criminal actions tried before a magistrate of any town in such county where the offense is charged to have been committed, shall be a charge against such town. The fees of a magistrate or officer in issuing or serving process for an offense committed in a town in such county other than that in which such magistrate resides, and the fees of a magistrate in the trial or examination of a person brought before him by reason of the absence or inability to act of the magistrate before whom he is directed by the warrant to be brought, charged with such an offense committed in a town in such county other than that in which the magistrate before whom such person is brought resides, shall, in either case, be a charge against the town in which the such offense was committed. Except as provided in this section no fees shall be allowed to a magistrate or other presenting or claiming the same, that the items of such account are correct and that the disbursements and services charged therein have been in fact made or rendered or are necessary to be made or rendered at that session of the board, and stating that no part thereof has been paid or satisfied; and the chairman of the board or either of the superintendents may administer any oath required under this section.[14] Nothing in this section officer for services in a criminal action or proceeding before a magistrate of one town in such county for or on account of an offense charged to have been committed in another town therein. The fees of a magistrate and the fees and mileage of a peace officer in connection with the arrest, examination, conviction and commitment of a tramp, or of a vagrant under subdivision one, five or six of section eight hundred and eighty-seven of the code of criminal procedure, may be fixed by the board of town auditors, if any, and otherwise by the town board of the town in such county to which the same are chargeable, not exceeding the amount now allowed by law; and when so fixed, shall supersede as to such town any other provision of law fixing fees or mileage in such case.

§ 173. Constable's fees in Ulster county. In the county of Ulster, the compensation allowed by law to constables and other officers, for executing process on persons charged with a felony, for services and expenses in conveying such persons to the jail in such county, and for other services in relation to criminal proceedings and the support of prisoners in transit, for which no specific compensation is prescribed by law, shall be a charge upon the town in such county where the crime was committed. The charges and accounts for services rendered by justices of the peace in any town in such county, in the examination of felons, and in other proceedings mentioned in section one hundred and seventy-one shall be a charge upon the town wherein the crime was committed, and shall be paid in the same manner as other town charges.

§ 174. Exception. The provisions of section one hundred and seventy-one of this chapter and of subdivisions six and fourteen of section two hundred and forty of the county law, as far as they are inconsistent with the provisions of the last two sections, shall not apply to the county of Ulster or any of the towns therein.

14. Accounts against county. Section 24 of the County Law, ante, also provides that no account shall be audited by a board of supervisors or by superintendents of the poor unless it shall be made out in items and verified.

For form of accounts of town officers and verification thereof, see Form No. 32, post. For form of certificate of examination of town officers' accounts, see Form No. 33, post. For form of affidavit to be annexed to account presented to town board for audit, see Form No. 34, post.

Defective accounts. The town board may refuse to audit an account unless it is in the form prescribed by statute. See People ex rel. Mason v. Board of Supervisors, 45 Hun, 62. If an account is not in proper form the board would not be justified in absolutely rejecting the claim and thus deprive the claimant of that which might be honestly and fairly due to him. The board should permit the claimant to withdraw his claim and present it in the form and manner prescribed by the statute. As we have already seen a presentation of a claim which, through inadvertence, is so informal or defective as to justify its disshall be construed to prevent any board from disallowing any account, in whole or in part, when so rendered and verified, nor from requiring any other or further evidence of the truth and propriety thereof, as such board may think proper.[15] [Town Law, § 175; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6198.]

§ 8. TOWN CHARGES, WHAT ARE.

The following shall be deemed town charges:

1. The compensation of town officers for services rendered for their respective towns.[16]

2. The contingent expenses necessarily incurred for the use and benefit of the town,[17] and all moneys necessarily expended by any town officer in executing the duties of his office, in cases where no specific compensation for such service is provided by law, and including in any town having a population, as appears by the last federal census of five thousand or more, and where the assessed valuation of real estate in such town is over five million dollars, the actual and necessary expenses of such town officers for vehicle hire, traveling expenses, office rent, janitor service, light, heat, telephone, postage, furniture, stationery or supplies, as may be incurred by authority of the town board of such town.

allowance for that reason, is not a bar to a subsequent re-presentation of the same claim in proper form. People ex rel. Andrus v. Town Auditors, 33 App. Div. 277; 53 N. Y. Supp. 739.

Where bills against a town are presented in such a manner that the auditing board is unable to separate the illegal from the legal charges, it is its duty to refuse to audit any of the charges. Matter of Town of Hempstead, 36 App. Div. 321, 337, 55 N. Y. Supp. 345, affd. 160 N. Y. 685.

Verification. After audit objection cannot be made that items were not verified. People ex rel. Sherman v. Bd. of Sup'rs, 30 How. Pr. 173.

15. See notes to section 133 of the Town Law, ante, relating to the manner of auditing accounts by town board.

Subsequent audit of claim rejected for defect. If a claim was disallowed because it was improper or defective in form as where it was neither verified nor itemized as required by this section, or if the claim disallowed was presented without the authority of the claimant, the town board may pass upon it when again presented in proper form by the claimant himself. People ex rel. Brooklyn Cooperage Co. v. King, 116 App. Div. 89, 101 N. Y. Supp. 782.

16. Compensation of town officers generally is prescribed by section 85 of the Town Law, post.

Claim for statutory percentages on moneys paid out by a supervisor should be audited. People ex rel. Acheson v. Bullard, 146 App. Div. 282.

Bills of constables for certain services are town charges. Osterhout v. Hyland, 27 Hun, 167, 172, affd. 98 N. Y. 222.

Compensation of superintendent of highways is a town charge. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1903) 263. But his expenses in excess of his annual appropriation are not a town charge. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1902) 258.

17. Contingent expenses. Services performed by a supervisor in advising and directing overseers of the poor and in consulting with highway commissioners and town assessors and in employing counsel in proceedings taken to compel the board of supervisors to correct the town assessment-roll do not come under the head of contingent expense necessarily incurred for the use and benefit of the town. People ex rel. Keeffe v. Town Auditors, 24 App. Div. 579; 49 N. Y. Supp. 525, affd. 156 N. Y. 689; People ex rel. Coon v. Wood, 35 N. Y. St. Rep. 840, 12 N. Y. Supp. 436. 3. The moneys authorized to be raised by the vote of a town meeting for any town purpose.

4. Every sum directed by law to be raised for any town purpose.[18]

5. All judgments duly recovered against a town.

6. All damages recovered against a town officer for any act done pursuant to a direction or resolution, duly adopted by the town board, or at a town meeting duly held; and all damages against any such officer for any act done in good faith, in his official capacity, without any such direction or resolution, may be made a town charge, by a vote of the town, at a town meeting duly held.[19]

7. The costs and expenses lawfully incurred by any town officer in prosecuting or defending any action or proceeding brought by or against the town or such officer for an official act done, shall be a town charge in all cases where the officer is required by law to so prosecute or defend, or to do such act, or is instructed to so prosecute or defend, or do such act, by resolution duly adopted by the town board, or at a town meeting duly held.[20] All town charges specified in this section shall be presented duties, and which unless paid by the town would result in pecuniary loss to the officers themselves.

Contingent expenses are those which the commissioners could not ascertain. Expenses which were unknown, which were uncertain, and which might or might not be incurred thereafter. People v. Yonkers, 39 Barb. 266, 272.

An amount alleged to be due under an agreement for the support of a pauper child is a town charge, and under the above section the exclusive remedy of the claimant is to present his claim to the town board for audit, and to review their action by certiorari or mandamus. Goodfriend v. Town of Lyme, 90 App. Div. 344, 86 N. Y. Supp. 422.

Payment of bridge tenders to operate a lift bridge over the Erie canal is not a town charge. Matter of Town of Ridgeway v. Treman, 72 Misc. 452.

Employment of assistants by board of assessors. There is no authority in the law for the employment by the board of town assessors of a clerk or other assistant, nor has the town board any power to authorize the employment by the town assessors of a clerk or other assistant. People ex rel. Anderson v. Snedeker (1912), 75 Misc. 194.

Traveling expenses of members of town boards. The town board of a town having a population of more than 5,000 and in which the assessed valuation of real property is more than $5,000,000, may not lawfully adopt a fixed or stated allowance per mile to be paid to members of the town board for the use of their own conveyances, in lieu of actual expenses incurred in traveling from their residences to the meetings of the town board. Opinion of State Comptroller (1916), 8 State Dept. Rep. 564.

Expenses of a justice of the peace in traveling to and from meetings are not a town charge for "specific compensation" as provided by law. Opinion of State Comptroller (1916), 8 State Dept. Rep. 575.

18. Appropriation of town moneys. Where town moneys have been specifically appropriated for a town purpose by the collectors of the town at a town meeting, the expenses incurred in carrying out such purpose are a town charge. Berlin Iron Bridge Co. v. Wagner, 57 Hun 346; 10 N. Y. Supp. 840.

19 Judgments against supervisor may be audited by town board as a town charge. Hulbert v. Defendorf, 58 Hun 585, 12 N. Y. Supp. 673. And see § 1931 of the Code of Civil Procedure, which has been held not to impose an absolute liability against a town for all judgments recovered against a commissioner of highways in his official capacity. People ex rel. Myers v. Barnes, 114 N. Y. 317. A town may borrow money and issue bonds for the payment of judgments against it. See Town Law, § 139, post.

In order to make a judgment against commissioners of highways a town charge, it must have been recovered upon a liability incurred by them acting within the scope of their authority, and in such case the claim therefor must be presented, passed upon and audited by the board of town auditors. People ex rel. Everett v. Supervisors, 93 N. Y. 397.

20. Expenses of assessors in defending certiorari proceedings, without the to the town board for audit, and all moneys necessary to defray such charges shall be levied on the taxable property in such town by the board of supervisors.[21]

8. Actual expenses necessarily incurred by the supervisor of a town in the forest preserve, when authorized by resolution of the town board, in connection with the distribution of fish and game birds furnished by the conservation department of the state or by the federal government, not exceeding fifty dollars in any one year. [Town Law, § 170; subd. 8 repealed by L. 1909, ch. 491; section amended by L. 1914, ch. 440; new subd. 8 added by L. 1916, ch. 158; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 6194.]

§ 9. TRAVELING FEES FOR SUBPOENAING WITNESSES, WHEN TO BE ALLOWED.

No traveling fees shall be allowed for traveling to subpoena a witness, beyond the limits of the county in which the subpoena was issued, or of an adjoining county, unless the board auditing the account, shall be satisfied, by proof, that such witness could not be subpoenaed without additional travel; nor shall any traveling fees for subpoenaing witnesses be allowed, except such as the board auditing the account, shall be satisfied were indispensably necessary. [Town Law, § 176; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6199.]

§ 10. BOARDS OF AUDIT TO MAKE ABSTRACT OF NAMES OF PERSONS WHOSE ACCOUNTS HAVE BEEN AUDITED.

Boards of town auditors, shall annually make brief abstracts of the names of all persons who have presented to them, accounts to be audited, the direction or resolution of the town board to review a grossly excessive assessment, made in bad faith and with malice, are not town charges and cannot be legally audited. A ratification after audit will be ineffectual. The payment of the claim may be enjoined in a taxpayer's action. Rockefeller v. Taylor, 69 App. Div. 176, 74 N. Y. Supp. 812. See also People ex rel. Overseers of the poor may employ an attorney and the expense will be a town charge. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1904) 271.

21. Other town charges. Among other town charges than those in the above section the following may be mentioned:

Amounts expended for the support of town poor. See Poor Law, secs. 23–28.

Costs and damages awarded in proceedings to lay out, alter and discontinue highways. See Highway Law, sec. 93, ante.

Damages for injuries sustained by defects in highways and bridges. See Highway Law, sec. 18, ante.

Expense incurred in the erection of mile stones and guide boards, in the purchase of road machines, stone crushers, and materials used on highways. See Highway Law, sec. 51, ante.

Amount expended in the acquisition of gravel for use on the highways. See Highway Law, sec. 68, ante.

amounts claimed by each of such persons, and the amounts finally audited by them respectively, and shall deliver such abstracts to the clerk of the board of supervisors, and the clerk shall cause the same to be printed, with the statements required to be printed by him,[22] provided, however, that it shall be a sufficient compliance with the provisions of this section for such board of town auditors to deliver to said clerk of the board of supervisors a copy of the printed list provided for in section one hundred and thirty-three of this chapter. [Town Law, § 155; as amended by L. 1910, ch. 316; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6193.]

§ 11. WHEN TOWN AUDITORS ARE TO BE ELECTED; APPLICATION THEREFOR.

The electors in each of the towns may, on the application of twenty freeholders residing therein, at any biennial town meeting, determine by ballot whether there shall be elected, at the next succeeding biennial town meeting, held in the town, a board of town auditors, in and for the town independent of the town board in the manner, and under the restrictions hereinafter prescribed.[23] [Town Law, § 150; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6191.]

§ 12. NUMBER OF TOWN AUDITORS; TERM OF OFFICE.

If a majority of the ballots so cast, shall be in favor of electing a board of town auditors there shall be elected at the next succeeding biennial town meeting, and at every biennial town meeting held thereafter, until otherwise determined, three town auditors, who shall form the board of town auditors of the town whose term of office shall be two years. § 13. IF ELECTORS OF TOWN VOTE TO ELECT A BOARD OF AUDITORS, TOWN BOARD TO MAKE TEMPORARY APPOINTMENT.

The town board of the town in which the electors shall determine to elect a board of town auditors, or a majority of them, shall, within sixty days after the town meeting where it was so determined, convene at some suitable place in the town, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, and appoint, in writing, under their hands and seals, three persons having the qualifications herein prescribed, to be town auditors of the town, and shall immediately cause such appointment to be filed with the town clerk.[24] The person so appointed shall, within ten days after receiving notice of their appointment, take, subscribe and file in the office of the town clerk the oath of office; and thereupon they shall be the board of town auditors of the town, and shall possess and exercise all the powers and duties of town auditors, and shall hold and discharge the duties of the office until the next biennial town meeting to be held in the town after their appointment. [Town Law, § 152; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6192.]

§ 14. TOWN AUDITORS TO AUDIT ACCOUNTS; TOWN AUDITOR TO HOLD NO OTHER TOWN OFFICE.

Upon the election or appointment and qualification of any such board of town auditors in any town, the powers of the town board of that town, with respect to auditing, allowing or rejecting all accounts, charges, claims or demands against the town, and with respect to the examination, auditing and certification of accounts of town officers, and making provision for preparing and publishing or posting lists of all such accounts, charges, claims or demands after the audit or rejection thereof, shall devolve upon and thereafter be exercised by such board of town auditors, during the continuance of such board; and with respect to the powers so conferred, and the duties so imposed, they shall be the town board of the town during their continuance.[25] No person so elected or appointed shall hold any Employment of counsel. A town board of auditors has the same power to other office in the town during the term for which he is elected or appointed; and if he shall accept an election or appointment to any other office in the town, he shall immediately cease to be a town auditor, and the vacancy in his office shall be supplied in the manner hereinafter provided. [Town Law, § 153, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 316; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6192.]

§ 15. MEETINGS AND COMPENSATION OF TOWN AUDITORS.

The board of town auditors, or town board where no regular town board of audit has been chosen, in a town having a population of four thousand and upwards, or in a town which had a population of four thousand prior to the inclusion of a portion of such town within the boundaries of a city, may meet quarterly in each year on the first Mondays of February, May, August and November, for the purpose of auditing, allowing or rejecting all charges, claims and demands against the town. Each town auditor shall be entitled to receive for his services three dollars for each day, not exceeding in the aggregate twelve days in any one year, except in towns having a population of twelve thousand and upwards, in which towns each of such town auditors shall be entitled to receive for his services three dollars for each day, but not to exceed thirty days in any one year and except that in towns having a population of eighteen thousand and upwards, in which towns each of such town auditors shall be entitled to receive for his services such compensation as shall be fixed by the town board of such town, and not less than three nor more than five dollars for each day, but not to exceed sixty days in any one year and except that in towns having a population of forty thousand and upwards, in which towns each of such town auditors shall be entitled to receive for his services not less than three nor more than five dollars for each day, but not to exceed eighty days in any one year, except that in any town in a county adjoining a city of the first class the town board of such town may fix the compensation and number of days of service of the town auditors at not less than three nor more than five dollars per day, but not to exceed one hundred days in any one year; and also except in towns with a population of sixty thousand or more, the town board shall have authority to designate the number of days of service of the town auditors of such town, actually and necessarily devoted by him to the service of the town, in the duties of said office.[26] [Town Law, § 154, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 24, L. 1912, chs. 72, 258, and L. 1913, ch. 17, L. 1916, ch. 100, and L. 1917, ch. 368; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6193.]

The supervisor of the town shall appoint some suitable and competent person to fill any vacancy occurring in the board of town auditors until the next biennial town meeting. [Town Law, § 156; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6193.]

§ 16. TOWN MEETING MAY VOTE TO DISCONTINUE BOARD OF TOWN AUDITORS.

At any subsequent town meeting, after the expiration of five years from the determination to elect a board of town auditors, the electors of the town may determine by ballot to abolish such board in the same manner as they determine to establish such board; and thereupon such board shall be abolished. [Town Law, § 157; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6193.]

§ 17. ACTIONS ON BEHALF OF AND AGAINST TOWNS TO BE BROUGHT IN NAME OF TOWN; CONTRACTS IN NAME OF TOWN.

Any action or special proceeding for the benefit of a town, upon a con-employ counsel to resist claims against the town as that possessed by the regular town board. Matter of Comesky v. Blackledge, 114 App. Div. 834, 100 N. Y. Supp. 241.

Review of action of board of town auditors.—After a board of town auditors has judicially passed upon the merits of a claim and has allowed or disallowed it, the claimant's only remedy is by an appeal, in some cases to the board of supervisors, and in others by certiorari to the Appelate Division of this court. The court, at Special Term, has no power to review the action of the board of town auditors in allowing or disallowing a claim. People ex rel. Anderson v. Snedeker (1912), 75 Misc. 194.

26. Section applies only to separate boards of town auditors. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1895) 244.

The board of town auditors is separate and distinct from the town board, and the provision making the compensation of its members three dollars per day has no application to the town board. Rept. of Atty. Genl., Vol. 2, p. 663.

tract lawfully made with any of its town officers, to enforce any liability created or duty enjoined upon those officers, or the town represented by them, or to recover any penalty or forfeiture given to such officers, or the town represented by them, or to recover damages for injury to the property or rights of such officers, or the town represented by them, shall be in the name of the town. Any action or special proceeding to enforce the liability of the town upon any such contract, or for any liability of the town for any act or omission of its town officers, shall be in the name of the town.[27] [Town Law, § 11; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6135.]

27. Effect of section. The above section modified the existing rule as to actions by and against town officers. Under the law as it existed prior to the enactment of this section towns had a very limited corporate power and could only sue and be sued in respect to the exercise of such power. The purpose of the above provision was to place the town as a party plaintiff or defendant in the same relation to actions as town officers had before such act in respect to like actions for causes legitimately arising out of and relating to the performance of their official powers or duties. Miller v. Bush, 87 Hun, 507; 34 N. Y. Supp. 286.

The section cannot be construed to enlarge or increase the liabilities of towns except to the extent specifically prescribed therein. Robinson v. Town of Fowler, 80 Hun, 101; 30 N. Y. Supp. 25.

This section creates no liability on the part of the town where it would not have been liable except for its provisions, but simply provides that where the town is liable proceedings must be taken against it directly. Thus, the fact that a commissioner of highways (now town superintendent) has made a valid contract to purchase a road machine, having sufficient funds in his hands for the purpose, does not make the town liable therefor. Acme Road Machinery Co. v. Town of Bridgewater, 185 N. Y. 1, revg. 104 App. Div. 597, 93 N. Y. Supp. 949.

Actions in behalf of town must be brought in the name thereof. Cornell v. Town of Guilford, 1 Den. 510; Palmer v. Ft. Plain & Cooperstown P. R. Co., 11 N. Y. 376, 390. Bodies created by the legislature have an incidental capacity to sue and be sued, independently of any express power. Clarissy v. Met. Fire Department, 7 Abb. N. S. 352.

Prior to the act of 1890 the towns had a very limited corporate power. In cases coming within such powers the town could sue and be sued except where the town officers were authorized to sue in their names of office for the benefit of the town. Miller v. Bush, 87 Hun 507, 34 N. Y. Supp. 286.

Where there is a liability to the town for moneys, it can only be enforced by an action in the name of the town. Town of Chautauqua v. Gifford, 8 Hun, 152.

Trustees of town lands do not possess legal capacity to bring a suit for the cancellation of a lease of lands executed by their predecessors. Tuma v. Piepenbrink, 160 App. Div. 225.

Actions by and against towns. Where town has no interest in the lands in dispute, action against commissioner of highways cannot be brought in name of the town. Riley v. Brodie, 22 Misc. 374, 50 N. Y. Supp. 347.

This section may be construed to authorize a suit against a former supervisor to compel him to account for moneys that came into his hands by virtue of his office. Town of Pelham v. Shinn, 129 App. Div. 20, 113 N. Y. Supp. 98.

Marshall, 56 N. Y. 663; Town of Guilford v. Lewis, 58 N. Y. 116, 121; Morey v. Town of Newfane, 8 Barb. 645. Actions would not lie against towns for errors of assessors. Lorillard v. Town of Monroe, 11 N. Y. 392, affg. 12 Barb. 161.

Action against town upon contract. Where a town has issued bonds in a certain sum for the construction of a town hall and any part of the fund so created remains unexpended an action may be brought against the town by a subcontractor to compel the payment of his claim for labor performed upon the town hall, where the town board refuses to apply any of such fund to the payment of his claim. If all of the fund so created had been expended the only remedy is a presentation of the claim to the town board for audit, and a subsequent review of their determination by a certiorari. Bragg v. Town of Victor, 84 App. Div. 83, 82 N. Y. Supp. 212, affd. 158 N. Y. 739.

Action upon contract legalized by legislature. An action will not lie against a town upon a contract confessedly illegal, and afterwards legalized by an act of the legislature, made by the town board for the construction of abutments for a bridge. Such an action is purely upon contract notwithstanding such legalization, and like any other contract against the town must be presented to the town board for audit. Colby v. Town of Day, 75 App. Div. 211, 77 N. Y. Supp. 1022, revd. on question of practice, 177 N. Y. 548.

Action for injuries to bridge between towns. Although it is provided by § 73 of the Highway Law, that town superintendents of highways may bring an action in the name of a town against any person or corporation to sustain the rights of the public in and to any highway of the town, the above section of the Town Law requires an action for injuries to a bridge between towns to be brought in the names of the towns, and not in the names of their superintendents; and this is so, although by a special act such bridge is placed under the joint control and direction of the town superintendents of the towns. Town of Palatine v. Canajoharie Water Supply Co., 90 App. Div. 548, 86 N. Y. Supp. 412; affd. 184 N. Y. 582.

A town has sufficient property in the highways and bridges to maintain an action for injury thereto, and such an action is, under the above section, properly brought in the name of the town. The fact that a supervisor verifies the complaint in such an action affords no presumption that the action was not brought by and is not in the charge of a highway commisioner as any officer who knows the facts is competent to verify the complaint. Town of Ft. Covington v. U. S. & Canada R. R. Co., 8 App. Div. 223; 40 N. Y. Supp. 313; affd., 156 N. Y. 702. See also Bidelman v. State of New York, 110 N. Y. 232.

lawfully made, they shall be deemed the contracts of the town, notwithstanding it is omitted to be stated therein that they are in the name of the town.[28] [Town Law, § 10; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6134.]

§ 18. ACTIONS FOR TRESPASS ON TOWN LANDS.

Whenever an action is brought by a town to recover a penalty for a trespass committed upon its land, and it shall appear upon the trial that the damages from the trespass exceed ten dollars, the town shall recover the damages and costs in lieu of the penalty, and such recovery shall be a bar to any subsequent civil action for the same trespass.[29] [Town Law, § 12; B. C. & G., Cons. L., p. 6137.]

§ 19. TOWN BOARD MAY BORROW MONEY FOR HIGHWAY PURPOSES WHEN TOWN MEETING HAS VOTED TO RAISE MORE THAN $500; STATEMENT OF INDEBTEDNESS CREATED TO BE RENDERED TO BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

Whenever a town meeting shall vote a special appropriation of money in the sum of five hundred dollars or more, or an appropriation for highway purposes or for the support of the poor during the current year, to be levied upon the taxable property of the town, the town board shall have power to borrow the sum so appropriated upon the faith and credit

Other provisions relating to actions by and against towns and town officers. Actions may be brought against town officers to prevent any illegal official act on their part, or to prevent waste or injury to, or to restore and make good any property, funds or estate of the town, by any person or corporation or by any number of such persons or corporations whose assessment shall jointly equal the sum of $1,000. Actions by towns against persons or corporations injuring highways or bridges, see Highway Law, sec. 73, post.

28. Effect of section. This section has not changed the old rule that a commissioner of highways (now town superintendent of highways) cannot create any liability upon the part of his town to pay for materials ordered by him for the ordinary repair of town highways. Highway commissioners are charged with the duty of keeping town highways in repair as independent officers, and not as agents of the town, and when they contract for such ordinary repairs no liability is created against the town, and the commissioners themselves as such officers and not the town, should be sued for the debt. Lyth & Sons v. Town of Evans, 33 Misc. 221; 68 N. Y. Supp. 356.

29. A town may sue to enjoin repeated trespasses upon lands owned by it, where previously authorized by resolution of the town board. Town of Hempstead v. Lawrence, 138 App. Div. 473, 122 N. Y. Supp. 1073.

of the town, and to issue therefor a certificate or certificates of indebtedness, bearing interest and payable at such date or dates as may be fixed by said board, and the proceeds of such loan shall be placed to the credit of the public officers charged by law with the expenditure of said moneys. A statement of the amount maturing on such certificate of indebtedness shall be certified by the town board at its second meeting and delivered to the supervisor of the town, to be by him presented to the board of supervisors of his county at its annual meeting, and the said board of supervisors shall cause the amount specified in such certified statement to be levied and raised upon the taxable property of the town in the same manner as they are directed to levy and raise other town charges. [Town Law, § 138; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6190.]

§ 19-a. POWER OF TOWN BOARD TO BORROW MONEY FOR EXPENSES IN THE SUPPRESSION OF FOREST FIRES AND FOR OTHER EMERGENCIES.

If at the time any services are rendered for the town or expenses incurred in the suppression of forest fires or in connection with the performance of any other duty imposed by statute upon the town, and requiring immediate action, there be no town funds available for the payment therefor, or such funds be insufficient therefor, or the application thereof to such purposes would, in the opinion of the town board, unduly deplete the funds applicable to the payment of other town expenses and charges, the town board may borrow on the faith and credit of the town a sum sufficient to pay such debts or expenses. The amount to be borrowed shall be determined by the town board by a resolution and shall be based either upon the aggregate of claims, charges and demands previously audited at a regular or special meeting, or upon an estimate of the probable amount needed, to be filed with the town clerk and subscribed by a majority of members of the town board. If the amount to be borrowed does not exceed one thousand dollars, a certificate or certificates of indebtedness shall be issued in the manner prescribed by section one hundred and thirty-eight of this chapter, and the amounts maturing thereon certified to the supervisor from time to time as provided in section one hundred and thirty-eight for the purpose of including the amount thereof maturing in the sums to be raised by taxation at the ensuing tax levy. If the amount to be borrowed equals or exceeds one thousand dollars, the same shall be borrowed upon bonds of the town in the same manner as provided by law for borrowing money to pay judgments. Moneys may be provided under this section for more than one lawful purpose by a single issue of such town certificates or bonds, but the proceeds shall be divided into separate funds, each for a separate purpose, and each such purpose shall be set forth in the resolution authorizing the borrowing of such money. [Town Law, § 138-a, as added by L. 1913, ch. 571.]

§ 19-b. POWER OF TOWN BOARD, IN CERTAIN TOWNS, TO BORROW MONEY FOR THE PURPOSE OF PAYING CHARGES, CLAIMS OR DEMANDS AGAINST THE TOWN.

Whenever a town board or board of town auditors of any town, having a population of four thousand and upwards, shall have audited any account, and shall have allowed in whole or in part any charge, claim or demand against such town, and shall have made and filed a certificate to that effect in the office of the town clerk, and such account shall thereby have become a legal obligation and charge against such town, the town board, in anticipation of the taxes for the current fiscal year, shall have power to borrow upon the faith and credit of the town a sum of money sufficient to pay the aggregate amount of the accounts so audited and allowed at any one of the regular meetings held for that purpose, by issuing a temporary certificate or temporary certificates of indebtedness therefor, bearing interest and payable at such date or dates as may be fixed by such town board, but not for a longer period than sixteen months; and the proceeds of such loan shall be placed to the credit of the public officers charged by law with the payment of town claims. [Town Law, § 141, as added by L. 1912, ch. 258, and amended by L. 1916, ch. 81.]

§ 20. TOWN BOARDS MAY VOTE MONEY FOR MEMORIAL DAY; EXPENDITURE.

It shall be lawful for the town boards of any town in this state at any regular or special meeting to vote any sum of money not exceeding fifty dollars in any year, or in towns of over five thousand inhabitants according to the last preceding state enumeration, in which are maintained two or more posts of the Grand Army of the Republic, a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars in any year, for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the proper observance of Memorial or Decoration day, which amount shall be assessed, levied and collected in the same manner as other expenses of said town are assessed, levied and collected and shall be paid to the supervisor of such town and be disbursed by him in such manner as the town board of such town may direct upon vouchers properly receipted and audited by the town board of such town; except that in any town in which there may be a post of the Grand Army of the Republic, such post may direct the manner and extent of such observance and the supervisors shall pay the expense thereof upon the order or orders of the commander or quartermaster of such post, which orders shall be his vouchers for such payment, and in case there may be two or more posts of the Grand Army of the Republic in any such town, the commanders and quartermasters of such posts, by concurrent action, shall direct the supervisor of such town what proportion of such money so raised shall be expended by each of such posts, which proportion shall be paid by such supervisor upon the order or orders of the commander and quartermaster of each of such posts. In case there is a post in a town adjoining a town in which no post is located, whose membership includes at least three residents of such town having no post, the post shall appoint a committee of not less than three of its members who are residents of the said adjoining town in which the post is not located, and the supervisor of said town shall pay the expenses of observance of Memorial or Decoration day upon the order or orders of said committee or a majority thereof, which orders shall be his vouchers for such payment. [Town Law, § 136; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6189.]

§ 21. APPROPRIATION BY TOWN BOARD IN LIVINGSTON, ONEIDA, ORLEANS, WAYNE AND GREENE COUNTIES FOR ROOMS FOR POSTS.

It shall be lawful for the town board of any town in the counties of Livingston, Orleans or Greene at any regular or special meeting to vote a sum of money not exceeding one hundred dollars in any year, and for the town board of any town in the counties of Oneida or Wayne at a regular or special meeting to vote a sum of money not exceeding two hundred dollars in any year, for the purpose of assisting in defraying the rental of rooms for the holding of meetings of any post of the Grand Army of the Republic, located in such town. In case there is a post in a town adjoining a town in which no post is located, whose membership includes at least ten residents of such town having no post, it shall be lawful for the town board of such town having no post, at any regular or special meeting, to vote any sum of money, not exceeding fifty dollars in any year, for the purpose of assisting in defraying the rental of rooms in such adjoining town, for the holding of meetings of a post of the Grand Army of the Republic. All moneys hereby authorized shall be assessed, levied and collected the same as other town expenses and shall be paid to the quartermaster of such post by the supervisor, on proof to such supervisor that the post is not receiving under the provisions of this article from a town or towns more than the actual rental of such rooms. [Town Law, § 137, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 465, L. 1914, ch. 156, L. 1915, ch. 413, and L. 1917, ch. 339; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6189.]

§ 22. TOWN BOARD MAY BORROW MONEY TO PAY JUDGMENTS AGAINST TOWN.

Whenever a final judgment recovered against a town exceeds one thousand dollars, the town board of such town may borrow the sum necessary to pay such judgment by the issue of bonds to be signed by the supervisor and attested by the town clerk. Such bonds shall become due within twenty years from the date of issue, and unless the whole amount of the indebtedness represented thereby is to be paid within five years from their date, they shall be so issued as to provide for the payment of the indebtedness in equal annual instalments, the first of which shall be payable not more than five years from their date. They shall bear interest at a rate not exceeding five per centum per annum, and shall be sold for not less than their par value. They shall be sold on sealed proposals or at public auction, upon notice published in a paper printed in the town, if any, and also in such other papers as may be designated by the town board, and posted in at least five public places in the town, at least ten days before the sale, to the person who will take them at the lowest rate of interest. Such bonds shall be consecutively numbered from one to the highest number issued, and the town clerk shall keep a record of the number of each bond, its date, amount, rate of interest, when and where payable, and the purchaser thereof or the person to whom they are issued. [Town Law, § 139; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6190.]

§ 23. ADDITIONAL APPROPRIATIONS FOR MEMORIAL DAY UPON THE ADOPTION OF A PROPOSITION THEREFOR.

Upon the adoption of a proposition therefor, by the qualified electors of the town entitled to vote thereon, as hereinafter provided, the town board of any town may appropriate from town funds a sum not exceeding the amount which it is authorized by the provisions of this section to raise by tax for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the proper observance of Memorial or Decoration day, in addition to any moneys which such town board is authorized to provide for by section one hundred and thirty-six of this chapter. A proposition directing the appropriation of town moneys for the additional expenses of the proper observance of Memorial or Decoration day, under the provisions of this section may be submitted to the electors of the town qualified to vote thereon at a biennial or special town meeting in the manner provided in this chapter for the submission of propositions for raising or appropriating money, except that no such proposition shall be submitted unless at least ten per centum of the qualified voters of the town unite in a written application therefor addressed to the town clerk. Such proposition shall be deemed adopted if it receive the affirmative vote of a majority of the qualified electors voting thereon. Moneys appropriated for the purposes of this section shall be raised by taxation in the same manner as other town expenses, but shall not exceed in any one year a sum equal to twenty-five hundredths of a mill on each dollar of the assessed valuation of property in the town according to the assessment-roll last preceding the date of submission of the proposition. A proposition adopted as aforesaid shall continue in force until rescinded by a proposition submitted and adopted in like manner, but not more than one such proposition either directing the appropriation or rescinding a former proposition shall be adopted in any one year. Moneys appropriated under the provisions of this section shall be kept separate and apart from those provided for in section one hundred and thirty-six of this chapter and shall be expended under the direction of the town board. [Town Law, § 136-a, as added by L. 1912, ch. 185, and amended by L. 1915, ch. 412.]

CHAPTER XXIX.

LICENSES BY TOWN BOARDS.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

Licenses in Towns.

A town board as the governing board of a town has much the same power in regulating the granting of licenses to peddlers and other persons desiring to transact business in streets and public places as is possessed by common councils in cities and boards of trustees in villages.

The Town Law authorizes a town board to prohibit hawking and peddling of goods and produce, either in the streets or by calling from house to house, without a license. There are certain limitations on this power, as in case of selling meats, fish, fruit or farm produce. If a person peddles goods, wares or merchandise produced in any foreign country, other than groceries and provisions, he must not only be licensed as provided by regulation of a town board, but he must also have a license issued by the Secretary of State.

It is expressly provided by § 81, post, of the General Municipal Law that a town board shall not regulate or prohibit the hawking and peddling of farm produce. Where a town board has passed an ordinance or regulation requiring a license for peddling or hawking, a person who refuses to show such a license when demanded by a peace officer for the purpose of inspection, is liable to a penalty of twenty-five dollars, recoverable by the supervisor. He is also guilty of a misdemeanor.

A town board may also regulate the transaction of a transient retail business in any store in the town, for the sale of damaged or bankrupt goods. No such business may be conducted without a license to be issued upon the payment of a license fee to be fixed by the town board, at not exceeding fifty dollars and not less than ten dollars a month.

Town Law, § 210.

Town boards are also authorized, in towns of more than 3,000 population outside of villages, to license hacks, shows, concerts and public amusements.

SECTION 1. Town board may prohibit hawking and peddling without a license; not to apply in certain cases.
2. Licenses to be issued by town clerk and endorsed by supervisor; effect of license.
3. Hawking and peddling by soldiers, sailors and marines; license therefor.
4. Peddling and hawking farm produce.
5. Penalty for peddling or hawking without a license; refusal to show license, effect of.
6. Unlawful hawking or peddling, or refusal to produce a license a misdemeanor.
7. Transacting retail business for sale of bankrupt or damaged goods without a license; town board to fix license fee; supervisor to issue license.
7a. Taxation of transient merchants.
8. Town board may license hacks, venders, shows, concerts and public amusements; rules and regulations therefor; penalty for violation.
9. Regulation of junk business; junk dealers to be licensed by town supervisor.
10. Restrictions or regulations not to discriminate against non-residents.
11. Exhibitions and entertainments on fair grounds to be exempt from license.

§ 1. TOWN BOARD MAY PROHIBIT HAWKING AND PEDDLING WITHOUT A LICENSE; NOT TO APPLY IN CERTAIN CASES.

The town board of any town may, by resolution, prohibit the hawking and peddling of goods or produce in public streets or places, or the vending of the same by calls from house to house, without a license; but such prohibition shall not apply to the peddling of meats, fish, fruit or farm produce,[1] to the sale by sample or prospectus of goods, books or other merchandise where the same are not delivered at the time the order therefor is taken, or to peddling by any person or corporation in this state, provided no sale is made by such person or corporation of dry goods, clothing, drugs or articles of food, and all sales are wholly or partly by barter for merchandise, or so as to require a license from an honorably discharged soldier, sailor or marine of the military or naval service of the United States, who has obtained a license from the county clerk to hawk, peddle, vend or solicit trade, in pursuance of law.[2] [Town Law, § 210; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6202.]

§ 2. LICENSES TO BE ISSUED BY TOWN CLERK AND ENDORSED BY SUPERVISOR; EFFECT OF LICENSE.

If any such occupation in any town shall be so prohibited, the town board thereof shall establish uniform annual fees for such licenses, and the town clerk shall issue a license, specifying the fee to be paid therefor, to any citizen of the United States, applying therefor, that he deems a suitable person to pursue such calling. Upon the presentation of such license to the supervisor of the town, and the payment to him of the fee specified therein, the supervisor shall endorse upon the license a receipt of such payment and the date thereof. Such license shall take effect from the date of such payment, and shall continue in force for the term specified therein. Such license shall not be issued for a longer term than one year nor for a shorter term than three months. Any applicant that has been refused such license by the town clerk may apply to the town board therefor, and the same may be granted or refused by the board. [Town Law, § 211; B. C. &. G. Cons. L., p. 6202.]

§ 3. HAWKING AND PEDDLING BY SOLDIERS, SAILORS AND MARINES; LICENSE THEREFOR.

Every honorably discharged soldier, sailor or marine of the military or naval service of the United States, who is a resident of this state and

2. Hawking and peddling generally. As to hawking and peddling by soldiers, sailors and marines, see General Business Law, § 31.

By article 4 of the General Business Law, a person traveling from place to place within this state for the purpose of selling or exposing for sale of any goods, wares or merchandise of the growth, product or manufacture of any foreign country, other than family groceries and provisions, must secure a license as a peddler from the secretary of state. The provisions of such article do not affect the application of any ordinance, by-law or regulation adopted by a town board relating to hawkers and peddlers within the limits of such town. But the provisions of such article are to be complied with in addition to the requirements of any such ordinance, by-law or regulation. See General Business Law, § 35. It follows, therefore, that no person can peddle from house to house in a town goods, wares, or merchandise of the growth or manufacture of a foreign country without securing a license from the secretary of state, and also complying with the rules and regulations of the town board as to peddling in the town.

Liability for false imprisonment. Where information is presented to a justice of the peace, alleging the violation of a resolution or ordinance passed by a town board, jurisdiction is given to the justice; if the person arrested is discharged because the resolution related only to non-residents of the town, the person who presented the information is not liable for false imprisonment. Gilbert v. Satterlee, 101 App. Div. 313, 91 N. Y. Supp. 960.

a veteran of the late rebellion, or of the Spanish-American war, or who shall have served beyond the sea, shall have the right to hawk, peddle, vend and sell by auction his own goods, wares or merchandise or solicit trade within this state, by procuring a license for that purpose to be issued as herein provided.

On the presentation to the clerk of any county in which any soldier, sailor or marine may reside, of a certificate of honorable discharge from the army or navy of the United States, which discharge shall show that the person presenting it is a veteran of the late rebellion, or of the Spanish-American war, or that he has served beyond the sea, such county clerk shall issue without cost to such soldier, sailor or marine a license certifying him to be entitled to the benefits of this article.[3] A license issued without cost, under the provisions of this section, shall be personal to the licensee, and any assignment or transfer thereof shall be absolutely void. A person assigning or transferring, or attempting to assign or transfer any such license contrary to the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [General Business Law, § 32, as amended by L. 1915, ch. 175; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1810.]

§ 4. PEDDLING AND HAWKING FARM PRODUCE.

The governing board of a municipal corporation shall not by ordinance or otherwise regulate or prohibit the pursuit or exercise of hawking and peddling farm produce except hay and straw within the limits of any such municipal corporation, if such farm produce is hawked or peddled by the producer thereof, or his servants or employees; nor shall the governing board of any such municipal corporation pass an ordinance requiring such producer of farm produce to secure a license for peddling and hawking such farm produce within the limits of such municipal corporation.[3a] Nothing contained herein shall affect any pending action or proceeding to

3. Municipal regulations. A license to peddle granted under this article does not relieve the licensee from compliance with municipal regulations as to licenses. City of Buffalo v. Linsmann, 113 App. Div. 584, 98 N. Y. Supp. 737.

A veteran who holds a license under this section which entitles him to peddle goods anywhere in the state, must nevertheless observe such municipal ordinances as are designed to prevent obstruction of the public streets. Eggleston v. Scheibel, 60 Misc. 250, 112 N. Y. Supp. 114.

An ordinance which prohibits any person from selling peanuts or popcorn from a vehicle, unless drawn by a horse or horses, is unlawful, because it unreasonably discriminates against those who might engage in such business from vehicles drawn by hand. recover penalties imposed for violations of existing ordinances and regulations. Nothing in this section shall be construed to permit wagons from which farm produce is sold to stand in front of stores or private residences for a longer time than may be necessary for the sale and delivery of produce purchased by the occupants of such stores or residences; nor to permit the congregating of such wagons upon any street or thoroughfare not set apart by the municipality as a public market for the sale of farm produce. This section shall not apply to cities of the first class. [General Municipal Law, § 81; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 2135.]

§ 5. PENALTY FOR PEDDLING OR HAWKING WITHOUT A LICENSE; REFUSAL TO SHOW LICENSE, EFFECT OF.

Every person hawking or peddling goods or produce in the public streets or places, or vending the same by calls from house to house, in any town, the town board of which requires a license for the pursuit of such calling, without having obtained such license, or who refuses to produce such a license to any peace officer who demands inspection of the same, shall be liable to a penalty of twenty-five dollars, recoverable by the supervisor of the town in any court having jurisdiction thereof, and applicable to the support of the poor of the town. The refusal to produce such a license when demanded by a peace officer shall be presumptive evidence that such person is hawking, peddling or vending without a license. An action for a penalty imposed by this section shall not be maintained unless it is brought within sixty days after the commission of the offense charged.[4] [Town Law, § 212; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6202.]

§ 6. UNLAWFUL HAWKING OR PEDDLING, OR REFUSAL TO PRODUCE A LICENSE A MISDEMEANOR.

Any person who hawks, peddles or vends wtihout a license in any town, as required by this article, or contrary to the terms of his license, or who refuses to produce his license on the demand of a peace officer is guilty of a misdemeanor. [Town Law, § 213; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6203.]

Niagara and Orleans counties excepted. Niagara and Orleans counties are hereby excepted from the provisions of the last four sections of this chapter. [Town Law, § 214; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6203.]

§ 7. TRANSACTING RETAIL BUSINESS FOR SALE OF BANKRUPT OR DAMAGED GOODS WITHOUT A LICENSE; TOWN BOARD TO FIX LICENSE FEE; SUPERVISOR TO ISSUE LICENSE.

No person whether acting as principal or as agent for another, shall conduct a transient retail business in any store in any city of the third class, village or town of this state for the sale of goods which shall be represented or advertised as a bankrupt stock, or as assigned stock, or as goods damaged by fire, water or otherwise, or by any such like representation or device, without first taking out a license therefor from the mayor of such city, president of such village or the supervisor

4. Penal provision. By section 1610 of the Penal Law it is provided that: "A person who is found trading as a peddler without a license or contrary to the terms of his license, or who refuses to produce his license on demand of any officer or citizen is guilty of a misdemeanor."

of such town. The amount of the fee for such license in any city shall be fixed by resolution duly passed by the board of aldermen or common council, and in a village by resolution duly passed by the board of trustees of such village; and in a town by resolution of the town board of such town. Such fee shall not be less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars per month in a city or an incorporated village, and not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars per month in a town. No such license shall be issued for a less period than one month and it shall be renewed monthly during the continuance of such business. The sum paid as license fees shall, in a city or village, be paid to the treasurer of such city or village, and in a town to the supervisor thereof, to be used for city, village or town purposes.

Any person as principal or agent conducting a transient retail business as described in this section, without obtaining a license therefor, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined a sum not less than one hundred dollars nor more than two hundred dollars, and in default of the payment thereof shall be imprisoned for a period of not more than sixty days.[4a] [General Municipal Law, § 85; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 2136.]

The legislative body of a city, the town board of a town or the board of trustees of a village has power to provide that a tax shall be levied upon all persons or corporations conducting transient retail business therein, and may provide for the collection of such tax by requiring a permit and bond, cash deposit or other security before the commencement of business by such persons or corporations. Such tax shall be based upon the gross amount of sales and shall be at the same rate as other property is taxed for the year in such city, town or village. If at the time such tax becomes due and payable, the tax rate for the current year of such city, town or village has not been fixed, the same shall be estimated by the assessors thereof. An ordinance or resolution providing for a tax hereunder may require verified reports to be filed from time to time relating to stock and sales, and may make such further requirements as may be necessary in order to determine the amount of such tax, and to provide for the collection thereof. A transient business is one conducted in a store, hotel, house, building or structure for the sale at retail of goods, wares or merchandise, excepting food products, and which is intended to be conducted for a temporary period of time and not permanently. If the place in which a business is conducted is rented or leased for a period of two months or less, such fact shall be presumptive evidence that the business carried on therein is a transient business. Any person or corporation failing to pay said tax, or failing to obey the provisions of an ordinance or resolution adopted hereunder, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [General Municipal Law, § 85a, as added by L. 1917, ch. 199.]

§ 8. TOWN BOARD MAY LICENSE HACKS, VENDERS, SHOWS, CONCERTS AND PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS; RULES AND REGULATIONS THEREFOR; PENALTY FOR VIOLATION.

License fees, how fixed, collected and applied.—The supervisor, justice of the peace and town clerk of any town are hereby authorized and empowered to license and regulate all public hacks, vehicles, vendors, shows, concerts, public amusements, merry-go-rounds, carousals, toboggan slides, ferris wheels, rope dancing, loop-the-loop, public gardens, tragedy, comedy, opera, ballet, play, farce, minstrelsy or dancing, or any other entertainment of the stage, or any part or parts thereof, or any

4-a. Constitutionality of the provision, requiring certain transient retail dealers to obtain licenses from local authorities before doing business, cannot be sustained as an exercise of either the police power or of the power of taxation, and, hence is unconstitutional. People ex rel. Moskowitz v. Jenkins (1911), 202 N. Y. 53, revg. 140 App. Div. 786, 125 N. Y. Supp. 817.

equestrian, circus or dramatic performance, or any performance of jugglers or acrobats in such town outside of an incorporated city or village, and to fix the fee to be paid for the persons so licensed to said officers, which money so collected shall be paid over to the supervisors of such town within thirty days after the receipt of the same, and the said supervisor shall, after deducting the necessary expenses for carrying out the provisions of this article place the same in the general town fund. [Town Law, § 215, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 496; B. C. and G. Cons. L., p. 6203.]

Rules and regulations.—The said officers shall have power to make and establish such rules, regulations and ordinances not inconsistent with the laws of this state, as they may deem necessary for the proper regulation of such hacks, vehicles, venders, shows, concerts, public amusements, merry-go-rounds, carousals, toboggan slides, ferris wheels, rope dancing, loop-the-loop, public gardens, tragedy, comedy, opera, ballet, play, farce, minstrelsy or dancing, or any other entertainment of the stage, or any part or parts thereof, or any equestrian, circus or dramatic performance, or any performance of jugglers or acrobats. Such rules, regulations and ordinances shall be posted in at least ten public places in such town. [Town Law, § 216; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6203.]

Licenses required, and violation of act a misdemeanor.—It shall not be lawful, in any town where the officers mentioned in this article shall have made and established rules, regulations and ordinances as in this article provided for, to conduct, or operate, any public hacks, vehicles or peddling or to maintain, operate, carry on or exhibit any shows, concerts, public amusements, merry-go-rounds, carousals, toboggan slides. ferris wheels, rope dancing, loop-the-loop, public gardens, tragedy, comedy, opera, ballet, play, farce, minstrelsy or dancing, or any other entertainment of the stage, or any part or parts thereof, or any equestrian, circus or dramatic performance, or any performance of jugglers or acrobats, until a license for conducting, maintaining, carrying on, and exhibiting the same shall have been first had and obtained, signed by the supervisor and town clerk of any such town, and each and every violation of the provisions of this article shall be a misdemeanor. [Town Law, § 217; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6204.]

Offenders; where tried.—Subject to the power of removal provided for in part one, chapter one, title six of the code of criminal procedure, courts of special sessions in any such town have, in the first instances, exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine charges of violating the provisions of this article and all violations of any rule, regulation or ordinance established by the officers of any such towns as provided for in this article; and any person violating the provisions of this article, or any rule, regulation or ordinance established by said officers as in this article provided for, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [Town Law, § 218; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6204.]

Injunction by town authorities.—In case any person shall operate or conduct any public hack, vehicle or peddling or shall open, advertise to open, operate, maintain or conduct any show, concert, public entertainment, merry-go-round, carousal, toboggan slide, ferris wheel, rope dancing, loop-the-loop, public garden, tragedy, comedy, opera, ballet, play, farce, minstrelsy or dancing, or any other entertainment of the stage, or any part or parts thereof, or any equestrian, circus, or dramatic performance or any performance of jugglers or acrobats in any town without first obtaining a license therefor as provided for by this article or as provided for by the rules, regulations and ordinances adopted by any town as herein provided for, it shall, and may be lawful for the town, in its corporate name, to apply to the supreme court, or any justice thereof, for an injunction to restrain the opening, carrying on, or maintaining thereof, until he shall have complied with the requisites of this article and of the rules, regulations and ordinances adopted by any said town in obtaining such license, which injunction may be allowed upon a complaint to be in the name of the town in the same manner as injunctions are now usually allowed by the practice of said court; and the said town is not required to give any undertaking on any such application granted or applied for under the provisions of this article. [Town Law, § 219; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6204.]

§ 9. REGULATION OF JUNK BUSINESS; JUNK DEALERS TO BE LICENSED BY TOWN SUPERVISOR.

It shall be unlawful for any person, association, partnership or corporation to engage in the business of buying or selling old metal, which business is herein designated junk business, and which person, association, partnership or corporation is herein designated junk dealer, unless such junk dealer shall have complied with the provisions of this article and obtained a license so to do from the mayor of the city, if the principal place of business of such junk dealer is in a city, or the president of the village if such place of business is in an incorporated village, otherwise from the supervisor of the town in which such place of business is located; for which license shall be paid such mayor, president or supervisor for the use of such city, village or town, the sum of five dollars, which license shall expire on June thirtieth of each year. [General Business Law, § 60; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1816.]

Persons not entitled to license.—No person, association, partnership or corporation shall be entitled to or receive such license who or which,

and in case of a partnership or association any member of which, has been since January first, nineteen hundred and three, or who or which shall hereafter be convicted of larceny or knowingly receiving stolen property, or of a violation of this act. [Idem, § 61; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1816.]

Statement required from persons selling certain property.—On purchasing any pig or pigs of metal, bronze or brass casting or parts thereof, sprues or gates or parts thereof, copper wire or brass car journals, such junk dealer shall cause to be subscribed by the person from whom purchased a statement as to when, where and from whom he obtained such property, also his age, residence by city, village or town, and the street and number thereof, if any, and otherwise such description as will reasonably locate the same, his occupation and name of his employer and place of employment or business, which statement the junk dealer shall forthwith file in the office of the chief of police of the city or village in which the purchase was made, if made in a city or incorporated village, and otherwise in the office of the sheriff of the county in which made. [Idem, § 62, as amended by L. 1918, ch. 20; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1816.]

Certain property to be kept in certain piles.—Every junk dealer shall on purchasing any of the property described in the last section place and keep each separate purchase in a separate and distinct pile, bundle or package, in the usual place of business of such junk dealer, without removing, melting, cutting or destroying any article thereof, for a period of five days immediately succeeding such purchase, on which package, bundle or pile shall be placed and kept by such dealer a tag bearing the name and residence of the seller, with the date, hour and place of purchase, and the weight thereof. [Idem, § 63; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1816.]

Penalty.—Each violation of this act, either by the junk dealer, the agent or servant thereof, and each false statement made in or on any statement or tag above mentioned shall be a misdemanor, and the person convicted shall, in addition to other penalties imposed, forfeit his license to do business. But nothing herein contained shall apply to cities of the first class. [Idem, § 64; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 1817.]

§ 10. RESTRICTIONS OR REGULATIONS NOT TO DISCRIMINATE AGAINST NONRESIDENTS.

Any restriction or regulation imposed by the governing board of a municipal corporation upon the inhabitants of any other municipal corporation within this state, carrying on or desiring to carry on any lawful business or calling within the limits thereof, which shall not be necessary for the proper regulation of such trade, business or calling, and shall not apply to citizens of all parts of the state alike, except ordinances or regulations in reference to traveling circuses, shows and exhibitions, shall be void.[5] [General Municipal Law, § 80; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 2134.]

§ 11. EXHIBITIONS AND ENTERTAINMENTS ON FAIR GROUNDS TO BE EXEMPT FROM LICENSE.

The provisions of any special or local law or municipal ordinance, requiring the payment of a license fee for exhibitions or entertainments, shall not apply to any exhibition or entertainment held on the grounds of a town or county fair association, if the association derives a pecuniary profit from such exhibition or entertainment by the lease of its grounds for such purpose, or otherwise. [Membership Corporations Law, § 197; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 3449.]

CHAPTER XXX.

FIRE PROTECTION; WATER, LIGHT AND SEWER SYSTEMS; SIDEWALKS.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

Fire Companies in Towns.

It is sometimes desirable in towns having thickly settled communities which are not incorporated as villages, to provide therein for fire protection. The law authorizes the town board in such cases to organize fire companies. Such companies are permitted to choose their own officers and adopt rules for their government. All vacancies in such companies are filled by the town board, although it would be proper to make such appointments on recommendation of the companies.

Where such a company is organized the electors of the district served by such company may vote to purchase necessary fire apparatus. The cost thereof is to be levied upon the taxable property of the district.

Water Supply District; Water-Works.

A town board may establish a water supply district outside of any incorporated village in the town. Where such a district is established, the town board may contract with village water commissioners to furnish water for fire, sanitary or other public purpose to such district. Such a contract may also be made with a water works company. The rental to be paid for the use of the water is primarily a charge upon the town, but must be levied upon the taxable property in the district.

Provision is also made in the Town Law for the purchase of existing water works. Town bonds may be issued therefor which are to be paid, principal and interest, by tax levied against the taxable property of the district. It is also provided that a town may construct its own water works system at the cost of a water supply district established by the town board.

Explanatory note.

Street Lighting Districts.

Lighting districts may be established in towns where circumstances warrant it. In such cases the town board may contract for the lighting of streets and public places in such districts, upon such terms and for such periods, not exceeding ten years, as they may deem proper or expedient. No such contract may be made unless petitioned for by a majority of the taxpayers of the district. The expense incurred is assessed and levied on the taxable property in the district.

Establishment of Sewer System.

A sewer system may be established by a town board in a prescribed district in the town, outside of an incorporated village. The town board acts upon the petition of a majority of the taxpayers representing a majority of the taxable property in the district. The petition must describe the proposed district. The town board upon establishing the system must appoint three taxpayers of the district as sewer commissioners. These commissioners are to construct the sewer as provided by law.

SECTION 1. Town board may appoint members of fire companies outside of incorporated villages; electors of highway district may vote to purchase fire apparatus.
2. Town board may establish water supply districts.
3. Water works corporations must furnish water to town; town board may establish water supply district; expense chargeable upon district.
4. Purchase of water works by town.
5. Establishment of water districts in towns.
5a. Town boards may establish joint water supply districts; petition; map; expenses, how paid; action by joint town boards; contract for water supply; levy of taxes for payment of amount of contract.
6. Town boards may establish street lighting districts and contract for the lighting of streets therein; petition therefor; notice to be published; amount of contract, how raised.
6a. Lighting contracts in town and village.
7. Town board may establish sewer system; petition.
8. Sidewalk districts established.
9. Contracts for improvements; improvements, how paid for.
10. Control over sidewalks.
11. Proceedings for constructing sidewalks not constructed under the preceding sections.

§ 1. TOWN BOARD MAY APPOINT MEMBERS OF FIRE COMPANIES OUTSIDE OF INCORPORATED VILLAGES; ELECTORS OF HIGHWAY DISTRICT MAY VOTE TO PURCHASE FIRE APPARATUS.

The town board of any town may appoint in writing, any number of inhabitants of their town, which they may deem necessary, to be a fire company or companies for the extinguishment of fires in their town. [Town Law, § 310, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 408, and L. 1912, ch. 238; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6221.]

Town Law, §§ 311, 312, 313.

Establishment of rules and regulations by fire company.—Each fire company, thus formed, shall choose a captain and clerk thereof, and may establish such by-laws and regulations as may be necessary to enforce the performance, by such firemen, of their duty, and may impose such penalties, not exceeding five dollars for each offense, as may be necessary for that purpose. Such penalties may be collected by and in the name of the captains, in any court having cognizance thereof, and, when collected, shall be expended by the companies for the repair and preservation of their engines and apparatus for the extinguishment of fires. [Town Law, § 311; B. C. & G. Cons L., p. 6221.]

Vacancies in fire company.—All vacancies which may, at any time happen in such companies by death, resignation or otherwise, shall, from time to time, be filled by the town board. [Town Law, § 312; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6221.]

Appropriations for fire company.—The electors of any water district, highway district, town fire district or water supply district, in which any town fire company shall have their headquarters, at a special meeting lawfully called by the town clerk, who is hereby authorized to call such special meeting, may vote, by ballot, a sum of money, not exceeding four thousand dollars, except that in any such district in a town within a county having more than three hundred thousand inhabitants according to the last state census, and adjoining a city of the first class, such sum shall not exceed ten thousand dollars, for the purchase of a fire engine and apparatus for the extinguishment of fires, and for the purchase or lease or other acquisition of suitable buildings and grounds for keeping and storing such fire engine and apparatus for the extinguishment of fires, and other property of said water district, highway district or water supply district, and an additional sum for the maintenance and operation of the engines, apparatus and buildings and of said fire company or companies within such district for the ensuing year. And whenever said electors shall so vote said money for the purchase of a fire engine and apparatus for the extinguishment of fires, and for the purchase or lease or other acquisition of suitable buildings and grounds for keeping and storing such fire engine and apparatus for the extinguishment of fires, and other property of said water district, highway district, town fire district or water supply district, the water commissioners in water districts and the town boards in highway and water supply districts or town fire districts where no board of town fire commissioners has been established, and the boards of town fire commissioners in town fire districts may contract for and purchase for such district a good and sufficient fire engine and apparatus for the extinguishment of fires, and may contract for and purchase or lease or otherwise acquire for such district suitable buildings and grounds for keeping and storing such fire engine and apparatus for the extinguishment of fires, and other property of said district at a price not to exceed the sum so voted therefor, which engine and apparatus for the extinguishment of fires, and buildings and grounds, shall be the property of said water district, highway district, town fire district or water supply district, but may be used and cared for by such fire company or companies under the direction and control of the water commissioners in water districts and the town board in highway and water supply districts and in town fire districts where no board of town fire commissioners has been established; all of which boards shall in such cases respectively have such powers and duties as are hereafter in this article provided for boards of town fire commissioners. [Town Law, § 313, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 408, L. 1912, ch. 238, L. 1916, ch. 226, and L. 1917, ch. 577; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6221.]

In any such district authorized to raise more than four thousand dollars, as in the last section provided, if the amount so voted shall exceed in amount one-fourth of one per centum of the aggregate assessed valuation of the real property within such district, as shown by the last preceding town assessment roll, and request so to do is made of the town board by the governing commission, or board, of such district, it shall be the duty of such town board to raise the amount of money so voted by the issue and sale of bonds. Such bonds shall be signed by the supervisor and attested by the town clerk, and shall be paid in five equal annual installments, the first of which shall become due not more than eighteen months from their date. Such bonds shall bear such rate of interest not exceeding six per centum per annum, and be in such form as the town board of such town may approve and shall be sold at public sale by the supervisor of such town for not less than their par value. Such bonds shall be consecutively numbered from one to the highest number issued, and the town clerk shall keep a record of the number of each bond, its date, amount, rate of interest, when and where payable and the purchaser thereof, or the person to whom they are issued. Such bonds shall be a charge upon the town and the amount necessary to pay said bonds and the interest thereon as the same becomes due shall be collected from the property within such district. [Town Law, § 313a, as added by L. 1917, ch. 577.]

In any town in which bonds are issued as in the last section provided, the town board shall annually transmit a statement of the amount due for the payment of said bonds and interest to the board of supervisors of the county. Such board of supervisors shall levy such sums against the property liable, and the amount of such taxes shall be extended against such property in a separate column of the annual tax roll of such town. Such taxes when collected shall be paid to the supervisor and by him applied in payment of such bonds and interest. [Town Law, § 313b, as added by L. 1917, ch. 577.]

Assessments for expense of maintaining fire company.—The purchase price of said fire engine and apparatus or other apparatus for the extinguishment of fires, and buildings and grounds, and the expense of maintaining said fire engine and apparatus for the extinguishment of fires and other property and apparatus and for maintaining said fire company or companies shall be assessed and levied upon the property of said district and collected in the same manner as other town charges are assessed, levied and collected, except that in the case of a water district, highway district or water supply district the amount thereof shall be put in a separate column upon the tax-roll, and the board of supervisors of the county shall cause the sum as certified by the town board, to be levied upon the taxable property of such water district, highway district or water supply district. The funds so collected shall be paid by the collector to the supervisor of the town who shall apply the same to the expenses incurred pursuant to the provisions of this article, by paying the same on the order of the board authorized by the provisions of this article to purchase, direct and control said engines, apparatus, buildings and grounds.[1] [Town Law, § 314, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 408, L. 1912, ch. 238, and L. 1916, ch. 226; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6222.]

Town fire companies in incorporated cities and villages.—No such fire company, as herein provided, shall be formed in any incorporated city or village unless such incorporated city or village pays a highway tax in or to such highway district, in which case such fire company or companies may be formed to include the whole or any part of such incorporated city or village, with the consent of the board of trustees or other body performing like duties of such city or village. [Town Law, § 314a, added by L. 1912, ch. 238, in effect April 9, 1912.]

Incorporated fire companies.—Upon the written petition of a majority of the resident taxpayers of any water district, highway district or water supply district in which any incorporated fire company shall have its headquarters, the town board of any town may make a contract with any such incorporated fire company for fire protection to be furnished within such water district, highway district or water supply district for a sum not to exceed in any one year ten cents upon each one hundred dollars of assessed valuation of taxable property lying within such water district, highway district or water supply district, as appears by the last preceding town assessment-roll of said town, and for a period not exceeding five years at any one time. The amount of any contract that may be entered into pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be assessed, levied and collected upon the taxable property in said district in the same manner, at the same time

1. Fire districts. Fire districts outside of incorporated villages are established by boards of supervisors upon the petition of the taxable inhabitants of a proposed fire district. In districts so established fire commissioners are elected by the electors residing therein who have control of all matters pertaining to fire protection including the organization of fire, hook and ladder, and hose companies. See County Law, sec. 38, ante, p. 74.

The above sections contemplate the organization of town fire companies. And it is also provided that the electors of any highway district may appropriate money for the purchase of a fire engine and apparatus. The above section is independent of section 38 of the County Law, and provides for fire protection without the establishment by the board of supervisors of a fire district.

and by the same officers as the taxes, charges or expenses of said town are now assessed, levied and collected and the same shall be paid over by the supervisor to the corporation or incorporated fire company furnishing such fire protection. This section shall apply to a water supply district formed under the provisions of section eighty-one of the transportation corporations law, as well as to water districts, highway districts or water supply districts formed under the provisions of this chapter. No such contract shall be made, however, with any such fire corporation unless it has, in the opinion of the town board, suitable apparatus and appliances for the furnishing of such fire protection in said district. [Town Law, § 314b, as added by L. 1913, ch. 392.]

Town board may contract for fire protection, et cetera.—The town board of a town, upon the written petition of a majority of the resident taxpayers in territory adjoining a city or incorporated village and wholly without such city or village, may establish such territory as a fire district for the purposes of this section, by filing in the office of the town clerk a certificate describing the boundaries thereof. Upon the written petition of a majority of the resident taxpayers of any water district, highway district, water supply district or fire district adjoining a city or an incorporated village, having a fire department or an incorporated fire company therein, the town board of any town may make a contract with any such city or incorporated village for fire protection to be furnished within such water district, highway district, water supply district or fire district for a sum not to exceed in any one year ten cents upon each one hundred dollars of assessed valuation of taxable property lying within such water district, highway district, water supply district or fire district as appears by the last preceding town assessment-roll of said town and for a period not exceeding five years at any one time. The amount of any contract that may be entered into pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be assessed, levied and collected upon the taxable property in said district in the same manner, at the same time and by the same officers as the taxes, charges or expenses of said town are now assessed, levied and collected and the same shall be paid over by the supervisor to the city or incorporated village furnishing such fire protection. This section shall apply to a water supply district formed under the provisions of section eighty-one of the transportation corporations law, as well as to water districts, highway districts, water supply districts or fire districts formed under the provisions of this chapter. No such contract shall be made, however, with any such city or incorporated village unless it has in the opinion of the town board suitable apparatus and appliances for the furnishing of such fire protection in said district. [Town Law, § 314c, as added by L. 1917, ch. 364, and amended by L. 1918, ch 69.]

Ordinances.—The board of water commissioners in any water district, established pursuant to this chapter, and the town board in any highway district, town fire district or water supply district may adopt ordinances, not inconsistent with law, relating to fire protection, the prevention and extinguishment of fires and conduct thereat within said district, and to regulate or prevent the discharge of fireworks and fire-arms and to regulate the use of inflammable materials and the storing, sale and transportation of gunpowder and other explosives within said district, and may enforce the observance thereof by the imposition of penalties. [Town Law, § 315, as added by L. 1910, ch. 408, and amended by L. 1912, ch. 238, and L. 1916, ch. 226.]

Town fire districts; boards of town fire commissioners.— The town board of a town may, with the consent of the proper board or officers of any water supply district, or highway district, or fire district, maintaining fire apparatuses, and the boards of trustees, or other like bodies performing such duties, of all incorporated cities or villages wholly within such town, establish a town fire district, the boundaries of which shall be the same as the boundaries of the town, and transfer to said town fire district all property held by the town for the purpose of extinguishment of fires. The town board of any town where such town fire district is established may, on like consent, by resolution establish a board of town fire commissioners, consisting of three members, and shall appoint the first members of such board for the term of one, two and three years, respectively; and shall thereafter appoint successors to such members for the term of three years, and shall fill vacancies in said board of town fire commissioners. [Town Law, § 316, as added by L. 1916, ch. 226.]

Powers and duties of boards of town fire commissioners.— Such board of town fire commissioners shall have the care, custody and control of all property belonging to the town fire district; may, on the conditions prescribed in this article, purchase fire engines, and other apparatus for the extinguishment of fires within the town, purchase, lease, otherwise acquire and maintain suitable and necessary buildings and grounds for the keeping and storing thereof; may construct and maintain reservoirs and cisterns and supply them with water for use at fires; shall have the exclusive power to organize a town fire company or companies by appointment in the manner provided in this article for appointment by the town board, and to fill vacancies in such company or companies; may adopt rules for the admission, suspension, removal and discipline of the members and officers of such company or companies; may prescribe their respective powers and duties and fix their compensation; may appoint persons other than members or officers of the company or companies to take charge of and operate the property of the fire district, and may fix their compensation; shall have the control and supervision of such members, officers and employees, may direct their conduct at fires and prescribe methods for extinguishing fires; and may inquire into the cause and origin of fires occurring in the town and may take testimony in relation thereto; and may expend for the maintenance and operation of the engines, and other apparatus for the extinguishment of fires, and other property and for maintaining said fire company or companies a sum in each year, not exceeding the sum voted for such purposes as prescribed in this article. [Town Law, § 317, as added by L. 1916, ch. 226.]

§ 2. TOWN BOARD MAY ESTABLISH WATER SUPPLY DISTRICTS.

The town board of any town may establish one or more water supply districts in such town outside of an incorporated village therein, by filing a certificate, describing the bounds of any such district, in the office of the town clerk; and may contract in the name of the town for the delivery, by the water commissioners of a village owning a system of waterworks, of a supply of water through hydrants or otherwise, for fire, sanitary or other public purposes, to such districts, and the whole town shall be bound by such contract, but the rental or expense thereof shall annually, in the same manner as other expenses of the town are raised, be assessed, levied upon and collected only from the taxable property within such water supply district. Such money when collected, shall be kept as a separate fund and be paid over to such board of water commissioners by the supervisor of the town, according to the terms and conditions of any such contract.[2] [Town Law, § 281; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6215.]

§ 3. WATER WORKS CORPORATIONS MUST FURNISH WATER TO TOWN; TOWN BOARD MAY ESTABLISH WATER SUPPLY DISTRICT; EXPENSE CHARGEABLE UPON DISTRICT.

Every such corporation shall supply the authorities or any of the inhabitants of any city, town or village through which the conduits or mains of such corporation may pass, or wherein such corporations may have organized, with pure and wholesome water at reasonable rates and cost.

The town board of any town may establish a water supply district in such town outside of a city or incorporated village therein, by filing a certificate describing the bounds thereof, in the office of the town clerk; and may contract in the name of the town for the delivery, by a corporation, subject to the provisions of this article, of a supply of water for fire, sanitary or other public purposes, to such districts, and the whole town shall be bound by such contract, but the rental or expense thereof shall annually, in the same manner as other expenses of the town are raised, be assessed, levied upon and collected only from the taxable property within such water supply district. Such money, when collected, shall be kept as a separate fund and be paid over to

2. Water districts are also to be established when the town board contracts with a water works corporation for furnishing water for fire, sanitary or other puplic purposes to any portion of the town. See Transportation Corporations Law, sec. 81. And a water district may also be established by the town board upon the petition of a majority of the owners of taxable real property in a proposed district for the purpose of making contracts for the construction and maintenance of a water system by such district. See Town Law, § 282.

The law then provides for the establishment of water districts in three cases: (1) Where it is desired to contract with the water commissioners of a village for the furnishing of water as in the above section; (2) where it is desired to contract with a water works company, and (3), where it is desired to construct and operate water works for the furnishing of water to the district and inhabitants thereof by the district itself.

such corporation by the supervisor of the town, according to the terms and conditions of any such contract. No such contract shall be made for a longer period than five years, nor for an annual expense exceeding three mills upon each dollar of the taxable property within such water supply district, provided, however, that where the population of the water supply district does not exceed one thousand inhabitants such contract may be made for a period not longer than ten years.[3] [Transportation Corporations Law, § 81, in part, B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6326.]

§ 4. PURCHASE OF WATER WORKS BY TOWN.

Town may acquire waterworks.—Any town in this state which has a contract with a water-works company for supplying such town, or any portion thereof, with water, may acquire the works, franchises and property of such water-works company, in the manner specified in sections two hundred and seventy-one to two hundred and eighty of this article. [Town Law, § 270; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6212.]

Petition of taxpayers, submission of proposition.—Upon the written petition of not less than one-tenth in number of the taxpayers of such town, who shall be assessed for at least one-tenth of the total amount of the property assessed in said town, the supervisor of the town shall ascertain the price which the water-works company will accept for its works, franchises and property, and shall submit to the lawful voters of such town

3. Establishment of water supply district. The territory supplied with water under a contract with a water company should correspond in area with the territory designated as the water supply district. A district cannot be established as including the whole town and a contract be made by the town for the supply of water to two villages occupying a very small portion of the territory of the town. Such a contract is invalid, and does not bind the town, although the company supplies water to the village in pursuance of its terms. People ex rel. Tupper Lake Water Co. v. Sisson, 75 App. Div. 138, 77 N. Y. Supp. 376 (1902), affirmed 173 N. Y. 606.

Reasonable rules and regulations may be made by a water company in order that it may fulfill its obligations. Pond v. New Rochelle Water Co., 143 App. Div. 69, 127 N. Y. Supp. 582.

There is not necessarily an unjust discrimination because different rates are charged to different consumers if the circumstances under which the water is furnished differ and the price charged in each case is reasonable. People v. Albion Water Works Co., 140 App. Div. 646, 125 N. Y. Supp. 589.

Contract with town for water supply; liability of company to taxpayer for failure to supply.—Where a water-works company contracts with a town to furnish water for fire protection to the inhabitants thereof, a taxpayer, whose buildings are destroyed by fire because of the failure of the company to keep its hydrants in good working order, and to have a sufficient head or force of water for the extinguishment of fires, cannot sue the company to recover the value of the buildings destroyed. The contract between the town and the water-works company was not made for his benefit. Smith v. Great South Bay Water Co., 82 App. Div. 427, 81 N. Y. Supp. 812 (1903).

Contracts made by a town board with reference to a water system constructed under the provisions of the Town Law, are the contracts of the town and the town alone is liable under them. People ex rel. Farley v. Winkler, 203 N. Y. 445.

at the next town meeting the question whether such works, franchises and property shall be purchased at the price specified as aforesaid. [Town Law, § 271; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6213.]

Notice of submission of question. Notice that such question will be so submitted to the voters of the town shall be given by publishing the same once a week, for at least four weeks, immediately preceding the election, in every newspaper published in said town, and by posting a copy of such notice conspicuously in the office of the clerk of such town at least thirty days prior to the day for voting; and the clerk of such town shall see that such notice is so published and posted. [Town Law, § 272; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6213.]

If vote is favorable supervisor to contract for purchase of works.—At such election each qualified voter shall be given an opportunity to vote either for or against such proposed purchase. If a majority of the votes cast on the question shall be for making the proposed purchase, the supervisor of the town shall forthwith make and enter into a contract with such water company for the transfer of such company's works, franchises and property to such town; and the said town officers are hereby authorized and empowered to enter into such contracts and to bind their respective towns thereby. And such companies are authorized and empowered to make such contracts and to do whatever is necessary to fulfill them. [Town Law, § 273; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6213.]

Company to furnish statement of debts, etc.—At the time of the making such a contract the water-works company shall make and deliver to said officers of the town a full, true and accurate statement in detail of all its debts, contracts, obligations and responsibilities of every sort, and such statement shall be verified by the president or treasurer of said company. The amount of such liabilities shall be carefully estimated by the officers acting on behalf of the town and the gross amount thereof shall be deducted from the purchase price named. Should there be any difference between said town officers and such company as to the amount of such liabilities the same shall be referred by them to the county judge of the county and decided by him. [Town Law, § 274; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6213.]

Town board to raise money for purchase of works.—As soon as the amount of the company's liabilities has been thus ascertained and deducted and the net amount remaining to be paid for said company's works, property and franchise has been thus determined, the town board of the town shall proceed to raise the money and carry out in behalf of the town the contract so made. [Town Law, § 275; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6213.]

of the property, works and franchises to be purchased as agreed on and voted for as aforesaid. Such bonds shall run for not more than thirty years and shall bear interest at a rate not exceeding five per centum per annum, and shall be a valid and binding obligation upon the town in behalf of which they shall be issued. They may contain such provisions as to payment of a part of those issued at such times, short of the full term for which they might run, as in the judgment of the town board issuing them would be advantageous to the town bound thereby. [Town Law, § 276; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6214.]

Sale of bonds; proceeds of sale.—Said town board shall proceed to sell such bonds, at either public or private sale, for the best price obtainable not less than par. Out of the proceeds of such sale said board shall pay to the water-works company that portion of the purchase price agreed on and voted for as aforesaid which remains due the company, after making the deductions mentioned in section two hundred and seventy-four, upon receiving an assignment or transfer of all the works, property and franchises of said company, duly executed by said company or by the proper officers thereof, in its name and behalf. The balance of the proceeds of such bonds shall be used as far as, and when, necessary to discharge the debts, liabilities and obligations of said water-works company. [Town Law, § 277; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6214.]

Stockholders' consent to sale of works.—Before naming the price for the property, franchises and works of any company under this article, as contemplated in section two hundred and seventy-one, the officers thereof must obtain authority so to do from a majority in number and amount of the stockholders; such consent shall be given in writing and duly signed and acknowledged by the stockholders. [Town Law, § 278; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6214.]

Upon sale, debts, etc., are a charge upon town.—Upon making such transfer and conveyance to the town the debts, liabilities and obligations of said company, which have been included in the statement referred to in section two hundred and seventy-four of this article, shall become a charge upon the town and may be enforced against it. And if the company should be called upon to pay any claim or to do any act on or on account of such debts, liabilities or obligations, it may enforce the same against the town. [Town Law, § 279; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6214.]

Works to be managed by town board.—The works, franchises and property thus purchased, shall be managed and controlled for and in behalf of such town by the town board which purchased the same and their respective successors in office. [Town Law, § 280; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6214.]

§ 5. ESTABLISHMENT OF WATER DISTRICTS IN TOWNS.

Town board may establish water district; petition.—The town board on the petition of a majority of the owners of taxable real property in a proposed district, as appears by the last preceding completed assessment-roll, may establish a water district outside any incorporated village or city and wholly within such town. The petition must describe the proposed district and state the maximum amount proposed to be expended in the construction of such water system. The petition must be signed by the petitioners and acknowledged in the same manner as a deed to be recorded. [Town Law, § 282; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6215.]

Map and plans.—There shall be annexed to the petition above provided a map and plan showing the sources of water supply and a description of the lands, streams, water or water rights to be acquired therefor, and the mode of constructing the proposed waterworks and the location thereof, including reservoirs, mains, distributing pipes and hydrants. The petition, map and plans shall be filed with the town clerk, and a certified copy of such map shall also be filed in the county clerk's office. Such map and plan shall be prepared by a competent engineer. [Town Law, § 283; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6215.]

Expenses, how paid.—The reasonable expenses of the necessary proceedings on the organization of a water district, as herein prescribed, are a charge against the district so organized. If a water district is not organized, the persons who signed the petition for the establishment of a water district are jointly and severally liable for such expenses. [Town Law, § 284; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6215.]

Action by town board.—When the petition, map and plans are filed in the town clerk's office the town clerk shall cause notice of the filing of said petition and the object thereof to be published for one week in a newspaper published in such town or if no newspaper be published therein, then by posting said notice in at least six public and conspicuous places in the proposed water district described in such petition. Such notice shall also specify a time and place where the town board will meet to consider the petition, which meeting shall not be less than ten or more than twenty days after the petition is filed. At such meeting the town board shall determine if said petition is in fact signed and acknowledged by a majority of the owners of taxable real property in said proposed water district. Such determination shall be in writing signed by said board and recorded in the minutes of said meeting. If the decision be that the petition is signed and acknowledged by a majority of the owners of taxable real property in the proposed district, then the town board shall make an order establishing such district and appointing three taxpayers therein as water commissioners. The order shall be filed with the town clerk and recorded in the minute book of said board. Such commissioners first appointed shall hold office for terms of one, two and three years, to be determined by the town board in making the appointments. The town board shall thereafter appoint each year one commissioner who shall hold office for the term of three years and shall fill any vacancies that may occur. [Town Law, § 285; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6215.]

Oaths, undertakings and compensation of commissioners.—Each commissioner before entering on the duties of his office shall take the constitutional oath of office and execute to the town and file with the town clerk an official undertaking in such sum and with such sureties as the town board shall direct. The town board may at any time require any such commissioner to file a new official undertaking for such sum and with such sureties as the board shall approve. Such water commissioners may each be paid for their services, at such times as the town board may designate, an amount to be fixed by the town board, not exceeding three dollars per day for each day actually and necessarily spent in the business of the water district. Such compensation shall be deemed an expense of maintaining the water district, and shall be levied against the taxable property in the water district and collected annually at the same time and in the same manner as provided in section two hundred and eighty-nine of this chapter for the levy and collection of taxes for payment of bonds and interest. [Town Law, § 286, as amended by L. 1915, ch. 379; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6216.]

Contracts for the construction of water system.—The water commissioners of such district shall advertise for proposals for the construction of a water system either under an entire contract or in parts or sections as the board may determine. Such advertisements shall be published once in each of two successive weeks in each newspaper published in the town and if no newspaper is published therein, in two newspapers published in a city or village nearest to such town. The commissioners may require a bond or deposit from each person submitting a proposal, the liability on such bond to accrue or such deposit to be forfeited to the town in case such person shall refuse to enter into a contract in accordance with his proposal. The commissioners may accept or reject any proposal, and make contracts with other than the lowest bidder or may reject all proposals and advertise again. No contract shall be made by which a greater amount shall be agreed to be paid than the maximum amount stated in the petition for the construction of such water system. Each contract shall be executed in duplicate one of which shall be given to the contractor and the other shall be filed in the office of the town clerk. The water commissioners shall immediately after letting the contract or contracts for the construction of the water system serve on the town board a written notice, specifying the amount of such contract or contracts and the amount of money needed for the construction of such water system. It shall be the duty of the town board to raise the money necessary by the issue and sale of bonds as provided in this article.[4] [Town Law, § 287; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6216.]

Acquisition of water works.—The water commissioners of any such water district may acquire the works, franchises, contracts and property of any water works company supplying such water district or a portion thereof, in which the construction of water works has been or may be authorized at an expense not exceeding the amount authorized for such construction in the manner following:

1. In the event such water commissioners agree with the owner or owners of such works, franchises, contracts and property as to the purchase price thereof,

4. Liability of town for breach of contract made by water commissioners. A town is not liable for damages caused by a breach of contract made by water commissioners appointed in a water district in a town for the construction of waterworks. Such a contract is not a contract of the town and is not for its benefit. Holroyd v. Town of Indian Lake, 180 N. Y. 318, affg. 85 App. Div. 246, 83 N. Y. Supp. 533 (1903).

The town is not liable for contracts made by district water commissioners. They themselves are liable in their official capacity upon contracts made by them in that relation. District water commissioners need not be sued in actions at law, as they are not personally liable upon their official contracts. Farley v. Winkler, 203 N. Y. 445.

they may with the consent of the majority of the town board of the town wherein such water district is situate, acquire the same by purchase.

2. In the event such water commissioners are unable to agree with such owner or owners as to the purchase price of such works, franchises, contracts and property, they may, with the consent of a majority of the town board of such town, by proceedings in the supreme court, acquire such works, franchises, contracts and property by condemnation.

3. The purchase price may be paid out of any moneys in the hands of or to the credit of such water district or the commissioners thereof or moneys raised or authorized to be raised for the construction of a water-works system in such district. In the event of condemnation, the appraisal or award may be paid out of any such moneys or out of moneys hereafter raised or authorized to be raised for the construction of a water-works system in such district. [Town Law, § 287a, as added by L. 1917, ch. 588.]

Issue and sale of bonds. — Town bonds issued under authority conferred by this article shall be signed by the supervisor and attested by the town clerk. Such bonds shall become due within twenty years from the date of issue, and unless the whole amount of the indebtedness represented thereby is to be paid within five years from their date, they shall be so issued as to provide for the payment of the indebtedness in equal annual installments, the first of which shall be payable not more than five years from their date. They shall bear interest at a rate not exceeding five per centum per annum, and shall be sold for not less than their par value. They shall be sold on sealed proposals or at public auction upon notice published in a paper printed in the town, if any, and also in such other papers as may be designated by the town board, and posted in at least five public places in the town, at least ten days before the sale, to the person who will take them at the lowest rate of interest. Such bonds shall be consecutively numbered from one to the highest number issued and the town clerk shall keep a record of the number of each bond, its date, amount, rate of interest, when and where payable and the purchaser thereof or the person to whom they are issued. The bonds shall be a charge upon the town and shall be collected from the property within the water district. [Town Law, § 288; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6217.]

Refunding of indebtedness.— The town board of a town containing a water supply district in behalf of which bonds shall have been issued under authority conferred by this article may, upon the petition of the water commissioners of such district, refund the whole or any part of such indebtedness and cause new bonds of the town to be issued in substitution for such outstanding bonds or to realize money by the sale thereof for the payment of such outstanding bonds. Such new bonds shall become due within twenty years from the date of issue, shall bear interest at a rate not to exceed five per centum per annum and shall be sold for not less than their par value. Such bonds shall be a charge upon the town and shall be collected from the property within the water supply district and be otherwise subject to the provisions of this article in relation to the issue, sale and payment of the bonds originally issued. [Town Law, § 288a, added by L. 1912, ch. 22, in effect March 6, 1912.]

Tax for payment of bonds and interest.— The water commissioners shall annually apportion the amount to be raised for the payment of the principal and interest of the bonds upon the taxable property in the water district as the same appears on the assessment-roll and present a statement thereof to the town board on the Thursday preceding the annual meeting of the board of supervisors. Such statement shall give the names of the persons liable to pay the same and the amount chargeable to each. The town board shall transmit such statement to the board of supervisors at its next annual meeting. The board of supervisors shall levy such sums against the property liable and shall state the amount of the tax in a separate column in the annual tax-roll under the name of "water tax." Such tax when collected shall be paid to the supervisor and be by him applied in payment of the bonds. [Town Law, § 289; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6217.]

Action for breach of contract; pleadings. A complaint in an action brought against a town for breach of a contract for the construction of a water system, entered into pursuant to the above section, which merely states that the contract was executed by the town officers, without alleging that any of the preliminary steps required by the act were taken, is demurrable. Holroyd v. Town of Indian Lake, 75 App. Div. 197, 77 N. Y. Supp. 672.

or lot or the real property of a corporation or joint stock association is divided by the boundary line of a water district, it shall be the duty of the town assessors after fixing the valuation of the whole of such real property as now required by law to determine what proportion of such valuation is on account of that part of such real property lying within the limits of the water district, and shall designate the same upon their assessment-roll. The valuation of real property lying within such water district so fixed and determined by the assessors shall be the valuation on which the water commissioners of the water district shall levy the water tax. [Town Law, § 290; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6218.]

Supervising engineer and inspectors.—The water commissioners may employ a supervising engineer to superintend and inspect the construction of the water system or works connected therewith, and also such inspectors as may be necessary and fix the compensation of such engineer and inspectors. Such compensation shall be treated as a part of the expense of construction. [Town Law, § 291; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6218.]

Acquisition of property by condemnation.—If the water commissioners are unable to agree with the owners for the purchase of real property necessary for the construction of the water system, they may acquire the same by condemnation. [Town Law, § 292; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6218.]

Establishment of water rents.—The board of water commissioners shall establish a scale of rents for the use of water, to be called "water rents," and to be paid at such times as the board may prescribe. Such rents shall be a lien on the real property upon which the water is used. [Town Law, § 293; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6218.]

Reservoirs.—In the construction of a storage reservoir connected with the system of waterworks, all vegetable or other matter subject to decay shall be removed from the banks thereof between its highest and lowest possible flow line or such space be covered by gravel or stone to prevent such decay. [Town Law, § 294; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6218.]

Connection with mains.—Supply pipes connecting with mains and used by private owners or occupants shall be laid and kept in repair at their expense. Such pipes can only be connected with the mains by the permission and under the direction of the board of water commissioners. A member of the board or its authorized agent may at any time enter a building or upon premises where water is used from supply pipes, and make necessary examinations. [Town Law, § 295; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6219.]

Ordinances.—The board of water commissioners may adopt ordinances, not inconsistent with law, for enforcing the collection of water rents and relating to the use of water, and may enforce observance thereof, by cutting off the supply of water, or by the imposition of penalties. [Town Law, § 296; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6219.]

Annual report of water commissioners.—The board of water commissioners shall on the thirty-first day of October file with the town clerk a report for the year ending that day, containing a statement of the following facts:

1. The amount of money on hand at the beginning of the year, and the receipts from all sources during such year.

2. An itemized statement of the amount paid out during such year, and the balance on hand.

3. The outstanding indebtedness of the district, either bonded or otherwise, separately stated.

4. The estimated deficiency in the amount necessary to pay principal or interest or the expenses of the district during the next year, after applying thereto the probable amount of water rents.

5. The improvements and extensions made during such preceding year, and the general condition of the waterworks.

6. Such other facts as the board deems important for the information of the water district, together with such recommendations concerning such district as may be deemed proper. [Town Law, § 297; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6219.]

Enlarging water district. Granting permission for use of water outside the district.— After the establishment of a water district under the provisions of sections two hundred and eighty-two to two hundred and eighty-five, inclusive, of this article, the water commissioners thereof, with the consent of the town board and upon the application of a majority of the owners of taxable real property in the new district, owning more than one-half, measured by its assessed valuation, of such taxable real property, and upon the written application of the person or persons owning one or more parcels of taxable real property in the town outside of and adjoining said water district, may annex and add to said district the territory comprising such outside real estate. An amended map of the proposed enlarged district shall be submitted with said applications and shall be filed as prescribed in section two hundred and eighty-three for the filing of the map of the original district. All applications under this section must be by petition or petitions subscribed by the petitioners and acknowledged in the same manner as a deed to be recorded. The reasonable expenses of the necessary proceedings on the extension of a water district, as herein prescribed, are a charge against the enlarged district; excepting that if the extension is not granted, such expenses shall be borne by the petitioners owning such outside real estate. A notice, upon such application, shall be given and a hearing and determination made by and before the water commissioners in the manner, as nearly as may be, as is provided in section two hundred and eighty-five. The determination, if favorable to the applicants, shall, when approved by the town board at any regular or special meeting, be to the effect that the district is extended to include the outside real estate described in the application. From the time such territory is annexed it shall be subject to annual taxation for the raising of money for interest and installments on the balance of unpaid bonds of the original district, with the other property in the district, as enlarged, in the manner prescribed by section two hundred and eighty-nine, and the owners shall enjoy all the water privileges, subject to the same rents and restrictions as the owners of property in such original district. A water district may be repeatedly enlarged and extended under the provisions of this section as often as an application, in conformity thereto, may be made and approved by the water commissioners and town board. The water commissioners, with the consent of the town board, may also, if authorized by a majority vote of the electors owning real estate in the district, taken at a public meeting, of which notice has been given by publication in a newspaper in the town once a week for the preceding four weeks, or, if there be no such newspaper, then by posting for twenty-eight days in twenty public places in the town, permit any person or persons residing or owning real estate outside of the district to use water from the district system outside of the district, for a rental and subject to restrictions to be prescribed by the commissioners. Such a meeting shall be called and notice given by the town clerk at the request of a majority of the water commissioners or at the request of twenty-five taxpayers of the district. The notice of the meeting, in addition to stating the time and place where the same is to be held, shall specify the purpose thereof. There shall be a chairman and two inspectors of election at such meeting to take charge thereof, who shall be chosen by the persons entitled to vote on said proposition. The voting shall be by ballot. The chairman shall announce the result and certify the same in writing to the water commissioners. Such certificate shall be prima facie evidence of the statements therein contained, and if the result of the vote as certified authorizes the commissioners and town board to grant the water permits hereinabove mentioned, they may do so unless restrained by a court or judge having jurisdiction in the premises. [Town Law, § 298, as added by L. 1909, ch. 356, and amended by L. 1915, ch. 49; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6220.]

Enlarging water supply system.—After the establishment of a water district and the construction of a water system therein as provided by this article, the water commissioners thereof with the consent of the town board and on the petition of the owners of more than one-half of the taxable real property in such district as appears by the last preceding completed assessment-roll, may enlarge the water supply system in such district as provided by this section. The petition must state the maximum amount proposed to be expended in the construction of such enlargement of the water system, must be signed by the petitioners and acknowledged in the same manner as a deed to be recorded. The petition shall also be accompanied by a map showing the proposed enlargement of the water supply system, which map shall be filed as prescribed in section two hundred and eighty-three for the filing of the map of the original district. A notice upon such petition shall be given and a hearing and determination had by and before the water commissioners in the manner as nearly as may be as is provided in section two hundred and eighty-five. The determination if favorable to the petitioners shall be approved by the town board at any regular or special meeting to the effect that the water supply system in such district shall be enlarged in accordance with the petition. All the provisions of this article in relation to contracts for the construction of the original water system in such district, and issue and sale of bonds therefor and the payment of such bonds shall apply to the enlargement of such water supply system, as authorized by this section. [Town Law, § 299, as added by L. 1912, ch. 275.]

§ 5a. TOWN BOARDS MAY ESTABLISH JOINT WATER SUPPLY DISTRICTS; PETITION; MAP; EXPENSES, HOW PAID; ACTION BY JOINT TOWN BOARDS; CONTRACT FOR WATER SUPPLY; LEVY OF TAXES FOR PAYMENT OF AMOUNT OF CONTRACT.

Town boards may establish joint water supply districts.—It shall be lawful for the town boards of two or more adjoining towns in this state to form a joint water supply district whenever a petition for the establishment signed by a majority of the owners of taxable real property in the proposed district owning more than one-half, measured by its assessed valuation according to the last assessment roll, shall file with the town clerk of one of said towns in which proposed district lies, and cause a certified copy or copies thereof to be filed with the town clerk of the other town or towns within which such proposed district lies. Such proposed water supply district may be either an entirely new district or the extension of a water supply district heretofore formed wholly in one of said towns, or as a joint water supply district in two or more towns. A joint meeting of the town boards of such towns shall be held after the filing of the petition as aforesaid upon the written request of the supervisor of any such town, or upon the written request of a majority of the town board of any such town filed with the town clerk of such town, and upon the filing of such a written request such town clerk shall call a meeting at the usual meeting place of the town board of the town whose official, or officials, presented the request therefor, by giving ten days' notice of the date, hour and place of such meeting, which notice shall be either given personally or by mailing the same to the members of such town boards at least ten days before the date of such meeting and addressed to such members at their last known post office address. [Town Law, § 300, as added by L. 1917, ch. 423.]

Petition; map.— The petition to be filed as in the last section provided must describe the proposed district, be signed by the petitioners and acknowledged in the same manner as a deed to be recorded, and there shall be annexed thereto a map of such proposd district, which map shall also show the proposed method of procuring a water supply for said district, and the proposed line of mains, distributing pipes and hydrants, and the parties presenting the petition shall present sufficient additional copies of the petition and maps in order that the town clerk with whom they are first filed may make the necessary certified copies. [Town Law, § 301, as added by L. 1917, ch. 423.]

Expenses; how paid.— The reasonable expenses of the necessary proceedings on the organization of a joint water supply district, as herein prescribed, shall be a charge against the district, if organized; if such water district is not organized the persons who signed the petition for the establishment of such joint water supply district shall be jointly and severally liable for such expenses. [Town Law, § 302, as added by L. 1917, ch. 423.]

Action by joint town boards.— When the petition and map as hereinbefore provided have been filed, the town clerk of the town with whom a request for a meeting of the joint town boards has been filed shall cause notice of the filing of such petition to be published for one week in a newspaper published in each of such towns, or if no newspaper be published in any or all of such towns then by posting such notice in at least six public and conspicuous places in each of said towns within the proposed water district described in such petition. Such notice shall also specify a time and place where the joint town boards will meet to consider the petition, which meeting shall not be less than ten days nor more than twenty days after the filing of the request for a meeting and the publishing or posting of the notices. At such meeting the joint town boards shall determine if said petition is in fact signed and acknowledged by a majority of the owners of the taxable property in said proposed water district, measured by its assessed valuation according to the last assessment rolls of such towns. Such determination shall be in writing, signed by said joint town boards or a majority of both of them, and recorded in the minutes of said meeting. If the decision be that the petition is signed and acknowledged by a majority of the owners of the taxable property in the proposed district, measured by its assessed valuation according to the last town assessment rolls, then the joint town boards shall make an order establishing such joint water supply district. [Town Law, § 303, as added by L. 1917, ch. 423.]

Contract for water supply.— If the town boards establish a joint water supply district as in the last section provided, it shall be lawful for the supervisors of the towns, any part of which is within such district, to enter into a contract on behalf of such towns with any water company, or other party or person, to supply water for such district for fire, sanitary or other public purposes. Any water company authorized to supply water to any one of such towns may enter into such contract and lay its conduits, mains and distributing lines, and set its hydrants as in the contract provided, the same as if such water supply district was wholly within the town in which it was authorized to supply water. Such water company may supply water to persons or corporations residing within such water supply district, if an order be procured from the public service commission fixing the maximum price to be charged therefor. Application for such order may be made to the public service commission either by such town boards or by such water company. The public service commission shall fix a time and place for a hearing on such application, of which due notice shall be given to the supervisors of such towns or to such water company, as the case may be, at which shall be heard all persons interested in such application, including any corporation or person residing within such water supply district. After such hearing the public service commission shall, by order, fix the maximum price which may be charged for water by such water company, which order shall be binding on such company and the price fixed therein shall remain unchanged until a different price shall have been fixed by the public service commission, in like manner, upon application either by such town boards, such water company or a corporation or person residing within such water supply district. [Town Law, § 304, as added by L. 1917, ch. 423.]

Levy of taxes for payment of amount of contract.— The annual amount due under and pursuant to any contract that may be entered into for a joint water supply district shall be apportioned on the basis of the assessed valuation of the real property within said district between each of said towns by the supervisors of the towns affected, on the basis of the equalized valuation and the amount of such expense shall be assessed and levied on the taxable property in such water supply district in each of said towns, and collected in the same manner and at the same time and by the same officers as the other town taxes or charges or expenses of the towns in which such district is located are now assessed, levied and collected, and such money, when collected, shall be kept as a separate fund and be paid over by the supervisors of said towns to the corporation, company, person or persons furnishing such water, pursuant to the terms of the contract therefor. [Town Law, § 305, as added by L. 1917, ch. 423.]

§ 6. TOWN BOARDS MAY ESTABLISH STREET LIGHTING DISTRICTS AND CONTRACT FOR THE LIGHTING OF STREETS THEREIN; PETITION THEREFOR; NOTICE TO BE PUBLISHED; AMOUNT OF CONTRACT, HOW RAISED.

Town boards may establish lighting districts.— It shall be lawful for the town board of any town in this state to contract for the lighting of the streets, avenues, highways, public places and public buildings therein, outside of the corporate limits of any incorporated village in said town, upon such terms and for such time or period not exceeding ten years, as the town board may deem proper or expedient, and for the payment of the expenses thereof may establish one or more lamp or lighting districts therein. It shall be lawful for the town boards of two or more adjoining towns in this state, whenever a petition for the establishment of a lamp or lighting district shall cover territory lying in two or more adjoining towns in this state, to contract for the lighting of the streets, avenues, highways, public places and public buildings therein, outside of the corporate limits of any incorporated village in said town, upon such terms and for such time or period not exceeding ten years, as the town boards of two or more adjoining towns in joint session assembled may deem proper or expedient and for the payment of the expenses thereof.[5] [Town Law, § 260; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6210.]

Where a town board illegally establishes a lighting plant with moneys of the town and repays such town with money raised by tax in the lighting district, res-

Town Law, § 261.

Petition.— No such contract shall be made unless a petition for such lighting, signed by a majority of the taxpayers of such lamp or lighting district, shall be filed with the town clerk of said town thirty days before the contract is made, but in the counties of Nassau, Suffolk and Westchester no such contract shall be made unless the petition for such lighting is signed by a majority of the resident taxpayers in such lamp or lighting district, unless it be a renewal or extension of such a contract. In case such proposed lamp or lighting district lies in two or more adjoining towns, a petition signed by a majority of the taxpayers of such lighting district may be filed with the clerk of any such towns, and a copy of such petition and its signatures, certified to be such by the clerk of the town with whom the original petition is filed shall thereupon be filed with the town clerk of each other such town, and such peition shall not be deemed filed within this section until so filed with the clerk of each such town. A joint meeting of the town boards of such towns for the purpose of transacting any business of such joint lamp or lighting district, shall be held at any time upon written request of the supervisor of any such town to the clerk of each such town. It shall be lawful, however, for the town board of each town, a part of which is included in a joint lamp or lighting district so established, to transact all business thereof in separate session, except that the establishment of the district and the adoption of an initial contract for lighting, shall be done in joint meeting as provided in section two hundred and sixty. For the purposes of such joint action in separate session a majority vote at a meeting of each such town board, upon the same resolution, shall be necessary. The town clerk of each such town shall file a copy of such minutes of separate meetings as refer to such lighting district with the town clerk of each other town, a part of which is included in such joint lighting district, and the action of the several town boards shall thereupon become effective for such joint district. [Town Law, § 261, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 671, L. 1916, ch. 99, and L. 1917, ch. 19; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6211.]

toration of the funds to the lighting district must be sought under § 1969 of Code of Civil Procedure. But a taxpayer's action under § 51 of the General Municipal Law will lie to enjoin the further operation of the plant. Montgomery v. Smead (1916), 97 Misc. 283, 161 N. Y. Supp. 431.

Town Law, §§ 261a, 262, 262a.

Consolidation of lighting districts.— Two or more adjoining lighting districts in the same town may be combined in a single lighting district by a resolution of the town board of said town, and two or more adjoining lighting districts, any one of which lies in two or more adjoining towns, may be combined in a single lighting district by resolution of the town boards of said towns in joint session. In case the existing contracts for lighting different parts of such combined district are, by the terms thereof, to expire at different times, no renewal of any such contract shall be for a period longer than the unexpired portion of the term of the other such contract, if there be but two, or in case there be more than two such contracts, for a period longer than the unexpired portion of that one of such contracts which has the longest time to run. [Town Law, § 261-a, added by L. 1916, ch. 99.]

Notice of filing petition.— The town board, or if such district shall lie in two or more adjoining towns, then the town boards of each such towns shall cause notices of the same to be published for one week in one or more of the newspapers published in such town or towns, or if no newspaper be published in such town or towns, then by posting said notice in at least six public and conspicuous places in said district of the filing of said peitition, and the time and place when the same will be acted upon by said town board, or if such lighting district lies in two or more adjoining towns, then when the same will be acted upon at a joint meeting of the town boards of such towns, to be held in the territory where such district is to be created. [Town Law, § 262; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6211.]

Consolidation of lighting districts.— Any existing lighting district may be extended by resolution of the town board of the town in which such district is situated, or by resolution in joint session of the town boards of the several towns in which such district is situated, so as to include therein any part of such town or towns, adjoining such district, upon the written petition of a majority of the owners of the real property to be included in such proposed extension, duly filed with the clerk of the town in which such district is situated; or if such district lies in two or more adjoining towns, with the clerk of any one of such towns. A lighting district may be repeatedly enlarged and extended in accordance with the provisions of this section. No contract for lighting such extension shall be made for a period of time longer than the unexpired portion of the term of the existing contract for lighting said district; or, in case there shall be at the time of such extension more than one existing contract for lighting said district, for a period longer than the unexpired portion of that one of such contracts which has the longest time to run. [Town Law, § 262-a, added by L. 1916, ch. 99.]

Amount of contract, how collected.— The amount of any contract that may be entered into pursuant to the provisions of this article shall be assessed, levied and collected upon the taxable property in said town or district in the same manner, at the same time, and by the same officers as the town taxes, charges or expenses of said town are now assessed, levied and collected, and the same shall be paid over by the supervisor to the corporation, company, person or persons furnishing or supplying said light. If the the town boards of two or more adjoining towns shall, in joint session, establish a lamp or lighting district in two or more adjoining towns, they shall determine the relative proportion of the expense of such lighting which shall be borne by each of said towns, and the amount of such expense shall be assessed and levied on the taxable property in such lighting district in each of said towns, and collected in the same manner and at the same time, and by the same officers as the town taxes or charges or expenses of the town in which said district is located, are now assessed, levied and collected, and such relative expense shall be paid over by the supervisor of each of said towns to the corporation, company, person or persons furnishing or supplying the light.[5a] [Town Law, § 263; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6211.]

§ 6a. LIGHTING CONTRACTS IN TOWN AND VILLAGE.

Whenever a town board has established a lighting district in a town, and, thereafter, a portion of said town containing a part of said lighting district, shall have been included within the boundaries of an incorporated village, it shall be lawful for said town board and the board of trustees of said village, in joint session, without petition therefor, to jointly make, renew or extend a contract for the lighting of the whole of said village and the portion of said district in said town, not included in the village, for a period not to exceed five years. For the purpose of such joint action, in separate session a majority vote at a meeting of each town board and village board, upon the same resolution, shall be necessary. If the town board and village board of trustees in joint session, shall make, renew, or extend such a contract, they shall determine the relative proportion of the expense of such lighting which shall be borne by such town and village, respectively, and the amount of such expense to be borne by such town shall be assessed and levied on the taxable property in said lighting district in said town and collected in the same manner and at the same time and by the same officers as town taxes, charges and expenses of such town in which a portion of said district is located, are now assessed, levied and collected, and such relative expense shall be paid over by the supervisor of said town to the corporation, company, person or persons supplying or furnishing said light. The portion of the expense to be borne by said village, shall be assessed, levied and collected at the same time and in the same manner as other village charges, expenses and taxes are levied, assessed and collected and shall be paid in annual installments commencing with making, renewal or extension of said contract to the corporation, company, person or persons furnishing or supplying said light to the amount of the contract. The expense of such lighting in such village shall not, for each fiscal year, exceed three and one-half mills on every dollar of the taxable property of said village as appears on the last preceding assessment-roll before the making, renewal or extension of such a contract, unless authorized by a village election. [Town Law, § 264, as added by L. 1917, ch. 280.]

5a. Misappropriation of moneys collected by board of supervisors; remedy against town. Where a party contracted with a town board, under section 260 of the Town Law, for the lighting of a district, and a tax therefor was levied and collected under this section, and the supervisors into whose hands the money was paid, misappropriated it, the claim for the lighting is a liquidated indebtedness of the town, and the remedy is by an action at law and not by mandamus against the town officers to compel levy and collection of another tax. Dunn v. Town of Whitestown (1911), 185 Fed. 585.

§ 7. TOWN BOARD MAY ESTABLISH SEWER SYSTEM; PETITION.

The town board of any town on the petition of owners of real property in a proposed district, or in a proposed extension of an existing district, representing more than one-half in value of the taxable real property therein as appears by the last preceding completed assessment-roll, may establish a sewer system outside an incorporated village or city, or extend the boundaries of an existing district and the sewer system therein accordingly. The petition must describe the proposed district, or proposed extension of an existing district, and state the maximum amount proposed to be expended in the construction of such sewer system or extension. Each petitioner shall state opposite his name the assessed valuation of the real property owned by him in such district, or extension of an existing district, according to the last preceding completed assessment-roll. The petition must be signed by the petitioners and proved or acknowledged in the same manner as a deed to be recorded, and if it be a petition to extend an existing district and the sewer system therein shall, in addition to the foregoing provisions, be approved in writing by the sewer commissioners of such district. There shall be annexed to and presented with such petition a map and plan of the proposed sewer system, or extension, with specifications of dimensions and connections and outlet or sewage disposal works prepared by a competent engineer at the expense of the petitioners. The petitioners may, however, present to the town board with such petition, map, plan and specifications, a statement, verified by one of the petitioners having personal knowledge of the correctness thereof, showing the amount of the actual cost to them of said map, plan and specifications and the cost of the acknowledgments of the signatures to such petition, and by whom paid, which said amount, if found by the town board to be just and reasonable, and if the said town board shall make one of the orders as provided by section two hundred and thirty-one of this chapter, shall be and become a part of the expense of construction, and shall be included in the first tax levy therefor, and shall be refunded to the person or persons by whom paid, as shown by the aforesaid statement, by the supervisor of the town, who shall take a receipt therefor. At any time after the town board has made an order establishing such district, or extending an existing district, the maximum amount proposed to be expended in the construction of such sewer system in said district, or extension, may be increased by a petition of owners of real property in said district or extension, representing more than one-half in value of the taxable real property therein, as appears by the last preceding completed assessment-roll, setting forth the additional amount proposed to be expended, in excess of the maximum amount set forth in the petition upon which the said district or extension was established. Such petition must be signed and proved or acknowledged in the same manner as the petition for the establishment of said sewer district or extension, and shall be filed in the office of the town clerk. Every petition made as provided in this section shall contain a statement conspicuously printed thereon as follows: "The cost of construction and maintenance of such sewer system or extension, as the case may be shall be assessed, from year to year, by the sewer commissioners to be appointed, upon the lands within the sewer district or extension in proportion as nearly as may be to the benefit which each lot or parcel will derive therefrom." Any petition made as herein provided shall be legal for all purposes herein, although some of the petitioners therein may have signed and acknowledged the same before this section, as hereby amended, takes effect.[6] [Town Law, § 230, as amended by L. 1910 ch. 134, and L. 1911, ch. 507; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6205.]

Town board may direct construction of portions of sewer system; extension, notice of, petition.—If in the petition for the establishment of a sewer district or for an extension to an existing district, the petitioners shall pray that a portion or portions only of the system designed ultimately to serve the entire district or an extension to the said district, shall be constructed in the first instance, and shall describe the said portion or portions in their said petition, and indicate the same on the said map and plan, and shall specify the maximum amount proposed to be expended in the construction of such portion or portions of the said system, the town board may include in its order establishing the said district or extension, a direction that the sewer commissioners shall construct only the portion or portions of the said system designated in the said petition, until extensions thereto shall be authorized as hereinafter provided. In case the town board shall make an order establishing the said district and containing the said direction, the provisions of this chapter shall be applicable thereto in all respects, except that the town board shall not issue bonds to provide for the cost of such portion or portions to an amount exceeding the amount mentioned in the said petition as the maximum amount proposed to be expended in the construction of such portion or portions. Thereafter extensions to the said system may, from time to time, be authorized by the town board upon the petition of the owners of real property within the area in said district to be served by any proposed extension or extensions to the said system, representing more than one-half in value of the taxable real property within such area, as appears by the last preceding completed assessment-roll, which said petition shall comply in form, substance, and in the manner of execution, so far as applicable thereto, with the requirements of the petition for the establishment of a sewer district, and shall state the maximum amount proposed to be expended for such extension or extensions, and shall have endorsed thereon a written approval of a majority of the sewer commissioners of such district, and there shall be presented with the said petition a map prepared by a competent engineer, showing the area proposed to be served by any such proposed extension, and in case such proposed extension or extensions involve a change from the plans shown by the map and plan attached to the petition for the establishment of the said sewer district such petition shall be accompanied by a map and plan of such extension or extensions prepared in the same manner as the original map and plan, and approved by the state board of health. Before acting upon a petition to extend the system in any district or extension thereof, the town board shall give notice of the time and place at which it will meet to act thereon, by posting at least twenty-one days before the day fixed for the said meeting a notice thereof in at least four public places in the said district, and by publishing a notice thereof once in each of the three calendar weeks immediately preceding the week in which the said meeting is to be held in at least one newspaper published in the said town, if a newspaper is published therein. The cost to the petitioners of the maps, plans, specifications, and of the acknowledgments of the signatures to such petition may be made a part of the expense of constructing the said extension or extensions as provided in section two hundred and thirty of the town law with respect to the like expenditures of the original petitioners, and the maximum amount proposed to be expended in the construction of any such extension or extensions to the sewer system in any such district may be increased by the petition of the owners of real property in the area proposed to be served thereby, representing more than one-half the taxable real property therein as appears by the last preceding completed assessment-roll of said town, in the manner specified in section two hundred and thirty of the town law for increasing the maximum amount proposed to be expended for the construction of the original system. In case said extension or extensions to the said sewer system in any such district shall be authorized by the town board of any such town, such extension or extensions, shall thereafter, for all purposes, be regarded as part of the original system, and shall be constructed and maintained by the sewer commissioners of the said district, and the cost of the construction thereof shall be provided for by the issue and sale of town bonds in the same manner as provided in section two hundred and thirty-seven of the town law for the payment of the cost of the original system, which said bonds shall be a town charge, and the principal and interest thereof, together with the cost of maintenance of such extension or extensions, shall be collected from the real property within the said district by the said sewer commissioners, in the same manner as though said extension or extensions had formed a part of the original system constructed in the said district. [Town Law, § 230a, as added by L. 1912, ch. 205.]

Order of town board; appointment of commissioners.—If the town board is satisfied that the petitioners are owners of real property in the proposed district or extension, and own more than one-half in value of the taxable real property therein, they shall make an order establishing such district, or extending the boundaries of an existing district, and if establishing a new district, appointing three taxpayers therein as sewer commissioners, who shall hold their offices at the pleasure of the town board. Such sewer commissioners shall each be paid for their services, at such times as the town board may designate in said order, an amount to be fixed by the town board, which amount shall not exceed three dollars per day for each day actually and necessarily spent in the business of the sewer district and shall be deemed an expense of maintaining the sewer system and shall be collected and paid as provided in section two hundred and forty-three of this chapter for expense of maintenance.

Oath of office and undertaking of commissioners.—Each commissioner before entering on the duties of his office shall take the constitutional oath of office and execute to the town and file with the town clerk an official undertaking in such sum and with such sureties as the town board shall direct. The town board may at any time require any such commissioner to file a new official undertaking for such sum and with such sureties as the board shall direct. [Town Law, § 232; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6206.]

Map and plan of system; approval of state board of health.—The sewer commissioners shall cause a copy of the map and plan of the proposed sewer system, or proposed extension thereof, to be submitted to the state board of health, and if approved, it shall be filed in its office. Such map and plan may be amended with the approval of the state board of health, and if amended, it shall be filed in the offices of the state board of health and of the town clerk. [Town Law, § 233 as amended by L. 1910, ch. 134; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6206.]

Contracts.—The sewer commissioners of such district shall advertise for proposals for the construction of a sewer system, or an extension thereof, according to such map and plan, finally filed, either under an entire contract or in parts or sections as the board may determine. Such advertisement shall be published once in each of two successive weeks in each newspaper published in said sewer district and extension thereof, and if no newspaper is published therein, in the two newspapers published nearest thereto. The commissioners may require a bond or deposit from each person submitting a proposal, to be not less than twenty-five per centum of the amount involved, the liability on such bond to accrue, or such deposit to be forfeited to the town, in case such person shall refuse to enter into a contract in accordance with his proposal. The commissioners may accept or reject any or all proposals, and when the contract is let it shall be let to the lowest bidder. No contract shall be made by which a greater amount shall be agreed to be paid than the maximum amount stated in the petition for the construction of such sewer, as amended by supplemental petition, if any, including the expense of superintendence and inspection as provided in section two hundred and thirty-five. Each contract shall be executed in duplicate, one of which shall be given to the contractor and the other shall be filed in the office of the town clerk. [Town Law, § 234 as amended by L. 1910, ch. 134; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6206.]

Engineers and inspectors.—The sewer commissioners may employ an attorney, a supervising engineer to superintend and inspect the construction of any sewer, or extension thereof, or works connected therewith, and also such inspectors as may be necessary and fix the compensation of such attorney, engineer and inspectors. Such compensation, together with the fees, charges and expenses of the engineer employed to prepare the map, plan and specifications, and the cost of the acknowledgments of the signatures of the petitioners, as provided for in section two hundred and thirty of this chapter, shall be treated as a part of the expense of construction. [Town Law, § 235, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 134; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6207.]

Condemnation of real property.— If sewer commissioners are unable to agree with the owners for the purchase of real property necessary for the construction of the sewer system, they may acquire the same by condemnation system, they may acquire the same by condemnation, whether it be necessary to acquire the fee or an easement for a right of way therein, and whether the property and easements necessary to be acquired are within the territorial limits of the sewer district as established; said sewer commissioners may enter into an agreement with the board of trustees or other duly authorized officers of an adjoining incorporated village, to sewer some part or portion of such incorporated village, and to lay and maintain pipes therein, and when pipes are laid and maintained, and sewer system constructed within the limits of an adjoining incorporated village pursuant to an agreement so made, the sewer commissioners shall have the same control and exercise the same rights and privileges in connection with the system constructed within the limits of an incorporated village as they have in connection with the system established within the sewer district as laid out. [Town Law, § 236, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 73; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6207.]

Apportionment of local assessment for construction.—The sewer commissioners shall prepare and file in the office of the town clerk a map and plan of such district, or extension, which shall show the highways and the several parcels of land therein. The commissioners shall report to the town board the amount of the cost of construction of such sewer system as determined under the foregoing provisions hereof. The town board shall direct the issue and sale of bonds for the amount of the cost of construction as so reported to said board by the said commissioners, which said bonds shall be redeemable in such equal yearly instalments, the interest thereon to be paid semi-annually, as said town board shall prescribe, and shall be a town charge. In the month of July in each year the town board shall notify the sewer commissioners of the amount to become due for principal and interest during the ensuing year on the bonds so issued. The sewer commissioners shall forthwith proceed to assess such amount on the lands within such district, or extension of an existing district, in proportion as nearly as may be to the benefit which each lot or parcel will derive therefrom. After making such apportionment, said commissioners shall forthwith serve on each land owner a notice of at least ten days of the completion thereof and of the filing of such map and plan, and that at a specified time and place a hearing will be had to consider and review the same. Such notice must be served upon said land owners personally or by mailing the same to their last known respective addresses or by publishing the same once each week for two weeks, in a newspaper which circulates in said district, or by either or any of said methods. The commissioners shall meet at the time and place specified to hear objections to such apportionment, and may modify and correct the same. The sewer commissioners upon the completion and correction of such apportionment shall forthwith file the same in the office of the town clerk, and shall give notice of the filing of such completed and corrected apportionment in the manner provided for by section thirty-nine of the tax law as to towns. The apportionment shall then be deemed final and conclusive unless an appeal is taken therefrom, as hereinafter provided, within fifteen days after the filing thereof. The town board shall present to the board of supervisors at its annual meeting, a statement of such apportionment as so corrected and filed, showing the amount due, or to become due, for principal and interest during the ensuing year, on the bonds issued under this article; each lot or parcel liable to pay the same, and the amount chargeable to each. The board of supervisors shall levy such sums against the property liable, and shall state the amount of the tax in a separate column in the annual taxroll under the name "sewer tax." Such tax when collected shall be paid to the supervisor and be by him applied in payment of the bonds. An unpaid assessment shall be collected in the same manner and shall subject the land and land owner liable therefor, to the same interest, burdens and penalties, as other town taxes in arrears. [Town Law, § 237, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 134, and L. 1915, ch. 368; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6207.]

Appeal.—A person aggrieved by an apportionment may within fifteen days after the filing thereof, appeal therefrom to the County Court of the county in which such district is situated. Such appeal shall be taken by a notice stating the grounds thereof, served personally or by mail upon each of the sewer commissioners and filed with the town clerk. [Town Law, § 238; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6208.]

Notice of appeal; reversal.—Either party may bring on the appeal on a notice of not less than ten nor more than twenty days. All appeals from the same apportionment must be consolidated and heard as one appeal. The County Court may affirm or reverse the apportionment. If it be reversed on the ground that it is erroneous, unequal or inequitable, the court shall, by order of reversal, appoint three disinterested freeholders of the district as commissioners to make a new apportionment and no appeal shall be allowed from such order. [Town Law, § 239; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6208.]

Reapportionment.—A reapportionment shall be made in the following cases:

1. By the commissioners appointed by the County Court where the original apportionment is reversed on the ground that it is erroneous, unequal or inequitable.

2. By the sewer commissioners of the districts where the original apportionment is reversed on any other ground. A reapportionment under this subdivision shall be made in like manner as the original.

3. Reapportionments shall also be made by the sewer commissioners in like manner as original apportionments are made upon the petition of the owners of real property in said district representing a majority of the taxable property therein, as appears by the last preceding completed assessment roll, when the said petition shall state that the existing apportionments have become unequal or inequitable; such reapportionments shall be made from time to time, but not oftener than once in three years. [Town Law, § 240, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 251; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6208.]

Meeting of commissioners.—The commissioners appointed by the County Court shall give notice of the time and place at which they will meet to make such reapportionment, and shall serve notice thereof, either personally or by mail, at least ten days before such meeting, upon each owner of land within such district or extension of an existing district, as finally fixed by the board of sewer commissioners. They shall meet at the time and place specified and make such reapportionment in the manner herein prescribed for the sewer commissioners. They shall file such reapportionment in the office of the town clerk, and it shall be final and conclusive. [Town Law, § 241, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 134; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6208.]

Compensation of commissioners.—Each commissioner appointed by the County Court is entitled to five dollars for each day necessarily spent in making such reapportionment, besides his actual necessary expenses. Such fees and expenses are a charge against the town, and must be audited by the town board. The amount thereof shall be added to the portion of the expense of constructing such sewer or sewer system, which is to be assessed against property in such sewer district, or extension. [Town Law, § 242, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 134; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6208.]

Assessment on property benefited.—After the sewer system is constructed it shall be maintained by the commissioners, and the cost of such maintenance shall be a charge upon the sewer district. In July of each year, the sewer commissioners shall present to the town board an estimate of the amount of money required by said commissioners to meet the expenses of maintaining the sewer system for the ensuing year. The town board shall formally pass upon such estimate and approve, or correct and approve, the same. The sewer commissioners shall thereupon assess the amount of the estimate as so approved, and corrected, on the lands within their district, in proportion, as nearly as may be, to the benefit which each lot or parcel will derive therefrom, and shall give the same notice thereof, and shall correct and file such apportionment in the same manner, and shall give the same notice of the filing of such corrected apportionment, as is provided for in section two hundred and thirty-seven of this chapter. An appeal may be taken from such corrected apportionment within the same time, and the procedure thereupon shall be the same as specified in sections two hundred and thirty-eight to two hundred and forty-two, both inclusive, of this chapter, except that the fees of the commissioners appointed by the county court to readjust the apportionment made pursuant to this section shall be a charge upon the sewer district, and shall be included in the expenses of maintenance. Whenever an apportionment is to be made to meet an instalment of principal and interest on the bonds issued pursuant to section two hundred and thirty-seven of this chapter, any proceedings for the correction, review or readjustment thereof shall be consolidated with the like proceedings, if any, with respect to the apportionment made as provided in this section. The town board shall present such estimate to the board of supervisors at its annual meeting, with a statement of each property or parcel liable for the same and the amount chargeable to each. The board of supervisors shall levy such sums against the property liable and shall state the amount of tax in the annual tax roll under the name "sewer tax," with the sewer tax to be raised for payment of bonds as provided in section two hundrel and thirty-seven of this chapter, and after such bonds shall have been entirely paid in a similar column headed "sewer tax." This tax for maintenance, when collected, shall be paid to the supervisor of the town and by him paid to the sewer commissioners to meet the expense of maintenance of the sewer system. An unpaid assessment under this section shall be collected in the manner provided for in section two hundred and thirty-seven of this chapter. The sewer system as so constructed, or as hereafter added to or changed, shall be under the charge and control of the sewer commissioners, under whose supervision it shall be used by property owners, and no person shall enter into, open or interfere with or use said sewer system except under the inspection and direction of said sewer commissioners and after formal permission shall have been given by said commissioners. The sewer commissioners shall adopt rules and regulations to govern the maintenance and use of the sewer system and shall therein fix the amount of fees that shall be chargeable to individuals or property owners, who may wish to enter or use the sewer system, which fees shall be sufficient in amount to pay for the cost of inspection of such entry or entries. Any person violating any provisions hereof and interfering with, entering or using said sewer system without obtaining such permission shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and liable to punishment accordingly. [Town Law, § 243 as amended by L. 1910, ch. 134; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6209.]

Annual statement of commissioners.—The sewer commissioners shall in the month of December in each year file in the office of the town clerk a detailed statement, under oath, of the moneys received and paid by them since their last statement under the provisions of this chapter, together with the names of the persons or parties from whom the same were received and to whom the same were paid, and the object of each payment, with the vouchers therefor. Such statement shall show the balance remaining in their hands, which balance shall be applied to maintenance account for the following year. [Town Law, § 244, as amended by L. 1910, ch. 134; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6210.]

The town board of any town in a county adjoining a city of the first class and containing not more than five towns, upon the written request of at least ten taxpayers in each of the water and sewer districts in such town, shall cause to be submitted at a biennial town meeting in such town the following proposition: "Shall there be established in the town of (naming the town) a water and sewer commission?" If such proposition be adopted by the affirmative vote of a majority of the qualified voters voting thereon there shall be established in such town a water and sewer commission with the powers prescribed by this section. Such commission shall consist of three members. The supervisor of such town shall on or before the first day of December following the biennial town meeting at which such proposition shall have been adopted appoint three water and sewer commissioners for such town to hold office for the terms of one, two and three years, respectively, from the first day of December, and annually thereafter the supervisor of such town shall on or before December first appoint a water and sewer commissioner to hold office for a full term of three years from such date. The members of such commission shall each receive an annual salary to be fixed by the town board, not exceeding twenty-five hundred dollars. Such salary shall be apportioned among the several water and sewer districts in such town in the proportion of the aggregate assessed valuation of the real and personal property in such districts as appears by the last preceding town assessment roll, and the portion thereof apportioned to a district shall be levied and collected therein in the same manner as town taxes are levied and collected, and when collected shall be paid to the supervisor of such town to be applied toward the payment of such salary. On the first day of December succeeding the adoption of a proposition establishing such commission the terms of office of all the water and sewer commissioners in the several water and sewer districts of such town shall expire, and all the powers and duties of such commissioners in respect of the water and sewer districts for which they were appointed shall be vested in the water and sewer commission of such town; and thereupon such water and sewer commissioners shall turn over to the water and sewer commission of such town all books, records, documents and other property of their respective districts. Pending proceedings shall not be affected by reason of the creation of such commission, but shall be continued in the same manner and with the same effect as if such commission had not been created, except that such commission shall be substituted for the district commissioners. [Town Law, § 129, as added by L. 1918, ch. 397.]

§ 8. SIDEWALK DISTRICT ESTABLISHED; IMPROVEMENTS IN SUCH DISTRICT.

The town board of any town, on the petition of twenty-five owners of real property in a proposed district, whose names appear upon the last preceding completed assessment-roll, may establish a sidewalk district outside of an incorporated village or city; such petition must be filed with the town clerk of said town at least ten days before it is acted upon by the town board as hereinafter mentioned and must bound the territory outside of the corporate limits of any incorporated village or city in said town, which is to be included in said district, and thereafter said district is to be known as a sidewalk district, and the taxable property within said district is to thereafter become subject to the charges and assessments hereinafter mentioned; and after receiving such petition, the town board may adopt the same by resolution and lay out the portion of the town described in said petition as a sidewalk district. [Town Law, § 250, as added by L. 1910, ch. 183, in effect April 28, 1910.]

Improvements in such districts.—The town board of any town in which a sidewalk district is laid out as aforesaid may cause a sidewalk on any street or part thereof in said sidewalk district to be graded and a sidewalk to be built, curbed or guttered, or any one or more of such acts performed, partly at the expense of the taxable property in said sidewalk district, and partly at the expense of the owners of the land fronting on said street or part thereof, improved as aforesaid, but such sidewalk shall not be so graded, built, curbed or guttered unless a petition therefor be presented to said town board signed by at least a majority of the owners of property fronting on said street or portion thereof, proposed to be so improved. The town board shall upon the receipt of such petition as aforesaid give a public hearing thereon to all persons interested on a notice of at least ten days, which notice shall specify the time and place said hearing shall be held, and shall be served upon said persons personally by mailing the same to their last known respective addresses, or by publishing the same once each week for two weeks, in a newspaper which circulates in said district, or by either or any of said methods. If said town board shall act favorably upon said petition, it shall by resolution define the width of the sidewalk, the kind and character of materials of which the same shall be constructed, and whether the same shall be curbed or guttered, or both, and the kind and character of curb or gutter, or both, that shall be laid. It shall cause the sidewalks upon said street or portion thereof to be graded and a sidewalk, curb and gutter, or either, to be constructed and laid thereupon, and such sidewalks, curbs or gutters as may be already laid upon said street or portion thereof, to be repaired and made to conform to the established grade. [Town Law, § 251, as added by L. 1910, ch. 183, and amended by L. 1917, ch. 593.]

§ 9. CONTRACT FOR IMPROVEMENTS; IMPROVEMENTS, HOW PAID FOR.

The town board of any town wherein a sidewalk district is laid out and defined as aforesaid is hereby empowered and authorized, after it has favorably acted upon a petition presented by the property owners on a street or portion thereof as aforesaid, to cause a survey to be made, grade to be established, plans and specifications to be drawn and to advertise for bids to grade and build a sidewalk, lay a curb or gutter on the street or portion thereof described in said petition, or do any one or more of said acts and award a contract therefor to the lowest bidder; or the said town board may with or without a survey, plan or specifications obtain from the superintendent of highways of the town, an estimate of the costs of making said improvements, and after approving the estimate, cause the same to be made under the supervision of the said superintendent of highways without a contract; all expenses incurred by the town board in connection with such improvements or any of them, shall be a charge upon said district. [Town Law, § 252, as added by L. 1910, ch. 183, and by L. 1917, ch. 593.]

Improvements; how paid for.—After a town board has ascertained the expense of the improvements provided for herein, it may borrow upon the credit of the town wherein said district is located a sum equal to the total thereof, for a period not exceeding eight months from the date thereof, at a rate of interest not exceeding six per centum and use the same to pay the expense thereof, which certificate with interest is to be paid out of the moneys derived as herein provided. After the town board has ascertained the expense of grading and building the sidewalks and laying the curbs and gutters upon any street or portion thereof as contemplated herein, it shall apportion and assess three-fourths of the expense thereof upon the property fronting upon the street or portion thereof improved as aforesaid. Notice of such assessment shall be given to the owners of said real property in the same manner as the notice above mentioned is given, which notice shall state, among other things, that said expenditures have been made, the purpose and the amount thereof, and that at a specified time and place the town board will meet for the purpose of making said assessments. The town board shall meet at the time and place specified in said notice and shall determine all objections made to such assessment, including the amount thereof, and shall assess upon the land benefited and fronting upon said street or portion thereof, the amount it may deem just and reasonable, not exceeding in case of default the amount stated in the notice. After the expiration of thirty days from the time said assessment is finally made and assessed, the town board shall direct or issue a sale of bonds, pledging the credit of the town wherein said district is located for the aggregate amount of the assessments remaining unpaid, which bonds shall mature within a period of five years and bear interest at a rate not exceeding six per centum and shall be a town charge. The town board shall thereafter annually apportion the amount to be raised for the payment of such bonds on the lots or parcels in default, so that the tax thereon will be the same as if an equal portion of the general assessment was then paid. Interest on the unpaid assessment shall be added to such tax at the rate payable on the bond or certificate of indebtedness, which amounts shall be computed to the time when the principle or an instalment will become due, or if no principal will become due during the ensuing year, then the interest accrued during that year upon the assessment or bonds must be levied upon such lot or parcels. The town board shall annually report to the board of supervisors at its annual meeting, and submit a statement showing the amount due or to become due with principal and interest the ensuing year on bonds issued under this act, and the lots or parcels liable to pay the same and the amount chargeable to each. The board of supervisors shall levy such amounts against the property liable and shall state the amount of the tax in a separate column, in the annual tax roll under the name "sidewalk tax;" such tax when collected shall be paid to the supervisor and be by him applied in payment of the bonds. The amount apportioned by the said town board on any lot or parcel and any tax levied for collection thereof shall be a lien prior and superior to any lien or claim except the lien of an existing tax or local assessment. The remaining one-fourth of said expense shall be levied and assessed upon the taxable property within said sidewalk district, the same as town charges are levied and assessed upon the taxable property within the town wherein said district is located. An aggregate amount, however, to be levied and assessed upon a sidewalk district during any one year, shall not be in excess of two per centum of the assessed valuation of when the principle or an installment will become due, or if no principal the taxable property within said district as appears upon the last preceding assessment-roll. [Town Law, § 253, as added by L. 1910, ch. 183, and amended by L. 1911, ch. 139, and L. 1917, ch. 593.]

§ 10. CONTROL OVER SIDEWALKS.

After a sidewalk district has been established as herein provided, all sidewalks constructed and curbs and gutters laid within said district shall be done under the supervision of the superintendent of highways of the town wherein said district is located. He is hereby authorized, if in his judgment he believes it to be necessary, to establish the necessary grades therefor. It shall be the duty of the owner or occupant of each and every lot or parcel of land situate upon a street or avenue, or a portion thereof, which has been graded, sidewalked, curbed or guttered as herein provided, to remove within twelve hours, all snow, ice or other obstructions upon the sidewalk in front thereof. If such owner or occupant fails to remove such snow, ice or other obstructions as provided herein, the superintendent of highways of a town in which such lots are situate shall cause the same to be removed and the expense thereby incurred shall be paid in the first instance out of moneys provided by the town board for such purposes available therefor, and the amount thereof shall be charged against such owner or occupant, and levied and collected as follows: Such superintendent of highways shall serve personally or by mail upon such owner, occupant or company a written notice stating that at a time and place therein mentioned, he will assess such cost against the owner, occupant or company neglecting to perform such duties. Such notice shall be served at least eight days previous to the time specified therein. If directed to a company it may be served upon it at its principal place of business, or upon an agent of the company within the town. If the property be unoccupied and the name and address of the owner is unknown, it may then be served by posting the same upon the property affected at least eight days previous to the time specified therein. At the time and place so specified, he shall hear the parties interested and shall thereupon complete the assessment stating therein the name of each owner, occupant or company, if he can ascertain the same and the amount assessed against him or it, and shall return such assessment to the town clerk, who shall present the same to the town board of his town at its meeting held on the Thursday preceding the annual meeting of the board of supervisors. Such town board shall certify such assessment to the board of supervisors, who shall cause the amount stated therein to be levied against such owner, occupant or company, and any uncollected tax shall be a lien upon the lot or parcel of land affected. The amount so levied shall be collected in the same manner as other taxes levied by such board and shall be paid to the supervisor of the town, to be applied in reimbursing the fund from which such cost was defrayed. The town board of any town in which a sidewalk district is laid out as herein provided shall annually estimate the amount necessary each year to remove snow, ice and other obstructions from the sidewalks in said district as herein provided, which sum so estimated shall be levied and assessed upon the taxable property within said sidewalk district as town taxes are levied and assessed upon the taxable property within said town, which sum after the same is collected shall be paid to the supervisor of said town and retained by him for the purposes herein provided. [Town Law, § 254, as added by L. 1910, ch. 183, in effect April 28, 1910.]

If the town board of any town shall determine that any sidewalks should be constructed outside of a sidewalk district or within a sidewalk district and upon a street or portion of street as to which no petition is filed under the provisions of section two hundred and fifty-one, of stone, cement, brick or similar substance, it may cause such sidewalk to be so constructed along the front of one or more parcels of real property at the joint and equal expense of such property and of the town. The board shall allow to each land owner an opportunity to appear and object to such proposed action, upon five days' notice of the time and place of the hearing. If the town board shall finally determine to construct such sidewalk, it may cause the same to be constructed. The board shall assess fifty per centum of the cost of such construction upon the land in front of which the sidewalk is constructed. The other fifty per centum of such cost shall be borne by the town, and moneys provided therefor by taxation in the same manner as other town charges. The entire expense shall be paid in the first instance by the town. Such expense may be raised in an entire amount or in small amounts from time to time as the town board may determine. Bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the town may be issued, if the town board deem it necessary, to provide for such expense. The board may apportion the part to be assessed upon adjoining land and assess the same as a whole or by installments. Where one parcel of land only, owned by the same party, is affected by the improvement, the share to be paid by such land owner shall be one-half of the cost of the improvement; otherwise, the proportion payable by the several land owners shall be determined according to the linear feet of sidewalk in front of each parcel. Notice of an assessment shall be given to the land owner or land owners, who may pay the amounts assessed within ten days after such notice. At the expiration of that time, town bonds or certificates of indebtedness may be issued for the aggregate amount of such assessment then remaining unpaid.

The town board shall include in its annual budget reported to the board of supervisors, of taxes to be levied in the town, the principal or interest accruing during the same fiscal year upon bonds or certificates of indebtedness issued on account of default in the payment of local assessments under this section, and the board of supervisors shall levy the same upon the lots or parcels in default. Such principal shall be apportioned among the lots or parcels in default in such manner that the tax thereon will be the same as if an equal portion of the assessment were then to be paid. Interest on an unpaid assessment shall be added to such tax at the rate payable by the bond or certificate of indebtedness, which must be computed to the time when the principal or an installment will become due; or if no principal will become due during the fiscal year, then the interest accruing during that year upon the assessment must be levied upon such lot or parcel.

The town board shall annually estimate the probable amount necessary each year to enable the town to pay for construction work in the first instance under this section, which sum so estimated shall be levied and assessed upon the taxable property of the town and paid to the supervisor, to be disposed of by him as hereinafter provided. [Town Law, § 255, as added by L. 1915, ch. 513.]

8. Appropriation by town board for shade tree fund.
9. Acquisition and development of forest lands.

§ 1. ACQUISITION OF LANDS BY TOWN BOARD FOR SOLDIERS' OR OTHER MONUMENT OR MEMORIAL STRUCTURES.

The governing board of a village or town, or the trustees of a monument association, may acquire not to exceed three acres of land, for the erection of a soldiers' monument, or a monument or other structure as a memorial of some distinguishing or important event in the history of the state or nation, and for laying out such lands as a public park or square, if such lands are vacant or have buildings thereon not exceeding two thousand five hundred dollars in value, and if a judge of the county, or a justice of the supreme court of the district, in which such memorial is to be erected, shall give his written approval of the acquisition of such lands for such purpose. [General Municipal Law, § 72; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 2132.]

§ 2. LEASES OF PUBLIC BUILDINGS TO GRAND ARMY POSTS.

A municipal corporation may lease, for not exceeding five years, to a post or posts of the Grand Army of the Republic, or other veteran organization of honorably discharged Union soldiers, sailors or marines, a public building or part thereof, belonging to such municipal corporation, except schoolhouses in actual use as such, without expense, or at a nominal rent, fixed by the board or council having charge of such buildings and provide furniture and furnishings, and heat, light and janitor service therefor, in like manner. [General Municipal Law, § 77, as amended by L. 1917, ch. 583; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 2134.]

A county, city, town or village may provide arms, uniforms and equipments for military organizations raised within the municipality, and for the purposes of security, defense, mobilization of resources and emergency aid during the continuing of the present war and may, in its discretion, provide for the support of any person or persons residing in such municipality who may be dependent for support upon a man enlisted in the federal service, national guard or naval militia. The governing board may appropriate necessary moneys therefor and provide the same by taxes to be levied upon the taxable property of the municipality in the same manner as other municipal taxes. Such board may borrow the amount of any such appropriation upon certificates of indebtedness, one-half of which shall be payable within two years and the remaining half part within four years from date of issue. [General Municipal Law, § 77-a, as added by L. 1917, ch. 235.]

§ 2b. CONVENTION EXPENSES OF MUNICIPAL OFFICERS AND EMPLOYEES.

The governing board of any municipal corporation, except of a city of the first class or of a county contained wholly within a city of that class, may by a majority vote of its members, authorize any one or more of its officers, or either the executive head or deputy of a department, or the executive head of a bureau, to attend an official or unofficial convention of municipal officers if believed to be of benefit to the municipality. Such authorization must be by resolution adopted prior to such attendance, duly entered in the record of the proceedings of the board. All sums actually and necessarily expended by any person so authorized to attend a convention, for railroad fare and hotel expenses, shall be a charge against his or her municipality, and the amount thereof shall be audited, allowed and paid in the same manner as are other claims against such municipality. No such person shall be entitled to any compensation for the time spent in attending such a convention, except that no deduction shall be made from the salary of a person so attending because of such attendance. [General Municipal Law, § 77-b, as added by L. 1918, ch. 637.]

§ 3. LEASE OF BUILDINGS FOR JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

The town boards of any town in a county adjoining or containing a city of the first or second class may from time to time lease buildings or parts of buildings in any portion of said town for the use of justices of the peace of said town to hold court therein. There shall not be leased for the purposes set forth in this section more than one building for each justice of the peace in said town. [Town Law, § 135; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6189.]

§ 4. COLLECTION AND DISPOSITION OF GARBAGE AND ASHES.

Within any town having over five thousand inhabitants or within any town adjoining a city of the first class, or within any district in any such town established by the town board of such town, it shall be lawful for the town board of such town to provide for the collection of and to cause to be consumed by fire or heat or disposed of in such other manner as the town board may determine, and to prohibit the throwing, casting or deposit in any body or stream of water, or upon any ash heap or other place than such as may be provided by them within such town or district, any animal or vegetable refuse, dead animal, carrion, offal, swill or garbage. And it shall be lawful for the town board of any such town, to contract for the collection and for the consumption by heat or fire or for the disposition in such other manner as the town board may determine of any such refuse or other aforesaid matter, or for the purchase, maintenance and operation of any appliances for the collection and disposition thereof. Such town board may also provide for the collection and disposition of ashes and may contract for such collection and disposition, or for the purchase, maintenance and operation of any appliances for the collection and disposition thereof. [Town Law, § 320, as amended by L. 1917, ch. 55, and L. 1918, ch. 432; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6222.]

§ 5. PENALTY FOR VIOLATING ORDINANCE RELATING TO GARBAGE.

Any person offending against any such provision as aforesaid made by any such town board for the collection, or for the prohibition of the throwing, casting or deposit, of any such refuse or other aforesaid matter shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. [Town Law, § 321; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6223.]

Town Law, § 322; General Municipal Law, § 120.

§ 6. ASSESSMENTS FOR EXPENSES OF DISPOSITION OF GARBAGE.

Any expenses incurred in any town, or any district in any town, pursuant to the provisions of the last two sections shall be levied, assessed and collected upon the taxable property in the town or district as to which the same is incurred in the same manner, at the same time and by the same officers as the town taxes, charges or expenses of such town are assessed, levied and collected, and shall be paid over to the supervisor of such town, and by him applied to the payment of such expenses. [Town Law, § 322; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6223.]

§ 7. PURIFICATION OF WATER AND SEWERAGE.

The local authorities of the several cities, towns and villages of the state having charge of the supply of water and the care of sewerage in their respective localities, are hereby authorized, on behalf of their cities, towns and villages, respectively, to enter into contracts with the owners of any process or apparatus for the purification of water and sewerage whether protected by patents or not, and either contract for the use of apparatus and process for a term of years or for the purchase of the same, as to them shall seem advisable. It shall be lawful for any two or more of such municipalities in this state, excepting only cities of the first and second class, without regard to the form of their incorporation, including towns or sewer districts of towns, to jointly construct, provide, maintain and operate a comprehensive system of sewerage including trunk lines and laterals, or a system of conveying or conducting sewerage from said municipalities from a point or points to be agreed upon to a common destination or disposal plant or plants, and to construct, maintain and operate within or without the said municipalities or any of them one or more outlet or trunk sewers, plants, works or stations for the treatment, disposal, or rendering of sewerage, or any such municipality or any such municipalities may jointly or severally contract for the construction for it or them of any such system, extension or part thereof, including any such sewers, plants, works or stations, and agree to pay annually, semi-annually or quarterly for the use or possession thereof, by way of permanent rental reserved therefor; or such lawful authorities of the respective municipalities may jointly or severally contract with any person, persons or corporations or with other municipalities or sewage districts for the removal of sewage within the boundaries of such local government, upon such reasonable terms as they may agree upon. And to that end the governing bodies or boards of any two or more municipalities, including sewer districts of a town, authorized by law to have charge of sewer systems established or to be established in said municipalities, or sewer districts of a town, respectively, may unite and jointly cause to be made at their joint expense (each district bearing a part of the expense in proportion to the assessed valuation of real estate in such district, or on such other basis or division as may be jointly agreed upon) by competent engineers, mechanics and others, surveys, maps, plans, reports and estimates of proposed works and improvements relating to such contemplated public improvement or works authorized by this act, which such municipalities may desire to jointly provide, maintain, operate or lease under the authority conferred by this act, and for such purpose they may determine upon the final route and plan for the building or construction of such sewerage system and for the making of such surveys, maps, plans, reports and estimates as provided in this section. It shall be lawful for the officers and agents of such municipalities to enter at all times upon any lands or waters for the purpose of exploring, surveying, and laying out the route of such sewerage system. [Generaal Municipal Law, § 120, as amended by L. 1917, ch. 709.]

Contracts for sewerage disposal.—The respective municipalities and districts may contract with each other, or they may jointly or severally contract with a third person, corporation or municipality, either for the construction, operation, maintenance or leasing of a complete comprehensive system for the removal and disposal of sewerage, or of a trunk line system with or without lateral connections, with or without the sewerage disposal plant or of a sewerage disposal plant; each of the boards or commissioners, however, binding only the municipalities or districts which they respectively represent. Such municipalities jointly acting through such board or commissioners, if they deem it expedient so to do, may contract with any other municipality or municipalities through or over whose territory such trunk sewer or sewers are intended to pass, for the construction of said outlet, trunk sewer or sewers and appurtenances located within the territory of such other municipality, in such manner as may be agreed upon between such other municipality, and the municipality theretofore jointly contracting as herein authorized, or such jointly contracting municipalities may contract in writing with any other municipality or municipalities for the privilege of connecting its or their sewers and drains with such outlet or trunk sewer or sewers so to be jointly constructed by the municipalities originally contracting for the public improvements or works hereby authorized, and it shall be lawful for such other municipality or municipalities to enter into a contract for such purpose, upon such terms and for such consideration and length of time as may be mutually agreed upon between all the contracting municipalities. [General Municipal Law, § 120-a, as added by L. 1917, ch. 709.]

Supervision of sewage system.—If the public works herein provided be constructed and operated by the municipalities acting jointly, the local authorities of the contracting municipalities or districts having charge of sewage shall jointly supervise the construction and operation of such sewage system, or they may jointly engage or employ a competent sanitary engineer for such purpose. They shall jointly elect or appoint all necessary employees at the disposal plant and for the care of the trunk line sewer, and severally appoint such employees as they may be authorized so to do by the respective governing bodies to work on the system within the bounds of such municipality. [General Municipal Law, § 120-b. as added by L. 1917, ch. 709.]

Obligations and privileges relating to sewerage contracts.—No contract for the construction, use or possession of any such sewer system extension or part thereof, including any such sewers, plants, works or stations, authorized by section one hundred and twenty, or for the removal of sewage, or agreement to pay any annual, semi-annual or quarterly sum by way of permanent rental reserved therefor, shall be deemed to create an indebtedness of such city, town or village under any act limiting the amount of such indebtedness, unless and to the extent that such municipality or municipalities shall covenant to pay for such system, extension or part thereof, including any such sewers, works, plants or stations under any right reserved in such contract or otherwise. Such system, extension or part thereof shall, when accepted under such contract, and such works, plants or stations, may if so provided therein, pass into the use, possession, management and control of such municipality or municipalities, and it or they shall, by proper provision in the said contract, subject such contract to its or their right at any time to terminate all its or their liability under the same for such rental by paying for such system, extension or part thereof a price named therein or to be determined in accordance with the provisions thereof, and it or they may by proper division in such contract, covenant to terminate its or their liability in such manner at a time or within a period named therein, but the sum or rental to be paid for such use and possession or the price which must be paid for such system, extension or part thereof in order to terminate the liability of such municipality or municipalities under such contract, shall not be fixed by said contract beyond a period of thirty years, after which and at any time thereafter, if such municipality or municipalities shall not have terminated its or their liability under said contract, the sum or rental to be paid for the continued use and possession of such system, extension or part thereof or the price at which the same must be paid for in order to terminate such liability, which sum or rental and which price shall be based on the value of such system, extension or part thereof at any such time, shall be fixed by agreement, or in the absence of agreement by application to a competent court and under its order, but each such agreement or order shall be limited to a period not exceeding ten years. And such local authorities may also at any time contract for the maintenance and operation of any such system, extension or part thereof, including any such works, plants or stations or of any sewerage or sewage disposal system or part thereof owned or used by any such municipality or municipalities. [General Municipal Law, § 120-c, as added by L. 1917, ch. 709.]

Officers of meeting.—In order to facilitate business procedure, the local authorities of the several municipalities or districts meeting jointly for the purposes herein provided shall, at a meeting at which all the municipalities and districts intending to act jointly are represented, choose from among their number a chairman, who shall act as such until his successor is chosen in a similar manner. Such meeting, when organized, shall elect a secretary who may or may not be a member of one of the local boards meeting jointly. [General Municipal Law, § 120-d, as added by L. 1917, ch. 709.]

By whom proposed district meeting represented.—Until a sewer district of a town is organized as provided by the town law, the supervisor, or a member of the town board appointed by the supervisor, of the town in which the proposed sewer district is located, may act for and on behalf of the people of the territory proposed to be embraced in a sewer district, when requested so to do by a petition in writing signed by not less than five per centum of the voters of such proposed district, at such joint meeting of municipalities and districts; provided, however, that neither the town nor any property within the town, except such property as may be within such proposed district, shall be chargeable with any debt or expenses created by such municipalities or districts acting jointly. [General Municipal Law, § 120-e, as added by L. 1917, ch. 709.]

Contract; how executed.— No municipality or district acting jointly as herein provided shall be bound by any contract or agreement unless such contract or agreement be signed and executed by a majority of the local authorities of such municipality having care of sewerage in such municipality or district. [General Municipal Law, § 120-f, as added by L. 1917, ch. 709.]

Apportionment of cost.— Before any such contract for construction mentioned in section one hundred and twenty-c shall become effective, such local authorities shall determine the part or proportion of the annual cost thereof, if any, which is to be assessed upon the property benefited thereby, and the method of such assessment, and shall provide that any part thereof not actually paid out of such assessment shall be paid out of the general funds to be raised by a tax in such city, town, village or sewer district. In the case of a town, the petition for the creation of such sewer district, or supplemental petition, shall request the construction of such sewer system, extension or part thereof, as herein provided, and such petition shall comply in form, substance and in the manner of execution, so far as applicable thereto, to the requirements of section two hundred and thirty of the town law, except that it may state that the annual sum or rental to be paid for the use of said plant or for the removal of sewage as herein provided shall be fixed and assessed in the first instance for the full period named in any such contract, not exceeding thirty years, and that any part thereof not actually paid out of such assessment may be reassessed upon the property in such district. Before acting on any such petition, the town board shall give the notice provided in section two hundred and thirty-a of the town law, and the assessment shall be made in form and substance so far as applicable thereto as provided in section two hundred and thirty-seven of said law. [General Municipal Law, § 120-g, as added by L. 1917, ch. 709.]

Further provisions as to apportionment of cost.—Each of the contracting municipalities or districts shall pay its just and proportionate share for the public improvement authorized by this act and the general laws, including its just and proportionate share of the cost for the removal of sewage and of maintenance and carrying charges of the system. The manner of arriving at the share each local government shall bear and the method of payment thereof as hereinafter provided shall be determined by its local board or commissioners having charge of sewage, before such contract for construction or for sewage removal becomes effective, as hereinafter provided. [General Municipal Law, § 120-h, as added by L. 1917, ch. 709.]

Bond issues and assessments.— The indebtedness created for such public works may be paid by each contracting municipality, including a sewer district of a town, wholly by a bond issue; or partly by a bond issue, and partly by assessment on the property deemed specially benefited by such improvement and partly by money raised by general taxation; or partly by a bond issue and partly by assessment on the property deemed specially benefited by such improvement. In the case of a sewer district of a town the petition for the creation thereof or a supplemental petition may state the means of payment as above provided and the assessment therein shall be made in form and substance so far as applicable as provided in section two hundred and thirty-seven of said law, except that such sewer commissioner shall assess a part of the district's proportionate share of the total cost of such system on the lands within such district, or extension of an existing district in proportion, as nearly as may be, to the benefit which each lot or parcel will derive therefrom. Such sewer commissioners shall determine the amount to be raised by general taxation for such expense and the amount to be raised by bond, if any. [General Municipal Law, § 120-i, as added by L. 1917, ch 709.]

Notes in anticipation of assessments.— For the purpose of defraying the costs and expenses of such public improvement as is authorized hereby in respect of which an assessment for benefits may be made on lands and real estate situated in any such contracting municipality, the governing body or board having charge of the finances of any such contracting municipality may, if necessary, borrow money and secure the payment of the same by the notes or other temporary obligations of such municipality; these notes and obligations may be renewed from time to time until such improvement or works be completed or the assessment for benefits confirmed; when so confirmed the said governing body or board of such municipality shall provide the cost and expenses of such improvements in the manner herein or in general laws provided. [General Municipal Law, § 120-j, as added by L. 1917, ch. 791.]

Payments; how made.— It shall be lawful for the governing body or board having control of the finances of such contracting municipality, in lieu of issuing the bonds of such municipality, to pay its proportion of the costs and expenses of any improvements jointly contracted for and made under this act, with money to be raised by taxation, after the making of the public improvements herein authorized have been determined upon and a joint contract made and entered into pursuant to the provisions of this act, or by paying the whole or part of such indebtedness out of all moneys belonging to such contracting municipality not otherwise appropriated or required. [General Municipal Law, § 120-k, as added by L. 1917, ch. 791.]

Letting of contracts.— Whenever any work to be performed or materials to be furnished in or about any improvement to be made by two or more municipalities under the provisions of this act shall involve an expenditure of any sum of money exceeding five hundred dollars, the municipal bodies or boards of the contracting municipalities, by their official action taken in joint meeting as herein provided, shall designate a time when they will meet at their usual place of meeting to receive proposals, in writing, for doing the work or furnishing the materials, and such joint meeting shall order the chairman and secretary thereof to give notice, by advertisement inserted in one or more newspapers published or circulating in the municipalities jointly contracting, at least two weeks before the time of such meeting, of the work to be done or materials to be furnished, of which at the time of such order they shall cause to be filed in the office of such joint meeting particular specifications; all proposals received shall be publicly opened by such chairman in the presence and during a session of such joint meeting, and of all others who choose to attend the said meeting; not more than one proposal shall be received from any one person, directly or indirectly, for the same contract work or materials; and the said joint meeting may reject any and all of said proposals and direct its chairman and secretary to advertise for new proposals and accept such as shall in the opinion of a majority of the municipalities represented in said joint meeting be deemed most advantageous for the said municipalities, subject, however, to the reservations herein provided; the board may require a bond or deposit from the person submitting a proposal, the liability of such bond to accrue, or such deposit to be forfeited to the municipality, or municipalities, in case such person shall refuse to enter into a contract in accordance to his proposal. The proposal so accepted shall be reduced to a contract in writing, and a satisfactory bond to be approved by such joint meeting shall be required and given for its faithful performance, but all contracts when awarded shall be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder offering satisfactory security; this section shall not apply to any engineer or agent of the joint contracting municipalities engaged in supervising or directing the work of such improvements. [General Municipal Law, § 120-l, as added by L. 1917, ch. 709.]

Application of other laws to procedure.— Except where inconsistent with this act, or otherwise permitted hereunder the apportionment of local assessments and the manner of payment of the expense of construction of such public works shall be as provided in the town law, the village law, the general cities law, or in the manner provided in any special city and of any contracting city. [General Municipal Law, § 120-m, as added by L. 1917, ch. 709.]

Map and plan, etc.— Before taking any proceedings for the construction of any sewer or of any system of sewers or of any addition thereto or alteration thereof, such municipality or municipalities acting severally or jointly shall cause to be made a map and plan therefor, or an amendment of any map and plan previously approved, as the case may be, and shall submit the same to the state commissioner of health for his approval, and upon his approval the same shall be filed in his office. A copy of such map and plan or of any such amendment thereof shall also be filed in the office of the clerk of each such municipality. Any such map and plan shall include specifications of dimensions, connections and outlets or sewage disposal works and may also include any existing sewer which it shall be found feasible and proper to incorporate or include in the proposed system. No work of any kind shall be done on or for the construction, extension, reconstruction, removal or modification of any system of sewers or of any sewer thereof until a map and plan covering the entire system shall first have been duly approved and filed as above provided, and in the execution of the construction, extension, reconstruction, removal or modification of any system of sewers or of any sewer thereof no deviations from the plans as finally approved and filed shall be made until plans or descriptions adequately showing such deviations are first approved and filed as above provided. The state commissioner of health, in approving said map and plan or by a certificate supplementing any such approval, may authorize such municipality or municipalities to temporarily omit or defer the construction of any portion of any such sewer or system of sewers. A copy or copies of his approval or of any such supplemental certificate shall be certified to each such municipality and filed in the office of the clerk thereof. [General Municipal Laws, § 120-n, as added by L. 1917, ch. 709.]

Definitions.— The words "joint meeting" as used in this act shall be construed to mean the meeting or assembly of the members of the governing bodies or boards of the several municipalities having authority to make and enter into a contract for the construction jointly of public improvements, pursuant to and by virtue of the provisions of this act. [General Municipal Law, 120-o, as added by L. 1917, ch. 709.]

Referendum in cities and villages.—In any such city or village, whether acting severally or jointly, a copy of such contract, for construction mentioned in section one hundred and twenty-c, with a copy of the determination required in section one hundred and twenty-g, shall be published at least twice in one or more newspapers published therein, including the official newspaper or newspapers, if any, of such city or village, or posted in not less than five public places, and published at least twice in a newspaper circulating in such municipality if no newspaper is published therein. If, within fifteen days after the publication or posting of such contract and determination, a protest or protests against such contract shall be filed in the office of the clerk of such city or village signed either by not less than one-third of the governing body adopting such resolution or by a three per centum in number of the taxpayers thereof whose names appear on the last preceding assessment roll of real property, excluding special franchises, then such contract shall not become effective unless the governing body shall by a further resolution provide for the submission to the taxpaying voters of a proposition to ratify such contract, nor unless, within sixty days after such publication or posting such proposition shall be adopted at a general election or at a special election to be called and held for that purpose, by a majority of the voters voting on such proposition. At any such election only voters entitled to vote for an officer and women qualified to vote for an officer except as to sex, owning real property other than special franchises assessed in their names upon the last preceding assessment roll of such city or village, shall be entitled to vote upon such proposition. At least ten days' notice of any election under this section shall be given by the clerk of the city or village by publication at least twice in one or more newspapers, including the official newspaper or newspapers, if any, of such city or village, or by posting in at least five public places, if no newspaper is published therein. Such election may be held and the result canvassed and certified as may be required by any general or special law applicable to an election upon a proposition in any such city or village, or in the absence of any such law as may be prescribed by any general ordinance. The voting shall be by ballot prepared, in the form prescribed by the election law. The facts as to the filing and sufficiency of any protests under this section, and as to the calling, holding or result of any election which may be required or held under this section or under any other statute with respect to the authorization of any such improvement or the ratification of any ordinance authorizing the same, and all facts affecting the validity of any contract mentioned in section one hundred and twenty-c, including the organizations or acts of any town or sewer district shall, for the purpose of this section, be conclusively determined by a resolution of the governing body of any such city, town or village. A copy of such resolution shall be published twice in one or more newspapers, including the official newspaper or newspapers, if any, of such city, town or village, or posted in not less than five public places if no newspaper is published therein, and the facts therein stated shall not be disputed in any action commenced after the expirataion of ten days after such publication or posting involving the validity of such contract, or of any tax, assessment or other charge to meet any payment thereunder, and such contract shall be conclusively deemed to be valid unless entered into in violation of this section, section one hundred and twenty, or section one hundred and twenty-c of this chapter. [General Municipal Laws, § 120-p, as added by L. 1917, ch. 709.]

General Municipal Law, §§ 120q, 120r, 120s; Town Law, § 140.

Rules and regulations.—Such person, persons or corporation operating and maintaining such system or contracting for the removal of sewage as herein provided shall be subject to such rules, ordinances and regulations as said municipalities may establish, not inconsistent with any contract made therefor. [General Municipal Law, § 120-q, as added by L. 1917, ch. 709.]

Failure to keep system in good condition; penalty, etc.— In the event of such person, persons or corporation failing and neglecting to keep said system of sewage in good healthy and effective condition after due notice in writing of not less than sixty days, from any municipality using the same, their rights, of such person, persons or corporation, guaranteed under such contract may be canceled by such municipality, except that such municipality or municipalities shall pay the fair and reasonable value of such sewerage system as provided in such lease or contract. This section shall not apply if such system is under the management and control of one or more of such contracting municipalities. [General Municipal Law, § 120-r, as added by L. 1917, ch. 709.]

Municipalities acting jointly; powers.— The joint meeting representing any two or more of such municipalities, as aforesaid, shall have power with their consent and on their behalf and by its own proper officers to enter into any contract and to acquire, by purchase or condemnation, and to hold, maintain and operate any property, necessary or desirable for any of the purposes authorized as aforesaid, as fully and to the same extent as any municipality acting severally. [General Municipal Law, § 120-s, as added by L. 1917, ch. 709.]

§ 8. APPROPRIATION BY TOWN BOARD FOR SHADE TREE FUND.

A town board of a town in which a tree warden is appointed may, by resolution, appropriate annually not exceeding two hundred dollars, to be known as the shade tree fund, and which shall be used and expended by the tree warden for the setting out and preservation of shade trees along the highways in such town. [Town Law, § 140; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 6191.]

§ 9. ACQUISITION AND DEVELOPMENT OF FOREST LANDS.

The governing board of a county, town or village may severally acquire for such county, town or village, by purchase, gift, lease or condemnation, and hold as the property of such municipality, tracts of land having forests or tree growth thereon, or suitable for the growth of trees, and may appropriate therefor the necessary moneys of the county, town or village for which the lands are acquired. Such lands shall be under the management and control of such board and shall be developed and used for the planting and rearing of trees thereon and for the cultivation thereof according to the principles of scientific forestry, for the benefit and advantage of the county, town, or village. The determination of any such board to acquire lands under the provisions of this section shall be by resolution; but the question of the final adoption of such resolution shall be taken up by the board only after public notice thereof has been published for at least two weeks, as follows: If it be a resolution of a board of supervisors, the publication shall be made in the newspapers in which the session laws and concurrent resolutions are required to be published: if it be a resolution of a town board or of a board of trustees of a village, the publication shall be made in a newspaper published in the town or village, respectively. The board shall give a hearing to all persons appearing in support of or in opposition to such proposed resolution. If it be determined to purchase such lands the moneys necessary therefor may be provided as follows: If the acquisition be by a county, the board of supervisors may cause such moneys to be raised by taxation and levied and collected as other county taxes or may borrow money therefor on the credit of the county by the issuance and sale of county bonds in the manner provided by law for the issuance and sale of other county obligations; if the acquisition be by a town, the moneys necessary therefor shall constitute a town charge and be raised by taxation as other town charges, or, the town board may in its discretion, cause town bonds to be issued and sold in the manner provided by law for the issuance and sale of town bonds, under the town law, to pay judgments; if the acquisition be by a village, the moneys therefor may be raised by taxation, as other village taxes, or by the issuance and sale of village bonds in the manner provided by the laws governing such village relating to village obligations, after the adoption of a resolution therefor by the board of trustees, without other authorization. All revenues and emoluments from lands so acquired shall belong to the municipality and emoluments from lands so acquired shall belong to the municipality and in reduction of taxation therein. Such forest lands shall be subject to such rules and regulations as such governing board of the municipality shall prescribe; but the principal object to be conserved in the maintenance of such lands shall be the sale of forest products in aid of the public revenues and the protection of the water supply of the municipality. Such lands or portions thereof may be sold and conveyed or leased, if a resolution therefor be adopted by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of all the members of such governing board; but no such resolution directing an absolute conveyance shall be effectual unless adopted after a public hearing, held upon notice given in the manner required in the case of a resolution to acquire such lands. A deed of conveyance or lease of such lands, when authorized as aforesaid, shall be executed by the county treasurer of the county, supervisor of the town or president of the village by which the conveyance or lease is made. Moneys may be appropriated for the care and maintenance of such lands and the development and use of forests thereon annually, by the county, town or village, respectively, and the amount thereof raised by taxation in the same manner that other expenditures of such county, town or village are provided for by law. [General Municipal Law, § 72a, as added by L. 1912, ch. 74.]

Explanatory note.

CHAPTER XXXII.

TOWN BOARD AS LOCAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

Local Boards of Health.

The town board and a citizen of the town appointed by it constitute local board of health of the town. The board should meet as a board of health at stated intervals, to be prescribed by the rules of the board. The presiding officer may call special meetings of the board whenever the protection of the public health requires it. The presiding officer may be elected by the board at its meeting to be held after each biennial town meeting. If no such officer is elected the supervisor should act as the presiding officer. The board should at its first meeting held after the biennial town meeting appoint the additional member required by law. This member has the same powers as the other members of the board and should participate in all its meetings.

Health Officer.

The board of health must appoint a health officer, who shall be a competent physician, residing in the town or an adjoining town. His term of office is four years. He may be removed for just cause by the board or the state commissioner of health, after a hearing. The powers and duties of the health officer are to be prescribed by the board. He is the chief executive officer of the board, and as such, must carry into effect the orders and rules and regulations of the board. The compensation of the health officer must be fixed by the board, but shall not be less than ten cents per annum for each inhabitant of the town. He may be paid his reasonable expenses in attending the annual conference of health officers. Such expenses are a legal charge against the town. His compensation, and all other necessary expenses incurred by him in the performance of his duties, should be audited by the town board and paid in the same manner as other town charges. Additional compensation may be allowed where an epidemic has broken out in the town, and the health officer has been compelled to perform extraordinary services.

Orders and Regulations.

The board must make and publish all orders and regulations deemed necessary by them for the preservation of life and health in the town. Such orders and regulations have the force of law, and may be enforced the same as a law passed by the legislature, provided they are reasonable and within the power of the board to make. Where special cases are to be dealt with, as the suppression of nuisances, an order may be made and enforced, without publication. For the purpose of determining whether such a special order should issue in a particular case, the board may conduct hearings and compel the attendance of witnesses by the issue of subpœnas, and administer oaths to such witnesses and compel them to testify. The board may prescribe penalties for the violation of any of its orders or regulations, not exceeding one hundred dollars for a single violation.

Registration of Births, Marriages and Deaths.

The board must see to it that proper provisions are made for the registration of all births and deaths occurring within the town, and the cause of death. Birth certificates must be made out by physicians or midwives attending at such births. The cost of such registration, not exceeding twenty-five cents, is a charge against the town.

Burial and Burial Permits.

The board should prescribe sanitary regulations for the burial and removal of corpses. The board must designate the town clerk and health officer to grant permits for the burial of such corpses and for their transportation beyond the country where the death occurred.

Infectious and Contagious Diseases.

The board must guard against the introduction and spread of such infectious and contagious diseases as are designated by the state department of health. Infected persons may be quarantined by order of the board and suitable places for the treatment and care of such persons must be provided, where they cannot be otherwise provided for.

Explanatory note.

Notice of every case of any such disease must be given by every physician to the health officer. The health officer is required to report all such cases to the state department of health. The board must provide a suitable supply of vaccine virus and if an epidemic of smallpox exists in the town must secure a fresh supply at least once a week, and provide thorough and safe vaccination for all persons in need of the same.

Suppression of Nuisances.

One of the most important duties of a board of health pertains to the suppression of nuisances. The board is required to receive and examine into all complaints made concerning nuisances. The members of the board, or persons designated by it, are authorized to enter upon premises where nuisances are alleged to exist, and to examine and inspect such premises. If facts are found to exist warranting supression of a nuisance an order should be issued to that effect. Notice should be given to the owner of the premises, of the complaint made, and if after an examination of the premises there is any doubt as to the existence of the nuisance, the owner should be given a hearing before an order is issued directing its suppression. In every case the owner must be given a statement of the results and conclusions of an examination made by the board or its officers or servants. The court of appeals has held that a board may act upon its own inspection and knowledge of the alleged nuisance, without a hearing. But jurisdiction depends upon the existence of facts establishing the nuisance, and in contested cases it will be advisable to give a formal hearing to the owner of the premises.

If the owner or occupant of premises fails to comply with the order of the board directing the abatement of a nuisance, provision is made by the law for the abatement at the expense of the owner or occupant. The expense of such abatement is made a lien upon the premises affected.

SECTION 1. Town board to act as local board of health; health officer of town.
1a. Expenses of consolidated health district.
2. General powers and duties of local boards of health; rules and regulations; suppression of nuisances; subpoenas; warrants of arrest; penalties.

SECTION 3. Board to supervise registration of births, marriages and deaths; physicians, midwives, clergymen, etc., to furnish certificates; cost of registration a town charge.
4. Burial and burial permits.
5. Contagious and infectious diseases; duties of boards of health; reports of health officers to state commissioner of health; disease in almshouse.
5a. Providing for the care and maintenance of carriers of disease.
6. Complaints as to nuisances; order of board.
7. Removal of nuisances by board or its officers; expense to be paid by owner.
8. Expense of abatement of nuisances a lien upon the premises.
9. Removal of accumulation of water tending to breed mosquitoes; payment of expense.
10. Jurisdiction of town board of health over city or village; uniting of towns and villages in a combined sanitation and registration district.
11. Expenses incurred by town board of health a town charge; property of village exempted from taxation therefor.
12. Relief of indigent Indians in case of epidemic.
13. Mandamus against local board of health at instance of state board of health.

§ 1. TOWN BOARD TO ACT AS LOCAL BOARD OF HEALTH; HEALTH OFFICER OF TOWN.

Local boards of health.— There shall continue to be local boards of health[1] and health officers in the several cities, villages and towns of the state except as hereinafter provided.[2] * * * In towns the board of health shall consist of the town board.[3] The local board of health shall appoint a competent physician, not a member of the local board of health, to be the health officer of the municipality. Notwithstanding the provisions of any general or local law or charter, a physician who has received the degree of doctor of public health in course from any institution of learning recognized by the regents of the university of the state of New York, or who has com-

1. Power to sue and be sued. A board of health is not a corporation and cannot sue or be sued unless expressly authorized by statute. People v. Supervisors of Monroe, 18 Barb. 567; Gardner v. Board of Health, 4 Sand. (6 Super. Ct.) 153; affd. 10 N. Y. 409.

The preferring of charges and holding a hearing before declaring the office of village health officer vacant, may be dispensed with where said officer has failed to take and file the oath of office required by statute. Rept. of Atty. Genl., Sept. 9, 1910.

Jurisdiction of the local board of health and the state commissioner to entertain charges in the first instance, is concurrent. But where a complainant has failed to sustain his charges on the merits before one tribunal, he cannot institute another proceeding, on the same charges, before the other authority. Rept. of Atty. Genl., Oct. 26, 1910.

2. Part omitted, relating to boards of health in cities, has no reference to town board of health.

3. Compelling action by town board. If the town board fail to comply with the provisions of this section any citizen of the town may apply to the court for a pleted a course in public health approved by the public health council at the time of his appointment, shall be eligible for appointment as health officer. The term of office of the health officer shall be four years and he shall hold office until the appointment of his successor. He may be removed for just cause by the local board of health or the state commissioner of health after a hearing; such removal by the local board of health must be approved by the state commissioner of health. The health officer need not reside within the village or town for which he shall be chosen.[3a] Notice of the membership and organization of every local board of health shall be forthwith given by such board to the state department of health. The term "municipality," when used in this article, means the city, village, town or consolidated health district for which any such local board may be or is appointed. The provisions herein contained as to boards of health, and for the appointment of health officers, shall apply to all towns and villages, whether such villages are organized under general or special laws. The members of town boards and of village boards of trustees and of boards of health of consolidated health districts shall not receive additional compensation by reason of serving as members of boards of health. Any matter within the jurisdiction of a town or village board of health may be considered and acted upon at any meeting of such town board or village board of trustees.

The state commissioner of health, on the request of the town board of any town and the board of trustees of any village and the common council or other like authority of any city, may combine into one health

People ex rel. Boltzer v. Daley, 37 Hun 461. For full provisions relating to the powers and duties of local boards of health, see Boyce's Health Officers' Manual, 1910.

3a. Vacancy. Mandamus will lie to compel board of health to fill vacancy in office of health officer. People ex rel. Lynch v. Pierce (1912), 149 App. Div. 286, 133 N. Y. Supp. 802.

Oath of office. Health officer required to take oath of office. In case of failure vacancy exists which may be filled by local board, without notice or judicial procedure. People ex rel. Walton v. Hicks, 173 App. Div. 338, 153 N. Y. Supp. 757.

district, hereinafter referred to as a consolidated health district, any two or more of such towns, villages or cities and may on the request of the town board of any town, board of trustees of any village or common council or other like authority of any city at any time thereafter set apart such town, village or city as a separate health district. In any consolidated health district there shall be a board of health which shall consist of the supervisor of each town, the president of the board of trustees of each village, and the mayor of each city included in each district, provided that if the number of members so provided for is an even number, such members shall within thirty days after such district shall have been established by the state commissioner of health choose an additional member of such board of health to be known as the elective member. An elective member shall serve for a term of two years from the first day of January preceding his election and until his successor shall have been appointed, provided that if at any time the number of members of the board of health, excluding the elective member, shall become an odd number, the term of office of the elective member shall thereupon cease.

The board of health of a consolidated health district shall from time to time elect a president from among its members. The health officer of a consolidated health district shall serve as the secretary of the board of health thereof without additional remuneration therefor.

In each such consolidated health district the board of health shall appoint a health officer. Each board of health and each health officer of a consolidated health district shall have all the rights, powers, duties and obligations conferred and imposed by law upon boards of health and health officers respectively.

When any consolidated health district is established, as herein provided, the boards of health of the towns, villages or cities included within such district, shall thereupon cease to exist as boards of health, and all their rights, powers, duties and obligations shall thereupon be transferred to the board of health of such district. When the board of health of any such consolidated health district shall have appointed a health officer therefor, the terms of office of the health officers of the towns, villages or cities included in such district shall cease, and all their rights, powers, duties and obligations shall thereupon be transferred to and imposed upon the health officer appointed for such consolidated health district.

The board of health of any such consolidated health district shall from time to time audit all accounts, and allow or reject all charges, claims and demands against such health district for the remuneration and expenses of the health officer, registrar or registrars, and for all other expenses lawfully incurred by said board of health or on its authority. Unless such board of health of such consolidated health district adopts the estimate system of payment as provided by this section they shall, prior to the annual meeting of the board of supervisors each year, make an abstract, to be known as the consolidated health district abstract, of the names of all persons who have presented to them accounts to be audited, the amounts claimed by each such person and the amounts finally audited and approved by them respectively, and, if such district be wholly in one county, shall deliver such abstract to the clerk of the board of supervisors. If such consolidated health district be located in more than one county the board of health of such district shall divide the total amount of the consolidated health district abstract as audited and approved in proportion to the assessed valuation of the real and personal property of the towns, villages or cities of such consolidated health district located in each county, as determined by the last preceding assessment-rolls of the towns or cities wholly or partly included in such district, and shall deliver a certified copy of such abstract to the board of supervisors of each such county, with a statement of the amount due from the real and personal property of each town, village or city of the consolidated health district in each such county on account of the expenses of such board. The board of supervisors of each such county shall levy a tax upon the real and personal property within such health district sufficient to provide for the sums audited and approved by the board of health thereof and chargeable to the real and personal property of each town, village or city of the consolidated health district in each such county. Such sums, when collected and paid to the county treasurer of each such county respectively, shall be paid by him to the president of such board of health and shall be disbursed by him in accordance with the abstract of claims audited and approved by such board of health, as hereinabove provided.

The board of health of any consolidated health district may annually make an estimate of the expenses of such board for the ensuing calendar year and, if such district be wholly in one county, shall deliver a certified copy of such estimate to the clerk of the board of supervisors of such county prior to the annual meeting of the board preceding such year. If such consolidated health district be located in more than one county, the board of health of such district shall proportion the total amount of such estimate in the same manner as provided by this section for proportioning the expenses of such a district when audited and approved by the board, and shall deliver to the clerk of the board of supervisors of each such county a certified statement of the total estimate and the amount due from the real and personal property of each town, village or city of the consolidated health district in each such county on account thereof. The board of supervisors of each such county shall levy a tax upon the real and personal property within such health district sufficient to provide for the portion of the amount of such estimate chargeable to the real and personal property of each town, village or city of the consolidated health district in each such county.

Such sums, when collected and paid to the county treasurer of each county respectively shall be paid by him to the president of such board of health and shall be disbursed by the board of health in accordance with the estimates. After such estimate system has been adopted by a consolidated health district, the board of health thereof shall deduct from the estimate for the succeeding calendar year the amount, if any, remaining in the hands of such board after all of the liabilities incurred on account of the preceding estimate have been paid, before the certified statement of the total estimate and the amount due from real and personal property of each town, village or city of the consolidated health district in each such county is certified to the respective clerks of the boards of supervisors for collection. [Public Health Law, § 20, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 165, L. 1913, ch. 559, L. 1915, ch. 124, L. 1916, ch. 369, and L. 1918, ch. 275; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4428.]

§ 1a. EXPENSES OF CONSOLIDATED HEALTH DISTRICT.

A consolidated health district may adopt the estimate system as provided by section twenty of this chapter, and, as provided by such section, may make and file with the clerk of the board of supervisors of the county, or if such district be located in more than one county, with the clerk of the board of supervisors of each such county, an estimate for the remainder of the current year and for the ensuing calendar year, and may issue a certificate of indebtedness upon the credit of the district for such portion of such estimate as may be needed to pay the expenses of the board until the tax levied on account of such assessment shall have been collected and paid to the board as provided by section twenty of this chapter. Such tax when collected shall be applicable in the first instance to the payment of such certificate. [Public Health Law, § 20-a, as added by L. 1917, ch. 182.]

§ 2. GENERAL POWERS AND DUTIES OF LOCAL BOARDS OF HEALTH; RULES AND REGULATIONS; SUPPRESSION OF NUISANCES; SUBPOENAS; WARRANTS OF ARREST; PENALTIES.

Every such local board of health shall meet at stated intervals to be fixed by it in the municipality. The presiding officer of every such board may call special meetings thereof when in his judgment the protection of the public health of the municipality requires it, and he shall call such meeting upon the petition of at least twenty-five residents thereof, of full age, setting forth the necessity of such meeting. Every such local board, subject to the provisions of the public health law and of the sanitary code, shall prescribe the duties and powers of the local health officer, who shall be its chief executive officer, and direct him in the performance of his duties, and fix his compensation, which in case of health officers of cities, towns and villages, having a population of eight thousand or less, shall not be less than the equivalent of ten cents per annum per inhabitant of the city, town or village according to the latest federal or state enumeration; and in cities, towns and villages having a population of more than eight thousand shall not be less than eight hundred dollars per annum.[5] In addition to his compensation so fixed, the board of health must allow the actual and reasonable expenses of said health officer in the performance of his official duties and in going to, attending and returning from, the annual sanitary conference of health officers, or equivalent meeting, held yearly within the state, and conferences called by the sanitary supervisor of the district, and whenever the services rendered by its health officer shall include the care of smallpox, the board of health shall allow, or whenever such services are extraordinary, by reason of infectious diseases, or otherwise, they may in their discretion, allow to him such further sum in addition to said fixed compensation as shall be equal to the charges for consultation services in the locality, audited by the town board of a town, by the board of trustees of a village or by the proper auditing board of a city of the third class, which said expenses and said additional compensation shall be a charge upon and paid by the municipality as provided in section thirty-five of this chapter. Every such local board shall make and publish from time to time all such orders and regulations, not inconsistent with the provisions of the sanitary code, as it may deem necessary and proper for the preservation of life and health and the execution and enforcement of this chapter in the municipality.[6] It

4a. A village is not liable for the expenses of a health officer in successfully defending a suit brought against him for alleged willful, careless and negligent acts committed by him as health officer, nor can the village pay the same. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1911), vol. 2, p. 556.

5. Compensation of local health officer.—The local board of health may fix compensation of a local health officer and allow his reasonable expenses in attending the annual sanitary conference of health officers, and the town board must audit such allowances and may not refuse because the health officer serving for a fixed salary failed to keep a detailed statement of services rendered, or his duties were not prescribed by the board of health, or because the auditing board did not agree with the health board as to the rate of compensation. People ex rel. Sherwood v. Blood, 120 App. Div. 614, 105 N. Y. Supp. 20.

Compensation of a legally appointed local health officer having been fixed by the board of health appointing him should not be diminished during his regular term. Rept. of Atty. Genl., May 17, 1911.

Delegation of authority as to inspection of milk and dairies unauthorized. A local board of health has no power to delegate its authority in respect to matters of judgment and discretion. City of Hudson v. Fleming, 139 App. Div. 327, 123 N. Y. Supp. 1065.

6. Orders and regulations.—An order made by a town board of health at a shall make without publication thereof, such orders and regulations for the suppresion of nuisances and concerning all other matters in its judgment detrimental to the public health in special or individual cases, not of general application, and serve copies thereof upon the owner or occupant of any premises whereon such nuisances or other matters may exist, or upon which may exist the cause of other nuisances to other premises, or cause the same to be conspicuously posted thereon.[7] The health officer may employ such persons as shall be necessary to enable meeting at which the citizen member was not present, not having been notified to attend, is invalid. Schoepflin v. Calkins, 5 Misc. 159; 25 N. Y. Supp. 696. There is no question but what the legislature may in the exercise of its constitutional authority confer on boards of health the power to enact sanitary ordinances having the force of law within the districts over which their jurisdiction extends. Polinsky v. People, 73 N. Y. 65; Health Department v. Knoll, 70 N. Y. 530; Metropolitan Board of Health v. Heister, 37 N. Y. 661; People ex rel. Cox v. Justices of Sessions, 7 Hun, 214. Regulations so adopted have the force of a statute, although they forbid and prescribe penalties for common law offenses. People ex rel. Meyer v. Special Sessions, 12 Week. Dig. 367. But the ordinances must be reasonable and declare with certainty the object and purpose for which they are enacted. McNall v. Kales, 61 Hun, 231; 16 N. Y. Supp. 7.

Where the legislature has fixed a standard of limitation of rights, it is not competent for the board of health to impose additional restrictions. Metropolitan Board of Health v. Schmades, 10 Abb. Pr. (N. S.) 205; 3 Daly 282.

Ordinances adopted by the board of health of a town forbidding the having or keeping within the town of any refuse vegetable or animal matter in a decayed or decaying condition and the boiling or cooking of garbage or refuse in an open vat or kettle permitting exhalations to escape into surrounding air, were held reasonable and valid. Town of Newtown v. Lyons, 11 App. Div. 105; 42 N. Y. Supp. 241. But an ordinance providing that: "No cow shall be kept within two hundred feet of any dwelling in the village of Flushing without a special permit obtained from the board of health," was held invalid upon the ground that while it would have been competent for the board to have forbidden the keeping of cows within two hundred feet of a dwelling house, it was not authorized to license cow stables in certain cases, since such a power is not conferred by the statute. Village of Flushing v. Carraher, 87 Hun 63; 33 N. Y. Supp. 951.

Rules and regulations of a local board of health should be posted as well as published. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1900), 244.

Power to make ordinances; penalty for disobedience of ordinances.—A village board of health has the power under this section to make both general and special orders for the protection of the public health. Under this statute, where such an order was made which did not prescribe any penalty, such board is without power, after the order has been disobeyed, to prescribe for the first time a penalty for the wrong already done. Village of Carthage v. Colligan (1915), 216 N. Y. 217, affg. 158 App. Div. 793.

Compensation for damages.—Laws and regulations of a police nature, though they may disturbe the enjoyment of individual rights, are not unconstitutional, though no provision is made for compensation for such disturbances. They do not appropriate private property for public use, but simply regulate its use and enjoyment by the owner. If he suffer injury it is either damnum absque injuria, or, in the theory of the law, he is compensated for it by sharing in the genral benefits which the regulations are intended to secure. Health Department v. Rector, 145 N. Y. 32, 43.

7. Suppression of nuisances.—The board of health, while authorized to order the suppression of nuisances, cannot make such an order unless there be a nuisance in fact, and it is the actual existence of that fact which gives them jurisdiction to him to carry into effect the orders and regulations of the board of health and the provisions of the public health law and of the sanitary code, and fix their compensation within the limits of the appropriation therefor. The board of health may issue subpœnas, compel the attendance of witnesses, administer oaths to witnesses and compel them to testify, and for such purposes it shall have the same powers as a justice of the peace of the state in a civil action of which he has jurisdiction.[8] It may designate by resolution one of its members to sign and issue such subpœnas. No subpœna shall be served outside the jurisdiction of the board issuing it, and no witness shall be interrogated or compelled to testify upon matters not related to the public health. It may issue warrants to any constable or policeman of the municipality to apprehend and remove such persons as cannot otherwise be subjected to its orders or regulations, and a warrant to the sheriff of the county to bring to its aid the power of the county whenever it shall be necessary to do so. Every warrant shall be forthwith executed by the officer to whom directed, who shall have the same powers and be subject to the same duties in the execution thereof, as if it had been duly issued out of a court of record of the state. Every such local board may prescribe and impose penalties for the violation of or failure to comply with any of its orders or regulations, not exceeding one hundred dollars for a single violation or failure, to be sued for and recovered by it in the name and

act. The determination of the board as to the existence of the nuisance is not final and conclusive upon the owner of the premises, where it is alleged to exist. People ex rel. Copcutt v. Board of Health, 140 N. Y. 1; 35 N. E. 320. The question of whether or not the nuisance exists is always an open one, upon which the jurisdiction of the board is based. Coe v. Schultz, 47 Barb. 64; 2 Abb. Pr. (N. S.) 193; see, also, Village of Flushing v. Carraher, 87 Hun, 63; 33 N. Y. Supp. 951, in which it was held that a declaration by a board of health that a particular establishment is a nuisance does not preclude the owner from contesting the question in the courts.

A resolution declaring the damming of the water in a particular river to be a dangerous nuisance and detrimental to the health of the inhabitants, and ordering such nuisance to be removed within three days, is too vague, indefinite and uncertain to authorize the removal of a mill dam which has been in existence for more than sixty years. Rogers v. Barker, 31 Barb. 447.

Certiorari.—Determination of board as to existence of nuisance is not reviewable by certiorari. People ex rel. Copcutt v. Board of Health, 140 N. Y. 1, revg. in effect. People ex rel. N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R. Co. v. Town of Seneca Falls, 35 N. Y. St. Rep. 411, 12 N. Y. Supp. 561.

Service of order to abate nuisance may be made outside of jurisdiction of board. Gould v. City of Rochester, 105 N. Y. 46.

8. Issue of subpoenas and taking of testimony.—A subpoena may be enforced by the board of health in the manner authorized by sections 854-862 of the Code of Civil Procedure, and a witness who, without reasonable cause refuses to be examined or to answer a legal and competent question may be committed to jail under a warrant issued by a judge of a court of record. Code Civ. Proc., sec. 856.

for the benefit of the municipality; and may maintain actions in any court of competent jurisdiction to restrain by injunction such violations, or otherwise to enforce such orders and regulations.[9] [Public Health Law, § 21, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 480, and L. 1913, ch. 559; B. C. & G. Cons. L., vol. 8, p. 205.]

§ 2. POWERS AND DUTIES OF LOCAL BOARDS OF HEALTH AS TO SEWERS.

Whenever such local board of health in any incorporated village shall deem the sewers of such village insufficient to properly and safely sewer such village, and protect the public health, it shall certify such fact in writing, stating and recommending what additions or alterations should in the judgment of such board of health be made, with its reasons therefor, to the state commissioner of health for his approval, and if such recommendations shall be approved by the state commissioner of health, it shall be the duty of the board of trustees or other board of such village having jurisdiction of the construction of sewers therein, if there be such a board, whether sufficient funds shall be on hand for such purpose or not, to forthwith make such additions to or alterations in the sewers of such village and execute such recommendations, and the expenses thereof shall be paid for wholly by said village in the same manner as other village expenses are paid or by an assessment of the whole amount against the property benefited, or partly by the village and partly by an assessment against the property benefited, as the board of trustees of such village shall by resolution determine. If the board of trustees shall determine that such expenses shall be paid partly by the village and partly by an assessment against the property benefited, as authorized by this section, it shall in the resolution making such determination fix the proportion of such expense to be borne by each,

9. Penalties for violation.—Town boards of health should fix a definite penalty for the violation of their regulations, and the amount so fixed should be the amount recovered in an action for such a penalty, and not a sum to be established at the trial for the offense. McNall v. Kales, 61 Hun, 231, 16 N. Y. Supp. 7; 40 N. Y. St. Rep. 719.

In the case of Board of Health of New Rochelle v. Valentine, 32 N. Y. St. Rep. 919; 11 N. Y. Supp. 112, it was held that an action for a penalty may be brought in the name of the board. See, also, Board of Health v. Copcutt, 140 N. Y. 12; 35 N. E. 320.

Penal provisions respecting the public health.—Section 1740 of the Penal Law provides that: "A person who wilfully violates any provision of the health laws, the punishment for violating which is not otherwise prescribed by those laws or by this code, and a person who wilfully violates or refuses or omits to comply with any lawful order or regulation prescribed by any board or health officer, or any regulation lawfully made or established by any public officer under authority and the proportion thereof to be raised by an assessment against the property benefited shall be assessed and collected in the manner provided by the village law for the assessment and collection of sewer assessments. Said village is hereby authorized to raise such sum as may be necessary for the payment of the expenses incurred, which are a village charge, if any, as herein provided, in addition to the amount such village is now authorized to raise by law for corporation purposes, and such board shall have the right to acquire such lands, rights of way, or other easements, by gift, or purchase, or in case the same cannot be acquired by purchase may acquire the same by condemnation in the manner provided by law. [Public Health Law, § 21a, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 559; B. C. & G. Cons. L., vol. 8, p. 2054.]

§ 3. GENERAL POWERS AND DUTIES OF HEALTH OFFICERS.

Health officers of towns and villages, in addition to such other duties as may be lawfully imposed upon them and subject to the provisions of the public health law and the sanitary code, shall perform the following duties:

1. Make an annual sanitary survey and maintain a continuous sanitary supervision over the territory within their jurisdiction.

2. Make a medical examination of every school child as soon as practicable after the opening of each school year, except in those schools in which the authorities thereof make other provision for the medical examination of the pupils.[9a]

3. Make a sanitary inspection periodically of all school buildings and places of public assemblage, and report thereon to those responsible for the maintenance of such school buildings and places of public assemblage.

4. Promote the spread of information as to the causes, nature and prevention of prevalent diseases, and the preservation and improvement of health.

5. Take such steps as may be necessary to secure prompt and full reports by physicians of communicable diseases, and prompt and full registration of births and deaths.

of the health laws, is punishable by imprisonment not exceeding one year or by a fine not exceeding $2,000, or by both."

It is further provided in section 1741 of the Penal Law that: "A person who wilfully opposes or obstructs a health officer or physician charged with the enforcement of the health laws in performing any legal duty, is guilty of a misdemeanor."

As to public nuisances generally, see Penal Law, secs. 1530-1533.

9a. This subdivision is superseded in effect by article 20-a of the Education Law, as added by L. 1913, ch. 227, which provides that inspection of school children shall be made by medical inspectors appointed by boards of education or school trustees.

6. Enforce within their jurisdiction the provisions of the public health law and the sanitary code.

7. Attend the annual conferences of sanitary officers called by the state department of health, and local conferences within his sanitary district, to which he may be summoned by the sanitary supervisor thereof.

The written reports of public health officers, inspectors, nurses and other representatives of public health officers on questions of fact under the public health law or under the sanitary code or any local health regulation shall be presumptive evidence of the facts so stated, and shall be received as such in all courts and places. The persons making such reports shall be exempt from personal liability for the statements therein made, if they have acted in good faith.

No health officer, inspector, public health nurse, or other representative of a public health officer, and no person or persons other than the city, village or town by which such health officer or representative thereof is employed shall be sued or held to liability for any act done or omitted by any such health officer or representative of a health officer in good faith and with ordinary discretion on behalf or under the direction of such city, village or town or pursuant to its regulations or ordi-

10. Registar of village board of health may be appointed from their own number. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1901) 173.

Town clerk should be designated as registrar. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1902) 148.

A village clerk is not required to act as registrar of vital statistics, without appointment or designation by the village board of health. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1911), vol. 2, p. 622.

Records as evidence. While it was the primary object of the legislature to furnish information on the subject of vital statistics for sanitary purposes, yet the language employed in the statute is broad enough to make the certificates of the cause of death of persons on file in the office of the town clerk in which such persons died, admissible in evidence upon the trial of an action, although such certificates are not under oath; and such certificates are prima facie evidence of the facts therein set forth. Woolsey v. Trustees of Ellenville, 84 Hun, 236; 32 N. Y. Supp. 546; see, also, Keefe v. Supreme Council, 37 App. Div. 276; 55 N. Y. Supp. 827.

The statute making certified copies of record as to the death of a person presumptive evidence as to the facts therein stated does not change the common law rule of evidence in controversies of private parties growing out of contracts. A copy of a record of a city board of health cannot, therefore, be proved in an action upon a life insurance policy for the purpose of showing that a material statement made by an applicant for insurance as to the cause of her mother's death was false. Beglin v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., 173 N. Y. 374.

11. Cost of registration of a town charge.—The statute imposes upon every local board of health the duty of supervising and making complete the registration nances, or the sanitary code, or the public health law. Any person whose property may have been unjustly or illegally destroyed or injured pursuant to any order, regulation or ordinance, or action of any board of health or health officer, or representative of a health officer, for which no personal liability may exist as aforesaid, may maintain a proper action against the city, village or town for the recovery of proper compensation or damages. Every such suit must be brought within six months after the cause of action arose and the recovery shall be limited to the damages suffered. [Public Health Law, § 21b, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 559; B. C. & G. Cons. L., vol. 8, p. 2054.]

§ 4. EMPLOYMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH NURSES.

Each health officer or other official exercising similar duties, by whatever official designation he may be known, shall have power to employ such number of public health nurses as in his judgment may be necessary within the limits of the appropriation made therefor by the city, town or village. They shall work under the direction of the health officer and may be assigned by him to the reduction of infant mortality, the examination or visitation of school children or children excluded from school, the discovery or visitation of cases of tuberculosis, the visitation of the sick who may be unable otherwise to secure adequate care, the instruction of members of households in which there is a sick person, or to such other duties as may seem to him appropriate. [Public Health Law, § 21c, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 559.]

§ 5. INFECTIOUS AND CONTAGIOUS OR COMMUNICABLE DISEASES; DUTIES OF BOARDS OF HEALTH; REPORTS OF HEALTH OFFICERS TO STATE COMMISSIONER OF HEALTH; DISEASE IN ALMSHOUSE.

Every local board of health and every health officer shall guard against the introduction of such infectious and contagious or communicable diseases as are designated in the sanitary code, by the exercise of proper and vigilant medical inspection and control of all persons and things infected with or exposed to such diseases, and provide suitable places for the treatment and care of sick persons who cannot otherwise be provided for.[13] They may, subject to the provisions of the sanitary code, prohibit and prevent all intercourse and communication with or use of infected premises, places and things, and require, and if necessary, provide the means for the thorough purification and cleansing of the same before general intercourse with the same or use thereof shall be allowed.[14] Every physician shall immediately give notice of every case of infectious and contagious or communicable disease required by the state department of health of all births, marriages and deaths occurring within its jurisdiction; and the cost of so doing, not to exceed the amount prescribed in the act, is a town charge which must be audited and allowed by the board of town auditors. People ex rel. Wemmell v. Town Auditors, 34 Hun 336.

12. Burial permits. A permit for the burial of the dead, with a transit permit to be reported to it, to the health officer of the city, town or village where such disease occurs, and no physician being in attendance on such case, it shall be the duty of the superintendent or other officer of an institution, householder, hotel or lodging house keeper, or other person where such case occurs, to give such notice. Whenever an examination for diagnosis by a laboratory, or by any person other than the physician in charge of the person from whom the specimen is taken, of any specimen discloses the existence of a case of infectious and contagious or communicable disease, the person in charge of such laboratory or the person making such examination shall immediately report the same, together with all the facts in connection therewith, to the health officer of the city, town or village where such laboratory is situated and also to the health officer of the city, town or village from which such specimen came and shall keep a permanent record of all the facts in connection with such examination, including the identity of the person from whom the specimen is taken and the name of the physician, if any, sending such specimen. The physician or other person giving such notice shall be entitled to the sum of twenty-five cents therefor, which shall be a charge upon and paid by the municipality where such case occurs. Every local health officer shall report to the state department of health, promptly, all cases of such infectious and contagious or communicable diseases, as may be required by the state department of health, and for such reporting the health officer of a village or town shall be paid by the municipality employing him, upon the certification of the state department of health, a sum not to exceed twenty cents for each case so reported. The reports of cases of tuberculosis made pursuant to the provisions of this section shall not be divulged or made public so as to disclose the identity of the persons to whom they relate, by any person; except in so far as may be authorized by the public health council. The board of health shall provide obtained from the board of health of the place where the death occurs, authorizes a body to be buried either in the county where the death occurred or in any other county without any permit in the latter case from the local board of health. Eickelberg v. Board of Health of Newtown, 47 Hun 371.

13. Quarantine. To justify the isolation of persons infected with or exposed to contagious and infectious diseases the fact must exist that such persons are so infected or have been so exposed. No authority is given by the statute to the board of health or health officer to quarantine a person simply because he refuses to be vaccinated, and to continue him in quarantine until he consents to such vaccination. Matter of Smith, 146 N. Y. 68; revg. 84 Hun 465, 32 N. Y. Supp. 317. The mere fact that a person has been exposed to the smallpox, although he refuse to be vaccinated, does not authorize the quarantine of such person; but conditions for the communication of the disease must exist. Smith v. Emery, 11 App. Div. 10, 42 N. Y. Supp. 258. As to liability of city health officer in enforcing quarantine established in compliance with city ordinance, see Crayton v. Larrabee, 220 N. Y. 493.

Infected clothing may be destroyed by a local board of health. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1894) 237.

Services of a town physician, who aids in inspecting smallpox cases in an Indian reservation, are a town charge. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1904) 282.

14. Exposing person affected with a contagious disease. Section 1756 of the Penal Law provides that: "A person who willfully exposes himself or another, affected with any contagious or infectious disease in any public place or thoroughfare, except upon his necessary removal in a manner not dangerous to the public health is guilty of a misdemeanor."

at stated intervals, a suitable supply of vaccine virus, of a quality and from a source approved by the state department of health, and during an actual epidemic of smallpox obtain fresh supplies of such virus at intervals not exceeding one week, and at all times provide thorough and safe vaccination for all persons in need of the same. If a pestilential, infectious, or contagious disease exists in any county almshouse or its vicinity, and the physician thereof shall certify that such disease is likely to endanger the health of its inmates, the county superintendent of the poor may cause such inmates or any of them to be removed to such other suitable place in the county as the local board of health of the municipality where the almshouse is situated may designate, there to be maintained and provided for at the expense of the county, with all necessary medical care and attendance until they shall be safely returned to such almshouse or otherwise discharged. The health officer, commissioner of health, or boards of health of the cities of the first class shall report promptly to the state department of health all cases of smallpox, typhus and yellow fever and cholera and the facts relating thereto. [Public Health Law, § 25, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 559, and by L. 1918, ch. 177; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4436.]

§ 5a. PROVIDING FOR THE CARE AND MAINTENANCE OF CARRIERS OF DISEASE.

Whenever an individual is declared by the state commissioner of health as being a carrier of typhoid fever bacilli and whenever, for the protection of the public health, the state commissioner of health shall have certified to the necessity of continued quarantine; or, whenever, in accordance with rules and regulations adopted by the state commissioner of health a carrier of the germs of typhoid fever is prevented from carrying on any occupation which would enable him to gain a livelihood, such individual may be given hospital or institutional care under the surveillance of the local health officer at the expense of the state if such hospital or institution in the judgment of the state commissioner of health be properly equipped for the care and maintenance of said individual.

When no such hospital or institution is available and when in the opinion of the state commissioner of health such individual may be cared for at home or in a private family with due regard to the protection of the public health the local charities commissioner or overseer of the poor shall, in accordance with rules and regulations adopted by the commissioner of health, furnish necessary medical attendance and maintenance. No expenditure for the purposes herein authorized shall be contracted for or incurred by any local overseer of the poor or charities commissioner until after such expenditure has been authorized and approved by the state commissioner of health. A verified statement of any such approved expense incurred hereunder shall be transmitted by the local overseer of the poor or charities commissioner to the state commissioner of health. The commissioner of health shall examine this statement and if satisfied that such authorized expenses are correct and necessary in accordance with rules and regulations adopted by him he shall audit and allow the same and when so audited the amount thereof shall be paid by the state treasurer on the warrant of the comptroller to such institution or local poor officer. [Public Health Law, § 36a, as added by L. 1916, ch. 371, in effect May 1, 1916.]

§ 6. COMPLAINTS AS TO NUISANCE; ORDER OF BOARD.

Every such board shall receive and examine into all complaints made by any inhabitant concerning nuisances, or causes of danger or injury to life and health within the municipality, and may enter upon or within any place or premises where nuisances or conditions dangerous to life and health or which are the cause of nuisances existing elsewhere are known or believed to exist, and by its members or other persons designated for that purpose, inspect and examine the same. The owners, agents and occupants of any such premises shall permit such sanitary examinations to be made, and the board shall furnish such owners, agents and occupants with a writtten statement of the results and conclusions of any such examination. Every such local board shall order the suppression and removal of all nuisances and conditions detrimental to life and health found to exist within the municipality.[15] Whenever the state department of health shall by notice to the presiding officer

15. Powers conferred by section are broad and general and should be interpreted, in the light of the beneficial purposes to be subserved. They include constant and necessary inspection and supervision with the view of anticipating, suppressing and preventing all dangers which may threaten the public health. Kent v. Village of North Tarrytown, 26 Misc. 86, 56 N. Y. Supp. 885, affd. 50 App. Div. 502, 64 N. Y. Supp. 178.

To justify a board of health in determining the existence of a nuisance facts must exist tending to show that the thing condemned is or is likely to become a nuisance. Unless such facts exist there is no justification for the exercise by the health officers of their jurisdiction. The question of the existence of a nuisance is in each case jurisdictional. If there is no nuisance the officers have no authority to act. Coe v. Schultz, 47 Barb. 64; 2 Abb. Pr. (N. S.) 193; People ex rel. Copcutt v. Board of Health, 140 N. Y. 1; 35 N. E. 320; Underwood v. Greene, 42 N. Y. 140.

No power to condemn property.—Local boards of health have no power to condemn private property for the purpose of building a sewer through it, in order to abate a nuisance on the adjoining property. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1894) 236.

Force of ordinance.—The legislature may confer on boards of health the power to enact sundry ordinances having the force of law within the localities for which they act. Cartwright v. City of Cohoes, 39 App. Div. 69, 56 N. Y. Supp. 731, affd. 165 N. Y. 631.

Under the provisions of this section a board of health cannot exercise the power of license, and an ordinance declaring certain conduct to be a nuisance "without special permit" is invalid. Village of Flushing v. Carraher, 87 Hun 63, 33 N. Y. Supp. 951.

What constitutes a nuisance.—A thing is a nuisance when, because of its inherent qualities or the use to which it is put, it works an injury to people who live in its neighborhood. Health Department v. Dassori, 21 App. Div. 348, 47 N. Y. Supp. 641.

Public nuisances. As to what are public nuisances, and as to the crime of maintaining public nuisances, see Penal Law, §§ 1530-1531.

Abatement of nuisances.—Officer acts at his peril, and is liable unless it appears that the thing abated was in fact a nuisance. Smith v. Irish, 37 App. Div. 220, 55 N. Y. Supp. 837; People ex rel. Copcutt v. Board of Health, 140 N. Y. 1.

of any local board of health, direct him to convene such local board to take certain definite proceedings concerning which the state department of health shall be satisfied that the action recommended by them is necessary for the public good, and is within the jurisdiction of such board of health, such presiding officer shall convene such local board, which shall take the action directed. [Public Health Law, § 26; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4439.]

§ 7. REMOVAL OF NUISANCES BY BOARD OR ITS OFFICERS; EXPENSE TO BE PAID BY OWNER.

If the owner or occupant of any premises whereon any nuisance or condition deemed to be detrimental to the public health exists or the cause of the existence elsewhere, fails to comply with any order or regulation of any such local board for the suppression and removal of any such nuisance or other matter, in the judgment of the board detrimental to the public health, made, served or posted as required in this

If nuisance is outside of jurisdiction board cannot summarily abate, but may invoke the aid of the court to restrain a violation of its order. Gould v. City of Rochester, 105 N. Y. 46, revg. 39 Hun 79.

The right to abate a nuisance arises from the necessity of the case, exists only because of that necessity and is to be exercised only so far as the necessity requires. A thing which is a nuisance because of the use to which it is put cannot be destroyed by way of abating the nuisance unless such destruction is necessary. If a nuisance can be abated by discontinuing the use it must be abated in that way. Health Department v. Dassori, 21 App. Div. 348, 47 N. Y. Supp. 641.

A town board of health has no jurisdiction to suppress a nuisance unless proof is made before the board that a nuisance exists. The board cannot impose a fine upon a person who tears up and obstructs a drain contrary to the rules of the board, where it does not appear by proof produced before the board that the obstructed drain was a nuisance, and where the person obstructing the drain has not been cited to appear before the board and show cause why he should not be ordered to remove the obstruction. Town of Fayette v. Greenleaf, 44 Misc. 352, 89 N. Y. Supp. 1093.

Notice.—In construing a local act, the court held that duties of the board of health, in respect to inquiring into and determining whether or not a nuisance existed, were of quasi judicial character and an omission to give notice of the proposed action was fatal. In the absence of any prescribed length of notice a reasonable opportunity is implied. People v. Board of Health, 58 Hun 595, 12 N. Y. S. 561. See also People v. Wood, 62 Hun 131, 16 N. Y. Supp. 664; Schoefflin v. Calkins & Davis, 5 Misc. 159, 25 N. Y. Supp. 696. But see People ex rel. Copcutt v. Board of Health, 140 N. Y. 1.

Judicial review.—The acts of municipal authorities in abating nuisances are not subject to judicial interference unless manifestly unreasonable or oppressive, or unwarrantably invade private rights or clearly transcend the powers granted to such authorities. Although a local act contains no provision that notice shall be given to the owner, he is entitled to an opportunity to contest in a judicial proceeding, the reasonableness of the order and the facts under which it proceeded. Eckhardt v. City of Buffalo, 19 App. 1, 46 N. Y. Supp. 204, affd. 156 N. Y. 658.

Existence of nuisance although declared to be such by board of health is still open to determination in the courts. Village of Flushing v. Carraher, 87 Hun, 63, 33 N. Y. Supp. 951; People ex rel. Copcutt v. Borad of Health, 140 N. Y. 1.

Action of board not reviewable by certiorari.—The board of health has a right to act upon its own inspection and knowledge of the alleged nuisance. It is not obliged to hear any party. It can obtain its information from any source and in any way, hence its determination upon the question of nuisance is not reviewable by certiorari. People ex rel. Copcutt v. Board of Health, 140 N. Y. 1.

article, such boards or their servants or employees may enter upon the premises to which such order or regulation relates, and suppress or remove such nuisance or other matter.[16] The expense of such suppression or removal shall be paid by the owner or occupant of such premises, or by the person who caused or maintained such nuisance or other matters, and the board may maintain an action in the name of the municipality to recover such expense, and the same when recovered shall be paid to the treasurer of the municipality, or if it has no treasurer to its chief fiscal officer, to be held and used as the funds of the municipality. 16. Abatement of nuisances. A board of health may abate a nuisance of a public character, and exercise every power necessary to this end, but it cannot go into the domain of public improvement and erect buildings and construct drains not necessary to the abatement of a nuisance and impose the burden upon the individual or his property. Haag v. City of Mt. Vernon, 41 App. Div. 366; 58 N. Y. Supp. 581. The law confers upon boards of health very extensive powers. When acting in good faith, and when the public health or comfort demands summary procedure on their part, they are justified in taking possession of, purifying, or even destroying the buildings or other property of a citizen. Regan v. Fosdick, 19 Misc. 489; 43 N. Y. Supp. 1102. If the only way in which a nuisance can be abated is by the destruction of a building, such destruction is authorized. Health Department v. Dassori, 21 App. Div. 348; 47 N. Y. Supp. 641.

The abatement of a nuisance and the charge of the expense thereof upon the owner or occupant causing the nuisance, should be exercised only in extreme cases, and then only upon notice and hearing. People v. Wood, 62 Hun, 131; 16 N. Y. Supp. 664.

It seems that whoever abates an alleged nuisance and thus destroys and injuries private property, or interferes with private rights, whether he be a public officer or a private person, unless he acts under a judgment or order of the court having jurisdiction, does it at his peril, and when his act is challenged in the regular judicial tribunals it must appear that the thing abated was in fact a nuisance. People ex rel. Copcutt v. Board of Health, 140 N. Y. 1; 35 N. E. 320.

Under the act from which this section was derived it was held that a town board of health may lawfully make an order for the suppression and removal of a nuisance consisting of the discharge of sewage on lands of a town by a city. Bell v. City of Rochester, 58 Hun, 602; 11 N. Y. Supp. 305.

Local board may order the removal of pulp wood from a river which is the source of the water supply. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1905) 362.

Abatement of nuisances on private property.—A resolution of the board of health that certain ponds are a menace to public health, declaring them to be nuisances and empowering the health officer to abate the same, is not sufficient to entitle a contractor employed by the health officer for the purpose of improving ponds to charge the towns with sums expended in working upon ponds belonging to private owners, who are not notified as required by statute. People ex rel. Burns v. Painter, 128 App. Div. 69, 112 N. Y. Supp. 473.

the suppression or removal of such nuisance or conditions detrimental to health demand the immediate expenditure of money, every such local board of health shall be authorized to use for such purpose any money in the hands of the board, or may call on the city council for such money or it may borrow the same on the credit of the municipality. All such moneys so expended or borrowed shall be immediately repaid to the fund or source whence they were received on the recovery of the same by action or otherwise from the persons responsible for the expenses of suppression or removal. [Public Health Law, § 31, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 559; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4442.]

§ 8. EXPENSE OF ABATEMENT OF NUISANCES A LIEN UPON THE PREMISES.

If execution upon a judgment for the recovery of the expense of the suppression or removal of a nuisance or other matter, pursuant to an order or regulation of any such local board, is returned wholly or in part unsatisfied, such judgment, if docketed in the place and manner required by law to make a judgment of a court of record a lien upon real property, shall be a first lien upon such premises, having preference over all other liens and incumbrances whatever. The board may cause such premises to be sold for a term of time for the payment and satisfaction of such lien and the expenses of the sale. Notice of such sale shall be published for twelve weeks successively, at least once in each week, in a newspaper of the city, village or town, or if no newspaper is published therein, in the newspaper published nearest to such premises. If the owner or occupant of the premises, or his agent, is known, a copy of such notice shall be served upon him, either personally, at least fourteen days previous to the sale, or by mail at least twenty-eight days prior thereto. The premises shall be sold to the person offering to take them for the shortest time, paying the amount unpaid on such judgment and interest and the expenses of such notice and sale. A certificate of the sale, signed and acknowledged by the president and secretary of the board, shall be made and delivered to the purchaser, and may be recorded as a conveyance of real property, and the purchaser shall thereupon be entitled to the immediate possession of such premises, and, if occupied, may maintain an action or proceeding to recover the possession thereof against the occupant, as against a tenant of real property holding over after the expiration of his term; and the cost of any such action or proceeding, if not paid by the occupant, shall also be a lien upon such premises, having the same preference as the lien of such judgment, and the right of the purchaser to such premises shall be extended for a longer term, which shall bear the same proportion to the original term as the amount of such costs bears to the amount paid by the purchaser on such sale. The term of the purchaser at any such sale shall commence when he shall have acquired possession of the premises sold. At any time within six months after recording such certificate, the owner of the premises or any lessee, mortgagee or incumbrancer thereof, or of any part of the same, may redeem the premises or any such part from such sale by paying to the purchaser the amount paid by him on the sale, and all costs and expenses incurred by him in any action or proceeding to recover possession with interest at the rate of ten per centum per annum thereon. If redemption is made by the owner, the right of the purchaser shall be extinguished; if by a lessee, the amount paid shall be applied as a payment upon any rent due or which may accrue upon his lease; if by a mortgagee or an incumbrancer, the amount paid shall be added to his mortgage, incumbrance or other lien, or if he have more than one to the oldest, and shall thereafter be a part of such mortgage, lien or incumbrance and enforceable as such. [Public Health Law, § 32; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4443.]

§ 9. REMOVAL OF ACCUMULATION OF WATER TENDING TO MOSQUITOES; PAYMENT OF EXPENSE.

Owner to bear all or part of expense of removal of waters wherein mosquito larvae breed.— Whenever the local board of health of a municipality shall determine that any accumulation of water wherein mosquito larvæ breed, constitutes a nuisance or a danger or injury to life or health, the owner or owners of the premises on which the breeding place is located shall bear the expense of its suppression or removal, or so much thereof as the local board may have determined to be equitable as hereinafter provided, and for the amount thereof an action may be maintained in the name of the municipality and the same shall become a first lien on the premises as provided by sections thirty-one and thirty-two of this article.[17] [Public Health Law, § 27, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 559; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4440.]

Assessing cost on property benefited.— If such local board shall determine, in its discretion, that, owing to the natural conditions which are favorable to the breeding of mosquitoes and owing to the benefits to be secured to the public by the suppression of such conditions, some part or all of the expense of suppressing or removing a breeding place for mosquitoes should, in equity, be borne by the owners of the property which will be benefited by such suppression or removal, the local board shall make application as hereinafter provided, for the appointment of three commissioners, and the county court of the county in which are situated the premises whereon the breeding place is located, or, in case such premises are situated in more than one county, the supreme court, shall thereupon appoint three persons as commissioners to proceed with the work necessary for the suppression or removal of such breeding place, and to apportion, assess and collect the cost thereof, as so determined from the owners of such property benefited. Such appointment, apportionment, assessment and collection shall be made in the manner provided for the appointment of commissioners to suppress and remove any such breeding place by draining the premises on which such breeding place is located by means of ditches and channels constructed over lands belonging to others and the owners of the premises to be drained and to apportion, assess and collect the cost thereof from the owners of the property benefited thereby. In any case where, under the provisions of this article commissioners are to determine what property is benefited and to what extent said property is benefited by the suppression or removal of any such breeding place, such commissioners shall not be restricted in their determination to property immediately adjoining the premises whereon such breeding place is located; and, in apportioning the benefit to any property, such commissioners may consider any circumstances by reason whereof any property will be benefited by the suppression and removal of such breeding place. [Public Health Law, § 28; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4440.]

17. As to establishment of commission for extermination of mosquitos in counties adjacent to the city of New York, having a population of less than 200,000, see Article 21 of Public Health Law, as inserted by L. 1916, ch. 408.

Municipality may bear part of expense.—If such local board shall have determined that, owing to the natural conditions which are favorable to the breeding of mosquitoes and owing to the benefit to be secured to the public by the suppression of such conditions, a part of the expense of such suppression or removal shall be borne by the owner of such premises and a part thereof by the municipality wherein the premises are situated, such owner or occupant may proceed to suppress or remove such breeding place and shall be reimbursed by the municipality for such proportion of the reasonable expense of such suppression or removal as the local board shall have determined should be borne by the municipality. For the purpose of ascertaining the actual cost of such suppression or removal, the local board or its duly authorized agents may at all times have access to the premises whereon the work is being carried on; and the owner of the premises shall furnish to such local board such information as such local board may deem necessary or desirable for the purpose of ascertaining such actual cost. If in any such case the owner of the premises shall not, within a reasonable time, proceed to suppress or remove such breeding place, the local board may proceed to suppress and remove the same, and for such proportion of the expense of such suppression and removal as the local board shall have determined to be equitable, an action may be maintained against such owner, and the same shall become a first lien upon the premises as above provided. [Public Health Law, § 29; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4441.]

Assessing expense upon property benefited.—If such local board shall deem it necessary, in order to suppress or remove any such breeding place, that any swamp, bog, meadow or other low or wet lands within the municipality over which said board has jurisdiction, shall be drained and that it is necessary, in order thereto, that a ditch or ditches or other channel for the free passage of water should be opened through lands belonging to a person or persons other than the owners of said swamp, bog, meadow or other low or wet lands, or that any other act or thing be done upon or over land belonging to others than the owners of the lands whereon such breeding place shall be located, such board shall make application for the appointment of three commissioners to construct and complete such channels and ditches for the free passage of water, or to do such other act or thing as such local board shall have determined to be necessary upon such lands in order to suppress or remove such breeding place, and to apportion, assess and collect the amount of the cost thereof from the owners of the lands which will be benefited by the suppression and removal of such breeding place. Such commissioners shall be appointed, and shall proceed, when appointed, to construct and complete such channels and ditches, or do such other act or thing as may be necessary, and to apportion, assess and collect the cost of the same from the owners of the lands benefited by such suppression or removal, in the manner provided for the appointment of commissioners for the drainage of any swamp, bog, meadow or other low or wet land and the apportionment, assessment and collection of the cost of such drainage, by the drainage law, and this article shall be construed with the provisions of such drainage law. In case of conflict the provisions of this article shall be substituted for the provisions of such drainage law, but such parts of the provisions of the drainage law as are not necessarily superseded shall apply. [Public health Law, § 30; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4441.]

§ 10. JURISDICTION OF TOWN BOARD OF HEALTH OVER CITY OR VILLAGE.

A town board of health shall not have jurisdiction over any city or incorporated village or part of such city or village in such town. [Public Health Law, § 34, as amended by L. 1913, ch. 559; B. C. & G. Cons. Law, p. 4445.]

§ 11. EXPENSES INCURRED BY TOWN BOARD OF HEALTH A TOWN CHARGE; PROPERTY OF VILLAGE EXEMPTED FROM TAXATION THEREFOR.

All expenses incurred by any local board of health in the performance of the duties imposed upon it or its members by law shall be a charge upon the municipality, and shall be audited, levied, collected and paid in the same manner as the other charges of, or upon, the municipality are audited, levied, collected and paid.[17] The taxable property of any incorporated village shall not be subject to taxation for maintaining any town board of health, or for any expenditure authorized by the town board of health, but the costs and expenditures of the town board shall

17. Proper charges against towns as health districts. When a town board of health incurs expense in the performance of its duties in guarding against the introduction into the town of contagious or infectious diseases, or in providing suitable places for the sick who cannot otherwise be provided for, such expense is a legal claim against the town and should be audited and allowed as are other town expenses. See Matter of Taxpayers of Plattsburgh, 157 N. Y. 86; 51 N. E. 512. Where poor persons under quarantine are on this account unable to provide for themselves, their care and support is a proper charge against the health district. Opinion of Comptroller (1916), 9 State Dept. Rep. 455, 522. Expenses necessarily incurred in suppressing an epidemic are a charge against the district. Opinion of Comptroller (1916), 9 State Dept. Rep. 536.

Where a person coming from another state and not having yet gained a residence here, who is dependent upon his daily labor for the support of himself and his family, but who has never been a public charge, is stricken with a contagious disease and quarantined by the health authorities, and being unable to work is supplied with necessaries for the care and support of himself and family until he recovers, upon the order or direction of the town board of health to charge the same to the town, the cost of such necessaries is a proper charge against the town. Matter of Bellows v. Board of Supervisors, 73 Misc. 566.

The charge by a town constable for burying the dead bodies of animals is a proper charge against the town, when done pursuant to the direction of the local board of health. Matter of Town of Hempstead, 36 App. Div. 321, 336; 55 N. Y. Supp. 345, affd. 100 N. Y. 685.

The expense of building a drain designed to abate a nuisance is a town charge, the contract therefor being made with the Town Board of Health. Malloy v. Board of Health, 60 Hun 422, 15 N. Y. Supp. 487.

A municipality is liable under a contract by the board of health with a party to carry into effect its orders and regulations and to inspect and examine premises of which complaint has been made. § 12. RELIEF OF INDIGENT INDIANS IN CASE OF EPIDEMIC.

Whenever an epidemic of a contagious or infectious disease shall prevail among the Indians of any nation, tribe or band in this state, the overseer of the poor of any town in which the reservation of such nation, tribe or band, is wholly or partly situated, may in accordance with rules and regulations adopted by the state commissioner of health, cause needed medical attendance, provisions and maintenance to be furnished to any indigent Indian residing in the town, who, or a member of whose family, is afflicted with such disease, while such disease shall continue; and the cost thereof after being audited as herein provided shall be a state charge. A verified statement of any expenses incurred under this section shall be transmitted by the overseer of the poor to the state commissioner of health. Such commissioner shall examine into the matter, and if satisfied that such expenses were properly and necessarily incurred in accordance with the rules and regulations of the state commissioner of health, shall audit and allow the same, and when so audited, the amount thereof shall be paid by the state treasurer on the warrant of the comptroller to such overseer of the poor. [Public Health Law, § 36; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 4446.]

Expenses of the boards of health of a village and of a town are not to be combined. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1894) 359.

Expenses of board of health during an epidemic of smallpox for sanitary police and for the support and maintenance of different families quarantined during such epidemic are a charge upon the municipality. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1908) 512.

Compensation of attending physician and watchers in a smallpox case, having been fixed by the local board of health, should be audited and paid where it is shown that the local board exercised its best efforts. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1908) 525.

Claims for damages arising from the burning or fumigation of school books in a schoolhouse, by order of the town board of health, following an epidemic of scarlet fever, are not proper town charges. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1912), vol. 2, p. 179.

Reimbursement by the state. There is no provision in the statute for the reimbursement by the state of individuals or a locality for services rendered for expenses incurred, even under the direction of the state board of health. 20. District records to be kept by registrar.
21. Fees of registrar.
22. Certified copies of records; state commissioner of health to furnish.
23. Penalties.
24. Enforcement.
25. Exemptions.

§ 1. REGISTRATION OF BIRTHS AND DEATHS; DUTIES OF STATE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH.

The state department of health shall have charge of the registration of births and deaths, shall provide the necessary instructions, forms and blanks for obtaining and preserving such records, and shall procure the faithful registration of the same in each primary registration district as constituted by this article and in the division of vital statistics at the capital of the state. The said department shall be charged with the uniform and thorough enforcement of this article throughout the state and shall from time to time recommend any additional legislation that may be necessary for this purpose. The public health council may establish such rules and regulations supplementary to the provisions of this article and not inconsistent therewith, as it may deem necessary from time to time, in relation to the registration of births and deaths. Such rules and regulations shall be observed by all authorities upon whom duties are imposed by this article in connection with the registration of births and deaths. [Public Health Law, § 370, as added by L. 1913, ch. 619.]

§ 2. DUTIES OF STATE COMMISSIONER OF HEALTH AS TO VITAL STATISTICS.

The state commissioner of health shall have general supervision of the division of vital statistics which shall be established by the department of health, and which shall be under the immediate direction of a director to be appointed by the commissioner, who shall possess such qualifications as may be prescribed by the public health council. The state commissioner of health shall detail to the division of vital statistics such clerical and other assistants as may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this act. The trustees of public buildings shall provide suitable offices in the capitol or elsewhere for the division of vital statistics, which shall be suitably equipped for the permanent and safe preservation of all records received or made under the provisions of this act. [Idem, § 371.]

§ 3. REGISTRATION DISTRICTS.

The state shall be divided into registration districts as follows: Each city, each incorporated village, each town, and each state hospital, charitable or penal institution shall constitute a primary registration district, provided that the state commissioner of health may combine two or more primary registration districts or divide one registration district into two or more primary districts to facilitate registration. [Idem, § 372, as amended by L. 1917, ch. 321.]

§ 4. REGISTRAR OF VITAL STATISTICS.

In each primary registration district there shall be a registrar of vital statistics. Qualifications of registrars of vital statistics hereafter appointed shall be prescribed by the public health council. A local health officer shall be eligible for appointment as registrar of vital statistics and if so appointed and if receiving a salary equivalent to not less than fifteen cents per year per inhabitant of such registration district, he shall serve as registrar of vital statistics without additional remuneration therefor. In towns and villages the registrar or registrars of vital statistics shall be appointed by the town board and by the village board of trustees respectively; in the cities, unless otherwise provided by the charter, the registrar or registrars of vital statistics shall be appointed by the mayor. In each primary registration district consisting of a state hospital, charitable or penal institution, the registrar shall be the superintendent or person in charge of such institution, provided, however, that he shall receive no additional remuneration for acting as such registrar. The term of office of a registrar of vital statistics, unless the charter of the city or village shall provide otherwise, shall be four years. Each registrar of vital statistics shall hold office until his successor shall have been appointed and shall have qualified. Any registrar of vital statistics who in the judgment of the state commissioner of health fails or neglects to discharge efficiently the duties of his office as set forth in this article, or to make prompt and complete return of births and deaths as required thereby, shall be forthwith removed by the state commissioner of health, and such other penalties may be imposed as are provided by this article. Each registrar of vital statistics shall immediately upon his acceptance of appointment as such, appoint a deputy whose duty it shall be to act in his stead in case of his absence or inability, and such deputy shall in writing accept such appointment and be subject to all rules and regulations governing registrars. When it appears necessary for the convenience of the people in any rural district, the registrar is authorized, with the approval of the state commissioner of health, to appoint one or more suitable persons to act as subregistrars, who shall be authorized to receive birth and death certificates and to issue burial or removal permits in and for such portions of the district as may be designated, and each such subregistrar shall note on each certificate over his signature the date of filing and shall forward all certificates to the local registrar of the district within three days, and in all cases before the third day of the following month; provided, however, that each subregistrar shall be subject to the supervision and control of the state commissioner of health and may be by him removed for neglect or failure to perform his duty in accordance with the provisions of this act or the regulations of the public health council, and shall be subject to the same penalties for neglect of duty as the local registrar. [Indem, § 373, as amended by L. 1917, ch. 321.]

§ 5. CORRECTION OF DEFECTIVE REGISTRATION.

If defects be found in the registration under the supervision of a registrar of vital statistics, the state commissioner of health shall notify such registrar that such defects must be corrected within ten days of the date of the notice. If such defects are not so corrected the state commissioner of health shall take control of such registration and of the records thereof, and enforce the rules and regulations in regard thereto and secure a complete registration in such district, and such control shall continue until the registrar of vital statistics shall satisfy the commissioner of health that he will make such record and registry complete as required by law and by the rules and regulations of the public health council. The expenses incurred by the state commissioner of health or his authorized representative while in control of such registration shall be a charge upon the city, town or village comprising the registration district. [Idem, § 374.]

§ 6. PERMITS FOR BURIAL OR REMOVAL OF DEAD BODIES.

The body of any person whose death occurs in this state or which shall be found dead therein shall not be interred, deposited in a vault or tomb, cremated or otherwise disposed of or removed from or into any registration district, or be temporarily held pending further disposition more than seventy-two hours after death, unless a permit for burial, removal, or other disposition thereof shall have been properly issued by the registrar of vital statistics of the registration district in which the death occurred or the body was found. No such burial or removal permit shall be issued by any registrar until, wherever practicable, a complete and satisfactory certificate of death has been filed with him as heretofore provided; provided that when a dead body is transported from outside of the state into a registration district in this state for burial, the transit or removal permit issued in accordance with the law and health regulations of the place where the death occurred shall be given the same force and effect as the burial permit herein provided for. No registrar of vital statistics shall receive any fee for the issuance of burial or removal permits under this act other than the compensation provided in this article. [Idem, § 375.]

§ 7. REGISTRATION OF STILLBORN CHILDREN.

A stillborn child shall be registered as a birth and also as a death, and separate certificates of both the birth and the death shall be filed with the registrar of vital statistics in the usual form and manner, the certificate of birth to contain in place of the name of the child, the word "stillbirth;" provided, that a certificate of birth and a certificate of death shall not be required for a child that has not advanced to the fifth month of uterogestation. The medical certificate of the cause of death shall be signed by the attending physician, if any, and shall state the cause of death as "stillborn," with the cause of the stillbirth, if known, whether a premature birth, and, if born prematurely, the period of uterogestation, in months, if known; and a burial or removal permit of the prescribed form shall be required. Midwives shall not sign certificates of death for stillborn children; but such cases, and stillbirths occurring without attendance of either physician or midwife shall be treated as deaths without medical attendance, as hereinafter provided in this article. [Idem, § 376.]

Public Health Law, § 377.

§ 8. CERTIFICATE OF DEATH.

The certificate of death shall contain the following items, which are hereby declared necessary for the legal, social and sanitary purposes subserved by registration records.

1. Place of death, including state, county, township, village or city. If in a city, the ward, street and house number; if in a hospital or other institution, the name of the same to be given instead of the street and house number. If in an industrial camp, the name of the camp to be given.

2. Full name of decedent. If an unnamed child, the surname preceded by "unnamed."

3. Sex.

4. Color or race — as white, black, mulatto (or other negro descent), Indian, Chinese, Japanese, or other.

5. Conjugal condition — as single, married, widowed or divorced.

6. Date of birth, including the year, month, and day.

7. Age, in years, months and days. If less than one day, the hours or minutes.

8. Occupation. The occupation to be reported of any person, male or female, who had any remunerative employment, with the statement of trade, profession or particular kind of work; general nature of industry, business or establishment in which engaged or employed.

9. Birthplace; at least state or foreign country, if known.

10. Name of father.

11. Birthplace of father; at least state or foreign country, if known.

12. Maiden name of mother.

13. Birthplace of mother; at least state or foreign country, if known.

14. Signature and address of informant.

15. Official signature of registrar, with the date when certificate was filed, and registered number.

16. Date of death, year, month and day.

17. Certification as to medical attendance on decedent, fact and time of death, time last seen alive, and the cause of death, with contributory, that is to say, secondary cause of complication, if any, and duration of each, and whether attributed to dangerous or insanitary conditions of employment; signature and address of physician or official making the medical certificate.

18. Length of residence at place of death and in the state, together with the place where disease was contracted, if not at place of death, and former or usual residence.

19. Place and date of burial, cremation or removal.

20. Signature and address of undertaker or person in charge of the corpse.

The particulars called for by items one to thirteen inclusive shall be authenticated by the signature of the informant, who may be any competent person acquainted with the facts.

The statement of facts relating to the disposition of the body shall be signed by the undertaker or person in charge of the corpse.

The medical certificates shall be made and signed by the physician, if any, last in attendance on the deceased, who shall specify the time in attendance, the time he last saw the deceased alive and the hour of the day at which death occurred. He shall further state the cause of death, so as to show the cause of disease or sequence of causes resulting in the death, giving first the name of the disease causing death, that is to say, the primary cause, and the contributory, that is to say, the secondary cause, if any, and the duration of each. Indefinite terms, denoting only symptoms of disease or conditions resulting from disease, shall not be held sufficient for the issuance of a burial or removal permit. Any certificate stating the cause of death in terms which the state commissioner of health shall have declared indefinite, shall be returned to the physician or person making the medical certificate for correction and more definite statement. Causes of death which may be the result of either diseases or violence shall be explicitly defined; and if from violence, the means of injury shall be stated, and whether apparently accidental, suicidal, or homicidal. For deaths in hospitals, institutions, or of non-residents, the physician shall supply the information required under Item 18, if he is able to do so, and may state where, in his opinion, the disease was contracted. [Idem, § 377.]

§ 9. REGISTRATION OF DEATHS OCCURRING WITHOUT MEDICAL ATTENDANCE.

In case of any death occurring without medical attendance, it shall be the duty of the undertaker or other person to whose knowledge the death may come to notify the local health officer of such death, and when so notified the health officer shall immediately investigate and certify as to the cause of death; provided that if the health officer has reason to believe that the death may have been due to unlawful act or neglect he shall then refer the case to the coroner or other proper officer for his investigation and certification. The coroner or other proper officer whose duty it is to hold an inquest on the body of a deceased person, and to make the certificate of death required for a burial permit, shall state in his certificate the name of the disease causing death, or if from external causes, the means of death; whether probably accidental, suicidal or homicidal; and shall, in any case, furnish such information as may be required by the state commissioner of health in order properly to classify the death. [Idem, § 378.]

§ 10. DUTIES OF UNDERTAKER.

In each case the undertaker, or person having charge of the corpse, shall file the certificate of death with the registrar of the district in which the death occurred and obtain a burial or removal permit prior to any disposition of the body. He shall obtain the required personal and statistical particulars from a person qualified to supply them, over the signature and address of his informant. He shall then present the certificate to the attending physician, who shall forthwith fill out and sign the medical certificate of death, or to the health officer or coroner, for the medical certificate of the cause of death and other particulars necessary to complete the record for the registration of deaths, as specified in this article, if no physician was in attendance upon the deceased. He shall then state the facts required relative to the date and place of burial, cremation or removal, over his signature and with his address, and present the completed certificate to the registrar in order to obtain a permit for burial, removal or other disposition of the body. The undertaker shall deliver the burial permit to the person in charge of the place of burial, before interring or otherwise disposing of the body; or shall attach the removal permit to the box containing the corpse, when shipped by any transportation company; said permit to accompany the corpse to its destination, where if within the state of New York, it shall be delivered to the person in charge of the place of burial. [Idem, § 379.]

§ 11. DUTIES OF UNDERTAKERS; INTERMENT WITHIN THE STATE.

If the interment, or other disposition of the body is to be made within the state, the wording of the burial or removal permit may be limited to a statement by the registrar, and over his signature, that a satisfactory certificate of death, having been filed with him, as required by law, permission is granted to inter, remove or dispose otherwise of the body, stating the name, age, sex, cause of death, and other necessary details upon the form prescribed by the commissioner of health. [Idem, § 380.]

§ 12. INTERMENTS.

No person in charge of any premises on which interments or cremations are made shall inter or permit the interment or other disposition of any body unless it is accompanied by a burial, cremation or transit permit, as herein provided. Such person shall endorse upon the permit, the date of interment, or cremation over his signature, and shall return all permits so endorsed to the registrar of his district within seven days from the date of interment or cremation. He shall keep a record of all bodies interred or otherwise disposed of on the premises under his charge, in each case stating the name of each deceased person, place of death, date of burial or disposal, and name and address of the undertaker; which record shall at all times be open to official inspection; provided that the undertaker or person having charge of the corpse, when burying a body in a cemetery or burial ground having no person in charge, shall sign the burial or removal permit, giving the date of burial, and shall write across the face of the permit the words "No person in charge," and file the burial or removal permit within three days with the registrar of the district in which the cemetery is located. [Idem, § 381.]

§ 13. REGISTRATION OF BIRTHS.

The birth of each and every child born in this state shall be registered within five days after the date of each birth, there shall be filed with the registrar of the district in which the birth occurred a certificate of such birth, which certificate shall be upon the form prescribed therefor by the state commissioner of health. In each case where a physician, midwife or person acting as midwife, was in attendance upon the birth, it shall be the duty of such physician, midwife or person acting as midwife, to file said certificate. In each case where there was no physician, midwife, or person acting as midwife, in attendance upon the birth, it shall be the duty of the father or mother of the child, the householder or owner of the premises where the birth occurred, or the manager or superintendent of the public or private institution where the birth occured, each in the order named, within five days after the date of such birth, to report to the local registrar the fact of such birth. In such case and in case the physician, midwife or person acting as midwife in attendance upon the birth is unable, by diligent inquiry, to obtain any item or items of information required in this article, it shall then be the duty of the registrar to secure from the person so reporting, or from any other person having the required knowledge, such information as will enable him to prepare the certificate of birth herein required, and it shall be the duty of the person reporting the birth or who may be interrogated in relation thereto to answer correctly and to the best of his knowledge all questions put to him by the registrar which may be calculated to elicit any information needed to make a complete record of the birth as contemplated by this article, and it shall be the duty of the informant as to any statement made in accordance herewith to verify such statement by the signature when requested so to do by the local registrar. [Idem, § 382.]

§ 14. CERTIFICATE OF BIRTH.

The certificate of birth shall contain the following items, which are hereby declared necessary for the legal, social and sanitary purposes subserved by registration records.

1. Place of birth, including state, county, town, village or city. If in a city, the ward, street and house number; if in a hospital or other institution, the name of the same to be given, instead of the street and house number.

2. Full name of child. If the child dies without a name, before the certificate is filed, enter the words "Died unnamed." If the living child has not yet been named at the date of filing certificate of birth, the space for "full name of child" is to be left blank, to be filled out subsequently by a supplemental report, as hereinafter provided.

3. Sex of child.

4. Whether a twin, triplet, or other plural birth. A separate certificate shall be required for each child in case of plural births.

5. For plural births, number of each child in order of birth.

6. Whether legitimate or illegitimate.

7. Date of birth, including the year, month and day.

8. Full name of father; provided, that if the child is illegitimate, the name of the putative father shall not be entered without his consent, but the other particulars relating to the putative father may be entered if known, otherwise as "unknown."

9. Residence of father.

10. Color or race of father.

11. Age of father at last birthday, in years.

12. Birthplace of father; at least state or foreign country, if known.

13. Occupation of father. The occupation to be reported if engaged in any remunerative employment, with the statement of trade, profession, or particular kind of work; general nature of industry, business or establishment in which engaged or employed.

14. Maiden name of mother.

15. Residence of mother.

16. Color or race of mother.

17. Age of mother at last birthday, in years.

18. Birthplace of mother; at least state or foreign country, if known.

19. Occupation of mother. The occupation to be reported if engaged in any remunerative employment, with the statement of trade, profession, or particular kind of work; general nature of industry, business or establishment in which engaged or employed.

20. Number of children born to this mother, including present birth.

21. Number of children of this mother living.

22. The certification of attending physician or midwife as to attendance at birth, including statement of year, month, day and hour of birth, and whether the child was born alive or stillborn. This certification shall be signed by the attending physician or midwife, with date of signature and address; if there was no physician or midwife in attendance, then by the father or mother of the child, householder, owner of the premises, manager or superintendent of public or private institution where the birth occurred, or other competent person, whose duty it shall be to notify the local registrar of such birth.

23. Exact date of filing in office of local registrar, attested by his official signature, and registered number of birth, as hereinafter provided. [Idem, § 383.]

§ 15. REGISTRATION OF NAME OF CHILD SUBSEQUENT TO FILING OF BIRTH CERTIFICATE.

When any certificate of birth of a living child is presented without the statement of the given name, the local registrar shall make out and deliver to the parents of the child a special blank for the supplemental report of the given name of the child, which shall be filed out as directed, and returned to the local registrar as soon as the child shall have been named. [Idem, § 384.]

§ 16. REGISTRATION OF PHYSICIANS, MIDWIVES, AND UNDERTAKERS.

Every physician, midwife and undertaker shall, on or before the day on which this article takes effect, register his or her name, address and occupation with the registrar of the district in which he or she resides, and shall so register in any district in which he or she may hereafter establish a residence; and shall thereupon be supplied by the registrar with a copy of this article, together with such rules and regulations as may be prepared by the public health council relative to its enforcement. Within thirty days after the close of each calendar year each registrar shall make a return to the state commissioner of health of all physicians, midwives, or undertakers who have been registered in his district during the whole or any part of the preceding calendar year; provided, that no fee or other compensation shall be charged by registrars to physicians, midwives or undertakers for registering their names under this section or making returns thereof to the state commissioner of health. [Idem, § 385.]

§ 17. REGISTRATION OF PERSONS IN INSTITUTIONS.

All superintendents or managers or other persons in charge of hospitals, almshouses, lying-in or other institutions, public or private, to which persons resort for treatment of diseases or confinement, or to which persons are committed by process of law, shall make a record of all the personal and statistical particulars relative to the inmates in their institutions when this act takes effect; which are required in the forms of the certificate provided for by this article as directed by the state commissioner of health; and thereafter such record shall be by them made for all future inmates at the time of their admittance. In the case of persons admitted or committed for treatment of disease, the physician in charge shall specify for entry in the record, the nature of the disease, and where, in his opinion, it was contracted. The personal particulars and information required by this section shall be obtained from the individual himself if it is practicable to do so; and when they cannot be so obtained, they shall be obtained in as complete a manner as possible from relatives, friends, or other persons acquainted with the facts. [Idem, § 386.]

§ 18. RECORDS TO BE KEPT BY STATE COMMISSIONER OF HEALTH.

The state commissioner of health shall prepare, print, and supply to all registrars all blanks and forms used in registering, recording and preserving the returns, or in otherwise carrying out the purposes of this article, and shall prepare and issue such detailed instructions, not inconsistent with the regulation established by the public health council, as may be required to prepare the uniform observance of its provision and the maintenance of a perfect system of registration; and no other blanks shall be used than those supplied by the state commissioner of health. He shall carefully examine the certificates received monthly from the registrars, and if any such are incomplete or unsatisfactory he shall require such further information to be supplied as may be necessary to make the record complete and satisfactory. All physicians, midwives, undertakers, or informants, and all other persons having knowledge of the facts, are hereby required to supply, upon a form provided by the state commissioner of health or upon the original certificate, such information as they may possess regarding any birth or death upon demand of the state commissioner of health, in person, by mail, or through the registrar; provided, that no certificate of birth or death, after its acceptance for registration by the registrar, and no other record made in pursuance of this article, shall be altered or changed in any respect otherwise than by amendments properly dated, signed and witnessed. The state commissioner of health shall arrange, and permanently preserve the certificates in a systematic manner, and shall prepare and maintain a comprehensive and continuous card index of all births and deaths registered; said index to be arranged alphabetically, in the case of deaths, by the names of decedents, and in the case of births, by the names of fathers or mothers if born out of wedlock. He shall inform all registrars what diseases are to be considered infectious, contagious, or communicable and dangerous to the public health, as decided by the public health council in order that when deaths occur from such diseases proper precautions may be taken to prevent their spread. [Idem, § 387.]

§ 19. CERTIFIED COPIES OF BIRTH CERTIFICATES EVIDENCE OF AGE.

Certified copies of birth certificates, or of statements based on duly registered certificates of birth shall be accepted by public school authorities in this state as prima facie evidence of age of children, registering for school attendance, and by the legally constituted authorities as prima facie proof of age for the issuance of employment certificates, provided that when it is not possible to secure such certified copy of birth registration certificate for any child, the school authorities may accept as secondary proof of age any of the kinds of evidence specified in the labor law. [Idem, § 388.]

§ 20. DISTRICT RECORDS TO BE KEPT BY REGISTRAR.

Each registrar shall supply blank forms of certificates to such persons as require them. Each registrar shall carefully examine each certificate of birth or death when presented for record in order to ascertain whether or not it has been made out in accordance with the provisions of this act and the instructions of the state commissioner of health; and if any certificate of death is incomplete or unsatisfactory, it shall be his duty to call attention to the defects in the return, and to withhold the burial or removal permit until such defects are corrected. All certificates, either of birth or death, shall be written legibly, in durable black ink, and no certificate shall be held to be complete and correct that does not supply all of the items of information called for therein, or satisfactorily account for their omission. If the certificate of death is properly executed and complete, he shall then issue a burial or removal permit to the undertaker; provided, that in case the death occurred from some disease which is held by the public health council to be infectious, contagious, or communicable and dangerous to the public health, no permit for the removal or other disposition of the body shall be issued by the registrar, except to an undertaker licensed under section two hundred and ninety-five of the public health law, under such conditions as may be prescribed by the state public health council. If a certificate of birth is incomplete, the local registrar shall immediately notify the informant, and require him to supply the missing items of information if they can be obtained. He shall number consecutively the certificates of birth and death, in two separate series, beginning with the number one for the first birth and the first death in each calendar year, and sign his name as registrar in attest of the date of filing in his office. He shall also make a complete and accurate copy of each birth and each death certificate registered by him in a record book supplied by the state commissioner of health, to be preserved permanently in his office as the local record, in such manner as directed by the commissioner of health. He shall, on the fifth day of each month, transmit to the state commissioner of health all original certificates registered by him for the preceding month. If no births or no deaths occurred in any month, he shall on the fifth day of the following month, report that fact to the state commissioner of health on a card provided for such purpose. [Idem, § 389.]

§ 21. FEES OF REGISTRAR.

Except as hereinbefore otherwise provided each registrar and each physician shall be paid the sum of twenty-five cents for each birth certificate and each death certificate properly and completely made out and registered and each death certificate properly and completely made out in accordance with the international list of causes of death and returned and filed with the registrar and correctly recorded and promptly returned by him to the state commissioner of health, as required by this article. And in case no births or no deaths were registered during any month, the local registrar shall be entitled to be paid the sum of twenty-five cents for each report to that effect, but only if such report be made promptly as required by this article. All amounts payable to the local registrar under the provisions of this article shall be paid by the municipality comprising the registration district, upon certification by the state commissioner of health and all amounts payable to physicians shall be certified to by the local registrar annually and paid to said physicians by said municipality. The state commissioner of health shall annually certify to the municipality the number of births and deaths properly registered, with the name of the local registrar and the amount due him at the rate fixed herein. In addition thereto the local registrar shall be paid a fee of twenty-five cents for each burial, removal or transit permit issued by him. [Idem, § 390, as added by L. 1913, ch. 619, and amended by L. 1915, ch. 385, and L. 1917, ch. 111.]

§ 22. CERTIFIED COPIES OF RECORDS; STATE COMMISSIONER OF HEALTH TO FURNISH.

The state commissioner of health may, upon request, supply to any applicant a certified copy of the record of any birth or death registered under the provisions of this act, for the making and certification of which he shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar, to be paid by the applicant; provided that the United States census bureau may obtain without expense to the state, transcripts of certified copies of births and deaths without payment of the fee here prescribed, for use solely as statistical data. Any copy of the record of a birth or death, when properly certified by the state commissioner of health, shall be prima facie evidence in all courts and places of the facts therein stated. For any search of the files and records when no certified copy is made, the state commissioner of health shall be entitled to a fee of fifty cents for each hour or fractional part of an hour of time of search, said fee to be paid by the applicant.

If any time within ten years of the birth, or one year of the death of any person within this state, a certified copy of the official record of said birth or death with the information required to be registered by this act, be necessary for legal, judicial, or other proper purposes, and, after search by the state commissioner of health, it should appear that no such certificate of birth or death was made and filed as provided by this act, then the person asking for such certified copy may file a sworn statement, to be accompanied by the affidavits of two competent witnesses, as to the fact of birth or death, with as many particulars of the standard certificate supplied as possible, and the state commissioner of health shall file it and issue a certified copy thereof to said applicant without fee and without charge for time of search; and the state commissioner of health shall immediately require the physician, or midwife, who, being in attendance upon a birth since the date of the taking effect of this act, failed or neglected to file a certificate thereof or the undertaker, or other person who having charge of the interment or removal of the body of a deceased person since the date of the taking effect of this act, failed or neglected to file the certificate of death, if he or she be living, to obtain and file at once with the local registrar such certificate in as complete form as the lapse of time will permit, together with a fee of five dollars, which shall be transmitted to the state commissioner of health and accounted for as a fee for certified copies. With said certificate shall be filed the sworn statements and affidavits hereinabove mentioned. The delinquent physician, midwife, undertaker, or other person may also, in the discretion of the state commissioner of health be prosecuted as required by this article, and shall be prosecuted without bar from the statute of limitations, if he or she shall neglect or fail to file promptly the certificate required by this section as a substitute for the certificate not filed as required by this article, and to pay the filing fee provided for in this section.

The state commissioner of health shall keep a true and correct account of all fees by him received under this section, and turn the same over to the state treasurer. [Idem, § 391.]

§ 23. PENALTIES.

Any person, who for himself or as an officer, agent, or employee of any other person, or of any corporation or partnership, shall inter, cremate, or otherwise finally dispose of the dead body of a human being, or permit the same to be done, or shall remove said body from the primary registration district in which the death occurred or the body was found, without the authority of a burial or removal permit issued by the local registrar of the district in which the death occurred, or in which the body was found; or shall refuse or fail to furnish correctly any information in his possession, or shall furnish false information affecting any certificate or record, required by this article; or shall willfully alter, otherwise than is provided by this article, or shall falsify any certificate of birth or death, or any record established by this article; or being required by this article to fill out a certificate of birth or death and file the same with the local registrar, or deliver it, upon request, to any person charged with the duty of filing the same, shall fail, neglect or refuse to perform such duty in the manner required by this article; or being a registrar, deputy registrar, or subregistrar, shall fail, neglect or refuse to perform his duty as required by this article and by the instructions and direction of the state commissioner of health thereunder, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall for the first offense be fined not less than five dollars nor more than fifty dollars and for each subsequent offense not less than ten dollars, or more than one hundred dollars or be imprisoned in the county jail not more than sixty days, or be both fined and imprisoned in the discretion of the court. [Idem, § 392, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 58.]

Each registrar is hereby charged with the strict and thorough enforcement of the provisions of this article, in his registration district, under the supervision and direction of the state commissioner of health. He shall make an immediate report to the state commissioner of health of any violation of any provision of this article coming to his knowledge, by observation or upon complaint of any person, or otherwise.

The state commissioner of health is hereby charged with the thorough and efficient execution of the provisions of this article in every part of the state, and is hereby granted supervisory power over registrars, deputy registrars, and subregistrars, to the end that all of its requirements shall be uniformly complied with. The state commissioner of health, either personally or by an accredited representative, shall have authority to investigate cases of irregularity or violation of law, and all registrars shall aid him, upon request, in such investigations. When he shall deem it necessary, he shall report cases of violation of any of the provisions of this article to the district attorney of the county, with a statement of the facts and circumstances; and when any such case is reported to him by the state commissioner of health, the prosecuting attorney shall forthwith initiate and promptly follow up the necessary court proceedings against the person or corporation responsible for the alleged violation of law. Upon request of the state commissioner of health, the attorney-general shall assist in the enforcement of the provisions of this article. [Idem, § 393.]

§ 25. EXEMPTIONS.

Nothing in this article shall be construed to affect, alter, or repeal laws now in force applying to the city of New York.[1] [Idem, § 394.]

1. L. 1913, ch. 619, § 3. Section 5 of such chapter as amended by chapter 557, Laws of 1909 and section 22 of such chapter as amended by chapter 407, Laws of 1909, chapter 639 of the Laws of 1910 and chapter 279 of Laws of 1911, and section 23 of such chapter as amended by chapter 407, Laws of 1909, are hereby repealed.

CHAPTER XXXII-B.

PARKS AND PLAY GROUNDS IN CERTAIN TOWNS.

(This chapter contains article 17-a of the Town Law, as inserted by L. 1914, ch. 382, in effect April 16, 1914.)

SECTION 1. Town boards in certain counties may establish public parks and play grounds.
2. Special meetings of the taxpayers.
3. Purchase and improvement of parks and play grounds.
4. Issue and sale of town bonds.
5. Cost of maintenance.
6. Rules and regulations.
7. Acquisition of property by condemnation.

§ 1. TOWN BOARDS IN CERTAIN COUNTIES MAY ESTABLISH PUBLIC PARKS AND PLAY GROUNDS.

When authorized by a special meeting of the taxpayers therein, as hereinafter provided, the town board of any town may, from time to time, acquire one or more parcels of land in such town outside an incorporated village for the purpose of establishing thereon one or more public parks or play grounds, and upon like authority may equip the same with suitable buildings, structures and apparatus, and may thereafter maintain and improve the same at the expense of the town.[1] [Town Law, § 342, as inserted by L. 1914, ch. 382, and amended by L. 1915, ch. 300.]

§ 2. SPECIAL MEETINGS OF THE TAXPAYERS.

Before the town board of any such town shall acquire land for such purposes, except by dedication, it shall, by resolution, call a special meeting of the taxpayers of such town for the purpose of voting upon one or more propositions to be submitted thereat, which propositions shall be in substantially the following form: "Shall the town board of the town of ..... county of ..... be authorized to purchase one or more parcels of land in such town for the purpose of establishing and maintaining thereon one or more public parks or play grounds and to pay therefor a sum not exceeding ..... dollars and shall the amount to be expended therefor, including principal and interest of any bonds which may be issued therefor, pursuant to the provisions of article seventeen-a of the town law, be paid in such instalments as the town board shall determine, and shall there be raised annually, by tax, upon the taxable property in such town, a sum sufficient to pay interest and principal of such bonds, as the same shall become due?"

"Shall the town board of the town of ..... county of ..... be authorized to expend in equipping one or more public parks or play grounds in such town with suitable buildings, structures and apparatus a sum not exceeding ..... dollars, and shall the amount to be expended therefor, including principal and interest of any bonds which may be issued therefor, pursuant to the provisions of article seventeen-a of the town law be paid in such instalments as the town board shall determine, and shall there be raised annually, by tax, upon the taxable property in such town, a sum sufficient to pay interest and principal of such bonds, as the same shall become due?"

Notice of the time, place and purpose of the meeting and of the proposition or propositions to be voted upon thereat shall be posted conspicuously in at leasst six of the most public places in such town at least ten days before the meeting, and be published once in each week for two consecutive weeks immediately prior to the week in which such special meeting is to be held in a newspaper published in such town, or if no newspaper be published in such town, then in such newspaper published in the county as the town board shall designate. Such notice shall specify the number of hours, not less than five, between sunrise and nine o'clock in the afternoon, during which the polls will be open. The town clerk shall, at the expense of such town, provide the necessary ballot boxes and shall also prepare and have at such special meeting a sufficient number of written or printed ballots, on which the voters may vote either for or against the proposition or propositions. The meeting shall be conducted according to the provisions of section forty-nine of the town law, and the presiding officers thereat shall sign and file within three days thereafter in the office of the clerk of such town a certificate showing the total number of votes cast at such meeting and the number of votes cast for and against the proposition or propositions, respectively, together with a list of the persons voting thereat. The qualifications of voters at such special town meeting shall be the qualifications specified in sections fifty-three and fifty-five of the town law. [Idem, § 343.]

Town Law, §§ 344, 345, 346, 347.

§ 3. PURCHASE AND IMPROVEMENT OF PARKS AND PLAY GROUNDS.

In case the majority of all votes lawfully cast upon any such proposition at such special meeting shall be in the affirmative, the town board of any such town shall be authorized to purchase in the name of such town such parcel or parcels of land therein as it may select for either or both of such purposes at a cost not exceeding in the aggregate the amount specified in such proposition, and to expend in equipping such parcel or parcels of land with suitable buildings, structures and apparatus an amount not exceeding in the aggregate the amount specified in such proposition, and to enter into suitable contracts therefor. [Idem, § 344.]

§ 4. ISSUE AND SALE OF TOWN BONDS.

In case the amount authorized to be expended for any such purpose by a special meeting of taxpayers as herein provided, is, in the opinion of the town board of any such town, greater than should be collected in one instalment, the town board may issue bonds of such town under its seal, signed by the supervisor and attested by the town clerk. Such bonds shall be a charge upon such town and shall become due within thirty years from the date of issue, in such instalments as the town board may determine. They shall be sold on sealed proposals or at public auction on notice published in a newspaper printed in such town, if any, and posted in at least six public places in such town, at least ten days before the sale, to the person who will purchase the same at par at the lowest rate of interest, not exceeding six per centum per annum. The bonds shall be a charge upon the town and shall not exceed in the aggregate the amount authorized at such special taxpayers' meeting or meetings. The proceeds of such bonds shall be paid to the supervisor and by him expended under the direction of the town board, for the purposes for which such bonds were sold. [Idem, § 345.]

§ 5. COST OF MAINTENANCE.

The town board is authorized to provide for the care and maintenance of such parks and play grounds and for the improvement thereof, and the cost thereof shall be a town charge. [Idem, § 346.]

§ 6. RULES AND REGULATIONS.

Such parks and play grounds shall be under the care and control of the town board, and the town board may adopt, and, from time to time, repeal, modify or amend, rules and regulations for the use of such public parks and play grounds. [Idem, § 347.]

§ 7. ACQUISITION OF PROPERTY BY CONDEMNATION.

If the town board are unable to agree with the owners for the purchase of real property for the establishment of public parks and play grounds, the town may acquire the same by condemnation. [Idem, § 348.]

PART V.

TAXATION.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

TAXABLE PROPERTY AND PLACE OF TAXATION.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

Law Relating to Taxation.

In this state the entire subject of taxation, so far as it is controlled by statute, is covered by the provisions of the Tax Law, constituting chapter sixty of the Consolidated Laws, as enacted by chapter 62 of the laws of 1909. The powers and duties of town and county officers relative to the levy, assessment and collection of taxes are prescribed by this law. In this part of the manual is included the several sections of the Tax Law which concern such officers.

Taxable Property.

All property, real and personal, is taxable unless expressly exempt by law. Where real property is situated in a town and county it is taxable in that town and county for both town and county purposes. So where the owner of personal property has a residence in a town and county, such property is taxable for town and county purposes in that town and county. For taxation, as well as for other purposes, personal property is deemed situated in the place where the owner has his residence. The Tax Law defines both real and personal property (See § 2). Assessors should consult such definitions in determining the character of taxable property.

Exemptions from Taxation.

Section 4 of the Tax Law declares what property is exempt from taxation. There must be an express statutory provision declaring that property shall not be taxed, to bring such property within an exemption. The legislative intent to exempt must be clear and unambiguous. The assessors are to determine whether certain property is entitled to exemption in accordance with the law relative to exemptions and the facts bringing such property within such exemptions. They act judicially in making such determination, and are not personally liable for any mistake which they may make.

Taxation of Non-residents of State.

Non-residents of the state, doing business in the state, are taxed on the capital invested in such business within the state. Such capital is taxed as personal property, at the place where the business is carried on. This applies to individuals, partnerships and corporations. It is also provided that personal property of non-residents of the state, not forming a part of invested capital, but having an actual situs in the state, is to be taxed in the tax district where it is situated.

Place of Taxation of Personal Property.

This subject is governed by § 8 of the Tax Law. Personal property of residents of the state is taxable where the owner, or the person having the control of it, has his residence. The question of residence is one of fact to be determined in each case by the particular circumstances. A number of rules applicable to this question has been laid down by the courts and the cases are cited in the notes under the proper section in this chapter. The residence at the time the assessment is made must govern. If after the assessment is made the owner of the personal property taxed leaves the town, he is not released from the tax. The time of assessment referred to in the law relates to the time when the assessors designate the taxpayers and the amount of their taxable property. This must be July 1 in each year, as the assessors are required to complete their preparatory inquiries in May and June.

Place of Taxation of Real Property.

Real property is taxable in the town where it is situated. When owned by a resident it is, of course, taxable to him in his own name. If owned by a non-resident and is occupied by a resident, it may be assessed to either the owner or occupant. If the land is unoccupied, or the occupant resides outside of the town, the land must be assessed as non-resident as provided in § 30 of the Tax Law. (See next chapter, p. 527.)

Section 10 of the Tax Law (post, p. 497), provides for cases where land is divided by town line.

Property of Corporations.

The real property of a corporation must be assessed where it is situated. For instance, the right of way, tracks, yards and stations of a railroad company, located in a town are to be assessed in that town. The personal property of a corporation is to be assessed in the town or city where the corporation has its principal place of business. The value of the capital stock of a corporation must be determined, and after deducting real property which has been assessed, the balance is the assessable value of the personal property.

SECTION 1. Definitions.
2. Property liable to taxation.
3. Exemption from taxation.
4. Exemption of the property of hospital corporations.
5. Exemption of cemeteries.
6. Exemption of property belonging to a plank road or turnpike corporation.
7. Exemption of property of soldiers' monument association.
7a. Exemption and reduction in assessment of lands planted with trees for forestry purposes.
7b. Exemption and reduction in assessment of lands maintained as wood lots and to encourage the growth of trees for such purposes.
8. Taxation of lands sold or leased by the state.
9. No deduction allowed for indebtedness fraudulently contracted.
10. Where property of non-residents is taxable.
11. Place of taxation of personal property of residents; state board of tax commissioners may determine place.
12. Place of taxation of real property.
13. Taxation of real property divided by line of tax district; when owner may elect in which district property shall be taxed.
14. Corporations; place of taxation; personal property to be taxed where principal office is located; taxation of toll bridges and turnpike.
15. Taxation of corporate stock of corporations.
16. Stock holders of bank taxable on shares.
17. Place of taxation of individual bank capital.
18. Report of exempt property by assessors.

§ 1. DEFINITIONS.

"Tax commission" as used in this chapter means the state tax commission and "tax department" means the state tax department. [Tax Law, § 2, subd. 1, added by L. 1916, ch. 232.]

"Assessor" as used in this chapter shall be deemed to include any elected or appointed officer of any civil or political subdivision of the state, charged by law with the duty of assessing property for taxation for state, county or local purposes. [Tax Law, § 2, subd. 3, added by L. 1916, ch. 323.]

"Tax district" as used in this chapter (the Tax Law) means unless otherwise herein provided a city or town of this state.[1] [Tax Law, § 2, sub. 4, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 323; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5799.]

---

1. Tax district. A town is the only political subdivision within the meaning of tax district as defined in the above section which is within the scope of this work. It is not the purpose of this work to treat of taxation in any other sense than as connected with the powers and duties of town and county officers.

A village incorporated under the Village Law, whose board of assessors has no power to assess property for state and county taxes, is not a tax district. People ex rel. Champlin v. Gray, 185 N. Y. 196, reversing 109 App. Div. 116, 95 N. Y. Supp. 825.

2. Rule for determining what is real or personal property. To determine the character of property for the purpose of taxation principles no less rigid than those which would be applied to a question of fixtures arising between a vendor and vendee must be considered. In the case of People ex rel. Starch Co. v. Waldron, 26 App. Div. 527; 50 N. Y. Supp. 523, it was held that machinery standing on brick or wooden foundations, fastened with bolts, capable of being removed without material injury to the buildings in which they are, and which was placed in the building by the owner thereof, a manufacturing corporation, for the purpose of conducting a manufacturing business to which such machinery was essential, and which had been purchased together with the land by a corporation conducting a similar business thereon, must be deemed to have been permanently annexed to the land for the purposes of business, and as such to be taxable as "land" within the meaning of the term as defined in the above section.

In the case of Herkimer County Light and Power Co. v. Johnson, 37 App. Div. 257; 55 N. Y. Supp. 924, apparatus, including an engine and boiler, used by the corporation in the manufacture and supply of gas, and engines, boilers and apparatus used by such corporation in generating electricity, all of which are known as trade fixtures, are situated in buildings standing upon land leased by the corporation, and can be removed from the buildings without injury thereto, were held to be assessable for state and county taxes as real property in the tax district where the property is situated. But gas mains or pipes laid by a gas company under the streets of a city are not real estate for the purpose of taxation. People ex rel. Citizens' Gas Light Co. v. Board of Assessors, 39 N. Y. 81. The latter case was decided prior to the amendment of the above section by the act of 1897, known as the Special Franchise Tax Act. Under the law as it now stands, gas mains laid in public streets are to be taxed as real property. See, also, People ex rel. Equitable Gas Light Co. v. Barker, 81 Hun, 22; 30 N. Y. Supp. 586.

Interest in real estate subject to taxation. The term lands as used in relation to taxation, includes such an interest in real estate as will protect the erection thereon, and the possession of buildings and fixtures, whether such buildings and fixtures are held in connection with the ownership of a fee in the soil or not. People ex rel. Dunkirk, etc., R. R. Co. v. Cassity, 46 N. Y. 46. See, also, People ex rel. Muller v. Assessors, 93 N. Y. 308; Trustees of Elmira v. Dunn, 22 Barb. 402.

Right to draw water from river is realty.—The right of the Niagara Falls Hydraulic Power Company to draw water from Niagara river for the purpose

"County treasurer" includes any officer performing the duties devolving upon such officer under whatever name. [Idem, § 2, sub. 5, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 323.]

The terms "land," "real estate" and "real property,"[2] as used in this chapter, include the land itself above and under water, all buildings and other articles and structures, substructures and superstructures, erected upon, under or above, or affixed to the same; all wharves and piers, including the value of the right to collect wharfage, cranage or dockage thereon;[3] all bridges, all telegraph lines, wires, poles and appurtenances; all supports and inclosures for electrical conductors and other appurtenances upon, above and under ground; all surface, underground or elevated railroads,[4] including the value of all franchises, rights or permission to construct, maintain or operate the same in, under, above, on or through, streets, highways or public places; all railroad structures, substructures and superstructures, tracks and the iron thereon; branches, switches and other fixtures permitted or authorized to be made, laid or placed in, upon, above or under any public or private road, street or ground; all mains, pipes and tanks laid or placed in, upon, above or under any public or private street or place for conducting steam, heat, water, oil, electricity or any property, substance of its business, as defined by ch. 968, Laws of 1896, is not a franchise, but an incorporeal hereditament appurtenant to its land, and the value of which should be considered in assessing the land. People ex rel. Niagara Falls Power Co. v. Smith, 70 App. Div. 543, 75 N. Y. Supp. 1100; affirmed 175 N. Y. 469.

Safe deposit vaults as real property.—Vaults owned by a safe deposit company, situated in buildings owned by other parties and constructed in such a manner as to be part of the realty, constitute an interest in real property, and should be treated as such for the purpose of taxation. People ex rel. Knickerbocker Safe Deposit Co. v. Wells, 181 N. Y. 245, affirming 99 App. Div. 455, 91 N. Y. Supp. 283.

Municipal property without corporation.—An engine or pump and a pipe line maintained by a city as a part of its water-works system outside of the corporate limits of a city, while not subject to a special franchise tax is subject to taxation as real property. People ex rel. City of Auburn v. Duryea, 59 App. Div. 488, 69 N. Y. Supp. 388. People ex rel. City of Rochester v. De Witt, 59 App. Div. 493, 69 N. Y. Supp. 366; affirmed 167 N. Y. 575.

3. Wharves and piers have always been held to be taxable as real property. See Smith v. Mayor, 68 N. Y. 552; People ex rel. Smith v. Commissioners of Taxes, 10 Hun, 207. Under the old revised statutes the right to receive wharfage was held to be neither real nor personal property and not subject to taxation. Boreel v. Mayor, etc., of New York, 4 Sup. Ct. (2 Sandf.) 552. But the above definition of real estate includes the value of the right to collect wharfage and supersedes in effect the decision in such case.

4. Elevated railroads.—The foundations, columns and superstructure of an elevated railway are within the statutory definition of land, and are liable to taxation as realty. People ex rel. N. Y. Elevated R. Co. v. Commissioners of Taxes, 82 N. Y. 459. It makes no difference in respect to taxation, whether the rail is laid upon the surface of the ground or placed upon pillars or carried through a covered way or tunnel. In either case, the structures adopted to sustain it, or facilitate and protect its use, are, within the meaning of the law, land, and taxable as such. People ex rel. New York & Harlem R. R. Co. v. Comrs. of Taxes, 101 N. Y. 322, reversing 23 Hun 687.

Tunnels under streets.—Tunnels of concrete construction under certain streets in the city of New York used for the conveyance of coal and ashes, and tunnels for the intake and discharge of water from a power house that are merely extensions thereof, are taxable as real estate and not as special franchises. People ex rel. Interborough R. T. Co. v. Purdy (1914), 85 Misc. 581, 148 N. Y. Supp. 1074.

or product capable of transportation or conveyance therein or that is protected thereby, including the value of all franchises, rights, authority or permission to contsruct, maintain or operate, in, under, above, or through, any streets, highways or public places, any mains, pipes, tanks, conduits or wires, with their appurtenances, for conducting water, steam, heat, light, power, gas, oil or other substance, or electricity for telegraphic, telephonic or other purposes; all trees and underwood growing upon land, and all mines, minerals, quarries and fossils in and under the same, except mines belonging to the state. A franchise, right, authority or permission specified in this subdivision shall for the purpose of taxation be known as a "special franchise." [5] A special franchise shall be deemed to include the value of the tangible property of a person, copartnership, association or corporation situated in, upon under or above any street, highway, public place or public waters in connection with the special franchise. The tangible property so included shall be taxed as a part of the special franchise. No property of a municipal corporation shall be subject to a special franchise tax. [Idem, § 2, sub. 6, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 323.]

5. Special franchise. Subdivision 2 of the above section of the former Tax Law was amended by L. 1899, ch. 712, for the purpose of including as real property all franchises granted by municipalities for the use of streets, highways and other public places. All rights, privileges or easements which a person, copartnership or corporation may have in such streets, highways and public places by virtue of a grant from public authorities, made pursuant to law, are to be subjected to taxation. Among the more common franchises thus to be taxed are those of street railroads, electric light and gas companies, telegraph and telephone companies stringing their wires in streets and highways, water companies, pipe line companies and steam surface railroad companies operating their railroads or any part thereof or across these streets or highways. The taxation of these franchises as real property seems to be based upon the fact that the right to use public streets and highways for the transaction of business of a public or quasi-public nature, is a property right similar in its character to an easement granted by a private person for the use of private property; and that since an easement granted by a private person is subject to taxation, a similar easement granted by a municipality should also be subject to taxation.

The franchise prior to the modification of the definition of real property by the franchise tax act was generally held not taxable. See People ex rel. Panama R. R. Co. v. Commissioner of Taxes, 104 N. Y. 240.

A special franchise is "a right to do something in the public highway, which, except for the grant, would be a trespass." People ex rel. Metropolitan St. Ry. Co. v. Tax Comrs., 174 N. Y. 417 (1903), affirmed 199 U. S. 1, in which case the constitutionality of the special franchise tax law was upheld. See, also, for definition of special franchise, People ex rel. Interborough R. T. Co. v. Tax Comrs., 126 App. Div. 610, 110 N. Y. Supp. 577.

A special franchise involves a grant from competent public authority, and there can be no franchise if an act is done within the boundaries of a street "by virtue of the ownership of the soil or of some interest therein." Hence, where a railroad company, after a city opens a street and builds a bridge over its tracks acquiring a mere easement for street purposes, acquires additional lands adjacent to its original right of way, and uses it for switch tracks underneath the bridge, it should not be assessed as a special franchise. So, also, additional lands acquired by a railroad company across streets laid out subsequent and adjacent to its right of way, upon which no structures have been erected, are not assessable as a special franchise. People ex rel. N. Y. Cent. & H. R. R. R. Co. v. Woodbury (1915), 167 App. Div. 428, 153 N. Y. Supp. 537.

The special franchise tax act does not affect the liability of a city to taxation upon its real property situated without its corporate limits. An engine or pump and a pipe line maintained by the city as a part of its water works system out-

The term special franchise shall not be deemed to include the crossing of a street, highway or public place outside the limits of a city or incorporated village where such crossing is less than two hundred and fifty feet in length, unless such crossing be the continuation of an occupancy of another street, highway or public place.[5a] The subdivision shall not apply to any elevated railroad. [Idem, § 2, sub. 7, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 323.]

The terms "personal estate" and "personal property," as used in this chapter, include chattels, money, things in action, debts due from solvent debtors, whether on account, contract, note, bond or mortgage; debts and obligations for the payment of money due or owing to persons residing within this state, however secured or wherever such securities shall be held; debts due by inhabitants of this state to persons not residing within the United States for the purchase of any real estate;

side of the corporate limits of the city is not subject to a special franchise tax, although it may be subject to taxation as other real property. Poeple ex rel. City of Auburn v. Duryea, 59 App. Div. 488; 69 N. Y. Supp. 388.

In the case of People ex rel. Retsof Mining Co. v. Priest, 75 App. Div. 131; 77 N. Y. Supp. 382, affd. 175 N. Y. 511, it was held that a corporation which lays a line of pipe in the town highways, the fee of which is owned by the abutting owners, with the consent and grant of such abutting owners, but without any express grant from the city or other public body, does not enjoy a special franchise as that term is defined in the above subdivision. The court in this case said, "'The franchise' here defined does not mean the right to exercise corporate functions, but the right to use the public streets, highways or public places, either as an individual or a corporation. The right to so use the public streets, highways or public places is a property right, and it is because such property has value that the right exists to assess it. 'The franchise right, authority, or permission' here mentioned must mean some special privilege derived from some governmental body or some political body having authority to grant the property right sought to be taxed. It is this species of property, intangible in its nature, which the law was enacted to reach.

All tangible property, real and personal, was assessed before the passage of this law. The tangible property which by this law is added to the intangible was presumably before assessed, and there was no apparent difficulty in reaching its value under the general provisions governing local taxation. The purpose of the law, I think, is obvious. Its purpose was to reach and assess those rights in streets, highways and public places which once belonged to the public at large or to political divisions of the state and which had been granted for the term or in perpetuity to individual or corporate bodies."

A viaduct erected, maintained and used by a street railway company, which has an insurable interest in it, is a part of the company's tangible property and may be assessed as such. People ex rel. B. L. & E. T. Co. v. Tax Commissioners, 77 Misc. 235, 136 N. Y. Supp. 474, affd. 156 App. Div. 466.

Where a railroad company incorporated under a special statute (L. 1866, ch. 763) was authorized by such statute to construct, maintain and operate its railroad over certain navigable rivers and streams, subject to the public easement of navigation, upon condition that it should construct and maintain in a manner prescribed by the statute "substantial bridges with suitable draws, and viaducts with proper openings, over or across the same, whenever the same may be necessary," and the railroad company has erected and maintains bridges and trestles for its railroad to pass over such navigable waters, such bridges and trestles are tangible property situated above public waters, and the franchise or right of the company to cross such waters and to construct and maintain its bridges and trestles over the same is a special franchise liable to assessment and taxation. People ex rel. Harlem River and Port Chester R. R. Co. v. State Board of Tax Commissioners (1915), 215 N. Y. 507, affg. 165 App. Div. 609.

public stocks, stocks in moneyed corporations,[5b] and such portion of the capital of incorporated companies liable to taxation on their capital, as shall not be invested in real estate.[6] [Idem, § 2, sub. 8, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 323.]

A railroad which maintains a bridge which crosses the Erie canal and an abutting highway at an angle other than a right angle for a distance of more than 250 feet is liable for a special franchise tax thereon. People ex rel. N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R. Co. v. Woodbury, 140 App. Div. 848, 125 N. Y. Supp. 728.

Overhead bridges, which are entirely unnecessary for the operation of a railroad, but which are erected and maintained for the benefit of the community, are not tangible property taxable as a part of the special franchise. People ex rel. N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R. Co. v. Tax Commissioners (1917), 179 App. Div. 421, 166 N. Y. Supp. 26.

5b. The words "stocks in moneyed corporations," as used in subdivision 5, includes shares of stock in State and national banks. Atty. Genl. Opin., 5 State Dept. Rep. 471 (1915).

6. Debts due to persons in state. The clause including in the definition of personal property debts and obligations due or owing to persons residing within the state re-enacts Laws 1883, ch. 392.

The rule of exemption of personal estate situate in another state, though owned by a resident of this state, applies only to property capable of having an actual situs away from the owner, or his domicile. Choses in action or securities in the hands of an agent out of the state for collection or investment, are so situated as to be regarded as having foreign and not domestic situs. People ex rel. Hoyt v. Comrs. of Taxes, 23 N. Y. 224.

Property of a resident in the form of loans in other states, the securities for which are in the hands of agents there, is not taxable in this state. People ex rel. Jefferson v. Gardner, 51 Barb. 352.

Under the above section debts due to residents of this state, however secured, and wherever such securities may be held, are deemed personal property and subject to taxation. Before the enactment of L. 1883, ch. 392, from which a portion of the above subdivision was derived, it was held that mortgage securities on lands in another state held permanently by an agent in such state for the owner who resided in this state and which mortgage was subject to taxation in the state where the agent resided was held not to be personal property and subject to taxation in this state. People ex rel. Jefferson v. Smith, 88 N. Y. 576.

In construing the provision of the act of 1883 declaring that, "All debts and obligations for the payment of money due or owing to persons residing within this state . . . wherever said securities shall be held shall be deemed, for the purpose of taxation, personal property within this state, and shall be assessed as such to the owner or owners," it was held that it referred to debts or obligations which are solely due or owing to residents of this state; but that it did not include as owners persons who are trustees only; the court said: "Generally a man is not spoken of as an owner of property, who merely holds it as a trustee and in a representative capacity. He has the legal title, and he is to be assessed for it when it is within the state, but this is by express provision of statute and such provision is not mentioned in the case of a trustee whose trust property is outside of the state and not in his possession." People ex rel. Darrow v. Coleman, 119 N. Y. 137.

If a trustee residing in this state is in possession of the securities, he can be assessed for them as a trustee in possession even though there be other trustees who are non-residents. In the case last cited it appeared that the real acting trustee lived in New Jersey and that he had possession and control of the securities consisting of bonds and mortgages upon lands in other states, and that the beneficiaries were all non-residents. The tax commissioners contended that because two of the trustees were residents of this state, although neither of them had possession or control of the property and none of it was in this state, that the trust estate was taxable in this state. The Court of Appeals emphatically overruled this contention.

Debts due to nonresidents by residents. The clause including in the definition of personal property debts due by inhabitants of this state to persons not residing within the United States is derived from Laws 1851, ch. 371.

§ 2. PROPERTY LIABLE TO TAXATION.

All real property within this state, and all personal property situated or owned within this state, is taxable unless exempt from taxation by law.[7] [Tax Law, § 3; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5804.]

Assessment of city bonds. The assessment and collection, by a city, of a tax on its own bonds in the hands of a taxpayer, in the same manner as on other like property, is proper. People ex rel. Manhattan Fire Ins. Co. v. Comrs. of Taxes, 76 N. Y. 64.

Patented article. A tax may be imposed on a patented article, although the patent itself is not taxable. Webber v. Virginia, 103 U. S. 344, 347.

Award in condemnation proceedings is taxable to owner, although appeal is pending. People ex rel. Ryan v. Halstead, 26 App. Div. 316, 49 N. Y. Supp. 685, affd. 159 N. Y. 533.

A seat in the New York Stock Exchange has been held by the Court of Appeals to be property. Powell v. Waldron, 89 N. Y. 328; Belton v. Hatch, 109 N. Y. 593. But such a membership is not personal property and taxable under the laws of this State. People ex rel. Lemmon v. Feitner, 167 N. Y. 1; People ex rel. Slade v. Comrs. of Taxes, 53 Misc. 336, 104 N. Y. Supp. 756.

Switches and conduits connecting the street feed mains of an electric supply company in a city with the customer's premises are personal property and are not assessable to the corporation as real estate. People ex rel. N. Y. Edison Co. v. Feitner, 99 App. Div. 274, 90 N. Y. Supp. 904; affd. 181 N. Y. 549.

7. Statute, how construed. It is the general purpose of statutes relating to assessments and taxation, to secure an assessment upon all property, real and personal, at its actual value, and they must be construed and enforced with this purpose constantly in view. An intent to exempt any property or any portion of the value of any property, from taxation must not be presumed but found plainly expressed in the statutes. People ex rel. Railroad Co. v. Commissioners of Taxes, 95 N. Y. 554.

In construing this section the court said in the case of City of Rochester v. Coe, 25 App. Div. 300, 305; 49 N. Y. Supp. 52: "The language used is broad and comprehensive and, presumptively, is intended to reach all the real property and personal property found in any tax district of the state except such as is exempted from taxation by statutory law. We think the words 'unless exempted from taxation by law' were used with the intention of limiting the exemptions to such as should be enumerated by statutory law."

Real and personal property of aliens situated in this state is subject to taxation by the city or county where it is located. People ex rel. Cook v. Dunckel, 69 Misc. 361, 125 N. Y. Supp. 385.

The servient estate cannot be taxed upon the basis of the easement which has been made appurtnant to the dominant estate. People ex rel. Topping v. Purdy, 143 App. Div. 389, 128 N. Y. Supp. 569.

Ownership of property. The addition, by the revision of 1896, of the words "or owned" did not change the rule in People ex rel. Hoyt v. Comrs. of Taxes, 23 N. Y. 224, that personal property of a resident having a situs out of the state is not taxable. "It is possible, however, that it was intended to apply to a species of property that has no actual situs, such as credits or the like; but a chattel or property having a definite situs is not owned in this state when it is actually located in a foreign state." People ex rel. Orinoka Mills v. Barker, 84 App. Div. 469, 83 N. Y. Supp. 33.

If a farm belonging to the wife is assessed to the husband who resides with her upon it, the assessment is void for want of jurisdiction. Hallock v. Rumsey, 22 Hun, 89. But see Powell v. Jenkins, 14 Misc. 83.

§ 3. EXEMPTION FROM TAXATION.

The following property shall be exempt from taxation:[8]

The land itself may be taxed to one person as owner of the fee and the structures thereon or the minerals or quarries therein may be taxed to another person. Smith v. Mayor, etc., of New York, 68 N. Y. 552. A person or corporation owning fixtures, such as the foundations, columns and superstructure of an elevated railway, may be assessed therefor, although the fee of the land to which they are affixed is in another; and this is so without regard to the question whether that other is a natural person, or a municipality, or whether the land is or is not liable to taxation. People ex rel. N. Y. Elevated R. R. Co. v. Commissioners of Taxes, 82 N. Y. 459.

Parties may by contract so regulate their respective interests in real estate that one may be the owner of the buildings and the other of the land. In such case each interest may be assessed to its owner, and the assessment of the buildings as real estate is proper. So where a lessee is the owner of the buildings upon the demised premises the fact that the lessor has by the lease a right of re-entry in case of non-performance by the lessee, does not affect his present right in the buildings, or the right to assess them to him. People ex rel. Muller v. Board of Assessors, 93 N. Y. 308.

In the case of People ex rel. International Navigation Co. v. Barker, 153 N. Y. 98; 47 N. E. 46, it appeared that a shed was erected by the lessee upon a pier leased from the city of New York, under a lease requiring its erection and providing that it is to become the property of the city on the expiration of the lease. It was held that such shed became the property of the city on being erected and affixed to the realty, and was therefore not taxable as property of the lessee.

Statutes providing the procedure for assessing and collecting taxes for the sale of lands for their non-payment, and for the redemption of lands sold for unpaid taxes are applicable to infants and persons under disabilities unless they are excepted from the operation of the act. Levy v. Neuman, 130 N. Y. 11; 28 N. E. 660.

Valuation of suburban real estate.—In ascertaining the actual value of real estate in a purely agricultural community, which is in a state of transfer to suburban conditions, some consideration should be taken of the present availability of the land for other than farm purposes. People ex rel. Town of Hempstead v. Tax Commissioners (1914), 163 App. Div. 803, 149 N. Y. Supp. 239.

Mortgages executed before recording act of 1906 are subject to local tax. Cassavoy v. Dimond, 121 App. Div. 559, 106 N. Y. Supp. 277.

Mortgage on real property not to be deducted from assessment. Paddell v. City of New York, 50 Misc. 422, 100 N. Y. Supp. 581; affd. 114 App. Div. 911, 100 N. Y. Supp. 1133, affd. 188 N. Y. 544.

Taxation of personal property within state. The old rule of mobilia sequuntur personam has been modified so that the owner of personal property may be taxed on its account at its situs although not his residence or domicile; but the mere presence of notes within a state which is not the residence or domicile of the owner does not bring the debts of which they are the written evidence within the taxing jurisdiction of the state. Buck v. Beach, 206 U. S. 392.

As a state cannot directly tax tangible property permanently outside the state and having no situs within the state, it cannot attain the same end by taxing the enhanced value of the capital stock of a corporation which arises from the value of the property beyond its jurisdiction. D., L. & W. R. R. Co. v. Pennsylvania, 198 U. S. 341.

8. Rule of construction as to exemption clauses. Exemptions from taxation are not favored and are to be strictly construed. They will not be sustained unless such clearly appears to have been the intent of the Legislature. People ex rel. Andrews v. Cameron, 140 App. Div. 76, 124 N. Y. Supp. 949, affd. 200 N. Y. 585. exemption is not to be established by doubtful implication. People ex rel. Insurance Co. v. Commissioners of Taxes, 76 N. Y. 64; People ex rel. Railroad Co. v. Commissioners of Taxes, 82 N. Y. 459, 465; People ex rel. D. K. E. Society v. Lawlor, 74 App. Div. 553; 77 N. Y. Supp. 840. An intent to exempt any property, or any portion of the value of any property may not be presumed, but must be found plainly expressed in the statutes. People ex rel. Railroad Co. v. Commissioners of Taxes, 95 N. Y. 554. In determining whether a given case is within a clause in a statute exempting certain property or interests from taxation the policy of the law in making the exemption must be considered and should have great weight. People ex rel. Brush Electric Mfg. Co. v. Wemple, 129 N. Y. 543, 552; 29 N. E. 808. A presumption that the legislature intended to surrender its right of taxation in the future by a present exemption therefrom, cannot be entertained, unless such intention is clearly expressed. People ex rel. Cunningham v. Roper, 35 N. Y. 629; People ex rel. Westchester Fire Insurance Co. v. Davenport, 91 N. Y. 574. Statutes of exemption are to be strictly construed. Winona & St. Paul Land Co. v. Minnesota, 159 U. S. 526; 16 Sup. Ct. 83. They are not to be extended beyond their exact and express requirements. Yazoo R. R. Co. v. Thomas, 132 U. S. 174; 10 Sup. Ct. 68. Exemptions must be clearly expressed, and not left to implication or inference. Schurz v. Cook, 148 U. S. 397; 13 Sup. Ct. 645; Keokuk, etc., Co. v. Missouri, 152 U. S. 301; 14 Sup. Ct. 592.

Not transferable. Immunity from taxation is not transferable. It is a personal privilege and not extended beyond the immediate grantee unless otherwise expressly declared. Pickard v. Railroad Co., 130 U. S. 637.

Conditional exemption. Exemption may be granted upon conditions or contingencies which may happen in the future. Mobile, etc., R. R. Co. v. Tennessee, 153 U. S. 486.

Effect of exemptions as to assessments for local improvements. Exemption from taxation does not necessarily embrace exemption from assessment for a local improvement. Buffalo City Cemetery v. City of Buffalo, 46 N. Y. 506; Matter of St. Joseph's Asylum, 69 Id. 353.

In the case of Roosevelt Hospital v. Mayor, etc., of N. Y., 84 N. Y. 108, where a provision in an act incorporating the Roosevelt Hospital exempted its real estate from taxation, it was held that such real estate was not properly exexempted from an asessment for a local improvement; that the assessment was not taxation within the meaning of the act. The court said: "In a broad sense, taxes undoubtedly include assessments, and the right to impose assessments has its foundation in the taxation power of the government; and yet in practice, and generally understood, there is a broad distinction between the two terms. Taxes, as the term is generally used, are public burdens imposed generally upon the inhabitants of the whole state or upon some civil division thereof, for governmental purposes without reference to peculiar benefits to particular individuals or property. Assessments have reference to impositions for improvements which are specially beneficial to particular individuals or property and which are imposed in proportion to the particular benefits supposed to be conferred. They are justified only because the improvements confer special benefits and are just only when they are divided in proportion to such benefits." It follows therefore that an exemption from taxation is not sufficient to exempt the property specified from an assessment for local improvements. See, also, Matter of Mayor, etc., of New York, 11 Johns. 80; Bleecker v. Ballou, 3 Wend. 263; Hassan v. City of Rochester, 67 N. Y. 528.

In the case of Roosevelt Hospital v. Mayor, etc., supra, the court also said: "There is a still further suggestion to be made. Laws exempting property from taxation are to be strictly construed. Taxation is the rule; exemption the exception, and before any one can claim exemption from what would otherwise be his just share of a tax or assessment, he must find a plain warrant for such exemption in the law. In view of what has been said, it would certainly be going to an extraordinary length to say that the exemption from assessments in the plaintiff's charter is plain or free from reasonable doubt. We must therefore hold that plaintiff's property, while exempt from taxation, is not exempt from improvement assessments."

Powers of assessors as to exempt property. The office of assessor in determining what property is subject to, and what is exempt from taxation, is judicial; and the assessor in determining such questions acts judicially and is not liable for errors committed in arriving at his conclusion upon that subject. Barhyte v. Shepherd, 35 N. Y. 238. See, also, Vale v. Owen, 19 Barb. 22; Foster v. Van Wyck, 2 Abbt. Ct. of App. Dec. 167; 41 How. Pr. 493; Matter of Peek, 80 Hun, 122; 39 N. Y. Supp. 59. But see Prosser v. Secor, 5 Barb. 607; National Bank of Chemung v. City of Elmira, 53 N. Y. 49; Clark v. Norton, 49 Id. 243; Overing v. Foote, 65 Id. 263; Lapolt v. Maltby, 10 Misc. 330, 31 N. Y. Supp. 686.

Assesors having jurisdiction of the subject matter and of the person assessed are protected against liability as private persons for the erroneous exercise of their judgment when acting judicially and their determination cannot be assailed collaterally or furnish ground for a private action against them. Section 22 of the Tax Law, post, p. 518. The forest preserve includes the lands owned by the state within the county of Clinton, excepting towns of Altoona and Dannemora, and the counties of Delaware, Essex, Franklin, Fulton, Hamilton, Herkimer, Lewis, Oneida, Saratoga, St. Lawrence, Warren, Washington, Greene, Ulster and Sullivan, except lands within the limits of any village or city, and lands not wild lands acquired by the state on foreclosure of mortgages made to loan commissioners. 3. Property of a municipal corporation[11] of the state held for a public use, including real property held or used for cemetery purposes,[12] and all lots and plats therein conveyed by the municipal corporation as places for the burial of the dead, except the portion of municipal property not within the corporation. [Id., § 4, sub. 3.]

11. Property of municipal corporation. A municipal corporation is defined in section 3 of the General Corporation Law, as including "county, town, school district, village and city and any other partial division of the state established by law with powers of local government." The above subdivision is a substitute for sub. 3 and 4 of sec. 4 of tit. 1, ch. 13, pt. 1, of the Revised Statutes, which provided that "every school house, court house and jail used for either of such purposes; and the several lots whereon such buildings are situated, and the furniture belonging to each of them," and, also, "every poorhouse, almshouse, and the real and personal property used for such purposes belonging to or connected with the same," are exempted from taxation. The above subdivision extended the former provisions of the revised statutes so that all property of a municipal corporation held for the public use except such property as is not included within the limits of a corporation, is exempt from taxation. This change was made by the revision of 1896 in conformity with the decisions of the court that property owned by the municipality and held it for municipal purposes was not taxable. See City of Rochester v. Town of Rush, 80 N. Y. 302; People ex rel. Murphy v. Kelley, 76 N. Y. 479, 486–89.

It is not property about to be taken or become the property of a municipal corporation that is exempt, but real property actually owned and held by a municipal corporation for public use. Matter of Board of Education, 59 App. Div. 258; 69 N. Y. Supp. 572. Property of a city constituting part of its water works system and located beyond the boundaries of such city is subject to general taxation in the town in which it is located. People ex rel. City of Amsterdam v. Hess, 157 N. Y. 42; 51 N. E. 410. (This case was decided before the addition of the last clause to this section.)

Property of a municipality is not subject to taxation, whether it be employed for public uses or held in a proprietary capacity in trust for the public. People ex rel. Hollock v. Purdy, 72 Misc. 122.

Presumption of exemption. Property of a municipality, acquired and held for governmental and public uses, and used for public purposes, is not taxable subject within the purview of the tax laws unless specially included. People v. Assessors, 111 N. Y. 505.

12. Exemption of cemeteries. The consent of the supervisors is not essential to secure exemption from taxation where the lands owned by a cemetery corporation were acquired under a special statute. People ex rel. Trustees of Cathedral v. Davren, 16 N. Y. Supp. 794; 41 N. Y. St. Rep. 779; affd. 131 N. Y. 601. Water rates assessed against cemetery corporations by municipalities are not public rates within the meaning of this section. Batterman v. City of New York, 65 App. Div. 576, 73 N. Y. Supp. 44.

Lands within the terms of this section are exempt from taxation from the moment of their acquisition, although no dead are buried there and such burial is forbidden by a municipal ordinance. People ex rel. Oak Hill Cemetery v. Pratt, 129 N. Y. 68; 29 N. E. 7.

14. Property exempt from execution.

(1.) Personal property exempt. The following personal property, when owned by a householder, is exempt from levy and sale by virtue of an execution; and each movable article thereof continues to be so exempt, while the family, or any of them, are removing from one residence to another:

1. All spinning wheels, weaving looms, and stoves, put up, or kept for use, in a dwelling house; and one sewing machine, with its appurtenances.

2. The family bible, family pictures, and school books, used by or in the family; and other books, not exceeding in value fifty dollars, kept and used as part of the family library.

3. A seat or pew, occupied by the judgment debtor, or the family, in a place of public worship.

4. Ten sheep, with their fleeces, and the yarn or cloth manufactured therefrom; one cow; two swine; the necessary food for those animals; all necessary meat, fish, flour, groceries and vegetables, actually provided for family use; and necessary fuel, oil, and candles, for the use of the family for sixty days.

5. All wearing apparel, beds, bedsteads, and bedding, necessary for the judgment debtor and the family; all necessary cooking utensils; one table; six chairs; six knives; six forks; six spoons; six plates; six tea cups; six saucers; one sugar dish; one milk pot; one tea pot; one crane and its appendages; one pair of andirons; one coal scuttle; one shovel; one pair of tongs; one lamp, and one candlestick.

6. The tools and implements of a mechanic, necessary to the carrying on of his trade, not exceeding in value twenty-five dollars. (Code of Civ. Proc., sec. 1390, as amended by L. 1891, ch. 112.)

In addition to the exceptions allowed by the last section, necessary household furniture, working tools and team, professional instruments, furniture and library, not exceeding in value two hundred and fifty dollars, together with the necessary food for the team for ninety days, are exempt from levy and sale by virtue of an execution, when owned by a person, being a householder, or having a family, for which he provides, except where the execution is issued upon a judgment, recovered wholly upon one or more demands, either for work performed in the family as a domestic, or for the purchase money of one or more articles exempt as prescribed in this or the last section. Where a judgment has been recovered, etc. (Code Civ. Proc., sec. 1391, as amended by L. 1879, ch. 542; L. 1901, ch. 116; L. 1903, ch. 461, and L. 1908, ch. 148, L. 1911, chs. 489, 532, and L. 1914, ch. 352.

Where the judgment debtor is a woman, she is entitled to the same exemptions, from levy and sale, by virtue of an execution, subject to the same exceptions, as prescribed in the last two sections, in the case of a householder. (Code Civil Procedure, sec. 1392.)

(2.) Military pay, bounty and pension exempt from taxation. The pay and bounty of a non-commissioned officer, musician or private, in the military or naval service of the United States or the state of New York; a land warrant, pension, or other reward, heretofore or hereafter granted by the United States or by a state, for military or naval services; a sword, horse, medal, emblem, or device of any kind presented, as testimonial for services rendered in the military or naval service of the United States or a state; and the uniform, arms and equipments, which were used by a person in that service, are also exempt from levy and sale, by virtue of an execution, and from seizure for non-payment of taxes, or in any other legal proceeding; except that real property purchased with the proceeds of a pension granted by the United States for military or naval services, and owned by the pensioner, or by his wife or widow, is subject to seizure and sale for the collection of taxes or assessments lawfully levied thereon. (Code Civ. Proc., sec. 1393, as amended by L. 1897, ch. 348.)

(3.) Burial grounds exempt from execution. Land set apart as a family or private burying ground, and heretofore designated, as prescribed by law, in order to exempt the same, or hereafter designated for that purpose, as prescribed in the next section, is exempt from sale, by virtue of an execution, upon the following conditions only:

1. A portion of it must have been actually used for that purpose.
2. It must not exceed in extent one-fourth of an acre.
3. It must not contain, at the time of its designation, or at any time afterwards, any building or structure, except one or more vaults, or other places of deposit for the dead, or mortuary monuments. (Code Civ. Proc., sec. 1395.)

15. Real property purchased with pension money exempt. Property purchased with the pay and bounty of a soldier is not entitled to any greater or different exemption than that in the above subdivision for the exemption from taxation of real property purchased with pension moneys. It therefore follows that real property purchased with a soldier's pay or bounty is subject to taxation for local school and highway purposes in the same manner as such property purchased with pension moneys. People ex rel. Kenney v. Reilly, 41 App. Div. 378; 58 N. Y. Supp. 558.

Property purchased with money received by a retired soldier is exempt the same as property of a pensioner. Rept. of Atty. Genl., Dec. 23, 1910, following; People ex rel. Kenny v. Reilly, 41 App. Div. 378.

Real property purchased with bounty money or pay of a retired soldier of the United States Army is not exempt from taxation. Rept. of Atty. Genl., March 27, 1911.

Exemption of property purchased with pension money extends to the amount invested, when assessed as one item. It is not the intent of the statute to make a pro rata basis depending upon the extent of occupancy. Rept. of Atty. Genl., Jan. 31, 1911.

A veteran is entitled to exemption on property purchased with pension money, although he rents a portion of such property and occupies the remainder. Rept. of Atty. Genl., Oct. 17, 1910.

The property of pensioners is exempt from a tax imposed to meet bonds issued for the purpose of installing a village water system. Rept. of Atty. Genl., May 15, 1911.

The exemption from taxation of all real property to the extent of $5,000 purchased with the proceeds of a United States pension applies to non-residents as well as to residents of this State. Rept. of Atty. Genl., July 1, 1914.

the amount of pension money used in or toward the purchase of such property.[16] No such exemption on account of pension money shall be allowed in excess of five thousand dollars. If the assessors are satisfied that the applicant is entitled to the exemption, and that the amount of pension money exempt to the extent authorized by this subdivision used in the purchase of such property equals or exceeds the assessed valuation thereof, they shall enter the word "exempt" upon the assessment-roll opposite the description of such property. If the amount of such pension money exempt to the extent authorized by this subdivision used in the purchase of the property is less than the assessed valuation, they shall enter upon the assessment-roll the words "exempt to the extent of ..... dollars" (naming the amount) and thereupon such real property, to the extent of the exemption entered by the assessors, shall be exempt from state, county and general municipal taxation, but shall be taxable for local school purposes, and for the construction and maintenance of streets and highways. If no application for exemption be granted, the property shall be subject to taxation for all purposes. The entries above required shall be made and continued in each assessment of the property so long as it is exempt from taxation for any purpose. The provisions herein, relating to the assessment and exemption of property purchased with a pension apply and shall be enforced in each municipal corporation authorized to levy taxes. 16. Application for exemption. For form of application for exemption, see Form No. 37, post.

The assessors are required under the above subdivision to place the real property of a veteran purchased with pension money upon the roll in the usual manner of assessment, and the claimant for an exemption must prefer it in writing stating the amount on which the exemption is claimed. People ex rel. McGrane v. Reilly, 21 Misc. 360; 47 N. Y. Supp. 742. To secure the exemption of real estate purchased in part with pension moneys the owner must make his claim known on grievance day and in default thereof the assessment will stand. Tax Law, § 4.

The real property of a corporation or association organized exclusively for the moral or mental improvement of men or women, or for religious, bible, tract, charitable, benevolent, missionary, hospital, infirmary, educational, scientific, literary, library, patriotic, historical or cemetery purposes, or for the enforcement of laws relating to children or animals, or for two or more such purposes, and used exclusively for carrying out thereupon one or more of such purposes; and the personal property of any such corporation shall be exempt from taxation.[18] But no such corporation or 18. Corporations entitled to exemption. In the case of People ex rel. D. K. E. Society v. Lawlor, 74 App. Div. 553; 77 N. Y. Supp. 840, it appeared that a house owned by a chapter of a Greek letter college fraternity, organized as stated in its certificate of incorporation for literary purposes and the promotion of fine arts, was primarily used, with the exception of the society room, as a boarding place for the active members of the chapter, at which they enjoyed the privileges of home life and met for social recreation and fellowship without intrusion from uninvited guests; it was held that such property was not exempt from taxation under the above subdivision although it was incidentally used for literary, educational and scientific purposes. The property entitled to exemption under this subdivision must be exclusively used for the purposes therein specified. See Church of St. Monica v. Mayor, 119 N. Y. 91; 23 N. E. 294; People ex rel. Church of St. Mary v. Feitner, 168 N. Y. 494, N. E.

In the case of People ex rel. D. K. E. Society v. Lawlor, supra, the court said: "Now the adverb 'exclusively' is defined by lexicographers to mean 'with the exclusion of all others, without admission of others to participation' (Century Dictionary); and with this definition in mind it is apparent that the partial or occasional use of the relator's chapter house for literary, educational or scientific purposes is not sufficient to sustain its claim to exemption, unless it can be said that such purposes are primary and inherent, while all others are secondary and incidental; for although we ought not perhaps to give the word 'exclusively' an interpretation so literal as to prevent an occasional use of the relator's property for some purpose other than one or more of those specified, yet the policy of the law is to construe statutes exempting property from taxation somewhat rigidly, and not to permit such exemption to be established by doubtful implication."

In the case of People ex rel. Young Men's Association v. Sayles, 32 App. Div. 197; 53 N. Y. Supp. 67; affd., 157 N. Y. 677, it appeared that the relator was a corporation organized exclusively for the mental and moral improvement of men and women and for benevolent purposes. Any respectable young man could become a member and enjoy its privileges upon the payment of a nominal membership fee. It owned a building in the city of Albany of which a portion was used for the purpose of a public library, gymnasium, reading, lecture and bath rooms, while the remainder consisted of a spacious and elaborately constructed theater or hall suitable for public meetings, exhibitions and entertainments. This hall was leased at fixed rates of rental and used for such purposes only, the income therefrom being devoted exclusively to the maintenance of the library. It was held by the appellate division and subsequently affirmed by the Court of Appeals that such property was subject to taxation.

In the case of People ex rel. Catholic Union v. Sayles, 32 App. Div. 203; 53 N. Y. Supp. 65; affd. 157 N. Y. 679, a like conclusion was reached upon a very similar state of facts. The rent of athletic grounds by a college to persons not connected therewith deprives it of the exemption. People ex rel. Adelphi College v. Wells, 97 App. Div. 312, 89 N. Y. Supp. 957. See, also, People ex rel. Medical Society v. Neff, 34 App. Div. 83; 53 N. Y. Supp. 1077. As to effect of lease of academy by educational corporation, see People ex rel. Trustees, etc., v. Mezgar, 98 App. Div. 237, 90 N. Y. Supp. 488. Land held by a voluntary unincorporated religious order for charitable purposes—held exempt. People ex rel. Missionary Sisters v. Reilly, 85 App. Div. 71, 83 N. Y. Supp. 39, affd. 178 N. Y. 609. The proceeds of crops raised on land owned by the religious society of Friends—held not exempt. People ex rel. Blackburn v. Barton, 63 App. Div. 581, 71 N. Y. Supp. 933. The property of the Brooklyn Masonic Guild, held exempt. People ex rel. Crook v. Wells, 179 N. Y. 257, revg. 93 App. Div. 500, 87 N. Y. Supp. 826.

In the case of Congregation K. I. A. P. v. Mayor, 52 Hun, 507, it was held that the building, of which the principal story was used as a synagogue, while the lower story contained the living rooms of the janitor of the synagogue and bath tubs and plunging pools for men and women, which were accessible for a pecuniary consideration, payable to the janitor in lieu of salary, to all Jews, whether worshippers at that synagogue or not, was not exempt from taxation, for the reason that the building was not "exclusively used," for one or more of the purposes specified in the statute.

The religious society of Friends owned four hundred and fifty acres of land upon which was conducted an institution for the education of Indian children. A portion of this land was cultivated and used for raising crops and the pasturage of cattle. The crops raised were more than sufficient for the use of the school and the surplus was sold and the proceeds devoted to the school. It was held that only the land used for crops and pasturage was exempt from taxation. People ex rel. Blackburn v. Barton, 63 App. Div. 581. But where all the products of the farm upon which is situated an institution exempt from taxation under the above subdivision are used for the maintenance of the inmates of the institution, the farm is entitled to exemption. People ex rel. Seminary, etc. v. Barbour, 42 Hun, 27; affd. 106 N. Y. 669.

A church corporation engaged in charitable and missionary work among the poor carried on such work by the aid of guilds of men and women, and a staff consisting of the rector, curates and three sisters. Annexed to the church building in which religious services were held, and forming a part thereof, was the clergy house and a rectory devoted to the use of the work of the corporation. It was held in the appellate division that the entire building was exempt from taxation under the above subdivision. People ex rel Society of the Free Church v. Feitner, 63 App. Div. 181. But the Court of Appeals modified its decision by holding that the rectory, being located on another corner of the church lot and separate from the other property, was not exempt from taxation except as a dwelling house used by the officiating clergyman of the church. See sub. 9 of sec. 4, post, p. 482.

Property bequeathed to a university organized under the laws of a foreign state exclusively for educational, scientific and literary purposes is, before payment to the beneficiary, liable to taxation in the town or village of the testator's residence even though the property would be exempt from taxation if the beneficiary were organized under our laws. purposes, shall not be exempt, but if a portion only of any lot or building of any such corporation or association is used exclusively for carrying out thereupon one or more such purposes of any such corporation or association, then such lot or building shall be so exempt only to the extent of the value of the portion so used, and the remaining or other portion, to the extent of the value of such remaining or other portion, shall be subject to taxation; provided, however, that a lot or building owned, and actually used for hospital purposes, by a free public hospital, depending for maintenance and support upon voluntary charity, shall not be taxed as to a portion thereof leased or otherwise used for the purposes of income, when such income is necessary for, and is actually applied to the maintenance and support of such hospital, and further provided that the real property of any fraternal corporation, association or body created to build and maintain a building or buildings for its meeting or meetings of the general assembly of its members, or subordinate bodies of such fraternity and for the accommodation of other fraternal bodies or associations, the entire net income of which real property is exclusively applied or to be used to build, furnish and maintain an asylum or asylums, a home or homes, a school or schools, for the free education or relief of the members of such fraternity, or for the relief, support and care of worthy and indigent members of the fraternity, their wives, widows or orphans, shall be exempt from taxation, and provided also that the real estate owned by a free public library or held in trust by an educational corporation for free public library purposes situate outside of a city, shall not be taxed as to that portion thereof leased or otherwise used for purposes of income, when such income is necessary for and actually applied to the maintenance and support of such library. Property held by any officer of a religious denomination shall be entitled to the same exemptions, subject to the same conditions and exceptions, as property held by a religious corporation. Property held by trustees named in a will or deed of trust or appointed by the supreme court of the state of New York for hospital and library purposes, as set forth in this subdivision, shall be exempt to the same extent and subject to the same conditions and exceptions as if held by a corporation. commission for the benefit of the owner; moneys of a nonresident of this state, under the control or in the possession of his agent in this state, when transmitted to such agent for the purpose of investment or otherwise.[22] [Id., § 4, sub. 13.]

22. Exemption of securities belonging to non-residents. The statute provides that a person shall be taxed in the tax district where he resides, when the assessment for taxation is made, for all personal property owned by him or under his control as agent, trustee, guardian, executor or administrator. Tax Law, sec. 8, post, p. 492. This provision if standing alone would doubtless authorize the assessment of all personal property belonging to a non-resident in the hands of his agent in this state. But by virtue of the above subdivision there are appended to this general provision two important qualifications; first, that the products of any state of the United States consigned to any agent in this state for sale on commission shall not be assessed to such agent; second, that agents of moneyed corporations of capitalists shall not be liable to taxation for any moneys in their possession or under their control, transmitted to them for the purpose of investment or otherwise.

The Court of Appeals, in the case of Williams v. Board of Supervisors, 78 N. Y. 561, in speaking of these exemptions, says: "Nothing can be more plain than the policy and purpose of these exemptions. They are clearly intended to further the trade and commerce of the state and to encourage and even invite the sending of foreign capital here for investment. It is argued, however, that the exemption as to capital continues only so long as it remains uninvested, and that when invested, if the securities remain in the hands of the agent they are taxable. If such were the true construction of the provision it would be quite ineffectual and rather a lure than a protection to foreign capitalists who might send their capital here to be invested under the assurance that it should be free from taxation. But such a construction is precluded by the express provisions of the statute contained in the same chapter, which declares that when any bond, mortgage, note, contract, account, or other demand belonging to any person, not being a resident of this state, shall be sent to this state for collection, or shall be deposited in this state for the same purpose, such property shall be exempt from taxation. . . . These provisions are clearly designed to afford to the foreign capitalist who invests his funds here every conceivable protection. His capital cannot be taxed while awaiting investment. If the securities are taken by him out of the state he may with impunity send them back to the agent here for the collection of principal or interest. And if instead of being removed from the state, they are deposited here with an agent for collection, they are equally free. The capital is protected from taxation whether invested or uninvested, and whether the securities are taken away or remain here for collection." Funds sent here for investment are not taxable. The first cost of the road means only such road as the company has and operates at the time of the assessment; so where a company constructed the plank road, and afterwards abandoned a portion of it, it was held that the first cost of the portion of the road retained, and not of the whole original road, was to be estimated in determining whether the property of the company was assessable. 7a. EXEMPTION AND REDUCTION IN ASSESSMENT OF LANDS PLANTED WITH TREES FOR FORESTRY PURPOSES.

Whenever the owner of lands, to the extent of one or more acres and not exceeding one hundred acres, shall plant the same for forestry purposes with trees to the number of not less than eight hundred to the acre, and whenever the owner of existing forest or brush lands to the extent of one or more acres and not exceeding one hundred acres, shall under plant the same with trees, to the number of not less than three hundred to the acre, and proof of that fact shall be filed with the assessors of the tax district or districts in which such lands are situated as hereinafter provided, such lands so forested shall be exempt from assessment and taxation for any purpose for a period of thirty-five years from the date of the levying of taxes thereon immediately following such planting, and such existing forest or brush lands so underplanted shall be assessed at the rate of fifty per centum of the assessable valuation of such land exclusive of any forest growth thereon for a period of thirty-five years from the date of the levying of taxes thereon immediately following such underplanting. The owner or owners of lands forested as above provided, in order to secure the benefits of this section, shall file with the conservation commission an affidavit making the due proof of such planting or underplanting and setting forth an accurate description of such lands, the town and county in which the same are situated, the number of trees planted or underplanted to the acre and the number of acres so forested, which affidavit shall remain on file in the office of said commission. Upon the filing of such affidavit it shall be the duty of the conservation commission to cause an inspection of such forested lands to be made by a competent forester or other employee of said commission who shall make and file with said commission a written report of such inspection. If the commission is satisfied from the said affidavit and the report of inspection that the lands have been forested as above provided, in good faith and by adequate methods to produce a forest plantation, and are entitled to the exemption of assessment or to a reduction of assessment as provided in this section, it shall make and execute a certificate under the seal of its office, and file the same with the county treasurer of the county in which the lands so forested are located, which certificate shall set forth a description of the lands affected by this section, the area and owner or owners thereof, the town or towns in which the same are situated, the description upon the last assessment-roll which included said lands, the period of exemption or of reduction of assessment to which such lands are entitled and the date of the expiration of such exemption or reduction of assessment. Upon the filing of such certificate it shall be the duty of the county treasurer to file with the assessors of the tax district in which the lands described therein are located within ten days after receipt thereof a certified copy of such certificate, and the assessors of such tax district shall place the lands according to the description contained in said certificate upon the next assessment-roll prepared for the assessment of lands within such tax district, and shall exempt, or reduce the assessment upon, the lands so described as hereinbefore provided, and shall insert upon the margin of said assessment-roll opposite the description of said lands, a statement that in accordance with the provisions of this section of the tax law said lands are exempt from taxation or that the assessment thereof is reduced fifty per centum as the case may be and insert also in the margin the date of the expiration of such exemption or reduction of assessment and such lands shall continue to be exempted, assessed and carried in such manner upon the assessment-rolls of such town until the date of the expiration of such exemption or reduction of assessment. Lands which have been forested as above provided within three years prior to the taking effect of this section may come within its provisions if application therefor is made to the conservation commission within one year from the time when this section takes effect, but except as provided by this section the period of exemption or reduction as certified to by the conservation commission shall not exceed the period of thirty-five years from the date of the original planting. Lands situated within twenty miles of the corporate limits of a city of the first class, or within ten miles of the corporate limits of a city of the second class, or within five miles of the corporate limits of a city of the third class, or within one mile of the corporate limits of an incorporated village shall not be entitled to the exemption or reduction of assessment provided for by this section. In the event that lands exempted or reduced in taxation as above provided shall, by act of the owner or otherwise, at any time during the period of exemption or reduction in taxation cease to be used exclusively as a forest plantation to the extent provided by this section to entitle such land to the privileges of this section, the said exemption and reduction in taxation provided for in this section shall no longer apply and the assessors having jurisdiction are hereby empowered and directed to assess the said land at the value and in the manner provided by the tax law for the general assessment of land. If any land exempted under this section continues to be used exclusively for the growth of a planted forest after the expiration of the period of exemption provided hereby, the land shall be assessed at its true value and the timber growth thereon shall be exempt from taxation, except if such timber shall be cut before the land has been duly assessed and taxes regularly paid for five consecutive years after the exemption period has expired, such timber growth shall be subject to a tax of five per centum of the estimated stumpage value at the time of cutting, unless such cuttings are thinnings for stimulating growth and have been made under the supervision of the conservation commission. Whenever the owner shall propose to make any cutting of such timber growth for a purpose other than for thinning as above provided, he shall give thirty days' notice to the assessors of the tax district on which the land is located, who shall forthwith assess the stumpage value of such proposed cutting, and such owner shall pay to the collector of the town in which such land is situated before cutting such timber five per centum of such assessed valuation. If such owner shall fail to give such notice and pay such taxes he shall be liable to a penalty of three times the amount of such tax, and the supervisor of the town may bring an action to recover the same for the benefit of the town in any court of competent jurisdiction. [Tax Law, § 16, as added by L. 1912, ch. 249.]

§ 7b. EXEMPTION AND REDUCTION IN ASSESSMENT OF LANDS MAINTAINED AS WOOD LOTS AND TO ENCOURAGE THE GROWTH OF TREES FOR SUCH PURPOSES.

In order to encourage the maintenance of wood lots by private owners and the practice of forestry in the management thereof, the owner of any tract of land in the state, not exceeding fifty acres, which is occupied by a natural or planted growth of trees, or by both, which shall not be situated within twenty miles of the corporate limits of a city of the first class, nor within ten miles of the corporate limits of a city of the second class, nor within five miles of the corporate limits of a city of the third class, nor within one mile of the corporate limits of an incorporated village, may apply to the conservation commission in manner and form to be prescribed by it, to have such land separately classified for taxation. Application for such classification shall be made in duplicate and accompanied by a plot and description of the land, and such other information as the commission may require. Upon the filing of such application it shall be the duty of the commission to cause an inspection of such land to be made by a competent forester for the purpose of determining whether or not it is of a suitable character to be so classified. If the commission shall determine that such land is suitable to be so classified, it shall submit to the owner a plan for the further management of said land, and trees and shall make and execute a certificate under the seal of the commission and file the same with the county treasurer of the county in which the land is located, which certificate shall set forth a description and plot of the land so classified, the area and owner thereof, the town or towns in which the same is situated, and that the land has been separately classified for taxation in accordance with the provisions of this section. Upon the filing of such certificate it shall be the duty of the county treasurer to file with the assessors of the tax district in which the land described therein is located, within ten days after receipt thereof, a certified copy of such certificate. So long as the land so classified is maintained as a wood lot, and the owner thereof faithfully complies with all the provisions of this section and the instructions of the commission, it shall be assessed at not to exceed ten dollars per acre and taxed annually on that basis. In fixing the value of said lands for assessment, the assessors shall in no case take into account the value of the trees growing thereon, and said land shall not be assessed at a value greater than other similar lands within the same tax district, which contain no forest or tree growth, are assessed. The assessors of each tax district where said land so classified is located shall insert upon the margin of said assessment and opposite the description of such land a statement that said land is assessed in accordance with the provisions of this section. In the event that land so classified as above prescribed shall at any time by act of the owner or otherwise cease, in the judgment of the commission, to be used exclusively as a wood lot to the extent provided by this section to entitle the owner of such land to the privileges of this section, the exemption and valuation in taxation provided for in this section shall no longer apply and the assessors having jurisdiction shall, upon the direction of the commission assess the said land at the value and in the manner provided by the tax law for the general assessment of land. Whenever the owner shall propose to cut any live trees from said land, except for firewood or building material for the domestic use of said owner or his tenant, he shall give the commission at least thirty days' notice prior to the time he desires to begin cutting, who shall designate for the owner the kind and number of trees, if any, most suitable to be cut for the purpose for which they are desired, and the cutting and removal of the trees so designated shall be in accordance with the instructions of said commission. After such trees are cut and before their removal from the land, the owner shall make an accurate measurement or count of all of the trees cut and file with the assessors of the tax district a verified, true and accurate return of such measurement or count and of the variety and value of the trees so cut. The assessors shall forthwith assess the stumpage value of the timber so cut, and such owner shall pay to the tax collector of the town in which such land is situated, before the removal of any such timber, five per centum of such valuation. If such owner shall fail to give such notices and pay such taxes he shall be liable to a penalty of three times the amount of such tax, and the supervisor of the town may bring an action to recover the same for the benefit of the town in any court of competent jurisdiction. [Tax Law, § 17, as added by L. 1912, ch. 363, in effect April 15, 1912.]

8. TAXATION OF LANDS SOLD OR LEASED BY THE STATE.

All lands which have been sold by the state, although not conveyed, shall be assessed in the same manner as if such purchaser were the actual owner. Improvements not acquired by the state but situate on land purchased by the state shall be assessed to the owner thereof. Where land is leased by the state such leasehold interest, except in cases where by the terms of the lease the state is to pay the taxes imposed upon the property leased, shall be assessed to the lessee or occupant in the tax district where the land is situated. [Tax Law, § 5, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 323; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5816.]

§ 9. ASSESSMENT OF REAL AND PERSONAL PROPERTY.

All real and personal property subject to taxation shall be assessed at the full value thereof, provided, however, that the owner of personal property shall be allowed a deduction from the full value of all his taxable personal property to the extent of the just debts owing by him but no such deduction shall be allowed by reason of the indebtedness of the owner contracted or incurred in the purchase of nontaxable property or securities owned by him or held for his benefit,[27] nor for or on account of any direct liability as surety,

27. Deduction because of purchase of non-taxable property. The first clause of the above section to the effect that no deduction shall be made for debts or liabilities contracted or incurred in the purchase of non-taxable property applies to debts incurred in the purchase of imported goods not taxable by the state. Imported tobacco in original packages, which has been subjected to the duty under the U. S. Revenue Laws, is non-taxable property. The above provision is not confined to cases where the debt was fraudulently contracted to evade taxation. Nor is it unconstitutional as working a discrimination in taxation. People ex rel. Bijur v. § 10. WHERE PROPERTY OF NON-RESIDENTS IS TAXABLE.

Intention and application of statute. This statute was intended to reach the capital of non- residents employed within this state in continuous trade, and not property sent here only to market for sale. So where a foreign corporation, engaged in manufacturing in another state, transmitted to its agent here its manufactured product for sale, the proceeds being remitted at once, with the securities received for sales made on credit, to the home office of the corporation, it was held not to be doing business in this state within the meaning of the statute. People ex rel. The Parker Mills v. Commissioners of Taxes, 23 N. Y. 242. Where the business of a foreign corporation carried on in this state is intended by it to be a permanent and continuous business, including both the manufacture and the sale of goods, the value of its merchandise at the place designated by it as its principal place of business in this state is properly assessed for taxation, under the above section of the Tax Law as being invested in its business in this state, although the business conducted at that place consists wholly of selling, and while a portion of the goods held there for sale was manufactured by the corporation within this state, a large portion was manufactured at the corporation's domicile in another state, to which the proceeds of sales are remitted. A foreign corporation is doing business within the state and liable to taxation under this section where it is continuously engaged, within the state, in the importation and sale of foreign goods, and maintains an office in the city of New York, at which the proceeds of the sales of its goods are received and out of which all of the expenses of the business in this country are paid, the surplus only being remitted to the home office at convenient periods. People ex rel. Farcy & Oppenheim v. Wells, 183 N. Y. 264.

The section has no application to goods stored here for sale, the proceeds of which are to be remitted to the foreign principal. People ex rel. Sherwin-Williams Co. v. Barker, 5 App. Div. 246; 39 N. Y. Supp. 151; affd. 149 N. Y. 623. It is not sufficient that a person is doing business in this state as an agent, although solely with the property of his principal. To justify an assessment under the above section it is indispensable that the person assessed shall in fact have money invested in the business carried on by him in this state, either as sole principal or as partner. McLean v. Jepson, 123 N. Y. 142; 25 N. E. 409. The money value of the privilege enjoyed by a non-resident of the state of New York, as a member of the New York Stock Exchange, is capital invested in business in this state, but it is not taxable as personal property as against a non-resident. People ex rel. Lemmon v. Feitner, 167 N. Y. 1.

Capital invested in business. No hard and fast rule can be laid down for the determination as to what constitutes capital invested in business within the meaning of this section. The fundamental element is the intent of the party as gathered from the nature and character of the business carried on, the method of its conduct and the declarations of the parties in connection therewith. The circumstances of each case must be considered in arriving at a conclusion therein. People ex rel. Tower Co. v. Wells, 98 App. Div. 82, 90 N. Y. Supp. 313 (1904), affd. 182 N. Y. 553.

Place and manner of assessment. A foreign corporation doing business in this state, and having a principal office here, is taxable for moneys invested in such business, as the personal estate of a domestic corporation is taxed, in the town or ward of such office and the assessment at such place must be exclusive, and embrace all its personal property liable to taxation within this state. An assessment of personal property of a foreign corporation in the possession of an agent in a town, other than that where such office is situated, by the assessors of that town is void. People ex rel. Bay State, etc., Co. v. McLean, 80 N. Y. 254. Assessment of rolling stock of foreign railroad company should be made in the tax district where the principal office or place of business of said company is located. Rept. of Atty. Genl., July 27, 1910.

Deduction for debts. In the case of People ex rel. Thurber-Whyland Co. v. Barker, 141 N. Y. 118; 35 N. E. 1073, the court said: "We are of the opinion that this act (the above section) does not contemplate the deduction of debts from the sums invested in this state by non-residents. As the person is a non-resident, it is to be assumed that he will, at the place of his domicile, have all of what might be termed his equities adjusted, and that if entitled to it anywhere, it will be at such domicile that he will claim and be allowed the right to have such deduction. In using the expression 'the same as if they were residents of this state,' we do not think it was intended that exceptions were to be allowed here the same as if the party were a resident, or that deductions from the sum thus invested should be made as if that were the case. It meant, as it seems to us, that the sum invested in any manner in business in this state should be assessed in the same manner and form as a resident would be assessed." But where a foreign corporation, doing business in this state, has purchased property in this state for its business and pays cash for a portion of it and promises to pay the balance at a future time, the amount due upon the property is to be deducted in ascertaining the sums invested in this state. People ex rel. Milling Co. v. Barker, 147 N. Y. 31; 41 N. E. 435; see, also, People ex rel. Bird v. Barker, 145 N. Y. 239; 39 N. E. 1065. In the case of People ex rel. Barney v. Barker, 35 App. Div. 486; 54 N. Y. Supp. 848, it was held that a non-resident having capital invested in a firm doing business in this state, is not entitled to have deducted the amount of his indebtedness to residents unless it appears that he has no personal property out of the state to pay such indebtedness.

The relation of a savings bank to its depositors is that of debtor and creditors, and in assessing a foreign savings bank, upon stock of New York bank, held by it, the amount of liability to its depositors shall be deducted from its assets. People ex rel. Bridgeport Savings Bank v. Barker, 17 Misc. 180, 40 N. Y. Supp. 1001.

Deduction of debts of foreign corporation not made where such debts bear no relation to the assets of the corporation in this state. People ex rel. Dunlap's Express Co. v. Raymond, 54 Misc. 330, 105 N. Y. Supp. 1007.

is situated, unless exempt by law. This subdivision shall not apply to money, or negotiable collateral securities, deposited by, or debts owing to, such nonresidents nor shall it be construed as in any manner modifying or changing the law imposing a tax on real estate mortgage securities. [Tax Law, § 7; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5817.]

§ 11. PLACE OF TAXATION OF PERSONAL PROPERTY OF RESIDENTS; STATE BOARD OF TAX COMMISSIONERS MAY DETERMINE PLACE.

Every person shall be taxed in the tax district where he resides when the assessment for taxation is made, for all personal property owned by him, or under his control as agent, trustee, guardian, executor or administrator.[29]

29. What constitutes residence. For the purpose of assessment for personal property the residence of the taxpayer will be presumed to continue to be where it has been previously shown to be until a change is affirmatively shown. Matter of Nicholls, 54 N. Y. 62. The presumption that when a man has acquired a residence in a tax district, such residence continues for the purpose of taxation until another residence shall have been acquired, can be overcome only by affirmative and satisfactory evidence that such place of business has been abandoned by the party assessed. People ex rel. Blocker v. Crowley, 21 App. Div. 304; 47 N. Y. Supp. 457; see, also, Paddack v. Lewis, 59 App. Div. 130; 69 N. Y. Supp. 1. The declaration of an intention not to return to a domicile or to longer reside in such place is not sufficient to effect a change. People ex rel. Rosa v. Streeter, 24 Wk. Dig. 95; affd., 103 N. Y. 652.

The temporary occupation each year of an apartment in New York does not establish residence. People ex rel. Lord v. Feitner, 78 App. Div. 287, 80 N Y. Supp. 534 (1903).

Where a person resides in New York city during the winter months and has his place of business in such city, he should be taxed there, although he resides elsewhere during the summer months. Bartlett v. Mayor, etc., of New York, 5 Sandf. 44; see, also, Douglass v. Mayor, etc., of New York, 2 Duer, 110. But in the case of People ex rel. Lorillard v. Parker, 70 Hun, 379; 24 N. Y. Supp. 63, where it appeared that the relator lived in a hired house in the city of New York during the winter, but lived during the rest of the year in a house owned by him without the city, where he voted and was taxed, and that he was not engaged in business in New York city, it was held that he was not a resident of New York city and was not liable there for a tax upon his personal property. If a person has two residences, the place where his family lives, where he stays the greater part of his time, where he votes and is assessed for personal taxes is his place of residence for the purpose of taxation. People ex rel. Lawrence v. Barker, 44 St. Rep. 695, 17 N. Y. Supp. 788; see, also, People ex rel. Blocker v. Crowley, 21 App. Div. 304, 47 N. Y. Supp. 457. Where one's principal place of business is in a city and he resides there part of the time and part of the time on a farm in another town, he is properly taxable for his personal property in the city ward in which he resides. Bowe v. Jenkins, 69 Hun, 458, 23 N. Y. Supp. 548; see, also, People ex rel. Gilbert v. Moore, 52 Hun, 13, 4 N. Y. Supp. 778.

Where the plaintiff had removed his residence from the town where he still conducted his business, returning there at intervals and staying at a hotel,—held, that the assessors of the town were liable in damages for a sale of his property to satisfy a tax assessed by them, though they were not aware of his change of residence. Wade v. Matheson, 4 Lans. 158.

Residence is a matter of intention. Where a person has a house in each of two towns he may choose to reside in either for the purpose of taxation. People ex rel. Bolcher v. Crowley, 21 App. Div. 304, 47 N. Y. Supp. 457, affd. 155 N. Y. 700.

A person, though domiciled in another state where he votes, may be taxable on his personalty as a resident here, where he moves to New York and hires a residence October 1st, and remains for the following year. Matter of Austin, 13 App. Div. 247, 42 N. Y. Supp. 1097.

Residence at the time when assessment is made. The above section provides that the residence of a person on July first shall be deemed his residence for the purpose of assessment and taxation during that year. In the case of Bell v. Pierce, 51 N. Y. 12, it appeared that the plaintiff during the whole of the year preceding June 20, resided in his own house in Buffalo, where his only business was transacted. He also owned a house in West Seneca, where he passed the summers with his family, attending meantime to his business in Buffalo, and staying there occasionally over night. The assessors of West Seneca assessed him upon his personal property and the tax was collected. After the statutory notice no objection was made to the regularity of the assessment, and the assessors were not aware that the plaintiff claimed another residence until the delivery of the assessment roll to the supervisor. It was held that since the plaintiff resided in West Seneca on July first, the assessors had jurisdiction to assess him there, and were not liable in damages for their so doing.

A person taxed as trustee in New York city and county in 1901, claiming a residence in the town of Southampton, Suffolk county, who was physically present in that town on July 1, 1900, and remained there until October 1, 1900, and then returned to New York city and resided there with his mother, voted there in November, 1900, and was still there on the second Monday of January, 1901, when the annual "tax record" was open for public inspection, was properly taxed as a resident in New York city and county, in 1901. People ex rel. Beers v. Feitner, 40 Misc. 368, 82 N. Y. Supp. 258.

The words "when assessment is made" relate to the binding and conclusive act of the assessors which designates the taxpayers and the amount of taxable property held by each. This time must be the first day of July, the assessors being required to complete their preparatory inquiries in May and June. Myatt v. Washburn, 15 N. Y. 316. Residence by an owner of property in a town during June, July and August, gives the assessors jurisdiction for the purpose of assessment. Boyd v. Gray, 34 How. Pr. 323.

30. Assessment of trustees, executor, etc. The above section does not authorize the assessment of a tax upon personal securities belonging to trustees, two of whom reside within this state, while the third who has possession of the securities resides without the state, and the beneficiaries are also non-lease in fee or for one or more lives or for a term more than twenty-one years and chargeable upon real property within the state, shall be taxable to the person entitled to receive the same, as personal property in the residents. People ex rel. Darrow v. Coleman, 119 N. Y. 137; 23 N. E. 488. But in the case of People ex rel. Campbell v. Commissioners of Taxes, 38 Hun, 536, it was held that the personal estate of the testator whose will was admitted to probate in New York city is taxable there although one of the executors who has actual possession and control of the property resides in another state, the other executors being residents of, though temporarily absent from, New York. See, also, People ex rel. Neustadt v. Coleman, 42 Hun, 581.

The term "trustee," in § 5, must be limited in its application to a person expressly authorized by statute to hold the legal title to property in trust for some specific purpose. The treasurer of a county is not such a "trustee," though the legal depositary of trust funds, nor can the assessment be made to the court. People ex rel. Brodie v. Cox, 14 St. Rep. 632, Sp. T.

Where the whole of an infant's estate is vested in executors and trustees, and neither of them resides in the county, and the property is assessed and pays taxes in another county, no assessment can be made against the guardian in the former county. Douglass v. Board of Supervisors, 1 N. Y. Supp. 126, Gen. T.

Upon a proceeding against administrators to collect a tax assessed upon them as such, it appeared that the intestate, who had been a resident of another state died there, leaving personal property and debts here, and that, pending proceedings before the surrogate, the assessment had been made upon the valuation of the whole personalty without deducting the indebtedness. It was held that the assessment was properly made and that it was no defense that the administrators did not know of the assessment. In this proceeding the valuation could not be questioned and there was no ground for legal or equitable interference in behalf of the administrators. Matter of McMahon, 67 How. Pr. 113.

When personal property is held in trust by taxable inhabitants of the state, it is to be taxed at their place of residence without regard to the residence of the person creating the trust, or that of the person benefited by it. This rule applies to the case of a sinking fund raised and owned by a foreign corporation. The cestui que trust in this case was the city of Albany. People ex rel. Western R. R. Co. v. Assessors of Albany, 40 N. Y. 154.

Where a testator had resided in Westchester, his will was proved there and letters testamentary issued to his sons, who resided there, as well as to other persons who resided in New York city, and the other persons had no actual possession or control of the property,—held, that an assessment of the personalty in New York was erroneous. People ex rel. Caswell v. Comrs. of Taxes, 17 Hun 293.

Personal estate in the hands of an agent is properly assessed to him without the addition to his name of his representative character. People ex rel. Hoffman v. Bug, 13 Abb. N. C. 169.

Under the statutes relating to the city of Albany, an assessment of personal property of an estate in the single name of one executor "and others" is sufficient and its subsequent amendment in the official revision by inserting the names of the four executors and correcting the amount assessed is regular. People ex rel. McHarg v. Gaus, 169 N. Y. 19; 61 N. E. 987. An assessment for personal property, levied in the city of New York, against a trustee who was a tax district where such real property is situated, at a principal sum, the interest of which at the legal rate per annum shall produce a sum equal to such annual rents, and if payable in anything except money, at the value of the rents in money to be ascertained by the assessors, the value of each rent to be assessed separately, and for the purpose of the taxation thereof such person is to be deemed a resident of such tax district.[31] When a person shall have acquired a residence in a tax district, and shall have been taxed therein, such residence shall be presumed to continue for the purpose of taxation until he shall have acquired another residence in this state or shall have removed from this state. The residence of a person on July first shall be deemed his residence for the purpose of assessment and taxation during that year. If he shall have actually and in good faith changed his residence after July first, and before August first in any year, from one tax district to another, and shall make proof to the assessors at or before their last meeting for the correction of the assessment-roll of such change of residence and that he resident of the state of New York, but not of the city of New York, is void for want of jurisdiction, and it is not necessary for the trustee to apply on review day to have the assessment cancelled. Dale v. City of New York, 71 App. Div. 227; 75 N. Y. Supp. 576. See, also, People ex rel. Moller v. O'Donnel, 183 N. Y. 9.

Personal property held by trustees jointly. Where taxable personal property is held by two or more trustees jointly, each trustee must be assessed in the tax district in which he resides for his proportionate share of such trust estate, and where taxable personal property is held by three trustees, two of whom are residents and the other a non-resident of the state, each resident trustee should be assessed for one-third of all of the taxable property of the trust estate. People ex rel. Beaman v. Feitner, 168 N. Y. 360.

One or two trustees a non-resident. An assessment against property valued at $50,000, held jointly by two trustees, one of whom is a non-resident, is illegal. A reduction in such an assessment to one-half thereof is necessary and proper under this section. People ex rel. Kellogg v. Wells, 182 N. Y. 314, revg. 101 App. Div. 600, 92 N. Y. Supp. 5.

Assessment where one of the executors is a non-resident. The amount of an assessment for personal property under the control of executors and trustees is not, by reason of the non-residence of the third executor and trustee, limited to two-thirds of the amount of the personal property. In making an assessment upon such property such executors are not entitled to a deduction on account of mortgages which were liens upon parcels of real estate when acquired by the testator, but which the testator had not assumed. People ex rel. Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. v. Wells, 94 App. Div. 463, 87 N. Y. Supp. 745, affd. 179 N. Y. 566.

31. Rents reserved. Rents not due on leases for years are not taxable as personal property. People ex rel. Thompson v. McComber, 24 N. Y. St. Rep. 902, 7 N. Y. Supp. 71. The fact that relator changed mortgages and other securities into real estate, and then gave leases to avoid personal taxation, is not material on the question of his liability so long as he violated no law. Id.

Taxes upon rents reserved in perpetual lease assessed against lessor are not payable by the lessee under a covenant to pay "all taxes, etc., assessed on the premises, or the lessors in respect thereof." Woodruff v. Oswego Starch Factory, 70 App. Div. 481, 74 N. Y. Supp. 961, affd. 177 N. Y. 23.

is assessed in the tax district to which he has removed, his name and the assessment of his personal property shall be stricken from the assessment-roll of the tax district where he resided on July first. In case of any controversy as to the proper place of taxation within the state of any person, his residence for purposes of taxation may be determined by the tax commission, subject to review by the court. § 12. PLACE OF TAXATION OF REAL PROPERTY.

Real property shall be assessed as of July first in the tax district in which it is situated.[32] In all cases the assessment shall be deemed as against

32. Jurisdiction of assessors. The only fact necessary to give assessors jurisdiction as to real estate is that it be situated within the assessor's town or ward. In making an assessment upon such land they have jurisdiction of the subject matter, and while an error committed by them may be subject to review, it will not make their proceedings void. Van Rensselaer v. Cottrell, 7 Barb. 127. In the case of Tebo v. City of Brooklyn, 134 N. Y. 341, 31 N. E. 984, a lot of land under water with a pier upon it extending from the city of Brooklyn beyond low water mark, the boundary line between New York and Kings counties, was held properly taxable in Brooklyn where the owner resided.

Assessment of railroad lands. The lands of railroad companies are to be assessed the same as those of residents in the towns in which they lie and not as non-resident lands. People ex rel. Dunkirk, etc., R. R. Co. v. Cassity, 46 N. Y. 46. A railroad corporation is, for the purpose of taxation of its real estate, a resident of each town through which it passes, and is properly assessed in personam therefor. People ex rel. Buffalo & State Line R. R. Co. v. Supervisors of Erie, 48 N. Y. 93.

A special franchise can only be assessed to a tenant or an occupant when the owner does not reside within the tax district. People ex rel. Interborough R. T. Co. v. Tax Comrs., 126 App. Div. 610, 613, 110 N. Y. Supp. 577.

Contracts for the sale of land should be assessed against the person holding them, and the land should be assessed against the purchaser in possession. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1900), 241.

Waiver of irregularity. While the assessors of a town have no jurisdiction of the person of a non-resident so as to charge him personally with a tax on land the real property itself, and the property itself shall be holden and liable to sale for any tax levied upon it.[33] [Tax Law, § 9, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 315, and L. 1916, ch. 323.]

§ 13. TAXATION OF REAL PROPERTY DIVIDED BY LINE OF TAX DISTRICT; WHEN OWNERS MAY ELECT IN WHICH DISTRICT SHALL BE TAXED.

Section 10 of the Tax Law, relating to the taxation of real property divided by line of tax district, was repealed by L. 1917, ch. 154, and now owned but not occupied by him, where the agent of such owner had appeared before the assessors and procured a reduction, without protest against the assessment against the owner,— held, that this was such a waiver as would bar an action by the owner for damages for an illegal assessment. Hilton v. Fonda, 86 N. Y. 348.

Effect of amendments on decisions. The various amendments have rendered many of the earlier decisions obsolete. The individual assessed is now inconsequential as the assessment is againt the real property itself. It was accordingly held in Smith v. Russell (1916), 172 App. Div. 793, that this section and § 63 construed together evince a legislative intent to place the burden of a tax upon the real property itself and to make the name of the person to whom it is assessed secondary and merely for the purpose of identification.

33. Assessment to occupant. When lands of a non-resident of a county are occupied by a resident of a town where they are situated they must be assessed to the occupant. An assessment of them as non-resident is void. Stewart v. Crisler, 100 N. Y. 378; Joslyn v. Rockwell, 128 N. Y. 334, 28 N. E. 604. An assessment to a person who is neither owner nor occupant of the land is void. Whitney v. Thomas, 23 N. Y. 281. When real property is assessed to the owner the name of the owner must be inserted in the roll; when assessed to the occupant, the name of the occupant should appear. Where real estate was assessed in th name of one not the owner adding the words "or occupant," it was held that the roll was fatally defective and would not support process against property in the possession of the occupant. Dubois v. Webster, 7 Hun 371. The assessors are not authorized to name in their rolls the actual or supposed non-resident owners of lands. The lands are to be assessed, not the owners. New York & Harlem R. R. Co. v. Lyon, 16 Barb. 651. An assessment against the husband of the owner of a house and not living with her therein is void, he being neither owner nor occupant. Loomis v. Semper, 38 Misc. 567, 78 N. Y. Supp. 74.

the portions of such property located in each tax district is to be assessed there.[35]

Assessment of unoccupied lands as non-resident. Article 2 of the Tax Law referred to in the above section prior to its amendment in 1911, is made the subject of the following chapter of this work. The terms "unoccupied" and "non-resident" as applied to lands within the meaning of the tax laws, are not synonymous. Lands, although occupied, may be assessed as non-resident lands, while unoccupied lands may be assessed as resident. People ex rel. Vander Veer v. Wilson, 125 N. Y. 367, 26 N. E. 454. Non-resident lands are unoccupied lands not owned by a person residing in the town or ward in which such lands are situated. Hampton v. Hampsher, 46 Hun 147.

An assessment in the name of the husband, living with his family, on property the title to which was in his wife, is not void, he being occupant as head of the family. Powell v. Jenkins, 14 Misc. 83, 69 N. Y. St. Rep. 582, 35 N. Y. Supp. 265.

Assessment to occupant need not indicate that the lands are non-resident. People ex rel. Hoffman v. Bug, 13 Abb. N. C. 169.

35. Repeal; effect. By the repeal of section 10 of Tax Law, property divided by town line is to be taxed in the towns in which the property is located. Former decisions on the effect of the division on the jurisdiction of assessors are no longer applicable.

Forest land. The section only applied to farms and lots a division of which would be inconvenient. It does not apply to a large tract of forest land lying in two districts. People ex rel. Low v. Wilson, 113 App. Div. 1, 98 N. Y. Supp. 1080.

Boundary line between village and town. Where a farm is divided by a boundary line between a town and village incorporated under the Village Law, the part thereof within the boundaries of the village is assessable for village purposes. The section did not apply in such a case since such a village is not a tax district. People ex rel. Champlin v. Gray, 185 N. Y. 196, revg. 109 App. Div. 116, 95 N. Y. Supp. 825.

School districts. The section did not apply to land lying in more than one school district, as a school district is not a tax district. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1903), 431.

§ 14. CORPORATIONS; PLACE OF TAXATION; PERSONAL PROPERTY TO BE TAXED WHERE PRINCIPAL OFFICE IS LOCATED; TAXATION OF TOLL BRIDGES AND TURNPIKES.

The real estate of all incorporated companies liable to taxation, shall be assessed in the tax district in which the same shall lie, in the same manner as the real estate of individuals. All the personal estate of every incorporated company liable to taxation on its capital shall be assessed in the tax district where the principal office or place for transacting the financial concerns of the company shall be, or if such company have no principal office, or place for transacting its financial concerns, then in the tax district where the operations of such company shall be carried on.[36] In the case of a toll bridge, the company owning such bridge shall be assessed in the tax district in which the tolls are collected; and where the tolls of any bridge, turnpike, or canal company are collected in several tax districts, the company shall be assessed in the tax district in which the treasurer or other officer authorized to pay the last preceding dividend resides. town and some in the other, the fact that the larger dwelling is occupied by a son of the owner who is in charge of the tract does not make the land taxable in the town where such dwelling is erected. Chamberlain v. Sherman, 53 Misc. 477, 103 N. Y. Supp. 239.

Effect of general law upon special act. Special acts have been passed from time to time providing for the payment by taxation of town bonds issued for the construction of railroads. For instance, in chapter 152 of L. 1882, sec. 25, as amended by ch. 21, of L. 1883, it is provided that all real property within the corporate limits of a town assessed or liable to be assessed upon the assessment roll of such town at the time of issuing bonds by said town pursuant to this act, and all acts amendatory thereof, shall continue to be assessed and assessable for all purposes whatsoever in said town until said bonds or any renewals thereof are fully paid; and if the owner of such real property does not reside within said town, then such real property shall be assessed as nonresident land or to any occupant of said real property actually residing within said town. This statute was under consideration in the case of Casterton v. Town of Vienna, 163 N. Y. 268; 57 N. E. 622, and it was held that the general law did not supersede the provisions of the special act and that under such a statute a change made in the residence of the owner of a farm situated partly in two towns from the portion of the farm in one town to that in the other would not withdraw from taxation the portion of his farm within the town from which he moved. See, also, Wilcox v. Baker, 22 App. Div. 299; 47 N. Y. Supp. 900.

36. Place of taxation of personal property of corporation. Under section 205 of the Tax Law the personal property of every corporation, company, association or partnership taxable under article 9 of the Tax Law, other than for the organization tax, are exempt from assessment and taxation upon its personal property for state purposes. Trust companies which are taxable under section 188 of the Tax law upon their capital stock surplus and undivided profits are exempt from assessment and taxation for all other purposes.

Manufacturing and mercantile corporations are exempt from taxation on account of personal property since they are subject to an income tax, a portion of which is apportioned to the town. See Tax Law, § 219j, as added by L. 1917, ch. 726.

§ 15. TAXATION OF CORPORATE STOCK OF CORPORATIONS.

In the case of Austin v. Hudson River Telephone Co., 73 Hun, 96; 25 N. Y. Supp. 916, it was held that, where the act under which a corporation was organized did not require that the article should state where the principal office of the corporation should be established, the statement that it was to be in a certain place was not conclusive, but its actual principal place of business would determine its residence. Where the principal office is stated by a corporation to be at a certain place in a sworn statement of an officer filed in the office of the assessor, the corporation is estopped from claiming that the place of business for the purpose of taxation is at some other place. Matter of McLean, 138 N. Y. 158; 33 N. E. 821.

Situs of property. The personal property within this state, of corporations, whether domestic or foreign, is taxed at the place where its principal office, within this state, is located, without regard to the particular situs of the property. People ex rel. The Keystone Gas Co. v. The Assessors of Olean, 15 N. Y. St. Rep. 461.

37. Manufacturing and mercantile corporations are exempted from tax on capital stock by virtue of § 219j of Tax Law, as added by L. 1917, ch. 726.

Capital stock. The words "capital stock" in the statute refer to the capital of the company and not the shares of the stockholder. People ex rel. Union Trust Co. v. Coleman, 126 N. Y. 433; 27 N. E. 818. In taxing corporations, therefore, under the above section the subject of valuation and assessment is never the share stock, but always the company's capital and surplus which should be assessed at its actual value when that is known or can be ascertained. The court, in the case last cited, in considering this question discussed elaborately the relative significance of the capital stock of the company and the capital stock which is held in shares by the corporators. It was said: "The two things are neither identical nor equivalent. The capital stock of a company is one thing; that of the stockholders is another and a different thing. That of the company is simply its capital, existing in money or property, or both; while that of the shareholders is representative, not merely of that existing and tangible capital, but also of surplus, of dividend earning power, of franchise and the good will of an established and prosperous business." What is included in capital. The capital of a corporation is the actual value of all its tangible property, including the value of its real estate, wherever situated. People ex rel. Manhattan Ry. Co. v. Barker, 146 N. Y. 30, 40 N. E. Rep. 996. 66 N. Y. St. Rep. 658.

A corporation, having its entire capital invested in the capital stock of certain Pennsylvania corporations which are liable to assessment in Pennsylvania, is exempt from personal taxation in local tax districts. Rept. of Atty. Genl., July 26, 1910.

Theory of taxing corporate stock. The theory of the Tax Law is to prescribe a method of computation by which to ascertain a total valuation of the taxable corporate property from which a deduction of the assessed value of its real estate may be made in order to determine the balance which is properly assessable as its personal property. People ex rel. Equitable Gas-Light Co. v. Barker, 144 N. Y. 94, 39 N. E. Rep. 13, 63 N. Y. St. Rep. 33, revg. 81 Hun 22, 62 N. Y. St. Rep. 563, 30 N. Y. Supp. 586.

Capital stock of railroad corporation. The capital stock of a railroad corporation which is not invested in its railways, or other real estate, is to be taxed as personal property, in the town or ward where the principal office or place for transacting the financial concerns of the company is situated. Mohawk & H. R. R. Co. v. Clute, 4 Paige, 384. In fixing the value of a lease of railroad property for the purpose of assessing the capital stock and surplus of the lessee corporation, the assessors have the right to consider the nature of the estate granted to the lessee corporation, its duration and the profits, if any, realized from operating the leased property, but should deduct therefrom the value of the leased franchise, as the lease of the franchise is taxable under another statute. People ex rel. D. & H. Co. v. Feitner, 61 App. Div. 129, 70 N. Y. Supp. 500, affd. 171 N. Y. 641.

The capital and surplus of a railroad corporation cannot be assessed where it appears that its railroad is leased at an annual rental of 8 per cent. of its capital stock, and it possesses no other assets. The tax commissioners cannot take into consideration the earning power of such stock in determining the value of its property. People ex rel. N. Y. C. & H. R. R. Co. v. Feitner, 75 App. Div. 527, 78 N. Y. Supp. 308, affd. 174 N. Y. 532.

Street railroad. In determining the amount of capital stock of a street railway liable to taxation, the value of leases of other roads held by it should be included; but that value should not be based on the value of the fee owned by the lessor, but only upon the actual value to the lessee of the leases as shown by evidence. When the fee value of the leased railroads has been assessed to the lessor and the lessee has paid the amount as part of the rent reserved, it should not again be compelled to pay taxes on the fee value, as that would be double taxation. People ex rel. Metropolitan Street R. Co. v. Barker, 121 App. Div. 661, 106 N. Y. Supp. 336.

38. Section construed as to exception and surplus profits. In speaking of the provisions of this section Judge Earl said in the case of People ex rel. 23d St. R. R. Co. v. Commissioners of Taxes, 95 N. Y. 554, 557: "There is a most extraordinary confusion of ideas in this section. What is meant by the clause, 'except such part of it (capital stock), as shall have been excepted in the assessment roll?' I know of no law which authorizes any such exception to be made in the roll. Then the section, literally read, requires that the actual valuation shall be placed both upon the capital and the surplus, and yet the surplus is always included in and goes to make up the actual value of the capital. Notwithstanding the language, it could not have been intended that capital should be assessed at its actual value, and that in addiion thereto the surplus, less the ten per cent., should also be included in the assessment at its actual value, thus making a double assessment of surplus."

laws of this state, shall be assessed at its actual value.[39] [Tax Law, § 12; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5829.]

Deduction of 10 per cent. of capital will only be allowed where surplus equals that amount. People ex rel. Citizens' Elec. Ill. Co. v. Neff, 26 App. Div. 542, 50 N. Y. Supp. 680. For what surplus profits or reserve funds are, and when assessable, see People ex rel. Manhattan Ry. Co. v. Barker, 165 N. Y. 305.

39. Valuation, how ascertained. The capital stock should be assessed at its real, as distinguished from its nominal value. The par value of the shares of stock is not material in determining the actual value of the capital stock. Oswego Starch Factory v. Dolloway, 21 N. Y. 449. The value may be ascertained from other sources as in valuing real estate. People ex rel. Pacific Mail S. S. Co. v. Commissioners of Taxes, 46 How. Pr. 315. If the capital of a corporation is of no value because of the fact that its indebtedness exceeds its assets, it should not be assessed. People ex rel. West Side and Yonkers R. R. Co. v. Commissioners of Taxes, 31 Hun, 32. An assessment of a corporation based upon the market value of its shares is erroneous since it is the corporate assets that is the subject of taxation. People ex rel. Bleecker St., etc., R. R. v. Barker, 85 Hun, 210; 32 N. Y. Supp. 990.

The method of ascertaining the actual value is left to the judgment of the assessors and they have a right to resort to any and all of the tests and measures of value which are ordinarily adopted for business purposes in estimating values. Where the assessors have so exercised their judgment it is subject to no review or correction except as prescribed by law. People ex rel. Knickerbocker Fire Insurance Co. v. Coleman, 107 N. Y. 541.

In ascertaining the amount for which a corporation is liable upon its corporate stock and surplus, a greater value cannot be placed upon corporate real estate, which constitutes its entire capital and surplus, than that placed on the same real estate, when assessed generally for purposes of taxation. People ex rel. Merchants' Real Estate Co. v. Wells, 110 App. Div. 194, 97 N. Y. Supp. 47.

Market value of stock. The market value of its stock may be taken into consideration in determining the value of the corporate property. People ex rel. Knickerbocker Fire Ins. Co. v. Coleman, 44 Hun 410 (1887), affd. 107 N. Y. 541, 14 N. E. Rep. 431. But where the value of the assets of a corporation cannot, owing to conflicting and insufficient data, be definitely ascertained, the proper way to establish a valuation, for the purposes of taxation, is to deduct the assessed value of its real estate from the market value of its stock. People ex rel. Malcolm Brewing Co. v. Neff, 19 App. Div. 596; 46 N. Y. Supp. 299. In this case it was also held that while the good will of the business of a corporation is not taxable no deduction from the actual value of the capital of the corporation should be made therefor where the facts show that there is no good will of any value which enters into the market value of the shares of stock. But it is erroneous to base the value of the capital upon the market value of the corporate shares, as it is the actual value of the property and not the selling value of the corporate shares which is assessable. People ex rel. Bleecker St., etc., v. Barker, 85 Hun 210, 66 N. Y. St. Rep. 474, 32 N. Y. Supp. 990 (1895).

It has been held, however, where the market value of the shares was taken as the basis of the value of the capital, the assessment is not void and the § 15a. INCOME TAX ON MANUFACTURING AND MERCANTILE CORPORATIONS; RATE OF TAX; DISPOSITION OF REVENUES COLLECTED AMONG TOWNS AND COUNTIES.

Franchise tax on corporations based on net income.— For the privilege of exercising its franchises in this state in a corporate or organized capacity every domestic manufacturing and domestic mercantile corporation, and for the privilege of doing business in this state, every foreign manufacturing and every foreign mercantile corporation, except corporations specified in the next section, shall annually pay in advance for the year beginning November first next preceding an annual franchise tax, to be computed by the tax commission upon the basis of its net income for its fiscal or the calendar year next preceding, as hereinafter provided, upon which income such corporation is required to pay a tax to the United States. [Tax Law, § 209-a, as added by L. 1917, ch. 726.]

Corporations exempt from article.— Corporations liable to a tax under section one hundred and eighty-four of this chapter, corporations owning or operating elevated railroads or surface railroads not operated by steam, or formed for supplying water or gas or for electric or steam heating, lighting or power purposes and liable to a tax under sections one hundred and eighty-five and one hundred and eighty-six of this chapter, shall be exempt from the payment of the taxes prescribed in this article. [Tax Law, § 210, as added by L. 1917, ch. 726.]

Rate of tax.— The tax imposed by this article shall be at the rate of three per centum of the net income of the corporation or portion thereof taxable within the state, determined as provided by this article. [Tax Law, § 215, as added by L. 1917, ch. 726.]

Disposition of revenues collected.—The state comptroller shall on or before the twenty-fifth day of each month pay into the state treasury to the credit of the general fund all interest and penalties and two-thirds of all taxes received by him under this article during the preceding month, as appears from the return made by him to the state treasurer. The balance of all taxes collected and received by him under this article from any corporation, as appears from the return made by him to the state treasurer, shall on or before the twenty-fifth day of April, July, October and January, for the quarter ending with the last day of the preceding month, be distributed and paid by him to the treasurers of the several counties of the state and disposed by such treasurers, in accordance with the following rules:

1. If the corporation has no tangible personal property within the state, such payment shall be made to the county treasurer of the county in which is located the office at which its principal financial concerns within the state are transacted;

2. If the corporation has tangible personal property, as shown by its report pursuant to section two hundred and eleven, in but one city or town of the state, such payment shall be made to the county treasurer of the county in which such city or town is located;

3. If the corporation has real property or tangible personal property in more than one city or town of the state, as shown by its report pursuant to section two hundred and eleven, such payment shall be made to the county treasurers of the counties in which such cities or towns are located in the proportion that the average monthly value of the tangible personal property of such corporation in the cities and towns of such county bears to the average monthly value of all its real property and tangible personal property within the state;

4. In making such payment to a county treasurer, the state comptroller shall indicate the portion thereof to be credited to any city or town within the county on account of the location therein of its principal financial office or property as determined by the preceding subdivisions, and if such principal financial office or property is located in a village shall indicate the village in which it is located; if such principal financial office or property is located in a city or in a town outside of a village, the whole of such portion shall be paid to such city or town as hereinafter provided; if such principal financial office or property is located in a village, there shall be paid to such village as hereinafter provided such a part of the entire amount credited to the town as the entire amount of taxes raised by said village, or portion thereof in said town, during the preceding calendar year for village and town purposes bears to the aggregate amount so raised by the town and village during the preceding calendar year for town and village purposes property in such village or portion thereof in such town as appears by the last preceding town assessment-roll bears to twice the total assessed valuation of the real and personal property in such town as appears by such assessment-roll;

5. As to any county wholly included within a city such payment shall be made to the chamberlain or other chief fiscal officer of such city and be paid into the general fund for city purposes;

6. As to any county not wholly included within a city the county treasurer shall within ten days after the receipt thereof pay to the chief fiscal officer of a city or to the chief fiscal officer of a village or to the supervisor of a town the portion of money received by him from the state comptroller to which such city, village or town is entitled, which shall be credited by such officer to general city, village or town purposes. amount will not be reduced, unless it appears that the corporation was aggrieved. People ex rel. Equitable Gas-Light Co. v. Barker, 66 Hun 21, 49 N. Y. St. Rep. 428, 20 N. Y. Supp. 797 (1892), affd. 137 N. Y. 544.

The market rate of a stock is a deceptive test, justifiable, if at all, by necessity only. People ex rel. Consol. Gas. Co. v. Feitner, 38 Misc. 178, 77 N. Y. Supp. 745 (1902), modf. 78 App. Div. 313, 79 N. Y. Supp. 975 (1903).

Evidence of value of capital. In ascertaining the value of the corporate stock the assessors have the right to act upon evidence outside of that furnished by the corporation, and in making inquiry and collecting facts they are not bound by the strict rule which governs ordinary judicial proceedings. Their decision will be sustained if they act in good faith upon their best judgment, upon reasonable grounds, and do not err in the principle of assessment to the prejudice of the taxpayer. People ex rel. Equitable Gas-Light Co. v. Barker, 144 N. Y. 94, 39 N. E. Rep. 13. They may consider the earnings of the corporation. People ex rel. Manhattan Ry. Co. v. Barker, 146 N. Y. 304, 40 N. E. Rep. 996, 66 N Y. St. Rep. 658. Dividends are, in the absence of evidence that they were declared out of earnings, an insufficient basis for an assessment. People ex rel. Consol. Gas Co. v. Feitner, 78 App. Div. 313, 79 N. Y. Supp. 975.

Deduction on account of real estate. In assessing the capital stock of a corporation, the assessors are to ascertain the present value thereof, and from this are to deduct the assessed value of the real estate, and the fact that the whole capital was originally invested in real estate does not preclude them from so doing. People ex rel. Butchers, etc., Co. v. Asten, 100 N. Y. 597. The rule of taxation as to corporations when based upon the amount of capital paid in, is, after deducting the amount paid out for real estate from the capital, to assess the remaining capital at its actual value, leaving the real estate to be assessed like that of individuals in the town or ward where it is situated. People ex rel. Citizens' Gas Light Co. v. Assessors, 39 N. Y. 81; People ex rel. American Linen Thread Co. v. Assessors, 6 Lans. 105. If the real estate is situated in a town or ward within the state its assessed valuation may without difficulty be ascertained from the proper assessment rolls. But if the real property is situated in another state or country its assessed valuation may not be easily ascertained. In such cases or in any other case where the assessed valuation cannot be ascertained, the price paid for the real property, in the absence of proof or of any other standard may be taken as the assessable value. People ex rel. 23d St. R. R. Co. v Commissioners of Taxes, 95 N. Y. 554. See, also, People ex rel. Van Ness v. Commissioners of Taxes, 80 N. Y. 573. The refusal of commissioners in taxing the capital of a bank to deduct anything for a building erected by it upon leased land is erroneous since the property of a bank in the building is real estate and taxable as such. But to entitle a corporation to the deduction of the value of its real estate from that of its capital, the real estate must have been paid for out of its capital. People ex rel. Van Ness v. Commissioners of Taxes, supra. In the case of Eden Musee v. Feitner, 60 App. Div. 282; 70 N. Y.

included in the valuation of the personal property of such stockholders in the assessment of taxes in the tax district where such bank or banking

Supp. 120, it was held that when assessing the capital stock and surplus of a corporation whose chief estate is a building erected on leased ground, the commissioners may properly estimate the building at its actual value, and then add the value of the personal property belonging to the corporation, and from this amount deduct the assessed value of the building. In determining the value of the building the actual cost of the erection thereof may be considered.

If the real estate is situated in another state the deduction should be made at the assessed value of the real estate, if known, in the absence of controlling evidence showing a different valuation. People ex rel. Fairfield Chemical Co. v. Coleman, 115 N. Y. 178, 21 N. E. Rep. 1056, 24 N. Y. St. Rep. 584. If neither the assessed value or price paid is known, the actual value of such real estate, so far as ascertainable, should probably be taken as the basis of deduction. People ex rel. Panama R. R. Co. v. Comrs. of Taxes, 104 N. Y. 240. Even though the real estate may be assessed at less than its actual value, the assessed value is the proper basis of deduction. People ex rel. Equitable Gas-Light Co. v. Barker, 144 N. Y. 94, 39 N. E. Rep. 13, 63 N. Y. St. Rep. 33, revg. 81 Hun 22, 62 N. Y. St. Rep. 563, 30 N. Y. Supp. 586.

Deduction when real estate is encumbered with a mortgage. In assessing the capital stock of a corporation under this section, where the real estate is encumbered with a mortgage the payment of which has not been assumed by the corporation, and the value of the equity of redemption alone has been included in determining the value of its capital stock, the corporation is entitled to have deducted from the valuation only the value of the equity, and not the whole assessment value of its real estate. People ex rel. Weber Piano Co. v. Wells, 180 N. Y. 62, revg. 95 App. Div. 574, 88 N. Y. Supp. 1030.

Building on leased ground. In assessing the capital stock and surplus of a corporation whose chief asset is a building erected on leased ground, the commissioners may properly estimate the building at its actual value and then add the value of the personal property and from this amount deduct the assessed value of the building. In determining the value of the building the actual cost of the erection thereof must be considered. People ex rel. Eden Musee v. Feitner, 60 App. Div. 282, 70 N. Y. Supp. 120.

Debts not included. The assessors should deduct the debts of the corporation —or perhaps, more properly, should consider them in fixing the actual value of the capital of the corporation. People ex rel. Second Ave., etc., Co. v. Barker, 141 N. Y. 196, 36 N. E. Rep. 184, 56 N. Y. St. Rep. 834. Debts should be deducted under § 12. People ex rel. Cornell S. Co. v. Dederick, 161 N. Exempt property not included. The assessors should deduct the capital invested in property exempt from taxation by law. People ex rel. Edison, etc., Co. v. Barker, 139 N. Y. 55, 34 N. E. Rep. 722, 54 N. Y. St. Rep. 444. Thus, it was held that the capital of a corporation invested in United States patent rights is exempt. People ex rel. N. Y. & N. J. Telephone Co. v. 40. Effect of assessment of bank shares under section 24 of the Tax Law. Section 24, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 323, of the Tax Law, provides a complete scheme for the assessment for taxation of bank shares and in effect supersedes the provisions of the above section. Such section 24 requires the bank to pay a fixed tax of one per centum upon the value of the shares of stock as ascertained by adding together the amount of the capital stock, surplus and undivided profits of the bank, and by dividing the result by the number of outstanding shares of such bank. The decisions under such section will be considered hereafter. See Tax Law, sec. 24, post, p. 520.

Taxation of shares of national bank. By section 5219, U. S. Revised Statutes, the state is authorized to direct the manner of taxing shares of national bank stock held by taxpayers.

The shares of national bank stock are subject to taxation under the laws of the state, though such tax must not be at a greater rate than upon other moneyed capital in the hands of individuals, nor must such tax exceed the rate imposed upon the shares of any of the banks organized under the authority of the state. People ex rel. Kennedy v. Commissioners of Taxes, 35 N. Y. 423. National bank shares can be assessed above par. No unjust discrimination against national banks arises from the fact that the state banks can divide up all their surplus while national banks are required to accumulate a surplus. People ex rel. Gallatin Nat. Bank v. Commissioners of Taxes, 67 N. Y. 516.

The restriction in the U. S. Revised Statutes, sec. 5219, as to taxation of shares of stock in national banks, is equality of assessment with other moneyed capital, not with other property generally. Talbott v. Silver Bow County, 139 U. S. 428; 11 Sup. Ct. 594; Davenport Nat. Bank v. Board of Equalization, 123 U. S. 83; 8 Sup. Ct. 73.

The rule and test of discrimination is to be found in the nature of the business in which the corporation is engaged. The act simply prohibits taxation at a greater rate than like property similarly situated. Mercantile Bank v. City of New York, 121 U. S. 138, 7 Sup. Ct. 826.

business is located, and shall, for that purpose, be deemed a resident of such tax district.[41] [Tax Law, § 14; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5836.]

§ 18. REPORT OF EXEMPT PROPERTY BY ASSESSORS.

It shall be the duty of the board of assessors of the several towns of this state, and the boards or officials charged with the duty of assessing property for the purposes of taxation in the several cities of the state, to furnish to the clerks of the boards of supervisors of their respective counties, or in the case of the city of New York, to the city clerk of that city, on or before the first day of September in each year, a full and complete list and statement of all property situated within their respective districts exempt or partially exempt from taxation under the laws of this state. Such list and statement shall be made on blanks furnished by the tax commission, and in such form and to contain and set forth all the information relative to such property and the situation and value thereof, as may be required by the tax commission, and to be verified in the same manner as assessments of property for the purposes of taxation, and in the city of New York by the chief deputy of the department of taxes and assessments. The tax commission shall prepare and transmit to the clerk of the board of supervisors in each county and to the city clerk of the city of New York, a sufficient number of such blanks, on or before the first day of June in each year, and the clerks of the boards of supervisors and the city clerk of the city of New York shall forthwith, upon the receipt thereof, distribute the same among the boards of assessors for use in preparing the statement herein required. And it shall be the duty of the clerk of the board of supervisors of each county and of the city clerk of the city of New York, to transmit such completed lists or statements to the tax commission, on or before the first day of October in each year, and the tax commission shall tabulate such statements, and cause to be pub-

41. Assessment of individual banker. Section 25 of the Tax Law, post, p. 524, provides the manner of making an assessment of an individual banker.

The words "individual banker," as used in this section and in section 25 of Tax Law, mean an individual banker as defined by section 2 of the Banking Law. Rept. of Atty. Genl., Aug. 25, 1910.

The expense of such publication shall be a city charge and shall be audited and paid in the same manner as charges for other city notices are audited and paid. CHAPTER XXXIV.

MODE OF ASSESSMENT.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

Assessors to Ascertain Facts for Assessment.

The three town assessors should first divide the town into convenient assessment districts, one for each assessor. This is for the purpose of permitting each assessor to take a part of the town with which he is most familiar and ascertain in the first instance the values of real property and the amount of personal property owned by the taxpayers therein. It must be remembered, however, that one assessor cannot make an assessment. An assessment to be binding and valid must be the act of a majority of the board. The law does not compel a division of the town into assessment districts. It provides that the assessors may divide the town into such districts.

The assessors should during the months of May and June secure such information as may be useful and do all their preliminary work. The law does not prescribe how the necessary information shall be secured. They may inquire of whomever they please. They may fix values according to their own judgment. They are not concluded by the opinions of witnesses. They should consult public records, and take notice of bona fide sales of land in the immediate neighborhood of the property assessed. If the party assessed claims that injustice has been done, he may file his affidavit and be heard on grievance day.

The assessors must consider and decide all claims of exemptions. Having passed upon such exemptions the claimant has his remedy by certiorari.

Preparation of Assessment-roll.

After the completion of their preliminary inquiries, the assessors must prepare an assessment-roll in the form prescribed by the State

Explanatory note.

Board of Tax Commissioners as provided in § 21 of the Tax Law, as amended by L. 1914, ch. 277, L. 1915, ch. 218 and L. 1916, ch. 323. There should be a substantial compliance with the requirements, although a deviation which does not conceal the name of the taxpayers and mislead him as to property assessed would not affect the validity of the roll. Care should be taken to secure the correct name of the person assessed. If the name by which a person is known is included it is sufficient although it is not his real name. It is usual to assess decedents' estates under the name of the estate, with the name of the administrator or executor added. The land should be described by giving the amount thereof, and some statement indicating its character, e. g. " farm," " house and lot," " mill," etc. The statute does not now require a specified number of columns, although the State Board of Tax Commissioners may require such columns.

Village, School Districts and Special Districts.

The assessment-roll must provide for the indication thereon of the name of the village, the number of the school district and of the special district, in which each parcel of land is situated. The roll as prescribed by the State Tax Commissioners will provide for this. The assessors must avail themselves of such knowledge as they may have in locating in the proper village and school district each parcel assessed by them.

Determination of Valuation.

The assessors may use their own judgment in determining the value of lands assessed. It must always be remembered that their determination is subject to review by the courts. The values included in the assessment-roll may be reduced or increased prior to its final completion and verification by the assessors. It is impracticable to lay down all the rules declared by the courts as controlling the assessors in determining values. In assessing railroads cost of reproduction is the chief consideration; that is the cost of replacing the portion of the property of the company situated within the town, without much regard to the earning capacity of the railroad as a whole. The same rule controls in the assessment of telephone and telegraph companies. Special provision is made by the Tax Law, § 24, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 323, for the assessment and collection of taxes against banks.

Corporations are required through their proper officers (See Tax Law, § 27, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 323) to make detailed statements as to real property owned by them in the town, and the amount of capital stock paid in and secured to be paid in, excepting the sums paid for real property. The law specifies how corporations shall be assessed on the assessment-roll. See Tax Law, § 32.

Non-resident Lands.

The real property of non-residents must be designated in a separate part of the assessment-roll. The lands should be described by lot-number, if it be known by such, or if not the boundaries should be given. The quantity and value of the land must be given. When deemed necessary by the assessors, the supervisor may cause a map and survey of non-resident lands to be made.

Omitted Property.

Assessors may include in the assessment-roll of the current year property shown to have been omitted from the assessment-roll of the preceding year, at the valuation of the preceding year, or, if none was then made, at a valuation fixed by them based upon conditions as they existed during the preceding year. When omitted property is included, the valuation must be stated on a separate line from that of the same property for the present year.

Completion of Assessment Roll; Notice.

The assessors must complete the roll on or before August 1. A copy must be made and left with one of them. A notice must then be posted in three or more public places in the town that such roll has been completed and a copy may be seen and examined at a place mentioned until the third Tuesday of August, and that on that day, and at the place mentioned the assessors will meet to review their assessments. Such notice must be mailed to corporations and non-residents who have requested it on or before July 15 preceding.

Grievance Day.

The day specified, i. e., the third Tuesday in August is grievance day. On this day, or a day to which they adjourn, the assessors must hear and determine all complaints against assessments made by them. The statement containing the complaint must be verified and must specify in what respects the assessment is erroneous. The assessors may take testimony and administer oaths to witnesses. The hearing should be conducted in an orderly manner. The complainants should be permitted to appear by counsel. All the evidence presented orally at the hearing should be taken down and written out and be filed in the office of the town clerk.

Verification of Roll.

When the roll is finally completed after grievance day, each assessor should verify the roll by taking the oath prescribed by law. (See Tax Law, § 38, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 323.) There must be a substantial compliance with the requirements of the statute in respect to the oath.

Explanatory note.

When completed and verified, two copies must be made. One to be retained by them and delivered to their successors, and the other, duly certified by them to be a copy, must be filed in the office of the town clerk, on or before September 15. Notice of filing must be posted in at least three public places, and be published in one or more newspapers, if any, published in the town. The original assessment-roll must be delivered to the supervisor on or before October 1. The dates of filing and delivery of the assessment roll, and the number of copies to be made may be changed by the board of supervisors.

§ 1. ASCERTAINING FACTS FOR ASSESSMENT.

The assessors in each tax district shall annually between January first and July first, ascertain by diligent inquiry all the property and the names of all the persons taxable therein. The comptroller shall on or about April fifteenth in each year transmit to the assessors of each tax district a statement of all lands owned by the state in such district, and such statement shall be used by the assessors in making up their assessment-rolls and shall be considered by them as their authority to assess to the state such of the lands described thereon as are legally subject to taxation.[1] [Tax Law, § 20, as amended by L. 1911, chs. 116, 805, L. 1912, ch. 270, and L. 1916, ch. 323; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5838.]

1. Majority of assessors must act. One assessor cannot make an assessment. It is the general act of all or a majority of the assessors which constitutes a valid assessment. An assessment made by one assessor without the concurrence of the others is irregular and void, and cannot be enforced. Metcalf v. Messenger, 46 Barb. 325; People ex rel. Mygatt v. Supervisors, 11 N. Y. 563; People ex rel. D. & H. C. Co. v. Parker, 45 Hun 432. Where an assessment is signed by two of three assessors it is prima facie evidence that the third acted with them. Doughty v. Hope, 3 Denio 249, affd. 1 N. Y. 79. An assessment is not shown to be illegal by proof that it was made up and notice thereof published by less than majority of the full board of assessors. It must be proved that all were not present, or that the one absent did not have notice of the meeting, or that a vacancy occasioned by death had not been filled. Matter of Merrian, 84 N. Y. 596.

Cannot employ attorney, where they are not instructed by town board to defend a proceeding to review an assessment made by them. People ex rel. McMillan v. Vanderpoel, 35 App. Div. 73, 54 N. Y. Supp. 436.

Ascertainment of facts for assessment. The assessors may avail themselves of such information by inquiry and otherwise as they can obtain. If the party assessed claims that injustice has been done, he may file his affidavit, which the assessors may afterwards examine. People ex rel. Thompson v. McComber, 7 N. Y. Supp. 71; 24 N. Y. St. Rep. 902. Where physical and tangible property visible to the assessors exists, of the character ordinarily dealt in and whose value is a matter of common knowledge in the community, the assessors may assess it according to their own judgment without seeking other proof or sources of knowledge. In such a case the determination of the assessors will stand until affirmatively proved to be erroneous. People ex rel. Trowbridge v. McNamara, 18 App. Div. 47, 45 N. Y. Supp. 458. The assessors are not concluded by opinions of witnesses as to the value of real or personal property unless it be the only evidence and they have no other information. People ex rel. Oswego Canal Co. v. City of Oswego, 5 Hun 117. Tax assessors are not free to capriciously disregard the evidence and emancipate themselves from all restrictions and rules, however fundamental; but they are not bound by statements that are contradicted and which they disbelieve, where good reasons exist for such disbelief. People ex rel. Manhattan Railway v. Barker, 146 N. Y. 304, 40 N. E. 996.

Tax Law, § 21.

§ 2. ASSESSMENT-ROLL; HOW PREPARED.

1. The assessors shall prepare an assessment-roll or rolls, the form of which shall be prescribed or approved by the tax commission, so

In determining the question of residence the assessors may act upon such facts as come to their notice, and where real property is situated partly in one town and partly in another the assessors act judicially in determining the place of residence of the owner for the purpose of taxation. Brown v. Smith, 24 Barb. 419. If a person taxed for personal property is an inhabitant of the town when the assessment is made, the assessors are clothed by statute with jurisdiction to inquire and determine whether he is taxable or not, and if the person has another residence and a principal place of business elsewhere, which should be deemed the site of his personal property for the purpose of taxation, he should inform the assessors. The assessors are not liable for an error in assessing him under such circumstances. Idem. See, also, Bell v. Pierce, 51 N. Y. 12.

Assessors act judicially in determining liability to assessment. Assessors are quasi-judicial officers, when acting within the sphere of their juridiction; and their assessments when made become judgments to be enforced by a warrant in the nature of a special execution, to be issued by the supervisors of the county. The assessors are not subject to an action to review, modify, or reverse their judgments, nor to hold them to personal liability when acting within their jurisdiction. Western R. R. Co. v. Nolan, 48 N. Y. 513. See, also, Barhyte v. Shepherd, 35 N. Y. 238; Weaver v. Devendorf, 3 Denio 117; Robinson v. Rowland, 26 Hun 501; Vose v. Willard, 47 Barb. 320; Matter of Peck, 80 Hun 122, 30 N. Y. Supp. 59. An erroneous assessment overruling a claim of exemption, is not void; the assessors in deciding what property within their jurisdiction is taxable and what is exempt, act judicially. Foster v. Van Wyck, 2 Abb. Ct. App. Dec. 167. An action will not lie to set aside an erroneous assessment where the assessors have acted within their jurisdiction and the assessment roll was in due form and attested according to law. The assessors acting in such instance judicially, their acts cannot be attacked collaterally, but the remedy provided by law for review must be followed. Brooklyn Elevated R. R. Co. v. City of Brooklyn, 11 App. Div. 127, 42 N. Y. Supp. 683. In determining the value of taxable property assessors act judicially. Weaver v. Devendorf, 3 Denio 117. If the assessors err in determining the value of taxable property the error is a judicial one and can only be reviewed upon certiorari. Genesee Valley Nat. Bank v. Supervisors, 53 Barb. 223; Youmans v. Simmons, 7 Hun 466; Williams v. Weaver, 75 N. Y. 30.

Residence of the person assessed within the assessment district is essential to give jurisdiction to the assessor to make a valid assessment of personal property, and the fact that the board of assessors acts for the whole city and has jurisdiction of all the taxable inhabitants will not validate an assessment made in a wrong ward or render it irregular only. Wilcox v. City of Rochester, 129 N. Y. 247, 29 N. E. 99.

The legal presumption is that an assessment of property for the purposes of taxation is regular and the determination of the taxing officials will not be disturbed unless it clearly appears that injustice has been done. People ex rel. Havemeyer v. Purdy (1915), 91 Misc. 610, 154 N. Y. Supp. 993.

Time of assessment. The assessment must be made before the expiration of classified and arranged with respect to number of parts and number of columns in each part and with such entries and descriptions[2] as the time prescribed in the above section. The assessors have no authority to make an assessment on grievance day or at any time after the first day of July in each year. Clark v. Norton, 3 Lans. 484, 58 Barb. 434. This case was affirmed by the Court of Appeals (49 N. Y. 243, 246), and the court said: "The law prescribes and regulates the duties of assessors, and defines and limits their powers with precision, and by an adherence to the statute the rights of the taxpayers are protected and secured. The assessors have the months of May and June within which to make the necessary inquiries and to ascertain the names of the taxable inhabitants in their respective towns and wards, and the property, real and personal, within their jurisdiction liable to taxation; and to prepare an assessment roll containing the names of those liable to taxation, and the property to be taxed, with its value arranged in columns, as directed by law. The assessment must be made by the first day of July, and of property and persons in respect to the liability as it exists on that day. The assessment roll must be completed and a fair copy made and deposited for examination by those interested, on or before the first day of August. An individual not liable to taxation on the first day of July could not be placed upon the assessment roll after that time; neither could a person whose name was properly on the assessment roll be assessed for property acquired by him after that day." See, also, People ex rel. Mygatt v. Supervisors of Chenango, 11 N. Y. 563; Mygatt v. Washburn, 15 N. Y. 316; Sexton v. Pepper, 28 Hun 31; People ex rel. Coudert v. Commissioners of Taxes, 31 Hun 235. Assessment made on July 1st cannot be reduced because the property was thereafter destroyed. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1902) 289.

Failure to properly arrange column.—Under the law prior to the amendment of 1914, it was held that where the columns were not arranged in the roll just as directed by the statute, but all the matter required to make a good assessment was inserted in the roll, with sufficient certainty so that there could be no mistake about it, the validity of the assessment will not be affected. People ex rel. Mohawk, etc., R. R. Co. v. Garmon, 63 App. Div. 530, 71 N. Y. Supp. 826. See, also, Pearsall v. Brewer, 120 App. Div. 584, 105 N. Y. Supp. 207. The improper use of the columns, where there is nothing misleading in the assessment, does not invalidate the assessment-roll. New York v. Appleby, 168 App. Div. 503, 154 N. Y. Supp. 85.

The omission of the headings of the columns of the assessment-roll does not invalidate the assessment. Litchfield v. Brooklyn, 13 Misc. 693, 69 N. Y. St. Rep. 171, 34 N. Y. Supp. 1090.

The first column is the one containing the names, although two columns are prefixed. Bennett v. Robinson, 42 App. Div. 412, 59 N. Y. Supp. 197.

2. Name of taxable persons. Reasonable certainty is all that is required in preparing the list of names of taxable persons for an assessment roll. Van Voorhis v. Budd, 39 Barb. 479. If the name of a taxpayer inserted in an assessment roll is the name by which he is generally known, he will be bound thereby, though the name is not his real one. Idem. The assessment against heirs of a deceased person without naming them is void. Village of Sandy Hill v. Akin, 77 Hun 537; 28 N. Y. Supp. 889. An assessment in the name of a lunatic with an addition of the name of the committee who had not yet been appointed is a valid assessment. People ex rel. Trust Co. v. Barker, 59 N. Y. St. Rep. 741; affd. 137 N. Y. 631.

shall be sufficient to identify each separately assessed parcel or portion of real estate with the approximate quantity of the square feet, square

Where the owner to whom property was assessed died July 11th, though the roll was not verified till September—held, that the assessment was to the proper owner. O'Donnell v. McIntyre, 37 Hun 615, affd. 116 N. Y. 663.

In the case of Dubois v. Webster, 7 Hun 371, the tax roll contained the name and description, "Foster, Joseph, or occupant." It appeared that Foster did not own the property assessed. It was held that the words "or occupant" did not give the assessment any validity. The court said: "The occupant must be named or else the tax roll gives no information to the collector of whom he may require payment. When the statute provides that real estate may be assessed to the owner, the name of the owner must be inserted in the assessment-roll. It is the same with the word 'occupant.' Any other rule would lead to great confusion, uncertainty and injustice." But see Wallach Co. v. Rooney (1917), 177 App. Div. 640, 164 N. Y. Supp. 616.

The assessment of a trust estate against the name of one of the trustees only, adding the name of the other and the words "executor and trustees," and making the name of the trustee "Henry" instead of "Harry P.," may be amended by the assessors by striking out the word "executors" and correcting the name. People ex rel. Pike v. Barker, 86 Hun 283; 33 N. Y. Supp. 1132. An assessment of executors of "the estate of Goodwin," when the testator's name was "Godwin," is not invalid. People ex rel. Moller v. O'Donnell, 106 App. Div. 526, 94 N. Y. Supp. 884.

Assessment against an estate without additional description is invalid. Matter of McCue v. Supervisors, 162 N. Y. 235; Cromwell v. McLean, 123 Id. 474; Adams v. Supervisors of Monroe, 18 App. Div. 415, 46 N. Y. Supp. 48, affd. 154 N. Y. 619. But Laws 1898, ch. 310, validated such assessments theretofore made. Against "Blackwell, R. M., Est." Trowbridge v. Horan, 78 N. Y. 439.

An assessment for personal property against an executor by name "as executor of estate of," etc., is not an assessment against the executor as such, and is valid. McLean v. Horn, 42 N. Y. St. Rep. 329, 17 N. Y. Supp. 119. A misnomer of one of several administrators—held not to invalidate the assessment. Id.

An assessment of nonresident land is not invalid because the owner of the premises was designated "Estate George P. Gordon." The designation is neither the name of a person nor corporation and may be treated as surplusage. Sanders v. Carley, 83 App. Div. 193, 83 N. Y. Supp. 106, affd. 178 N. Y. 622.

The insertion of the words "Village of Medina Water Works outside the Corporation" under the heading "Names of Taxable Persons" does not invalidate the assessment, since the village of Medina is thus named with sufficient certainty. Matter of the Village of Medina, 52 Misc. 621, 103 N. Y. Supp. 1018.

Assessment of partners. In the case of People ex rel. Dufour v. Wells, 82 N. Y. Supp. 866, 40 Misc. 553, an assessment was made against the firm of Dufour & rods or acres contained in such parcel or portion or a statement of the linear dimensions thereof;[3] each special franchise and the names

---

Co., instead of against the partners as individuals. Judge Bischoff said: "The statute requires that the assessment shall be made in such manner as to describe the 'person' taxed, and the value of the property of that 'person' after deducting all the debts owing by him. In no possible aspect is a partnership a 'person,' nor is the aggregate property employed by the partners in the business property of a 'person,' nor is the firm's property the measure of each partner's interest for taxation. The property of each individual, lessened by his debts, is the basis of the tax. The law so provides, for the benefit of the taxpayer, and a strict compliance with the terms of the law, in the manner of making the assessments is essential to the legality of the assessment. Unless the statute provides to the contrary an assessment for taxation of partnership property must be made in the names of the individuals composing the firm."

The owner of real estate at the time of the completion of the roll is liable for the tax, although he conveys before the tax is laid by the board of supervisors. Rundell v. Lakey, 40 N. Y. 513; Everson v. City of Syracuse, 29 Hun 458 (1883), reversed on another ground in 100 N. Y. 577.

Waiver of defective assessment. Where an assessment is defectively made to an estate instead of to the owners or occupants thereof, the defect may be waived by acquiescence for many years in such assessment and by failing to object to the form of the assessment on grievance day. Brown v. Otis, 98 App. Div. 554, 90 N. Y. Supp. 250, mod. 185 N. Y. 303.

3. Description of lands. It was a sufficient description in an assessment-roll to give the known name of a tract of land and the number of the town, range and lot therein. Coleman v. Shattuck, 62 N. Y. 348. Where an assessment was made against "the trustees of the First Congregational Church," and the property assessed was described as "parsonage" and the valuation was entered as $1,600, it was held that this description did not mislead the relators; that the absence in the statement of the quantity of the land which it was intended to assess was not a source of any injury to the relators. People ex rel. Hutchinson v. O'Brien, 53 Hun 580, 6 N. Y. Supp. 862. This case should not be deemed to authorize an omission to specify the quantity of land assessed where it is ascertainable. It would seem that the courts require a strict compliance with the statute as to the form and contents of the assessment-roll. May v. Traphagen, 139 N. Y. 478; People ex rel. Supervisors v. Fowler, 55 N. Y. 252. An assessment of a house and lot as "33 Woodbury Street," does not state quantity of real property, and is not sufficient description. McInnis v. City of New Rochelle (1917), 99 Misc. 388, 163 N. Y. Supp. 1003. The commissioners of taxes referred to in this subdivision are the state board of tax commissioners. It is made the duty of the state board to prepare forms for reports and assessment-rolls and to furnish the same to assessors and other officers at the expenee of the state. Tax Law, sec. 171, subd. 3, post, p. 572.

Where property consisting of about twelve acres was described by appropriate metes and bounds in deeds of conveyance forming the chain of title, a sale by the county treasurer for unpaid taxes under an assessment to a certain named person, as owner, who never lived on or ever had any interest in the property, which was simlpy described both in the assessment-roll and the certificate of sale as eleven and one-quarter acres, no boundary line being given, the owner is entitled to judgment in an action to remove the certificate of sale as a cloud upon his title. Nolan v. Phillipi (1917), 99 Misc. 384, 163 N. Y. Supp. 730.

of all persons and corporations taxable on personal property, capital stock or capital invested in business and bank stock. Assessments of real property, other than special franchises, shall be carried in a separate part of the roll from the assessments of personal property.

2. The form of assessment-roll prescribed or approved by the tax commission shall provide for the indication thereon, in appropriate columns, of the name of the village, if in a village, the number of the school district and the name or number of any special district in which a special tax is levied for district purposes, in which each parcel or portion of real property and each special franchise described on such roll is situated or in which each person or corporation subject to taxation for personal property in the tax district pursuant to this chapter, resides, carries on business, has its principal place of business or in which its operations are carried on or where the personal property is located, as the case may be, and shall also provide for the entry of the assessments of real property, special franchises and personal property respectively, made pursuant to this chapter, and of the apportionments made pursuant to section forty of this chapter.

3. In all cities there shall be an additional column in the assessment-roll before the column in which is set down the value of real property, and in such additional column there shall be set down the value of the

An assessment in Long Island City in the form customary since the organization of such city and which had been recognized by the Legislature, was held valid, although it omitted to state the quantity of land as required by this section. Matter of Wood, 35 App. Div. 363, 54 N. Y. Supp. 978.

Assessment against neither owner nor occupant void.—The assessment of a tax on resident land in the name of one neither owner nor occupant is juirsdictionally void, and cannot be made a lien except by proceedings for reassessment upon notice to the owner or occupant. Hagner v. Hall, 10 App. Div. 581, 42 N. Y. Supp. 63, affd. 159 N. Y. 552; Parsons v. Parker, 80 Hun 281, 61 N. Y. St. Rep. 847, 30 N. Y. Supp. 134; Cottle v. Cary, 73 App. Div. 54, 76 N. Y. inclosed—held, that it was fatally defective. Matter of New York Central, etc., R. R. Co., 90 N. Y. 342.

An assessment-roll which does not describe the lands assessed or state the amount thereof is defective under this section and is also void under the constitutional provisions prohibiting the taking of property without due process of law. Lawton v. City of New Rochelle, 114 App. Div. 883, 100 N. Y. Supp. 284.

Where a turnpike company does not own the fee of the land over which its road passes, its property is not adequately described in an assessment as "upon five miles of highway." Such an assessment is defective in that it does not indicate that it was laid upon something else than the ownership of the fee, and that structures or superstructures, or something apart from the franchise, were intended to be taxed thereunder. Matter of Albany & Bethlehem Turnpike Road v. Selkirk, 180 N. Y. 401, revg. 94 App. Div. 509, 87 N. Y. Supp. 1104.

A municipal assessment-roll which merely describes the property assessed as a house and lot located upon a certain street is insufficient to effect a valid assessment. Noxon v. City of New Rochelle, 63 Misc. 232, 116 N. Y. Supp. 822.

Where assessments made by the city assessors merely describe the land by the words "land," "plot of land," and designate the location as "Webster and Winyah Aves.," the assessment is null and void. French v. City of New Rochelle, 141 App. Div. 8, 125 N. Y. Supp. 677.

A mistake in the number of acres does not vitiate assessment, where land is sufficiently described to locate it. Saranac Land & Timber Co. v. Roberts, 208 N. Y. 288.

3-a. Attack upon assessment; comparison with similar property.—Subd. 3 of this section does not affect the rule that a property owner claiming to be aggrieved by inequality in the assessment of his real property is at liberty to attack the assessment by comparing the gross valuation placed upon his property with the gross valuation of other similar property upon the assessment-roll; and that he is also at liberty to compare the assessed valuation placed upon his land alone with the values placed upon the land only in the case of other properties of like character and situation. People ex rel. Strong v. Hart (1916), 216 N. Y. 513, affg. 166 App. Div. 907, 150 N. Y. Supp. 1106.

Under subd. 3 (former § 21-a) the petitioner may give testimony as to an alleged overvaluation of the lands and at the same time adopt the figures of the taxing officers so far as the value of the buildings is concerned. People ex rel. Havemeyer v. Purdy (1915), 91 Misc. 610, 154 N. Y. Supp. 993.

The cases above cited were decided under the former law which specifically described the columns in the assessment-roll and the entries to be made therein.

Neglect to pay taxes collected to city. The neglect or refusal of the board of supervisors to direct the county treasurer as required by this section to pay over to a city the bank taxes collected is a violation of statutory duty and gives the city a complete cause of action to recover the full amount of the taxes. Where a county has unlawfully appropriated taxes upon bank stock, a city entitled to receive the same may enforce its right of action, though, under some circumstances, mandamus is also a proper remedy. But where there has been a long delay by the city in enforcing its right and the moneys collected may have gone into the general fund of the county and have been diverted to other purposes, so that a tax levy may be necessary to satisfy the claim of the city, the writ of mandamus should be denied upon the ground of laches and the city should be left to its remedy by action. outside the village in figuring the ratio payable to the town. People ex rel. Village of Cobleskill v. Supervisors, 140 App. Div. 769, 126 N. Y. Supp. 259.

A county is not a tax district within the meaning of this section, and is not, therefore, entitled to share in the distribution of the tax laid upon bank stock taxable in a tax district. People ex rel. Lawyer v. Supervisors of Schoharie County, 39 Misc. 162. In this case the assessors of the town of Cobleskill within which are located two banks, made their assessment against each stockholder of such banks in the manner required by law. The tax so laid was paid by the banks to the treasurer of Schoharie county. No question was raised as to the regularity or amount of the assessment, but it was claimed by the relator that an erroneous principle was adopted by the board of supervisors in distributing or apportioning the tax among the tax districts entitled thereto. The board apportioned the tax as follows: To the county of Schoharie, $568.88; to the village of Cobleskill, $1,385.54; to the town of Cobleskill the sum of $632.24. Judge Chester said: "The provisions of the statute require the tax to be distributed among the tax districts in which the bank shares are taxable. To justify the distribution of a portion of the tax to the county required the board to regard the county as a tax district. This, it appears, they did, but in so doing I think they fell into an error. The Tax Law (sec. 2), defines a 'tax district' to be a 'political subdivision of the state having a board of assessors authorized to assess property therein for state and county taxes.' While a county, like towns and villages, is a political subdivision of the state, it does not come within this statutory definition of a tax district. It was, therefore, unlawful for the board to include the county in its apportionment of this tax and the whole of it should have been apportioned to the town and village of Cobleskill which was the only 'tax district' within which the bank shares, upon which this tax was paid, were taxable."

It appeared in this case that the board of supervisors ascertained that the tax rate of the town of Cobleskill was .0047, and of the village of Cobleskill .0103, making the aggregate tax rates of both tax districts .0150. Following the provisions of the above section it was the duty of this board to apportion the tax on these bank shares, amounting to the sum of $2,586.66, to the town and village of Cobleskill, being the only two districts where the shares were taxable, and the court held that the town was entitled to $827.12, or .0047-.0150 thereof, and the village to $1,759.54, or .0103-.0150 thereof.

By the amendment to this section the tax on bank stock is to be distributed among all municipalities formerly entitled to assess such stock; the term "tax district," as here used, includes villages and school districts, though not having separate boards of assessors. 13. For form of report of individual banker, see Form No. 41, post.

15. For form of statement of a corporation to assessors, see Form No. 43, post.

Effect of failure to file statement. Corporations may be assessed though no statement is made by them to the assessors as required by law. Such a statement when made is not conclusive upon the assessors. It is the judgment of the assessors

1. The real property, if any, owned by such company, the tax district in which the same is situated and, unless a railroad corporation, the sums actually paid therefor.

2. The capital stock actually paid in and secured to be paid in, excepting therefrom the sums paid for real property and the amount of such capital stock held by the state and by any incorporated literary or charitable institution, and

3. The tax district in which the principal office of the company is situated or in case it has no principal office, the tax district in which its operations are carried on.

Such statement shall be verified by an officer of the corporation making the report to the effect that it is in all respects just and true. If such statement is not made within twenty days after the first day of June, or is insufficient, evasive or defective, the assessors may compel the corporation to make a proper statement by mandamus.[15] [Tax Law, § 27, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 323; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5850.]

§ 9. PENALTY FOR OMISSION OF CORPORATION TO MAKE STATEMENT; HOW RECOVERED.

In case of neglect to furnish such statements within thirty days after the time above provided, the company so neglecting shall forfeit to the people of this state for each statement so omitted to be furnished, the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars, and it shall be the duty of the attorney-general to prosecute for such penalty upon information which shall be furnished him by the tax commission. Upon such statement being furnished and the costs of the suit being paid, the tax commission, that the law requires. People ex rel. Manhattan Fire Ins. Co. v. Commissioners of Taxes, 76 N. Y. 64. The assessors have jurisdiction to assess a corporation although it fails to make a statement of its financial condition. If such a corporation fails to appear and demand a correction of the preliminary assessment it can obtain no relief from overvaluation by certiorari. People ex rel. Union Telegraph Co. v. Commissioners of Taxes, 99 N. Y. 354.

15. Effect of statement. Where a corporation furnishes assessors with a full and complete statement of its assests and liabilities, together with its balance sheet supporting such statements, the assessors are, in the absence of any other evidence bound to make such statements the basis of their assessment against the corporation. People ex rel. Seidenberg Co. v. Feitner, 41 App. Div. 571; 58 N. Y. Supp. 713. The assessors cannot accept a part of a statement relating to the assests of a corporation and reject the part relating to its liabilities. People ex rel. Amer. Flag Co. v. Barker, 37 N. Y. Supp. 106; 72 N. Y. St. Rep. 152. Assessors are not justified in rejecting the statement of a corporation upon the sole ground that it sets forth values less than the statement of the preceding year. People ex rel. Insulating Co. v. Barker, 16 Misc. 252; 39 N. Y. Supp. 88. If taxing officers do not require an examination of the books and officers of the corporation they are bound to assume that the value of the gross assests was correctly given in the verified statement. People ex rel. Brooklyn Union Gas Co. v. Feitner, 82 App. Div. 368, 81 N. Y. Supp. 898.

if it shall be satisfied that such omission was not wilful, may, in its discretion, discontinue such suit.[16] [Tax Law, § 28, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 323; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5851.]

§ 10. COUNTY CLERKS TO FURNISH DATA RESPECTING CORPORATIONS.

Between the first and fifteenth days of June in each year the county clerk in each county of the state, excepting counties wholly situate within the corporate limits of a city, shall prepare from the records in his office and mail to each of the city and town clerks in his said county, a certified statement containing the names of every stock corporation, whose certificate of incorporation has been filed with him since the last preceding annual statements to said several city and town clerks, whose principal business office or chief place of business is designated in its certificate of incorporation as being in such city or town or in any village or hamlet therein, together with the fact of such designation and the names and addresses of the directors of each such corporation so far as said county clerk can discover the same from the certificate of incorporation or from the latest certificate of election of directors of such corporation filed in his office. Each city or town clerk receiving such statement shall forthwith file the same in his office and mail a notice of such filing to each of the assessors of his city or town.

In case of the failure of a corporation to deliver the report required by this section, it will be presumed that the assessors ascertained the value of the capital and surplus of the corporation to be the sum stated in the assessment-roll, from the best information available to them. Matter of Adler Bros. & Co., 76 App. Div. 571; 78 N. Y. Supp. 690; affd., 174 N. Y. 287.

Valuation by secretary as basis of assessment.—The valuation of the capital stock made by the secretary of a company in the statement to the assessors, held sufficient evidence of value upon which to base the assessment, notwithstanding the company sought by certiorari to correct the assessment by deducting the amount of debts owed by it from the sum indicated in the statement, since the value of the franchises might make up the difference. People ex rel. Buffalo Mut. Gas-Light Co. v. Steele, 1 Buff. Super. Ct. 345.

Mandamus not a remedy.—It seems that a corporation cannot be mandamused to furnish the statement required by this section. Matter of Adler Bros. & Co., 76 App. Div. 571, 78 N. Y. Supp. 690, affd. 174 N. Y. 287.

§ 11. TAX MAP IN EACH TAX DISTRICT.

A tax district may prepare or adopt for the use of the assessors a tax map of the district, or of such portion of the tax district as lies within an incorporated village, on which shall be shown each separately assessed parcel of real property with its boundaries properly marked. When any parcel contains more than one acre its contents in acres shall be shown upon said tax map. Each separately assessed parcel shall be given an identification number or numbers upon such map, and such number or numbers shall not be changed except as may be necessary when such parcel is altered or divided or merged with some other parcel. The assessors shall make such changes from year to year upon such tax map as may be necessary to keep the map accurate. Such map shall be prepared and kept in accordance with such rules as the tax commission may, from time to time, prescribe.[17] [Tax Law, § 30, as added by L. 1911, ch. 315, and amended by L. 1916, ch. 323.]

§ 12. ASSESSMENT OF AGENT, TRUSTEE, GUARDIAN OR EXECUTOR.

If a person holds taxable property as agent, trustee, guardian, executor or administrator, he shall be assessed therefor as such, with the addition to his name of his representative character, and such assessment shall be carried out in a separate line from his individual assessment.[28] [Tax Law, § 33; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5856.]

17. The necessary expenses incurred by assessors in preparing tax maps pursuant to this section are charges against the municipality which they represent. Rept. of Atty. Genl. (1911), vol. 2, p. 639.

28. References. Place of taxation of trust property, etc., see Tax Law, sec. 8, ante, p. 492. All assessments made to the "estate" of a decedent prior to April 9, 1898, were legalized by L. 1898, ch. 310; and it would seem that such assessments are deemed to be valid under section 63 of the Tax Law, post, p. 566.

Assessments to personal representatives. It has been repeatedly held that it is not sufficient for assessors to assess lands or personal property to the "estate of A. B.," or to the "heirs of A. B.," but that the assessment to be valid, must specify the name or names of the individuals who are subject to the § 13 ASSESSMENT-ROLL, WHEN TO CONTAIN ASSESSMENT OF PROPERTY OMITTED IN PRECEDING YEAR.

The assessors of any tax district shall, upon their own motion, or upon the application of any taxpayer therein, enter in the assessment-roll of the current year any property shown to have been omitted from the assessment-roll of the preceding year, at the valuation of that year, or tax. Cruyer v. Dougherty, 43 N. Y. 107; Trowbridge v. Horan, 78 N. Y. 439; Cromwell v. MacLean, 123 N. Y. 474, 485; 25 N. E. 932; Matter of Kenworthy, 63 Hun, 165; 17 N. Y. Supp. 655; Sandy Hill v. Akin, 77 Hun, 537; 28 N. Y. Supp. 889; Adams v. Supervisors of Monroe, 18 App. Div. 415, 46 N. Y. Supp. 48, affd. 154 N. Y. 619.

Executors are taxable as such from the death of the testator. The admission of the will to probate and the issuance of letters testamentary are not conditions precedent to such a possession and control of the testator's personal estate as to authorize an assessment of such estate in the name of the executors. People ex rel. Gould v. Barker, 150 N. Y. 52; 44 N. E. 785.

An assessment to one of four executors, with an addition "and others excrs., of the est. of" a specified decedent, followed by the entry of the amount of personal property, is sufficiently accurate to lead to the identification of the executors and is in proper form to make a valid assessment. People ex rel. McHarg v. Gaus, 169 N. Y. 19.

Executor not to be assessed unless property is received. Assessors have no jurisdiction to assess executors for personalty where they receive none, nor to determine contrary to the facts that they have personalty of the testator in their possession. Bowe v. McNab, 11 App. Div. 386, 42 N. Y. Supp. 938.

Assessment of trust estates. Where a will creates three separate and distinct trusts in behalf of three different beneficiaries the three trust estates may be assessed in solido. The fact that one of the three trustees is not named is not a fatal defect. People ex rel. Cammann v. Feitner, 61 App. Div. 115, 70 N. Y. Supp. 556, affd. 168 N. Y. 646. See People ex rel. Beamon v. Feitner, 168 N. Y. 360, revg. 63 App. Div. 174, 71 N. Y. 261.

The name of the trustee, or other person acting in a representative capacity, should be inserted, and there should be appended a designation of his representative capacity and a description of the estate which he represents, as "A. B. trustee for estate of J. D." In this connection Judge Beekman, in the case of People ex rel. Cadwallader v. Feitner, 26 Misc. 40, 43; 56 N. Y. Supp. 407, says: "It is plain that the proper construction of the statute requires a separate assessment against a trustee with respect to each separate and distinct trust administered by him. It is also obvious that the tax commissioners could not, under a single assessment and a general designation of the person assessed, by the words "John L. Cadwallader, as trustee," without further description, necessarily include all the trust estates represented by him. Such a method would inevitably result in difficulties and complications in the determination of the proportion of the tax which should be charged against each estate, and in other respects, which it would be unreasonable to suppose the legislature ever intended to sanction. Separate assessments then being necessary with respect to each trust, it is the more apparent that the trust itself must, in each case, be particularized, as, otherwise, it would be impossible to determine to which estate any one of such assessments applied, and a condition of uncertainty would exist if not then value, at such valuation as the assessors shall determine for the preceding year. Assessments of special franchises that were omitted shall be entered at the valuation fixed and equalized by the tax commission.[29] [Tax Law, § 34, as amended by L. 1914, ch. 277, and L. 1916, ch. 323; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5857.]

calling for a construction of the statute that would avoid any such result. Such a construction, which is consonant with reason and does no violence to the terms of the statute, is realized by holding, as I do, that the requirement that the representative character of the person assessed shall be stated, imports a specification of the concrete relation of such person to a particular trust." See, also, People ex rel. Pike v. Barker, 86 Hun, 283; 33 N. Y. Supp. 1132.

Bequest to benevolent corporation in hands of executor. An absolute bequest of a residuary estate to a benevolent or charitable corporation, which is included within the exemption of a charitable corporation, under § 4 of the Tax Law, vests at the death of the testator and is thereafter exempt from taxation; the fact that the estate has not been settled and the legatee has not received the property does not render its assessment proper under this section; such section only applies to property that is taxable under other provisions of the Tax Law. People ex rel. Crook v. Wells, 179 N. Y. 257, revg. 93 App. Div. 500, 87 N. Y. Supp. 826.

Deductions. In order that an executor may be entitled to have just debts deducted from the aggregate of personal property held by him, they must be legal, valid and incontestable obligations. To reduce or nullify an assessment, affirmative proof that it is erroneous in whole or in part must be given. People ex rel. Osgood v. Comm'rs of Taxes and Assessments, 99 N. Y. 154.

29. Omitted property. Under L. 1865, ch. 453, sec. 1, from which the above section was derived, it was held that the duties of the assessors were merely ministerial, and that they could not include property omitted from the assessment-roll of the preceding year unless it had been valued either in that year or in the year preceding. People ex rel. Oswald v. Goff, 52 N. Y. 434. But this decision is apparently nullified by the change made in the above section of the Tax Law which seems to authorize the assessors to determine the valuation of the omitted property for the preceding year in case none was then made.

Where land of non-resident is assessed to "Warford, Cyrus, est. G. H. Grafft, Agt." the assessors may treat it as having been wholly omitted, and reassess it the next year for the previous year. Matter of Chadwick, 59 App. Div. 334, 69 N. Y. Supp. 853.

A tax against a resident returned as unpaid, held to be chargeable, in the subsequent year, against the land assessed only. Jewett v. Lamphear, 20 N. Y. Wk. Dig. 232.

Administrators are personally liable for a tax duly imposed on property of an estate in their hands, and they are not relieved because they subsequently distribute the estate. City of N. Y. v. Goss, 124 App. Div. 680, 109 N. Y. Supp. 151.

A corporation liable to taxation having been inadvertently omitted from assessment for city and county purposes for one year may be taxed therefor under the provisions of the above section upon the roll of the succeeding year. People ex rel. Brooklyn City R. R. Co. v. Assessors, 92 N. Y. 430.

Notice. The reassessment of omitted taxes cannot be made without notice, § 14. DEBTS OWING TO NON-RESIDENTS OF UNITED STATES, HOW ASSESSED.

Every agent in any county of the state of a nonresident creditor having debts owing to him, taxable in any county of the state, shall annually, on or before June first, furnish to the county treasurer of the county where the debtor resides, a true and accurate statement verified by his oath, of such debts owing on the first day of May next preceding in each town or ward in such county.[30]

The county treasurer shall, immediately upon the receipt of such statement, make out and transmit to the assessors of every tax district in the county in which any such debtor resides, a copy of as much of such statement as relates to the tax district of such assessors, with the name of the creditor. The assessors on receipt of such statement from the county treasurer shall, within the time in which they are required to complete the assessment-roll, enter therein the name of such nonresident creditor, and the aggregate amount due him in such tax district on the first day of May next preceding, in the same manner as other personal property is entered on the roll, adding the name of the debtor owing such debt. Any agent neglecting or refusing without good cause to furnish such statement to the county treasurer shall forfeit to the county in which the debtor resides the sum of five hundred dollars, recoverable by the district attorney, of the existence of such debts was known to the agent.[31] [Tax Law, § 35, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 323; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5858.]

§ 15. COMPLETION OF ASSESSMENT-ROLL; NOTICE OF COMPLETION; CONTENTS.

The assessor shall complete the assessment-roll on or before the first nor after the completion of the roll for the current year. Overing v. Foote, 65 N. Y. 263.

The provisions of this section, being a part of the general system of taxation, are not subject to the constitutional objection that they do not require a notice or hearing, since the general notice of the completion of the assessment roll is sufficient. People ex rel. Brooklyn City R. R. Co. v. Assessors of Brooklyn, 92 N. Y. 430.

This section does not provide for a new assessment or for a reassessment of an assessment canceled by the judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, and does not authorize an assessment for taxes without any notice to the party sought to be taxed. Application may be made by agent of owner, if in good faith. If agent fails to appear before board of assessors, or to answer material questions in a blank form presented to him, it is evidence that application was not made in good faith. The agent must have information as to the facts so as to be able to answer questions submitted to him. People ex rel. Trojan Realty Corp. v. Purdy (1917), 174 App. Div. 702, 162 N. Y. Supp. 56.

Effect of failure to give notice. Omission to give notice for the time prescribed is a judictional defect, and the assessment is void. Wheeler v. Mills, 40 Barb. 644; see, also, Jewell v. Van Steenburgh, 58 N. Y. 85; Metcalf v. Messenger, 46 Id. 325; Overing v. Foote, 65 N. Y. 263; People ex rel. McGuinness v. Lewis, 127 App. Div. 107, 119, 111 N. Y. Supp. 398.

Failure to publish notice of final completion of assessment roll will relieve a person seeking to correct it from the limitation prescribed by section 291 of the Tax Law, for bringing an action to review the assessment. People v. Adams, 125 N. Y. 471.

Poll tax assessed in December without notice to persons taxed is invalid. Burger v. Farrell, 50 Misc. 497, 100 N. Y. Supp. 638.

Sufficiency. If the assessment made was valid under the statute in force at the time, the fact that the notice to the taxpayer incorrectly describes the statute under which it was made does not invalidate the assessment. People ex rel. Barney v. Barker, 35 App. Div. 486; 54 N. Y. Supp. 848; affd. 159 N. Y. 569.

Posting notices. A posting of the notices of assessors of taxes of the completion of the assessment roll, by a person other than an assessor, under the assessor's direction, is a sufficient compliance with the statute. Supervisors v. Betts, 25 N. Y. St. Rep. 660.

Evidence of posting notices by assessors, of the completion of the assessment roll and of notice of meeting to hear grievances, coupled with the presumption that obtains in respect to the action of officials in the line of their duty, is sufficient to sustain a finding of fact in an action of ejectment under a tax title, that such notices were given. Supervisors v. Betts, 25 N. Y. St. Rep. 660.

After completion and notice roll cannot be changed as to persons or property assessed, except upon complaint. People ex rel. Chamberlain v. Forrest, 96 N. Y. 544. Or, with consent of person assessed. Overing v. Foote, 43 Id. 290.

The provision that the town board of assessors shall complete the assessment roll on or before the first day of August is mandatory and after said date no property can be legally added to the roll. People ex rel. Suburban Investment Co. v. Miller, 73 Misc. 214.

The verification of an assessment-roll before the third Tuesday of August and the omission of the assessors to meet on the third Tuesday of August, as required by law, are mere irregularities and not jurisdictional defects, and a title resting upon a sale for the taxes so assessed is validated by L. 1885, ch. 448. People v. Turner, 145 N. Y. 451, 65 N. Y. St. Rep. 389; Matter of Young, 26 Misc. 186, 56 N. Y. Supp. 861.

An assessor need not retain actual custody of an assessment roll after it has been left with him. The assessors are empowered in their discretion to designate a place which, in their judgment, will be most convenient and accessible, where the roll may be seen and examined, for instance, the town clerk's office. Rept. of Atty. Genl., July 27, 1910.

Compensation of town clerk. The town clerk is not entitled to compensation for allowing the assessment rolls of the town to be placed in his office for examination. People ex rel. Gedney v. Sippell, 116 App. Div. 753, 102 N. Y. Supp. 69.

conform to the requirements of the law regulating the time, place and manner of revising assessments in such city. During the time specified in the notice the assessor with whom the roll is left shall submit it to the inspection of every person applying for that purpose. [Tax Law, § 36, as amended by L. 1909, ch. 403, and L. 1916, ch. 323; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5859.]

Completion of asessment-roll; notice to nonresidents.— The assessors shall between the first and fifth day of August mail a notice to each person and corporation nonresident of their tax district, who has filed with the city or town clerk, on or before the fifteenth day of June preceding, a written demand therefor. Such notice shall specify each parcel or portion of real property separately assessed to said nonresident person or corporation and the assessed valuation thereof. Upon application made on or before the third Tuesday of August by any nonresident owner of real estate, or by a corporation having real property in more than one tax district in the county, the assessors shall fix a time subsequent to the third Tuesday in August, but not later than the thirty-first day of August, for a hearing and to review their assessment.[32a] [Tax Law, § 36a, as added by L. 1916, ch. 323, and amended by L. 1917, ch. 489.]

§ 16. GRIEVANCE DAY; STATEMENT OF COMPLAINTS; EFFECT OF FAILURE TO TESTIFY; MINUTES OF EXAMINATION TO BE FILED.

The assessors shall meet at the time and place specified in such notice, and hear and determine all complaints in relation to such assessments brought before them, and for that purpose they may adjourn from time to time.[33] Such complainants shall file with the assessors a statement, under oath, specifying the respect in which the assessment complained of is incorrect, which statement must be made by the person assessed or whose property is assessed, or by some person authorized to make such statement, and who has knowledge of the facts stated therein.[34] The assessors may administer oaths, take testimony and hear proofs in

32a. Protest need not be made on grievance day. A corporation having real property in more than one tax district in a county, which makes application to review its assessment, need not appear to file protest on the regular grievance day, but may subsequently make an application provided it will permit the fixing of a date not later than the thirty-first day of August. Opinion of Atty. Genl. (1916), 9 State Dept. Rep. 422.

33. Meeting of assessors to hear complaints. The assessors are required by the above section to meet at the time and place specified in the notice to hear complaints in respect to assessments made by them. The failure of the assessors to meet on grievance day is an irregularity and not a jurisdictional defect. Matter of Young, 26 Misc. 186; 56 N. Y. Supp. 861; see, also, People v. Turner, 145 N. Y. 451; 40 N. E. 400.

Time of making application for review. Where it appeared that the notice published by assessors fixed August 18th, the third Tuesday in August, as "the first day upon which objections" to the assessment would be heard; that the petitioner did not appear on such day, but did appear on August 19th; that all the members of the board of assessors were then present but declined to hear the petitioner's protest on the ground that it was made too late, and that on August 18th they had adjourned without fixing any other time for the presentation of protests; it was held that in view of the provisions of the above section relative to adjournments, and of the absence of any provision in the statute designating a particular day for the presentation of protests, the assessors had jurisdiction to entertain the protest made by the petitioner on August 19th. Matter of Cathedral of Incarnation, 91 App. Div. 543, 86 N. Y. Supp. 900.

34. For form of application for the correction of an assessment, see Form No. 47, post.

Necessity of complaint. The assessors are without jurisdiction to modify an assessment upon grievance day except upon complaint of the party aggrieved. People ex rel. Chamberlain v. Forrest, 96 N. And assessors cannot at such time enter upon the roll an assessment for personal property against a person whose name was not then on such roll, even though the person so assessed voluntarily appeared before the board and submitted to an examination. In the case of an assessment made without jurisdiction, the omission to file a written objection on the day fixed by village assessors for hearing complaints pursuant to this section does not impair the right of the person or corporation assessed to review the assessment by writ of certiorari. Sufficiency of statement. The statement should comply in all respects with the requirements of the statute. People v. Supervisors of Westchester County, 15 Barb. 607; People v. Ross, 15 How. Pr. 63.

It is too late on appeal for assessors to object to the sufficiency of the complaint filed with them on grievance day. People ex rel. Congress Hall v. Ouderkirk, 120 App. Div. 650, 105 N. Y. Supp. 134.

In specifying a grievance, if the error complained of is that the property is assessed proportionately higher than any other property in the town, particular instances need not be given. People ex rel. Erie R. R. Co. v. Webster, 49 App. Div. 556; 63 N. Y. Supp. 74. In this case it was also held that the verification by the tax agent of a railroad corporation is sufficient without giving the source of his information. See, also, Matter of Corwin, 135 N. Instances of inequality need not be specified. A complaint filed with tax assessors on grievance day based upon the inequality of assessment, need not specify instances of inequality in order to become the basis of a petition for certiorari to review the assessment. People ex rel. N. Y. C. & W. R. Co. v. Wakeman, 143 App. Div. 816.

Where the statement filed on grievance day does not specify the instances of inequality, the courts have refused to inquire into the question of the inequality, although there is no such requirement in this section. People ex rel. Hermann v. Kaufman, 121 App. Div. 599, 106 N. Y. Supp. 305.

Proof of inequality.—On complaint to the assessors on grievance day to show inequality of assessment as compared with other pieces of property in the neighborhood of the same general class and character, it is sufficient, in the absence of contradiction, to prove substantial similarity to make them suitable for comparison. A landowner complaining of the inequality of the assessment as compared with other lands similarly situated in the neighborhood may show the inequality by comparing either the gross assessment of his property with the gross assessment of similar properties on the assessment-roll, or by comparing the valuation of the land made by the assessors and the values of other similar lands, and the valuation of buildings made by the assessors and the values of other similar buildings, and this is not changed by Tax Law, § 21a, added by Laws 1911, ch. 117, which provides for the separate listing of the value of lands exclusive of buildings, and "the total assessment only can be reviewed." People ex rel. Strong v. Hart, 216 N. Y. 513, 111 N. E. 56, affirming 166 App. Div. 907, 150 N. Y. Supp. 1106.

Service of a notice or statement as required by this section is not effected by the delivery of said statement to the clerk, if the board of assessors was not in session or in or about the office at the time. People ex rel. Suburban Investment Co. v. Miller, 73 Misc. 214.

Effect of statement and testimony as to financial condition of corporation. Where a corporation has been assessed upon its capital and surplus pursuant to § 12 of the Tax Law, and makes application for a correction of the assessment, and files a verified statement as to its financial condition, and the president is examined under oath as to the truth of such statement, the tax commissioners are bound to accept the statement and testimony as true in the absence of evidence impeaching their verity. Effect of requests for relief from entire assessment. Where the relators had asked the assessors to relieve them from an assessment entirely, whereas it appeared that they were entitled to a reduction only—held, that the reduction should have been granted, though costs should not be imposed on the assessors on reviewing their proceedings denying the application, since it had not asked for the reduction merely. People ex rel. Western R. R. Co. v. Assessors of Albany, 40 N. Y. 154.

The statement is not conclusive, but is to be considered by the assessors with such other evidence as they possess. People ex rel. Buffalo & State Line R. R. Co. v. Barker, 48 N. Y. 70. But if such statement is the only evidence before the assessors they cannot disregard it. People ex rel. Oswego Canal Co. v. Oswego, 5 Hun, 117; People ex rel. Raplee v. Reddy, 43 Barb. 539; Matter of Plumb, 19 N. Y. Supp. 78. A sworn statement showing the assets and liabilities of a corporation, which is unimpeached, should control, and the valuation should be reduced accordingly. People ex rel. Brokaw Bros. v. Feitner, 44 App. Div. 278; 60 N. Y. Supp. 687.

The determination of the correctness of the assessment is remitted to the assessors' judgment and decision upon all the facts and proceedings including the evidence of the complainant, and any other facts known to them, and brought to their attention, bearing upon the complaint. People ex rel. Equitable Gas Light Co. v. Barker, 144 N. Y. 94, 101; 39 N. E. 13. But the judgment of the assessors cannot be capriciously or arbitrarily exercised, and when the proofs presented on the application are full, uncontradicted and credible, and show the assessment to have been erroneous, they cannot arbitrarily refuse to grant relief. People ex rel. Edison v. Commissioners, 139 N. Y. 55; 34 N. E. 722.

Waiver by assessors. If the assessors act upon an application made to them for a reduction of an assessment, they thereby waive its defects. People ex rel. Eckerson v. Christie, 115 N. Y. 158; 21 N. Y. 1117.

In the case of People ex rel. Scobell v. Kelborn, 35 Misc. 600, it was held that the failure of a complainant to file a statement under oath, as required by the above section, is waived by the assessors, where he appeared before the assessors and insisted that his valuation should be reduced, and they, without requiring the statutory statement, reduced the assessment to some extent.

Waiver of defect in affidavit. Where an affidavit in support of an application for relief from an assessment is considered by the assessors on the merits, an objection that it is informal, or insufficient proof of the facts alleged, not made at the time it was presented, will not be available to them on certiorari to review their proceedings. People ex rel. Western R. R. Co. v. Assessors of Albany, 40 N. Y. 154.

Examination of claimant; evidence. Assessors should require a personal examination, on oath, of all persons making application for a reduction of assessment whenever practicable. Rept. of Atty. Genl. If the applicant states that he cannot remember to whom the debts he seeks to have deducted from his assessment are due, nor the several amounts thereof, the assessors should disregard his evidence. to answer concerning the disposition of personal property formerly owned by her when questioned by the assessors. The inquiry being justifiable to enable them to judge of the present amount of her personality, a refusal by them to reduce the assessment would not afford ground for review. People ex rel. Green v. Hall, 83 Hun, 375. In passing upon an application for a reduction of an assessment for personality, the assessors act judicially and should be governed by the evidence, though they may exercise their knowledge and judgment where the value is to be ascertained upon an assumed basis of estimate. The evidence produced by the owner seeking to correct an assessment, if uncontradicted, must control. People ex rel. Amer. Linen Thread Co. v. Howland, 61 Barb. 273. Where a corporation presents evidence to the taxing officers as to the value of its assets, full and complete, so as to establish the facts upon which its claim for reduction rests, and it is not contradicted by facts within their knowledge, and no good reason exists for questioning its truth, refusal to decide in accordance with such evidence is legal error. People ex rel. German, etc., Co. v. Barker, 75 Hun, 6.

The burden of proving over-valuation is upon the taxpayer. People ex rel. Fargo v. Murphy, 32 N. Y. St. Rep. 780; 10 N. Y. Supp. 377.

35. Attendance personally required. A taxpayer who claims a reduction must attend upon the assessors in person, submit to an examination under oath, and subscribe to the answers, and an affidavit taken before a notary public without such attendance is not sufficient. People ex rel. Mercer v. Maynard, 7 Misc. 295, 58 N. Y. St. Rep. 546, 28 N. Y. Supp. 141; People ex rel. Brown v. O'Rourke, 31 App. Div. 583, 52 N. Y. Supp. 427.

§ 17. APPLICATION TO COUNTY COURT FOR APPORTIONMENT OF TAXES AND ASSESSMENT; NOTICE TO ASSESSORS; COLLECTOR TO CHANGE ASSESSMENT-ROLL UPON ORDER OF COURT.

When the premises of one person shall have been wrongfully assessed and taxed in with the premises of another, the person aggrieved thereby may, upon application to the county court of the county in which the property is situated, on petition duly verified, and on eight days' notice to the assessors of the town in which the premises are situated, and to the party whose premises are included in such wrongful assessment, have such assessment and tax apportioned by such county court. The county court shall take such evidence as may be necessary to determine the facts, and shall fix and specify the amount of the assessment and tax properly chargeable to the petitioner's property, and to the other party chargeable therewith. The collector of the town, upon receiving a copy of the order of the county court, shall forthwith change the assessment roll and tax to conform to such order, and shall receive the amount apportioned upon the premises of the petitioner in full for the tax upon such property. § 18. OATH VERIFYING ASSESSMENT-ROLL.

When the assessors, or a majority of them, shall have completed their roll, they shall severally appear before any officer of their county, authorized by law to administer oaths, and shall severally make and subscribe before such officer an oath in the following form:[37] "We, the undersigned, do severally depose and swear that we have set down in the foregoing assessment-roll all the real estate situated in the tax district in which we are assessors, according to our best information; and that, with the exception of those cases in which the value of the said real estate has been changed

37. References. An assessor may make and subscribe the oath required by the above section before a judge, clerk, deputy clerk, or a special deputy clerk, of a court, a notary public, mayor, justice of the peace, a city magistrate of any of the cities of this state, or police justice thereof, surrogate, special county judge, special surrogate, county clerk, deputy county clerk, special deputy county clerk, or commissioner of deeds, within the district in which the officer is authorized to act. by reason of proof produced before us, and with the exception of those cases in which the value of any special franchise has been fixed by the state tax commission, we have estimated the value of the said real estate at the sums which a majority of the assessors have decided to be the full value thereof; and, also, that the said assessment-roll contains a true statement of the aggregate amount of the taxable personal estate of each and every person [38] named in such roll over and above the amount of debts due from such persons, respectively, and excluding such stocks as are otherwise taxable, and such other property as is exempt by law from taxation, at the full value thereof, according to our best judgment and belief," which oath shall be written or printed on said roll, signed by the assessors and certified by the officer.[39] [Tax Law, § 38, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 323; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5864.]

38. "Person" includes corporation. The word "person" as used in this section in the form of oath includes corporation, and the omission from the oath of the words "or corporation" does not render the assessment void. Matter of Adler Bros. & Co., 76 App. Div. 571, 78 N. Y. Supp. 690, affd. 174 N. Y. 287.

39. Sufficiency of affidavit. An oath which is substantially in the form prescribed by statute will be sufficient. Sherrill v. Hewitt, 13 N. Y. Supp. 498; 36 N. Y. St. Rep. 321; People ex rel. Parsons Mfg. Co. v. Moore, 11 N. Y. St. Rep. 859; Buffalo & State Line R. R. Co. v. Supervisors, 48 N. Y. 93. But any material deviation from the form prescribed by the statute will invalidate the assessment. Shattuck v. Bascom, 105 N. Y. 39; Inmann v. Coleman, 37 Hun, 170. A verification by an assessor to the effect "that the foregoing assessment is just and correct to the best of his knowledge and belief" is fatally lefective. Lord v. Cooper, 19 App. Div. 535; 46 N. Y. Supp. 519.

Where the assessment-roll was not signed by the assessors at the end of the valuation of the property, but the certificate required by statute (1 R. S., 3d ed., 447, § 26) was written upon the roll and signed by the assessors,—held that such signing satisfied the statute. Chamberlain v. Taylor, 36 Hun 24.

The certificate of the assessors stated that they had estimated the value of the real estate at a sum at which they would appraise the same in payment of a just debt due from a solvent "creditor." Held, that the substitution of "creditor" for "debtor," as it appeared in the copy, did not vitiate the assessment. Id.

An oath, "we have estimated the value of the said real estate at the sums which a majority of the assessors have decided to be the fair proportionate value thereof, and at which, in the same ratio, they would appraise the same in payment of a just debt due from a solvent debtor,"—held to be fatally defective. Beach v. Hayes, 58 How. Pr. 17.

An affidavit of assessors to their roll stated that they had estimated the real estate "at the assessed value thereof" instead of "the full and true value thereof," and that the roll contained a true statement of the personal property, "according to our best knowledge and belief" instead of "judgment and belief." Held, that the affidavit was fatally defective, and any tax levied upon the roll was void. Hinckley v. Cooper, 22 Hun 253.

§ 19. ASSESSMENT-ROLL WHEN COMPLETED AND VERIFIED TO BE OPEN TO INSPECTION; NOTICE THEREOF, ROLL TO BE DELIVERED TO SUPERVISOR.

In cities the assessment-roll when thus finally completed and verified shall be filed on or before September first, in the office of the city clerk, there to remain for fifteen days for public inspection. The assessors shall forthwith cause a notice to be posted conspicuously in at least three public places in the tax district and to be published in one or more newspapers, if any, published in the city, that such assessment roll has been finally completed and stating that it has been so filed and will be open to Omission of venue to assessors' verification,—held immaterial, since it is not an affidavit, but an oath in a prescribed form. Though it did not appear that the justice before whom it was sworn was a justice of the town, held, that, in the absence of proof to the contrary, it would be presumed that he was. Coleman v. Shattuck, 62 N. Y. 348, affd. 2 Hun 497, 5 Th. & C. 34.

The oath of assessors on one side of the roll, under the entry of assessments on residents,—held to cover the assessment of non-resident lands on the other side of the leaf, in the absence of proof that when sworn to the roll did not contain the latter entries. Id.

How verified. Where two assessors verify the assessment-roll it is not fatal to the validity of the roll, although they omit to certify the name of the delinquent assessor, and the reason for his not performing his duties. Coleman v. Shattuck, 62 N. Y. 348. But see Bellinger v. Gray, 51 N. Y. 610. A verification made at any time before the assessment-roll has been acted upon by the board of supervisors satisfies the statute. Rome, Watertown & O. R. R. Co. v. Smith, 39 Hun, 332; affd. 101 N. Y. 684. But the verification cannot be made before the expiration of the time fixed for the final review and correction of the roll. If the jurat shows otherwise, the supervisors cannot levy the tax. Westfall v. Preston, 49 N. Y. 459; but see People v. Turner, 145 N. Y. 451; 40 N. E. 400, where it was held that a verification before the day of grievance was a mere irregularity and not a jurisdictional defect. If the verification is signed, but the assessment-roll itself is not signed, the defect constitutes a mere irregularity and is not jurisdictional. Ensign v. Barse, 107 N. Y. 329. The neglect of a justice of the peace to affix his signature to a jurat of assessors is at most an irregularity and does not vitiate subsequent proceedings under the assessment. Saranac Land and Timber Co. v. Roberts, 208 N. Y. 288.

The custom is much too prevalent among assessors of assessing real estate at less than its full value in direct violation of the statute. Not only do assessors in following such custom violate their official duties, but consciously or unconsciously swear to an untruth when in the verification of the assessment-roll they make oath that they "have estimated the value of the said real estate at sums which a majority of the assessors have decided to be the full value thereof." People ex rel. Congress Hall v. Ouderkirk, 120 App. Div. 650, 105 N. Y. Supp. 134.

The attestation of the assessment-rolls by the assessors in the form prescribed by law is a judicial act of unquestionable verity, which they will not be heard to impeach. Brooklyn El. R. R. Co. v. Brooklyn, 16 Misc. 416, 38 N. Y. Supp. 154, affd. 11 App. Div. 127, 42 N. Y. Supp. 683.

Roll in three parts. Assessment-roll was made up in three parts and was in that form on review day, when the relator was heard, and afterward the parts were engrossed in a single roll duly verified. public inspection. At the expiration of such fifteen days, the city clerk shall deliver such roll to a supervisor of the tax district embraced therein. In towns, assessors shall prepare and verify the assessment-roll, and make and certify one copy thereof. When the assessment roll shall have been thus finally completed and verified and the copy thereof certified the aassessors shall, on or before the fifteenth day of September, file the said certified copy in the office of the town clerk, to remain for public inspection until delivered by the town clerk to the supervisor of the town as hereinafter provided.[40] The assessors shall forthwith cause a notice to be posted conspicuously in at least three public places in the tax district and to be published in one or more newspapers, if any, published in the town, that such assessment roll has been finally completed and stating that such certified copy has been so filed.[41] The original assessment roll shall on or before the first day of October be delivered by the assessors to a supervisor of the tax district embraced therein. The certified copy of the assessment-roll on file in the town clerks's office, as heretofore provided, shall on the first day of November be delivered by the town clerk to a supervisor of the tax district embraced therein who shall make such corrections as may be made in the original roll by the board of supervisors and shall extend the tax thereon so that such roll shall be in all respects a copy of the original roll delivered to the collector and said certified copy shall thereafter be returned by the supervisor to the office of the town clerk there to remain as a public record. Notwithstanding the provisions of this section, the board of supervisors of any county may require additional copies of the assessment-rolls of the towns of such county to be made, and specify by whom such additional copies shall be made, the date when the certified copy of the town assessment-roll shall be filed in the office of the town clerk, and the date when the original assessment roll shall be delivered to the supervisor of the town. phone, water pipe line, or gas company, including a company engaged in the business of supplying natural gas, is assessed by them or by the tax commission upon property lying in more than one school district or in one or more special districts in which a tax is levied for district purposes shall after the time fixed for hearing complaints and action thereon and prior to the final completion of the roll, pursuant to section thirty-nine of this chapter, apportion the assessed valuation of the property of each of such corporations so made by them or by the tax commission among such school and special districts. Such apportionments shall be entered by the assessors in the appropriate column of the assessment-roll and a certificate thereof signed by the assessors or a majority of them shall be filed with the town or city clerk within five days thereafter, and thereupon the valuations so apportioned shall become the valuations of such property in such districts for the purpose of taxation for the ensuing year. The town clerk shall furnish the trustees of school districts a certified statement of the valuations apportioned to their respective districts.

In case of the failure of the assessors to act, a supervisor of the town or city shall make such apportionment on request of either the trustee of any school district or the officers of any special district or the corporation assessed. It seems, that Laws 1867, ch. 694, from which the above section was originally revised, was intended to regulate valuation in towns of railroad property for purposes of school district taxation only, and that the statute does not contemplate that the apportionment therein provided to be made should be indicated on the town assessment-roll, but by certificate of the assessors to be prepared and filed in the office of the town clerk after the roll is completed. stating therein the cause of such omission, and the assessment roll, when otherwise made and completed in accordance with the requirements of or under this chapter shall be deemed to be the assessment roll of the tax district.[43] If the assessors shall neglect to meet for the purpose of hearing grievances any person aggrieved by the assessment may appeal to the board of supervisors at its next meeting, which shall have the same power to review and correct such assessment as the assessors have under this article. If any assessor shall refuse or neglect to perform any duty or do any act required of him by this chapter, he shall forfeit to the tax district the sum of fifty dollars, to be recovered by the tax commission. § 22. SUBDIVISION OF LOTS MAY BE ABANDONED; THEREAFTER LOTS TO BE TREATED AS A SINGLE TRACT.

Whenever more than ten years shall have elapsed after the subdivision of any tract of land into lots, plots or sites, with or without proposed streets, the owner of such tract, or of any part thereof composed of two or more contiguous lots may, by an instrument in writing, duly executed and acknowledged and describing such land, disclaim and abandon such subdivision including any streets not opened, accepted or used by the public and which are not necessary for the use of an owner or occupant of any part of said tract; and thereupon said subdivision, as to the lands described in such instrument, shall be deemed abandoned and of no effect; and thereafter the lands described therein shall, for the purpose of taxation, be regarded as a single tract. If a map of such subdivision has been filed in the office of the county clerk or register of deeds, such instrument may be recorded in said office, and a notice of such record shall thereupon be indorsed by the clerk or register upon such map. This section shall not apply to a county embracing a portion of the forest preserve. [Tax Law, § 42; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5869.]

§ 23. MAKING FALSE STATEMENT IN REFERENCE TO TAXES.

A person, who, in making any statement, oral or written, which is required or authorized by law to be made as the basis of imposing any tax or assessment, or of an application to reduce any tax or assessment, wilfully makes, as to any material matter, any statement which he knows to be false, is guilty of a misdemeanor. CHAPTER XXXV.

ASSESSMENT OF SPECIAL FRANCHISES.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

Special Franchises.

A special franchise has been defined as the right granted to a corporation to construct, maintain or operate in a public highway some structure intended for a public use, which except for the grant would be a trespass. (People ex rel. Metropolitan St. Ry. Co. v. Tax Commissioners, 174 N. Y. 417, affd. 199 U. S. 1.)

Chapter 712 of the Laws of 1899, known as the Special Franchise Act, amended the Tax Law by declaring that the right, authority or permission to construct, maintain or operate any structure intended for public use, " in, under, above, on or through streets, highways or public places," such as railroads, gas pipes, water mains poles and wires for electric, telephone and telegraph lines, and the like, is a special franchise. This act was consolidated as a part of the present Tax Law, and is included in this chapter.

Prior to the enactment of the Act of 1899 special franchises were never lawfully assessed as either real or personal property by state or local authority. For the first time in the history of the state this act authorized the assessment or valuation for the purpose of general taxation of all special franchises by a state board of tax commissioners appointed by the governor. For the purpose of such taxation a special franchise is made real estate and is " deemed to include the value of the tangible property of a person, copartnership, association or corporation situated in, upon, under or above any street, highway, public place or public waters in connection with the special franchise," and taxed as a part thereof.

Explanatory note.

A special franchise includes nothing but what is in the street, directly or indirectly, and excludes power houses, depots and all structures without the lines of the street. The taxes thus imposed are for general purposes, are collected in the same way, and used for the same objects as other taxes upon the general assessment-roll.

This act has been attacked upon the ground that it is unconstitutional since it deprives the local assessing officers of their rightful jurisdiction over local assessments, but its validity has been fully sustained by the Court of Appeals. (People ex rel. Metropolitan St. Ry. Co. v. Tax Commissioners, Supra.)

Assessment by State Tax Commissioners.

The town assessors have no duties to perform in respect to determining the values of special franchises. The state board of tax commissioners are required to determine the values of such franchises in each town, and file a statement thereof with the town clerk within thirty days preceding the first day of July in each year.

Duties of Assessors.

The town clerk must, within five days after the receipt of such statement, deliver a certified copy thereof to the assessors. The assessors must then enter the valuation of each special franchise as determined by the state board in the proper column of the assessment-roll, opposite the name of the owner of such franchise. The assessors must apportion the valuation of such special franchise among the several school districts of the town in the same manner as railroad, telegraph and telephone property is apportioned.

Tax Law, § 44.

§ 1. SPECIAL FRANCHISE REPORT TO TAX COMMISSION.[1]

Every person, copartnership, association or corporation subject to taxation on a special franchise, shall, within thirty days after such special franchise is acquired, make a written report to the tax commission containing a full description of every special franchise possessed or enjoyed by such person, copartnership, association or corporation, a copy of the special law, grant, ordinance or contract under which the same is held, or if possessed or enjoyed under a general law, a reference to such law, a statement of any condition, obligation or burden imposed upon such special franchise, or under which the same is enjoyed, together with any other information relating to the value of such special franchise, required by the tax commission. The tax commission may require an annual report and from time to time a further or supplemental report from any such person, copartnership, association or corporation containing information and data upon such matters as it may specify. Every report required by this section shall have annexed thereto the affidavit of the president, vice-president, secretary or treasurer of the association or corporation, or one of the persons or one of the members of the copartnership making the same, to the effect that the statements

1. Constitutionality of special franchise tax. The fact that the special franchise tax act confers upon state officers the right to assess such franchises, and especially the right to assess the tangible property annexed thereto and included therein by the act, which was formerly assessed by local boards of assessors does not violate the principle of home rule embodied in the constitution for the following reasons: (1) Because it creates a new system of taxation and brings within its range a new character of property, which requires new methods of valuation and the exercise of functions which never belonged to local assessors and must necessarily have been committed to state officers with new functions whose sole duty related to the subject of taxation in all its phases throughout the entire state, and who, with wider experience and greater opportunities for observation than local assessors, would be able to grasp the new scheme of taxation as a whole and whose action would be free from all local prejudice or color and uniform in its result. (2) Because the tangible property formerly assessed by local assessors is an inseparable part of the special franchises mentioned in the statute, constituting with them a new entity, which in a going concern can neither be assessed nor sold to advantage except as one thing, single and entire, and the function of assessing such entity is not essentially local in character, never belonged to localities, never was and never could be exercised with the requisite justice and uniformity by their officers, and, therefore, was of necessity conferred upon state officers, expert tax officials, having a jurisdiction co-extensive with the limits of the state. Property, therefore, created by the legislature and never intrusted by it to local assessors cannot with propriety be said to have been taken away from them. People ex rel. Met. St. Ry. Co. v. Tax Commissioners, 174 N. Y. 417.

contained therein are true. Such commission may prepare blanks to be used in making the reports required by this section. Every person, copartnership, association or corporation failing to make the report required by this section, or failing to make any special report required by the tax commission within a reasonable time specified by it, shall forfeit to the people of the state the sum of one hundred dollars for every such failure and the additional sum of ten dollars for each day that such failure continues, and shall not be entitled to review the assessment by certiorari, as provided by section forty-six of this chapter.[2] Acknowledgment of receipt of blank reports which contain the penalty provisions of this section shall be deemed sufficient notice of such penalties. [Tax Law, § 44, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 334; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5872.]

§ 2. SPECIAL FRANCHISE; FULL VALUATION AND EQUALIZATION BY TAX COMMISSION.

The tax commission shall annually fix and determine the full and actual valuation of each special franchise subject to assessment in each city, town or village; shall inquire into and ascertain as near as may be the percentage of the full and actual value at which other real property in the city, town or village for which such full valuation has been made, is being assessed, and by the rate of equalization so established fix and determine the equalized valuation of each special franchise subject to assessment. [Tax Law, § 45, as added by L. 1916, ch. 334.]

2. References. A person who makes a false statement in reference to taxes is guilty of a misdemeanor. Penal Law, § 2321.

The refusal to make a report required by law is also a misdemeanor. Penal Law, § 665.

A failure to make a report as provided in this section within thirty days after the franchise is acquired does not forfeit the right to review the assessment by certiorari as provided by section 46. But the report may be made subject to the pecuniary penalty imposed, at any time before a final assessment. People ex rel. N. Y. & Queens County R. R. Co. v. Tax Commissioners, 55 App. Div. 218; 67 N. Y. Supp. 69.

An injunction will not lie to restrain the board of tax commissioners from allowing any inspection or disclosure of reports made under this section, because this question should be determined by them in the proper discharge of their public duty. Am. Dist. Telegraph Co. v. Woodbury, 127 App. Div. 455, 457, 112 N. Y. Supp. 165.

§ 3. HEARING ON SPECIAL FRANCHISE VALUATIONS; NOTICE.

On determining the full and actual valuation of a special franchise and the rate of equalization thereof the tax commission shall immediately give notice in writing to the person, copartnership, association or corporation affected, and to each city, town or village in which such special franchise is subject to assessment, stating in substance that such determinations have been made and the total full and actual valuation and the rate of equalization thereof in each city, town and village, and that the commission will meet at its office in the city of Albany on a day specified in such notice, to hear and determine any complaint concerning such full valuation and the rate of equalization. Such notice must be served at least ten days before the day fixed for the hearing; and it may be served on a copartnership, association or corporation by mailing a copy thereof to it at its principal office or place of business and on a person, either personally or by mailing it to him at his place of business or last known place of residence. In a town said statement shall specify the total amount of the assessment of such special franchise, and the amount thereof in any village or villages therein. Section thirty-seven of this chapter applies so far as practicable to a hearing by the tax commission under this section. [Tax Law, § 45a, as added by L. 1916, ch. 334.]

Determination of final full and equalized valuation. After hearing complaints as to such valuation and rate of equalization of the special franchise the commission shall fix and determine the final full value of each special franchise and ascertain the final rate of equalization and equalize the final full value of each special franchise to such an amount as in its judgment will place the special franchise on the same basis as the assessment of other real property in the city, town or village in which the special franchise is located. In ascertaining the basis of assessment of other real property or determining the final full and actual valuation of a special franchise, the tax commission may, in its discretion, take testimony and hear proof, under oath or otherwise, and may avail itself of all information on the subject appearing of record in its office and all information which it may acquire in the discharge of its duties, and may employ its experts, agents or other persons in procuring any information it may require for such purpose. [Tax Law, § 45b, as added by L. 1916, ch. 334.]

Certificate of special franchise valuations filed with localities. After determining the final full and equalized valuation of a special franchise the tax commission shall file with the clerk of the city, town or village in which such special franchise is subject to assessment, a written statement duly certified by the secretary of the commission of the valuation of each special franchise assessed therein as finally fixed and equalized. In a town said statement shall specify the total amount of the assessment of each special franchise, and the amount thereof in any village or villages therein. In the city of New York said statement shall be filed with the department of taxes and assessments. Such statement shall be filed with the clerk of the village not later than the first day of October and with the clerk of the city, or the department of taxes and assessments in the city of New York, not later than thirty days before the final completion, verification and filing of the assessment-roll. The statement of special franchise valuations in towns shall be made in duplicate, one copy to be filed with the town clerk not later than August first, and the other copy with the clerk of the board of supervisors of the county not later than September first.

It shall be the duty of city, town and village clerks within five days after the final completion and filing of the assessment-roll, and the first posting or publication of the notice thereof as required by law in their respective municipal corporations and of the clreks of the boards of supervisors in each county within five days after the final revision of the assessment-roll and the annexation of the warrant thereto to furnish the tax commission with said date or dates.

Each city clerk shall, within five days after the receipt by him of the statement of the equalized valuations of a special franchise as fixed by the tax commission, deliver a copy of such statement certified by him to the assessors or other officers charged with the duty of making local assessments in said city. Each town clerk shall, within five days after the receipt by him of the statement of equalized valuations, deliver copies of such statement certified by him to the supervisor of the town, and to the assessors of the town for which the assessments have been made. Each village clerk, shall, within five days after the receipt by him of the statement of equalized valuations, deliver copies of such statement certified by him to the assessors, if any, and if not, to the trustees of the village for which the assessments have been made.

The final equalized valuation of every special franchise in a city, town or village as so fixed and determined by the tax commission shall be entered by the assessors or other officers thereof in the proper part of the assessment-roll before the final revision and certification of such roll by them and become a part thereof with the same force and effect as if such assessment had been originally made by such assessors. [Tax Law, § 45c, as added by L. 1916, ch. 334, and amended by L. 1917, ch. 488.]

Certification of final valuations to owners.—The tax commission, on filing said statement of the final equalized valuation of a special franchise, shall give to the person, copartnership, association or corporation affected written notice thereof, which notice shall contain a statement of the full and actual value of such special franchise as finally fixed and determined and the amount to which it has been equalized. In a town said statement shall specify the total amount of the assessment of each special franchise, and the amount thereof in any village or villages therein. Such notice may be served on a copartnership, association or corporation affected by mailing a copy thereof to it at its principal office or place of business, and on a person either personally or by mailing it to him at his place of business or last known place of residence. [Tax Law, § 45d, as added by L. 1916, ch. 334.]

Special franchise assessments subject to all taxes.—The final equalized valuation of every special franchise as fixed and determined by the tax commission shall be the assessed valuation on which all taxes, based on such special franchise for state, county, city, town, village, school, highway or other district purposes shall be levied for the ensuing year. [Tax Law, § 45e, as added by L. 1916, ch. 334.]

Information by local officers.—The assessors or other taxing officers or other local officers in any city, town or village or district, or any state or county officer, shall on demand furnish to the tax commission any information required by them for the purpose of determining the full and equalized value of a special franchise.

It shall be the duty of city, town, and village clerks within twenty days after the taking effect of any law changing the boundaries of their respective municipal corporations to furnish the tax commission with a statement giving the details of and clearly showing said changes. Upon the granting of any franchise to use the streets, highways, public places or public waters by the proper officers of any city, town or village, it shall be the duty of the respective clerks of said municipalities to furnish a copy of same to the tax commission. [Tax Law, § 45f, as added by L. 1916, ch. 334, and amended by L. 1917, ch. 37.]

§ 4. CERTIORARI TO REVIEW ASSESSMENT.

An assessment of a special franchise by the tax commission may be reviewed in the manner prescribed by article thirteen of this chapter, and that article applies so far as practicable to such an assessment, in the same manner and with the same force and effect as if the assessment had been made by local assessors; a petition for a writ of certiorari to review the assessment must be presented within thirty days after the final completion and filing of the assessment-roll, and the first posting or publication of the notice thereof as required by law. Such writ must run to and be answered by said tax commission and no writ of certiorari to review any assessment of a special franchise shall run to any other board or officer unless otherwise directed by the court or judge granting the writ. In cities a copy of said writ and the petition for same shall be furnished to the corporation counsel or other law officer. An adjudication made in the proceeding instituted by such writ of certiorari shall be binding upon the local assessors and any ministerial officer who performs any duty in the collection of the taxes levied upon said assessment in the same manner as though said local assessors or officers had been parties to the proceeding. [Tax Law, § 46, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 804, L. 1916, ch. 334, and L. 1918, ch. 278; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5874.]

§ 5. TAX COMMISSION TO APPEAR BY COUNSEL; EMPLOYMENT OF EXPERTS.

In any proceeding for the review of an assessment of a special franchise made by the state board of tax commissioners or the tax commission, said tax commission is authorized to appear by counsel to be designated by the attorney-general. The attorney-general or such counsel may employ experts and the compensation of such counsel and experts and their necessary and proper expenses and disbursements, incurred or made in such proceeding, and upon any appeal therein, shall when audited and allowed as are other charges against such tax district, be a charge upon the tax district upon whose rolls appears the assessment sought to be reviewed. Where, in one proceeding, there is reviewed the assessment of a special franchise in more than one tax district, separate accounts shall be rendered for said costs, expenses and disbursements to the proper officer of each of said tax districts and audited and allowed by him as aforesaid. For the purposes of this section, the city of New York shall be deemed one tax district. If provision shall not have been made for the payment of such expense in any year, then the officers who are empowered by law to make such provisions in any county, city, town or other political subdivision of the state, are hereby authorized and directed to raise money to such an amount as may be necessary, in any manner provided by law for meeting expenses in anticipation of the collection of taxes and to pay such expense therefrom. The amount so raised shall be included in the amount to be raised by tax in the ensuing year. [Tax Law, § 47, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 471, L. 1913, ch. 134, and L. 1916, ch. 334; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5875.]

§ 6. DEDUCTION FROM SPECIAL FRANCHISE TAX FOR LOCAL PURPOSES.

If, when the tax assessed on any special franchise is due and payable under the provisions of law applicable to the city, town or village in which the tangible property is located, it shall appear that the person, copartnership, association or corporation affected has paid to such city, town or village for its exclusive use within the next preceding year, under any agreement therefor, or under any statute requiring the same, any sum based upon a percentage of gross earnings, or any other income, or any license fee, or any sum of money on account of such special franchise, granted to or possessed by such person, copartnership, association or corporation, which payment was in the nature of a tax, all amounts so paid for the exclusive use of such city, town or village except money paid or expended for paving or repairing of pavement of any street, highway or public place, and except in a city of the first class car license fees or tolls paid for the privilege of crossing a bridge owned by the city, shall be deducted from any tax based on the assessment made by the state tax commission for city, town or village purposes, but not otherwise; and the remainder shall be the tax on such special franchise payable for city, town or village purposes. The chamberlain or treasurer of a city, the treasurer of a village, the supervisor of a town, or other officer to whom any sum is paid for which a person, copartnership, association or corporation is entitled to credit as provided in this section, shall, not less than five nor more than twenty days before a tax on a special franchise is payable, make and deliver to the collector or receiver of taxes or other officer authorized to receive taxes for such city, town or village, his certificate showing the several amounts which have been paid during the year ending on the day of the date of the certificate. On the receipt of the certificate the collector, receiver or other officer shall immediately credit on the tax-roll to the person, copartnership, association or corporation affected the amount stated in such certificate, on any tax levied against such person, copartnership, association or corporation on an assessment of a special franchise for city, town or village purposes only, but no credit shall be given on account of such payment or certificate in any other year, nor for a greater sum than the amount of the special franchise tax for city, town or village purposes, for the current year; and he shall collect and receive the balance, if any, of such tax as required by law. [Tax Law, § 48, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 581, and L. 1917, ch. 39; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5875.]

§ 7. TAX ON SPECIAL FRANCHISE NOT TO AFFECT OTHER TAXES.

The imposition or payment of a tax on a special franchise as provided in this chapter shall not relieve any association, copartnership or corporation from the payment of any organization tax or franchise tax or any other tax otherwise imposed by article nine of this chapter, or by any other provision of law; but tangible property situated in, upon, under or above any street, highway, public place or public waters, subject to tax as special franchise as described in subdivision six of section two, shall not be taxable except upon the assessment made as herein provided by the tax commission. [Tax Law, § 49, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 334; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5877.]

CHAPTER XXXVI.

DUTIES OF BOARDS OF SUPERVISORS AS TO ASSESSMENTS AND TAXATION; EQUALIZATION OF ASSESSMENTS.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

Equalization of Assessments by Board of Supervisors.

The board of supervisors must, at its annual meeting, examine the assessment-rolls of the towns and cities in the county. If in their opinion the valuation in one town or city bears an unjust relation to the valuations in the other towns or cities, they may increase or diminish such valuation by adding or deducting a certain sum on each one hundred dollars of valuation. The duty to equalize is an important one, and causes frequent controversy between towns. The board should act fairly and after a due consideration of all attendant facts. An arbitrary or unreasonable modification of valuations will be set aside on appeals to the state board of tax commissioners.

The board may delegate its powers of equalization to three commissioners of equalization, who, when appointed must equalize valuations and report to the board. Such report is binding upon the board and must be adopted by them.

Correction of Errors in Assessment-roll.

A board of supervisors is empowered to correct errors in assessment-rolls, upon petition of the town assessors. The petition must be verified by the assessors. It must appear that the errors are in (1) copying the roll, (2) omitting taxable property from the assessment-roll of the preceding year, or the current year. A copy of the petition and notice of its presentation must be served personally on the person alleged to be liable to taxation, and such person must be given an opportunity to be heard before the board of supervisors. The provisions of § 56 of the

Explanatory note.

Tax Law, as amended by L. 1916, ch. 323, as to correction of errors on petition of assessors must be complied with, and it is only in the cases mentioned in that section that the board has authority to act on such a petition.

The board may correct any manifest clerical error in an assessment-roll. If a tax has been erroneously paid, the board may cause the same to be refunded. It must refund a tax illegally paid when ordered so to do by the county court. When a refund is made, the board must provide for raising the necessary funds by tax levy.

If property has been declared by the courts to have been illegally assessed, and thereby the property has not been assessed at all, the board may, upon proper notice and after an opportunity to be heard, reassess the property at a proper valuation upon the assessment-roll of the current year.

Levy of Taxes.

The board of supervisors, after equalization and correction, must levy all state county and town taxes, by setting down in a separate column in the assessment roll the sum to be paid as a tax on the property assessed. The assessment-roll as so extended, with the warrant annexed thereto becomes the tax-roll of the town.

Tax-roll and Warrant.

The tax-roll must have attached thereto a warrant under the seal of the county, signed by the chairman and clerk of the board. Such warrant is directed to the collector, and is his authority for collecting the tax imposed by the tax-roll. The warrant also directs the collector to pay the sums specified to the persons therein named.

SECTION 1. Board of supervisors to examine assessment-roll; equalization of valuations.

2. Board of supervisors may appoint commissioners of equalization; county judge to appoint in case of disagreement; terms of office; compensation.

3. Examination of assessment-rolls by commissioners; equalization of valuations; vacancy in office of commissioners.

4. Commissioners' report of equalized valuations.

5. Board of supervisors may change descriptions of real property.

6. Review of assessment against non-resident owners of rents reserved by board of supervisors.

SECTION 7. Correction of errors by board of supervisors; petition of assessors for correction; petition to be served on owner.
8. Board of supervisors may correct manifest errors, and cause moneys illegally collected to be refunded.
9. Certain errors in roll to be corrected.
10. Re-assessment of property illegally assessed.
11. Levy of taxes by board of supervisors.
12. Tax roll, collector's warrant to be attached to; contents of warrant.
13. Statement of taxes upon certain corporations by clerk of supervisors.
14. Statement of equalized valuation to be forwarded to the state board of tax commissioners by clerk of board of supervisors.
15. Clerk of board of supervisors to furnish county treasurer with abstract of tax-rolls.

§ 1. BOARD OF SUPERVISORS TO EXAMINE ASSESSMENT-ROLL; EQUALIZATION OF VALUATIONS.

1. The board of supervisors of each county in this state, at its annual meeting, shall examine the assessment rolls of the several tax districts in the county, for the purpose of ascertaining whether the valuations in one tax district bear a just relation to the valuations in all the tax districts in the county; and the board may increase or diminish the aggregate valuations of real estate in any tax district, in accordance with the following equalization rule. First, the ratio or percentage which the assessed value of the real property in each district bears to its full value shall be established by the board upon proper inquiry and investigation conducted by it and shall be stated in a resolution by the board after such inquiry and investigation. Second, from such ratio or percentage values, the board shall then determine the aggregate full value of all real property of each tax district by dividing the assessed value thereof by the ratio or percentage value as ascertained and fixed for that district. Third, the average rate of assessment of the real property in the county shall then be determined by dividing the aggregate assessed value of the real property in all the tax districts by the aggregate full value thereof as ascertained in the manner aforesaid. Fourth, the true equalized value for each tax district shall then be determined by multiplying the full value of such real property in that tax district by the average rate of assessment for the county. Fifth, deduct from or add to the assessed value of the several tax districts the difference between the assessed value and the equalized value as so ascertained so that the amount which the respective tax districts are increased or diminished from the assessed value will be shown, and the total assessed value for the county, except as provided in subdivision two of this section, will not be increased or diminished. Any written or documentary evidence upon which the percentages for the several tax districts are determined by the board shall be preserved and an abstract of the same published with the table of rates in the proceedings of the board of supervisors. The table of such percentages, employed in making the equalization, shall be furnished by the clerk of said board to the tax commission and shall also be published in the report of the tax commission.[1]

1. The annual meeting of boards of supervisors is held at such time and place as may be fixed by them. County Law, sec. 10, ante.

Duty of board judicial. The duty of the board of supervisors is of a judicial character, and if they have acquired jurisdiction any error in their judgment or mistake in their conclusions can be asserted only in some direct proceeding for a review. Mayor, etc., of N. Y. v. Davenport, 92 N. Y. 604; Bellinger v. Gray, 51 Id. 610.

2. The board of supervisors in any county of the state shall when examining the assessment-rolls of the several tax districts of the county, as above provided, exclude from the tax rolls of said districts, to be prepared by said board, such parcels of real property as have been struck down to the county at a tax sale and not redeemed as provided in section one hundred and fifty-two of this chapter. The county treasurer shall annually between the date of the tax sale and the first day of December next succeeding, prepare and submit to the board of supervisors a list of all such lands so struck down to the county in any year and still remaining unredeemed. No such properties shall be so excluded from said tax rolls except by a resolution of said board adopted at an annual meeting by a vote of a majority of the members thereof. Whenever such real property is so excluded from the tax rolls by the board, the total of the assessed valuations of the real estate of the several tax districts, as the same appear on the completed tax rolls, shall be the aggregate valuation of the taxable real estate in the county. [Tax Law, § 50, as amended by L. 1911, ch. 801, L. 1914, ch. 397, and L. 1916, ch. 323; B. C. & G. Cons. L., p. 5877.]

Exclusive of shares of stock of banks and banking associations. In fixing the aggregate valuation of a tax district for the purpose of equalizing the valuations between the several tax districts within a county, the board of supervisors or commissioners of equalization of such county shall not include the shares of stock of banks or banking associations assessed in such tax district pursuant to article two of this chapter. [Tax Law, § 50-a, as added by L. 1916, ch. 249.]

§ 2. BOARD OF SUPERVISORS MAY APPOINT COMMISSIONERS OF EQUALIZATION; COUNTY JUDGE TO APPOINT IN CASE OF DISAGREEMENT; TERMS OF OFFICE; COMPENSATION.

The board of supervisors of any county of the state may by the concurring vote of a majority of all the supervisors elected to such board, resolve to appoint three persons to be commissioners of equalization of such county. They shall thereupon appoint such commissioners, two of whom shall be residents of such county and not members of the board of supervisors, and the third commissioner shall not be a resident of or a taxpayer in such county, but shall reside in the judicial district in which such county is situated. If there be one or more cities in such county one of such commissioners shall be a resident of such city or cities and one shall be a resident of the towns in such county outside of such city or cities. The commissioner appointed from such city or cities shall be named by the supervisors representing such city or cities, and the commissioner appointed from the towns outside of such city or cities shall be named by the supervisors representing such towns. Both such commissioners, including the third commissioner appointed from the judicial district outside of such county, shall be confirmed by a two-thirds vote of all the members of the board of supervisors. If after such board has resolved to appoint such commissioners of equalization, they are unable to agree upon the commissioners to be appointed as provided by this section, and such commissioners are not appointed before the first day of July, succeeding the time when such resolution was adopted, the clerk of such board shall apply to the county judge of such county certifying to him the fact that such resolution was adopted and such commissioners have not been appointed pursuant thereto, and such county judge shall appoint the commissioners subject to the provisions of this section relating to their places of residence. The term of office of each such commissioner shall be three years. Not more than one commissioner shall reside in the same town or city, and if a commissioner remove to a town or city in which another commissioner resides, the office of the commissioner so removing shall thereon
